RED CROSS ROLL CALL GETS ONLY 266 MEMBERS

The Red Cross Third Roll Call has been continued for ten days, and will close on November 21 according to information coming this morning from Dallas. In few of the counties has there been the response as expected.

According to the figures this morning, Randall County has but 266 members in the Third Roll Call. Randall County is expected to have 1000 members.

The officers of the Randall County Red Cross Chapter are puzzled at the indifference that is being shown over the Red Cross Roll Call. They had confidently expected Randall County to respond as the people had responded in the past, and that the quota would be far surpassed.

Renewed effort will be made to put the drive over before November 21.

Every citizen is called upon to see a solicitor if the solicitor fails to see you.

AMERICAN LEGION CAMP ORGANIZED

Palo Duro Camp is Name Adopted—Application Forwarded for the Chapter in County.

The first steps necessary for the organization of a local camp of the American Legion were taken Friday night when fifteen men met and forwarded to the state headquarters at Dallas the necessary application to procure the Camp for Randall County.

The election of officers will follow as soon as the charter has been received. Ample notice will be given for all of the men entitled to join before the election is called.

The American Legion was conceived early this year. It is composed of the men from the army, navy and marine who were in the service between April, 1917, when war was declared, and Nov. 11, 1918, when the armistice was signed. Any period of service, no matter how short, together with an honorable discharge entitles the man to membership in the organization.

The American Legion is not a political machine, although both parties will seek to get its favor. Just as the men of its membership fought to make the world safe for democracy, so this organization has for its ideal the making of America a better nation.

Randall County had more than 200 men in the service. The Palo Duro Camp should have the name of every one of these men upon its roll when the charter comes and the membership drive begins. There is a great future for the organization as it is conceived, and every man who is entitled to membership should join as soon as possible.

SPEAKER R. E. THOMASON ANNOUNCES FOR GOVERNOR

El Paso Attorney, Native of Gainsville, Throws His Hat Into Gubernatorial Ring

Speaker R. E. Thomason, of the House of Representatives, has formally announced his intention of becoming a candidate for Governor at the Democratic primary election in July.

Speaker Thomason was reared near Gainsville. He was District Attorney there for four years, during which he made a record for law enforcement.

Removing to El Paso he became one of the leading attorneys of the western part of the state and was elected representative for four years. He was selected as Speaker of the House of Representatives without opposition as a testimonial to his popularity and hard work in the interest of better laws.

During the different sessions of the legislature, Representative Thomason was active in the passage of prohibition laws and in the interest of woman's suffrage. He was the author of several clean election laws and the joint author of the zone bill which enacted prohibition about the army camps.

Speaker Thomason plans to open campaign headquarters in Dallas later and will begin his speaking campaign at his home in Gainsville and will cover the entire state.

HEAD OF EDUCATION DEPT. FOR NORMAL IS CHOSEN

Dr. Marvin F. Beeson of Colorado State Teachers' College Comes to Normal January 1st.

When Dr. Garth resigned in September to accept an offer from the University of Texas, President Hill decided that on account of the scarcity of adequately trained teachers it would be necessary to take considerable time to find the right man for the place. Accordingly, Dr. Garth's work was distributed among the various members of the faculty, giving some of the teachers a very heavy load. The work is being well done, considering the difficulties, but the faculty will be pleased to have the relief which will come when, on January 1, next, Dr. Marvin F. Beeson of Colorado State Teachers' College will become head of the department of Education and carry on the work formerly done by Dr. Garth.

Dr. Beeson is a young man of exceptional promise. Indeed, he is a man whose short life has been full of worthy achievement. He was born in Mississippi some thirty years ago and is the son of President Beeson of Meridian College, Mississippi. He received his undergraduate training in Meridian College, having graduated there with an A. B. degree.

For graduate work young Beeson went to Europe, where he spent five years in the Universities at Paris, Grenoble, Jena, Berlin, and Leipzig receiving his Ph. D. "cum laude" from the last named place in 1914, just before the outbreak of the world war. While in Europe Dr. Beeson was for one year Carnegie Exchange professor at Potsdam and traveled extensively in Europe.

Since his return from Europe he has taught in Meridian College, Miss., in the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell and in the Colorado State Teachers' College at Greeley where he is now in his third year of service as professor of psychology.

Dr. Beeson is an active member of the Methodist church and his wife is pipe organist in the Greeley church. They came to Canyon with the unqualified endorsement of those who have known them best and it would seem that the college and the community are to be congratulated upon this splendid acquisition.

CANADIAN IS EASY FOR NORMAL TEAM

The Normal had an easy battle Saturday with the Canadian high school, winning by a score of 55 to 0. The high school bunch was never within striking distance, and only during the last quarter did they make any considerable games, when they managed to get away with four successful forward passes and carried the ball nearly half way across the field.

The Normal kicked west to the visitors, who failed to gain, and failed to kick on the last down, the ball going to the Normal on the visitor's 26 yard line. Key went 6 yards, when Canadian intercepted a forward pass on their 16 yard line and kicked to the 45 yard line. Lohn made 12 yards, Battenfield 15, Miller 11, Key 4 and Sone went over for a touchdown.

The remainder of the game was very much of the same characted.

Sone added another touchdown, Battenfield added another, Key made the first one in the second half, Miller got another, Key another, B. Battenfield, who replaced his brother at quarter kept up the family reputation and added one. Sone got away on a forward pass for 45 yards and a touch down, and a few minutes later added another and the last of the game.

Canadian put up a stiff fight all the way through but way unable to cope with the heavier and more experienced men. Their coach was allowed to play with them during the last half.

Young People Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas entertained the young people of the Episcopal Church on Tuesday evening at their home. Games and storytelling filled the time very happily, and later Mrs. Luke sang several beautiful folk songs. Mrs. Garner and the Rector filled in the rest of the program, after which very dainty refreshments were served.

These social evenings will be repeated each month during the winter, they have so far been very successful and enjoyable.

POULTRY RAISING, THE DAIRY AND GARDENING

(By R. Kenneth Evans.)

The opportunities for the raising of auxiliary agricultural products in this section are unlimited. The climatic conditions and the seasons are very conducive to the successful following of the poultry raising industry. In fact those who have engaged in the industry state that the conditions here are equal to those in the Ozark country where poultry raising is the chief and principal industry. The altitude is high, the climate dry and steady and everything is in favor of the extensive following of the poultry raising industry.

In the Canyon country alone, although the industry is merely followed and allowed to develop itself without any special care being put to it, thousands of dollars are paid to farmers annually for fowls and eggs. There are many farmers in this section, who raise large flocks of chickens, turkeys and ducks, because they are easy to produce, and pay their entire family's expenses throughout the year from this source and have a substantial bank account left. It is maintained by farmers living in the Canyon country that any farmer, without detracting in the least from his regular duties, can pay the operating expenses of his farm from the poultry production alone.

There is ample small grain forage on all farms in this section to enable chickens and other fowls to grow and develop without any enormous amounts of money being paid out for feed stuffs. In fact poultry is in the majority self sustaining. The flocks are usually cared for by the wife and children of the farmers. They find it a pleasure to care for the flocks and the revenue thus derived is immense.

The industry is merely in the extreme infancy stages of development. In fact the rapid development of the Panhandle country has almost made it impossible for the average farmer to put in the time he might desire in following out this industry. However to the poultry raiser or poultry fancier there is ample land available for chicken farming. On a five or ten acre plot of ground an experienced poultry raiser could make himself independent in a short time and this land is available at a price that can be met by the majority that would enter this business.

