Frizzell, Fortenberry get Fighting Heart awards

Julie Frizzell and John Bickley.

Seniors John Fortenberry and Julie Frizzell received the Fighting Heart awards at the annual Lockney All-Sports Banquet at the elementary school cafeteria.

The awards, instituted by Lockney sports enthusiast John Bickley, are presented annually to a boy and girl showing the best all-round qualities. Bickley presented large trophies topped-off with Longhorns to Frizzell and Fortenberry.

It was the 23rd Fighting Heart award presented to a boy and the third annual award presented to a girl.

Senior John Cummings was named as recipient of the J.L. Martin award which is presented each year to the athlete displaying the best Christian attitude.

The award was presented by Chuck and Jim Bob Martin, sons of the late J.L. Martin who was football coach at Lockney High School in 1967-68 and died in 1968 of a heart attack at the age of 44.

More than 300 people were on hand for the dinner as all the football, basketball, tennis, track and golf teams were introduced and awards given to individual participants.

In addition to the Fighting Heart award, John Fortenberry was named as the football team's outstanding defensive lineman and he also received the team's leadership award.

Jeff McCormick received the defensive back award while Junior MacDonald was named outstanding offensive back.

Byron Brock received the outstanding offensive lineman award and the award for best attitude while Kyle Brock was honored as the player displaying the most desire.

The football awards were presented by athletic director and football coach Dewayne Sexton.

In girls' basketball, star sophomore Connie Coffman was named as the outstanding offensive player and the player showing the most desire.

Coffman compiled an 18.6 points per game average last season and was named All South Plains and All-District.

Penny Sterling and Rebecca Evans were named co-recipients of the award for best defensive player and Evans was also honored as the player displaying the greatest leadership.

Senior Julie Ferguson was named the girls' basketball player with the best attitude.

The seven seniors on the girls basketball team who are graduating this year... Evans, Frizzell, Ferguson, Sterling, Sheris Clark, Tammie Hayes and Rosalind Hill presented out-going girls basketball coach Marsha Sharp with a large plaque bearing pictures of the seven girls who played their entire high school basketball career under Coach Sharp.

During the four years, the seven played on teams compiling an overall record of 93-32 and a record of 31-6 in district play. They finished first in district play twice and second two times.

All six losses during those four years came at the hands of Abernathy. The seven never defeated Abernathy or lost to Abernathy by more than five points during the four years.

Sharp, who has resigned from the Lockney coaching staff to look for a new coaching job, received a standing ovation.

In boys basketball, John Cummings was named the outstanding offensive player while Tony Rodriguez and Phillip Kidd were co-recipients of the award for outstanding defensive player.

Jeff McCormick received both basketball awards for attitude and desire while Cummings received the leadership award.

The basketball awards were presented by coach Mike Leppy.

C.L. Record was master of ceremonies for the banquet which was followed by the prom.

Mackenzie project escapes cutbacks

While the administration is tightening up on spending it looks as if long range water projects will escape governmental cut backs according to Neil Taylor, manager of the Mackenzie Water Project.

Financing for the $15 million dollar project is being slowly amassed by Mackenzie officials as they seek grants, loans and bonds sales.

The latest effort will be to seek half of the over 11 million dollar transmission phase financing from the Texas Department of Water Resources.

"We think we have a good chance of getting this loan," Neil Taylor said, "they have placed the project at top priority."

The financing for the total project has gone like this: The Texas Department of Water Resources already has the bonds that were sold to build the dam.

The cost of building the treatment plant and the transmission line to the connection point is $4,405,000.

The Mackenzie authority already has $1,255,000 in unissued bonds. A one-million dollar grant has been approved. The remaining $2,150,000 bond election passed in all four municipalities last fall.

The four towns making up the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority are Floydada, Lockney, Tulia and Silvertown.

The largest dollar amount expenditure is in the transmission phase for the pipe lines to bring the water from the hook-up point to the four towns.

This transmission phase will cost $11,326,000. The Mackenzie officials have sought low interest loans from the FHA for the total amount. But it has been slow in coming.

Their thinking is that if they can get half of that amount from the Department of Water Resources it will be that much easier to get the rest from FHA.

The total loan, interest, and repayment from water contracts would be the Clinic this Saturday for rabies vaccinations

A rabies vaccination clinic will be conducted Saturday by veterinarian Dr. Paul Glasson at his offices on the Lone Star Highway.

Rabies vaccinations for dogs will be available at a charge of $4 while a complete series of shots will cost $10.

City dog licenses will be sold at the clinic for $2 for dogs that have received the rabies shot. The licenses are good for one year.

The clinic is the first step in Mayor J.D. Copeland's drive to crackdown on the large number of dogs running loose on Lockney streets.

