

IF RONALD REAGAN loses out on the nomination for president, he can thank the nation's liberal press, which includes radio and television interviewers, for throwing a big damper on his candidacy, beginning with the New Hampshire primary.

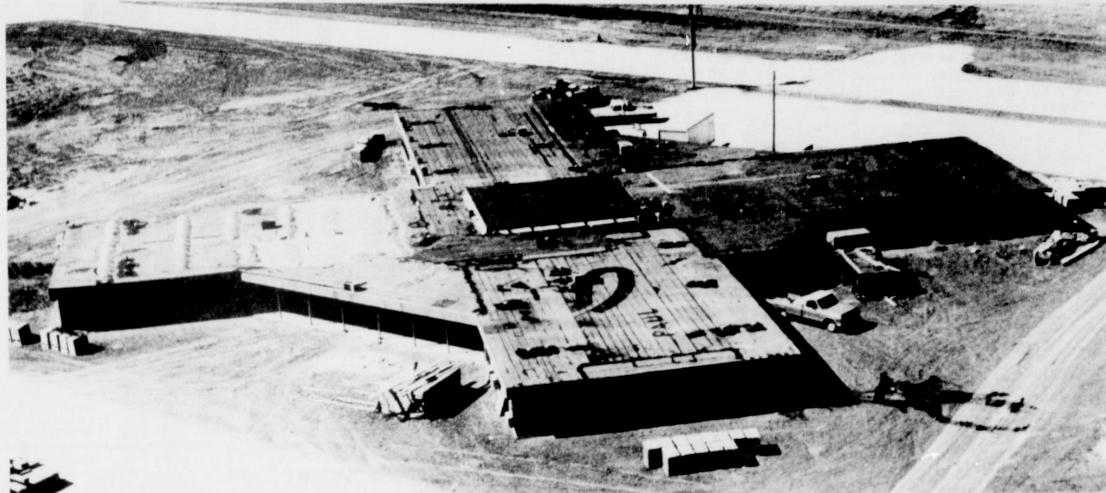

All the TV boys did was take some points Reagan had been making in his speeches--points which are agreed upon by most conservative-minded political observers, and make the ex-actor sound downright un-American in their handling of the interviews.

Reagan, in some recent speeches, had spoken out in favor of reducing taxes--surely a position 99 per cent of the American populace can agree with between now and April 15.

The former California governor was proposing to return to state and local governments the right to tax the citizenry for certain services. This idea of having a closer tie with the governmental agency that is levying the taxes is one that most taxpayers should be able to support.

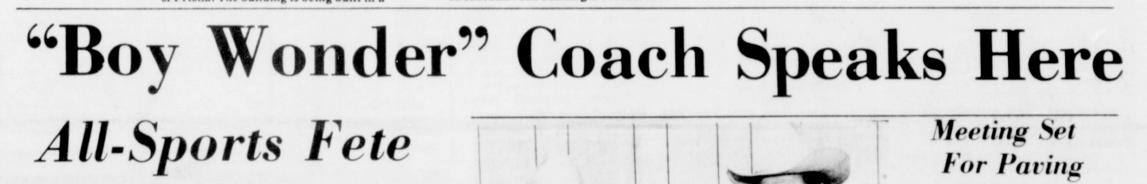

But the TV people jumped right in the middle of Reagan, demanding which federal services he proposed to cut out, to correspond with the taxes he planned to cut. It wasn't so much that the GOP candidate plans to cut out any services, but the network boys made him look like a regular Benedict Arnold for so much as implying that he would cut down on money "coming from Washington"

When are the American people going to learn that the money which Washington sends for the various programs doesn't come from some big Sugar Daddy on the Potomac, but is in reality their own tax money, after it has been watered down, and a generous cut taken out for administrative purposes!

Nursing Home A Birdseye View

THIS UNUSUAL aerial view of the Friona Nursing Home gives you an idea of the shape of the building complex, under construction in the northern part of Friona. The building is being built in a "spoke" design, with the nurse's station to be in the center portion, to be equal distance from the various wings. Blessed by good weather, construction is on schedule. The building is scheduled to be completed in July. Star photographer Hal Blackburn, assisted by Danny Campbell and Richard Anderson, made the photograph.

