ACCORDING TO FTC STAFF STUDY

Industry Manipulations Factor In Oil Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission staff study says the nation's petroleum shortage is the product of anticompetitive practices fostered by government regulations and manipulated by the major oil companies to protect their profits.

"In the many levels in which they interrelate, the majors demonstrate a clear preference for avoiding competition through mutual cooperation and the use of exclusionary practices," the study said.

The oil companies "have behaved in a similar fashion as would a classical monopolist: they have attempted to increase profits by restricting output."

MANY CLOSE

The only effective competition to survive has come from independent gasoline stations, said the staff. The study estimated that 1,200 independent stations closed in the first five months of this year.

"What has happened here is that the majors have used the shortage as an occasion to attempt to debilitate, if not eradicate, the independent marketing sector."

If the majors' attempt "is at all successful in diminishing the market shares of independents the consumer will pay dearly for this advantage," the study said.

The study is the result of nearly two years of work. The project was intensified at the request of Congress and presented to the five-member commission last Monday. The commission has not taken any action nor made the document public.

The Associated Press obtained a copy from sources outside the FTC.

Also under study by the commissioners is a still-unreleased legal analysis of possible actions aimed at spurring competition in the industry. Industry sources have said the analysis recommends a concerted antitrust attack on the biggest companies' control over pipelines, refining operations and marketing.

The report noted that Arco, Exxon, Gulf, Mobil, Texaco, Shell, Standard Oil Co. of California and Standard Oil Co. of Indiana are tops across the board in the petroleum industry. As of 1970, the eight held 64 per cent of the nation's proved crude oil reserves, accounted for 58 per cent of the crude refining capacity and sold 55 per cent of the gasoline that the nation's motorists bought.

It is weighing whether keeping the freeze intact will cause widespread food shortages. Cost of Living Council officials realize it may be difficult from a public relations standpoint to end the freeze in the inflation-plagued food industry and keep it intact in other areas where price rises have not been as much of a problem.

"It just depends on how it is orchestrated," one official said. The system of wage controls to follow the freeze probably will be much like those adopted for the Phase 2 program which followed the 1971 wage-price freeze. Generally, the controls would call for pay increases to be held to 5.5 per cent a year and fringe benefits to 0.7 per cent.

But the government, as in the past, is expected to maintain enough flexibility in its wage-control rules to allow for increases exceeding this guideline.

Despite the toughness of the program advertised by administration officials, it will be designed also to get the nation out of wage-price controls. No one has suggested how this can be accomplished.

As the planning went forth, the administration was slammed with another bad price report last week. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices in June soared by 2.4 per cent, highest monthly rate in 22 years. The prices went up just before the freeze took effect on June 13.

But there was one encouraging note. The nation's unemployment rate, which had held steady at 5 per cent since last November, dropped to 4.8 per cent. This put the administration closer to its year-end goal of cutting the jobless rate to the neighborhood of 4.5 per cent.

At the Treasury Department, the government's monetary experts were frankly puzzled why the dollar has dropped so dramatically in recent days against other currencies.

ated $250 million cost of a new refinery, the staff reported. It said there has been no new entrant in the refining field since 1950.

But the study said that even if a potential new refiner could raise the money, he'd shy away.

REASON CITED

One reason cited was the federal oil depletion allowance, which provides a tax credit for a proportion of profits earned on crude oil. The purpose was to encourage oil exploration.

But the FTC staff said that because the allowance makes crude oil profits the least taxable of any phase of the majors' operations, the majors claim that most—if not all—their profits come on crude oil.

Through this simple book-keeping operation, "it pays to raise crude prices up to a point where refinery profits have been reduced to zero," the staff said.

"Clearly, such a system creates a hazardous existence for independent refiners, who have little or no crude production."

The ability to buy cheap oil could still lure new refiners into the business. But the staff contended that the oil import control program has effectively shut off foreign competition in supply and left the integrated producers in firm control of the only alternative: domestic supplies.

Even the recent lifting of import quotas by President Nixon won't be likely to attract refinery competition, the study said.

"Just as the federal government first restricted imports and then removed them, they may be restored at a moment's notice."

One obvious barrier to new refinery entrants is the estimated $250 million cost of a new refinery, the staff reported. It said there has been no new entrant in the refining field since 1950.

Merchandise Awards Await Winners In Bingo Games

Being bugged can be fun — and profitable — if you're playing Newspaper Bingo.

And you'll have an opportunity to do this through the pages of The Herald starting next week when more than two score Big Spring area firms sponsor this fun game.

There's nothing to buy to participate in this fun game, bingo cards will be offered free at sponsoring merchants during the next 13 weeks. There will be $50 prize each week in "Bingo Bucks" that spend just like cash and may be redeemed in merchandise at participating businesses.

Here's the way it works:

The participating merchants will have stacks of bingo cards which are yours for the asking, there is no obligation and you do not have to make a purchase to receive your free bingo cards. Customers are urged to visit each of the sponsoring firms often, there is no limit to the number of cards you may play each week.

Each week, the participating merchants will have bingo numbers in their ads, in the "bingo bug" that you can spot easily. As the numbers in the ads match the numbers on your card, just X out all 24 squares until you have a complete blackout. Then, bring or mail

Invitation Is Turned Down By President

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon flatly refused Saturday to testify before the Senate Select Watergate Committee "under any circumstances" or to permit access to his presidential papers.

"I have concluded that if I were to testify before the committee irreparable damage would be done to the constitutional principle of separation of powers," Nixon said.

His remarks were in a letter from the Western White House to Watergate committee chairman Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., in response to suggestions from some committee members that he appear.

"I must and shall resist" any requests which would jeopardize the separation of powers, he said.

The President said he had agreed to permit "unrestricted testimony" of present and former White House staff members before the committee. But he ruled out access to papers compiled by the President or his immediate staff to preserve "the indispensable principle of confidentiality of presidential papers."

Nixon cited as precedent for his action the refusal of former President Harry S. Truman to comply with a subpoena to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in November 1953.

Nixon repeated his intention to address the Watergate matters publicly "at an appropriate time during your hearings." But he did not say how or when he would do that.

The ranking minority member of the Watergate Committee, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., had suggested that Nixon might appear informally to talk with members of the committee. But White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon would not talk informally with committee members either.

Ervin, Baker and most of the other five committee members have stated they believe a presidential response is needed in view of the claims by former White House counsel John W. Dean III that Nixon knew of the Watergate cover-up.

Nixon said he wanted to emphasize strongly that his decision was based on his constitutional obligation to preserve the powers and prerogatives of the presidency "and not upon any desire to withhold information relevant to your inquiry."

While Nixon refused to turn over presidential documents, spokesmen said that documents could still be pursued but cannot be taken from the White House.

your card to The Herald before 5 p.m. Monday. Cards will be checked and all winners notified by telephone. If there is more than one winner, you will share the $50 proportionally. Should there be no winner, the $50 will carry-over to the next week's game, making it worth $100.00, etc.

To avoid confusion, each week's game cards will have a different color to match the color on a full page advertisement in The Herald every Sunday. Today's advertisement is on Page 4-C.

Each Tuesday the previous week's winner will be announced and if there is no winner, the $50 carry-over will be declared.

All you need to do to have a shot at the $50 prize, and the fun of playing, is to ask a participating merchant for a bingo card, watch for the "bingo bug" in the ads and starting X-ing out the numbers. If you do not have a copy of The Herald, you may examine file copies at the Herald office or anywhere else the paper may be on file.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

Our banks showed a strong position at the end of the first half of 1973. Deposits were up by 8½ per cent, total resources nearly 10 per cent, and loans and discounts set a new record. The deposit figure was $67,019,000, a new mid-year peak and only $1.5 million under last Dec. 31's all-time record. When the inflationary factor is wrung out, there is still a substantial gain.

The freak wind-hail storm of June 29 wiped out a number of fields of cotton, and at a time that it's too late to replant. The time factor also will cause some others to leave cotton with marginal chances. There are no official estimates, but there should be a 5-10 per cent factor of the total acreage. Translated into bales, that could come up around 4,000.

Word from Vienna is that our Meistersingers are being well received and putting our town on the map — in case any Viennese come visiting. And, considering the dollar's decline, it may be a lot easier for them to come this way. At any rate, our troupe will return at the end of this week.

TUESDAY HERE Occupancy Tax Due Final OK

A three per cent hotel-motel occupancy tax and a 30-day payment period for street assessments will go into effect if approved by the City Commission at its 5:25 p.m. meeting Tuesday.

The room occupancy tax, which appeared in ordinance form after a long-standing debate between local motel owners and the Chamber of Commerce, will be up for third and final reading. Commissioners unanimously approved the measure in two previous readings.

On the agenda for consideration is a policy that all street assessment payments be due within 30 days of city acceptance of the installation.

Provision is made, however, so that property owners who cannot liquidate the assessment in 30 days may pay the city in monthly payments for three years. City financing will call for six per cent interest, pending approval of the Commission.

An ordinance calling an October 2 election on proposed revisions to the City Charter will be presented for the Commission's okay. Revisions focus on the election, qualifications and salaries of the members of the Commission which would be renamed a Council.

A bid opening for the land sale of section 17 will be held.

In other business, the Commission will consider three specific use permits for Marie S. Johnson, Joe Tom White and Piggly Wiggly to sell beer or beer and wine.

City parents will also hold public hearings on three zone change requests, one for Robert Cook and John Currie to change block 32 T-1-S, section 3, and acreage block 32 T-1-S, section 4 from agricultural to heavy industry for the purpose of individual storage units.

The other two zone changes are from Mrs. Joe Hamby and Sophia Ortega Alcantar, both for the purpose of beauty shops. Mrs. Hamby's request involves rezoning block 18, lot 7, McDowell Heights from SF-2 to neighborhood service. Mrs. Alcantar's request is to rezone lots 1-3, block 12 in the Bauer Addition from SF-3 to neighborhood service.

Shell Is State Revenue Leader

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Parade magazine said Saturday its annual listing of Texas' top 100 corporations in revenue has a new leader — Shell Oil Co.

In its fifth annual ranking of the state's largest corporations the magazine said Shell Oil moved to Houston last year and its $4.8 billion revenues "were enough to outrank the four-time list topper, LTV Corp., which reported $3.4 billion in revenues for 1972."

Ex-Star Dies At Age Of 51 In Vermont

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Veronica Lake, the "blonde peek-a-boo-look" movie star of the 1940s, died Saturday of acute hepatitis. She was 51.

She had become ill in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, where she was awaiting a divorce from her fourth husband. She returned to New York and was referred to the Medical Center of Vermont, where she was admitted June 26.

During a 1941 rehearsal for her first film success, "I Wanted Wings," her long blonde hair accidentally fell over her right eye. It had such an effect on people that it became her trademark.

NATIONAL FAD

The hair style became a national fad. The government asked her not to wear it that way while World War II lasted, because too many women were getting their hair caught in factory machinery.

She made 26 films, including "This Gun for Hire," which introduced the late Alan Ladd to the screen. Two of her best were Preston Sturges' "Sullivan's Travels" and Rene Clair's "I Married a Witch." At her peak, she earned $4,500 a week.

In the Sturges film she played an out-of-luck starlet who tags along with a Hollywood director roughing it in search of data for a hobo epic. Her famous hair was tucked under a felt hat and her tiny, 5-foot-2, then pregnant, body hidden in a baggy man's suit. She was funny and unexpectedly touching.

After her last movie, a pot-boiler filmed in Mexico in 1951, there were years of obscurity, then a faltering comeback on the stage off-Broadway, in summer stock and in England.

During her obscure years, a newspaper reporter found her working as a barmaid in an out-of-the-way New York hotel. Fans mailed her money, which she returned "as a matter of pride."

She said she wasn't down-and-out. "I was paying $190 a month rent then, and that's a long way from being broke."

Nation Awaits Phase 4 Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the dollar plunging overseas and the stock market sagging at home, the Nixon administration plans to pull back the curtain on Phase 4 wage-price controls within the next 10 days.

Not all the details on the post-freeze program may be ready at first, but President Nixon's economic policymakers indicate they are eager to put the broad outline before the public in hopes of relieving the uncertainty rampant in the economy.

CONTRIBUTOR

This uncertainty has contributed to the dollar's troubles in foreign money markets and to the stock market's jitters.

Based on current administration thinking, the 60-day price freeze may be lifted early in some industries, but kept intact in others. The system of wage-price controls to follow the freeze will be tough and comprehensive.

Some industries may be forced to absorb some of their own costs instead of being allowed to recover them in price increases.

There may be different price rules in different industries — with food, health and oil the three areas of the economy likely to get separate treatment.

