BABY DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. W. T. DRURY OF JOE BAILEY IS FATALLY SCALDED WHEN STOVE CAPSIZES

One child was fatally burned and another suffered serious scalds on the body when a laundry stove on which a kettle of hot water was being heated was turned over last Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Drury, near Joe Bailey.

The 11 month old baby girl, Virginia Ellen Drury, died Thursday about 1:30 from effects of the scalding water which was thrown over her when the other child, Avis, five years old, overturned the stove while playing around it, it was reported.

The children were rushed to Dougherty to a physician immediately after the accident, but some delay was encountered on account of the muddy conditions of the road and medical care failed to save the child's life. The other girl was said to be seriously burned, but it was believed she will recover. The father suffered minor burns when he tried to rescue the children from the burning mass.

Virginia is survived by her parents and four sisters, Avis and Ethel, both of the home, and Mrs. Opal Grogson of Plainview and Mrs. Bertie Pugh of Earth, Texas.

The baby was born November 30, 1933, at Plainview.

Funeral services were held at the Drury home Friday afternoon at one o'clock with Rev. J. A. Walden, Methodist circuit rider, conducting the rites. Burial was at Lakeview.

Pallbearers were J. R. Hinton, Cecil Payne, Henry Wright, and C. A. Caffee.

Wheat Checks Not Yet Issued; May Be In Soon, Washington Wire Says

A. H. Kreis of the county wheat control office received a telegram late last week from George E. Ferrell, stating that wheat checks for Floyd county had not yet been issued, but that it was expected they would be issued within a few days.

The telegram from Ferrell was in response to a wire from Kreis requesting information as to when the wheat checks could be expected. Other than offering what information was contained in the telegram, Kreis would venture no guess as to when the checks would be received here.

GEORGE M. FINKNER AND F. M. SHENEFELT ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING OF DODGE DEALERS

George Finkner and F. M. Shenefelt attended a district meeting of Dodge dealers in Dallas last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

About 700 dealers from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and a part of Louisiana attended the meeting, which was held at the Adolphus hotel.

Several of the Dodge company executives were there and the new 1935 model Dodge car was introduced for the inspection of the dealers.

A banquet for all the dealers was held Friday night.

Going down, Finkner and Shenefelt made business stops at Vernon and Wichita Falls. They reported that heavy rains had fallen at Vernon and from there over the entire length of the trip east. The ground was soaked clear down, it was stated.

ABILENE ELECTION FAVORS UTILITIES

Abilene, Texas, Nov. 24.—In an unofficial referendum today Abilene voted by a majority of two to one to let the present electric situation and rates alone. Results of the vote were: For a municipal plant 387, against 1,269; for granting a franchise to O. D. Dillingham 340, against 1,311; for present rates and policies of the West Texas Utilities Company 1,130, against 509.

The city commission called the referendum to serve as a guide in future policies. Dillingham had asked a franchise to compete with the utilities company, and there had been some agitation for a municipal plant.

BANKHEAD VOTE IS ON DECEMBER 14

Right Given To Dictate If A Compulsory Cotton Production Plan Will Govern The 1935 Production.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Secretary Wallace today set December 14, as the date on which cotton farmers will vote on whether they wish compulsory control of cotton production under the Bankhead act to be continued next year.

"Are you in favor of continuing the Bankhead act for next year?" is the question on which southern farmers will vote yes or no.

All To Get Chance
All eligible voters, defined in the Bankhead act as those "who have the legal or equitable right as owner, tenant, share cropper or otherwise to produce cotton," will be given an opportunity between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on that date to register their reaction to the experiment in compulsory control which has been in force since the past summer.

Under this plan each farmer was allotted a quota under the 10,460,000 bale national total which he was allowed to grow tax free. All cotton produced in excess of this amount was subject to a tax of fifty percent.

Cause For Thanksgiving

It seems to us that, as a nation, our most profound cause for thankfulness this Thanksgiving Day is that we have got over being afraid. If we read the signs of the times aright, a new courage is possessing the people of the United States; the moral courage to make the best of things as they are and to try by our own efforts to make them better.