"We want to appeal to peoples' pride," Copeland said. "You should have respect for your neighbor and keep your dog on your own property."

Copeland said that so far reaction to the crackdown on stray dogs has been good.

"We appreciate everyone's cooperation," Copeland said, "and we hope everyone will cooperate with us on this problem."

Groups sponsor camp for diabetics

West Texas children with diabetes can enjoy the fun and friendship of summer camp this year through the combined efforts of the West Texas District Rotary Clubs, Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center and Texas Tech University.

A one-week camp will be held June 1-5 at the Plains Baptist Encampment near Floydada for children and youths aged 6-18. Campers will live in cabins and participate in the camp games, crafts and sports activities. Counselors will be medical students, younger men and women with diabetes and Texas Tech students majoring in health, physical education and recreation.

Special features of the camp will be short courses in diabetic control and management by faculty and social workers from the Health Sciences Center. Teaching sessions and the entire camp experience are designed to help the campers develop confidence in their ability to care for themselves and to show them they can lead happy, normal lives by following good health practices, according to Surendra K. Varma, M.D., medical director of the camp.

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm introduced legislation this week that he said would provide one of the most important inflation-free tax cuts to effect lower and middle income Americans this year.

The bill, H.R. 2240, would increase the amount of the exemption of certain interest and dividend income from taxation, raising the amount of tax-free interest from $200 to $1,000 for a single person and from $400 to $2,000 for a married couple filing a joint return.

"This will encourage many people to save," Stenholm said, pointing out that U.S. savings performance ranks the lowest of the major industrial countries. "Japanese citizens save 20 percent of their disposable income," he said, "and West Germans save 13 percent, while Americans only manage to save 5 percent of their disposable income. Even the Britons, whose country has become synonymous with high inflation and low productivity, manage to set aside 11 percent of their disposable income."

Stenholm said the measure would not only encourage increased savings, but would help reduce interest rates, control inflation and encourage vitally needed capital formation.

Stenholm cited a report by the National Association of Realtors that showed that more than 80 percent of all tax returns on which interest income is reported are filed by taxpayers earning less than $25,000. "When you look at this as a percentage change in taxable income," Stenholm said, "the lower the income level, the greater the tax relief to that individual. The elderly, generally in a low tax bracket, and those whose interest income

On May 19 representatives from each of the four cities: Lon Davis, Floydada; Owen Thornton, Lockney; Stan Jorgerson, Silverton; and Donald Bookout, Tulia, will go to Austin to meet with the Texas Department of Water Resources.

"If we can get the people in the four towns to write their governmental representatives it will really help us when we go to Austin," Taylor said.

"Charles Stenholm is very interested in the project, but there is nothing like letters from his constituents to get their (politicians) attention."

Addresses of representatives can be found on page three of this issue.

Taylor also said that the recreational part of Mackenzie Lake has been readied for the coming season.

The boat ramp has been extended to the 3100 foot level. Asphalt parking lots have been completed at each of the boat ramps.

Bar-b-que pits have been added and more roads have been rocked.

They are in the process of building a front entrance with rocked columns and a ticket office.

All financing for the recreational part of the lake comes from sale of permits. No tax money is ever used for the recreational part.

However, taxpayers may get a reduced permit rate of $20 through their own city hall. Gate permit price is $25 for the year.

It was true that we were in the process of moving from one apartment to another anyway, but I hadn't planned on six hundred miles between them.

I've heard that you tend to marry a man who is like your father. That's great if you are talking about important things like a fondness for small children and an ability to fix broken lamps, but I really hadn't planned on looking for a husband who had this particular trait.

I guess that we're all entitled to a few small insanities.

I wouldn't tell either my father or my husband, but I've always secretly enjoyed their spontaneity.

Sometimes though, I'd like just a little warning.

Progressive Dinner enjoyed by Club

The 1956 Jr. Study Club met on April 14 and finalized plans for two major projects to be held in May. Janet Lloyd distributed raffle tickets for a quilt the members made. Elaine McNeill reported that the club sponsored. Arts and Crafts Show will be held with the Friends of the Library Book Sale in the Art Southwest building on Old Settlers Day. The members voted to sell booth space for the show to all Floyd County craftsmen and to set a maximum price on any one item sold at $50. The first course was served in the home of Sharon Vickers where members visited Mexico. The home of Leora Younger became a cafe in Italy which served salad. Polynesian-style chicken was served by Elaine McNeill in her home. The home of Sheree Cannon was the final stop where Eunice Hong had helped to create an Oriental atmosphere with decorations and foods. Each hostess was dressed in costumes that represented the countries from which they had prepared dishes. Assisting with the preparations and serving were Rosemary Paty, Julie Cathey and Susan Garms. OLE ROCKIN' CHAIRS GOT ME-- AND I'm GLAD!!!