The administration is still debating whether to lift the freeze early in the food industry, the one sector of the economy where inflation has been most troublesome.

It is weighing whether keeping the freeze intact will cause widespread food shortages. Cost of Living Council officials realize it may be difficult from a public relations standpoint to end the freeze in the inflation-plagued food industry and keep it intact in other areas where price rises have not been as much of a problem.

"It just depends on how it is orchestrated," one official said. The system of wage controls to follow the freeze probably will be much like those adopted for the Phase 2 program which followed the 1971 wage-price freeze. Generally, the controls would call for pay increases to be held to 5.5 per cent a year and fringe benefits to 0.7 per cent.

But the government, as in the past, is expected to maintain enough flexibility in its wage-control rules to allow for increases exceeding this guideline.

Despite the toughness of the program advertised by administration officials, it will be designed also to get the nation out of wage-price controls. No one has suggested how this can be accomplished.

As the planning went forth, the administration was slammed with another bad price report last week. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices in June soared by 2.4 per cent, highest monthly rate in 22 years. The prices went up just before the freeze took effect on June 13.

But there was one encouraging note. The nation's unemployment rate, which had held steady at 5 per cent since last November, dropped to 4.8 per cent. This put the administration closer to its year-end goal of cutting the jobless rate to the neighborhood of 4.5 per cent.

At the Treasury Department, the government's monetary experts were frankly puzzled why the dollar has dropped so dramatically in recent days against other currencies.

SPEAKER'S STAND ON DEATH PENALTY

People's Mandate Ignored

By VERNON E. BROWN
Copy News Service

California voters in the last election overwhelmingly approved the death penalty. I have always been of the opinion that when voters approved something, it was the state's obligation to enact the law. However, the speaker of the Assembly in California, Bob Moretti, and his Democratic followers have seen fit not to enact the law.

I can understand Moretti because, after all, he wants to be the next governor of California. He says: "My conscience cannot go along with the death penalty."

THOUGHTS OF DESTINY

I think that being speaker of the Assembly has given this man thoughts of great political destiny. But it certainly has not given him the right to go against the mandate of the people. I feel he is typical of elected officials in our nation.

When the people vote one way, they go the other way because their "conscience" force them to.

As a black man, I must give Moretti credit for being "liberal" in his job assignments for black legislators in California. His top-elected black official is state Sen. Mervyn Dymally. Dymally hails from a black district in Los Angeles that is best known for its high crime rate, drug addiction and shoot-outs in schools involving black youngsters.

Moretti has a few other black supporters who come from black communities and their commitment to our country, measured in strength, would not raise the American flag five feet.

I know that the majority of the people who have been killed by the death penalty have been black, and the reason being that they are poor, deprived, mad at the world, etc.

Therefore, if the death penalty was enacted as law, the black community in California would suffer more than the white community.

HE SHOULD PAY

But I believe that any person who blatantly and cold-bloodedly takes someone else's life should pay with his own.

It's inconceivable to me how the black community can be the scene of horrifying violence and at the same time allow the so-called liberal white politicians and our own worthless black ones to continue.

Where are the consciences of Moretti and his black elected family when our wives are raped and our houses looted and our churches broken into, and our kids shooting each other and the dope-trip is extremely prevalent in our community? Where are your consciences then, gentlemen?

EASIER THAN A BICYCLE—Dale Whitford, 12, could well be the envy of countless bicycling newspaper carrier boys around the country. the association go back to its old format of basket lunches and have an evening meeting at the Howard County Fair Barns.

All of the community's tennis courts, as well as the new Figure Seven Tennis Center at Dora Roberts Community Center (Cosden Club) got a good workout at the U.S. 80 tournament during the past week. Some were busy to the wee hours, so large was the field. Randy Mattingly scored upsets, but the Big Spring youth got knocked off in the semi-finals of both men and boys 18 singles. Big Spring winners included Tony Mann, boys' 14 singles, Bill Watts, men's 35 singles, and Judy Jordan girls' 18 singles.

V-Bar Rock, that outstanding $53,000 Sale-Newman bull which died a fortnight ago in Martin County, fell victim to an infrequent ailment (in these parts) known as black disease (because hemorrhaging under the skin leaves a black color). The disease shows little early symptoms, but kills quickly.

Despite the heat, merchants are looking toward the Yuletide. Last week they decided to invest some $4,500 in Christmas street decorations. There will be nine new 9-ft. trees, plus other decorations to cost $2,400, plus $1,900 in repairs and refurbishing.

Area celebrations attracted considerable interest. At O'Donnell, Mrs. Mary Blocker unveiled a bronze bust of her illustrious son, the late Dan Blocker, known familiarly as Boss Cartwright on the Bonanza series. Dan grew up in O'Donnell. At St. Lawrence, parishioners were joined by many others to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Catholic Church in 1948, two years after St. Lawrence was born out of the pasture land of southwest Glasscock County.

The Fourth was a busy one here, also, what with golf tournaments and the tennis tournament, finally the Freedom Ring program which drew some 300 and the fireworks display, viewed by multiple thousands. The mountaintop launch proved better for most people.

When the wet season stopped, it stopped. Consequently, water demands went soaring for the Colorado River Municipal Water District in June. The district topped the two-billion gallons mark by 41 million gallons. The way July is starting, it could turn up another two-billion total.

Although there has been no formal announcement, the Hospital Corporation of America is proceeding with plans for an Aug. 2 ground breaking for a new hospital facility. Contractual arrangements with Medical Center Memorial Hospital are said about settled, but not actually executed.

Tuesday is deadline for enrolling in the second six-weeks at Howard County Junior College (where a modest gain over the comparable period last summer is indicated), and Wednesday is sign-up day for the Sul Ross University off-campus courses (including graduate work) at the Big Spring Education Center (offices at Webb AFB education office).

Howard County should be one of the best equipped counties of comparable size in the state. Commissioners have been investing much of revenue surplus funds in machinery; last week they replaced three road maintainers at a cost of $89,000.

Back in 1948 in the Alger Hiss case there were leaks of testimony before a congressional committee. Arguments over pre-trial publicity including television coverage, attempts to discredit a witness, and accusations that high Justice Department officials thwarted efforts of underlings to prosecute.

Nixon began his 1962 book "Six Crises" this way: "If it hadn't been for the Hiss case, you would have been elected president of the United States." This was the conclusion of one of his best friends after the election of 1960.

But another good friend told me just as sincerely, "If it hadn't been for the Hiss case, you never would have been president of the United States or candidate for president."

The ironies persist. Nixon was a 35-year-old freshman congressman from California when a Time magazine senior editor, Whittaker Chambers, accused Hiss, a highly respected former State Department employee, of espionage for the Soviet Union.

The forum was the House Committee on Un-American Activities, whose hearings then President Harry S. Truman described as a red herring to deflect attention from pressing legislative problems.

As hearings continued into the winter of 1948 and led to a federal grand jury investigation, Nixon remained the firmest advocate of Chambers' truthfulness against Hiss's denials.

His position was vindicated when Hiss was convicted of perjury more than a year later, at the second two trials. But the committee's tactics remained targets of criticism, and Nixon wrote that he made many enemies who never forgave him—and thus contributed to his defeat by the late John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election.

The case made him a national figure, helped boost him into the Senate, and contributed to his selection by Dwight D. Eisenhower as Republican vice presidential nominee in 1952.

Now, with his closest aides and two former Cabinet members accused in the Watergate wiretapping and cover-up, Nixon is fighting to restore the credibility of the presidency he won for a second term in last November's landslide.

In the Hiss case, the issue was Communist infiltration of government and alleged refusal to combat it.

In Watergate, the issue is use of illegal wiretapping and burglary of Democratic Party headquarters, covering up participation by officials of Nixon's re-election campaign and White House staff, and other illegal activities aimed at political enemies.

Standing acreage of cotton on July 1 in the 25 High Plains counties surrounding Lubbock is estimated at 2,828,000, almost 8.7 per cent above the 2,602,000 acres standing on the same date last year and the largest acreage in cotton since 1952's all-time record of 3.9 million.

The estimate was compiled by a joint committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange after gathering information from a variety of sources all over the Plains. The committee agreed that probably about 2,843,000 acres were originally planted to cotton this year, with some 15,000 acres lost to hail, high winds and lack of moisture.

Initial plantings in 1972, according to the Texas-Crop and Livestock Reporting Service (TCLRS) came to 2,657,800 acres, a figure which weather conditions by harvest time had whittled to 2,356,400.

Figures from last year showed Dawson was the state's leading cotton producer with 234,400 bales, nosing out Lubbock with 233,300. Gaines County with 201,900 bales was the third place producer.

Crosby, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn, and Terry counties ranged from 100,000 to 200,000 bales. For counties in this area the 1972 figures were: BORDEN — 20,900 planted, 18,550 harvested 559-lb. yield 21,600 bales; DAWSON — 249,500 planted 215,200 harvested, 523-lb. yield, 234,400 bales; GAINES — 224,900 planted, 203,900 harvested 473-lb. yield, 201,000 bales; HOWARD — 80,600 planted 67,400 harvested, 399-lb. yield, 56,000 bales; MARTIN — 116,000 planted, 103,000 harvested, 342-lb.; 76,500 bales; MIDLAND — 25,300 planted 22,400 harvested, 438-lb. yield, 20,400 bales.

RATES GO UP No Early Impact Seen On Loans

State National Bank has raised its interest rates on passbook savings to the 5 per cent maximum, retroactive to July 1, but John Currie, executive vice president, saw no immediate impact on interest rates charged present borrowers or future consumer borrowers for items like new cars.

The bank's announcement came on the heels of a government decision to boost the top interest that banks and savings and loans associations can pay on consumer-type savings accounts.

Investors funds go wherever there is the best rate and best situation at the time," Currie said.

Currie could not recall local bank savings deposits fluctuating as much as seven per cent ever.

In addition to the higher interest rate ceiling, the amount of reserve banks must keep deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas has been changed.

Basically, now banks must keep 13 and one half per cent deposited with the federal reserve system compared to 13 per cent reserve required before last week.

By reducing the amount of money available for loans, interest rates may be affected, Currie noted.

With little home building in Big Spring this year, Currie saw no shortage in funds available for home mortgages.

TO INVESTIGATE

Before advertising an increase rate paid on savings, savings and loan association management and directors must thoroughly investigate to insure the firm can afford to pay the new maximum rate, the manager of one financial institution commented.

Council Eyeing Efforts To Cut Back Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Cotton Council, noting the current crunch on protein supplies from oilseed, is raising questions over the effects of possible action by Congress to impose tighter lids on government farm payments.

"Farm program legislation now being considered in Congress will directly influence the volume of production that cotton farmers are able to contribute to meeting the nation's protein demands," the council said Friday in a statement.

The Senate last month approved a new farm bill which includes a $20,000 limit on payments and the House will take up its version next week along with amendments expected from the floor to peg payments to the $20,000 level.

UP TO $55,000

Currently, a farmer can collect up to $55,000 per crop of cotton, feed grain and wheat. Cotton growers traditionally have drawn the largest proportion of supersize payments and have been perennial targets of

Firm Will Cease Its Operations

ODESSA — Because of financial losses, an emergency ambulance firm here does not want to renew its franchise with the City of Odessa July 23.

Baker Ambulance Service yearly counts $20,000 to $40,000 in uncollected fees, Jim Cawley, co-owner, said Friday.

"We are collecting only 22 per cent of our emergency call rates," Cawley said. The firm charges $25 base, plus additional fees for mileage, the time of day and nature of call.

"We have never asked the city for a subsidy for our service," Cawley said.

Baker Ambulance was granted its franchise during summer, 1968, after a local funeral home stepped out of the ambulance business because of losses. Since 1967, the ambulance service has operated here.

Colson: Signs Of Involvement

BOSTON (AP) — Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson says there were signs of high level involvement in either the Watergate burglary or the subsequent cover-up as early as last December, the Christian Science Monitor reported today.

"And those of us who saw little signs here and there and who began to get apprehensive about what we saw... probably did not act as aggressively as we should have," the Monitor quoted Colson as saying in an interview with Godfrey Sperling Jr., the paper's national political correspondent.

"I wish now that the first time I had any indication of any White House involvement I had jumped in with both feet," Colson told the Monitor.

Colson, who maintains that President Nixon had no knowledge of the Watergate cover-up, told the paper that in January he tried, without success, to penetrate a "wall of silence and conspiracy" in the White House in order to get the truth to the President.

"In January, late January, I told the President I was concerned that people higher up in the campaign organization were involved. But I had nothing but hearsay to go on," he told the Monitor.