Not everybody, of course, has got out of the habit of leaning on Government for help instead of trying to help himself. But it seems to us that we meet fewer timid souls who throw up their hands and declare that there is no use trying, than there were in evidence a year or so ago.

Nobody will contend that we have yet reached the era of "good times." It may and probably will take a long time yet to clear away the last vestige of the depression, but few are any longer afraid that things will keep on getting worse.

If we compare what we have to be thankful for with what our forebears who established Thanksgiving Day had, we can count ourselves immeasurably blessed. They had literally nothing to be thankful for except that for a whole year they had escaped starvation! The fear of famine was always present before them. Here in America nobody has been permitted to come within imagining distance of starvation, and one of the great problems we have been trying to solve this year is how to reduce our national surplus of food.

Compare our situation with that of the rest of the world and we can find plenty of evidence that it is every American's duty to give thanks this Thursday for greater measures of comfort, liberty and the means of happiness than the people of any other land enjoy.

Those are things to think about this week.

Coach Terrell's Whirlwind team will again defend their home gridiron, this time against the Wellington eleven, runners up in the north half of the conference, who will invade the local gridiron for a Turkey Day game Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

A large crowd is expected to attend the game Thursday, Coach Terrell said, to see the Whirlwinds in their final match of the season, a game that will decide the contest for third place conference honors. The contest, the coach said, probably will be as hard fought as a championship game.

Wellington will bring 30 men here it was stated. The club is said to be of about average size, but is said to have one of the best punters in the district.

Both teams resort to passing to a considerable extent and frequent attempts to score via the aerial route are expected to be made. A mounted silver football of miniature size will be given to the winning team in token of the conference third place honors. The Floydada Whirlwinds, with 193 points scored in games this season as compared with a combined score of 27 for their opponents, are expected to make a strong bid for this trophy.

FLOYDADA WHIRLWINDS DEFEAT TULIA ELEVEN 12 - 0 FRIDAY EVENING

For the second time this season Coach Terrell's Whirlwinds administered a drubbing to Tulia's once hopeful eleven when the locals defeated the visitors here Friday afternoon by a score of 12 to 0.

A good crowd watched the Whirlwind team defeat the Tulia team by resorting frequently to the aerial route, while the visitors relied almost entirely on line drives. Tulia had a powerful team that rolled up a lot of yardage in the middle of the field but never was able to drive through the Floydada defense when it drew up in close order to defend its own goal line.

Tulia won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. The Whirlwinds received Tulia's kick-off and made about two first downs, after which the locals were forced to punt. The Tulia safety dropped the ball and one of the Floydada players recovered. On about the third play Matthews made a run of about 25 yards to carry the oval across the goal line. The locals failed in the attempt to run the ball across for the extra point. Score: Floydada 6; Tulia 0.

The rest of the first and second quarters was taken up by the teams in see-sawing back and forth. Floydada scored again in the third quarter, Linder carrying the ball across the goal line this time. Again the Whirlwinds failed to cross the goal for extra point, making the score 12 for Floydada and 0 for the visitors. This was the last scoring of the day, the rest of the game being spent in drives that failed to materialize. Several times the Tulia eleven got inside Floydada's 20 yard line with their powerful line drives, but the Whirlwinds always arose to the occasion when their goal was threatened.

The earlier game between Floydada and the Tulia team took place the first of the season, the locals defeating the visitors by a score of 6 to 0.

Death Claims Spur Founder; Paralytic Stroke Fatal to Charles A. Jones

Spur, November 25.—Charles A. Jones, 73 years old, founder of Spur and former business man in Kansas City and New York, died at his home here today of a stroke of paralysis suffered in Los Angeles a month ago.

Born in Atlanta, Georgia, Jones went from Kansas City to southwestern Colorado when young and, at one time owned and published the Delores News at Rico. Then he moved to Kansas City to become assistant manager of the water works system there and later became purchasing agent for Armour and Company for all territory west of Chicago.

Mrs. Andrews to Present Pupils In Program December 3

Mrs. Andrews will present her expression pupils in a miscellaneous program at the high school auditorium next Monday evening, December 3, at 7 o'clock.