The poultry markets are maintained in Canyon. There are poultry houses and the merchants in some instances handle the poultry paying the highest cash price possible for these products. On an average of twenty cases of eggs are shipped from Canyon every week and from two to three car loads of poultry are shipped to the larger markets every season. Compared to the possibilities this production is small but when the reader will consider that this production comes about without any special effort he can readily realize the opportunities that exist for extension of this industry. The railroad facilities make it possible to ship these products to the north and east Amarillo, and Wichita Kansas being two of the principle markets that receive the produce from this section. Many shipments are made to the Southwest to supply the demands, and El Paso and New Mexico points are the principle points where shipments are received from the Panhandle country. The farmer of this section this year has received on an average of thirty-five cents per dozen for eggs and an average of twenty-five cents per pound for his chickens. This is also an exceptionally good turkey territory and turkeys, which are the hardest fowl to successfully raise, thrive here. Every holiday season sees extensive shipments of turkeys going out of this territory.

The dairying industry is practically in the same stages of development as the poultry industry with the exception that there are some few dairy farms in this section. Those who have engaged in the industry keep the very best breeds of dairy animals and recently two shipments of Holsteins were made to Randall County for dairying purposes and realize an enormous profit from this commodity. Like the poultry industry the conditions here are exceptionally conducive towards success in this line. With the development of the agricultural possibilities ample forage crops are raised which makes it possible for the dairy farmer to maintain his dairy herds of cattle without paying out expense for feed stuffs. There is also a ready market for all dairy products. The demand for the dairy products in Amarillo and surrounding cities consumes practically all the production in this section and in many instances it is necessary to ship in dairy products from a territory where the industry is more fully developed. This fact alone shows that the field for the carrying out of the dairy industry is unlimited. There is also a great field for development open here to the gardener. The melon business is one that is attracting special attention in this field. The cantaloupes mature here just as the Imperial Valley crops are finishing which creates a demand for the Texas product. Contracts have been let for the supplying of melons to the railroad eating house service because of the superiority of the melons grown in the Panhandle country. Watermelons also grow to large proportions and while they are not a remunerative crop as the cantaloupes much money is derived from the sale of these melons. All garden products grow and develop profusely and there is a constant demand on the market for these products.

There is also a large market in this section for apples, pears, plums, peaches and all orchard crops. Young orchards are to be seen over the entire Panhandle country and they develop and commence to bear quite young making it possible for the orchard farmer to realize a handsome profit from this source.

In fact in the Canyon country, as stated on the opening statement of this article, the field for auxiliary agricultural crops is unlimited and extent of the success can only be determined by the amount of effort that is exerted by the farmer coupled with the scientific production of these products.

Halloween Party.

One of the most enjoyable events of Halloween, for the younger set, was a party given by Miss Francis Reid. The house was beautifully decorated in jack-o-lanterns, witches and black cats. All games suitable to the occasion were played and enjoyed by all present.

After refreshments of pumpkin pie and ginger cake were served, the crowd went on a spooking trip. Those present were Annie Morris, Anadel Guenther, Tip Bradford, Erma and Lucille Dowd, Nora and Thelma Pritchard, Elizabeth Shaw, Nellie Dunaway, Maxine Jennings, Marie Downing, Opal Helton, Elvogene Vetsak, Corine Brown, Patsy Britian, Sam Steele, Joe Goode, Claude and Haynes Moore, Conner Oden, Tracy Service, Edmon Otis, Tince Brown, Clinton Oldham, Roy Tate, Milton Helton. Those who assisted in entertaining were Mrs. Frank Hicks and Mrs. G. W. Reid.

TRADES DAY MONDAY DREW LARGE CROWD TO CANYON

There was a large crowd in town Monday for the regular monthly Trades Day.

The sale in the afternoon had a large amount of different kinds of articles for auction, all of which brought a fair price. There was a large private sale after the regular auction.

Trades Excursion Friday.

A Trade Excursion was run Friday afternoon to the west part of the county, coming back through Umbarger. Four cars with fifteen men made the trip. They greatly enjoyed the prosperity which was in evidence upon every hand out in that thrifty part of Randall County.

A large percent of the people of that section returned the compliment by coming to Canyon on Trades Day.

Closed for Armistice Day.

All business houses in Canyon remained closed Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day.

A program at the Normal in the morning was well attended, but a majority of the people either stayed at home during the day or went hunting.

FEDERAL AID FOR DEPT. IN NORMAL

Normal Selected for Teacher-Training in Agriculture Under Smith-Hughes Act.

The Board of Normal School Regents last summer designated the West Texas State Normal College for teacher-training in Agriculture under the Smith-Hughes act of Congress. Immediately thereupon the Department of Agriculture prepared a course of study for submission to the Federal Vocational Board for approval. Word has been received by local authorities that the course has been approved by the Federal Board and the college has been instructed to introduce this work at the beginning of the winter term.

This means that the West Texas State Normal College will share with A. & M. College and the Sam Houston Normal Institute at Huntsville the Federal aid allotted to Texas. The amount which the Normal will receive this year is small, but will be distinctly advantageous to the Department of Agriculture.

The college has also been approved by the Federal Board for giving instruction in Vocational High School Agriculture and will receive Federal aid for this work, too. In this connection it is intended that this school shall become the center for vocational high school agriculture for this section of the state. It is understood that the work here will run largely in the direction of stock farming, as this section of the state is rapidly becoming noted for the stock-farming industry. The adding of these new courses will require an early increase of teachers and equipment for the agriculture department of the college.

Boy Scout Notes.

All Scouts are asked to be at Troop Meeting at 7 o'clock sharp this evening, (Thursday) the Certificates are to be given, and a speech made by President Hill.

Uniforms if possible, but all clean and smart, if in school clothes.

The Flag Raising at sunrise on Armistice Day was well done, a good custom has been started which must be kept up with increasing perfection, the nippy morning did not prevent a large turn-out of Scouts and some visitors.

The Troop is now full, at the last meeting there were 53 boys present, but more than six patrols (48) is beyond the maximum limit of a Troop, and all candidates from now on will be kept on a waiting list.

Strict regard will be paid to merit, and boys slacking off will lose their places in the patrols, giving way to others on the waiting list.

Good work is being done on drills, and the Troop is becoming very efficient.

Stork Special.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Money Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Arden Jeffries of Amarillo are the parents of a nine pound boy. Mrs. Jeffries will be remembered as Miss Venie Moreland, formerly of this place.

MORE SURVEYING DONE FOR PAVING

Estimates Are Promised by Engineers Within Twenty or Thirty Days—Paving a Possibility.

More surveying was done on the streets of Canyon Saturday, and the engineers now say they have all of the information to make the estimates. These estimates should be in the hands of the city officials within 20 or 30 days.

Mayor J. D. Gamble has no definite information regarding the paving, but is hopeful that something may be done within a short while.

The prospect for letting a contract this winter is not bright. Recently Ft. Worth advertised twice for bids on paving and secured no bidders. All of the contractors have all they can do for several months to come. Added to this is the uncertainty of getting materials and the labor market makes the contractors hesitate to bid on work to be started at any future date.

The city council does not wish to borrow any trouble, but seeing these conditions in other cities of Texas, they contemplate trouble when the estimates are received. Most contractors now demand contracts on the cost plus basis.

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY NORMAL ROOTERS SATURDAY

The only game scheduled for the Normal football team away from home will be played Saturday in Plainview with Wayland College.

A special train will be run to Plainview Saturday morning, returning after the game.

Wayland and the Normal are doped to be about equal in strength. Both were defeated by the Plainview high school by one touchdown. Wayland beat Clarendon in their first game, but later were defeated by Clarendon. The Normal defeated Clarendon.

