Croquet Tournament Held.

The "Hit and Miss Croquet Club" held a local tournament all day last Thursday. High Priest Moreland and Junior Deacon Conner ram-rodded the activities and matched the partners in a most happy distribution.

Garner came in from the country, sleek and ham fed and went back satisfied with his share of the honors.

One man lost his voice calling on his partner for help, while another lost consciousness when he became conscious that he hadn't won a game.

You must have observed that the man who whistles most usually has the least to whistle about.

ONE QUALITY ONLY - THE BEST

Samuel G. Blythe as a political writer and prophet has few equals in America. He attended the St. Louis convention and ascertained that 85 per cent of the general mail, received by the representatives and senators at the national capital is peace mail and the great bulk received at the White House is peace mail. For this reason Blythe is of the opinion that peace is the greatest Democratic asset. In his travels he discovered that as far as this European war is concerned there is a vast majority of people, especially in the Middle West, who can imagine no possible circumstances which should debase the American people to go into it and that these are the persons who feel so kindly toward Woodrow Wilson "for keeping us out of it." Samuel G. Blythe is a free lance writer. He is an independent in politics and he prints the truth, as he finds it.

A few people have any idea what an incentive it is to both teacher and scholar to know that parents and outsiders are taking a lively interest in folks at school appreciate such interest more perhaps than the larger ones. Still the effect is not lost on any of them, and we hope every parent will take a hint from this and place the public school on their visiting list.

The THOUGHT STARTER

By ALBERT LEE

As a veteran of the Philippine war the writer is naturally interested in plans for national defense. The following suggested to several of his comrades meets with their hearty approval.

Let the veterans of the Spanish and Philippine wars and trained ex-soldiers who have left the regular army organize a veterans' and volunteers' vacation encampment to be held near every big center.

Half of each regiment should be made up of ex-soldiers who have had more or less thorough training. Recently discharged regular army "non-coms" will help the volunteer veterans to brush up, and both will be of great help in training recruits.

DON'T HURRY YOUR HOGS.

Some Hot-Weather Don'ts That Will Add to the Profits From the Swine Herds.

No apple grower ever goes out into the orchard and knocks apples off the tree with a club when he is marketing his crop. He knows the public won't buy bruised fruit.

But there are still some hog shippers who try to market their crops with a club, and the result hits them in just the same place that it would the apple grower—the pocketbook.

It is the club users, the kickers and the men in too big a hurry send bruised and crippled hogs to the market, and those bruised and crippled hogs are the cause of lower prices for the men who put their time and their money into them.

With hot weather almost here, and the danger of overheating increasing with every twenty-four hours, it behooves the men preparing to market their hogs, and the men who handle them when they get to market, to turn their thoughts to the comfort of the animals.

Humane treatment at the country loading chutes and the market are worth dollars to the shipper.

Hogs are slower in summer than in winter because of the heat. Patience is needed in their handling if the best prices are to be secured for them, because the buyers insist that the animals must be in first-class condition when received.

The owners are the chief losers at the hands of the club wielders and the pole prodders.

For several years steps have been taken to stop much of the cruelty to hogs, and this has resulted in a great lessening in the suffering of the animals on their way to market.

Continued co-operation is needed, however, between the shippers, the railroads and the men in the stock yards.

There are a number of "don'ts" that can be observed with profit at the present time. Just a few of them follow:

Don't drive hogs too rapidly.

Don't be in too big a hurry to load.

Start in time.

Don't lose patience.

Don't forget that a bruised or crippled hog hits the shipper's pocket-book.

Don't beat or shove the hogs because they do not happen to move fast enough to please you.

Don't throw water on the back of an overheated hog. Sprinkle the floor of the car or pen instead.

Cruelty to hogs is clearly shown in the meat of the animals after they are prepared for market. Bruised backs and hams do not sell so rapidly as the clear meat, and future shipments from the source of the injured animals will suffer in consequence.

Notices have been sent out and are posted in the various stockyards and about the loading pens and chutes of the railroads, urging humanity in the treatment of livestock.

Give the pig a chance to become a "gentleman."

Tips from Bavaria.

Conditions that have led up to insistent demand for simplification of judicial procedure are due in great measure to the mass of legislation which, seemingly, increases with the passage of time. The "ten commandments" that are now being displayed in Bavarian courthouses might be adapted to advantage in this country. They read:

1. Avoid lawsuits, especially in this grave time of war.

2. Thou knowest perhaps the beginning, but thou canst not divine the end.

3. Thou savest much money, time and anxiety.

4. Before starting litigation, try to compromise amicably.

5. Let thy prospective opponent tell his side, then perhaps thou wilt thyself see new light.

6. Listen to the Judge when he proposes a settlement; he means it well.

7. Always draw up thy agreements in writing. Read them carefully before thou signest, then thou wilt avoid obscurity and possess thyself of proofs.

8. Remember that only that which thou canst prove counts in court.

9. Drive not thy opponent to extremes. Thou mayst some day need him.

10. Run not to the courts with thy petty squabbles.

Going to court is a sort of national passion with Americans.

Do You Blame This Man For Suiciding?

