Terrorists Raid Prison, Grab Jet

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Leftist terrorists raided a prison in southern Argentina Tuesday night, killed two guards and seriously wounded a third, freed 25 guerrillas and then hijacked a jetliner that carried six of the escapees to Chile along with 96 passengers and crewmen.

Interior Minister Arturo Mor Roig said some 800 inmates seized control of the prison after the break and were holding an undetermined number of guards hostage. The jail was surrounded by police and soldiers, he reported, and negotiations were under way to get the prisoners to give up.

SIX WOMEN

The Argentine airliner landed safely in Santiago, the Chilean capital, and the hijackers surrendered early today. Chilean officials said their Marxist president, Salvador Allende, told President Alejandro Lanusse of Argentina by telephone that international law would be respected. But radicals among Allende's supporters were expected to pressure him to grant the hijackers asylum.

Meanwhile, 19 other guerrillas and escapees, including six women, surrendered without a fight early today in the airport terminal at Trelew, where the hijacking took place.

They held eight airport employees hostage but gave up as soldiers with heavy weapons surrounded the building and threatened to open fire.

The break occurred at the Rawson penal colony, on the outskirts of a small coastal town of that name some 600 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Sources in Buenos Aires said the raid was carried out by guerrillas dressed in olive drab army uniforms and armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols.

SEIZE CONTROL

The prison chaplain told newsmen by telephone that there was no shooting until the guerrillas and their selected escapees approached the main entrance and began firing at guards there.

In the confusion, other inmates seized control of the prison and took a number of officers and guards hostage.

The interior minister said all the escapees on the hijacked plane were leaders of the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army, or ERP. Among them was the group's principal leader, Mario Santucho.

The prison break was pulled about an hour before the Australian Air Line's plane was due to land at the Trelew on its way to Buenos Aires. A group of terrorists seized the terminal and waited as the escapees and their guerrilla escorts raced for the airport.

When the BACIL jet with 90 passengers and a crew of six taxied to a halt, terrorists brandishing machine guns, grenades and pistols forced their way aboard.

DISPLAYS BOMB — Ramsey Clark, former Attorney General who recently returned from a visit in North Vietnam, displays a plastic bomb at the witness table today during testimony before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee in Washington. Clark told the senators he was given the bomb in Hanoi and described it as one of the types being dropped by U.S. planes.

Tyler Murder Counts Filed

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Peace officers arrested a Tyler laborer today and charged him with murder in the fatal beatings of a couple in their farm home near Lindale.

Neighbors found the bodies of Sam Lott, 75, so crippled he spent most of his time in a wheel chair, and his wife Gladys, 59, Tuesday morning.

Acting on a tip to constable Bill Grady, sheriff's officers went to the home of Calvin Hagler, about 27, and took him into custody about 12:30 a.m.

Sheriff Harlan Long said Hagler signed a statement admitting he had been at the Lotts' place and beat them in an effort to obtain money—but insisting he did not know they were dead.

BY OWNER OF RAIDED THEATER City, County Officials Are Sued For $450,000

JACK BURT KIRK

Jack Burt Kirk, owner of the Mini Flick Theater, said he will sue city and county officials for $450,000 for the raid on his theater two weeks ago.

Fall Festival May Launch Church Building Program

Postponed from last weekend due to inclement weather conditions, the Sacred Heart Catholic Church will stage its annual Fall Festival starting Saturday and continuing through Sunday.

Parishoners in the church, located at 508 North Aylford, hope to launch a new building program with the festival. Much depends on how much money is realized from the festival, however.

A number of prizes will be given away as a climax to the festival, among them a new automobile.

Members will operate a number of booths over the weekend at the Youth Center and all profits go into the building fund, which officials hope will

"The only way that the Mini Flick will close is by action of the courts," Kirk reiterated.

Kirk said he believes that the raid on his theater two weeks ago was illegally designed and executed. "The authorities behind the action taken against my business have violated the constitutional civil rights and state and federal laws. I feel that the manner of the 'bust' at the Mini Flick totally disregarded respect for the citizenry," he said.

"It was at least an unlawful act by law enforcement groups," he added.

Kirk doubted the need for confiscation of his projection equipment. "I would also like to know why two of my eight millimeter projectors were confiscated as obscene matter when you can buy them across the counter at any camera shop or department store in the United States," he stated.

Kicking Up Political Storm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said today the continued U.S. bombing of North Vietnam will insure that American prisoners of war will not be released.

Clark who recently returned from a two-week trip to North Vietnam said, "My impression is the chances of their releasing American pilots while there is American bombing is nil except as a symbolic thing."

He added that North Vietnamese leaders with whom he spoke appeared surprised when asked if they would release the prisoners after the war is ended. Their surprise seemed to say what reason would they have for keeping them, Clark said.

Appearing before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee exploring the problem of war refugees throughout Indochina, Clark also described destruction of dikes and sluices, schools, hospitals and civilian areas.

He conceded he is not a military man but said the damage to dikes and sluices which he witnessed in his tour of North Vietnam seemed to indicate that the bombing was deliberate.

He added that he never saw anti-aircraft of SAM missile emplacements on the dikes. Nor were they used to store fuel and war materiel, he said.

LINK NIXON TO BREAK-IN?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says he can prove that party offices actually were bugged, and his lawyer intends to question seven top Republicans about it.

O'Brien, who was chairman at the time of a break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters, told a news conference Tuesday he has new evidence to prove that eavesdropping devices actually were installed for a time.

Meanwhile, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern accused President Nixon of at least indirect responsibility for the incident.

"What is to prevent an administration that cooperates with that kind of thing from wiretapping your house, or your union hall, or something else they want to get?" McGovern told a labor rally in Lordstown, Ohio.

The White House declined comment on McGovern's statement. One of those arrested was James W. McCord, security chief for the Nixon campaign committee.

Bugging devices were confiscated at the time of the arrest.

Few Voices Of Dissent Jar Platform Committee

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A few voices of dissent today jarred generally placid hearings of the Republican Platform Committee as GOP liberals called for an unqualified pullout from Vietnam, busing to aid desegregation and the legalized use of marijuana.

The proposals were offered by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York and supported by a handful of other witnesses. The 100-member committee seemed certain to spurn them in drafting a platform to the liking of President Nixon for next week's GOP convention.

WOMEN'S LIB

The voices of 75 prominent Republican women, including U.N. delegate Shirley Temple Black, also were heard. They issued a statement late Tuesday demanding "more positions for women at every level of our party" and a strong women's rights plank.

Javits told platform drafters he would not offer a formal Southeast Asia plank, "knowing well the position of the President on Vietnam," but he declared:

"I believe the time has come to terminate completely our active commitment to this war and to end all U.S. participation in it. It is time that the South Vietnamese carried on the war themselves and that we withdraw without qualifications."

Javits urged the platform writers to "support the efforts of the courts to eliminate de jure (legally prescribed) segregation of the schools, including where necessary and reasonable, the remedy of busing."

NECESSARY

Johnson To Support McGovern

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, in an unusual personal political statement, said today he will support Sen. George McGovern, and all Democratic nominees in November.

The statement by the former president was delivered first to the two weekly newspapers in Fredericksburg, the Fredericksburg Standard and the Fredericksburg Radio-Post. Fredericksburg is 16 miles west of the LBJ Ranch where Johnson now spends his retirement.

'INVITATION'

"I believe the Democratic Party best serves the needs of the people. Therefore I intend to support the 1972 Democratic ticket," said Johnson's statement.

"I shall vote for George McGovern and Sargent Shriver for president and vice president of the United States.

"I shall vote for Dolph Briscoe and Baretford Sanders for governor of Texas and for United States senator and all the nominees of the Democratic party."

Johnson's statement came just prior to the announcement visit next Tuesday of McGovern to the LBJ Ranch. McGovern's aides stressed last week that the presidential nominee was making the visit in response to an "invitation" from Johnson.

Sniper Surrenders

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A young man with a pistol climbed atop the superstructure of the Memphis-Arkansas Bridge early today and authorities said he fired on at least two persons before surrendering 3½ hours later. No one was injured.

Police identified him as Talton Lane of Olive Branch, Miss. He was taken in a police cruiser to John Gaston Hospital after taking 10 minutes to climb down a side beam of the bridge.

The incident apparently resulted from personal problems, police said.

The man will not be charged, police said, pending psychiatric tests. They did not elaborate.

A woman, identified by police as the man's wife, coaxed Lang down. Acquaintances of the man, however, said he had been divorced recently. "You've got a lot to live for. You've got two kids at home," she told him by a bullhorn as he listened from the highest point of the bridge.

Traffic across the Mississippi River had been halted for all but about 10 minutes of the incident, creating a bottleneck since the bridge — Interstate 55 — is the only direct highway route from Memphis to Arkansas across the river.