Wayland claims the better team and believes she will win. The Plainview high school men are divided in opinion. Some are for the Normal as winners, while others are for Wayland.

It is going to be a big game, and the 175 rooters who accompany the team will see a great battle.

Wayland will play a return game with the Normal on Thanksgiving.

The Episcopal Church.

The services next Sunday will be at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Both of these special sermons will be preached by Archdeacon Garner.

A very cordial invitation is extended to friends in town and college to be present.

Sunday School at 10 a. m.

Commissioners in Session.

The quarterly session of the Commissioners Court is being held this week. So far only routine matters have been up for consideration.

The Commissioners from Briscoe County visited with the Randall County Commissioners Tuesday, discussing the road building which is being done by Randall county.

TEACHING A LUXURY FEW CAN AFFORD

School Teaching Should Be Placed on Same Footing With Other Professions.

Is school teaching a luxury? When considered from the standpoint of returns on the capital invested, the up-keep of the profession, and the income necessary for a livelihood, it is not far from the truth to conclude that only the rich can afford to teach. People with independent incomes and a desire to render a benevolent service to the public can forego the pittance of a salary and indulge the luxury of teaching, but those who expect to make a living and save a little for that rainy day must seek other fields of employment. Unmarried women who have no one depending upon them may be able to take up teaching as a profession, but if the present system of providing funds is continued, no man can afford it unless he has made up his mind "to take the veil" and spend his days as a charity worker. To be a teacher is like a poor man owning a high priced car; the luxury is too expensive for his income. However, the car may be sold and the capital reinvested in some more profitable enterprise, but what business cares to buy a school-teacher's professional training? He must "forget it" and start with the man who has never had more than a common school education and work his way toward the front in the business world. And it is doubtful as to which of the two has the better advantage. As it is, school-teaching is not a business but a luxury, and before it can ever be made a real profession challenging the country's best talent, it must be placed upon a different basis from that which now prevails.

The manner in which the schools are supported dooms a teacher to work within a limited salary scale. This is not true with the other professions. A physician, lawyer, minister, et cetera, can enter into their respective professions with this idea in mind, that if they make good they will be rewarded accordingly. There is no limit placed by the public upon the value of their services. While there are many physicians, yet each one knows that if he studies, if he works with diligence, his services are going to demand a better price than the services of those less faithful to the ideals of the profession. The same is true with the lawyer, the minister and the engineer, etc. In the store, shop or factory, the young man who acquaints himself with the details of the business can make himself indispensable and command a salary in keeping with his services. If the firm with which he works cannot reward him according to his merits, there are other firms bidding for him. One has only to look about him and see evidences of such advances as suggested here. With the exception of the public school teacher, professional and managerial talents are bought in the open market by the highest bidders. This is the incentive to endure, sacrifice and achieve.

But what about the teacher? There is a constitutional limitation placed upon the value of his services. The public has said to the teacher, "This much you can have and no more". This order is severely enforced by placing a limitation upon the amount of money that can be levied for school purposes. It is now fifty cents on a hundred dollars; there is an amendment to the constitution being submitted which seeks to place it at one dollar on the hundred dollars. This will relieve the condition to some extent, but it will not solve the teacher problem in Texas, or in any other state where there exists a fixed limit. Wherever you go there is a dead level of salaries paid to teachers. This is preeminently true with the grade and high school teachers; and, practically, the same holds true with principals of high schools, superintendents, and college instructors. It is an insidious practice of legalized communism in a democracy which boasts of its abhorrence to any system which is calculated to stultify individual initiative and resourcefulness. Yet a man may go through the high school, the college, and take professional training in a post-graduate school; he may apply himself with all earnestness and diligence to his work; he may be ever so devoted and consecrated to his ideals, yet he is doomed to receive the salary of a mediocre in the other professions. No one expects a school teacher to have anything, and if a young man is contemplating entering the profession, his friends will be sure to call his attention to this fact. Such a system as now prevails will completely feminize the schools, and even this femininity will not be of the strongest and the most experienced type.

What is being done today to relieve this situation? After the school funds have been exhausted, there exists a consciousness that the teacher has not been well paid—a confession which is good for the soul but a poor substitute as nourishment for the teacher. However, the public is very generous in its praises of her work, and panegyrics flow freely on the "great services rendered by the teacher to civilization." The teachers already know the value of their services; they want something more than panegyrics and pennies; they want a reward for these services which will make it possible for them to live, lay away a competency for the future, and keep up their professional training so that they can render a greater service. Aside from a few sentimental teachers who look upon themselves as missionaries in the cause of enlightening an ignorant world, every red-blooded and virile man is ambitious to be just as human as nature and God ordained him to be, and, consequently, desires to have something more than a bare existence.

What must be done to place the teaching profession upon a creditable basis? Remove the tax limitation for school purposes. Let the community tax itself as much as it pleases in order to buy the best talent obtainable. Instead of the school board's securing just such skill and experience as will fit a limited pocket book, let it instruct its superintendent to employ the teachers, combing the country for the best, and then levy a tax to satisfy the demands. The government does not determine the limit an individual, or a corporation shall pay for professional services; the city is a corporate body and should have the same privilege as any other institution when it comes to the matter of buying professional talent. Such a plan will encourage young men and women (and it should be fifty fifty) to enter the profession and strive for excellence. It may be argued that the smaller communities will suffer under such a system, for the larger and wealthier communities will buy up the best teachers, leaving the less fit for the former. This may be true; however, by making provision for state and national aid this feature may be overcome. But should a small community strain itself to keep up with the procession, it had just as well suffer financially as the individual teacher. In fact, the community could afford it better. Therefore, remove all constitutional tax limitations for school purposes, cease treating with the teaching profession upon a communistic basis, make an end of the system of legal exploitation of a teacher's love for the work, and then a condition will be created whereby the public will make a bid for teaching talent as it now does for other professional and managerial service.—The Prairie.

Movies for Textbooks.

New York, Nov. 1.—D. Appleton & Company, one of the leading publishers of school and college textbooks, and the educational department of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company have joined forces to make motion pictures practical and important part of instructions in schools and colleges.

This is the first comprehensive movement to put the ideal method of instruction into the schools in a big way. No educator questions that the screen method is the ideal method of instruction. Printed words at their best only create mental images—films are all images. Teacher draws diagrams—in films the diagrams come to life. The screen way is painless method of education—films entertain while they instruct.

Levey predicts that within a few years eighty per cent of the schools of the United States will be using educational films to an extent today little dreamed of. He holds that films are soon to revolutionize the entire system of education.

If motion pictures can teach arithmetic—and that they can has been demonstrated by no less authority than the Department of Education of the United States Government—think what the screen can do with the subject such as geography, history, botany, zoology and physiology.

Miss Bender's right hand was cut to the bone from the wrist to the knuckles and her nose was badly scratched and torn, although no bones were broken. Miss Ricketts received a painful cut on the hip in addition to bruises. Both ladies were compelled to submit to several stitches being taken to insure the proper healing of their wounds.

The accident happened on the Asker school house road, where they were going to hold classes. Miss Bender was driving down hill and in making a turn the car turned completely over, pinning Miss Bender face downward and Miss Ricketts on her back. Passersby pried the car from them. It was a miracle that neither of them was more seriously injured. Miss Bender held her night class at the Courthouse as usual Monday, although suffering somewhat, but since that time has been confined to her room.—Hereford Brand.

"Sergeant York" Here.