The program will consist of readings, dialogues, songs, and a one-act play entitled, "A Boy Who Does Not Believe in Fairies."

No admission will be charged. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Only two more days remain for payment of the first half of 1934 state and county taxes, Frank Moore, Floyd County Tax Collector, said Tuesday.

The first half payments must be made by Friday night or the entire amount will become due before January 30. The tax office will be closed for Thanksgiving, leaving only Wednesday and Friday for tax payments.

By paying the first half of their taxes by November 30, taxpayers then have until June 30, 1935, in which to pay the other half. But if they do not pay the first half now, they must pay the whole amount by January 30, or it becomes delinquent.

Mr. Moore made it clear that tax laws passed by the last legislature have no effect on the current taxes, for which statements were mailed late in October.

"The legislature passed a law setting up new discounts for prompt payment of taxes, but this law does not become effective until the first of October next year, and does not apply on taxes due now," Moore said. "Neither does the penalty remission bill on delinquent taxes apply now."

Making The Home More Livable

The Indirect Lamp Enlivens the Card Table

By Jean Prentice

ALL work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. To which we add, play without good lighting makes Jack a dull partner!

Most of us enjoy entertaining guests, don't we? We get pleasure from providing attractive decks of cards, nice tallies and tempting candies. And then, when every detail seems perfection for the comfort of our visitors, we sometimes fall down miserably.

We pull up to the card table a lamp whose small shade serves only two persons at the best, or else fails to cover the raw light from the bulbs so that the glare on the dummy hand makes us twist and fidget.

Or perhaps the bulbs are woefully small with the result that before the evening's over our energy has seeped away with our efforts to see. (I've been guilty of such provisions myself, but know better now!)

From lighting scientists who have considered our needs at play as well as at work, this advice has been secured: Provide an indirect lamp of either the metal or glass reflector type, similar to the ones in the sketches, for your game table.

They give a light as soft as that on a shaded porch upon a summer's day, an adequate smooth light that distributes itself impartially to all four contestants and lays no uncomplimentary shadow lines on faces. The new two-filament bulb in each lamp allows three different intensities of light. In the lamp in the larger sketch the 40 or 60-watt bulbs in addition to the central bulb for especially intensive seeing tasks.

A practical point about a lamp of this kind is that, since it is a "major" lamp and not a small one totally unfitted for the job, other lamps in the room need not be disrupted from their locations when the table is set up. The large lamp does a man-size job, sending light up as well as down and eliminating harsh contrasts.

The "torchier" type sketched in the panel has a softly luminous glass bowl taking the place of the shade on the first lamp. The lovely toned glass gives life to the unit and adds a striking decorative effect to the room.

Both lamps have been made by a number of manufacturers according to specifications of the Illuminating Engineering Society, national group of lighting experts.

The ace of spades may be black, but the ace of hospitality is light with one of these "indirects" at your bridge table.

Relief Commission Try to Halt Migration of Idle Men From Burnet County

Texas Relief Commission officials this week faced the problem of halting a migration of unemployed men to Burnet county, where they hope to get work on the Colorado river power project.

Fred B. Craddock, Burnet county relief administrator, appealed to state authorities after he had received 20 applications for relief from men who had come to Burnet to wait for construction to be started.

E. A. Baugh, assistant director of the commission, reminded prospective employes that the act passed by the legislature does not become effective for three months and that it very likely will be at least four months before construction is begun.

"In the meantime," Baugh declared, "the relief organization is not permitted to extend aid to persons who have left their home counties and gone to another, and such persons can receive relief only in their home counties. Other workers there, who contemplate going to Burnet county without means of self-support are hereby warned that aid can not be granted from the relief organization there."

Craddock said men from all surrounding counties in Central Texas were arriving at Burnet in a steady stream and that he expected many more applications for relief during the week.

H. D. Wood, of Lubbock, advertising manager of Texas Utilities Company, was in Floydada Friday and Saturday of the past week transacting business through the local office.

Alcoholic Liquors And Games of Chance Will Necessitate Budget Plan

Derelict heads of relief families who spend cash grants for alcoholic liquors or in games of chance hereafter will be paid only in kind and only after they have worked out a weekly budget, it has been announced by Adam R. Johnson, state relief director.