The gunman — wearing a green shirt, white shorts and with long hair — threw his pistol in the river shortly before coming down. Prior to that, he walked the length and breadth of the bridge on its beams, occasionally yelling at the crowd to "go away."

He tried to conceal himself only when spotlights from a helicopter or towboats in the river were shined on him.

WEBB NCO FOUND DEAD IN DORM

Sgt. Andrew Zeronis, 42, 2050th Comm. Sq., was found dead in his dormitory room at Webb AFB late Tuesday afternoon.

Webb hospital personnel pronounced him dead at the scene. Preliminary examination showed death occurred due to natural causes. However, an autopsy will be performed, base officials stated.

Sgt. Zeronis was assigned to duty with the base switchboard section. He was due to retire Sept. 30 and had been at Webb since January.

Sgt. Zeronis is survived by a daughter, Susan Zeronis, of Carnegie, Pa., and a brother, Edward Zeronis, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

National Museum of History and Technology, appear today before the Platform Committee of the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach.

Much Of Milk On Sale Here Produced In Area

By MARJ CARPENTER
Where are the cows which provide milk for Big Spring citizens?

Surprisingly, some of the animals are not too far away and even include some from Howard County.

The four milk distribution companies in Howard County bring their milk from processing plants in Midland, San Angelo, Abilene and Fort Worth.

At least two of the companies use West Texas milk for processing and one of the four obtains part of its supply from two Big Spring dairies.

Somehow, users of milk always envision their cows as far away in green pastures. But in today's world, many of them are actually in West Texas feedlots.

Borden's, one of the area's largest distributors, has a processing plant in Midland which serves the Odessa-Midland-Big Spring area.

MANY SUPPLIERS
They bring milk in for processing in refrigerated tank trucks from Dalton White Dairy in Big Spring, Dick Benton's in Big Spring, Luther Cope in Andrews, O.R. Glenn in Stanton, J.R. Long and Roy Ray in Midland and from the large Mitchell Dairy near Pease.

According to J.D. McCarty, general manager of the processing plant in Midland, all of the milk distributed in this area comes from within a 130 mile radius of Midland, "much to everyone's surprise."

McCarty added "We sell a lot of milk in Big Spring. Foremost Dairy has its processing plant in Abilene and obtains its milk from American Milk Producers Inc., according to Bobby Hambrick, local route man.

"Our milk also comes from the West Texas area with some of it from around Big Spring and Abilene and a large portion of it from around Dublin," Hambrick added. Foremost also distributes a lot of milk in Howard County."

Foremost is processed in Abilene and brought to Big Spring ready for the market.

IN SAN ANGELO
Gandy's has its processing plant in San Angelo, according to Buddy Calhoun, local manager. Another large distributor, it sells about $85,000 worth of milk a month in Howard County at retail and wholesale outlets.

Gandy's now has most of its own dairies, many of which are in East Texas. Its milk is also brought in by refrigerated tank trucks in carriers that resemble oil tank trucks to San Angelo for processing.

All three, Borden's, Foremost and Gandy, sell both wholesale and retail in the county.

Marigold Dairies distributes milk in gallon plastic jugs in Howard County.

Jewell Fortenberry, local distributor, states that Marigold milk is brought in the jugs from Fort Worth where it is processed. The firm is believed to obtain part of its milk from the Lubbock area.

That quart of milk on the doorstep is big business in Howard County and West Texas. The cows of cow in the barn to cook in the kitchen have changed to cows in the feed lot to tank truck to processor to distributor. Nobody is sure about the cows but the distributors are contented.

Teachers Go Back To Work

Vacation is over for around 400 teachers and staff members in the Big Spring schools who gathered this morning at the high school auditorium for the first day of their inservice workshop which precedes the opening of school next Tuesday.

Supt. S. M. Anderson presided at the first general session Wednesday morning, followed by music provided by the Golden Horns, a stage band directed by Kyle Ellison, and an invocation and devotional by M. Ralph Williams, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ.

DeInor W. Poss, secretary of the board of education, brought official greetings, along with Jim Holmes, president of the district for the Texas State Teachers Association, Mrs. Vivien Buckner, president of the local unit of TSTA and Mrs. Jean Wilder, president of the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association.

The address of the superintendent was "The Two Sides of the Coin." Don Partridge, director of the department of special education agency in Austin, spoke to the group on "Forces at Work in Delabeling and Supporting Exceptional Children."

The main talk this afternoon was by Floyd W. Parsons, former superintendent in the Big Spring schools.

The afternoon session dealt with insurance business and ended with a TSTA and CTA business session.

Tuesday's workshop requires the first-third grade teachers to report to the high school cafeteria, the fourth-sixth in rooms 117-119 at the high school and all secondary teachers to meet with their building principals.

High school teachers report to the auditorium, Goliad teachers to the library and Runnels at the cafeteria. All elementary teachers report back to the high school auditorium at 3 p.m. for the Hallmark Kaleidoscope program. Library aides meet at Moss library during the day.

Services Today For Gary Ward

Services for Gary Don Ward, 15, are 3 p.m., today in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Officiating will be Rev. Roy Honea of the Grace Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Charles Hedges, also of Grace Baptist. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Gary Don was killed in a car wreck near Lampasas Monday.

Palbearers will be Johnny McCasland, Mark Hedges, Phillip Medlin, Johnathan Honea, Kenny Greene, Larry Ferguson, Ducky Robertson, Charles Kolb.

School Tax Down At Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater School Board Monday night approved on final reading a five-cent reduction in the school tax rate.

The tax rate was reduced from $1.80 per $100 valuation, based on 60 per cent of true value, to $1.75 on the base.

Supt. Drennon Daves said the decrease in the tax rate was made possible by an increase in valuation in the school district. He said a mass reappraisal of the county, city and school conducted over the past eight months resulted in the increase in valuation.

Mercer Is Named To Chamber Post

Ron Mercer, Big Spring manager, was elected as a director of the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association of West Texas at the conclusion of its annual convention in Sweetwater Tuesday.

Gerrison Odessa was elected president, Bud Byars of Mineral Wells was chosen as vice president and Raymond Beck of Brownwood was elected secretary-treasurer. Other area directors named were Gene Abbott of Cisco and Roy Williams of Ballinger.

Book Binding Is Deftly Done By Texas Twosome

Book binding is an art, and keeping county records correctly bonded and indexed is a business to Mrs. J. W. Dolly and C. H. Coulthart.

These two are in the Howard County courthouse this week in the county clerk's office binding and indexing some of the records.

Employees in clerks' offices used to dread the arrival of book binders because they used to bring boards, canvas for sewing and a glue pot which was heated up and smelled up one end of the building.

But those days are gone forever. This pair of workers from the J. W. Dolly Co. of Buchanan Dam, Texas have been in the business a long time.

In fact, the late J. W. Dolly bound some of the Howard County records back in 1935 according to the markings on the books.

The duo does as much work as they can before arrival. For instance, they brought several sets of index tabs all ready to put in books in the clerk's office which have completely lost any tabs originally placed there.

They were also in the process of taking some of the very old records and sealing each page in plastic so that the pages will be preserved.

The company has developed a method of adding a special paper to extend each page and then place the book back into a loose-leaf form, rather than attempting to sew the pages back together, when the old paper tears loose at each stitch.

Coulthart remarked that some of the older handwriting in public records is really ornate and beautiful and that some of the other handwriting is completely illegible. "But our concern is to keep the records in shape so that they can be read," he added.

The pair of workers travels close to 45 or 50 counties per year in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma — an average of one a week. They were to spend about two days in Big Spring this trip before traveling over into New Mexico.

Representatives of the Dolly Company have now been coming to Howard County every few years for close to 40 years.

Galveston Bay Faces Death Unless Limits Put On Boom

HOUSTON (AP) — Unless Houston stops its policy of encouraging a boomtown-like growth, Galveston Bay will die, a report by an environmental group says.

"In not too many years, it (the bay) will be clogged with silt and heavy with nutrients," the 18-month study by the Conservation Foundation says. "The marine life will suffocate, and what remains will be a stinking cesspool, issuing its putrefaction into the Gulf of Mexico."

HARD CHOICES
The foundation, a non-profit organization here which studies environmental and educational problems, previewed the findings of its 150-page study of Galveston Bay in its monthly newsletter Tuesday. The complete report will be released soon.

The report says the people of Houston must make some hard choices about growth. "There are limits to the rate of growth that the natural system can sustain."

Pollution control has been all talk and little action around Galveston Bay, the foundation said.

"What the people of Texas are getting in Galveston Bay is the form of pollution control, but not the substance."

Texas has had strong water pollution laws on the books for years, the report said, but the Texas Water Quality Board has not made polluters live up to them. It estimated that 44 per cent of the discharge along the Houston Ship Channel, which flows into the bay, are "apparently in clear violation of permits specification," yet the state agency rarely goes to court.