There has never been an argument against the fact that government closer to the people can take care of the local needs, at a lot lower price, and save the taxpayers money in the process.

What the networks apparently did to Reagan and his tax reform platform was to stir up some angry reaction from the voters, a reaction that was born of greed, and was short-sighted at the very best.

A certain segment of America apparently still has the idea that from big government we somehow will get "something for nothing." This just isn't so. There always has to be a day of reckoning. (In most cases, it is the afore-mentioned April 15).

What Reagan has been trying to propose is a better balance between the state and federal governments, an idea that used to be very popular, especially in the Southern area.

His philosophy, and we can't find too much fault with it, is that Americans should have a little concern with doing something about their own retirement, rather than expecting to live off Social Security.

Also, they should expect to provide a little financial help to their own aging parents. These two ideas should not bring on a state of panic or fear to the average American-after all, it's the stuff our country was founded upon some 200 years ago.

But, it has been pointed out that the general populace, which formerly was much in favor of a cut government," must be changing its thinking. And the results of the four state primaries to this point make you wonder if this is not so.

For one thing, one out of every six Americans is employed by some branch of the Federal government. Hence, they aren't in favor of curtailing the trend toward a bureaucratic state. In addition, one out of every seven people is receiving social security. They are afraid to be in favor of a tax cut.

Then, there are those (one out of seven) who require hospitalization during the year, that eventually leads to some degree of government assistance--Medicare, Medicaid, etc.

Even in our city government, we have been receiving a Revenue Sharing check, which city leaders (Continued on Page 7)

Set In Friona

The annual all-sports banquet for Friona High School will be held Tuesday, March 23 at the Community Center. The banquet gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the affair are still on sale until noon Monday, at $6.00 each. The banquet, which honors all participants in sports at FHS, is open to anyone who wants to attend.

Tickets are available at Friona High School, the Community Center, Parmer House Restaurant, the Main Place and the Friona Star.

Speaker will be Steve Sloan, "boy wonder" head coach at Texas Tech University.

Sloan, 31, is the youngest head coach of a major college football team.

The Ex-Tennessean, who took over the head football coaching post at Tech in January of 1975, has captured the hearts of Tech fans as few have done. Seldom has a coach risen to such popularity in such a short time. But Sloan's popularity has not come without reason.

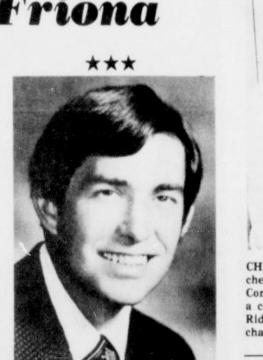

When he came to Lubbock he remarked, "I don't know West Texas from a jar of Vicks, but I'm going to find out," and then proceeded to familiarize himself and his coaching staff with the South Plains in record setting time, and in the middle of a tough recruiting season at that.

As one member of the Lubbock media remarked, "Steve Sloan has met everybody in West Texas and I don't know a soul that doesn't like much of an exaggeration as the young coach must hold the single season record for area speaking appearances and attending civic club meetings.

When the Raiders were suffering through a four-game losing streak during the middle of the season, Sloan refused to let it get him down. In fact, he seemed at his best with the media and public, always willing to take time for questions and the fans. His humorous quips were often used nationwide by the media. Sloan's attitude of "we're just going to have to work harder" during the losing streak impressed more than a few folks around Lubbock and the Southwest Conference.

And has been the case since Sloan first hit the Alabama campus back in 1962, the hard work paid off for him, as he led a young and inexperienced Tech team to a 6-5 finish, including wins in four of their last five games. Enroute to their surprisingly strong showing, the Raiders established a Tech total offense record for a season by rolling up 4,403 yards, a 400.3 yards per game average. Twice during the season the Raiders piled up more than 500 yards in a game and were held to less than 300 yards only once.

Born in Austin and raised in Cleveland, Tenn., Sloan starred

Alabama and quarterbacked the Crimson Tide to a national championship in 1965. He closed out his collegiate career with a display of aerial fireworks in the Tide's 39-28 triumph over Nebraska in the 1966 Orange Bowl.