A man was found dead in the Withlacoochee River, who committed suicide under the conviction that he was his own grandfather. He left the following letter:

"I married a widow with a grown up daughter. My father visited our house very often and fell in love with my step-daughter and married her. So my father became my son-in-law, and my step-daughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. Some time afterward my wife had a son.

He was my father's brother-in-law, and my uncle for he was the brother of my step-mother, my father's wife, that is my step-daughter. He was of course my brother and in the mean time my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my grandmother because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother, is his grandfather. I am my own grandfather."—Selected.

Judge George W. Riddle Not Professional Politician.

The people are tired of the "Professional Politician" and "Chronic Office-Seeker."

These Continental Wars have put in jeopardy nearly every industry in the South. Our cotton, corn and wheat are threatened on account of ocean transportation and if our country ever needed in its history, men with sound judgment, business ability and with seasoned knowledge of the economic problem of our country, they are needed now and will be for the next years.

You know the politician possesses none of these elements and makes no pretense of having any knowledge of them.

Judge Riddle has made a reasonable success at everything he ever undertook to do, whether as lawyer, farmer or business man and it is seldom the people have a chance to secure the services of a man of this type. His land banks will furnish homes for the people and his ship bill will furnish transportation for the surplus cotton of our country.

It is to be hoped that the people of our State will elect him to the Senate. —Adv.

The object of the canal is to preserve Marseilles as a harbor of the first rank in Mediterranean competition.

High cost of meats is playing havoc with the retail business. Hundreds of markets all over the country are closing. Last year was a bonanza period for both packers and retailers, as livestock was cheap and margins of profit wide. Where cattle sell at $11 or better, hogs at $9.50 and $10 and sheep and lambs at $9 and $12 per cwt. scarcity is indicated by the prices and neither packers nor distributors can amass wealth on a small volume of business.

All reports from Chicago have been that the operators there expected at least 500,000 shortage and some of them as much as 600,000.

In tests of pure-bred dairy cows in New Zealand covering the three years, 1913, 1914, and 1915, testing certificates of record were issued covering 471 dairy cows, of which 262 were for Jerseys, 177 for Friesians, 30 for Ayrshires and two for Shorthorns. The highest record for Jerseys was for a four-year-old being 12,095 pounds of milk, with 736 pounds of butterfat; with 20,629 pounds of milk and 756 pounds of butterfat for the best five-year-old Friesian cow; and 14,349 pounds of milk and 598 pounds of butterfat for four-year-old Ayrshire. The averages of the tested cows were about 5000 pounds of milk and 450 pounds of butterfat for Jerseys, about 13,000 pounds of milk and 450 pounds of butterfat for Friesians and about 9000 pounds butterfat for Ayrshires. used as berry containers and cooking vessels when the foot of the white man was foreign to these shores. All the specimens of the handiwork of the Indian women shine forth in gay colors, and all colors are obtained by the simple process known for thousands of years. The black (and it is a black that will not fade) is obtained by covering the rushes, grasses or bark with the black mud of the swamps, which gives a lasting jet equal to any imported dye; the red is obtained from the bark of the alder, pink from a weaker solution of the same bark. Brown comes from the familiar tan-bark of the hemlock, and yellow is boiled out of the root of the Oregon grape.

Chief Justice Fly of the fourth court of civil appeals handed down a lengthy decision upholding the lower courts' decision in the chicken salad case. In other words, Governor Colquitt must pay the price for the punch and salad consumed at a reception given at the mansion. Chief Justice Fly holds that the governor shall receive an annual salary of $4,000 and no more. The court admits that the governor is inadequately compensated for his service and that his niggardly salary is a reproach on a great people, but the constitution points the way.

That is proof of growth and prosperity, but also an indication that more homes ought to be provided for the people who would move here, if houses could be rented. A number of cozy and attractive cottages that can be rented at a reasonable figure is what we need.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

MORRIS REFUSES

Candidate for Governor, Charles Morris has been making various and sundry remarks regarding the expenditures of the Ferguson administration. The Governor challenged Morris to meet him in a joint debate. Morris refused. How much like the calamity howler, who fears publicity and close inspection of his bowels is the little would-be governor. He knew he would be unable to cope with the Governor, and knew that his assertions would not stand up in debate. Morris is a wise old owl, or rather has a wise bunch of politicians backing him in this race. They know that his only chance of success is to howl "extravagance" and that there will be thousands of people over the state willing to listen to such bosh and join in with his howl. Morris and his crowd have nothing to say regarding the advisability or fairness of the state appropriations. All he can howl about is the use of money which was appropriated by the legislature, and with the full knowledge of every member of the legislature, for the personal use of the Governor. They make charges, considerably twisted to suit their fancy, and rely upon the prejudices of the people who are always ready to join in the howl of "thief, robber, etc." no matter whether at a baseball game or in a governor's race.