REAL EFFORT
The problem has been compounded, the foundation said, because the federal government has in the past relied on the state to enforce pollution laws. It was not until a pollution enforcement conference in 1971 that the federal government made a real effort to correct pollution problems in the bay, it said.

The report attributed federal inertia to "timidity...in pursuing pollution controls which threaten major economic dislocations and political repercussions."

While the federal-state goals growing out of the 1971 enforcement conference have enormous implications, the foundation said, the state may again be "going along with the form of the federal program, but short-circuiting its implementation."

Several area gins will receive a safety award from the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association at Big Spring Aug. 23 for nine consecutive years of operation without a lost-time injury. The award will be presented at the annual meeting of area ginners.

Other gins in the area to receive awards for outstanding safety records ranging from six years to one year are: Playmaster Gin, Garden City; Planters Gin, Big Spring; Planters Gin, Tarzan; Planters Gin, Westbrook; Fluvanna Agricultural Co-op Gin, Fluvanna; Midkiff Gin, Midkiff; and Paymaster Gin, Snyder; Midland Garners Cooperative Gin, Midland.

Edward Lujan Sherman, 22, 402 N. Aylford, was ultimately arrested at 12:20 p.m. at the intersection of Third St. and Scurry St. in connection with the theft.

Police reported that he had no vacuum cleaners in his possession. Investigation proved they had been abandoned behind the Goodyear store.

A warrant for his arrest was issued by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter charging Sherman with theft over $50.

He awaits transfer to county jail and bonding while under investigation in custody of city police.

W. A. Majors, Ray Roberts and C. C. Cunningham were appointed to the activities committee.

Refreshments were served to 14 members. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. next Monday in the I.O.O.F. hall at Ninth and San Antonio.

Gladye Mae Smith, 609 San Antonio, reported the burglary of her residence. Taken were mismatched dishes and cooking utensils, valued at $8.

stinking cesspool, issuing its putrefaction into the Gulf of Mexico."

HARD CHOICES
The foundation, a non-profit organization here which studies environmental and educational problems, previewed the findings of its 150-page study of Galveston Bay in its monthly newsletter Tuesday. The complete report will be released soon.

The report says the people of Houston must make some hard choices about growth. "There are limits to the rate of growth that the natural system can sustain."

Pollution control has been all talk and little action around Galveston Bay, the foundation said.

"What the people of Texas are getting in Galveston Bay is the form of pollution control, but not the substance."

Texas has had strong water pollution laws on the books for years, the report said, but the Texas Water Quality Board has not made polluters live up to them. It estimated that 44 per cent of the discharge along the Houston Ship Channel, which flows into the bay, are "apparently in clear violation of permits specification," yet the state agency rarely goes to court.

REAL EFFORT
The problem has been compounded, the foundation said, because the federal government has in the past relied on the state to enforce pollution laws. It was not until a pollution enforcement conference in 1971 that the federal government made a real effort to correct pollution problems in the bay, it said.

The report attributed federal inertia to "timidity...in pursuing pollution controls which threaten major economic dislocations and political repercussions."

While the federal-state goals growing out of the 1971 enforcement conference have enormous implications, the foundation said, the state may again be "going along with the form of the federal program, but short-circuiting its implementation."

Several area gins will receive a safety award from the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association at Big Spring Aug. 23 for nine consecutive years of operation without a lost-time injury. The award will be presented at the annual meeting of area ginners.

Other gins in the area to receive awards for outstanding safety records ranging from six years to one year are: Playmaster Gin, Garden City; Planters Gin, Big Spring; Planters Gin, Tarzan; Planters Gin, Westbrook; Fluvanna Agricultural Co-op Gin, Fluvanna; Midkiff Gin, Midkiff; and Paymaster Gin, Snyder; Midland Garners Cooperative Gin, Midland.

Peggy Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Irwin, is among those due to leave today from Hardin-Simmons University in a car caravan for the Goretta, N.M., Baptist Conference. Peggy, a junior at H-SU, will take part in the Student Week activities which will attract 2,000 college students from over the nation.

ATTENDING THE MEETING
The meeting was in Midland at 6:30 Tuesday evening in Johnny's Barbecue.

The program consisted of a slide-show presented by the City of Midland's resident engineer, Kenneth Jones, depicting progress and pertinent points of the construction of Midland's new sewage treatment plant.

Attending the meeting from Big Spring's Water and Sewer Department were Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilkerson, Ralph Thorp, Jim Suggs, Eugene Smith, M. C. Cervantes and Tommy Carstensen.

Refreshments were served to 14 members. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. next Monday in the I.O.O.F. hall at Ninth and San Antonio.

Webb Chapel Scene Of Nuptial Ceremony

MRS. MICHAEL GENE SINGLETON

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cheron Lynn Billeck of Midland and Pvt. Michael Gene Singleton of Seminole at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Webb Air Force Base chapel.

Chaplain Kenneth D. Summy performed the rites while the couple stood at an altar adorned with greenery and flanked by candles.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Singleton of Seminole and Mr. and Mrs. George Billeck of Coahoma.

Miss Dianla Solari of Midland, organist, provided a prelude of traditional wedding music. Miss Kelly Lowe of Midland was soloist.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned in white satin. White lace accented the bodice, forming the high collar, and edged the long sleeves. A floor-length train attached at an empire waistline. Her elbow-length veil was held with a band of lace flowers centered with a tear drop pearl, and she carried a cascade of white carnations.

Mrs. Gary Wilkerson, matron of honor, wore a turquoise street-length dress with a matching coat. The dress featured an A-line skirt, long bell sleeves and a round neckline. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Mrs. Wilkerson served as best man, and Charles Billeck, brother of the bride, was usher. The couple will reside at Fort Hood where Singleton is assigned with the Army. He previously attended Kilgore Junior College in Kilgore. The bride is a graduate of Borden High School.

A reception honored the couple in the First Federal Community Room following the ceremony. A white lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with an arrangement of assorted summer flowers. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal appointments were used. Serving were Miss Kelly Lowe and Miss Tracy Lowe.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McKee and Mrs. Dorris Brown, all of Hobbs, N.M.; Mrs. Estelle Young, Lockhart; Mrs. Bill Sanders, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Max Singleton, Longview; and Mrs. Lance Crist, the bride's sister, Ulysses, Kan.

Miss Massey, Fiance Are Honored At Parties

Several pre-nuptial events have honored Miss Linda Massey, bride-elect of Elmer Johnson.

The first was a couples shower in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Miss Massey was presented a corsage of pink and white carnations, and the prospective bridegroom received a carnation boutonniere. Corsages and boutonnieres were also given to the couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Massey and Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnson.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white lace cloth and appointed with crystal. There were 14 people in the host group. Another shower honored the bride-elect in the home of Mrs. Robert Cook, 500 E. 15th. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. J. W. Purser and Mrs. Vernon Baird.

The honoree wore a blue and white dress and was presented a corsage of pink carnations, as was her mother and Johnson's mother.

An arrangement of pink and white carnations and candles entered the serving table which was laid with a white lace cloth. Crystal appointments were used.

The most recent event honoring Miss Massey was a "spice and rice" party Monday in the home of Mrs. James Baird. Other hostesses were Mrs. S. L. Anderson and Mrs. Leonard Burks.

Corsages of white carnellas were given to the honoree and the two mothers. Guests made rice bags to be used at the wedding ceremony.

Miss Massey and Johnson will be married Saturday afternoon at North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church.

Lyndel Fletcher To Be Featured In 'Who's Who'

Lyndel Fletcher, a graduate of Forsan High School, will be featured in the 1971-72 edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, a national publication. Students from over 18,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized in the book for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service. Less than 1.5 per cent of the junior and senior students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

Lyndel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Fletcher, Sterling City Route, was active in UIL events including debate, pro interpretation, science, slide rule and number sense. He was a member of the science and math clubs, as well as Future Teachers of America. He placed third and first chair trumpet in region band his junior and senior years respectively, placed in solo and ensemble contests for four years and has been cited as an outstanding concert band member.

He was captain of the Forsan Buffalo Band, placed fourth in state UIL slide rule competition and was selected for the West Texas All Star Band. In addition to being featured in the book he will compete for one of 10 $1,000 scholarship awards funded by the publishers. He plans to major in music education at West Texas State University, Canyon.

Comanche LGA Holds Luncheon

The play schedule for a "traveling golf club" was announced during Wednesday's monthly covered dish luncheon and business meeting for members of the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association. The group met in the club house at the municipal golf course.

Mrs. Ted Gross, president, said the traveling golfers will play Tuesday at the Webb AFB course, with Webb women golfers being the host group. Players represent the three clubs in Big Spring as well as those in Lamesa, Snyder, Stanton and Big Lake. Coffee and donuts will be served at 8:30 a.m., with tee-off time being 9 a.m.

The next Comanche Trail LGA meeting and luncheon will be Sept. 19.