You see, before my Pat Walker's program my "lumps" poked thru the spokes of my rocker. Now, after losing 28 1/2 pounds and 43 1/2 inches I can sit in my rocker, or an airplane seat, and feel slim and trim. There is space on each side!! Before Pat Walker's I wore only full skirts — to cover up. Now when I wear full skirts it is only because I want to. Before Pat Walker's I felt heavy, my choice of clothes was limited. Now my body feels strong, I feel healthy — and I shop in size 7, with nothing to hide. The above testimony is important. But equally important — I've been able to maintain my present weight this past year even though I had surgery and 2 three week vacations. There was no problem, I followed the Pat Walker's method of eating. Sound good??? IT IS!! Not only have I purchased a "new body", I now know the lovely ladies at the Pat Walker's Figure Salon as my friends. THEY CARE! I'd love for you to meet them. Tell them I sent you.

Girls-in-Action discuss missionaries

More than 750 Girls-in-Action and their leaders learned about home and foreign missions at a super Saturday Spectacular at First Baptist Church in Lubbock April 11.

"Step Into the Sunshine" was the theme of the Spectacular which enabled the girls to visit missionaries from South America, the Orient and the Texas Gulf Coast.

Mrs. Shirley Ditmore, missionary to Peru, used hats and national dress items from Peru to illustrate the customs of the country in which she serves.

Wearing a "yukata", a kimono, and "geta", wooden sandals, Charlie Fenner, former missionary to Japan used slides to bring Japan a little closer to those present.

Mildred McWhorter, a home missionary in Houston, told the girls of her work as an inner-city missionary and said missionaries are simply "people who tell others about Jesus."

Those attending from First Baptist Church Lockney were Jessica Marles, Saundal Workman, Tami Vernon, Amy Ansley, Donna Vernon, Mrs. Ralph Herrigan, Mrs. Don Vernon and Mrs. John Jenkins. Robert Vernon was a special guest.

John Cummings (l) received the J.L. Martin award from Chuck Martin

"IT'S A BIG JOB ..."

Slowing down the rising costs of anything these days. Even your electricity.

You've got someone working on it for you in the Southwest. Southwestern Public Service is using Wyoming coal to make electricity in its new power plants. Because some of the old plants run on fuel that just plain costs too much.

Electricity could cost a lot more than it does. But thank goodness it doesn't — because of coal.

Surgeon explains heart procedure

Jan Voda, the first surgeon to perform the angioplasty heart procedure in Lubbock, will present a program in Floydada, Monday night.

Angioplasty is the procedure that can be performed in place of an open heart surgery in many cases.

The process involves inserting a balloon catheter into the region of blockage in the heart. Blowing up the balloon pushes the blockage back into the artery wall and opens the vein.

It is not successful in all cases, but if it works surgery can be avoided.

Voda, who is a cardiologist, studied the procedure in Switzerland before joining the Department of Internal Medicine at Tech.

The program, sponsored by the Heart Association, will cover the procedure in layman terms. Voda uses a model heart and actual catheter to explain the life saving technique.

The program will be presented at Lighthouse Electric meeting April 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Lynn Marler, President of the Association in Floyd County, says anyone interested plan to attend the program is open to the public.

FHA raises charity money

Last week was Texas Future Homemakers of America Week.

The local Chapter at Lockney High School used "March of Dimes: Healthy Babies - Chance or Choice," as their theme.

Each year the chapter selects a national, non-profit organization to donate money to and this was their choice this year.

The March of Dimes is an organization dedicated to the cause of preventing birth defects. They do this by making available free counseling, materials, films, and other resources to those in need.

The Lockney FHA raised money by selling homemade brownies to the student body before showing a March of Dimes film.

The chapter also had a hot submarine sandwich lunch in the homemaking department to highlight the week's activities.

Lockney Care Center News

BY VICKIE HUTTON

Bingo! Bingo Fever! That's what we have, we are playing Bingo twice a week now at resident's request. This Friday was special in two ways. One being the second time this week for Bingo but the best part was DeLinda Glasson and Alma Phillips who brought us ice cream sandwiches for after Bingo. These ladies are great volunteers and so helpful with anything that needs doing, we surely do appreciate them.

Our bus was full Monday when we went to Providence Community, those going were Sally Carpenter, Donnie Hester, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Poole, Myrtle Payne, Richard Lanham, Alma McDonald, Bertie Bradley, and myself. The fields were so pretty, freshly plowed, we had a good time, especially the ice cream at the Dairy Queen.