This course of action was adopted for the protection of members of the families of such clients who often have been victimized by failure of the head of the family to provide food and clothing with the money obtained from the county relief organization. Commenting on the new policy, Johnson said:

"In instances where either the county administrator or the case work supervisor has first-hand personal knowledge that the head of the relief family is expending his funds for alcoholic liquors, that family thereafter should receive relief in kind only.

"Regardless of the fact that relief is being extended in kind only, it shall and must be work relief.

"The same rule applies to gambling and similar derelictions on the part of relief clients. Conviction in police court or frequent arraignment before any local court immediately brings the client within the scope of these instructions.

"If the head of the family steadfastly refuses to perform work when he is not paid in cash, county administrators will confer with public officials and prefer charges of vagrancy against the client."

That is what thousands of people are getting through scientist's latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called! "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 8, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 1/2 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 3 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McCoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 2 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoy's—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes—insist on the original McCoy's—there are none better.

Building Panama Canal Originated With Spain

The thought of building a canal across the isthmus connecting North and South America originated with Spain in 1521, and some surveys were made at that time under the Spanish government, says the Indianapolis News. The serious business of building the canal, however, took shape in 1876 with the organization of a company in Paris which was to make the requisite surveys and investigations. Following an international scientific congress, in 1879, composed of 135 delegates from various nations, most of whom were French, which determined the site of the canal, a French company was formed which took up the work of construction on a large scale in 1883. Work on the canal was vigorously prosecuted until 1888, when the company became bankrupt under circumstances which produced charges of fraudulent transactions and of corruption upon a colossal scale. Suits were brought against canal officials, including the president, contractors and others, who, it was charged, had benefited illegally in connection with the canal work. The property of the canal company was put in charge of a liquidator, and remained in his hands until 1894, when the new Panama Canal company was organized and took over the assets of the old company. From 1894 until the property was acquired by the United States government, in May, 1904, the new Panama Canal company prosecuted the work of construction with a small force located almost entirely in the great Culebra cut.

Refracting Telescopes Are Difficult to Make

Most people think of a telescope as a long tube with a lens in one end and an eyepiece in the other, says Literary Digest. In instruments of this kind, known as refracting telescopes, the light is gathered by a large lens and focused in an eyepiece. Very large astronomical telescopes make use of another principle, that of reflection, because of the difficulty of making successful large refracting telescopes. In reflecting telescopes the light from distant objects is collected by a huge concave mirror, called the spectrum, and focused on a smaller mirror, which in turn transmits the light to an eyepiece. When used for taking photographs the eyepiece is replaced by a camera.

Since the light-gathering power of a telescope mirror is proportional to its area, the bigger the mirror the more useful it will be—within certain limits. Thus, a 100-inch mirror should theoretically be able to "see" four times as much as a 50-inch one. The 100-inch telescope at Mount Wilson sees about as far as light can travel in 300,000,000 years.

Ancient British Village

The village of Cuddington, Surrey, England, is more than 1,250 years old, and history records the existence of the place in the year 675, with the passing of Athelstan and Edward the Confessor. The neighborhood was famous from the reign of Henry VIII to that of Charles II as a center of royal festivities. In the sixteenth century Henry VIII fenced in some 1,800 acres of park and built Nonsuch palace, where for nearly two centuries the revels of the court were held. Later Queen Mary sold Nonsuch to the earl of Arundel. Afterwards it was possessed by Queen Elizabeth, and it was here that the ill-fated earl of Essex was arrested prior to his removal to the Tower of London. In 1670 King Charles gave the palace to Barbara Villiers, who dismantled the castle and sold the contents.

National Trees

According to the secretary of the British forestry commission, "there is no 'national tree' for Great Britain." But judging from the crests of the Royal English Forestry society and the Royal Scottish Forestry society, the oak tree has been adopted as an emblem by Great Britain, and the pine tree by Scotland. The Canadian legation at Washington states "no tree has been officially designated as a 'national tree.' However, the maple leaf is regarded as Canada's national emblem, and appears in the arms and ensigns armorial assigned to the Dominion by the royal proclamation of November 21, 1921. The particular variety of maple leaf is not therein described." "However, the variety which appears in the arms is the Acer saccharinum, commonly known as the silver maple."