He spent two years as a quarterback with the Atlanta Falcons before returning to his alma mater for a three-year stint as offensive backfield coach.

In 1971, he took over as offensive coordinator at FSU and moved to Georgia Tech the following season to assume the same duties.

In February of 1973, Vanderbilt named him to his first head coaching post. Sloan's 1973 team posted a 5-6 mark and the Commodores were on their way. Despite a demanding recruiting

Originally from Amarillo, where he got his start in radio on the old Cal Farley show, Hunter had the crowd in stitches as he attempted to explain an imaginary "refinery" that he planned to build between Bovina and Friona, as an answer to the energy problem.

Hunter also took some lighthearted pokes at the country's heritage, politicians and anything else held dear. In his rare moments of seriousness, he managed to praise the United States for developing the only free enterprise system that has lasted 200 years under the same constitution. During the awards portion of the banquet, in an unusual move, the Chamber's Man of the Year award was given posthumously to Johnie Horn, former Bovina mayor and longtime civic leader.

Horn had served as president of the Lions Club, on the school board, city council, and as Democratic precinct chairman. He was a past chamber director.

His widow, Mina, accepted the plaque. Horn died in January. Sue Fowler was honored as the chamber's Woman of the Year. A Bovina resident for 13 years, she was cited for her activities in her church work (she is a Methodist), and club (Bovina Women's Study Club). 45 YEARS AGO-MARCH 27, 1931 Parmer County is in a very fortunate position regarding the paving of Highway 60, inasmuch as it traverses the entire length of the county, in a diagonal direction, giving us many miles of that highway, and three of the 13 Texas towns on it. That fact alone will bring Parmer County more than the usual county's share of tourist money to be spent by travellers along the highway.

After church let out Sunday noon, grownups usually stood around and talked a spell. That gave us kids a chance to let off steam that had been building during preaching. Sometimes a friend would ask me to go home with him for the afternoon

I usually went to Mom first for permission. She would be talking to some of the ladies and I would pull on her coat tail to get her attention "Raymond wants me to go nome in nim today; his folks don't mind, and they'll bring me back to church tonight; he's got some old clothes that'll fit me and 1 can change into 'em and not get my Sunday clothes tore on a fence or nothin'! Red Heads Booked For Return Match

Friona's Fellowship of Christian Athletes are sponsoring the appearance of the All-American Red Heads on Saturday evening, March 27 at the Friona High School Gym. It's the second straight year for the team's appearance here. Friona coaches will battle the Red Heads in a special exhibition game beginning at 8 p.m. Members of the FCA plan to canvass the community prior to the 27th. Advance tickets will effect a saving. Ticket prices at the door will be $2.50 for adults, $2.00 for students and $1.50 for children under 12.

Proceeds from the special game will go to provide funds to send FCA members to the National Conference this summer.

The owner and director of the All-American Red Heads team, Druell Moore, is working on an "Around the World" tour for the team during 1976.

"Be sure and attend the game. Besides displaying outstanding athletic ability, the Red Heads will make you laugh and have a good time," stated a spokesman for the FCA.

Moore's All American Red Heads, world champion girls basketball team, was originated in 1936 by C.M. "Ole" Olson of Olson Terrible Swedes. The Red Heads have made the greatest impact on sports fans than any other group of female athletes that have performed before the sports world. Playing first class basketball and entertaining sports fans with their s^Lilled basketball wizardy, laughprovoking antics and acts, the Red Heads as always are America's favorite basketball performers.

This year's team is rich in championship tradition, steeped with sports prestige that is privileged to so very few organizations--the All American Red Reads team is as American as apple pie. "How They Play The Game" will be the Red Head's theme as they entertain thousands across the sports world this current season.

The Red Heads are the most widely traveled, most often discussed group of girl athletes in the world. Moore's fabulous world champions will be the "Toast of the Town" in more than 600 cities, towns and communities this current season.

In past years, the Red Heads have thrilled the fans of Alaska on five "Top of the World Tours"-thrilling the fans of America's last

The Chieftains got four first places in the meet, all in the field events, and swept first and second in the discus throw.