While the gents were in Bible Study with Jerry Kline Thursday, we ladies went for a walk. Those starting were Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Fielding, Mr. Hester, Mrs. Wofford, and myself. Mrs. McDonald got headed off at the pass and come back. The rest of us walked to my house, visiting Dorothy Hosten and Mary Hutton on the way. Of course Mrs. Wofford had the best time being as she stayed in her chair and I pushed, and pushed and pushed, fell over my tongue a few times but except for that we had a blast. Looking forward to doing it again, (after I rest up!)

Mrs. Sally Carpenter expressed her feelings about living in the Care Center by saying "There is no place like home but this is a good second."

Our sympathy goes to the Allena Francis family. This lovely lady had been a special member of our family here at the Care Center for almost five years, she will be missed by all of us.

We have about 12 residents attending ceramic class. The residents have made some beautiful pieces and have such a good time. Come see all their pretties.

Lisa finally got back for Music therapy, we do miss our music. It's our chance to kick up our heels and act silly.

Friday the Flomont First Baptist Church group were too sick to come up so we played one of the tapes Brother Earl Cantwell had given us. The residents enjoyed the sermon even if it left a few foot prints on us. Thanks, Brother Cantwell.

We have Mrs. Ona Cummings and Mr. Albert Poole in the hospital, we send our hopes for a quick recovery to these folks, we miss them both and want them to come home soon.

We are looking forward to hunting Easter eggs and maybe eating a few too.

Well, we have a flat ball. I was not exaggerating when I told you how the residents love to hit me with it. Now they are taking up a collection to buy a new ball to start all over on me again.

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN

What nice spring weather we have been having. And rain, rain nearly every day or night last week. But Sunday was an ideal Easter, and today is clear and partly cloudy. Grass sure is growing and needs a mower.

Sunday services at church were inspiring and well attended.

There were family get-togethers and some very sad ones when a loved one has just passed on.

The Wayne Carpenters of Atlanta, Georgia who have been visiting his parents, the Marion Carpenters, and other relatives, left for home just before the weekend.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell spent the Easter holiday in Plainview with her daughter, Mrs. Jane Beedy.

Mrs. Ava Jackson's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wright came for the week-end and she returned home with them to their more recent home in Colorado City.

Mrs. Anthony Latta and Mrs. Green visited the Peck sisters recently.

Mrs. Plumlee is able to be up and about but not yet out. Wiley Rogers has been in the hospital, but was able to be at church Sunday.

