McKinley Sunday School Man

The late President William Mc-Kinley attended a school managed by Presbyterian and Methodist clergymen. When but twenty-four he was chosen superintendent of the Sunday school. How deep-seated was his religious instinct was made manifest when, at Buffalo, September 6, 1901, he was mortally wounded by an assassin. "It is God's way," he said. "His will, not ours, be done." John Hay declared: "President McKinley showed the world how a Christian gentleman should live and how a Christian could die."

Grand Ribbon Decoration

A Grand Ribbon is simply a decoration of honor conferred upon a citizen of the United States by a foreign government or foreign rul-er. The Department of States says CONSTIPA that any decoration of this kind may not be received by any person holding an office of profit or trust under the United States as provided in a section of the Constitution. When such honor is conferred by a foreign government it is held by the Department of State for the recipient until such time as he give up his position.

Old-Time Conveyance

Not many years ago on the plains of Argentina, the gauchos, or cowboys, used a unique method of co veying their wives to and from town. The lady would sit on a dried horsehide while the gentleman, mounted on his horse, would drag It along the ground by a long rope tied to his saddle. All she had to do was hang on tightly when gochoking on the dust stirred up by the horse.-Collier's Weekly.

"Then there is the waste that accompanies political management. The old maxim that, "What is everybody's business is nobody's business," is plainly demonstrated in most business enterprises under political management. We are convinced that private business can thrive on profits equal in amount to the losses that normally accrue from waste and extravagance under political management, even when there is no political graft and spoils. "Take for example the present custom of the PWA in offering an outright gift to a local community of 30 per cent of the cost of a municipal light plant, and a loan out of the Federal Treasury to cover the remainder of the cost on most favorable terms. By what principle of equity or legal procedure has a Federal officer the right to take from funds that belong to all the people and give to the people of any one city or community ! There is one particular phase of this to which I would call your special attention.

"In a signed article appearing in a recent magazine, Secretary Icks, com menting on our shortage of oil, makes the following statement:

'We are producing and consuming close to 1,000,000,000,000 barrels of oil a year. The most competent evidence now available is to the effect that we have but ten to fifteen years of known cheap supplies at the present rate of consumption. And since the first of 1933 we have consumed two and one-half times as much oil as has been discovered in new fields with the result that our reserves have been drawn upon daily to the extent of about 1,500,000 barrels. We have enough coal for thousands of years and metals for hundreds of years, but of oil, for which is no known substitute at comparative prices, we have enough for only tens of years.'

"I now quote literally from a letter sent out from Mr. Icks' department addressed to the Commissioner of Finance of the City of Carbondale, Illinois, which as its name implies, is situated in the very heart of the

Foods Taste Better When Cooked Electrically

Electric Cookery brings out the flavor in foods. Only a small amount of water needs to be used to cook vegetables, as they are practically cooked in their own delicious juices. Meats shrink very little cooked electrically, as there is no excessive dry heat to rob them of juices and flavor.

The results are foods taste better and retain the vitamins because the flavors and health properties are not destroyed by excessive cooking or drowned in excessive water to be poured down the sink. Of course you can look for better health from this modern electric cookery. Before you buy your next range. . . . investigate the electric way of cooking.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