Colson, who has yet to appear before the Senate Watergate committee, told the newspaper that upcoming testimony will show the President never knew who authorized Watergate.

"I think it will show that the (the President) always was trying to find the answer to that question. His focus of attention was trying to find out who it was who had done it. Meanwhile, people who had been involved were hiding from him who it was who was responsible," Colson was quoted as saying.

Asked to weigh the credibility of disclosures before the Watergate committee by former White House counsel John W. Dean III, Colson told the Monitor, "If it is one-on-one, the President vs. Dean, I can't put them even in the same league. I think it is a tragedy if the American people do."

Dean has testified that he believes Nixon knew of the cover-up attempt as early as Sept. 15, 1972.

attempts to trim the subsidies. The council said that cottonseed provides about 15 per cent of the nation's protein concentrate fed to livestock, second to soybeans as a source.

"Without cottonseed feed, the nation's supply of other, less nutritious, animal feeds would have to be significantly increased," the council said.

Cottonseed is a byproduct of cotton lint production with about 170 pounds of seed produced for each 100 pounds of fiber.

About 850 pounds of seed is produced for each acre of cotton.

Total cottonseed production last year was more than 5.4 million tons, the council said.

"Of this 1972-73 production, 44 per cent was from farms receiving $20,000 or more in government payments," the council said.

DOWN TWO CENTS

For the week ended June 28 the Omaha price was $47.90 per hundredweight, down just two cents from the week earlier average, the department said Friday.

The June 28 price compared with $38.50 a year earlier and a slump in March and April to around $45 per hundredweight.

Prices for slaughter hogs in Omaha last week averaged $39.45 per hundredweight, up from $38.18 a week earlier and $28.23 a year ago.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's food stamp program provided more than $180 million in additional grocery money to needy families in May, says the Agriculture Department.

The extra money comes in the form of bonus stamps provided to qualified persons. The recipients buy a certain amount of stamps each month at costs based on family size and income.

Then they get additional coupons to help boost purchasing power at food stores.

In May, the department said Friday, some 12.5 million persons received stamps, about the same number as in April but 800,000 more than in May 1972.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Choice grade steers at Omaha, Neb., averaged slightly less last week but were still priced near record peaks, according to Agriculture Department market reports.

Vacationing Americans Not Welcome In China

PEKING (AP) — Chinese officials made it clear Saturday that they are not about to open China to vacationing Americans.

They told eight visiting U.S. congressmen that only Americans with special skills, with a few exceptions, will get visas to tour the People's Republic.

Yang Kung-su, chief of the Chinese Office for Tourism and Travel, and other officials met privately with the lawmakers, who are on a two-week tour of China.

Rep. Jerry Pettis, R-Calif., said he told the Chinese they could solve their balance of payments problem, "if they let in even one-third of those who apply."

He said the Chinese didn't seem interested.

China lacks hotel facilities and the large numbers of interpreters required to handle stepped-up tourism, the congressmen said. Tourist facilities are low on the list of national priorities.

The Chinese said "tens of thousands" of Americans have applied for tourist visas to China so far this year. China granted about 100 tourist visas to Americans in 1971 and about 200 in 1972, the congressmen reported.

The figures include Americans invited as guests of the government.

"The typical American who wants to get into this country would be wise not to hold his breath," said Rep. William Mailliard, R-Calif. "They seem to be interested only in having people visit who come on the government's terms—in the services of socialist construction."

The Chinese officials showed strong interest in promoting visits by Chinese-Americans "who want to return to the motherland to die," Pettis said. But they avoided questions whether Chinese tourists might be allowed to visit the United States, he added.

STAY CLEAR OF THIS BITING EDGE
A handler bares a snake's fangs

If A Snake Bites You, An Ice Pack May Help

By WALTER MALONE
Delbert Hutchings, 36, is a surgical assistant at Malone and Hogan Clinic. But when he isn't handling scalpels he likes to handle snakes. Western Diamondback rattlers.

Hutchings said the rattlesnake roundups sparked in him an interest to hunt and handle them. In the last five years he has assisted other snake handlers to gain experience, he said.

He has hunted snakes for 11 years from Amarillo to the Louisiana border to Big Bend and the Davis Mountains.

Hutchings said he has been bitten twice and compared the pain to putting your hand in a "red hot skillet" and pounding it with a "two-pound sledge" hammer.

"It is a burning, searing, throbbing pain," he said.

If he was bitten in the field, Hutchings said that he personally would put ice on the wound if it was available. He would then make half-inch deep incisions over the fang marks in line with the muscle.

KEEP IT WORKING
He would apply a tourniquet only as tight as is applied when a blood sample is taken. He would keep suction working until medical assistance arrived.

He said he would move around as little as possible and try to keep control of fear.

If incisions and suction are applied to the bite, Hutchings said a person has about an hour and a half to reach a doctor before serious swelling and shock begin.

If an incision and suction are not applied the person should be in the care of a doctor within 20 or 30 minutes.

From his experience Hutchings said the rattlesnake is the only poisonous snake in the Big Spring area although there are some snakes that are often mistaken for the rattler or other poisonous snakes like the water moccasin.

He said the white and green coachwhip or prairie racer will simulate a rattling noise within its tail to ward off danger.

A bullsnake which resembles the coloration of the rattler can make a hissing noise that sounds like rattling, he said.

He said that water moccasins have been reported in the Moss Creek area but that the only water snake he has seen is not poisonous but aggressive like the moccasin and even gets white around the mouth when angered.

There are no coral snakes in the area, Hutchings said, but a coral king snake is often mistaken for it.

He said the difference can be remembered by reciting this ditty: red touch yellow — kill a fellow, red touch black — would keep suction working good for Jack.

Hutchings said a rattlesnake picks up his coloration from the surrounding terrain. The snake has a 1000-1500 microscopic "cups" on his scales that pick up bits of dust, thus turning the snake the color of the country around him.

Soap and water will not remove the snake's coloration and will only change when the soil changes, he said.

GOOD CAMOUFLAGE
Hutchings said a rattler's camouflage is so good that the only way he can be detected is by sudden movement of the snake, rattle or flick of his tongue.

If a person gets bitten by a rattler it would probably be by a prairie rattler because that species does not warn before he strikes as the Eastern and Western diamondbacks do, he said.

All rattlesnake venom is about as toxic but the Eastern diamondback is more aggressive and would probably inject all the poison he had at the time while a Western diamondback will strike more for defense than attack and inject less venom, he said.

Hutchings said there may be some copperhead snakes around the San Angelo and Llano area but he has never seen any himself. A copperhead bite is only about one-third as toxic as that of a rattler.

The water moccasin venom is one-half as toxic as that of a rattlesnake, he said, but is a very aggressive snake and may bite more than once or even hang on with his fangs.

Hutchings said the rattlesnake is the only poisonous snake in the United States that gives birth to live young.

Depending on the age of the female and the warmth of the weather there may be three litters a year and eight to 24 young in a litter.

Adak Short On Pollution But Is Long On Weather

ADAK ISLAND, Alaska (AP) — Part of the Frozen Front during World War II and now a Navy Support facility and tiny Coast Guard base, this small island midway between Seattle and Tokyo is short on skyscrapers, pollution and women — and long on weather.

Closer to the Soviet Union than to the state capital at Juneau, the 40-square-mile of frozen earth, ice, snow and eerie Aleutian chain peaks have been described as a place that greets newcomers like a clammy hand on the back of the neck.

For the 5,000 military and civilian residents — all here in connection with the service — it is considered an isolated overseas duty post in defiance of maps that say it is part of Alaska.

LITTLE CRIME
Yet Adak is clean, has little crime, and is a good place to save money because there is little to spend it on outside of reduced-rate military concessions.

When former Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson joked about transferring any military foot draggers to an implied exile on Adak, he got waves of telegrams and letters from outraged inhabitants. Richardson promptly apologized.

It is rich in opportunity for the caribou hunter or halibut fisherman, it has a posh child care center, and a Luigi's pizza shop is two floors over the indoor swimming pool.

Other fringe benefits range from skeet shooting and pilot lessons, hotshot bowling leagues and a good hospital to adequate quantities of the local building material, called "Adak Wood," the remains of makeshift facilities thrown up during World War II.

More than 1,750 naval officers and enlisted men are authorized to be stationed at Adak at any one time. The Aleutians in general were known as the Frozen Front in World War II to thousands of servicemen who found the staging area a muddy, windy, ghostly tent city.

Less than 450 miles west on Attu Island Americans and Japanese fought World War II's only battle on what is now part of United States continental soil.

So what's so bad about Adak? "There's no place you can escape anything," says Dr. Robert Hertzfeld, the little-used, highly trained anesthesiologist on the base.

"There aren't enough women," says Cmdr. John DeLoach, the executive officer.

"NO WAY"
"I get so tired of the weather," says one enlisted man. "There's no way to get off this rock. Me and some of the guys spend our time drinking. How much bowling can you take before it gets boring?"

Ever-present fog and drizzle and gusty winds are said to take a tremendous psychological toll on some Adak inhabitants. Precipitation averages 69 inches a year, only a fraction of it in snow. The mean temperature is 49.9 degrees but the record low is 3 and the record high 75.

But there are some local aberrations to these less-than-extreme conditions, like the williwaw winds that bluster crazily through the outpost, and horizontal rain that works its way through concrete walls.

Diversion is the watchword for many living on the island. Lt. j.g. Paul McMahon runs the special services operation with a vengeance.

Two gymnasiums, one a year old, are available at the naval station. Another is in almost constant use at the U.S. naval communications stations about eight miles away. Both stations have bowling alleys.

There's boxing, wrestling, a new trap-shooting range planned a $725,000 renovation of an abandoned hangar for hobbies.

Movies, many first run, are shown nightly for 25 cents. Intramural sports flourish; and there's a harbor for small boats at Sweepers Cove where warships once anchored.

Altogether, Special Services will spend over $300,000 next year on its recreational operations.

Stay-at-home types can use the 23,000 volume library, or join the music tape club. Twenty-four hour AM and FM stereo radio sprinkles over the airwaves, and television programming runs about 15 hours a day. Both daily newspapers are flown in from Anchorage.

MANY THRIVE
Many thrive in the thus created rich environment.

"You can send the kids outside and not worry about what will happen to them," one Navy wife said. "There's no crime; we don't like cities."

"You simply don't have the worries you have in the lower 48," executive officer DeLoach said. "People get satisfaction from their work. It's sea duty in Navy terms, but some find it better than being on a ship."

Improvements in the last two years have been mandated by commanding officers at both stations. Capt. Gerald Thummel has pushed renovations of barracks for privacy and cheerfulness and demanded that all possible services be provided.

Nevertheless, the most extensive military special services programs can't do anything about what Navy doctors have identified as the two major problems:

The lack of available women for unaccompanied men and the stress placed on individuals and families by isolation coupled with dreary-to-outrageous weather.

"A large percentage of the people we see have psychosomatic problems," said Dr. Harry Shriver, a general medical officer. "We see it here more in younger people than outside, and it's amplified by the conditions. For anyone who brings problems here, they're intensified."

Doctors note that while alcoholism is not more of an Adak problem than outside, it strikes men in their low 20s rather than persons in their mid-30s.

Senior medical officer Michael Stein said, "For the unaccompanied enlisted man, he could go out of his mind with boredom. If they could plan on going to a bar each Friday night and having a drink with a woman, it would solve 90 percent of the problems."

Those problems may be alleviated somewhat later this year when 80 enlisted women are to be assigned to Adak Island.

Two enlisted women barbers now on the island testify they have no problem securing dates.

Hartman Hooser Hospitalized

Hartman Hooser, a local lawyer, is improving at Medical Center Memorial, and his brother Harvey hopes he can be released early this week.

Hartman Hooser suffered from a hemorrhaged esophagus and was in critical condition at first. His brother said he lost a large amount of blood. He is staying in room 241.

HEMINGWAY EX REMINESCES 'Struggling To Make Most Of Poor Times Is Best'

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Hadley Mowrer, 81, looks back over the five struggling years she spent with Ernest Hemingway drinking cheap wine and living in walkup flats and says "I wouldn't trade a bit of it, but I couldn't have lasted much longer with Ernest."

The first wife of Hemingway, she was a sheltered girl from St. Louis when she married the then unknown 21-year-old writer in 1921.

They lived much of the time off her inheritance of $8,000, pinching corners to make ends meet. They traveled off season when rates were low, walked a lot, spent time with friends, which didn't cost money, and borrowed books because they couldn't afford them.