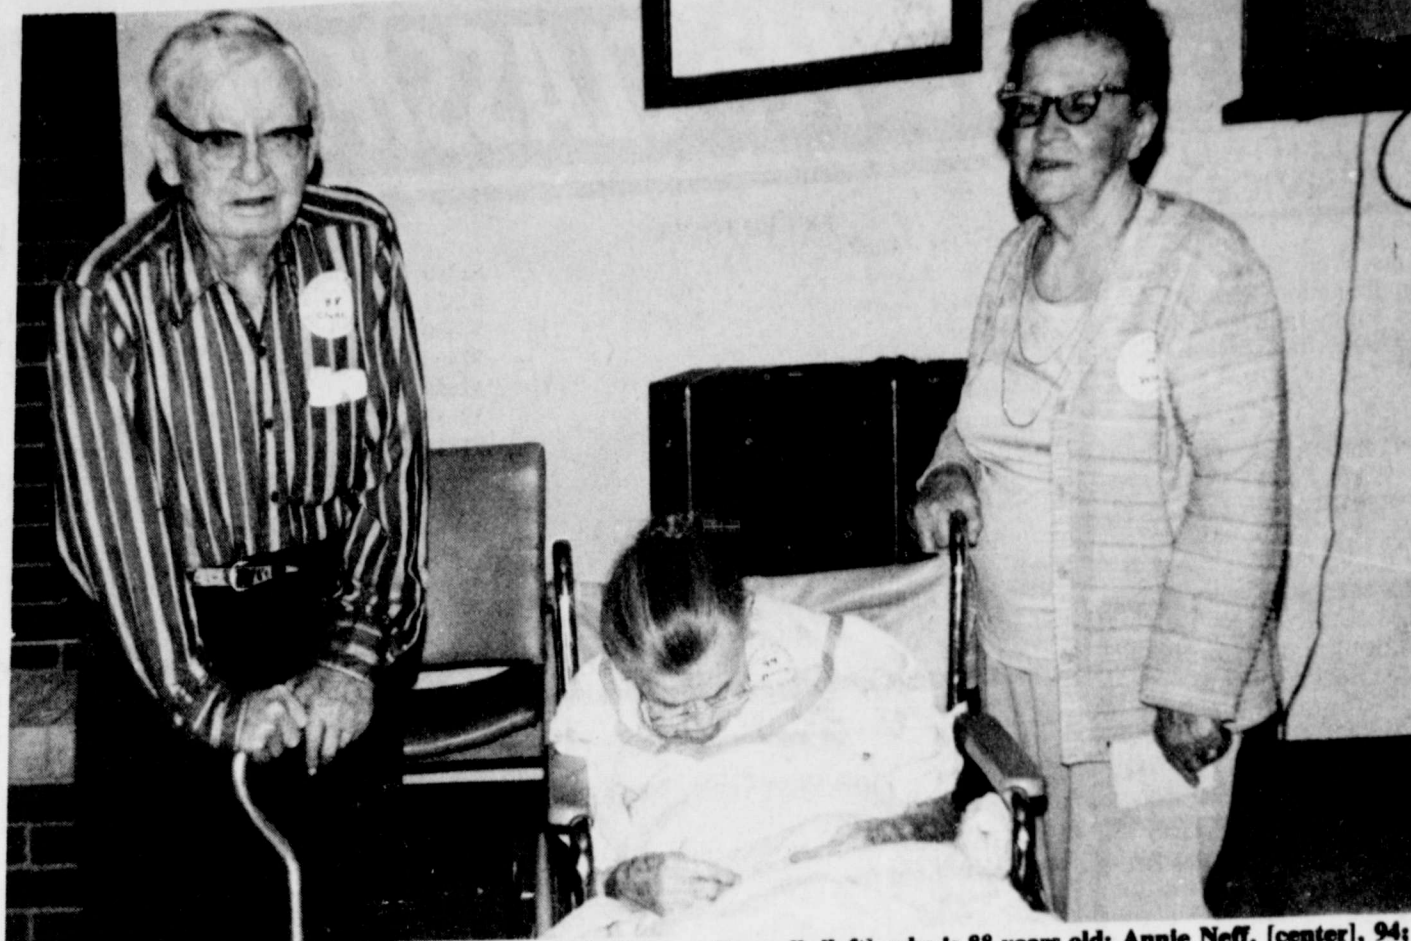

Bro. and Mrs. Clay Muncy spent Easter Sunday with Miss Vera Meredith. Other visitors during last week were Mrs. Mize, and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas, and a friend from Matador and others.

Mrs. C.M. Meredith was out of town eleven days, including visits in Dallas with her daughter and family. Sunday she was with a group who dined in Plainview.

Easter dinner was enjoyed in the Anthony Latta home on Mississippi Street by the parents, by daughter Carol, the Doley's and the Victor Greens of Plainview and a son, Sam Latta, and family of Mt. Blanco, and Mrs. Green, city.

There were 23 of the Henry Brewers present for Sunday dinner: Irvin Brewer and family, Harry Glen Brewer and family, the Ken Robersons and family, all of Lubbock, the Fred McDougles of Crosbyton and the Millard Watsons of Mt. Blanco.

Our sympathy is with loved ones of Mr. Cox and with all who knew and loved Mrs. Oleta Collier. Both passed on just before the weekend.

Why starve libraries?

Why should Texans be starving their public libraries?

This question is being asked by Books for Texans, an organization formed by Texas Library Association, Friends of Texas Libraries, Texas for Libraries, and the Trustees Roundtable of the Texas Library Association.

Leaders in Books for Texans are convinced that Texans will do something about the starvation diet for their libraries when they know the facts and reflect on just how important libraries are to citizens of Texas.

Texas now ranks 39th in the U.S. in state library support with 16 cents per capita. Largest per capita state aid is paid by West Virginia at $3.61, followed by Georgia at $2.47. Even states poorer than Texas pay significantly more in aid to their libraries. Alabama's state aid is 42 cents per capita; Arkansas 63 cents and Mississippi 53 cents.

As long ago as 1978, the Texas Conference of Libraries and Information convened in Austin to study library problems, recommended state support of $1.00 per capita and urged the Texas Library and Archives Commission and the Texas Library Association to go to work to seek $1.00 per capita funding "at the earliest possible date."

Wendell Mayes, Jr., Austin, and Wayne C. Sellers, Palestine, chairman and secretary of Books for Texans, have noted that an appropriation of $1.00 per capita which can do so much for libraries is minuscule when compared to the total state budget.

"We can think of no appropriation which can do so much for so little," they said, pointing out that in 1979 Texas public libraries circulated 43 million items to the public, answered 7½ million reference questions, hosted 3 million persons at library programs and showed films to 5 million persons.

"In many communities, public libraries are the only adult education facilities. Information ranging from performance of the stock market to how to unstop a sink or fix a lawnmower is available for grownups. One library has made it possible for 300 adults to obtain G.E.D. certificates. Others have conducted classes for adults wanting to learn to read and write. Books are provided for nursing homes by public libraries. These are but a few of the services rendered."

The Books for Texans officials added.

Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Texas Press Association, representing virtually all of the newspapers in Texas, have passed resolutions favoring the $1.00 per capita support. Texas League of Municipalities has also endorsed the request.