Reception Set For Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Vaughn, 1805 N. Monticello, will be honored Thursday with a reception in the fellowship hall of the First Church of the Nazarene. The occasion will be the celebration of the couple's 25th wedding anniversary. Calling hours will be from 7 to 9 p.m.

Hosting the affair will be their children, Charles Briggs and Mrs. Darrell Pollock, and in attendance will be the Vaughn's grandchildren, Natasha Pollock, Elizabeth Pollock and Charlie Pollock.

Mrs. Vaughn is the former Lazell Lovvorn Briggs, a native of Big Spring, and Vaughn came here from Abilene. The couple was married here in 1947 in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hall Sr.

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn are invited to attend the reception.

Eagles Auxiliary Gains Members

Mrs. Eva G. White and Mrs. Billie J. Hill were initiated as members of Eagles Auxiliary No. 3188, Monday evening at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. James Dalton presided, and plans for the zone conference scheduled March 3-4 in Big Spring were discussed. The next regular meeting is at 8 p.m., Aug. 28 in the hotel.

Soil Makers Examine Solution To Pollution

Films concerning water and air pollution were shown by Dr. Paul Koshi for members of Organic Soil Makers Monday evening at the U.S. Experiment Station.

The films illustrated what industries and individuals are doing to clean up air and water. Pictures of clear streams and lakes were shown, followed by scenes of waterways that had been polluted by industrial waste. Both Midland and Lubbock were mentioned as cities that are recycling their water for irrigation use.

The film concerning air pollution showed methods being taken by industries to eliminate harmful vapors going into the air from smokestacks. It also urged individuals to take precautions against pollution by having adjustments made to their cars which minimize exhaust fumes.

According to the films, every city has individual conditions that contribute to its pollution. Cities surrounded by mountains are more apt to have pollution problems because the air can't escape. Altitude and the presence of water also affect the amount of pollution.

Weather is a determining factor in several cities' pollution problems. A common phenomenon is London, Los Angeles, and cities along the eastern coast of the U.S. is to have air trapped between a layer of warm air and a layer of cool air, which causes smog.

Mrs. Jan Huff presided and announced a board of directors meeting at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 31 in the home of Mrs. J. D. Leonard, 2310 Roberts.

M. B. McFall displayed several organically-grown vegetables from his garden. They included a kohlrabi, from the cabbage family with large, fleshy turnip-shaped edible stems; a comfrey, from the borage family which is a blue-flowered herb used medicinally in salads; white and yellow tomatoes that contain less acid than red tomatoes; eggplant wild fennel and dillweed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leonard. The next meeting is at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 11 in the Experiment Station.

Pro-Tem Officers Serve Auxiliary

Serving as pro-tem officers for the Tuesday evening meeting of the BPO Does at the Elks Hall were Mrs. Alma George, Mrs. Kay Williams and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins. Mrs. Robert Boadle presided. It was announced that two members, Mrs. Dan Mooney and Mrs. A. N. Rutherford are hospitalized in San Antonio and Lubbock, respectively. The next meeting is at 8 p.m., Sept. 5 at the Elks Hall.

4-H'ers Hear Of Record Books

Annette Couch and Darla Buchanan demonstrated the compiling of 4-H record books for Gay Hill 4-H Club Monday evening in the Bethel Baptist Church annex. Miss Buchanan presided, and Sid Westbrook led the pledge to the flag. The 4-H club motto was given by Tommy Wagner. Refreshments were served. The next meeting is at 8:30 p.m., Sept. 11 in the church annex.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Sherry Morgan, bride-elect of Billy Yesek of Breman, was honored Monday evening with a bridal shower in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Hostesses were Mrs. Ronnie Raney, Mrs. Chuck Myers and Mrs. Dorothy Thompson.

The honoree, attired in a blue two-piece dress, was presented a corsage of white carnations as were her mother, Mrs. Jim King, and her grandmothers, Mrs. Audie Hatten and Mrs. Jewel Snodgrass.

The guests were registered at a table laid with a gold velvet cloth, and refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cloth and accented with a bridal centerpiece. Appointments were of crystal and silver.

Miss Morgan and her fiance will be married Sept. 2 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Amtrak Encouraging

Perhaps there is hope for the passenger train in America after all. Amtrak, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., which took over the passenger trains last year, showed a deficit of $11 million for its first 12 months of operation. But the predicted deficit was for $154 million, so that's some progress.

The only consistent profit-making run was in the heavily populated Eastern corridor from New York to Washington which often runs at 95 per cent capacity.

But Amtrak, according to its president, Roger Lewis, has halted the decline in passenger traffic and turned the trend upward. Amtrak carried more than 15.5 million people in its first year and "ridership," as Amtrak calls it, is up substantially this summer.

The increase in passengers was present on a recent Amtrak trip from San Antonio to New Orleans. The train, coming from California, was almost full going to New Orleans and more than half-occupied returning. The equipment was old but the service was good.

Some day, the idea of rail passenger service may be extended further to less populated centers via something like the rail bus.

If Amtrak can continue to reverse the trend and give travelers another good choice, the passenger train may be saved from the limbo to which the private auto and railroad indifference almost consigned it. It is worth saving.

No Point Of Holiday

The Senate's decision to make federal election day a national holiday is a faulty one.

In the first place, no one needs a whole day to cast his vote. An hour or two at most is needed. Polls are open 12 hours a day and those who want to vote have no problem. Absentee voting further eases any difficulties.

Second, many people might regard a holiday as just that, and take off for a rest instead of voting.

And productivity would suffer with another full lost day.

The Senate decision was attached to a bill financing the National Bicentennial Commission and now goes to a conference with the House. The House should refuse to concur and kill the voting holiday amendment.

Reverse Progress

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen notes that "every day I become more disturbed by continuing reports to my office that the quality of mail service in Texas is deteriorating rapidly. And the same thing seems to be true in other parts of the country."

WELCOME TO the lodge, Senator! This also has occurred to us and to just about everyone we know. Once in awhile we get reassuring news like a news release from the United Postal Service that a recent test showed that airmail reaches its destination within 24 hours within a 600-mile radius 95 per cent of the time. That's not such a much; it ought to go anywhere within the United States in that space of time.

ANYHOW, THAT'S not what's worrying most of us. It's the problem of getting mail across the county or to neighboring cities. Time was when this was no problem at all. Post a letter here early in the morning and it got to Lubbock before noon; or put one on the train at 12 midnight in Colorado City and it was in your mailbox next morning in Big Spring.

Sen. Bentsen says: "Real County Judge W. B. Sapsom of Leakey informs my office that today it takes 10 hours longer for a letter mailed from Leakey to reach Uvalde than it did in 1884." Brother, that's progress.

ANOTHER THING the judge reported was that instead of going 41 miles direct to Uvalde as in the past, letters from Leakey now must go via San Antonio, a mere distance of 200 miles.

But don't be too critical — by sending its mail to the San Antonio processing center, Leakey has been able to get rid of all its postal clerks, a comfort to U.S. Postal Service but not to Leakey and the postmaster, who now does it all.

TO QUOTE the senator again — a woman in another place mailed her payment on Friday to the laundry a few blocks from her home. The laundry got it Tuesday. Do the same thing here Friday afternoon and you're lucky to get it in the box by Monday.

Don't blame the post office people here. They're fighting a losing battle to the efficiency experts and computers. A policy of baiting or forcing retirement is robbing the department of invaluable know-how and of people who believed in the tradition that "... nothing deters these messengers from the completion of their appointed rounds."

SEN. BENTSEN refers to the testimony of James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers which reflected 13,000 hours less hours daily to mail collection than five years ago. In 1967 the post office delivered twice the number of parcels that were delivered by its strongest competitor, privately owned U.S. Parcel Service. Last year — not quite five years later, U.S. Parcel delivered more (and made a $30 million profit). Assuming all the increase in business went to U.S. Parcel Service, it gained 100 per cent while U.S. Postal Service gained none; assume the same volume of business was divided differently, and U.S. Parcel gained 50 per cent while U.S. Postal Service lost 25 per cent. It may be argued U.S. Parcel is skimming the cream; well, how come U.S. Postal Service can't skim. Inferior service?