They lived simply in a walk-up Paris apartment on the Left Bank and ate in cheap cafes until he became rich and famous and divorced her for cosmetic heiress Pauline Pfeiffer.

"We lived in the poorest places before he clicked," she says, adding "the poor times when you struggle to make the best of it, those are the best times."

In those days she believes she was right for Hemingway.

"I was good for him. I was able to take those lean years quite comfortably and we had good times."

Despite their parting "I could never learn to hate Ernest," she said, "recalling their days together. "I enjoyed life for a while with him. But the pace was very great. I was dead tired all the time. Then, too, I knew I had a rival."

It was those years in Paris, the years before he made it, that Hemingway reminisced about in "Moveable Feast."

"I always thought I was the one he wrote about," says Mrs. Mowrer, who was seven years his senior. "No one ever told me that. I just know it." Their friends then were people like James Joyce, Gertrude Stein, F. Scott Fitzgerald and Ezra Pound.

Japanese Ahead In U.S. Tourism

WASHINGTON — Japanese with a yen for travel are dominating U.S. tourism statistics for the second straight year.

Japan continued as the leading source of overseas visitors to the United States during the first four months of 1973 with 194,556 arrivals recorded.

That number represents an increase of nearly 50 per cent over the same period of 1972.

Behind the bare figures released recently by the U.S. Travel Service, an agency of the Department of Commerce, were some interesting characteristics of the Japanese traveler to the country.

Robert Jackson, USTS spokesman, was asked how much the average Japanese visitor spends here and what does he want to see?

"Our figures show that the average Japanese visitor is about 30 to 35 years old — much younger than the ordinary European visitor — and the chances are that the Japanese who visits here is on his or her honeymoon," Jackson said.

BUSY ISLANDS

He said fully half of the Japanese who set foot in the United States do so in the state of Hawaii, which has become a sort of honeymoon capital for Japanese newlyweds.

Jackson said another 25 per cent of the Japanese visitors, mainly those from slightly lower income status, visit only the U.S. territory of Guam, in the Western Pacific.

"About 90 per cent of this group are honeymooners," Jackson said, "and they usually arrive in groups of other honeymooners and follow a guide who carries a flag."

Only 25 per cent of the total number of Japanese visitors ever get as far as the mainland United States, Jackson said.

"The majority of these visit western states — usually California." He added that it is mainly Japanese businessmen who travel on to New York and other cities.

GOOD SPENDERS

Jackson said the Japanese honeymooners in Guam and Hawaii are good spenders, generally exceeding the $300 to $400 in purchases and hotel charges (but not including air fare) which the average visitor to the United States spends.

Revaluation of the Japanese yen (or devaluation of the dollar) was cited by Jackson as a major impetus for the increase in Japanese visitors.

"They get more value for their yen currency now," he said.

The situation has prompted the USTS to increase its emphasis on tourism promotion activities in Japan, Jackson said. Whereas formerly USTS took its sales message directly to the public, "we are now zeroing in on travel agents. We've cooperated in a new Japanese-language film production that will be shown to Japanese tour operators to stimulate their interest in arranging group travel to the United States."

Jackson said the Japanese, mainly honeymooners, who travel to Hawaii generally do much more than pitch woo, buy trinkets and sit in the sun on the beach at Waikiki.

"There is an increasing pattern of Japanese investment in the Hawaiian Islands," he said. He noted there are indications of Japanese investments spreading to the U.S. West Coast and predicted that more Japanese would be visiting Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego in the near future.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A New Orleans grocer is dead and his body guard in the hospital with three bullet wounds after a shootout Friday with an unsuccessful robber.

The gunman, wounded in the incident, was captured when the car in which he was riding was involved in a collision shortly after the shooting.

Richard Thomas, 22, New Orleans, who police said was bleeding from five bullet wounds, was taken to a hospital under guard and booked for murder, attempted murder and attempted robbery.

The shootout on crowded city streets began when the bandit forced the grocer's car off the road. Witnesses said the bandit and the guard fired point-blank at each other before grappling for each other's guns.

The guard was able to wrest the bandit's gun away from him, but the robber returned to his car and got another and resumed the shooting.

The guard, although wounded in the neck, hand and side, returned fire and forced the robber to flee the scene in his car.

Police said nothing was taken in the robbery although a paper bag filled with money was found in the car next to the slumped-over body of the murder victim.

Dead is Frank Maydrich, 69, owner and operator of the Venice Gardens Super Market.

The guard, Robert Penn, was listed in fair condition at Charity Hospital.

Funds Invested In Fire Station

FORSAN — The City of Forsan has spent $2,592.93 of revenue sharing funds toward a $10,000 fire department building, Mayor Curtis Jackson (Jack) Lamb said.

This leaves $173.07 of revenue sharing money unspent.

To Open Bids

LAMESA — The Dawson County Commissioners Court will open bids Monday morning on a dump truck and loader earmarked for duty in Precinct 3. The court also will act on an application for airport improvements and near rate hospitalization insurance.

Stamp Collectors Meet Tuesday

Both the experienced and the beginning stamp collector will find interest in a meeting sponsored by the United States Postal Service Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of The Commercial Bank and Trust Co. in Midland. In charge of the program will be Carl O. Hyde, manager, Lobby Programs for the Postal Service in this area. Hyde says, "Those attending will have an opportunity to complete a workbook while listening to an interesting commentary describing a series of slides about the printing of postage stamps." After the work session about stamps, a 19 minute cool-down film entitled "Stamps — A Nation's Calling Cards" will be shown.

Young stamp collectors are especially invited to attend since the program will include much of history of stamps and how many of the great moments of history in our country are commemorated by postage stamps. A large display of stamps and other postal items will be on display.

Telephone Directory Is Rare Item In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The first city of world communism and metropolis of 7½ million people really does have a telephone book, it was discovered Friday.

The ministry of communications has insisted all along that a telephone book listing numbers of private Moscow citizens existed and that there was a copy at the Central Telegraph Office.

But foreigners and nearly all Russians have assumed the telephone book was a mythical thing—like a good hand towel. The books are rarer than czars in the Soviet Union.

The U.S. Embassy, which has people scouring stores daily to buy books, confessed it didn't have a Moscow telephone book.

"We've tried everything including the Ministry of Foreign Affairs," said an embassy staff member. "But we have been singularly unsuccessful."

The telephone book is supposed to exist in four volumes with names listed alphabetically. The first three volumes were spotted in a second-hand book store and purchased by The Associated Press for 16.40 rubles—the official equivalent of $22.63.

"Volume four hasn't been issued yet," said the book seller. The Union Press, which serves many booksellers in Moscow, said all four volumes as a set will be on sale "next week, enough to satisfy all the needs."

Of course, the "needs" perceived by a bureaucratic organization and the needs felt by people often are far apart. "Next week" in the Soviet Union may mean next month or next year.

It is likely the telephone books go mainly to government agencies, such as the police, and to communications ministry post offices and telephone exchanges.

Russians make out their own telephone lists in notebooks, but the wrong number is a citywide plague. Strange voices are on the telephone half a dozen times a day demanding to speak to "Ivan Ivanovich" or "Red Flag Brickworks."

Cotton Relatively Free Of Disease

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Although crops and livestock are making good progress in many areas, the state need rain, Dr. John Hutchison, director of Texas Agriculture Extension Service, says.

Counties in the Panhandle, Rolling Plains and West Texas need rain to revitalize ranges that are turning brown, he said.

DAMAGING RAIN

Coastal and South Texas areas dried out last week from heavy and damaging rain of a week earlier. The moisture is causing heavy shedding of cotton in some coastal areas, and some mature grain sorghum heads are sprouting, Hutchison said.

Most vegetables and melon acreages were lost to the rain or severely damaged. Some armyworm infestation is reported in San Patricio County, one of the wetter areas.

Second cuttings and high yields of hay were recorded in East and some Central Texas counties, he said. Considerable hay cuttings were lost in last week's rain in South Texas.

Cotton spraying has begun along coastal fields where boll weevils and bollworms are being observed. Cotton is beginning to square and generally making good growth in the High and Rolling Plains sections.

PEANUTS

Peanuts in Southwest Texas are making good progress with only minor insect and disease damage. Some damage resulted from wet fields, Hutchison said. District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Hot, dry conditions have hastened the wheat harvest, but ranges need moisture. Some insect populations are building up. The small grain harvest has been completed with good yields.

South Plains: Last of surface moisture beginning to slow cotton growth in some areas although cotton is relatively free of disease and weeds. Irrigated grain sorghum is making rapid growth. A general rain is needed.

Rolling Plains: Moisture is short in 20 counties and adequate in only two. Wheat harvest is complete in 15 counties and nearing final stages in other areas. Cotton is making good growth. There is some fleahopper and boll weevil damage. Pecans are developing well in six counties. Peaches are being harvested in Clay and Knox counties.

North Central: More equipment is being made. Cotton is up to a good stand. Corn is making good growth. Recent rains from west fields, Hutchison said.

Two Are Killed In Plane Crash

GARLAND, Tex. (AP) — Gregory Alexander, 24, and a passenger, Allen Dee Ward, 5, were fatally injured late Friday when the airplane Alexander was piloting crashed at a private landing strip in far north Garland.

Alexander's daughter, Tanya, 6, was hospitalized in serious condition.

The pilot was killed instantly. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, died early Saturday.

Alexander, a Braniff International employee, was taking his daughter and her friend for a ride when the plane's nose shot up momentarily and then the craft plunged to the ground.

Store Managers Learn To Cope With Problem

By ANN STEVENS

Ever noticed any Coke bottles blending in with the jars of pickles on your supermarket shelf? Or a carton of fresh strawberries peaking out from behind the shortening?

This phenomenon seems fairly common in grocery stores, not because the managers plan it that way but because customers cannot fight the temptation to leave their unwanted items in the most convenient rather than most appropriate spots.

"It's quite common and just natural," explained M. O. Clemmons, manager of the Foodway who said the practice has been going on the entire 24 years he has been in the business.

"It's like cleaning house. It's irritating but it's part of our job," he said of the job it creates for employees of the store who check the shelves each morning and come up with half a buggy-load of misplaced items.

Why do people put items in their baskets and then later on shelves on the other side of take them out and leave them ment operators are needed to speed the small grain harvest, beginning to bloom. Cotton is looking good, and vegetable and bollworm activity. The tables in home gardens are producing well. Average or above range conditions exist.

WARM, DRY

Northeast: Soil moisture is adequate. Second hay cuttings are under way with good quality and excellent yields. Cotton is up to good stands with a minimum of insect damage.

Far West: Grasses are getting short on extremely dry ranges. Irrigated crops are making excellent growth. Alfalfa, onion and cantaloupe harvesting is under way. The small grain harvest is complete. Lamb and calf growth is being slowed by hot weather.

West Central: Warm, dry conditions have hastened the small grain harvest, and yields have been generally better than expected. Most cotton is planted. There is some replanting of haled out areas in Tom Green County. Rain is needed but livestock remain in good condition.

Central: Good growing conditions exist and moisture is generally adequate. Some fleahoppers are showing up in cotton. Grain sorghum prospects appear good. Hay harvesting is bringing good yields and quality. Ranges are still providing good grazing, but rain will be needed soon.

East: Second cuttings of hay are being made. Cotton is up to a good stand. Corn is making good growth. Recent rains from west fields, Hutchison said.

South: Heavy rains caused some shedding in cotton. Mature grain sorghum heads are sprouting in some fields. Most vegetables and melons were lost to the rains. Armyworms are showing up in San Patricio County. Pastures and livestock are in good condition. Hornflies and mosquitoes are causing some livestock problems.

Reporting System Being Installed

J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced today a reporting system for West Texas to give the cost-of-living council information to correct what he called some of "the distortions in the economy of West Texas and the nation" as a result of the recent price freeze.

This reporting system has been set up to give the cost-of-living council factual information as to how the price freeze is adversely affecting business and the consumer, said Godfrey.

West Texas businessmen, chambers of commerce and association executives are urged to report immediately to the Price Freeze Impact Data Exchange in Washington, D.C., any facts that have caused distortions in their areas. This information will be transmitted hourly to the cost-of-living council.

Data needed to shape administration policies should include names of companies that have curtailed, altered or terminated production because of the price freeze; products involved; reduction in working hours or employment; if so, number and hours, cancelled orders.

This information should be submitted by wire or fast mail immediately to Price Freeze Impact Data Exchange, 1615 H St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20006.

Disgruntled Policyholder Kills Two, Then Himself

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two insurance company adjusters were killed and a third was critically wounded by an apparently disgruntled policyholder who then shot himself to death, police said.