Prospects are bright for reaching the goal set by the Austin Conference back in 1978. Books for Texans officials added.

Less time in the feedlot for leaner beef and lower costs is the outlook for the future according to a number of cattle experts. Many authorities now believe that because of two important developments: 1) the 30 percent increase in grain prices; and, 2) the American consumer's demand for leaner beef, feedlot operators are going to be changing their ways of finishing cattle. Research indicates cattle, after reaching certain weight levels, and depending on breed, tend to lay on only fat which must be trimmed and discarded. In order to provide cattle which will efficiently produce greater amounts of quality lean beef in a shorter feeding time, cattlemen believe an increase of larger-framed, higher cutting cattle is needed.

Weather cause poultry losses

COLLEGE STATION — Poultry and producers agree that 1980 was not a ble year for them but that 1981 be a better one.

year's blistering summer weather caused heavy losses in poultry and was hard on the total and feed prices also rose sharply.

the 1980 gross income from eggs in Texas will be $501 million, says Dr. Dave Mellor, poultry service, Texas A&M University System. This estimated figure is $464 million in 1979.

these 1980 income figures, should maintain its sixth place the leading states in poultry and production in the first half of 1980 flock reduction, explains this smaller flock size will keep high in the first quarter of 1981. There were 235 million dozen eggs produced in Texas.

notes the specialist, increased demand for high protein foods and meat prices will probably result in egg prices later in 1981.

consumption increased in 1978 and 1979 and producers may benefit if continues in 1980 and 1981.

prices in 1980 were below Mellor points out, but things look in 1981. Feed costs are expected to decline as the economy expands and supply declines. About 925 million of broilers were produced in 1980.

With more pressure on grain, more grain may be consumed by humans rather than through products.

Farm bill chances to increase

COLLEGE STATION) — "Farm proposals of Secretary of Agriculture John Block to the Congress the chances of veto of the 1981 bill," believes Dr. Ronald D. Mason, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Block's proposals for eliminating prices and providing increased release prices as well as storage interest charges within the reserve designed to provide a safety net for farmers," says Knutson.

This safety net concept is the same methodology that has been used for calls for cuts in welfare grants," points out Knutson. "This of farm program and welfare objectives is not likely to be recited by producers. Farmers traditionally looked upon government programs that stabilize farm incomes and as being necessary to sustain high levels of productivity in the producer and consumer inter-

The bad year, early figures show, cost the industry $501 million in losses. The 1980 gross income from eggs in Texas will be $501 million, says Dr. Dave Mellor, poultry extension specialist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University.

But, careless haste in using a tractor blade can lead to accidents or broken equipment, according to Howard Hadler, Division Engineer with Kewanee Machinery Division.

"Patience is definitely a virtue when operating this piece of equipment," Hadler states. "Tractor blades are designed to push or pull things -- not hit them. Often, farmers hurry and attempt to move a big load all at once rather than taking two or three passes to push smaller loads."

Obstacles hidden under a pile of dirt or manure can also cause problems for the tractor blade operator.

"The farmer knows the obstruction is there. He sees it all the time," Hadler said. "But he may forget about it if it's covered for a few weeks. Or, he may misjudge its location."

Sudden jolts from hitting objects could unseat the tractor operator. Consequently, Hadler cautions farmers to always use seat belts.

"If you don't have them on your tractor, get them," he states. "Also use the blade so you can maintain a firm, level footing for the tractor. Stay away from ditches. If you have an offset capability, adjust it so you're working to the side. Or, turn the blade so you're pushing instead of pulling the load."

Tractor blades are low maintenance pieces of equipment, according to Hadler, but should be checked out frequently for cracks or broken welds.

"While it doesn't happen often, a blade may be cracked or a weld start to break as a result of some jolt during operation. Checking for and repairing these small cracks will avoid a major failure during a busy work season," Hadler said.

"Farmers should also avoid trying to do more than the blade is capable of doing. It is possible to take on a load so big as to damage the tractor," Hadler says. "So, don't force it."

Most tractor blades are purchased for one specific purpose such as road grading, but Hadler suggests farmers also take time to consider the other uses the blade may have. He outlines factors buyers may want to consider.

Match blade size to tractor size. Too small a blade could get torn up because it's difficult to sense from the tractor the TRACTOR BLADES are designed to push or pull things -- not hit them, according to Howard Hadler, Division Engineer with Kewanee Machinery Division. He advises farmers to take time, moving big loads with two or three passes rather than taking the whole load at once.

Haste could be the cause of many accidents and broken equipment

Life is so full of things to do, that often just getting essentials done is all we can manage. The extra chores around the farm -- grading the road or building waterways -- require an extra push to fit into a work schedule.