Winners were Davy Carthel in the discus with a throw of 137-6; Kenny Stowers in the shot put at 47-5; Bob Clark in the high jump at 5-9, and Bobby Zetzsche, who tied for first in the long jump at 19-11. Zetzsche narrowly scratched on a jump of 20-10. "We were in first place in the meet at the conclusion of the field events, with 47 points to 41 for Post," explained Chieftain Coach Mike Garrison. In the final analysis, Post won the meet with 95 points. Friona was able to pick up only 22 points in the running events, to finish with 69 points.

"We need to qualify more boys in the running events. We plan to make some changes in the next couple of weeks to see if we can't pick up a few points in the races," Garrison said. He indicated that everyone's times are improving with each meet.

Others who scored points in the Abernathy meet included Stowers, second in the discus with a throw of 120-4; David Barnett, second in the pole vault at 11-0 and Clark, fifth in the long jump at 19-1.

In running events, Zetzsche was fourth in the 100-yard dash in a time of 10.4. Jesse Soliz was sixth at 10.8. The FHS mile relay team, composed of Kelwin King, Chuck he Essary, Jesus Mata and Glen London placed sixth in the time of 3:45.1. The 440-yard relay team of 69 King, John Seright, Cliff McLellan and Zetzsche was seventh in 46.3. Jesus Mata placed fifth in the 880-yard dash with a time of 2:10.9. ext Glen London, who had been second n't the previous week with a 2:08.3

timing, complained of cramps and fell to sixth with a time of 2:11.2 in his second outing. Joe Bermea was fifth in the mile run with a 5:10 clocking. Friona is entered in Hereford's

Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce invitational meet this weekend. One of the meet's records belongs to a Chieftain in Division II. High jumper David Clark set it in 1975 with a leap of 6-3. He had to outduel teammate Dale Cleveland, who pushed him to the new mark.

Thursday of this week, the junior high track teams also were competing at the Hereford meet. Entered in the varsity meet in Friona's division were teams from Olton, Shallowater, Kress, Tulia, Alamo Catholic, Vega and Happy in addition to the Chieftains. Friona won the Division II title at Hereford in 1974. It was won by Sunray last year, but that team is not back to defend its title.

The Friona freshmen are to compete in the meet's Division III Saturday, which is set up for junior varsity athletes.

Teams in division I include Hereford, Canyon, Clovis, Amarillo High, Plainview, Coronado, Lubbock High and Estacado. They will probably all be represented in Division III as well.

SIGNS WITH ENMU....Davy Carthel, standout football player for the Friona Chieftains, has signed a four-year scholarship with Eastern New Mexico University, following in the footsteps of his older brother Donny, who had a brilliant career for the Greyhounds. Watching Davy sign is FHS coach Mike Garrison. Eastern also got running back Glenn Johnson and quarterback Jimmy Parker of Olton.

Squaws Relay Team Flashes Good Time

The Friona Squaws' track team scored 81 points in the Abernathy Invitational meet last Saturday, to place fifth as a team.

The Squaws' mile relay team of Sylvia Malouf, Janice Peak, Jaton Widner and Paige Osborn won their event with a clocking of 4:19.4. The time rated the Friona foursome a long jump the previous week with a Aguirre p new school record, fell to third The Squ place behind entrants from meets thi

The Squaws were entered in two meets this weekend, at Hereford on Friday at the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce meet, and at Olton Saturday.

Once we become dependent upon any form of government aid, we become "hooked" on it, and we lose our ability to decide upon the issues according to their face value.

At one time, probably not too long ago, a candidate expounding the kind of thinking that Ronald Reagan uses would have been the champion of the people. He would have had little trouble being elected to whatever office.

Today, however, it begins to look doubtful. We have been suspecting for some time that the half of the American population that is paying taxes for the other half on welfare, social security, etc., was beginning to become a minority. Ronald Reagan must believe this too, especially after the recent primaries.

Shattered Mind" by Howard Gardner is a story about a person suffering from brain damage

The immediate fascination of Howard Gardner's book lies in the convincing descriptions of the many forms of brain injury often supported by moving dialogues with actual patients.