Governor Ferguson had this to say about his critics in Friday's speech: "You have been hearing a lot of willful political prevarication," he said. "It is not that I have wasted any money, but that the two Governors preceding me failed to do their duty. Two weeks ago I dared Tom Campbell and Sterling Strong and their candidate to get on any stump in Texas and point to any item in the appropriation bill that they object to. I repeat that dare. It is unfair to talk about high taxes and not object to the purposes for which the appropriations were made. But they haven't the nerve to state which appropriations they object to. It is not a question of amount spent, but of purposes for which spent. I dare Tom Campbell to say he objects to the appropriation for the A. & M. College, where we teach Texas boys to develop this country in time of peace and defend it in time of war. I dare them to say they object to the University appropriation, or the appropriation for the normals, or the Blind Institute, or the Orphans' Home, or the Insane Asylums, or for the rural schools, or to say I shouldn't have paid the indebtedness of the State they have handed over to me because past administrations had not paid their honest debts.

"The next time a man talks to you about Ferguson's high tax rate repeat this challenge and make him say which of these appropriations he would have cut out, so the expenses of the state would have been less. And if a man can't tell you what appropriations of my administration he is opposed to, he is a blatant political hypocrite and is not entitled to have your consideration."

There is certain to be a whirlwind campaign made in the state presently for Senator Culberson's re-election. There is no man who doubts the ability of Culberson. He is close to the administration. But what more can be said for him? He is now and has been for years confined to his home a greater part of the time ill. Why? The life he has led is not the sort that we would wish to point out to our young men, and public example has more influence upon the lives and character of men and all of the preachers. Yet many good men are going to support Culberson, in spite of the fact that there is a man in the race of such sterling worth as Dr. Brooks, a man of mighty brain and moral strength, who although young in politics, has in his heart and mind that which makes a great statesman and a man to whom we may point the young as a worthy example to follow.

The man who thinks there is danger of failure on the part of a man not trained in politics may look to our worthy president as a man who has made good without actual first hand political knowledge.

Some Panhandle papers are howling about "hoggish Amarillo." Of course, as a matter of fact Amarillo is after anything good she can get—just like every other town on the Plains. But as another matter fact, Amarillo hasn't acted any more hoggish about some things than some other towns. To say that the people of the Panhandle will not support Judge Hall simply because he happens to have lived in Amarillo during the past few years is putting it in a very hoggish light from the people who make the assertion. Judge Hall's home is in Vernon and he has lived in Amarillo only during his term of office in the court of civil appeals, which happens to be in Amarillo. The trouble with some people is that they would like to see their town gobble up everything good that comes alone, and then yell "hog" at the other fellow who beats them out of a piece of pie. Forget it, if you think Amarillo is hoggish. She has become a good town because she has gone after things worth while, which no doubt a majority of the other towns overlooked entirely.

After a stormy session the Bull Moose party went out of business by offering its support to Mr. Hughes. Hughes gladly accepted the same and heartily thanks Roosevelt. However, it is well to recall that Teddy did more for Taft's nomination and election than any other man, but long before he had fairly started on his term of office, it was Teddy who began to muddy the water by denouncing his former friend and political ally. No man suits Roosevelt but the former chief Bull Moose, himself,—but why mention the dead—Teddy made the party and then destroyed it when it no longer served his purpose.

How long would a war with Mexico last? This is the most frequently asked question in America today. The war would not last long if both armies came out to fight as in Europe, but with the Mexican it is a different proposition. Uncle Sam will have to go after the large part of the fighters, and they will tuck themselves away in the secret places of the mountains, awaiting an opportunity to do treachery upon the invaders—as in the Carrizal affair.

Carranza has assumed full responsibility for the Carrizal affair in which U. S. troops were attacked and many killed. It was an act of deplorable treachery—but what more could be expected of a Mexican, no matter whether of high or low estate. Intervention seems the only course for this country, and steps may be taken toward this before this reaches the public.

Some very unsanitary conditions have been reported in Canyon among certain residences. Every precaution should be taken to make Canyon perfect in sanitary conditions. If the city hasn't an ordinance "with teeth" one should be passed at once.

Practically all of the National Guard of this country will be on the border within the next few days. The boys will do their duty and will make good soldiers.

There is talk of organizing a Brooks Club in Randall County. By all means. Let every man who believes in good government get into the club and boost for Dr. Brooks.

Japan has announced that she will have nothing to do with the Mexican trouble. Most Americans have too much fear of the "yellow peril."

Teddy can at least boast that no other man has been able to bust two political parties in two successive campaigns.

Now that we have a war of our own, the Europeans will have to do something big to get a place on the first page.

Ferguson-Bailey.

(By R. P. Shuler of Austin.)
On Tuesday, May 23, in the city of San Antonio, Mr. James E. Ferguson and Miss Josie Weldie Bailey were united in the unholy bonds of wedlock, Anheuser-Bush officiating. The bridal altar was fitly decorated and adorned with cork screws, beer kegs and white aprons. The fond friends of the bride and groom heralded their union with almost air-spitting gusto and waves of approval.

The groom is the son of an illustrious sire. The bride is well known in Texas, having never played the second fiddle until the present occasion. Just how peaceful their union will be remains to be seen, and just what kind of offspring will result from this union is a question even among the close friends of both the bride and groom.