The News editor was thrown in quite a flutter the first of the week when T. H. Peebles invited him out to his home to visit his guest, Sergeant York. Knowing that Mr. Peebles had come from the eastern states, we naturally thought that in some way he was related and known to Sergeant York of Tennessee, who won such everlasting fame in the great war when single-handed he rounded up, killed and captured 140 Germans, and that this celebrity had arrived in Clarendon for a visit and rest. We became even more interested and could see a great news story for this week's issue of The News, besides the personal pleasure of meeting and talking with a national hero. We inquired further and on close cross-examination Mr. Peebles finally admitted that Sergeant York was here alright, but it wasn't the Sergeant York that we had in mind—the Sergeant York he had invited us to see was none other than a great bronze turkey of the famous York strain, whom he had named Sergeant York when the pedigree bird arrived here from the York pens in San Saba county. Well, it was a good joke anyway, and didn't make such a bad story after all.—Clarendon News.

Federal Land Bank.

Judge M. H. Grossett, President of The Federal Land Bank, Houston, in commenting upon the remarkable volume of business transacted by the Bank during the month of October, said:—

"The month of October was a record breaking one for applications for Loans through The Land Bank of Houston, the loans applied for during this month, reaching the total of $4,150,000.00. This is the larger amount of applications ever received by our Bank, for any one month, since the date of its organization. From reports, received from our Secretary-Treasurer, it appears that amount of applications for November will largely exceed those received in November, last year.

Loans approved for the month of October, total $3,150,000.00 a very substantial increase over the same month last year, while the loans closed for said month, amount to $1,350,000.00 almost doubling the amount of loans closed for the same month last year.

The increasing popularity of loans thru The Federal Land Bank, is apparent from the above statement. The farmers of our State are just now beginning to fully realize the benefit of the Farm Loan System and the decided advantage of putting their loans upon the amortization plan by means of which they are permitted to discharge indebtedness against their farms by the payment of 6 1-2 per cent a year, which pays off in full both principal and interest in a period of 34 1-2 years. In other words, under such a loan the principal never becomes due, which accounts for the extreme popularity of the loans made by this Bank. The borrower is not caused to worry about the renewal of his principal every 2, 3 or 5 years, but is assured under such a plan, if he does not care to pay off the loan after five years that no renewal is necessary for 34 1-2 years, at the end of which time, payment of the 6 1-2 per cent each year has paid the entire amount borrowed and there is no principal to be met by him.

Another reason why our loans are increasing in popularity is that we are paying a six per cent dividend upon the stock each borrower is required to take in the National Farm Loan Association thru which his loan is closed and it is now apparent from the tremendous volume of loans we are putting upon our books, that we will be able in the near future to materially increase the amount of dividends to borrowers, thereby resulting in reducing the very low interest rate paid by them of 5 1-2 per cent to an even lower figure. Every borrower is assured that all surplus earnings, above the amount proper to be carried to reserve, will be returned to him in the form of dividends, it being the purpose of the Farm Loan Act to give our farmers the lowest possible interest rate on loans made to finance their needs from an agricultural standpoint.

The total loans made by this Bank since the date of its organization, exceed $30,000,000. The volume of business done by the Bank, in a little over two years, since the date it began active operation, places it as the largest farm loan institution in the South. Our bonds, through which we obtain our supply of money to lend the farmers, find ready sale upon the market and we thus have an unlimited amount of funds to finance the agricultural interest of this State."

The West.

Hereford Brand: The financial condition of the Panhandle country this year is far better than ever before in the history of this section of Texas. The farmers have all practically liquidated their indebtedness except in instances where their operations demand that they use borrowed money. Almost every farmer has equipped his farm, put in added improvements, makes his trips to and from his trading point in an automobile, has increased the standard of his farm implements, using the tractor in many instances, and, taken as a whole, the conditions are very flattering.

Considering how dry it was in the West last year, and how long it had been dry before last year dawned, it is little short of marvelous that the comeback has been so quick. It could not have been so had the westerners been of the faint-hearted type, the spasmodic type or the lethargic type. Indeed, the faint-hearts, the spasmodics and the lethargics are of not much account anywhere, their only chance of passing for something being in the old-settled communities. They don't amount to anything in the West, where people who are not busy are not in demand, either as company or counselors. Western Texas, to all the appearances and in view of past events, faces a bountiful harvest year. The wet face of the moon is turned toward the plains. This means that there will be planting seasons and cultivating seasons, and more crops than can be housed without importation of extra labor. There's the rub. There is not enough labor in Western Texas. Machinery is taking up some of the slack, and will have to take up more. As long as day labor commands practically its own price, and a short work day, in the towns it is not going to the country. Quarreling with this situation is not going to help it. But it is none the less a pity that the farms, where the Nation's food comes from, must run short-handed. It is only through the accumulation of farm products that the cost of food-stuffs can come down. Food will stay high until the farmers are fully manned. This, however, is not a condition against the farmers as much as it is against those who must buy their food.—State Press in Dallas News.

Harvard Professor Discloses Way to Make Sugar by Synthetic Process.

HIGH LIVING COST BEATEN

Plan Worked Out in Laboratory to Reduce Atmosphere into Basic Food Product—Other Ways of Making Sugar.

New York.—During the present agitation over the high cost of living it is interesting to note several recent discoveries made in the field of synthetic chemistry. Dr. Winthrop John VanLeeuwen Osterhout, Ph. D., professor of botany at Harvard university, has hit upon a plan of making nutritious food from sunlight, air and water.

Although this process of food making is as yet confined to the laboratory stage Prof. Osterhout points out that many discoveries remained some time in the laboratory stage before they could be placed on a commercial basis. As an instance he cites the many doubters of the practical value of electricity, and the long uphill road Edison had to travel before he gained recognition commercially.

About the production of nutritious food in the laboratory Prof. Osterhout, who is in no sense a visionary, but whose manner would indicate a practical hardheaded business man, says:

"Analyzing food we learn that the three chief components are sugar, fats and protein. Until recently it was impossible to manufacture sugar synthetically, but now we have solved the riddle in several different ways. Iron rust exposed to the prismatic rays of the sun through water makes formaldehyde, since the rays of the sun acting upon the rust as a contact agent, mixed with the carbon dioxide of the air and water makes this powerful chemical. From formaldehyde certain forms of sugar may be obtained. Other ways of making sugar synthetically are through the employment of ultra-violet rays, radium and electricity.

"Part of our research work at Harvard's botanical laboratory has been to observe the process by which the plant transforms the carbon dioxide gas and water together into sugar, and later into starch, either of which forms can be preserved.

"So much for obtaining sugar. Protein is composed of amino acids. It has been found possible in the laboratory to take the carbon dioxide of the air, water and ammonia, which is also found in the air in small quantities, to form a simple kind of protein. Now through the combination of sugar and protein, both of which have been manufactured in the laboratory, the necessary fat is obtained, with the resultant nutritious food.

The Great Obstacle.

"Of course one of the greatest obstacles standing in the way of the production of food through this method is in the present cost of making sugar, which can only be manufactured as yet in small quantities. Our greatest competitor in this important field is the plant itself, which thus far under-sells the synthetic method."

Prof. Osterhout, who has taught at many of the large universities throughout the United States, and has attained an international reputation as a man of science, is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. In addition to many other scientific and research societies he has been a professor of botany since 1913.

ROAD BUILT OF EPSOM SALTS

Texas to Have Unique Highway Ten Miles Long, Say State Highway Officials.

Austin, Tex.—A road of epsom salts is an attraction Texas can soon hold out to tourists, according to the state highway department.

Ten miles of highway out of Rockport is being surfaced with a material which analyzes more than one-fourth epsom salts. The material is obtained from flats where constant evaporation of gulf water has left silt strongly impregnated with salts, among which the epsom variety predominates.