A secretary for Employers Insurance of Wassau also was wounded in the shooting spree Friday in the firm's downtown Sacramento office.

Officers identified the gunman as Samuel Smith, 46, of Sacramento.

They said he may have been a disgruntled customer of the insurance firm. An auto insurance claim form bearing Smith's name was found at the scene.

The wounded secretary, Virginia Sullivan, 43, was shot in the chest and was in the intensive care unit at Sacramento Medical Center.

Police Lt. Robie Waters reconstructed this sequence of events:

He said employees of the firm reported hearing no fuss or argument in the office about 10 blocks from the state Capitol.

Mrs. Sullivan was found on the floor with critical wounds and an insurance adjuster was slumped over his desk fatally wounded in the head.

Three other employees of the firm had been conducting a meeting in an adjacent office, and the gunman fired at them as they bolted for the front door.

Two escaped but the third employee, also a claims adjuster, was shot and killed.

The two dead adjusters were identified as Merle Brown, 47, and Larry Anderson, 29, both of Sacramento.

Soon afterward, police arrived and surrounded the building.

On the other hand the number of accidents in which deaths occurred has dropped one per cent, from 1,492, to 1,411 the DPS said.

Traffic Deaths In Texas Gain

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas traffic deaths have reached a total of 1,706 for the year, an increase of 3 per cent over 1972, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

On the other hand the number of accidents in which deaths occurred has dropped one per cent, from 1,492, to 1,411 the DPS said.

Stockton Keeps Lead In GMO

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Dave Stockton, seeking his first victory since 1971, turned back the challenge of Bob Goalby with a scrambling 71 and retained a two-stroke lead Saturday after the third round of the $130,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Stockton, a former PGA champion who won the first Milwaukee Open in 1968, put together a three-round total of 203, 13-under-par on 7,010 yards of windswept countryside that make up the Tuckaway Country Club course.

The 42-year-old Goalby made up two strokes on the leader with a three-under-par 69 and was alone in second with a 205 total. His 69 matched the best of the day as a gusty wind sent scores soaring much higher than the first two rounds.

Cardinals Eye No. 17 Today

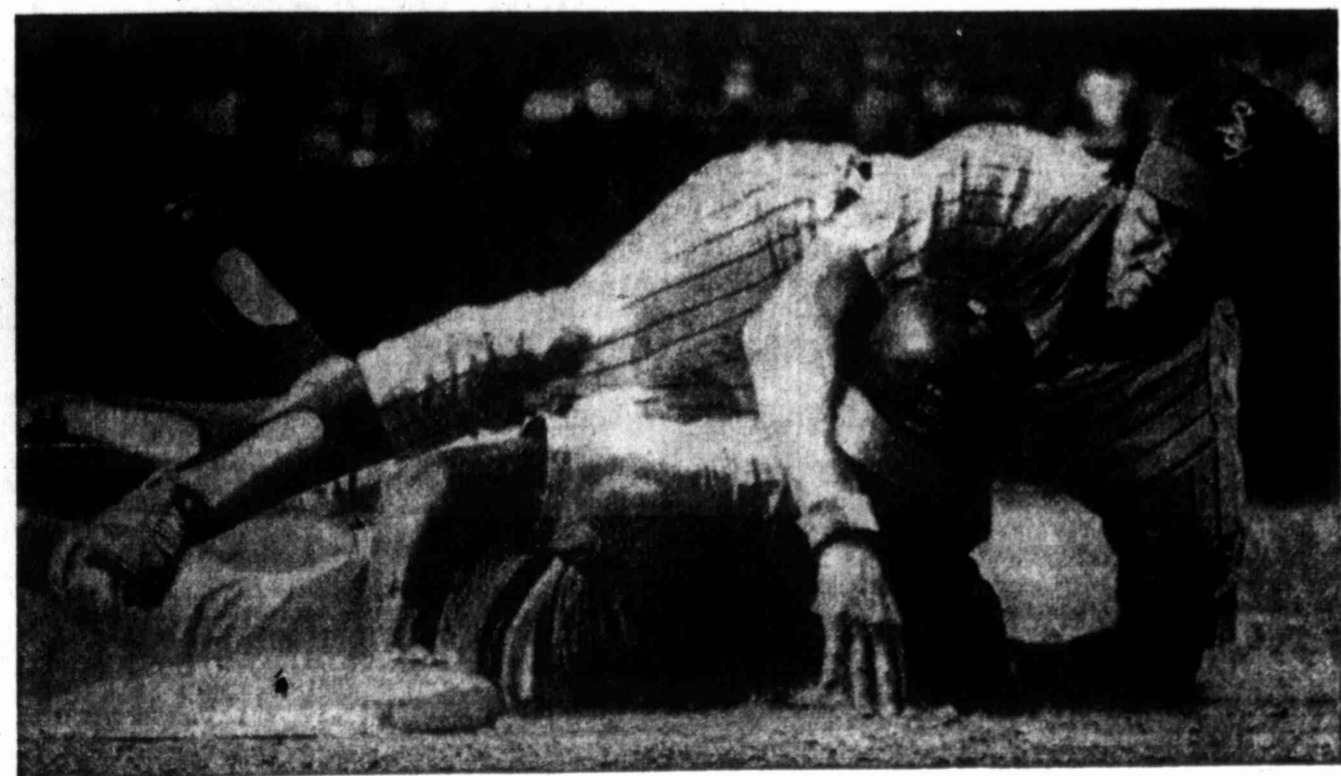

The Big Spring Cardinals travel to Odessa today to take on the Odessa Dorados in a doubleheader beginning at 1:30 p.m. The Cards are 16-0 on the year.

Orlando Olague and Jessie Florez will be on the mound in the twinbill, with Joe Martinez behind the plate. Sammy Rodriguez will start at shortstop, Pat Martinez, Jr. is the first baseman, Jimmy Fierri will be at second and third baseman Billy Pineda rounds out the infield. Outfielders are Jessie Zapata, Andy Gamboa and John Grizzle. Substitutes include relief hurlers Ismael Paredes and William Isen. Newcomers on the team include Adam Yanez, Jesse Olague, and Oscar Cervantez, formerly of the Tiger Cubs.

PRINCETON, HARVARD TEAMS WIN REGETTA

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — Crews from the universities of Harvard and Princeton scored major victories at Henley's Royal Regatta Saturday as the United States made its best showing on the River Thames course in the last decade.

Northeastern University of Boston failed for the second year in a row to topple formidable Russian opponents in the coveted Grand Challenge Cup for eights at the historic regatta. But the final day saw a rare four U.S. winners against three losers.

British Open Favors Jack

TROON, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino takes on the Terrors of Troon this week with the aim of becoming the first American golfer to win the British Open Championship in three successive years.

Britain's legal bookies rated his chances high, but they strongly favored Jack Nicklaus to capture the crown on a Scottish links he has no reason to love.

Nicklaus was the 7-2 betting choice for the ancient title. Trevino was rated second favorite at 6-1.

Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller were up there among the men expected to stand out in a glittering field of about 150 top golfers competing in the 102nd British Open.

The $125,000 tournament gets under way Wednesday over Troon's par 36-36 — 72 links alongside the Firth of Clyde on Scotland's west coast. The winner picks up $13,750.

Trevino has a little bit of history on his side. Troon has staged the open only three times but twice the defending champion won — South Africa's Bobby Locke in 1950 and Arnold Palmer in 1962.

And Troon is Trevino's kind of course. It demands complete accuracy off the tee. The wayward driver tends to wind up with the losers.

Troon is kind of sneaky, too. On the outward nine the first four par-4 holes all are under 400 yards. Many players are expected to make the turn under par.

What locals call the "terrors" of Troon are unveiled on the back nine.

- A testing par-5 of 542 yards with a ditch across the fairway about a drive's length from the tee.

- A par-3 of 223 yards where the southwest wind can play tricks.

- A final par-4 that looks easy, but lures many a player out of bounds.

SAD TIME — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. rests on her knees during her Wimbledon final match against Billie Jean King in women's singles at Wimbledon Saturday. Mrs. King beat Miss Evert 6-0, 7-5 to win the title for the fifth time.

King, Kodes Take Wimby

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "I knew I had to keep her guessing. If you once let her get ahead, she goes ahead" is how tennis queen Billie Jean King summed up her successful strategy Saturday in the first all-American women's singles final at Wimbledon in 16 years.

Mrs. King, a 29-year-old veteran from Long Beach, Calif., claimed her fifth title in the prestigious tennis tournament by downing 18-year-old Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-0, 7-5.

Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia took the men's crown, beating Russian Alex Metreveli 6-1, 9-8, 6-3 in Wimbledon's first final between two players from East European countries.

Billie Jean, who played with cool determination, said she tried to vary her shots to keep Chris off balance. "And with that wind I was taking a lot of chances, putting on topspin, spin and slices," she added.

Chris, subdued but smiling, admitted that the 24-hour postponement of her first final on the Wimbledon center court had taken its toll. "I was up for the match a little better yesterday," she said. "Today I wasn't 100 per cent eager to play."

A packed crowd of 16,000 watched Mrs. King take control from the start against Chris.

Miss Evert appeared over-awed by the occasion and didn't show her best tennis until it was too late to stop Mrs. King.

Chris, who had upset top-seeded Margaret Court of Australia in her march to the final, committed a stream of forehand errors in the 17-minute first set of the match which had been postponed from Friday because of rain.

Billie Jean, playing every stroke as if her life depended on it—she later admitted she was spurred by her only loss to Chris, on clay in Florida—put away smashes and volleys with ruthless effort. Chris, on the other hand, doubled faulted twice.

Billie Jean, who also won in 1966, 1967, 1968 and last year, still trails Helen Wills Moody, who won eight Wimbledon titles, and Susanee Lengie, who won six.

Although the men's bracket was weakened by a boycott of some 70 professional players, the 27-year-old Kodes played like a champion, with his return of service as good as anything seen in a Wimbledon final in recent years.

After Kodes dominated the opening set, Metreveli fought back in the second. He twice broke Kodes' service, but the Czech, showing great maneuverability on the grass, rallied each time and then won the set on a tie-break.

Metreveli, the first Russian to reach a Wimbledon final, had service problems in the third set.

Renko Tames Astros, 6-1

MONTREAL (AP) — Hal Breeden's tie-breaking three-run double in the sixth inning sparked Steve Renko and the streaking Montreal Expos to a 6-1 victory over the Houston Astros Saturday night.

It was the Expos' sixth win in their last seven games and third straight over Houston.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead in the third inning when Clyde Mashore bounced a ground-rule double over the right-centerfield wall, moved to third on an infield out and scored on Renko's single, the first of his three hits.

Houston tied it in the third on Bob Watson's eighth home run of the baseball season but Renko began the tie-break in sixth inning rally with a one-out single. With two out, Tim Lincecum doubled and Ron Woods walked to load the bases. Breeden then lined the first pitch from loser Dave Roberts, 7-7, to deep left-center, clearing the bases.

Montreal scored two more runs in the seventh.

YANKS FALL IN TOURNAY FINALS, 5-2

Tigers Nab City Championship

The Tigers claimed Big Spring Little League honors Saturday night at their home Texas League park, stopping the National League champion Yankees 5-2.

Tiger pitcher David Montanez held the hard-hitting Yankees to six hits and a solo home run by Ronald Sunday, and his teammates rallied for three runs in the fourth to stash away the title. It finished the season for the Tigers at 20-3, while the Yankees ended play with a 19-3-1 standing.

In Friday night's semifinals, the Tigers defeated the International League's Comets 4-2 and the Yankees stopped the Red Sox of the Texas League 8-1.

Montanez fanned 13 Yankee hitters, while Jesse Ybarra rapped a double and a single to head the plate effort. Johnny Hernandez also doubled in the victory, while Dickie Wrightsall, Eddie Hernandez, Brocky Jones and Freddie Martinez contributed singles.

Ricky Cluck was the Yanks' losing pitcher, allowing seven hits and striking out four. Sundry, who homered his first time up, Cluck with a double and a single, Jim Robinson with two singles and Ray Rhymes with a single sparked the Yankees.

The Tigers gained the finals on the strength of Freddie Martinez' five innings of no-hit ball against the International League's Comets Friday night. Martinez relieved starter Johnny Hernandez, who had allowed a run in the first inning. Martinez gave up just one unearned run in the sixth frame.

Hernandez tripled to spark a two-run fourth inning, and the Tigers picked up two more in the fifth as Eddie Hernandez doubled and Brocky Jones added a single. Hernandez and Jones each drove in two runs.

Mike Gomez tossed the three-hitter for the Comets, and had one of the team's hits.