And thus the "weld" has been taken out of the middle name of Bailey and with it has been welded the famous $30,000 pewter spoon of Bell County with the still more famous wooden handle, for years used with much pride by Texas in the United States Senate. The implement aforesaid, thus welded, was dipped in the foaming suds, amid a roar of approval, and once more the name, bad it is, of John Barleycorn

Here's A 'Tip' On Rheumatism Follow It

AN ACCURATE DESCRIPTION
When your arm or your leg feels "all knotted" with rheumatism, when you feel as though your muscles were "tied up with a rope," you are really describing your pains accurately. Rheumatism is a condition of the body when acids and other deposits of impurities are actually "tied up" the strands of muscles in your body, or strangling the nerves and thus producing the awful shooting pains of sciatica, lumbago, etc. Medical authorities agree that these acid deposits are carried and deposited by the blood in the various parts of the body. It stands to reason, therefore, that local applications such as rubbing with so-called remedies can't do any permanent good. At best they can relieve the pain a little and only for a little while. The only way to effect a real cure is to attack the real cause—the blood. It is cleansed from the troublesome deposits by S. S. S., the reliable blood purifier that is now easing the pains and healing the ills of the third generation. S. S. S. "goes after" the impurities in the blood as relentlessly, as eagerly and as thoroughly as a ferret goes after rats; pursuing the poison into every vein and artery, into every nook and corner of the body, and chasing the troublesome substances out of the system. The blood thus cleansed, carries off the acid and other injurious deposits and "filters" them out of the body through the kidneys. S. S. S. is not a drug. It is a purely vegetable blood purifier. You can get S. S. S. at every drug store. But if in addition you should like to have the advice of the doctors in charge of our laboratory, do not hesitate to write us. You will receive free, conscientious and confidential advice. This is in line with our policy to make every effort to insure the best results from S. S. S. to every sufferer. Get a bottle at your druggist's today. If you wish special advice, write to Medical Department, Room 45, Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

A Man's Debt to His Town.

A man owes a great deal more to the town he lives in than he does to the town he was born in. When the town he lives in has accepted the man, sometimes at his own valuation, which is largely above par, and sometimes very quietly, merely giving him the chance to show what manner of man he is, and crowning him with rewards when he had made good, it is his manly duty to reciprocate by accepting his chosen town on the same terms.

He should at least make a treaty with her, containing the "most favored nation clause," and loyally and enthusiastically live up to it. It is in his power to picture his town as an Eden, with bowers of roses and groves of luscious and life-sustaining fruit, or while not denying the roses and the orchards, he can so arrange his display as to have the snake prominently in the foreground, terrifying timid homeseekers from the open gate.

It is his duty to present his town to the passing stranger, the casual visitor, the abiding guest, in its best clothes, its clean-washed, shining school day face, and its Sunday morning behavior.

This does not imply that he should lie about his town, ascribing to it only absolute perfection and faultless attractions. But he should display its beauties, its graces and its excellencies with an honest heart and a clear conscience, even as a young mouther bashfully holds up to an admiring world the amazing precocity of her first baby, eleven weeks old.

Remember what the town was when you came to live in it, then look upon what it is now, and paint the picture with glowing colors and a bold brush on expensive canvas. And if your ascribe much of the cause of its growth and development to the fact that you care to live in it, your fellow citizens, even those who know you best, will forgive you and testify their forgiveness by their applause. It is the right and the duty of the citizen to thus present his town in its very best appearance. —Robert J. Burdette.

A Hero.

This little incident, which comes to us from over the sea, teaches us what a true hero is:

A few years ago a fire broke out in a charming little Swiss village. In a few hours the quaint frame houses were entirely destroyed.

One poor man was in greater trouble than his neighbors even. His home and cows were gone, and so, also, was his son, a bright boy of six or seven years. He wept and refused to hear a word of comfort. He spent the night wondering sorrowfully among the ruins.

Just as daybreak came, however, he heard a well known sound, and, looking up, he saw his favorite cow leading the herd, and coming directly after them was his bright-eyed little boy.

"O, my son! my son," he cried, "are you really alive?"

"Why, yes, father. When I saw the fire, I ran to get our cows away to the pasture lands."

"You are a hero, my boy!" the father exclaimed.

But the boy said: "No, no! A hero is one who does some wonderful deed. I led the cows away because they were in danger, and I knew it was the right thing to do."

"Ah!" cried the father, "he who does the right thing at the right time is a hero."—Sunday School Gem.

A Creed.

To live as gently as I can,
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best, and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand,
And then, shall failure come to me
To work and hope for victory.

To have no secret place wherein
I stoop unseen to shame or sin;
To be the same when I'm alone
As when my every deed is known;
To live undaunted, unafraid
Of any step that I have made;
To be without pretense or sham
Exactly what men think I am.

To leave some mark behind
That I have lived for men to find
If enmity to aught I show
To be an honest, generous foe;
To play my little part, nor whine
That greater honors are not mine.
This, I believe, is all I need
For my philosophy and creed.

—Detroit Free Press.

For Commissioner, precinct No. 4—M. S. PARK

President Wilson has thrown down the gauntlet to foreign-born persons who are among his critics. This is an excerpt from his Washington speech: "It proceeds from a minority, a very small minority, but an active, subtle minority, working underground, but also showing its ugly head where it may be seen and it is this minority that at this very moment is striving to levy a kind of political blackmail or wreak its vengeance at the polls. That is the sort of thing against which the American people will turn. That is the lesson which I come to remind you of today."