ONCE UPON a time in the backward days, we got mail in here four to eight times a day by air, six to eight by rail, a couple of times north and south by star carriers and airmail a couple of times by bus. Gone are the trains (the railroads claimed the loss of postal subsidies did them in), and gone are the busy rail clerks who sorted the mail as they went. In their place is a fleet of trucks which operate on limited schedules and at probably several times the cost of rail service. Maybe we need to get back to the hard way of doing things.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

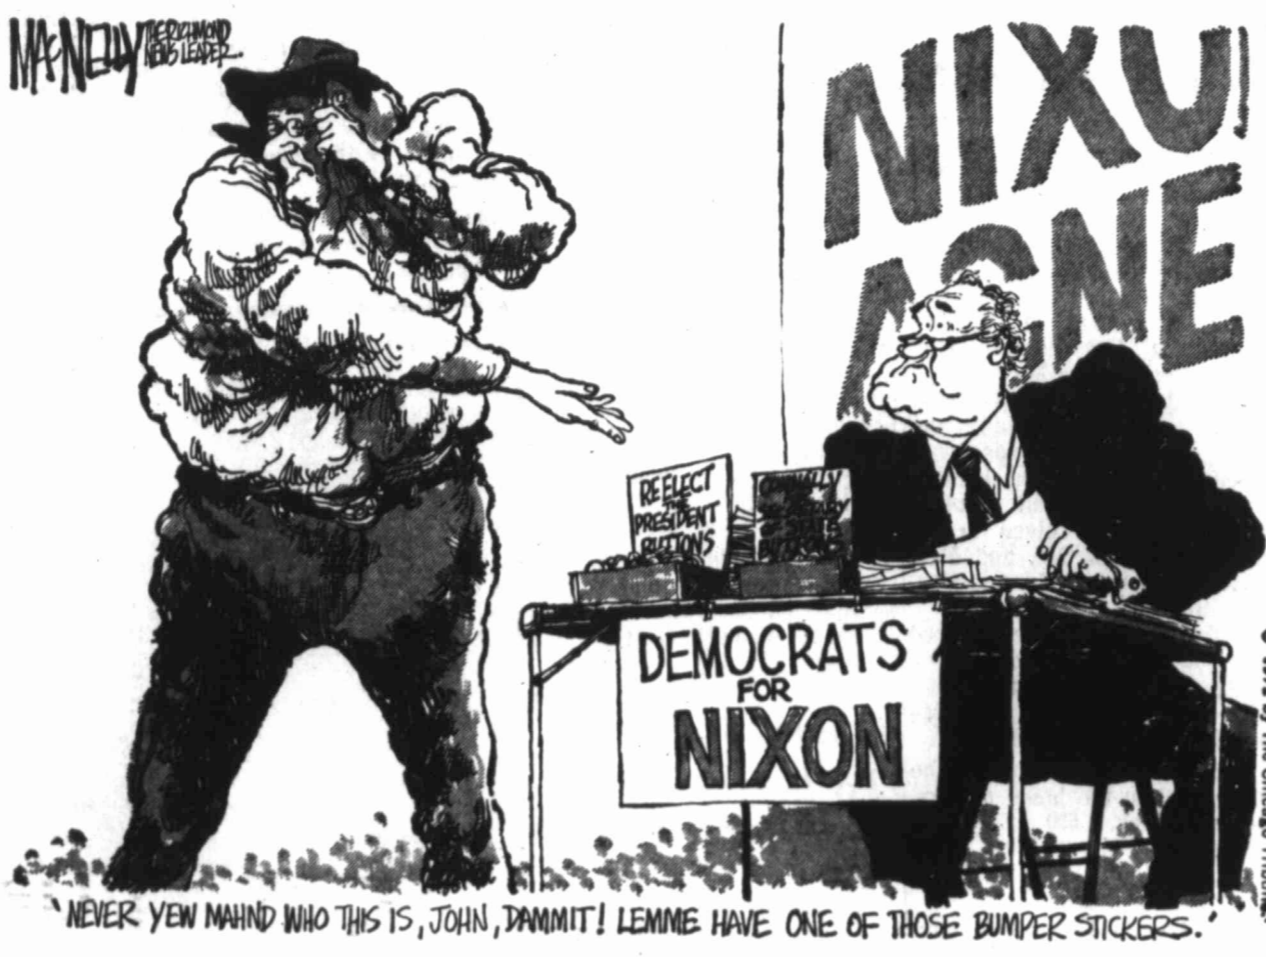

Jesus said, "Do you think that I have come to bring peace or evil; I have not come to bring peace, but a sword. For I have come to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; and a man's foes shall be they of his own household." Please explain this passage to me, and others who may not know what it means.

M.M. Jesus respected the family, and preached family fidelity. He frequented the home of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus, and dined in the home of Zachaeus and others.

In this passage He was driving home a truth which may seem quite harsh, and yet sometimes the truth hurts when it is applied. He was actually saying that although family fidelity is the highest of earthly loyalties, there is one higher, and that is allegiance to God.

He himself, suffered a kind of alienation from his mother when, upon the occasion of their visit to Jerusalem, He said to her: "Wist ye not that I must be about my father's business?" (Luke 2:49). To Him, allegiance to God, was always first and foremost, and took precedence over any other interest or loyalty. This is what He was saying when He said, "I am come to set a man against his father . . . etc." He meant that if allegiance to Him, his teachings, and his truth, came in conflict with father, or mother, that he demanded a decision and choice in favor of Him. Since Christ requires a choice between good and evil, He is to extent divisive. This is what He meant when He said, "I came to bring a sword" — a sword divided asunder, and loyalty to Him sets men apart from alien interest and loves.

Charge Into Value Gap

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Are the stock market bulls beginning to charge into Value Gap?

Judging by activity this week, it would seem so. And based on a mass of data, it's only natural that they should be attracted there, because that's where the good grazing is.

Value Gap is the extraordinary chasm that exists today between "the market's excessive price of major growth stocks and its parsimonious undervaluation of most established blue-chip investment values."

The description comes from John Wright of Bridgeport, Conn., whose research, analysis and advice is highly influential in the decisions of hundreds of bank trust departments and many brokerage firms.

In short, he finds that many well known growth stocks are incredibly overpriced when matched against their prices of other years, and that many of the established companies who stand to benefit from the economic expansion are badly underpriced.

Wright, whose specialty is blue-chips and whose outlook is usually conservative, believes the bulls soon will find these opportunities and that they might forego certain growth stocks.

He predicts that by January there will be a major market quake that will change its topography and even close the gap.

Wright's statisticians found that during the past year and a half, the price advances of 30 major growth stocks accounted for almost all the rise in the Standard & Poor's Industrial Average of 425 stocks.

From Jan. 1, 1971 to June 30, 1972, that average advanced 18.8 per cent. But take out the 30 key growth stocks and the remaining 395 show a gain of only 1.5 per cent. Much the same can also be shown for the Dow Jones Industrial Average.

"Too much money is going into too few stocks," he says. And those stocks, he adds, are greatly overpriced.

There seems to be some evidence in recent days that wise investors are aware of the underpricing. Many of the old-time favorites seem to be drawing a following once again.

But what about those 30 well-known growth stocks for which, Wright calculates, investors have been paying a 53 per cent higher price per dollar of current and future earnings than they were willing to pay for the past 10 years?

"When they try to get out it's going to be like an elevator with a broken cable. They can't possibly all get off at these prices. Who is willing to buy?"

Where will the money come from?"

And who are they? Many of them are supposedly sophisticated corporate pension fund managers, eager for performance, anxious for big capital gains that will help reduce their company's pension costs.

They are being egged on, Wright says, by relatively new registered representatives whose inexperience causes them to focus narrowly and myopically in effect, blinding them to the larger scene.

That scenario is a recurring one. It happened before in 1962, when many new money managers jumped on growth stocks for an easy ride. But then the elevator cable broke, and in 1963 growth was a dirty word.

Wants Sheep

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Sheep outnumber humans 20 to 1 in New Zealand — but farmers still want bigger flocks.

New breeds of greater fertility are to be imported in 1973. Agriculture Minister Douglas J. Carter says the first choice is the Finnish Landrace.

"It's undoubtedly the most prolific of all European breeds, with a well-documented litter size of three lambs per mature ewe," he said. "By cross-breeding, our objective will be to increase the fertility of breeds already in New Zealand."

New Zealand has 60 million sheep and three million people.

'Switch Is On'

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — About 7:45 o'clock one recent morning, a telephone call from the White House startled Ken Rietz, the youthful public relations man who directs the Young Voters for the President Committee.

RIETZ RECEIVED hurry-up orders from a presidential aide: Bring over half a dozen of his assistants to brief Nixon about his grandiose plans for capturing a majority of the youth vote for him in the November election.

Rietz, an Oshkosh, Wis., native, already an old political pro at 30, hastily summoned six key workers in his Washington headquarters: Angela Miller of Miami; Angela Harris of Evansville, Ind.; Lea Jablonsky of Washington, D.C.; George Gorton of San Diego; Ken Smith of Harbison, Del.; and Tom Davis of Falls Church, Va.

THEY MET the White House chief of staff, H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, in his west wing office, blissfully unaware that they would be interviewed by the President himself. Rietz had not told them that little detail.

They had come in rather informal attire: Davis had no necktie on and Angela Miller was wearing slacks. When Rietz announced, "You're going in to see the President now," his bright young aides thought he had to be kidding.

"OH, SURE, we are," Angela Harris said, skeptically.