West Point Requirements

It is not required that an applicant for admission to West Point be a high school graduate. But the entrance examination is such that unless he has had a first-class high school education or its equivalent, he will not be able to make an entering grade. The course of study is four years during which the cadets are under strict military discipline. Summers are spent in camp. Upon graduation cadets are commissioned second lieutenants in the United States army, and are assigned wherever they may be needed. Upon entrance to the academy a student binds himself to the government for eight years.

Louisiana Lottery Was Last, Greatest of Kind

The Louisiana lottery was founded in 1868 and it was said it sold $28,000,000 worth of tickets annually and paid out approximately half that amount each year. It was the last and the greatest of the lotteries.

The main offices of the "Louisiana" as it was called, were in the center of the city of New Orleans, in a pretentious looking building with opaque windows. In the courtyard was a shallow fountain, and in the pool of the fountain was a huge live alligator, viewed by opponents of the lottery as emblematic of the scheme. They claimed children of ticket buyers might as well be thrown to the alligator, instead of being beggared, as they inevitably would be.

The monthly drawing of the "Louisiana" was described as highly picturesque. Streets were crowded with ticket vendors, brokers and interested investors. The actual drawing took place in the old French opera house, before boxes occupied by fashionably dressed women. On the stage, acting as masters of ceremony and distributors of lucky chances, were two "commissioners," both well-known Confederate war heroes. It was said they received between $15,000 and $30,000 a year for presiding over the ceremonies. One sat in a chair and received the prize tubes from a blindfolded boy, at every twentieth prize closing the wheel, from which the drawings were made, for the periodical stirring up that was ostensibly designed to guard against fraud. The other "commissioner," more than six feet tall, had a "wheel of fortune" of his own, much larger than the other, over which he presided.

Animals and Birds Feel and Act as Human Beings

Instances to show that animals have largely the same feelings and emotions as human beings were cited by the director of the Taranga Park zoo, when he told how several members of a herd of elephants in Africa had been observed to go to the aid of a wounded comrade, and a wallaby to give assistance to another wallaby that was blind. As another example of the protective instinct in animals, says the Detroit News, a male kangaroo will take up the rear in retreat in order to draw the brunt of possible danger while the does and their young escape.

Birds, such as Sarus cranes, dance as we do for the fun of the thing, and they exhibit great thought in their gyrations. Cockatoos employ the sentry system, posting one bird as a lookout while others feed on the ground; the quality of leadership possessed by animals is evidenced in the V-shaped formation of wild geese while flying.

The variations in behavior encountered among different kinds of animals are attributed largely to environment. Animals act generally in the same way in given circumstances.

Cause of Tides

Tides are caused by the gravitational attraction, or pull, of the sun and moon on the water and on the earth itself. The close relation that the times of high water bear to the times of the moon's meridian passage shows that the moon's influence on tides is much greater than that of the sun; it has been estimated that it is two and one-half times as great. The result of this attraction of the moon is to draw or heap up the water, in the parts of the earth nearest it. The surface of the earth rises and falls twice in a lunar day of about 24 hours and 52 minutes. The tides do not always rise to the same height, but every fortnight, after the new and full moon, they become much higher than they were in the alternate weeks. These high tides are called spring tides and the low ones neap tides.

Santo Domingo Quaint City

Most ancient of existing settlements of white men in the western hemisphere is the quaint city of Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. Christopher Columbus founded the city and claimed for Spain the island of Haiti, of which the Dominican Republic occupies about two-thirds. In Columbus' day the colony was named Hispaniola. One of the principal sights of Santo Domingo is the fortress wall and old gate leading into the city from the mouth of the Ozama river. The gate was heavily barricaded and the wall fortified in the early years of the city's history. Santo Domingo is capital of the republic.—Chicago Tribune.