Highway engineers declare the mixture forms an excellent road surfacing material, as the salts absorb enough moisture from the air to keep the roads damp, free from dust and firm on the driest days. One trouble, however, is that the road becomes very slippery during wet weather, but this is overcome by adding a small proportion of shell and regulating the slope of the surface.

Wildcat Leaps on Herder.

Winemucca, Nev.—Attacked by a wildcat, Pedro Yassi, a Basque sheep herder, was forced to fight for his life. Yassi was pounced on from behind by the beast while he was shoeing a horse. The cat bit and scratched furiously and fast. Yassi finally knocked the cat senseless with a blow from his horsehoe's rasp and then clubbed the beast to death. He was compelled to seek the services of a surgeon here. In the belief that the cat may have been suffering from rabies, Yassi has been given the Pasteur treatment.

Advertising for Strayed Sheep.

Ministers sometimes labor under difficulties when their members get the Sunday morning inuendo and do not come to the services, but it is one of the duties of a minister to deal charitably with the members and wait patiently until Satan's benches along the streets and in the alleys get so filthy that the wanderers have to return to the fold thru a degree of self respect. A Methodist minister in Missouri accepts the situation philosophically but advertises for his strayed sheep in the following unique manner:

Lost! Strayed! or Stolen! A large flock of Methodist sheep! Have been gone for some time. When last seen they were browsing along the byway of indifference that opens out into the road of Neglect, leading into the highway of Worldliness that ends in the state of Apostasy. Anyone finding same will please drive them homeward. If they persistently refuse to come, drive them into the nearest fold, lock the door and report to the undersigned. Sufficient fodder for the entire flock will be provided next Sunday morning at the usual feeding place. All strayed sheep will be welcomed back.

It is the Case 10-16 kerosene tractor and a two-bottom Grand Detour plow. It is an ideal plowing outfit for either small or large farms.

The tractor weighs about 3,500 lbs., just a trifle more than a big team of horses. It burns kerosene economically, developing full power on the same.

The tractor has a four-cylinder valve-in-head motor, mounted crosswise on a one-piece frame. A Case Siphon Thermostat controls the cooling system and insures complete combustion. The all-spur gears, with teeth cut and hardened, are enclosed and run in oil.

The Grand Detour 2-bottom Automatic Lift Rigid Beam Plow will fill the plowing requirements of the most particular farmer. Grand Detour plows are strictly quality plows. They are light in draft, yet so well constructed that they will give years of faithful service at a low cost of upkeep.

The Price of Bread.
Bread! Just bread. Stop and think a minute. What would happen if there were no bread? Next to water, the most essential element to human life. Nature provided the water supply for the human family. Created enough right at the start to last forever. The course of empires has followed the streams of water. Before a home, a city or a nation can be established the water supply must be located; then next the source of bread. God left the bread supply to be provided by man. He placed all the elements within our reach, but left it to human hands to collect these elements and transform them into bread. A loaf of bread is a wonderful creation. Had you ever thought of its origin? Every bite of bread we eat dates back thousands of years. The seed has never yet run out. Somebody, through all the centuries, has saved enough seed every year to produce the next crop. Why? Because every one of the more than a billion human beings in this world must have or should have bread every day. The production and the distribution of the world's bread supply forms the basis of all business and the price of bread rules the commerce of the world. It does even more. The price of bread determines the social, moral and economic conditions of the world more than any other commodity on the markets of the world, because it affects every living being. One of the most serious problems in the world's affairs at this time is the price of bread. For this reason every human being who uses bread should be interested in the process of fixing its price.

There are millions and millions of bread consumers who know absolutely nothing about the cost of production. In all the years we have lived, there never was a time when it cost so much to produce a loaf of bread as in 1919. And the signs do not look favorable for a reduction in cost of production. First, bread land is growing higher priced every year. Taxes are thereby increased. More expensive machinery is being installed in the wheat fields.

"Oh," says the man or woman, "look at the price the Government promised the bread growers of 1919." That is all true. But unless there is a change in labor conditions before the 1920 crop is on the market, the hungry will go hungry and the rich will pay more for his staff of life than he has ever paid before, for no man can afford to take his chances with drouths and floods; with heat and cold, with wind and hail, year after year, and pay the remnant of his crop over for help to save it for an indifferent world that takes no interests in his welfare. If the labor situation continues through another year as it has the past, the acreage devoted to perishable grain will be limited to local and home needs. If the floating transient public think they can drift from every kind of shop or firm out into a wheat field and without knowing which end of a bundle to set up first, they can demand enough wages in a few days to support them in idleness a few weeks, such people will go tramping through the same country in a few years looking for a job by the light of the tractor that works day and night and never gets tired. If the idle and indifferent class of people prefer to sit around town, no matter whether they are rich or poor, than get out and do something in cases of labor emergencies, to help their neighbors save the food they have struggled and saved and sacrificed every comfort and every pleasure to produce, let the idle and indifferent rich or poor man take the consequences and pay for them. That's the American spirit. But it won't solve the problem. Because the poor and rich who do work must be fed and deserve to be fed. Then what is to be done? No farmer can afford to pay $5, $6, $7, $8 a day for incompetent help to harvest his crop. He may just as well let it lie in the field and rot as pay such prices to have it partially saved after it is damaged by such workmen. Unless the farmer can make a living on his farm, he may as well sell out and join the loafers' club and let his wife support the children and not be worried with harvesting and threshing and marketing of food for the consumers' league. No, the farmer better not do that; he'd better stay on the farm and raise enough to feed himself and let the professional loafers go hungry a few years.

There is one thing evident—the farmer and his wife and children can no longer produce enough to feed the world without some help at the most critical periods in the year. Until this help is made possible, efficient and within the bounds of reason, the price of bread will go higher and higher, and millions of honest, hard-working, deserving people will go hungry.—Phebe K. Warner in Star-Telegram.

Canyon the Educational Center of the Plains Country.

Go wherever you may over the Plains and Panhandle country, you meet graduates of the West Texas State Normal College. These graduates are loyal to their alma mater, and they are spreading broadcast its ideals. During the past ten years something like seven or eight thousand boys and girls of the Plains country have attended this institution. That this number of students in any one section of a state should have touched the life of a first class college is of tremendous importance in the educational welfare of that section. Of this number, a great many have gone into the school room to teach. It might be interesting to make some statistics showing the number of teachers on the Plains who held first grade certificates ten years ago, and then compare this finding with the number of teachers who now hold a first grade certificate. What about the number who now hold permanent certificates as compared with ten years ago?

A recent study of normal colleges, made by the education department of the University of Chicago, shows that in sections of the state where there are no normal colleges very few teachers have ever had professional training for teaching. This same bulletin also reveals the fact that very few teachers from districts which have no normal college ever attend any school for professional training for the school room. The normal colleges, then, evidently create their own conditions, and in a way revolutionize educational conditions wherever they are planted.—The Prairie

Gompers has thrown the sop to the dying liquor interests. He upheld the "No beer, no work" slogan a few months ago. He now says that prohibition has fostered Bolshevism; that booze makes good citizens. Gompers has poor eyesight. He should turn his optics toward Europe. America may be in a sorry plight with all her labor difficulties, but Europe is swamped with them. Furthermore, Europe is the home of booze. They begin to drink it while still in the cradle, and continue to the grave. Therefore, according to Gompers, Europe ought to be an ideal laboring country. Bolshevism was born in the hell hole of a booze joint. The Reds get their enthusiasm from red liquor. American laboring men are the most skilled in the world when sober, and the biggest fiends on the face of the globe when tanked up, and Gompers knows it.