The Yankees rode four home runs and Steve Tipton's one-hit pitching to their semifinals victory over the TL's Red Sox, scoring in every inning.

Ronald Sunday and Randy Cregar each slammed two-run homers and Tipton and Ricky Cluck each had solo home runs, as the Yankees walked into the finals. Sundry, Tipton and Ray Rhymes also had singles in the victory.

Rodney Davidson and Mark Poss paced the clutch Yankee defensive effort.

Losing pitcher Robert Lara got the only hit of the night for the Red Sox.

AT RUIDOSO DOWNS

Rainbow Futurity Today

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Ten of the finest three-year-olds in the nation will hook up in today's $247,000 Rainbow Quarter Horse Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The 440-yard dash offers a cool $80,586 to the winner and tops an excellent 12-race agenda that gets rolling at 1:30 p.m.

Truckle Feature, owned and trained by Gordon Howell of El Paso, looks like a strong favorite. In last week's trials, Truckle Feature sprinted to within one hundredth of a second of the track record for 440 yards. The colt was clocked at 21.55 seconds while winning his trial division by two lengths.

Truckle Feature now sports an eye-opening '73 record of 7-2-1 out of 10 tries. The colt has already earned $64,402, and is regarded by many as the swiftest three-year-old quarter horse in the business.

Truckle Feature will break from the No. 2 post, and will have the services of Ruidoso Downs' leading pilot, Willie Lovell.

Here's how the competition shapes up, in order of qualifying times: Masked Rebel, 21.68; Chicory Moon, 21.70; Rebel Della, 21.76; Miss Ooo Wee, 21.85; The Honker 21.88; Salty Talent, 21.86; Anchor Blob, 21.87; Byou Bird, 21.87; Callmemyoh, 21.86.

Masked Rebel, the property of Robert and Barbara Austin of Weatherford, Tex., turned in the second quickest qualifying time. The filly won her division with 1 1/4 lengths to spare as a 7-2 betting choice.

She now carries a record 3-0-1 from eight starts.

Chicory Moon raced to a three-quarter-length win in his trial division as the wagering favorite. The gelding's '73 record reflects three wins out of four starts.

Rebel Della, who has bankrolled nearly $64,000 to date, hit the wire with nearly a length lead in her trial heat. The filly carries a brilliant record of 4-2-0 out of nine trips to the post.

Another big money winner is Byou Bird. The filly, owned and trained by Waler Merrick, has yet to be out of the money this year. Sporting a sparkling record of 3-3-2 out of as many tries, Byou Bird wound up second in her trial test as an even money favorite. Her earnings are now over $300,000.

Supporting the big event Sunday will be an 870-yard speedburst with Norgor and Paso Peace heading the way. The battle is booked as the seventh race. In the 10th race, a purse of $2,400 will be up for grabs as seven crack allowance sprinter's battle it out over 5/8 furlongs. Floating Star and Nevada Phil shape up as the ones to beat in that one.

Minor Leagues Suggested For Texas' New Sensation

By The Associated Press

Despite the instant success of David Clyde, a young baseball player is better off spending some time in the minors before he tries to make it in the big leagues.

That's the consensus gleaned from major league managers and front office executives in a recent survey conducted by the Associated Press.

"Physically, a player might be ready for the majors at 18," said Harry Dalton, general manager of the California Angels. "But the emotional maturity is not necessarily there, nor is the playing experience."

"Not everything in our game is physical," he added. "Much depends on the knowledge of the game and the poise to withstand pressure. That can be gained only by experience."

"A certain few are capable of making it," observed Houston Manager Leo Durocher, "but how many will you find? David Clyde? He's one in a million, so they tell me."

Clyde, the top pick in the recent free agent draft, was signed by the Texas Rangers out of Houston's Westchester High School for a $100,000 bonus, and immediately placed on the American League club's roster.

In his first big league start, the 18-year-old Clyde — a fireballing left-hander who pitched nine no-hitters and averaged 2.2 strikeouts per inning in high school — gave up only one hit in the five innings he worked, and drew a sellout crowd of 35,698 to Arlington Stadium.

"It was a lot more than I expected," said Rangers manager Whitey Herzog. "I'm just elated with the kid. He's so mature."

Clyde does not like to make an issue of his going straight to the majors.

"I think I can pitch in the major leagues right now," he said. "But if they still want to send me down to the minors, that's okay, too."

Does Herzog like to see a youngster jump straight to the majors?

"When you get someone like David Clyde I do."

Other baseball people were a bit more doubtful.

"At age 18, a young man out of high school still has a lot of growing to do — physically, intellectually and emotionally," said Peter Bavasi, general manager of the San Diego Padres. "The major league environment at an early age could sometimes be a problem."

"It's got to be a very unusual case for a kid to go straight to the majors," said Atlanta Braves executive Eddie Robinson. "Like an Al Kaline or a Mel Ott . . . or maybe this kid Clyde."

"It happens occasionally, but it's a freak accident. Normally it takes about four years in the minors, and then you have to have a solid year in triple A before coming up."

"No high school — or college — player has any business going straight to the majors," Don Zimmer, manager of the San Diego Padres, said flatly. "Then he moderated his view by adding, 'Once every five years or so an Al Kaline will come along, but not often.'"

All-Star Nod To Crenshaw

NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Crenshaw of the University of Texas, the first three-time repeater, headed the 1973 All-American College Golf Team announced Saturday.

The eight-man squad, which also included repeaters Danny Edwards of Oklahoma State, Steve Groves of Ohio State and Gary Koch of Florida, will be honored at the ninth annual All-American Collegiate Golf Dinner July 31 in New York.

Others named to the team, selected annually following the NCAA Golf Championships, were Lance Suzuki of Brigham Young, the first Tony Lema Scholarship winner to make it; Jimmy Ellis of Georgia Southern; Bill Rogers of Houston, and Craig Stadler of Southern California.

Crenshaw, the Longhorns' national junior, captured the NCAA title outright for the second time in competition this year at Stillwater, Okla. He was the first freshman to win the tourney in 1971 and tied with teammate Tom Kite last year.

Ranger's Butler To Lead Texans

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Ranger, Tex., Junior College Coach Ron Butler was named Saturday to coach the Texas team in the annual Faith 7 basketball game between Texas and Oklahoma high school stars.

Butler coached the Texas team in 1968 when Texas lost 78-67.

The eighth annual game will be Aug. 18 at Shawnee High School.

Pee Wee Football

Big Spring boys who will be in the fifth and sixth grades this school year and who are interested in competing in the Pee Wee Football Association are asked to complete this survey by July 10. The form should be returned to Jerry Barron, 3223 Cornell, Big Spring.

Oilier Rooks Begin Drills

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilier rookies, minus their two first-round draft choices John Matuszak and George Amundson, report to the Oiliers annual training camp at Schreiner Institute in Kerrville Monday and the veterans won't be far behind.

The Oiliers will open camp with 75 players, including some veterans, rookies and free agents.

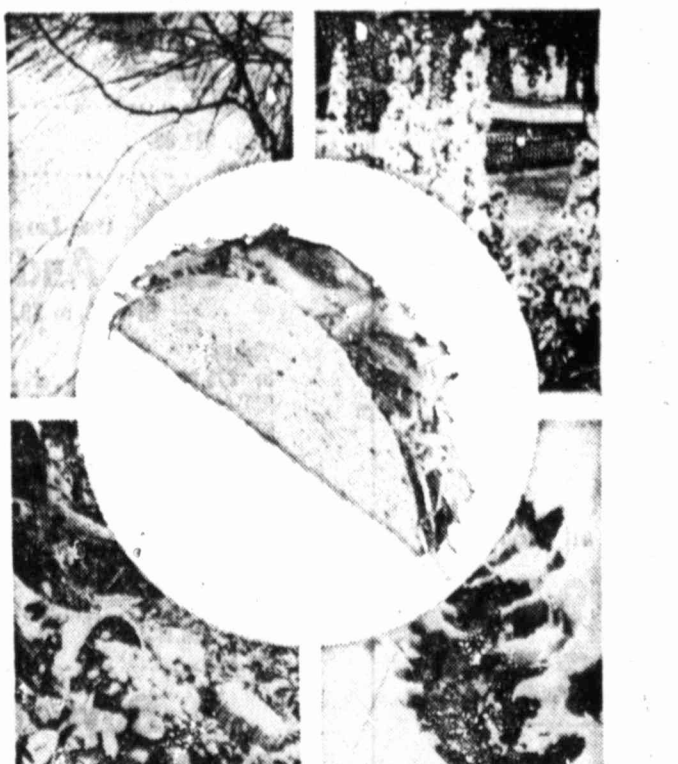

Matuszak, the No. 1 selection in the 1973 pro draft, is playing in the College All-Star game in Chicago along with Amundson, from Iowa State, and Nebraska's Joe Blahak.

They will join the team after the All-Star game July 27.

The remaining Oilier veterans are due in camp July 16 to start training for Houston's first exhibition game Aug. 3 against the New York Jets in the Astrodome.

Among the veterans reporting Monday will be starting quarterback Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dickey, who missed the entire 1972 season with a hip injury, and Edd Hargett, obtained from New Orleans in off-season trades.

It will be a first-time visit to the Hill Country for new Oilier General Manager Sid Gillman, who made numerous off-season trades.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By JERRY METCALF

Here's a little known fact about Sandy Koufax . . . Do you know what kind of start Sandy had when he first came to the big leagues? . . . Most fans don't remember it today, but Sandy actually lost more games than he won during his early years in the majors . . . He joined the Dodgers in 1955 and between then and the end of the 1960 season, he had won a total of 38 games — but he had lost a total of 40 games! . . . Nobody knew at that time that Sandy Koufax would go on to become one of the great pitchers of all-time.

Who was the youngest manager to manage a big league baseball team? . . . The answer is Roger Peckinpaugh, who was only 23 when he was named as manager of the Yankees in 1914 . . . Lou Boudreau is the second youngest manager in major league history . . . Lou was only 24 when he was named pilot of the Indians in 1942.

We've all looked at a baseball home plate hundreds of times — but most people, for some reason, miss this question . . . Can you remember if the point of home plate faces the pitcher or the catcher? . . . The point faces the catcher.

RECORD-MAKER — Rod Milburn of Southern University in Baton Rouge, La. waves to the crowd in Zurich Friday night after he broke the world record in the 110-meter hurdles with a run of 13.1 at an international track and field meet. The 23-year old Munich Olympics gold medalist broke the previous record which he shared by one-tenth second.

Brewers Jolt Rangers, 17-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don Money knocked in five runs with a three-run homer and two-run double and Bob Coluccio belted his first major league grand slam, powering the Milwaukee Brewers to a 17-2 romp over the Texas Rangers on Saturday.

Most of the Milwaukee assault came against Mike Paul and Lloyd Allen after the Brewers took a 5-2 lead against David Clyde, the Rangers' 18-year-old rookie sensation.

Clyde, 1-1, was saddled with his first defeat after he balked home a run that gave the Brewers a 3-1 lead in the third inning.

Clyde was chased in the fifth after Johnny Briggs tripped home a run and scored on a wild relay.

A run-scoring single by Dave May, Money's double and a two-run single by Tim Johnson highlighted a five-run Milwaukee uprising in the sixth against reliever Mike Paul.

The Brewers assaulted the Rangers third pitcher, Lloyd Allen, for seven runs in the seventh on Money's fifth homer of the baseball season and No. 7 by Coluccio.

Angels Nab 2 Victories

The Angels posted a pair of Sophomore League victories last week, lifting their record to 4-8 with a 7-5 decision over the Red Sox Friday and a 12-7 win over the Rebels Wednesday.

Palmer pitched the Angels' fourth win, scattering six hits, while Battle suffered the loss for the Red Sox. Hernandez stroked two hits in the win, and Barber, Kellog and Jenkins added one each.

Against the Rebs, Javier Hernandez was the winner and Bill Arenobia the loser. Kellog, who had three hits for the night, sparked a six-run fourth inning, while Viera, Pfeiffer and Jenkins all came in with two hits each.

For the Rebs, Osborn had three hits.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Novice Kniffen and his staff are still recuperating from that Great Tennis Blitz of 1973, the Big Spring Highway 80 Open, but he still has some pretty good memories of it. The whole meet, which threw some 300 netters from all over the Southwest into Big Spring, went like a charm. No gripes at all.

No gripes from them, at least. But I made up for it. They kept me up three straight nights with things like Chuck Wagon defeated Fletcher Wristlump 6-0, 6-0, 6-0 and then defaulted to Bill Fold. Those are just some examples, you see.