Genesis of a Stogie

When the Argonauts drove their large, white canvas-covered wagons across the desert, their drivers needed something to keep their minds off the dust and death around them. They carried long cigars, bought in Pittsburgh at the start of their trip, around the top of their boots. The wagons they drove were called Conestoga wagons, because they were made in Conestoga, N. Y. When the driver wished to be especially polite to a rider alongside him, he would reach down into his boot for a cigar. The smoke became known as a "Conestoga cigar"—and was finally shortened to "stoga"—hence, stogie.

Samuel Insull And 16 Business Associates Found Not Guilty In Chicago Trial

Chicago, November 24.—In two hours and two minutes deliberation today, 12 federal court jurors shattered the government's charges of a $100,000,000 mail fraud against Samuel Insull and his 16 business associates with a verdict of acquittal.

Between lunch time and the dinner hour, the voluminous case, against the ruler of a one-time $2,000,000,000 utility system, was put into the hands of a jury and decided in his favor.

Jubilant at the near breath-taking speed of the verdict, Insull exclaimed: "This is the start of my vindication."

The jury's decision read in a hushed courtroom by Foreman John D. Lent, came with a rapidity startling to defense attorneys and prosecutors alike.

The case was developed from nearly five tons of business records, but when the jurors retired they sent out only for three letters.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green, who had worked for nearly two years to attain a different result, took the verdict without rancor.

"The government presented its case fully," said the young prosecutor, "we gave everything that we had to it."

The case, in which the Chicago utilities builder and his aides were charged with bilking hundreds of investors of the huge sum, went to the jury at 2:21 o'clock (central standard time) following a two-hour charge by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Gun May Give Sheriff Clue In Dickens County Jail Break Murder

Lubbock November 25.—A .45 calibre pistol found in a brush pile near Franklin, Robertson county, may have fired the bullet which killed Sheriff W. B. Arthur in the break of Virgil Stalcup and Clarence Brown from Dickens County jail October 27.

Stalcup had told officers the weapon used in the slaying had been smuggled into jail to Brown. The desperado, who faces 254 years imprisonment, even told authorities to look in the brush pile.

After discovery of the weapon by Sheriff W. A. Nickelson of Franklin, on information from Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock, County Attorney Alton B. Chapman and Justice of the Peace T. M. Green conducted a court of inquiry at Dickens yesterday afternoon. Six witnesses were questioned, but no light was thrown on the case, Chapman said.

County Old Age Pension Unit Is Organized Here At Meeting Saturday

A crowd of perhaps 350 persons, most of them of middle age or older, gathered in the district court room at the courthouse Saturday afternoon to hear the Townsend old age pension plan discussed by Rev. Mat Harder of Rails and S. A. Ribble of Shamrock. F. L. Fawver of Baker also made a few introductory remarks while the crowd was awaiting the arrival of Rev. Harder.

Fawver who called the meeting, was later elected county chairman of a Floyd county association favoring passage of an old age pension law, and Tom W. Deen was elected secretary - treasurer. Community chairmen also were appointed for most of the communities of the county, with instructions to finish organizing their communities.

Announcement also was made that a meeting of the county association would be held in the courthouse every Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Townsend plan, originated by Dr. Townsend, a California physician, proposes that congress enact a law giving every person 60 years of age or older a pension of $200.00 per month on condition that each pensioner give up his job and agree to spend all of the $200.00 each month as it is received.

According to figures given out by Rev. Harder there are 10,300,000 persons in the United States eligible to receive such a pension. In case all eligible persons would apply for and receive the pension the total money expended for pensions would be slightly more than two billion per month or twenty-four billion, seven hundred and twenty thousand per year, about the amount the United States spent in the World War.

The proposal is that the money needed for financing this plan be raised through a general sales tax.

Rev. Harder said one of the purposes of the plan is to put money into circulation. Another is to relieve the aged of the fear of poverty and want.

In order to be eligible for pension, Rev. Harder said the person must have been a good citizen without having shown evidences of criminality. He declared it would aid in the solution of the unemployment situation by removing from jobs about 8,000,000 persons age 60 or above who are now employed and giving these jobs to younger persons.

Following Rev. Harder's address, Mr. Ribble made a short address. He said the principle of pensioning worn out workers is sound and termed the Townsend plan a hopeful plan at least. He said this plan is an attempt to get a noble experiment before the noblest of all experimenters.