The Red Cross Roll Call has been extended to November 21. The response has not been as great as was expected. Randall county, where the people during the war responded quickly to every appeal only has 266 members up to yesterday. The situation is absurd. The Red Cross still needs the cooperation of the people of Randall county for the great peace program as the organization did for the war work. During the war the men and women who refused to join in any of the welfare drives were branded pro-Germans, slackers and all kinds of bad names. Now that the war is over, too many people are laying down upon their obligations to humanity. It leads one to wonder whether there was such a feeling of patriotism during the war as a fear of being branded as an undesirable citizen. Kick in with a dollar while there is yet time.

The first of the reservations of the treaty of peace has been adopted. More will follow. There was not enough votes to amend the treaty, but there are enough votes to pass all reservations that the foreign relations committee wishes. The question will then be, what to do with the treaty after the reservations are adopted. Of course the reservations do not materially alter the treaty, but President Wilson has indicated that they will defeat it so far as he is concerned. It looks like he yet has a battle before him to put the treaty over.

Berger has been denied a seat in the national congress. Berger held

The best organized labor can do is oust Gompers and his gang and put in conservative men. Gompers held the respect of Americans until the present crisis came. He upheld the steel strike. It was a failure. He upheld the coal strike. It is a failure. Gompers has failed as a responsible leader. He has cast his lot with the reds and will go down with them.

Newspaper publishers are up against a real problem. Print paper is selling for a third more than during the war when it reached an unprecedented price. More paper is being consumed than can be manufactured. It is costing the publisher more to produce a paper than he is making from the subscription. Most of the papers are making a raise in the advertising and subscription price. War is hell, but the effects of war is more hell.

this place for a number of years as the only socialist in the body, representing the stuff that made Milwaukee infamous. Berger became cocky and felt sure of his throne. He said things during the war that would have put the average American behind the bars. He was safe among his fellows at home, but lost out with his fellow members of congress. There is a place across the seas that needs Berger and his type. Send him hence.

The coal strike is off. All of the miners have not returned to work, but most of them will within the coming few days. The strike was called against the will of the greater part of the union men, and was condemned from the start by the public. No strike could succeed under these conditions.

Winter was certain to come sometime, but it stayed off about as long as possible, and there is no kick on the very fine weather that has allowed the farmer to get all of his work done before the cold weather set in. This section of the Panhandle has certainly enjoyed an ideal fall.

President Wilson broke another precedent by congratulating a republican who was elected governor of Massachusetts. Senator Lodge campaigned for this man. He ought to tell the world that he was mistaken since Wilson agrees with him.

Scores of people have left Canyon because they had no place to live. It has been impossible to build more houses on account of the shortage of carpenters. What is a poor mortal to do?

Every man in Randall county who was in the army, navy or marines should become a member of the Palo Duro Camp. It is a move worth while.

THE GRAND CANYON IN ARIZONA.

THE late George Fitch said "Arizona was made by nature in a frivolous and contradictory mood, a few million years ago, just to show man, when he arrived, what she could do when she felt like it."
The Grand Canyon of the Colorado River—the most wonderful geological and spectacular phenomenon known to man—is in Arizona. Discovered by Spanish explorers in 1540, it has been an object of wonder and admiration ever since. In approaching it your first surprise is that you are not prepared for it. Its beginning is so very abrupt. In one jump from the edge you could go down 2,000 feet.

Viewed from the rim, looking down, it is a stupendous panorama—an unbelievable abyss, 3,000 to 5,000 feet deep, 10 to 13 miles wide and 200 miles long. Its sides are lined with countless and varied ornamental architectural features, the whole beautifully tinted and colored and marvelously harmonious. Seen from the bottom, looking up, it is so big that it amazes and bewilders one. On every side are endless processions of caves, terraces, pinnacles, towers, buttes, cliffs and peaks—storm-carved and weather-stained—many of them higher than any mountain east of the Rockies, yet none of them level with the top. Globe trotters say that nothing else in all the world even remotely approaches this spectacle.

The color combination seems to shift with every movement of the sun, clouds or your position. There is a trail to the bottom and a road around the rim.

Geo. W. Leverton, retired farmer, Canyon, says: "My kidneys had been out of order for a good while and caused my back to become sore and lame. Most of the time there was a dull pain through the small of my back and in my shoulders. Often I could hardly bend over. I also had headaches a good bit and my kidneys were irregular in action, causing me to get up often at night. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and began using them. Three boxes fixed me up in good shape."

TAMES "OUTLAW" SHIP

Youngest Commander in Navy Performs Feat.

"Crankiest Ship Afloat" Comes to Be Real Peaceable Army Transport.

San Francisco.—The "devils" have been cast out of the good ship Great Northern.

Chastened by the grim spectacle of war, in which she nobly "did her bit" by transporting 60,000 Yankee soldiers across the Atlantic, the one-time "crankiest ship afloat" came back home a few days ago, obedient to the hand of the youngest commander in the United States navy.

He is Charles H. Porta, born in Turin, Italy, thirty-four years ago. His father is Prof. Albert F. Porta, noted archaeologist, scientist and sun-spot observer.

"A ship is just like a grand opera prima donna," he says. "She needs a bit of petting and pampering to keep her in good humor—but there's nothing uncanny about her. And when she is right—boys, how she can sing!"

The Great Northern traveled more than 200,000 miles in the coastwise and Honolulu passenger service before America entered the war. In those days she was forever "stabbing her toe"—blundering into pier heads, breaking her machinery and "fussing" generally. At that, she was the fleetest and sweetest craft on the western ocean.

Then Uncle Sam shouldered arms and the big "prima donna" of the sea donned a gray uniform and went east as a transport. Coincidentally she dropped the nonsense somewhere between San Francisco and Hoboken and never went back to look for it. From then on she was all business.

Once in the North sea the Great Northern ran afoul of a British patrolboat and lost two of her after compartments, but she gamely struggled into port with her cargo of about 4,000 doughboys, spent a week in dry dock and went back to work. In all she steamed 125,000 miles between America and France during and immediately after the war.

Just now she is operating as a troop ship between San Francisco and Vladivostok, but rumor says she will soon be back on the Pacific passenger run, and that Commander Porta will continue to "skipper" her between the mainland and Hawaii.

Aviators Must Fly High to Leave Churches Quiet

Santa Monica, Cal.—Hereafter all aviators flying here on Sunday will be banished into the highest clouds between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Thus did the city council decree, as the result of a protest made by the Rev. W. H. Cornett of the Presbyterian church. He declared that airplanes traveling in Santa Monica during church hours fly so low that they disturb church services.

NOW WALK WITH FRAULEINS

Order Forbidding Fraternalization by Soldiers is Revoked by Maj. Gen. Allen.

Coblentz.—The army regulation prohibiting American officers and soldiers from fraternizing with Germans has been revoked in an order issued by Maj. Gen. Allen.

The rule against fraternizing became effective in December soon after Maj. Gen. Dickson and the American army of occupation reached the Rhine. The British and French are reported to have lifted their ban several months ago.

For the last month the regulation in the America area had not been strictly enforced and there has been considerable promenading by American soldiers with German girls.

The revocation of the fraternizing order in no way affects the regulation prohibiting American soldiers from marrying German women.

DROPS HOHENZOLLERN ARMS

Germany Has New Eagle Without a Crown; Single Head; Talons Are Red.

Berlin.—Germany has a new escutcheon, from which the Hohenzollern arms have been eliminated. It consists of a black single-headed eagle on a golden yellow field. The "new" eagle, which has shed its erstwhile imperial crown and collar, is not a rampant bird and would look sedate enough in its sitting posture but for the color of its beak, tongue and talons, which are red.

Pet Carp a Fishing Prophet.