Moving beyond specific symptoms and case histories, the author addresses himself to a series of fundamental problems and questions: the variety of ways in which skills break down with age or brain injury; and breakdown of capacities. In coming to know patients before and after their strokes, we share their experiences and partake of their plight; in coming to understand the biology and psychology of brain damage, we are educated both scientifically and humanly; and learn lessons about our own thought processes our own behaviour. and

Health Fair Set In Friona

THE FRIONA STAR, SUNDAY, MARCH 21, 1976, PAGE 11

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE: A KILLER THAT CAN BE CON-TROLLED-

Identifying and controlling high blood pressure is one of the best ways to reduce your risk of stroke and heart attack.

This is a message hammered home repeatedly by the American Heart Association, and it takes on special significance as the nation observes High Blood Pressure Month in May

High blood pressure is a silent killer. There are usually no symptoms. You can have it and still feel healthy. It is a mysterious killer because, in 90 per cent of the cases, doctors don't know the cause. It can easily be detected by an inexpensive and painless medical examination, and once diagnosed, it can usually be controlled.

For those who ignore high blood pressure, the results can be devastating. Consider these statistics:

-High blood pressure is major factor in 500,000 of the nearly 900.000 deaths in this country each year from stroke and heart attack.

--Of the approximately 23 million Americans who have high blood pressure, at least half don't know it, and half of those who do are not adequately controlled.

--In 1975 alone, heart and blood vessel diseases will kill more than a million Americans--52 per cent of deaths from all causes in the U.S. Fortunately, you can improve your chances of living a longer. healthier life, but only your doctor can determine your individual risk.

Only a physician can tell you how to reduce it. If you have high blood pressure, only a doctor can prescribe a diet and medication program designed to protect you. But only you can make it successful by following the physician's advice.

Your part is just as important as your physician's. You can play your part best by doing the following:

1. Visit the Parmer County Health Fair to have your pressure checked free. You should do this even if you feel well, because high blood pressure may not have any noticeable symptoms.

2. If you have high blood pressure, follow your doctor's instructions about diet -- including weight loss if you are overweightand changes in general health habits, such as rest and recreation. These measures will reduce the risk of stroke, heart attack, kidney and heart failure.

3. If your physician prescribes medications, keep taking them whether you feel well or not.

4. Cooperate with your physician. As a team, you and the doctor can almost always get your pressure under control.

The Parmer County Health Fair will be Tuesday, April 6 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Community Building in Friona. All Parmer County residents are invited to view the educational exhibits, and go through screening for high blood pressure, TB, diabetes, Glacoma and height-weight.

Wheat Topdress

URAN does it fast, long and uniformly for higher quality and higher yields.

For topdressing wheat, you need nitrogen that goes to work fast. Also nitrogen that keeps on feeding a long time. Nitrogen to make the grain stool out, fill better, and develop large heads of plump kernels.

You also want smooth, uniform application. Because you don't want a pattern of hills and valleys in your wheat that can hurt yields and profits.

What nitrogen can do all that? Our nitrogen solution. URAN. URAN is nitrogen in its most useable form for guick uptake by the crop. Plus, URAN is two other forms of nitrogen for long-lasting feeding. And because URAN is a liquid, it goes on uniformly, for uniformly higher yields. You can even add herbicides to URAN and get two jobs done in one easy trip. Order URAN from us today. It's everything you need for topdressing wheat.

ANTHONY RE-ELECTED

GSPA Members Asked To Help Expand Markets

Grain sorghum producers from a five-state area laid groundwork for a $1 million membershipdrive to promote their crop during the annual meeting of Grain Sorghum Producers Association in Lubbock last week.

A.W. (Dub) Anthony, Jr. of Friona, president of the national commodity organization, pointed out that grain sorghum farmers spend only about $25,000 annually for overseas market development for a crop valued at nearly $2 billion. He said that 10 cents an acre, or a minimum $10 GSPA membership, would raise the necessary funds to continue and expand overseas markets.