Moments later they were in the Oval Office, each a little awed at meeting the President. His blonde daughter, Tricia, and her husband Eddie Cox, were also there, and, seated in chairs around a circle, the youngsters soon felt at ease.

"We were supposed to be there only 20 minutes," Rietz said later. "But the President was so interested we stayed an hour and a half."

NIXON SPOKE of his plans for the future, of his dreams of "a world without war." He asked what major issues the young people were talking about as the campaign began.

He was told that a growing number of voters appreciated his efforts to achieve "a generation of peace." His summit trips to China and Russia and his arms control pacts signed at Moscow are receiving 80 to 85 per cent support in public opinion polls.

Secondly, the young visitors said, they like the President's policy of seeking to achieve a "zero draft" and a volunteer army by 1973. Vietnam, they added, is no longer the burning issue which sent college-age protesters marching on the White House in 1969 and 1970.

NOW HIS rapport with youth is so much improved that the Young Voters for the President Committee actually believes it can deliver a majority of the noncollege youth vote for Nixon in November. They have a new slogan: "The switch is on."

Letters To Editor

Dear Sir: I am writing this letter with hopes that you will print all of it in your paper.

Lately there seems to be a lot of controversy over the newly opened Mini Flick, in the paper, over local radio stations and in general conversation.

The above subject is not the reason I am writing but it is what prompted this letter.

On Aug. 10, 1972, on one of the local radio stations, a listener voiced her opinion just as I did. She also made the statement that you could go to the V.F.W. and the American Legion and see the same type film. This I would like to rectify.

There has been no stag film shown at the American Legion in the past two years, and there was no $2 fee as she stated. There was a fee charged to pay for the purchase of food served to the members at tending.

Also for the few misinformed and narrow-minded people who feel the Legion is no good and just another place to watch dirty films, I wish these same people would make a tour of our local V.A. Hospital and see just how much good is done on a volunteer basis by our organization and others of the same type, then realize this is not just in Big Spring but across the nation before they start talking about something they know little or nothing about.

As far as the film is concerned no one forces anyone to go and watch them. This they do by their own choice.

I am a member and past officer of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 355, and I plan on being a member for a long time to come, stag film or no stag film.

A Devotion For Today . .

As therefore you received Christ Jesus the Lord, so live in him, rooted and built up in him and established in the faith, just as you were taught, abounding in thanksgiving. (Colossians 2:6-7, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Father, I thank You for those who travel the road of holiness and are willing to influence and teach others, even me. Amen.

Search For Roots

Robert E. Ford

It would be a rare family whose roots go back a few generations in the West which does not have a picture tucked away in a dresser drawer or an artifact in a closet brought by the pioneers from Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana and other states.

The owners may have half forgotten the items, but they are something to hold onto — that thread going back to the past.

YOUNG PEOPLE often scorn such ties to earlier times. "Look forward only," they cry. Yet they, too, eventually search for their roots.

You see it everywhere today. Nostalgia is going public. You view it in movies, magazines, television, books.

And dropping into the hands of a number of persons recently was a new book which shows the depth of this nostalgia.

The book is "Salt Pork to Sirlin, the History of Baylor County."

It is not the first or last regional history to be written. Its interest lies in the fact that Baylor County went through the same growing traumas as almost every place in the West and is remarkably typical.

The book became a countywide, almost statewide, project, with contributions pouring in from everywhere.

IT WAS put together by the Baylor County Historical Society with some guidance from the 1929 Golden Jubilee Edition of the Baylor County Banner, edited by the late O. C. Harrison.

It is filled with pictures of old-timers, most now gone to their reward. There are scores of photographs of early buildings and pioneer scenes.

It is one of those contrasting things. For this book looking backward was prepared in large part by residents of forward-looking Seymour, the county seat.

Seymour, 50 miles west of Wichita Falls in North Central Texas, is one of those unusual towns which has refused to go to seed in the current trend toward urbanization.

It has a magnificent new courthouse and has only recently completed a beautiful hospital that could be the envy of many cities, a structure sitting on an escarpment overlooking the town.

AND BUSINESS? Loyd Jones, one of the town's leaders, reports it is up 15 per cent this year. You only have to look at the many new-appearing, expensive homes to see what is happening.

The book relates just what the West was like, for everything seemed to happen in Baylor County.

It has stories of Indians, explorations, shootouts, open range warfare. Then came the wave of settlers, and, finally steady growth of farming, ranching and business.

Have you western readers noted that nothing was said about mining, something so typical of much of the West?

Well, there was mining in Baylor County, after all.

Jones himself tells about it — a community dig for gold.

The men sweated and struggled and finally reached a depth of 138 feet with a hole eight feet wide.

THEY DIDN'T find any gold. But the mound of earth from the mine still is there.

Just like so many other counties, Baylor had its Indian troubles.

Dr. Kenneth F. Neighbours of Midwestern University recounts that an Indian agent found 310 lodges at what now is Seymour.

The Texan Santa Fe Expedition of 1841 went through the county and was captured by the Mexicans and its members imprisoned in Mexico.

Col. C. C. Mills tried to settle in the county — possibly the first attempt at a permanent settlement — in 1870 and found the Indians on the warpath, so he left.

The legislature created the county in 1858 but this was a matter of a mark on the map. The county was organized in 1879, and 11 years later Seymour was organized.

OPEN RANGE cattlemen moved in when the Indians left, with one ranch employing up to 75 men, many of them gunslingers. An observer of that period said the cowboys gave everyone more trouble than the Indians ever had.

That Fluently

MOSCOW (AP) Specialized schools in Moscow take pride in their teaching of foreign languages. The news agency Tass, in one of its ventures into English, says: "Many graduates speak English or German so fluently as if they have lived for several years in New York or Hamburg."

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing could improve the human race more than to have every baby born with a button in its lower lip and a buttonhole in its upper lip.

As it is now, the average infant is born not with a silver spoon in its mouth — but one of its own feet. And throughout the rest of its life it keeps putting that foot back in its mouth.

If you want to live peacefully, learn to turn off the lip flow when you don't know what you're talking about. Silence is more than golden; silence is safety.

Here are a few remarks to avoid if you don't want to put your foot in your mouth, shoe and all:

Silence Is Safety

"Why did you want to get a divorce from him, anyway? He always seemed like a pretty swell guy to me."

"What's a pretty girl like you doing in the women's liberation movement? You look intelligent."

"Before I tell you how I think it fits you, let me ask you one question. Can you still take the suit back?"

"You've got nobody to blame but yourself."

"Did you ever stop to think that if you didn't live the way you do, you wouldn't feel the way you do?"

"If I bail you out of this, it'll only get you into the habit of expecting someone else to solve your problems for you."

"Of course, I don't doubt your word, but if you've lost all that much weight, I don't understand why it doesn't show more."

"Are you sure you aren't just feeling sorry for yourself?"

"I'm not exactly sure I should tell an off-color joke like this to my own mother-in-law, but here goes—"

"Do you want me to tell you what I really think is wrong with you?"

"Tell me something, will you? Why is it when a guy like me takes a girl like you out to dinner, she always feels like she has to order the most expensive steak on the menu? Don't you girls ever get steak at home?"

Retired Teachers Suggest Changes

AUSTIN (AP) — Retired public school teachers suggested changes in their retirement system Tuesday to provide a better standard of living.

Mrs. H. Hubert Walters of the Port Arthur Retired Teachers Association referred to the retirement benefits for some as "meager" and "token."

She and others testified before a special Senate committee.

Several teachers asked that the benefits for all retired teachers be raised to the same standard as provided by a 1971 law.

Prior to 1971, the formula for figuring retired teacher benefits was based on the best 10-year average salary. The 1971

Robberies, Shootings

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Gunfire killed one man and left another too gravely wounded to talk today in what police said appeared to be holdups by the same bandit or bandits.

Officers said an anonymous call from a woman about 12:30 advised them, "You'd better get out to the Bell-Air Motel — there's a man dead there."

Patrolmen found motel owner O. L. Smith, in his 60s, dead behind the clerk's desk in the lobby. They estimated he was killed about 11 p.m. Mrs. Smith said she had left the place about 9 p.m., investigators reported.

Four customers entering an all-night food store about 1:30 a.m. found a clerk staggering from a back storeroom shot in the throat and bleeding heavily.

Car In Murder Case Discovered

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — The car in which two Oklahoma City teen-agers were last seen alive in June has been found in Southern Oklahoma.

The car—owned by Robert Handy, father of Mary Jane Handy, 16—was found abandoned, with one tire flat, near Interstate 35 a short distance from Springer, some 10 miles north of here.

Officers reported the car was impounded by Springer police July 2, the day after Miss Handy and Robert Gholson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Gholson, were found dead near Fort Worth, Tex. Both had been fatally stabbed.

Ownership of the car was not established until last week when Springer officers checked with the National Crime Information Center.