But, careless haste in using a tractor blade can lead to accidents or broken equipment, according to Howard Hadler, Division Engineer with Kewanee Machinery Division.

"Patience is definitely a virtue when operating this piece of equipment," Hadler states. "Tractor blades are designed to push or pull things -- not hit them. Often, farmers hurry and attempt to move a big load all at once rather than taking two or three passes to push smaller loads."

Obstacles hidden under a pile of dirt or manure can also cause problems for the tractor blade operator.

"The farmer knows the obstruction is there. He sees it all the time," Hadler said. "But he may forget about it if it's covered for a few weeks. Or, he may misjudge its location."

Match blade size to tractor size. Too small a blade could get torn up because it's difficult to sense from the tractor the amount of force being put on the blade. Too large a blade is a waste of money since it can't be used fully and is unwieldy for the tractor.

Where will the blade be used? If it will be used to clear feedlots or buildings or for grading or leveling around farm buildings, the farmer should know the width of gates or doors through which he will want to move the blade.

How will the blade be used? For light farm construction such as building waterways or ditching, he may want to select a blade that will tilt so it can be offset and used at an angle.

"Sure you may want to get a blade today to clear a feedlot, but the smart farmer will get the most from his money by thinking of other tasks for which the blade can be used," Hadler says.

High Plains grain farmers claim they are experiencing just that kind of competition with Commodity Credit-owned corn which the U.S. Government shipped into West Texas, paying interest and storage, and has sold at discounted prices in competition with locally-grown grain. Area grain farmers, led by Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA), have requested U.S.D.A. and area congressmen to help develop plans for disposing of the corn outside of the High Plains area.

Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) shipped 52 million bushels of corn into West Texas storage facilities last fall and winter. Most of the corn came from Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, and other northern corn belt states. Much of it was corn which had been sold to Russia prior to the embargo and was purchased by CCC from the grain export companies. The government paid transportation, relocation and storage costs to relocate the grain in Texas. CCC has already sold nearly one million bushels to local buyers. So far, the corn sold was grain that arrived in West Texas as "sample grade." It was sold at a substantial price discount because it was considered "not storable."

GSPA contends that the very presence of the corn has lowered the cash market in the High Plains by 60 cents per hundred pounds since December. These figures are documented by comparing the price of cash corn in Chicago to that in the High Plains each month since the corn shipments began.

National Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Texas Corn Growers Association, and other concerned producers have protested the CCC sales. In April, Congressman Jack Hightower (D-TX) called a meeting of the High Plains congressional delegation and U.S.D.A. administrators to review the situation. Following that meeting, U.S.D.A. officials assured GSPA that "everything possible" would be done to relieve the pressure upon High Plains grain prices.

U.S.D.A. has pledged that no further sales will be made until after May 15. In the meantime, they are studying the possibility of offering the corn to Mexico or other export countries. No decision has been made and the threat of further disturbance in the High Plains grain prices will exist until the grain is shipped to export markets.

International Roundup to be hosted by Del Rio

DEL RIO — Many critical problems facing ranch owners, ranch managers and working cowboys of arid regions of North America will be discussed and analyzed during the International Rancher's Roundup (IRR) at the Del Rio Convention Center August 10-14.

Organized by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Rancher's Roundup is designed to give participants ideas for making individual ranching decisions much easier and more profitable. It will also provide an opportunity for ideal exchanges among ranchers of similar areas beset with common problems.

Heading the week-long meeting will be some of the ranching industry's best known speakers from arid lands of the southwestern U.S., Mexico and several other countries. These authorities will present the latest and most practical and timely information available.

International agricultural trade, Mexican-American agricultural interdependence, market development and plans for market expansion will all be studied.

Plans are being finalized through U.S. Cong. Tom Loeffler's office to have a Chinese trade delegation participate in the conference, a move to strengthen U.S.-Chinese agricultural trade relations. The Chinese ranching industry will be a major topic of discussion along with a demonstration of veterinary acupuncture.

A large contingency of key Mexican ranchers is also expected to attend. The program will include concurrent sessions for producers of working quarter horses, beef cattle, sheep and goats, range and wildlife. Ranch business management will also be addressed.

A sub-surface mineral management and mineral lease agreement session will be conducted by experts in these fields. The increasing incentives and need for domestic energy production and its value to landowners makes this session especially important.

A general theme, "Nutrition: The Key of Production to Profit," has been incorporated into the livestock, range and wildlife sessions. Land managers will learn key factors involved in integrating the production of quality range lands, their harvest of quality animals and progressive product marketing.

Proceedings of the conference will be provided each participant for future reference and use. Workshops will be held to assist ranchers with actual application of the information obtained in concurrent sessions.

Two day-long ranch tours are planned — one each in Texas and Mexico — allowing participants to observe progressive ranch management in both countries.