Anthony added that until farmers accept the responsibility for promoting their own crop and educating potential customers, they cannot achieve their fair share of the nation's economy. "Just the price of a cup of coffee per acre will open new markets for the grain sorghum producer," he said.

His remarks followed an address by Hubert Dyke, vice president of the U.S. Feed Grains Council, during which grain sorghum farmers were warned not to become complacent in the light of growing overseas markets.

Even with a tripling of feed grain exports over the past 15 years to a current annual value of $5 billion, foreign markets cannot be developed and maintained without producer support, Dyke said.

"Now that one acre out of three goes into exports most of our farmers think they can produce fence to fence to the limit of their ability, and the overseas markets will keep on growing all by themselves," the USFGC executive

But Dyke cautioned that the present policy of full production without acreage limitations puts the farmer in the position of being just a bumper crop away from a price-depressing surplus.

During the afternoon business session, members re-elected the current executive committee members. They are Anthony, president; Mabry Foreman of Felt, Okla., first vice president; K.B. Parish of Springlake, Tex., secretary-treasurer; Melvin Barton of Dimmitt, Tex., John A. Smith of Cameron, Tex., Larry Abeldt of Hope, Kan. and J.L. Massey of Robstown, Tex., vice presidents.

In other business, GSPA members adopted several resolutions of policy for the coming year. In addition to the GSPA membership campaign, members voted also to: -Support legislation that would adequately fund a federal regulatory agency to assure complete confidence in the grain grading system

--Seek enabling legislation that would "allow producers of any commodity to join in a mark "inp program to help maintain the price of the commodity at the parity level while still providing a systematic flow into the market and not cause undue hardships on the general consumer.

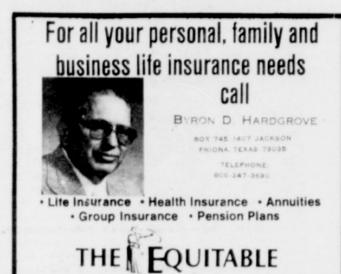

--Support legislation that would require the President to establish a government loan of 100 percent of parity on any commodity placed under export restriction.

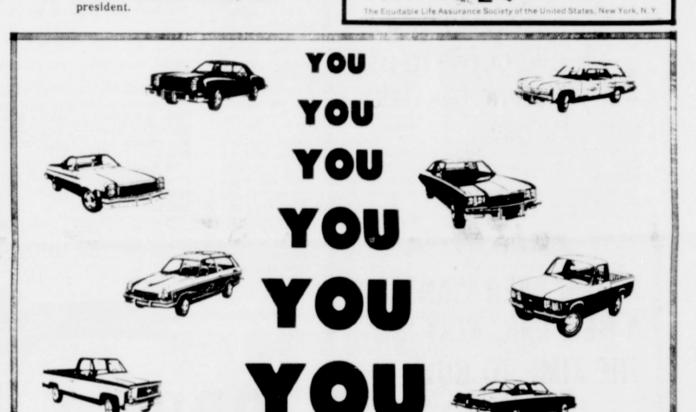

--Continue to work for legislation that would establish the commodity loan programs at levels equal to the national cost of production and target prices at a minimum of 90 percent of parity.

--Continue to work with state and federal agencies and private industry for adequate supplies of energy at justifiable prices in order to produce necessary food and fiber for domestic and export markets and to continue research toward development of new energy sources

NAME LEADERS A.W. (Dub) Anthony, Jr. of Friona, center, was re-elected president of Grain Sorghum Producers Association at the commodity organization's recent annual meeting in Lubbock. Anthony, a 30-year resident of the Parmer County area, produces grain sorghum, wheat and cotton, and raises feed cattle and steers. He has served GSPA for 14 years, eight years as its president. Other officers are, left to right, Melvin Barton of Dimmitt, vice president; J.L. Massey of Robstown, vice president; K.B. Friona Compiles Great Contest Record

By JAN U. TURNER Staff Writer

'You can't reach all of the students, but when you do when you see that spark," Benny Pryor flicked his fingers as though he was throwing out an imaginary spark 'that's what makes it worthwhile.' Vocational Ag students at Friona High have been sparking up since 1941, as evidenced by the impressive 226 blue and gold banners won in state and national contests, and which fill the walls of two large classrooms in the Ag building.