Take It Easy

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

QUICK KISSES: (Q.) I am 14 and I have a misunderstanding (I think) with my parents. They are very strict, especially my father. A boy named Joel asked me to go to a square dance. I liked him some and wanted to go. My parents talked it over and my mother got my father to let me.

My sister overheard this conversation: Ma: "Are you going to let her go to the square dance?" Pa: "No." Ma: "You'd better start letting her do some of the things she wants to or she's gonna take off."

Pa: "Oh, well, all right. Tell her she can go."

I didn't see anything wrong with kissing Joel on the first date. The first kiss was out in the open. It was during one of the dances where the couple goes to the middle and gets to kiss each other. Then we kissed — one for goodnight. Those were the first times I ever kissed a boy.

I told my sister (she is retarded when it comes to common sense and I'm so mad at myself) and she told my parents. My father was shocked. He gave me a lecture, and said I shouldn't.

UW Push Off And Running

Reports on the first full day of solicitation in this year's United Way campaign were not complete, but preliminary figures showed the community's major fund raising effort already was close to the $10,000 mark.

A major boost was given Tuesday by the Rotary Club, whose members took on special solicitations as a club project. Pledges turned in through this source amounted to $5,357, and this represented only about a third of the cards. Rotary President A. J. Statser urged members to complete their task by next Tuesday's meeting, and felt that another $10,000 in this area was possible.

A major sum of money had come in through the out-of-town division, being handled by Helen Hurt. Meanwhile, workers in all divisions were out in full force with a determination to wind up the campaign within 30 days. The United Way goal this year is $113,640, this amount going to finance 14 participating agencies.

Green Grow?

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — The Tico Times said it found an 18th Century Spanish dictionary that defines the word "gringo" as a corruption of griego — which means Greek — that was applied to anyone using a foreign tongue. The popular story is that gringo was a derogatory word for U.S. soldiers in the Mexican-American war who sang "Green Grow the Rushes O" as they marched.

Tomato Singer

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Norm and I bought a little home in the suburbs, and last spring we planted a vegetable garden. We thought with the prices of everything going so high, it would save us money.

When our tomato plants got about half a foot high, Norm started singing to them! He'd take a sixpack of beer and a chair outside and plunk himself down right in the middle of the tomato plants and start to sing. The more beer he drank the louder he sang. (It's a wonder the neighbors didn't call the police.)

Norm claims it's a scientific fact that plants that get music produce more than plants that don't. Is there any truth to this?

DEAR WIFE: My agriculture experts say yes! But a word of caution. Better buy your tomatoes. No matter how expensive they get, it's cheaper than drying out Norm.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not seem important to some people, but it is a threat to my marriage.

Howard and I have been married for two years. We were happy at first, living in a small apartment.

I am an average housekeeper and must do all my housecleaning and laundry on Saturdays because I work during the week.

Howard wants me to work as we have no children and the money helps a lot, but lately he has become demanding about my housekeeping.

We have terrible fights about it almost every night. Abby, just can't help it. When I get home after work I have all I can do to get supper, and I am just too tired to start doing housework! And we both leave for work at 7:30 a.m. and I certainly can't do anything in the morning.

I love Howard and don't want to lose him, but he has threatened to walk out if I don't improve my housekeeping. Please help me.

DESPERATE IN THE BRONX

DEAR DES: You have the following options:

1. Insist that Howard pitch in and help you. He lives there, too.
2. Straighten up after yourself in the morning and you'll have less of a mess at night. Tidy up the place after dinner if it kills you.
3. Quit your job, become a full-time housekeeper, and live on Howard's salary.
4. Hire some help and tighten your belts.
5. Continue as you are and risk a walkout.

Dawson Wreck Fatal To One

LAMESA — A 12-year-old Lamesa girl died and 13 persons were injured in an accident 2.9 miles northwest of Lamesa on Texas 137 at about 5:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Dead at the scene was Erma Rendon, 12, of Lamesa. She was a passenger in a truck driven by Estrella Yglesias Rendon of Lamesa when it was in collision with a pickup truck driven by Artie Blufford Srader of Levelland.

Investigating officers A. W. Kilpatrick and Ben Birch of Lamesa said both vehicles were headed east on Texas 137 when the truck attempted a left turn. The ensuing collision caused the truck to overturn, pinning Erma Rendon under the truck.

Officers said three passengers in the pickup truck were in the cab and three were in the back, while the truck had three occupants in the cab and 11 on the truck bed. Eight persons from the truck are at Medical Arts Hospital in "good" and "unknown" condition. Five persons from the pickup are in the Levelland hospital in good condition with unknown injuries.

RIP! — Texas Rangers' shortstop, Jim Mason, is ripped off of a possible out by Boston Red Sox' Carl Yastrzemski in the third inning. Yastrzemski was caught off second by the alert Texas Ranger catcher, Rich Billings. Yastrzemski threatened to hold up the Texas Rangers on an attempted steal of third base as second base umpire, Frank Umony, makes the call. However, Billings' peg to Mason held the Boston hombre on second in the 3-0 victory over the Rangers.

THE 'VULTURE' STRIKES

Expos Trip Astros

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal reliever Mike Marshall is rapidly earning the old relief pitcher's epithet of The Vulture. The Vulture is a name given to relief pitchers who make it a habit of picking up pitching duties with only an inning or two of work after the starter is pulled for long periods to keep the game close.

Marshall notched his 12th victory of the season against only three losses for the fifth-place Expos Tuesday night when Mike Jorgensen lashed a two-out, tie-breaking single in the bottom of the 10th inning for a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

When Roger Metzger walked to put two men on, Manager Gene Mauch went with Marshall, who retired Cesar Cedeno, the league's leading batter, to end the threat. Marshall then pitched an easy top of the tenth before benefiting from Jorgensen's single.

The Astros started scoring in the bottom of the fifth when Metzger and Cedeno, but the Expos tied it in the bottom of the inning Ken Singleton's single, an infield out and Jorgensen's double.

Montreal took a 2-1 lead in the eighth on singles by Singleton, Ron Fairly and Tim McCarver.

Stoneman bewildered the Astros for eight innings and was only one out away from his 10th triumph before Doug Rader singled and Tommy Helms doubled to tie the score.

When Roger Metzger walked to put two men on, Manager Gene Mauch went with Marshall, who retired Cesar Cedeno, the league's leading batter, to end the threat.

Friday, Aug. 18, is the final day for last year's season ticket-holders to renew their option to purchase their season tickets for the 1972 Big Spring Steers home football games.

Of the 717 season ticket-holders in 1971, only 253 have used their option to retain their season ducat book for the 1972 season.

If the 717 do not renew their option by Friday, the tickets which have not been sold will go on sale to the general public Monday morning. The tickets would then be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Deadline Set For Renewals

Friday, Aug. 18, is the final day for last year's season ticket-holders to renew their option to purchase their season tickets for the 1972 Big Spring Steers home football games.

Of the 717 season ticket-holders in 1971, only 253 have used their option to retain their season ducat book for the 1972 season.

If the 717 do not renew their option by Friday, the tickets which have not been sold will go on sale to the general public Monday morning. The tickets would then be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The season book costs $10 and is for all five home games of the Steers.

The tickets can be purchased at the Big Spring High School Business Office on 11th Place.

ARIINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Boston rookie John Curtis found just the boost he needed Tuesday night to get back on the winning track: hot weather and the anemic Texas Rangers batters.

Curtis pitched a three-hitter and Reggie Smith backed him with two homers as the Red Sox blanked the Rangers 3-0 and moved within four games of idle Baltimore in the American League east.

"This was a big game for me," Curtis said. "I haven't been contributing much since the All-Star game. My last start was eight days ago against Baltimore and I was bombed for five runs and nine hits."

Curtis, a rookie who also has aspirations to become a sportswriter, said "I went to the bullpen and worked on my breaking ball. I was just a one pitch pitcher. I had to get something to go with my fastball."

The 24-year-old Curtis, who once pitched a no-hitter in college at Clemson, said he liked the near 90-degree weather.

"I psyche myself more when I pitch in the heat," Curtis said.

Curtis was working on a no-hitter until the sixth inning when ranger pitcher Don Stanhouse hit a grounder that bounced off second baseman John Kennedy's glove.

"I wasn't thinking no-hitter...I was thinking complete game," said Curtis. "I don't care if I was pitching against a kindergarten team...I wanted a complete game."

It was Curtis' seventh victory against six losses since he joined the club on recall from Louisville May 25.

Curtis worked during the winter for the Spartanburg, S.C., Herald. "I'm serious about my writing," Curtis said.

The game also marked the 2,500th major league hit for shortstop Luis Aparicio. He singled in the ninth inning to become the 47th major leaguer to reach that plateau.

"It was one of my biggest thrills," Aparicio said. "I thought I could get there this year."