You've got to admire those folks, though. One guy, Ross Persons of Houston, had to play six matches — count 'em — on Wednesday, and two of them were split sets. He won five, all but the men's singles. And then the next day he went to Abilene with a similar plight in his next future. Can you imagine it?

Big Spring High School quarterback Tom Sorley is another whos' recuperating, but his is a little more painful. Sorley, a long-throwing senior, underwent the knife for a knee ailment soon after school was out, and now has an eight-inch souvenir for his very own, stretching somewhere along the inside of his left leg.

He's jogging some now, though, and declares all will be well come September.

And if this guy figured it was worth waking me up at 11:30 p.m. to tell me about it, I guess the least I can do is run it in a column. One of Big Spring's avid fishermen, who wasn't interested in having his name in the newspaper, brought in a 1½-pound carp at Cosden Lake last week.

According to the fisherman, it's the first carp — at least the first of any size — to be caught in the lake.

Atlanta slugger Hank Aaron is rapidly moving in on Babe Ruth's record 714 career home runs, as everyone is well aware of. And if everyone else is aware of it, you can bet — er, excuse me — you can be sure the gamblers know about it.

Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, which claims to be almost as sports-minded as it is bet-minded, decided to do something about the situation. They've come up with a "Caesar's Contest of Clout," and anyone in the country is eligible to enter.

Caesars invites people to pick the date Aaron will deposit No. 714 into the seats, tying the Babe's record. They also want a guess as to when 715 is hit. There will be two winners, the first postmarked date for 714 and the same for 715. Winners get an all-expense paid weekend for two at Caesars Palace.

Send your guesses on a postcard to "Caesar's Contest of Clout," 7th Floor, 72 West 45th Street, New York, N.Y., 10036. Whoopie.

MINOR LOOP WINNERS — The Falcons notched up the Texas Minor League title with a 12-5-1 season standing. RITES HELD FOR GRIDDER

DALLAS (AP) — Funeral services were held Saturday at the Hopewell Missionary Baptist Church for Kenneth Brown, 21, a former starting tackle for the East Texas State University football team.

Brown died Sunday of gunshot wounds he received in an argument with a customer at a South Dallas grocery store where he worked part-time.

The former Dallas high school football star played two seasons at East Texas State University, lettering his freshman year.

Brown played for ETSU during the 1970 and 1972 seasons, then dropped out of school this spring with two seasons of eligibility remaining.

Optimists Rack Flashers In Miss Softball America

The Optimists exploded past the Tommy Gage Oil Flashers 44-4 Thursday, to highlight play in the Big Spring Miss Softball of America action.

Franks was the winning pitcher. The First Federal Belles also had a big day Thursday, bombing the Elks 30-8 behind the pitching of Webb.

The week's results:

Knights, Yanks Nab Victories

The Knights and Yankees picked up victories in Big Spring Sophomore League battles Friday night.

Clem Sanchez scattered four hits and his teammates chipped in 16 safeties as the Yanks earned a 7-2 triumph over the Lions. Phil Woods, Arthur Olague, Mike Burleson, Lynn Dixon, Frankie Rubio, Henry Holguin and Sanchez all batted out two hits apiece in the victory, while Denis Dixon and Tommy Worsham contributed one apiece.

The Yanks are now 4-1 in the second half.

Steve Evans swatted a pair of hits in the losing cause, and Marty Latta and J. Wray Warren managed one each. Bubba Strippling was the losing pitcher.

The Knights picked up their second victory in five tries by stopping the Rebels 7-4. Steve Hughes was the winning hurler, while Randy Crockett suffered the loss.

Elroy Green collected two hits in the win and Chip Wright, Bobby Knight, Albert Barrera, Craig Burk and Hughes all managed one.

Mike Egan sparked the Rebs.

Cubs Visit Bucs Today

The Big Spring Tiger Cubs travel to Snyder today to take on the Pirates in a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader. The Cubs will be out to improve on their 8-8 mark.

Albo Smith will be the starting hurler in the opener, with Felix Hilaria and Johnny Munoz available in relief.

Starting at catcher will be Juano Cervantes, with Melcio Sarmiento at first base, Dewey Jones at second, Billy Wood at third base and shortstop Mike Gonzales rounding out the infield.

Outfielders will be Billy Diaz in right, Ernie Garcia in center and Emilio Ramirez in left field.

Cage Clinic Set Monday In Sands

ACKERLY — Bob Davis, Sands High School Basketball Coach the past three years, will hold a Junior Pro Basketball Clinic beginning Monday in the SHS gym and running two weeks.

The clinic, for youths 8-14, will begin at 8 a.m. Monday with a boys session, while the girls will follow at 10:15 a.m.

Davis reminded all youngsters to bring permission slips signed by their parents when they report for the workouts.

JUST WAIT TILL NEXT YEAR—Big Spring High School baseball coach Larry Horton, right, and Quarterback Club Co-Captain Harold Canning display the new uniforms the Steers will be wearing during the 1974 season. The uniforms arrived last week.

Baseball Clinic Set For Local Youths

Today is the last day to register for the Big Spring Youth Baseball Clinic, conducted by Big Spring High School coach Larry Horton.

The clinic, for area youths of Little League and Sophomore League ages, gets under way at 8 a.m. Monday, with four one-hour sessions slated each day of the week-long affair. There will be another clinic beginning next Monday, but Horton asks that prospective players register by today.

Horton, former University of Texas pitcher who played one year in the New York Yankee system, said the clinic "will not only be fun for the kids, but it'll also be instructional as well as helpful for future BSHS teams. This isn't to run down the Little League program, because I think they're doing a great job. It's just some additional help," he said.

Players will be divided into groups according to age and position.

Youngsters may register by calling Horton at home at 263-3842 today. Fee for the week-long clinic is $7.50.

Wallace Delivers Bankers By 14-3

The Bankers exploded for 11 runs in the second inning and walked to a 14-3 triumph over Harding in Coahoma Baseball League competition Thursday.

Randy Wallace stopped the Harding crew on three-hits as the Bankers scored their 12th win without a loss, and also smacked a home run. Tim Childers rapped three hits, including a triple, and Steve Speers offered a double to aid the effort.

Mike Coffman was the losing pitcher for Harding. J. Roeber led the team at the plate with two hits.

Be A 'Friend'

By JO BRIGHT

Who are Friends of the Library?

Friends are those civic-minded citizens who believe that any community is a better place in which to live if that community has a first-rate library.

They believe in the value of books and reading; they regard a library as an impartial, reliable information center; they look upon it as a dynamic agency for the education of boys and girls, teenagers, adults and senior citizens. In short, each Friend believes that a modern, well-supported library is a basic necessity in any progressive community.

Friends of the library organize into groups to bring together persons who believe in books, who are willing to work for the development of book resources within a community, and who will speak up for library service whenever and wherever their efforts are needed.