Writing an account of a wedding an Illinois editor said, "Miss —'s dimpled, shining face formed a pleasant contrast with Mr. —'s strong, bold physiognomy." The typesetter took one too many and this is how it came out in the paper, "Miss —'s pimply, shiny face formed a pleasant contrast with Mr. —'s stony, bald physiognomy." The editor is spending a few weeks in a hospital.

The Faultfinder.

(Jno. A. Sleicher in Leslie's.)
The greatest nuisance is the faultfinder, for he is conspicuous everywhere. He does not hide his light under a bushel nor speak in a whisper. His mission is to be seen and heard.

The Creator in six days made the universe and when it was finished declared that the work was good. Yet, since its creation, the world has been full of faultfinders who do not think it is good enough for them.

The peculiarity of the habitual faultfinder is that he has no reason to find fault. He disturbs the serenity peace and contentment but for him.

Nothing satisfies the faultfinder and no era has been free from his tantalizing presence. The faultfinders exasperated Moses on the mount until he dashed to pieces the stone tablets inscribed with the first written laws of God. But the Ten Commandments remain the law of God and man.

The faultfinder is the bane of the family circle. He undermines affection, destroys peace and breeds discontent. He is the fly in the ointment, the unwelcome intruder. He makes the task of the genuine reformer more difficult.

He blocks the path of progress. He cumber the statutes with unnecessary and unworkable laws. He dictates destructive policies to those in authority and makes them cover before his vitriolic tongue, his poisonous pen and pestiferous persistence.

No church has been without its faultfinder, no social organization; no shop, factory or office and no movement for the public good is exempt from his intrusion.

The faultfinder is found everywhere, scattering the seeds of distrust, poisoning the minds of those who will listen, marshalling the forces of unreason, casting shadows on the sun, dimming the light of the stars, mocking the hopes of humanity and challenging the goodness of a beneficent Providence.

Ont with the faultfinder! We have no room for him.

VALLEY FORGE ONE OF NATION'S MOST VENERATED SPOTS

Hills and Valleys Where Washington Camped in 1777 Have Been Made Beautiful by a Grateful Nation—Visited by Thousands

Thousands of visitors to Boston never leave the city until they have visited Concord and Lexington, 20 miles away, to gaze upon the spot where the embattled farmers stood and fired the shot heard 'round the world.

How many visitors to Philadelphia remember that at Valley Forge, a few minutes' ride from our city hall, is a locality fully as significant in its historic associations as Lexington?

Here, in the lonely woods of Valley Forge, is the spot forever hallowed where Washington knelt upon the snow and prayed in the extremity of despair that the cause of liberty should yet be successful, says the Philadelphia Record.

Thousands of visitors do, indeed, visit Valley Forge, but many thousands more would do so if they realized the pleasure which attends such a trip, altogether apart from the rich reward to be gained by seeing with their own eyes the ground where a handful of ragged and starving men, paupers in everything save their store of indomitable courage, fought cold and hunger—enemies more relentless than hostile troops—through that terrible winter of 1777. For now the beautiful woodlands that line the Schuylkill, the slopes that enclose the Chester Valley, are ideal spots for a day's jaunt.

That anyone within Philadelphia should not make a pilgrimage to Valley Forge, less than an hour's ride from the city, seems unthinkable.

Valley Forge is extremely accessible. Two railroad lines, a traction car line and automobile passenger omnibuses running from the city to all the points of interest in the vicinity, make it an extremely easy matter for any tourist to reach Valley Forge and enjoy the day there. A dozen splendid inns in the neighborhood, located among the pleasant hills of the beautiful Chester Valley, are famous among automobilists for their cordial welcome, their appetizing dinners and their attractive rooms. Some of them have the added charm of recalling, by their Colonial architecture and their quaint furnishings the historic days when they were first erected. In no locality, outside of Europe, can be found so many delightful wayside taverns as are open to the rambler through this lively valley.

PATRIOT ARMY STARVED.

Washington and his little army of some 10,000 men—equal only to the hundredth part of the vast force which Germany is now putting on the field in France—after the unsuccessful battle with the British under Lord Howe at Germantown, withdrew in discouragement to take up winter quarters at Valley Forge, 24 miles northwest of Philadelphia. The British troops, numbering 15,000, contented themselves with remaining in the city throughout the winter, making occasional forays in force through the surrounding country and clearing it of provisions as effectually as did Sherman in his march through Georgia. As a consequence, the Continental troops suffered unimaginable hardships for lack of food in the six months from the middle of December, 1777, until June 19, 1778, when Lord Howe, relinquishing the command of the British army to Lord Cornwallis, evacuated the city and withdrew to New York.

Through the efforts of the state of Pennsylvania, Valley Forge is now public property. More than 400 acres are included in the park, comprising Washington's headquarters, most of the campground and the remains of the Revolutionary forts and earthworks. Altogether the state has appropriated more than $350,000 for the preservation of the campsite. Pleasant drives have been constructed where impenetrable thickets once grew. The entrenchments and forts that were concealed in a dense wood a few years ago are now accessible to visitors. The fine drives of the park attract horsemen and automobilists in great numbers. By the principal road the ascent of Mount Joy, an elevation of 500 feet, is made by easy grades, and from the brow of the hill views covering 20 miles are obtained.

WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS.

Washington's headquarters, a stone farmhouse which belonged to Isaac Potts, a Quaker, stands near the railroad station, and at the entrance to the park. It was Isaac Potts who is said to have seen Washington at prayer in the icebound woods, at a time when hope seemed almost gone. The rooms are today as they were in Washington's time. The log kitchen at the rear was built while Washington occupied the house. From it descends an entrance into what was a tunnel to the banks of the Schuylkill river. Priceless Revolutionary relics are gathered in the building. The tent which Washington used on the field is still preserved.

At this entrance to the park stands the beautiful memorial arch of stone built by the nation and completed last year. It is known as the Washington Memorial arch, and another, to be called the Steuben Memorial arch, is planned for the other principal entrances of the park. For beauty and impressiveness no similar structure in the United States, with the exception of the Washington arch in Washington Square, New York, whose design is similar, can compare with that which now stands at Valley Forge.

FINE MEMORIAL BUILDINGS.

Other new edifices of surpassing beauty and dignity are the group of memorial buildings erected by popular subscriptions from citizens of every state. They include the Washington Memorial chapel, the Thanksgiving tower and the Patriots' hall. Services are held in the chapel by its rector, the Rev. W. Herbert Burk, who started the movement for the erection of the buildings in 1903. The entire group of buildings are of the beautiful Collegiate Gothic type of architecture. They house a collection of Revolutionary relics and a library of Americana which is unique. It is estimated that $200,000 will be needed to complete the structures as planned. When finished they will constitute a sort of Westminster abbey, without comparison in the United States for historical associations, a Mecca for all patriotic Americans from every part of the nation.

It is estimated that 100,000 visitors from all over the United States make a pilgrimage to Valley Forge each year. With the inauguration of Philadelphia's Greater Fourth of July, signalized by the visit of President Wilson, members of congress and delegates from each of the thirteen original states of the Union, great interest was evident in 1915, when the richness of Philadelphia's historic memories were brought more closely to the attention of the whole nation.

Americans from Maine to California visit Valley Forge. Do the citizens of Philadelphia realize what an exceptional opportunity they themselves have of spending a memorable afternoon in a place so near at hand, so crowded with memorials of the most critical period in American history, so beautiful in its setting among the cool, green hills of Chester Valley, so attractive in every way to the person who wishes to escape for a day the city streets?

Maryland Patriots First.

The patriots of Harford county, Maryland, gathered themselves together at Harford town, which is now called Bush, on March 22, 1775. On the same day they prepared and signed a Declaration of Independence, probably the first one ever made by the colonists, or any part of them.

Sudan Grass for Pasture.

Now that Sudan grass is quite plentiful more attention should be given to the profitable uses of the crop. The sale of the seed has heretofore been very profitable, owing to scarcity of seed. No doubt seed crops will continue to give the grower good returns, but the returns will undoubtedly be less than if the field were properly utilized as a hay or pasture crop.

Hay crops should prove quite profitable, since the price of well-cured Johnson grass hay has been good for several years, primarily because livestockmen and transfermen get good returns from feeding Johnson grass hay. The production is not great and the market seems to demand a greater supply. It is certain that Sudan grass hay will be accepted on the basis of Johnson grass hay, as all analyses and information available at this time show it to be equal or somewhat superior to Johnson grass in feeding qualities that Johnson grass has a hay. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has found that Sudan grass is much more productive than Johnson grass, and these results have been later confirmed by numerous experiences of individual farmer who have grown the crop for hay. It seems, therefore, that with a chance for much greater acre production and reasonable certainty that the hay crop may be considerable acreage should be grown for the hay market.

It has long been an established fact that crops fed on the farm and thus indirectly placed on the market return greater profits than crops sold directly on the open market.

Sudan grass makes excellent pasture for cattle, horses and hogs. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is now conducting some work on Sudan grass as a grazing crop. Results to date have been very satisfactory and have indicated in general that it is better suited as grazing for cattle and hogs than is sorghum. While the work has not progressed sufficiently to make recommendations yet as to just what method of procedure will give the greatest return, it seems reasonably certain that, for grazing, Sudan grass should be planted in close drills and the animals turned onto the field when the grass is about 12 inches high. At this time the grass will have established a root system sufficient to prevent the animals from pulling it up and to enable it to put out new growth quickly. But care should be taken not to graze closely before the roots get a start.

Care should be exercised not to over-pasture. This requires that the man in charge of the grazing does not allow too many animals access to the field, and that he does not allow it to be grazed close enough to do injury. If it becomes evident that the animals have eaten the grass closer than desired, then the animals should be removed so as to give the grass a chance to put out new growth. The ideal grazing, is a case in which a sufficient number of animals are put on the pasture to keep it fairly well grazed down, but not sufficiently close to do serious injury. Even in such a case it would be well to occasionally take the animals off the field a few days. Farmers who have pastured Sudan grass have found its growth profitable. Its pasture value is well illustrated by the experience of Mr. R. E. Spartzman, Irene, Texas, who wrote last year to one of the investigators on the station staff as follows:

"I am going to furnish you a report on my Sudan grass from planting on April 15 until this time, June 15. I had three acres in one field upon which had been distributed 42 wagon loads of barnyard manure, flat broke three times and harrowed each plowing. I sowed 22 pounds of seed per acre with my hands and ran a heavy disk to

SOME BASEBALL STARS of 1916

THE FARM AND SMALL TOWN FURNISH BEST MATERIAL FOR BIG LEAGUE TIMBER.