"I guess that's a long time to keep them hanging up there," Pryor said, walking into one of the rooms and looking around the room at the display of new and faded banners, "but these fellas come back for meetings here and look up there and smile and say, 'I helped put that one up there'." Pryor nodded with the accumulated pride of endeavor and said, "It's a pride thing. I know they are proud of those banners.'

'There's only one other town that I've been in the state of Texas that has as many banners as we have, and that's Fredricksburg, and they're as big as Friona.

Pryor, who has taught vocational agriculture at Friona High School since 1962, with one year at Colorado City, Texas and an additional nine years teaching at New Home, Texas, before coming to Friona, has been competing in FFA activities since boyhood. Raised on a farm at Leonard in East Texas, he was awarded the Lone Star Farmer Degree in 1944-45, the highest state award FFA gives for FFA work contingent on FFA activities and projects.

This year, eight Friona boys were recipients of the Lone Star Farmer Degree; highly unusual for a single chapter to receive this honor in such numbers since in the entire state of Texas no more than 500, or two per cent of the total membership, can obtain this high honor.

"Texas has over 50,000 FFA members, and is limited to one member per 1,000, or 50 out of the entire state, who can receive the Lone Star Farmer Degree," he explained.

'This year it was real unusual for one chapter to have so many receive that degree. Usually we average about three members each year. Other chapters average maybe one or two in five or six years.

"The boys who were awarded he Lone Star Farmer Degree this year are Bobby Zetzsche, Keith Pryor, Tim Boeckman, David Barnett, Jimmy Murphree, Kent Miller, Davy Carthel and Philip Schueler," Pryor said.

"I've had 71 students receive that degree since I've been teaching ... something like 50 here in Friona, he added. "Two of my Friona boys, Mike Riethmayer and Philip Johnson, were awarded the American Farmer Degree, which is on a national basis and only the National Association can award that degree.

"I like to win. I like to compete. I like to carry on a well-rounded program and I think my first responsibility is to teach. Frankly, I believe if you do a good job of teaching all these other things fall into place," Pryor said. "You may not win all the time, but at least you stand in place.

"It has been my good fortune to come into a situation where I could go on where someone else left off. You take sharp kids like we've got ... that's a reflection on the school, the community and the parents. I've been fortunate to work with outstanding young people ... they just don't come any better, I guarantee.

FFA competition is active during the entire school year; Leadership competition is in the fall, and Judging competition is in the spring. Friona, which is very strong in Leadership, faces tougher competition in Judging because of its per cent basis qualification.

'To qualify for the judging contest on the state level, you must place at the top ten per cent," Pryor said. "Sometimes you are competing against 150 teams or more, or in lesser contests such as cotton judging, 25 teams. So we will train a team in four or five of each of these areas and the best we've ever done is third in the state in livestock judging," Pryor commented.

The Leadership competition is a whole different ballgame. For one thing, it is judged on a first place basis rather than a per cent basis as in the judging competition, and is done on the District, Area and State basis, each requiring that the hosted for the 31st consecutive year by Parmer County Implement Company, which served the members and their dads with a barbecue meal with all the trimmings.

Pryor said, "so I know we've only twice that I know of. Those times we only went as far as area level. Abernathy, our rivals, beat us and went on to the state level." "We compete on all school classifications from Class B to Class AAAA....Friona is AA, classed according to enrollment," he said. "I think our size is the better size because I think you're large enough to provide learning areas that you can't in a smaller school, but you're not so large that you lose personal contact with the student and the parents."

Pryor emphasized, "You've got to have that personal contact with the students and the parents to really have effective teaching."

He said that this year there are 70 enrolled in the vocational ag program. "It fluctuates. Sometimes we have as high as 105. Once it went as low as 63 or 64.

Courses offered in vocational ag include animal science, plant science, soil science, leadership, a supervised experience program, agricultural mechanics, agricultural management, agriculture business and pre-employment feedlot management.