Meadville, Pa.—One of the best fish stories of the season comes from Crawford county, where a man owns a pet carp. Whenever he desires to go fishing he digs a few angle worms and throws them into the tank occupied by the carp. If the pet fish grabs them, the man takes up his bait and tackle and proceeds to the nearest fishing place. If, on the other hand, the carp passes them up, the man stays at home. As a result, this man returns with a fine catch every time he makes a trip to his favorite fishing stream, so he says.

Fraudulent Agency Causes Trouble.

The case of Shapleigh Hardware Co., of St. Louis vs. S. H. Bybee of Chillicothe was continued in district court Tuesday. This is rather an interesting suit.

Mr. Bybee owns some land in Floyd county on which the Shapleigh Co. held vendors lien notes, for which he is being sued. Some time ago Bybee wanted to take up these notes sought to borrow $2400 from Scott & Blackman, a so-called loan agency at Hobart, Okla. He gave his notes for this amount but the money never was furnished, and the notes were sold to the First National bank of Chicago, which claims to be an innocent purchaser.

Bybee after being sued brought cross action against the Chicago bank to cancel the notes and deed of trust given Scott & Blackman, for failure of getting any consideration in return. He claims that, as 137 similar suits have been filed in Texas against the First National, it was simply impossible for them not to know what was going on, or to be in the dark as to the character of Scott & Blackman with whom they were dealing.

We understand another case has been filed in Wilbarger, fifteen in Collingsworth, and quite a number in Oklahoma.—Quinn Tribune-Chief.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. Higher Salaries in All Branches of the Government Service Are Expected Before Long—Talk of Reducing Number of Clerks.

The men and women employed in the postal establishment are the first to receive benefits. Congress has finally agreed to a new pay schedule that affects every class of employees in the postal service. The legislative body placed the following classes of employees in one group and then applied a pay schedule to the group: Postmasters at offices of the third class, assistant postmasters and clerks, including clerks at division headquarters of post office inspectors, special clerks, finance clerks, bookkeepers, printers, mechanics, skilled laborers, watchmen, messengers, laborers and other employees of offices of the first and second class; letter carriers in the city delivery service; employees in government-owned automobile service; supervisory officials, inspectors, railway postal clerks, including substitutes, superintendents, requisition fillers, packers and laborers.

To this group there is applied this schedule of pay: A person receiving not less than $1,000 nor more than $1,200, an increase of $200; a person receiving more than $1,200 and not more than $1,600, an increase of $150; a person receiving $1,600 and not more than $2,000, an increase of $125; a person receiving more than $2,000 and not more than $2,500, an increase of $100. In connection with this schedule there is a proviso that no third-class postmaster shall receive more than $2,000 a year. Carriers in the village delivery service receiving less than $1,000 year get an increase of 20 per cent.

For Rural Letter Carriers.
The new schedule for rural letter carriers on daily routes is as follows: Eleven miles or less in length, an increase of $75 a year; over 11 miles and under 20 miles in length, an increase of $100 a year; over 20 miles and under 24 miles in length, an increase of $150 a year; 24 miles or over in length, an increase of $200 a year. For rural carriers on tri-weekly routes, the schedule of increases is as follows: Eleven miles or less in length, an increase of $37.50 a year; over 11 miles and under 20 miles in length, an increase of $50 a year; over 20 miles and under 24 miles in length, an increase of $75 a year; 24 miles or over in length, an increase of $100 a year.

All fourth-class postmasters under the legislation are to have a 15 per cent increase. Substitute employees in any branch of the service, except the rural delivery, are to receive 60 cents an hour in place of 40 cents an hour, which they now receive. The new law makes this increase retroactive. That is to say, it is to be effective as of July 1, 1919. The post office department is now making a computation as to how much additional money it will take to meet the new pay schedule. The back pay amounting to four months will in itself aggregate a large sum.

The success of the various classes of the postal employees in getting their new pay schedule through has encouraged employees in other branches along the same line. The new navy pay bill will soon be under way, and the army is getting ready to ask for an increase of 30 per cent over the present pay.

Other Branches to Follow.
Congress realizes that, having provided increased pay in one branch of the government service, it will probably have to do the same thing for every branch sooner or later. So far as the postal service is concerned, it became absolutely necessary to authorize the demand of better wages if the experienced employees were to be retained. During the last year many of them left the service because, as they asserted, they could not make both ends meet on the government pay. The same argument is being used by the officers and enlisted men of the army and by the men and women employed in the other executive departments.

There has arisen in connection with the problem of how much more pay the various classes of government employees ought to have, the question as to what is to be done about the excess number of employees in the departments here. When the United States entered the war in April, 1917, there were 35,500 clerks employed in the various branches of the government service here. When the armistice was signed, one year ago, this number had been increased to 104,800. The net increase during the last year has amounted to only 2,620. In some branches of the service thousands of employees have been released, but in other branches the number has been increased. At the present time the number employed in the department of commerce is being increased daily through the formation of a force to take the census next year.

WILLIAM WILL BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

ONE OF THE FIRST DUTIES OF THE ALLIED AND ASSOCIATED POWERS AFTER PEACE.

TO DEMAND HIS SURRENDER

Doubt About Attitude of Dutch Government in This Matter—Action of Commission on Responsibilities Explained by Lansing.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—One of the first duties of the allies and associated powers after the peace treaty with Germany shall become effective will be to bring William II of Hohenzollern, formerly German emperor, to trial "for a supreme offense against international morality and sanctity of treaties." A special tribunal will be constituted to try the accused. It will be composed of five judges, one appointed by each of the following powers: The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The treaty of peace stipulates that the special tribunal will in its decision "be guided by the highest motives of international policy, with a view to vindicating the solemn obligations of international undertakings and validity of international morality." The treaty says that it shall be the duty of this tribunal to fix the punishment which it considers should be imposed. It is generally assumed that President Wilson will designate one of the members of the supreme court of the United States to represent this government on the tribunal.

The first step toward bringing the ex-kaiser to trial will be to address a letter of request to the government of the Netherlands for his surrender to the allied and associated powers. The talk one hears at the embassies of the various European governments here is that William and his friends will certainly resist the effort to have the Netherlands surrender him, and there is a good deal of speculation as to what the attitude of the Netherlands government will be in the matter. In any event, it is anticipated, that the process of getting possession of the person of the former kaiser will consume a good deal of time.

Views of Responsibility Commission.
Secretary of State Lansing since his return from Paris, has been called on many times to explain why it is that there is some doubt as to whether the former emperor can be convicted. It fell to the lot of Mr. Lansing to preside over the commission on responsibilities, constituted by a resolution of the peace conference, and it was this commission that dealt with the question of individual responsibilities for the war and also for violations of the laws and customs of war.

The first session of that commission, according to Secretary Lansing, developed a unanimous desire on the part of members of the commission that William be brought to trial for a criminal offense and that the trial be held before an international high tribunal which should be created for the express purpose of determining his guilt and imposing on him a suitable penalty for his crimes. Mr. Lansing has said to members of the foreign relations committee of the senate, who have been particularly anxious to know the inside facts about the probability of the former emperor's being convicted, that the commission on responsibilities decided that there were three charges that could be alleged against him: (1) That he was responsible for the war, (2) that he was responsible for violations of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxemburg, and (3) that he was chargeable with the flagrant violations of the laws and customs of war by the German army.

Surely Guilty on Two Counts.
It was the unanimous belief of the commission, according to the secretary of state, that there was ample evidence at hand to substantiate the first two charges. It was shown to the satisfaction of the commission that the kaiser could have prevented the war and that since he did not prevent it, he was responsible for its beginning; that he knew what was being done in Belgium and made no effort to prevent it, although he was the one man in the world that could have prevented it. The commission was not so sure about there being sufficient evidence to convict on the third charge, for it was admitted in part at least that after the war got under way the kaiser was not responsible for all the acts of the army and navy.