Looking over the roster of the big league ball teams you will find name after name of men who only recently were boys on the farm or in the village or small town. On the other hand, surprisingly few hail from the big cities. And yet, this is not so surprising after all. Even laying aside our knowledge of the big part that the so-called country boy has always played in the great affairs of business and the nation, the country is the place to lay the foundation necessary for athletes.

The photographs shown are familiar to all lovers of the great National game. In addition to their being representatives of their type in the baseball world, all of these stalwart athletes are great endorsers of that beverage you know and like so well—Coca-Cola.

Short Histories of the Players.

JONES, Fielder Allison, Manager of St. Louis Browns, Born August 13, 1871, at Single House, Pa. Last season he came within one-half game of winning Federal League pennant, finishing nearer the top than any team in major leagues since the Browns in 1899.

He says Coca-Cola is his favorite beverage.

ALEXANDER, Grover Cleveland, Pitcher Philadelphia Nationals. Born in St. Paul, Nebraska, February 26, 1887, and lives on a farm there now.

Alexander is one of the greatest pitchers in the game today, being practically responsible for the Philadelphia National League team winning the pennant last year. Drafted by Philadelphia in August, 1910, with whom he has since played. He warmly endorses Coca-Cola as a drink for athletes.

DOYLE, Lawrence, Captain New York National League Club. Born at Caseyville, Ill., July 31, 1886. Second baseman.

He has played with the New York Nationals since 1907, and was appointed Captain in 1912, which position he has since held with them. Leading hitter of the National League for the season of 1915. Like all the best of them he is a staunch believer in Coca-Cola.

There is, by the way, a wonderful similarity between the origin of these ball players and that of the beverage which they endorse. Coca-Cola might be called an agricultural drink, both from the materials it is made of and because of its great popularity in the country as well as in the city. For Coca-Cola, if ever there was a natural, wholesome beverage, is such—it itself is a gift from Nature. Made from Nature's pure water, flavored with the juices of fine fruits and things that grow and sweetened with Nature's purest, finest sugar—and please particularly remember this last—Coca-Cola contains no artificial sweetening matter but just the best of pure cane sugar. It is this fine combination that gives Coca-Cola its deliciousness of flavor, its distinctively refreshing and thirst-quenching qualities and great wholesomeness. That's why ball players, athletes, fans—all classes and kinds of men and women drink and endorse Coca-Cola. Drink a glass or a bottle and you will be just as enthusiastic about it.

Pointed Paragraphs.

(Chicago News.)
Love is a nondirigible airship.
A pretty young widow soon finds a press agent.
Buying experience is seldom a divided paying investment.
The way to get your expectations to come true is not to have any.
It's what our neighbors haven't that makes us appreciate what we have.
A man is justified in waiting a long while for a woman who is worth while.
A grass widow says it is easier to catch a husband than it is to lose him later.
A homely girl may be able to crush them off for a few days they lose about one-half gallon. This is proof positive that Sudan grass for grazing is a success and that three acres of land will keep the above number of stock not only in good living condition but keep them fat and growing.

"On another three-acre tract, rich in barnyard manure and sowed in the same manner as the other tract, it came up just as the other and was not grazed, and is now five feet high and in full bloom. It has grown to this height in 65 days and is attracting more attention than any crop in this section. We will mow and bale it this week and it will, in all probability, yield two and one-half tons the first crop. There are several acres planted here and it is more than pleasing to those who have it."

"I am convinced that Sudan grass will solve a problem for the Southern farmer and the raising of cattle can be made more profitable by the use of this crop."

Grazing work conducted to date seems to indicate that Sudan grass is one of the best grasses for use as pasture in this state. It is reasonably safe to assume that one acre will support 12 to 15 hogs or two to three cows, if the field is allowed to rest occasionally by removing the animals. Under favorable conditions one acre ought to support one cow almost continuously throughout the summer. Normal stocking of range pasture is one cow to 10 to 30 acres, depending on the season and on the range. It seems that range pasture might be very profitably supplemented by Sudan grass pasture. Every farmer who has a small herd of dairy cows, beef cattle, or hogs could use profitably a small acreage of Sudan grass. Any farmer who plants Sudan grass for pasture should so manage the field that a part of it would be putting out new growth while other parts were being grazed. This can be done either by fencing separate pastures or by moving part of the pasture without taking the animals off.

WHAT IS URIC ACID?

The Cause of Backache, Rheumatism, Gravel and Sudden Death.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its over-abundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anuric," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. He found "Anuric" 37 times more potent than lithin, and consequently you need no longer fear rheumatism, lumbago, pains here and there or many diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for a large trial package of "Anuric" Tablets, or obtain a 50c. package now at your druggist's.

"The Birth of Texas."