"In addition, we work about 4000 cattle all fall in preparation for wheat pasture and do all that is necessary such as treatment for disease, building equipment such as a trailer, loading chute, and so forth," Pryor explained.

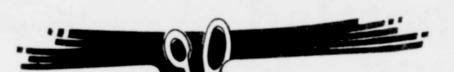

"We've been pruning trees as a community service," he added, "and we'll do some surveying, mainly finding high spots for irrigation purposes and establishing irrigation lines."

Pryor, who is on the State Board of Directors of the Texas Agriculture Teachers Association, said, "We take pride in that we have 1500 agriculture teachers in the state of Texas, and pride in a 98-99 per cent membership in the organization.'

'Texas has a real strong association and is very respected all over the United States. It is a real honor to be on the Board of Directors," he commented. Asked about other organization affiliations in association with FFA, Pryor fished out his billfold to aid his memory, saying, "Let's see I belong to the National Vocational Ag Teachers Association, the American Vocational Association, the National Vocational Association, the Texas Vocational Teachers Association, Texas State Teachers Association, Texas Classrooms Teachers Association.

"I belong to everything the National Educational Association. ...gosh, my dues are something else. I have to nearly float a loan to pay my dues every year, but I think if you're going to be professional and (Continued on Page 15)

Farm Reps To Testify On Natural Gas Rates

(From The Hereford Brand)

Two area farm representatives will be in Washington soon to testify before a House subcommittee investigating natural gas rates.

Carl King of Dimmitt, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, and Ray Joe Riley of the Springlake-Earth area, president of the Texas Lamb Feeders Association and past president of the Plains Cotton Growers Inc. have been called to testify.

A number of Friona-area farmers are members of the TCGA. Both men had been scheduled to testify last week, but are now awaiting word from Washington after the hearings were postponed.

The Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce will conduct the hearings when they are again initiated.

The call for testimony on the part of the two local men came following a recent meeting of irrigation farmers in Dimmitt with John R. Galloway, a special assistant to the House subcommittee, who was gathering cost figures and rate data for use in the subcommittee's investigation.

Gas users and representatives from five commodity groups informed Galloway at the meeting that irrigation farming is becoming unprofitable due to the rapidly spiraling cost of natural gas for irrigation fuel.

Among those meeting in Dimmitt with Galloway were John Aikin of Hereford, attorney for the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association; Bruce Parr of Friona, director of the PIGUA; Bruce Rigler of Plainview, vice president of the PIGUA; Glenn Odom of Dimmitt, vice president of the Texas Corn Growers Association; Garry Love of Dimmitt, secretary-treasurer of the TCGA; S.L. Garrison of Easter, vice president of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association; and John Gelbreath, director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Cost of production figures for various crops were presented to Galloway at the meeting. The irrigation farmers stressed to Galloway at the Dimmitt meeting that rates for gas produced in Texas and used by Texas farmers are unregulated, while interstate gas is sold under regulated price structures.

The problems of interstate and intrastate gas rates in view of the nationwide energy shortage and effects the varying rates have on users throughout the country has been under study by the subcommittee.

Although King and Riley were originally scheduled to testify March 10, Galloway informed them that scheduling problems had forced postponement of their testimony, which has not been rescheduled as of yet. Area farmers had already taken steps in mid-February to make their problems concerning high irrigation gas prices known when they met with 19th Congressional District Representative George Mahon at a specially called meeting in Dimmitt.

At that time, Leo Witkowski of Hereford, representing the Texas Wheat Producers Association, commented on the high cost of gas for irrigation fuel, saying, "If the cost of gas for irrigation continues to rise, only about a third of the producers who grow wheat under irrigation will be able to continue to do so, and then only in the most shallow water areas. The cost-price squeeze is going to force wheat farmers out of business."

Spokesmen from several other commodity groups echoed similar opinions on the matter during the February meeting.

Utilizing his own farm near Dimmitt as an example during the recent meeting with Galloway, King indicated that his irrigation gas rate was up 371/2 per cent during the past year from 95 cents per thousand cubic feet during 1975 to a current rate of $1.31 per thousand cubic feet.

He has also served as membership chairman of the district and area association for over six years.