Smith was non-communicative about his two homers—his 12th and 13th of the year. He spurned questions about his performance and immediately ducked into the dressing room for a shave and long showers.

Lynn McGlothen, who is 5-4, will pitch for the Red Sox tonight against Rich Hand of the Rangers who is 9-8.

Don Gullett Hurls Cincy Past Phils

By The Associated Press

"That was about as close as he can get to himself without being there," Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench said of battery-mate Don Gullett.

How's that again? "I can't really tell if I'm back to myself just yet," Gullett added.

A little clarification, please. Well, Gullett, who posted a 16-6 record last season, had been expected to be a major factor in the Reds' drive to the top of the National League's West Division this year.

But the 21-year-old left-hander contracted hepatitis in January—a condition the Reds didn't even discover until May—and had been virtually useless to the baseball club this season. For two innings he'd be able to blaze in his fast ball, then he'd get so weak he could barely wind up to pitch.

But on Tuesday night, outfielder Pete Rose said, "He looked like he used to." And Bench added: "His ball really jumped at times and when he reared back and wanted to throw it, he could do it."

Gullett got the call after just one inning in Philadelphia when Cincinnati starter Wayne Simpson was forced out of the game after reinjuring a calf muscle.

The 6-foot Kentuckian came out of the bullpen and, for the next eight innings, hurled four-hit shutout ball, striking out eight and walking just one to provide the Reds with a 3-0 victory over the Phillies.

Eisewhere in the National League, Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 8-6, the New York Mets blanked Atlanta 5-0, San Francisco beat the Chicago Cubs 7-5, San Diego stung St. Louis 7-1 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

DIES — Oscar Levant, a gifted pianist and humorist, died Monday at the age of 65. The man who aimed his wit at his own eccentric hypochondria had been virtually a recluse for nearly a decade, before his death in Beverly Hills by what a police spokesman said appeared to be natural causes.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 NT Pass 3 NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♠
A resourceful declarer employed a simple but highly effective false card to produce a substantial profit for his side when today's hand was dealt in a recent team of four contest.

The bidding was the same at both tables. South opened the bidding with one no trump and North raised directly to three. Also the latter is technically a point shy of the ten point requirement for a game commitment, the presence of an establishable five card suit, two tens plus the two aces more than compensate for the deficiency.

At one table, West opened the six of spades, East played the ten and declarer won the trick with the jack. The seven of diamonds was led to dummy's ace to put the jack of clubs thru for a finesse. West won the trick with the king and inasmuch as he wished to get his partner in to lead thru South's king of spades, he switched to the six of hearts.

South had only eight tricks at this point—four clubs, two diamonds, one heart and one spade—so he was forced to play a low heart from dummy. East put up the king of hearts and shifted back to the eight of spades. Declarer ducked but the spade continuation enabled West to pick up the king and cash a total of four tricks in the suit which along with the heart and club kings spelled a two trick setback and 200 point profit on the deal for the defenders.

At the other table, declarer was looking ahead at the first trick, and, observing that he would still be short of his goal if the club finesse failed, he decided that a bit of deception might help his cause. When East played the ten of spades on West's lead of the six, South false carded and won the trick with the king—concealing the jack. A diamond put North in to attempt the club finesse, but when West went in with the king, he had a different picture from his counterpart at the other table.

It appeared to West that East held the jack of spades when the ten forced out the king. So reasoning, West led back the deuce of spades in the expectation that his partner would win the trick and then return the suit. To his consternation, it was South who showed up with the jack of spades and the latter quickly ran for cover with nine tricks—two spades, one heart, two diamonds and four clubs. The six hundred point profit he scored for making a vulnerable game on the deal added to the 200 points chalked up by his teammates at the other table swelled their gross swing to 800 points.

Won't Stay Off

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been overweight since the day I was born. All through my childhood and teens I was always on one kind of diet or another, and taking countless kinds of medicine. I would lose 10 or maybe 15 or 20 pounds but gain it back.

I agree with you that Weight Watchers and TOPS are good groups, and I have been a member of Weight Watchers twice, and would lose 10 or 20 pounds and that would be it, or I'd gain it all back. I was a member for six months last time.

I am 20 now and have roughly 115 pounds to lose after reading about that operation to lose weight, I have decided that it is my very last resort. Could you send me the names of doctors who do this operation?

Maybe if I knew a few and could talk to them, I might even be able to work out a different plan without the operation — P.A.N.

You want to lose weight by talking to somebody? Sounds a little farfetched to me. What do you think?

Seems to me you're totally ignoring what ought to be the most important part of your situation. Repeatedly you've lost 10, 15, or 20 pounds. In other words, you CAN lose weight and you've proved it. What you haven't yet learned is that if you can take it off, you can keep it off — if you keep on trying.

The unsuccessful weight-loser is the one who does just what you do — loses some pounds, then back to the same kind of eating that caused the fat in the first place. It's a silly, illogical attitude, of course, but when someone has spent a lifetime getting fat, it takes some real effort to change habits. Yet those habits are what have to be changed.

You mentioned staying with Weight Watchers for six months once. That's not long enough. Not for you, anyway. Both W. W. and TOPS have sound programs, so you can lose weight without hurting your health.

I suggest that you go back and try it again, but don't quit after six months. Stay at least a couple of years, by which time you will at least have a good start on a new way of life and eating.

Don't be discouraged because you lose 20 pounds and then stop losing. (But don't start gaining again!) With a good many folks, it is quite likely that a weight-loss "plateau" is reached now and then. You stop losing — temporarily. But if you stick with the program, you presently lose some more, reach a plateau, then lose still more. As to that operation to lose weight, I wouldn't recommend it for you unless you have plenty of money to spend on it. It means major surgery, plus close medical supervision to make sure you get enough of the necessary food elements while your digestive tract is short-circuited.

And on top of that, you STILL have to learn some new eating habits if you are to avoid getting fat again later, the same way you did in the first place.

Your big mistake, I think, was in quitting too soon after you'd begun to make progress.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that cracking your knuckles can lead to, if not cause, arthritis. Is this true, — J.M.M.

No, not true. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me what causes a person to pass bloody stool? — A.M.M. Several. Hemorrhoids. Fissures. Cancer. Some forms of colitis. Any of which deserves medical attention.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

He's Stubborn

TOKYO (AP) — Debate at the newly formed Japan Stubbornness Society grew so acrimonious that Vice Chairman Kazuo Hoshino quit and formed a rival Stubbornness Preservation Association.

ABERNATHY INSISTS
'Things Are Not Well In Dallas'

DALLAS (AP) — "Sam Houston and his descendants would want us to believe that all is well in Texas, but we know that there is the disease of racism, poverty, injustice, bigotry and segregation right here in Dallas," the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy declared Tuesday night.

He delivered his fiery indictment in advance of today's formal opening of the 15th annual convention of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a civil rights group which he heads as president.

Abernathy went to a Fair Park bandshell near the downtown district for a surprise appearance after meeting Angela Davis, the former professor cleared of kidnaping and murder kidnaping charges in California, as she arrived by plane. She will speak at an SCLC dinner tonight.

SOUL SHOW

Speaking to a crowd of about 3,000 people and what was billed as an SCLC "culture Night Soul and Gospel Show, Abernathy levelled his charges against the convention's host city and added:

"But thanks be to God, we are physicians. We are doctors. We have come to prescribe a prescription. We're going to give Dallas a dose of medicine, and we're going to set Dallas straight."

"This is the first time SCLC has had a convention on this side, the west side, of the Mississippi River. . . . They wanted us to go to Houston. I said, 'No.' They wanted us to go to Austin. I said, 'No.' They wanted us to come to San Antonio. I said, 'No.'

SHAKE UP
"They wanted us in Fort Worth, and I said, 'Hell no, we're going to Dallas!' We've got to shake up some folks in Dallas. Things are not well in Dallas."

Abernathy said he would have more to say in a keynote address to the SCLC convention today.

He told a reporter earlier that he came to the gathering here with hopes for obtaining the civil rights group's endorsement for Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic nominee for president.

"I hope we can vote on it," Abernathy said. "Nixon has been nothing but a stumbling block for us." "Everybody knows the Nixon administration has been insensitive to not only black problems but to the plight of poor whites and minorities," he said.

Abernathy, successor to the Rev. Martin Luther King as president of the group, said he expected the three-day conference to spark new interest in the civil rights cause.

Before Abernathy's arrival, his executive assistant, the Rev. Bernard S. Lee, said unrest among minority groups has been rekindled by what he called Nixon's lack of effective leadership in school desegregation, housing, jobs and inflation.

Ducks Get Rings

BERLIN (AP) — East Berlin bird researchers have started placing multi-colored plastic rings around the necks of wild ducks to keep track of their movements.

The colorful "neckties" can be easily spotted from a distance. This is not the case with the more conventional method whereby small metal or plastic bands were attached to birds' legs.