Ed Holmes was elected chairman of the Sandhill unit and Ira Womack was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen were named in other communities as follows, with instructions to elect their secretaries: Baker, Forrest Findley; Lone Star, J. H. Fowler; Center, W. B. Jordan; Lakeview, Claud Patton; Fairview, Alfred Stewart; Sterley, Bert Bobbitt; Antelope, C. A. Cumby; Dougherty, W. H. Owens; Roseland, Paul Sims; Campbell, A. F. Norton; Lockney, T. Z. English People Greatest Dog Lovers in World

It is generally accepted that the English are the greatest nation of dog lovers on earth.

One of the strongest proofs of this lies in the fact that in almost all of the paintings of rulers and great men of bygone times a dog is depicted somewhere.

In practically all the paintings of King Charles I a King Charles spaniel is found. Who has not heard of the devotion of a greyhound to King Richard II? Mary Queen of Scots is shown in a picture with a Skye terrier. This terrier was missing on the morning of Mary's execution, and when the blood-stained body was taken up, the animal was found crouching beneath her robes. He "could not be gotten forth but with force, and afterwards would not depart from the corpse, but came and laid between her head and shoulders." A lady took charge of him, but the poor thing refused all further connection with human beings and pined away.

Very similar was the action of the Pekingese which stood over the bodies of the czar of Russia and his family and defied the assassins until a bullet settled his defiance forever. A pug once saved the prince of Orange by giving warning of the approach of a raiding party. The prince always had a pug of some sort or other so long as he lived.—American Kennel Gazette.

Precious Stones, Posies That Have Some Meaning

January's stone is the garnet. The others are: February, amethyst; March, bloodstone; April, diamond; May, emerald; June, pearl; July, ruby; August, sardonyx; September, sapphire; October, opal; November, topaz; December, turquoise.

Poetry, tradition and popular usage has ascribed different meanings to flowers, though there is no authoritative list or uniform agreement. Here are the names of a few: Anemone—anticipation, frailty; apple blossom—admiration; buttercup—wealth; calla lily—magnificent beauty, pride; white camellia—innate worth; cardinal flower—distinction; cornflower—delicacy; cowslip—youthful beauty; daffodil—unrequited love; daisy—simplicity, innocence; dandelion—coquetry; forget-me-not—true love; foxglove—insincerity; geranium—gentility; golden rod—encouragement; heather—loneliness; heliotrope—devotion; white heather—good fortune; hollyhock—ambition; honeysuckle—friendship; hyacinth—sorrow; narcissus—vanity; orange blossom—marriage; rose—love; shamrock—loyalty, and the violet—modesty.

Rove Beetles

Rove beetles are very common about decaying animal matter, and are often found upon the ground under stones or other objects. They are mostly very small insects; a few species, however, measure half an inch, or more, in length. The body is long and slender, with short wing covers. The wings are fully developed, often longer than the abdomen. When not in use, the wings are folded beneath the short wing covers. The insect when it folds its wings very often finds it necessary to make use of the tip of the abdomen, or one of its legs, to assist in folding the wings beneath the wing covers. These beetles run very swiftly and have the curious habit of raising the tip of the abdomen in a threatening manner when disturbed. The larvae of these beetles resemble the adults in the form of their bodies, and are found in similar situations. About one thousand species of Rove Beetles have been described in North America.

River's Phenomenal Leap

In British Guiana there is a mighty river called Potara. At one place, Kaieteur, the river makes a clear drop of 822 feet, and at the foot of the cataract the waters of the Potara branch off in various directions. The Kaieteur cataract is the show place of British Guiana. Twenty-eight thousand cubic feet of water pass over the edge of the cataract every second. This vast volume of water, properly applied, would be capable of furnishing four times as much power as is derived today by the harnessing of Niagara falls.

Celluloid

Parkes and Still, two Birmingham chemists, invented celluloid in 1847. Its constituents are gun-cotton and camphor, the latter rendering it pliable. Except for its inflammability, not surprising considering its composition, celluloid is an almost perfect material. Imitation ivory and safety glass have long been its staple productions. The chemist has found that by combining celluloid and fish scales he is able to produce artificial mother-of-pearl, of a texture calculated to deceive anyone but an expert.