Pre-registration packets can be obtained by writing IRR, P.O. Drawer 1849, Uvalde, Texas 78801. Ranchers are encouraged to return completed forms promptly as space will be limited. To help defray conference expenses, participants will be assessed a tax deductible registration fee.

Government owned grain threatens area producers

(LUBBOCK) — If the United States Government shipped two and a half million head of fat cattle into the High Plains, paying all freight and other shipping costs, interest, holding and maintenance charges and then sold them in competition with local feeders — High Plains cattle feeders would be up in arms!

High Plains grain farmers claim they are experiencing just that kind of competition with Commodity Credit-owned corn which the U.S. Government shipped into West Texas, paying interest and storage, and has sold at discounted prices in competition with locally-grown grain. Area grain farmers, led by Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA), have requested U.S.D.A. and area congressmen to help develop plans for disposing of the corn outside of the High Plains area.

Quality soybean seed short this year

COLLEGE STATION — Unfavorable weather conditions during the 1980 harvest period adversely affected the quality of soybean seed.

"The weather caused a shortage in high quality seed. However, producers should be able to increase stands in 1981 by using a seed protectant fungicide," says Dr. Walter Walla, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University.

Walla recommends using a seed protectant fungicide with planting seed with a germination below 80 percent. Since such a fungicide is harmful to nodulating bacteria, plant seed in fields where soybeans were grown previously. Soybean seed protectant fungicides include captan, captan plus PCNB, chloroneb, thiazidazole plus PCNB, and carboxin plus thiram.

Walla explains that several factors are involved in determining seed quality. These are seed size, percent germination and seedling vigor.

"The producer is primarily concerned with percent germination, which is reported on the seed bag tag," notes Walla. "Germination is affected by mechanical injury, physiological factors and disease-causing organisms."

Mechanical injury, Walla says, will either cause seed not to germinate or will result in weakened or deformed seedlings. Such injury can occur when soybeans are harvested with less than 10 percent moisture or when unloading the crop from a height that can cause seed to crack.

Physiological factors such as rapid drying or high heat will injure the seed embryo and have the same effect as mechanical injury.

Disease-causing organisms, mainly fungi, are carried inside and outside planting seed and cause seedling problems, notes Walla. Diseases can reduce both yield and quality during the growing season, so seed from infected fields should not be planted, he cautions.

Farm bill chances for to increase

COLLEGE STATION) — "Farm proposals of Secretary of Agriculture Block to the Congress the chances of veto of the 1981 bill," believes Dr. Ronald D. Knutson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"It's proposals for eliminating price supports and providing increased discretion for loan rates and release prices as well as storage charges within the reserve designed to provide a safety net for farmers," says Knutson.

"The safety net concept is the same policy that has been used for years calling for cuts in welfare payments," points out Knutson. "This of farm program and welfare objectives is not likely to be accepted by producers. Farmers traditionally looked upon government programs that stabilize farm incomes as being necessary to maintain high levels of productivity in the producer and consumer interest."

Knutson notes that under the Block proposals, the farmer-held reserve and the related price support loan program would become the only tools for price and income protection for cotton and grain producers.

"It is doubtful that the farmer-held reserve can provide either an economically or politically acceptable level of price and income protection for agriculture," emphasizes Knutson. "The chances of the reserve not providing adequate price and income protection is enhanced by proposed limitations on the size of the reserve."

"The bottom line is an increased chance that the Congress and the President will be unable to get together on an acceptable farm policy package in 1981," says Knutson. "This being the case, the Congress and the Administration would find it necessary to simply extend the 1977 farm act for another year. Then the farm policy debate would start over again in 1982."

INSUR-MATION

Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

Q. Like almost everyone, we are up against some budget constraints and, although I would like to purchase a whole life insurance policy to protect our growing family and also accumulate cash value, term policies seem more in line with our financial situation. Is there an option I'm overlooking?

A. Very possibly. Many companies offer policies combining whole life and term insurance which may be your solution. Basically, the decreasing term pays the beneficiary either a lump sum or a fixed income for a specified period, while the proceeds from the whole life section can be taken out in a lump sum or used to augment the term income. Usually, a policy of this kind can be tailor-made to fit your budget.

BY JOYCE WILLIAMS

The big 5 inch rain received by the western and northern parts of Floyd County missed Lakeview Friday night. Blanco River burst from a dam at the W.R. Daniels farm and the rushing water could be heard spreading eastward. By Saturday afternoon, the river was full and spreading along the Baptist Encampment, the T-Bar ranch and the Norman Muncy ranch. It was still running Monday when an evening thunderstorm dumped Lakeview's share of April showers, 3/4". Water gaps are out at ranches all along Blanco River in Floyd and Crosby counties.