The work of the commission on responsibilities encountered no obstacles until it began to look for the law under which the kaiser could be tried. In the end the commission was obliged to report to the peace conference that "it was recognized that he (the kaiser) had committed a great moral crime, an unpardonable offense against humanity, but the commission is forced to find that there is no positive law declaring acts such as he has committed to be criminal and imposing a penalty on the perpetrator." The commission added that "this decision is reached with reluctance because of the firm conviction that the German ruler is guilty."

This decision of the commission on responsibilities applied more particularly to charges one and two, the charges on which the commission believed the kaiser could be convicted were there law to cover the case.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Germany At Work.

Providence Journal: Here is an interesting industrial item from Germany:

"Sixty thousand laborers in the Ruhr districts of Germany have declared that they are willing to work overtime to produce sufficient coal to enable them to compensate Denmark for butter. A part of the butter is to be divided among the laborers who do overtime work. In some of these mines the so-called butter divisions already work twelve hours out of the twenty-four, instead of eight as formerly."

This accords with many other reports that come from various parts of the country. The people are busily engaged in the heavy task of recuperation that has been imposed upon them. They are producing at a maximum—and if other countries do not wish to lag behind in the industrial, commercial and financial race they will do well to speed up, too.

This Should Stop Them.

The stealing of automobiles over the United States as a crime is far overshadowing anything else and many of the states are trying to perfect laws which will make the practice too uncertain for the criminal to follow it. A car between Ft. Worth and Dallas stuck in a mud hole one night last week, and the owners left it there to get a truck in the city in the morning to retrieve it. When they returned the car had been stripped of every article that wasn't attached and some that were. The rear wheels were not in the mud and they were stripped of their tubes and casings. The battery even was taken out of the car.

Sheriff H. H. Stickley informs the Record that the number of notices he has to watch for certain cars that were stolen is astonishing, and what becomes of all the stolen cars is also a mystery. The thieves must have a "fence" in the cities who buys stolen cars and works them over to be sent out again as seconds.

W. S. Gibbons, Kansas legislator from Mead county, has a plan, says the Globe-News of Meade, that will tend to discourage automobile thieving, and the idea appeals as one worthy of adoption.

Mr. Gibbons intends in the next session of the Kansas Legislature to introduce a bill making it necessary for the possessor of a car to produce a bill of sale and also an abstract showing all owners from the time the car leaves the dealer until it goes into the junk pile. The bill will also contain a clause, making it a crime for any party to purchase a car having a questionable title or mutilated number. Other clauses which will make the stealing of a car a hard task will be included. Such a law will have an excellent effect on the reduction of cars stolen.—Canadian Record.

Senator Williams says the British empire has "six voices but only one vote." Sort of a parallel to Hi Johnson's status in the Senate.—Little Rock Arkansas Gazette.

The West Texas Poultry Show which will be held in Plainview December 9th to 13th will be one of the states largest poultry shows and may possibly have the largest number of entrants of any similar show in Texas. Birds that have won the prizes at all the fall fairs will be pitted against each other in the hardest competition that the state has ever known. The secretary of the show is receiving hundreds of requests for premium lists. Over $5,000.00 in premiums are being offered, the large part of which is in cash.

The Plainview show will be the state meet for White Rocks, White Wyandottes and Rhode Island Whites. This alone assures the show of a heavy entry of the best birds of the state in these three classes. The show will be judged by D. T. Meimlich and Wm. C. Tallant, two of the best known poultry experts of the world. Representatives of the Southwest Poultry and Swine Breeder, which is published here have been assured at all the fall fairs that the Plainview show would be the best in the state. The fact that the show is an official American Poultry Association show, judged by experts is drawing many fine breeders there who usually hesi-

J. M. VETESK—MARKET

(By E. Kenneth Evans.)

The writer in making the investigations leading up to the compiling of the materials used in this campaign had occasion to visit the market operated in Canyon by J. M. Vetesk and without any qualifications what so ever states that there is not a city in West Texas or the Panhandle country that can boast of a better equipped institution, or one conducted on more sanitary lines handling a better class of products than the one handled by Mr. Vetesk.

The moment one steps into this market he is impressed with the metropolitan appearance. The fixtures are clean and appeal to one as being up to date. The meats are arranged neatly and appetizing in a large modern ice box. This space occupied is 30 by 140 feet and the front is utilized for the market proper while the rear is used for storage, the handling of hides and the general business.

Mr. Vetesk, has spent eighteen years of his life in the meat business and is thoroughly familiar with every phase of it. He established the market in Canyon in 1908 and since that time has been catering to the trade which comes to his shop. He took the pains to explain to the writer why he carried such an extensive line of the very best meats obtainable. He explained how meats were graded in the packing houses and how it was necessary for a market man to handle his own meats if he wished to give the public the very best.

Mr. Vetesk has a brother living near Canyon who makes a specialty of raising cattle and hogs and calves for this market. He feeds them especially for meat purposes and raises a class of stock which will make the very best food. This stock is butchered under the modern plans of Mr. Vetesk and placed on the market in the prime of condition. This fact alone accounts for the reason that Canyon people are always able to get the very best grades of meat that is possible to obtain in any market.

From the time the market was first established in Canyon Mr. Vetesk has worked unceasingly to build it to a position where it would not only be a success from a financial standpoint, but to where it would be a credit to the city and county. He has installed the latest and improved equipment including a large ice box, a modern Hobart sausage making machine, two up to date Dayton scales and other equipment in keeping with an up to date market. He keeps two assistants in the market and maintains a Ford delivery service to all parts of the city. In fact taken all in all, Mr. Vetesk gives to the Canyon people the advantage of metropolitan and up to date service.

He also operates as a side line in connection with his market a delicatessen. He also handles hides extensively, and in this connection Mr. Vetesk impressed upon the writer the fact that he is constantly in the market for all kinds of hides paying the highest cash market prices for them. These hides can be any and all kinds and their value will be paid by Mr. Vetesk.

Mr. Vetesk is the type of business man in Canyon who are responsible for the attaining of the reputation for the city of being a live commercial center. He owns his own home and is an active member of the Randall County Commercial League and is ready and willing at all times to help in the advancement of the prosperity and development of the resources of Randall county.

"Thirteenth Chair" Pleases. The second of the four plays being brought to the Normal this winter by the Chas. F. Horner Company was presented Saturday night by the "Thirteenth Chair" Company. The play was a mystery drama and is said to be entirely different from any of the other three which will be presented. On the whole it pleased better than The Only Girl which opened the season.

The play was built around the leading character in such a manner that nearly all the interest lay in her, while practically all of the other thirteen characters were in the minor role. Helen Van Hoose in this leading role held the attention throughout in a very pleasing manner. The other characters were not important, but were taken well by the members of the cast.

Ten Thousand Acres Sold.

One of the largest realty deals in this section of the Plains for a long time was that in which F. Davenport last week sold to E. Roper of Eastland 10,000 acres of land, most of it being in cultivation—4,000 acres north of Lockney and 6,000 acres in Lamb county, near Sudan. The price paid was nearly $500,000, and was practically all a cash deal. In the deal goes all the improvements, live stock and machinery.

Mr. Davenport is the largest individual farmer on the Plains, and each year cultivates several thousand acres in crops. This year he had 3000 acres of land in cultivation north of Lockney, besides large acreage near Sudan.

When asked what he intended to do, he said to us, "Buy more Plains land." Mr. Roper is one of the largest oil land men in the Ranger field having many big wells on his lands.—Plainview News.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver, and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has more thread, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well-playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.