Coffee Grows Wild

The negro republic of Haiti is a land of small farmers, only 2 per cent, it is estimated, of the agricultural production being the outcome of the plantation method. Coffee is the chief crop. The crop actually grows wild and is harvested rather than cultivated.

GIVE THANKS....

Scarcely had the Pilgrims settled in the Bay Colony more than three hundred years ago when the terrible winter descended upon them. Only half of the party survived the hardships and suffering of that first year. Those who were spared carried on like the dauntless pioneers they were, and lived and prospered.

Let's give thanks for the example set us so many years ago by these hardy pioneers. The homely virtues of self-discipline and perseverance are still the unfailing source of abundant prosperity which has been enjoyed throughout this land since those early times.

That First Thanksgiving Day

Those who offered gratitude on that first Thanksgiving day had gone through Adversity such as generations living today have never known. Driven from England by laws that denied them the right to worship God in their own way, robbed by Death during that first terrible winter of more than half their group, and finally reaping on the then New England soil what to us would have been a very scanty harvest, they set aside a day of rejoicing and humbly offered thanks to God. STATE COMPTROLLER EXPLAINS REMISSION OF TAX PENALTIES, INTEREST

Frank Moore, Floyd County tax collector, has received from George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, a letter explaining the remission of penalties and interest provided in the emergency tax relief law passed by the last special session of the legislature. The letter follows: Austin, Texas, Nov. 15, 1934. To The Tax Collector:

Due to the numerous inquiries received regarding H. B. No. 7 passed at the 4th called session of the 43rd Legislature, releasing penalty and interest, I am advising all tax collectors that said Bill, and H. C. R. No. 11, not having received the necessary vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House, will not become effective until 90 days after adjournment, or February 9, 1935, and therefore can not affect existing laws or collectors' duties prior to the date it becomes effective.

The Bill does not relieve the collectors from the provisions of Article 7324 as amended by Chapter 117, Acts, Regular Session, 42nd Legislature, requiring the collection of taxes, penalties, interest and costs.

By reason of conditions as above stated, the collector has no authority to accept, prior to February 9, 1935, the delinquent taxes, credit the taxpayer with payment and issue a receipt therefor, without the payment of penalty and interest; nor has this office authority to so direct. The date of the receipt and the collection made should be in accordance with the law as it exists at the time the receipt is issued. Our statutes provide for half payments and also split payments under certain conditions but they do not provide for the payment of taxes separate and apart from the penalty and interest accrued thereon.

We know the information here given is not what most of the collectors and many of their constituents would like to have, but it is in accordance with the law brought about by legislative procedure over which this office had no control.

Yours very truly,
GEO. H. SHEPPARD,
Comptroller of Public Accounts.

NOVEMBER ALLOTMENT CHECKS TOTALING $236,100 ANNOUNCED BY HEAD

Counties participating in the rural rehabilitation program received November allotment checks totalling $236,100 last week, it was announced by J. E. Stanford, head of the rural rehabilitation department of the Texas Relief Commission.

These checks will cover rehabilitation needs in 76 counties of the state, other counties having enough rehabilitation funds on hand from previous allotments to take care of their needs for the remainder of this month.

Most recent count reveals 3,400 houses on sustenance plots leased by rural supervisors for rehabilitation families. Approximately half of these houses already have been occupied by clients, Stanford said.

SEWING ROOM WORKERS CUT CLOTH INTO GARMENTS FOR ISSUANCE TO CLIENTS

Because relief clients in some Texas counties are in acute need of clothing, county administrators have been instructed by Texas Relief Commission officials to have sewing room workers cut cloth into garments for issuance to clients, who will finish the garments themselves.

The sewing rooms will continue to turn out finished products as fast as facilities will permit, but it was felt that production is not progressing fast enough to prevent suffering in some instances.

Garments cut for finishing will be issued upon recommendation of case workers to clients capable of finishing the work. The case also will advise as to the number and sizes of garments needed for each family and report completion of the garments by the families for whom they are cut.