For Canyon July 4th, D. W. Griffith's Great Historical Spectacle will be the attraction at the Lyric Theatre. This picture is indeed very appropriate for the occasion and Mr. Britain, manager of the Lyric, was very fortunate in getting this great costly Triangle play for the fourth of July when every town, large and small throughout the entire state was hot after it. This play is a wonder and the amount paid for the use of it for one night equals the price that large cities offer for such great productions.

Clarendon July 1, 3, 4.

As has been the custom for many years, Clarendon citizens are preparing for their Race Meet on July 1, 3, and 4, winding up with a great Fourth of July celebration on the last day. Hundreds of citizens from this community are well acquainted with this annual Clarendon event, and word comes to us that things will be done on a much larger scale this year than heretofore, which assures us that the occasion will be one long remembered.

Trotting races, pacing races, running races, mule races, motorcycle and auto races will be staged, and amusements for old and young will be furnished in plenteous quantity. Final contracts have not yet been closed for all events that are expected, but enough have been closed to warrant the statement that the 1916 celebration and race meet will be the most interesting in the history of this movement.

A big barbecue will be another feature of the Fourth, and the "eats" will be there in abundance. Come and spend the three days with Clarendon friends, and at the same time enjoy the biggest "good old summer time attraction of the Texas Panhandle."

Food For Thought.

Martin Luther, the Great Reformer, was not indifferent to the forces of evil. Sitting in his study, he thought he saw Satan appear before him. Luther welcomed His Satanic Majesty by throwing an ink stand at his head.

U. S. Guber and Fay went to Tullia Thursday to visit friends.

It cost the suffragist of the country over $60,000 to get a suffrage plank in the Republican and Progressive party platforms.

The Railroad Situation.

Amarillo, Texas, June 26, 1916. All Santa Fe Railway employees in road and yard service have been mailed a circular letter on the eight hour day demand. The letter is very largely documentary, setting out in full the demand for the eight hour day and time and one-half overtime of March 29th; the reply of the roads of March 31st; and the final reply by the railway representatives at the close of the New York conference June 15th. In the final reply after a fifteen day conference without an agreement, the railroads proposed that the matter be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission and in case it should be found the Commission was without authority under the law, to go before Congress to secure the necessary legislation. Or the railroads were willing to submit the entire question to arbitration under the Newland's Act. The representatives of the employees stated that it would be necessary to refer the matter to the individual members.

This letter, signed by F. C. Fox, General Manager, closes: "While this company feels very strongly that the existing basis for pay yields adequate compensation and provides favorable working conditions, it recognizes that where opinions differ neither party should reserve to itself the exclusive right to settle them. Therefore the offer of the rail ways to refer the pending questions to the Interstate Commerce Commission or to arbitration under the Federal law is eminently reasonable."

"I trust that after careful consideration your judgment will decide in favor of a peaceable solution upon the equities of your request and that you will take no action which will involve a possibility of the interruption of traffic on this line."

LETTER FROM CANYON BOY ON THE MEXICAN BORDER

The following letter from Thad Lair to his brother, W. E. Lair, will be of much interest to the Canyon people. Mr. Lair is with the Amarillo Troop of National Guardsmen who are now stationed on the Mexican border:

Laredo, Texas, June 24.
Dear Brother:—
Have just received your letter. Am very glad indeed to hear from home. I have not had any mail at all for nearly three weeks until yesterday!

We are camped very nearly on the banks of the Rio Grande. We look over into Mexico every day. I could see the Carranza soldiers milling around yesterday. The gossip is that there are about two thousand soldiers across the river from us but do not know for sure.

We are having a very busy life here, training ourselves and mounts. It is so very sandy here and windy that life seems almost unbearable. The Panhandle is a paradise in comparison. The water isn't the best in the world; has to be boiled twenty minutes before drinking. We have had two call to arms since we have been here, but both were false alarms. The second night we were here the outposts became excited and reported a large bunch of men were crossing at a point half mile up the river from our camp. We were lined up in line of battle in the rear of the camp. After a few minutes wait we were brought back to camp without loss of life.

I am now wagoner for our troop; have eight mules and two wagons in my care. It pays six dollars more than a private. We have been pretty busy this week unloading coast artillery and from one to three cars of supplies every day.

Sonk (Louis Lair) is doing fine. He is a No. 1 soldier. Our troop commander thinks he is one of the best in camp. He is chosen on all important guards.

War seems unavoidable according to this morning's newspaper reports. How are all the folks at home? Tell some of the boys to jar loose and write sometimes. All letters will certainly be appreciated. The hardships of this life would be lightened considerably with a breezy bit of news from home sometimes.

Let those letters be punctuated with a few luxuries. A little package from home will be devoured without mercy. At all times nothing would be turned down.

Well must go and groom my mules. Your brothers,
Thad and Louis

PRESIDENTIAL POINTERS

It is usual in other countries to have a special ensign to designate the presence on a vessel of the ruler of the nation. It was not until lately that the United States had such a flag. President Arthur suggested it in the early part of 1882, and, as his cabinet concurred in his suggestion, decided on the design of a blue ground with the arms of the United States in the center. The navy department ordered that this flag should be displayed at the mainmast of any vessel that bore the president. Arthur first used it in 1883.