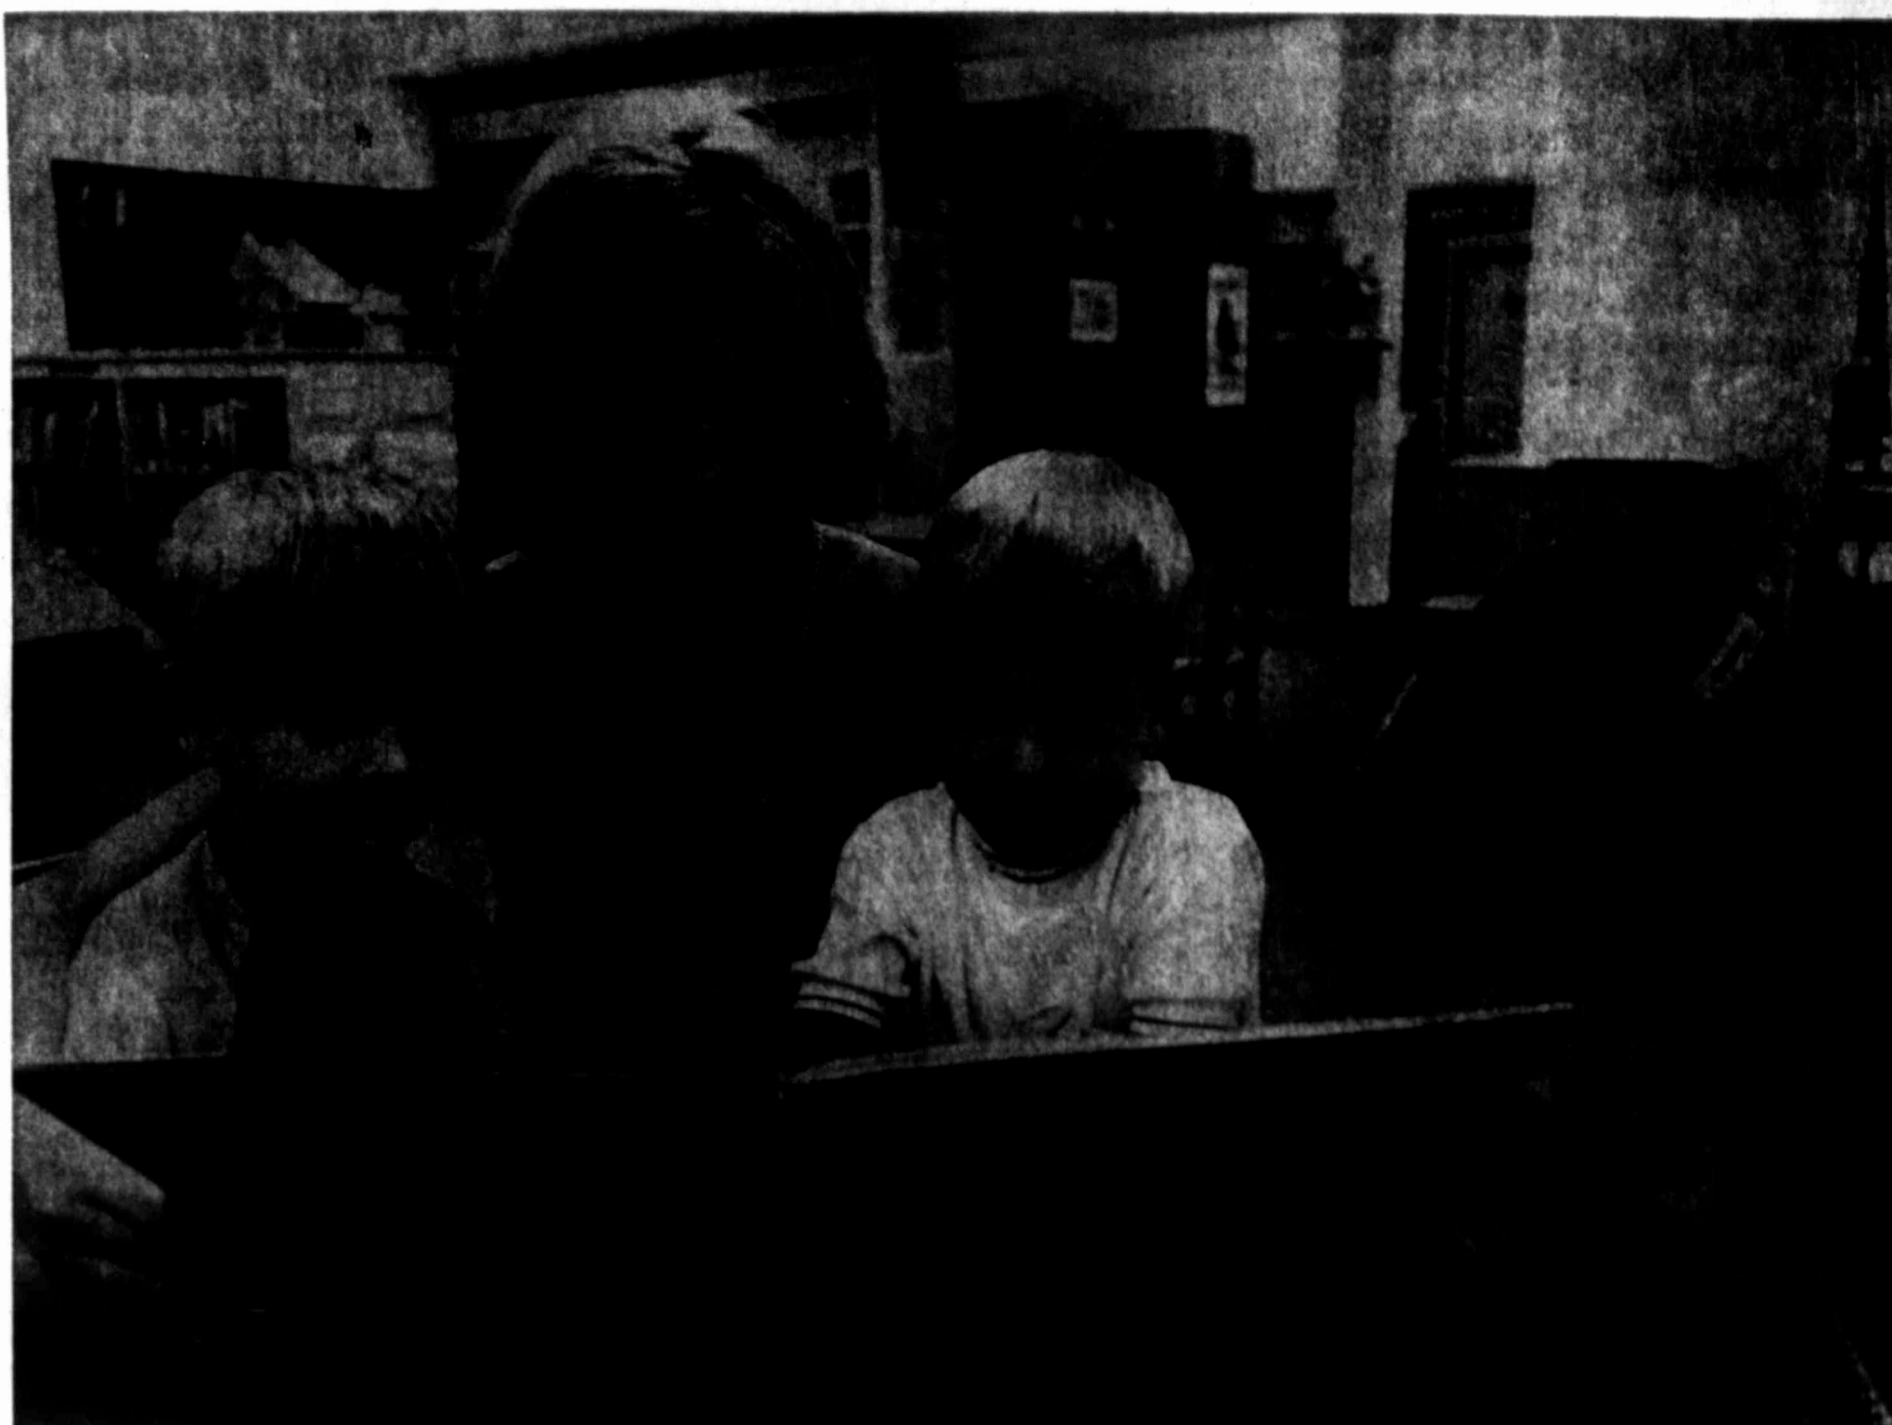

Friends of the Library is a state-wide organization dedicated to helping secure better libraries throughout Texas. It promotes library development, and it binds together persons who want to see existing libraries strengthened, libraries established where there are none — and books brought within reach of all.

In working toward these goals, the FOTL helps improve existing services, resources and buildings; seeks to develop public understanding of libraries and the vital role they can play in today's living; stimulates public support through gifts of money, books, furniture, bequests and endowments, sponsors displays, speakers, book reviews, film programs, book drives, book fairs and record concerts; and encourages young people toward librarianship as a career through publicity and scholarship aid.

The local chapter of FOTL was organized in 1967, beginning with a booster organization which numbered no more than 20. But they had their eyes on the future of Howard County Library — and what it could possibly be. They set out to relate the needs of the library to the public, and to get the support needed to supply those needs.

Through the years, the FOTL has helped provide new books, sponsored book reviews, assisted with the Children's Story Hour, purchased film, projector, records and provided numerous other physical improvements for the facility.

Current officers are Mrs. Calvin Daniels, president; Mrs. Harold Davis, vice president; and Mrs. Floyd Mays, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Doug Williams will be chairman for this year's book sale slated July 27-28 in the basement of the library. Information on how you can become a friend of the Library may be obtained by contacting one of the FOTL officers or Larry Justiss, librarian.

OPEN A BOOK and you open a child's mind to pleasure that can last a lifetime. Introduce him to the world of books, and the delight of reading can never be denied him. At Howard County Free Library, the Children's Story Hour is a quite time for finding friends among the pages of books that live forever. Here, Karen Stovall introduces "Peter Pan" to Charlie Bott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bott, and Derek and Lana Bolls, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bolls.

AVID READERS find the summer months an ideal time to catch up on the backlog of best sellers. Above, members of Friends of the Library make good use of the facility. From left, they are Mrs. Harold Davis, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Brazel, Mrs. Calvin Daniels, president; Mrs. Floyd Mays, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Doug Williams, book sale chairman. Assisting the women in checking out their selections is Mrs. W. R. Crossover.

BOOK LOVERS spend hours browsing among the growing number of volumes on hand at Howard County Free Library. There is something for everyone, from technical publications to current fiction which provides light reading for a summer night. Examining one of the new books is Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper who is a popular book reviewer for Friends of the Library.

MRS. JAMES G. WILDNER (Photo West)

Wedding Rites Held In Baptist Church

Miss Brenda Gayle Webb became the bride of Lt. James G. Wildner during a ceremony at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the College Baptist Church.

The couple stood at an archway entwined with daisies and boxwood greenery. Branched candles held yellow tapers flanked the arch, and a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and daisies centered the altar. The rites were performed by the Rev. Jimmy D. Law.

Mrs. Dale Cain, pianist, provided traditional wedding selections, and vocalists were Roger Dixon and Miss Mary Webb, sister of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Darwin Webb, 107 E. 15th, and the late Mrs. LaVerne Webb. Wildner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wildner, South Bend, Wash.

WHITE GOWN

The bride's sleeveless, floor-length gown was fashioned in white crepe with a scooped neckline and a short train which was edged with lace. Matching lace formed the scalloped lace collar and trimmed a sash at the natural waistline. An organza veil fell to the shoulder from a fitted lace headband, and she carried a cascade of white and yellow camellias, lily of the valley and satin streamers.

Miss Cathy Macklin was maid of honor, while Miss Teresa Johnson, Canyon, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore formal green gowns of yellow and green embroidered cotton voile which were styled similarly to the bride's. They carried nosegays of yellow and green carnations tied with long satin streamers.

Serving as best man was 1st Lt. Leland Cox of Webb AFB and groomsmen were 1st Lt. Robert Mokos, Webb AFB, and David Wildner, Aberdeen, Wash., brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Wildner will reside at 1904 E. 25th, No. 114, when they return from San Antonio where he is taking pilot instructor training. Prior to entering the Air Force, Lt. Wildner graduated from Grace Harbor Junior College, Aberdeen, Wash., and received a bachelor's degree in industrial mechanics from Central Washington State College, Ellensburg, Wash. Mrs. Wildner is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. She was formerly employed at Carver Pharmacy.

RECEPTION

A reception honored the newlyweds in the church activities building. A green lace cloth was used on the refreshments were served by Mrs. Andy Neiland, Abilene; Mrs. Weldon Wood, Miss Teresa Griffin and Miss Karen Stovall.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's mother of South Bend, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Mason and Jerry Mason, all of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Woods, Lamesa; and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Woodridge, New Braunfels.

Liquid Nylon Can Prevent Raveling

Aerosol liquid nylon, when sprayed on fabric, fills spaces between fibers and prevents raveling. Invisible, it dries almost instantly yet doesn't change the hand of the fabric, says Vivian Warminski, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Skin Moisturizer Gives Skin Color

Warm weather and too much sun can dry skin out. A moisturizer is an important part of any beauty plan. Some cosmetic lines have moisturizers with a hint of color to give you a glow under or over foundation. You can even use the moisturizer blush without foundation if your complexion is good enough.

Pros, Cons Of Credit Discussed By Club

"Using credit is now the rule rather than the exception," said Mrs. J. B. Apple Thursday for Big Spring Credit Women at Settles Hotel.

Mrs. Apple said some merchants view credit as a necessary evil, whereas others consider it a way of attracting new customers. She said merchants cannot eliminate charge sales, but that the ratio of cash to credit business can be increased through "cash and carry" promotions.

As a means of gaining new business, Mrs. Apple suggested use of advertisements stressing acceptance of credit cards. She urged the use of displays inviting new charge accounts.

When screening a credit applicant, she said employees should be wary of people residing in rooming houses or transient quarters, and of people who have been at a residence or job for a short period of time. She emphasized the importance of maintaining good records and sending statements regularly and promptly. In making collections, she said employees must be impersonal, firm and consistent.

A recent state meeting of credit clubs was held in Fort Worth, and Mrs. Apple discussed some of its highlights. She said a husband and wife may now request two separate files be kept at credit bureaus, and if a wife applies for credit, the credit bureau cannot divulge information from the husband's file unless it is specifically asked for.

During the business meeting, Mrs. C. O. Nalley resigned. The group will meet again at twelve o'clock noon, July 19, at the Settles Hotel.

Soft, Sheer Shirts Top Collection

NEW YORK — The theme song of Oscar de la Renta's latest collection is the shirt, whether it makes a soft, full belted jacket or a little dress for day or night. His daytime fabrics are linens and soft, sheer silks, often combined in the dress and jacket costumes that he likes much better than separates this season.

Specially to remember is Oscar's strapless top navy blue linen daytime dress with a jacket of dotted and white surah and his skinny evening caftans of the sheers, softest silk. Evening dresses of ombre chiffon, like the one that shades from off-white to green are all kissing cousins to the caftan family. Oscar likes evening pajamas and makes an acid green pair with pleated legs.

MRS. BERT BERGERSON

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Doris Jean Allen and Sgt. Bert Bergerson of Webb Air Force Base exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m., Friday in the Webb AFB chapel. The rites were performed by Chaplain Kenneth Summy as the couple stood at an altar flanked by twin candelabra entwined with white and purple mums.

Mrs. William Martin, organist, provided a prelude of traditional nuptial music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Ramsey, Chaparral Trailer Park, No. 47, Bergerson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bergerson, El Paso.

For her attire, the bride chose a formal-length gown fashioned in lace and taffeta. The bodice featured a high, scalloped lace collar and long lace sleeves. Matching lace edged the gathered skirt, and her floor-length illusion veil fell from a cluster of lace flowers. She carried a bouquet of purple carnations, white Sweetheart roses and baby's-breath tied with long purple streamers.

Mrs. Joe Smith III was matron of honor, and Miss Dana Bradford was bridesmaid. Serving as bridesmaid was Mrs. Charlie Howell. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of purple satin and lace fashioned with French sleeves and scooped necklines. Their bouquets were of purple cornflowers with long streamers.

Sgt. Joe Smith III of Webb AFB was best man, and groomsmen were Jerry Hughes and Sgt. Daniel Gadboise, the latter of Webb AFB. Carl Phillips, Stanton, and Wayne Cox, Imperial, were ushers.

Susie Phillips and Wayne Phillips, both of Stanton, served as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively, and altar tapers were lighted by Charles Phillips and Tony Phillips, also of Stanton.

Following a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will reside at 1604-B Virginia, Sgt. Bergerson graduated from Anderson High School, El Paso, prior to entering the Air Force. He attended Howard County Junior College. Mrs. Bergerson graduated from Big Spring High School and also attended HCJC, where she majored in computer programming and keypunching. She is a teachers' aid at Park Hill Elementary School.

A reception was held for the couple in the Holiday Inn. The serving table was centered with a candelabrum encircled with purple daisies. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Refreshments were served by Miss Betty Steward, Imperial; Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. J. D. Phillips and Miss Kathy Phillips, all of Stanton; and Mrs. J. C. Steward, Clairmont.

Guests included the bridegroom's parents.

Miss Lynne Puckett Honored At Shower

Miss Lynne Puckett, future bride of Glenn Matlock, was the honoree at a bridal shower held Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Johnny Johansen on Johansen Road.

Other hostesses were Mrs. L. D. Spradling, Mrs. Paul Soldan, Mrs. Leon Kinney, Mrs. Nan Howard and Mrs. Noble Kennemur.

Guests were served refreshments from a table covered with a gold cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. Centering the table was an arrangement of spring flowers.

Miss Puckett was presented a daisy corsage, and similar corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. Olen Puckett; her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Gordon, Lubbock; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bertha Matlock; and his grandmothers, Mrs. C. A. Iglehart, Colorado City and Mrs. D. L. Matlock, Westbrook.

The wedding is scheduled July 14 in the First Presbyterian Church.

BINGO BUG

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

RULES OF THE GAME

PLAY AS MANY CARDS AS YOU WISH!

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your Free Bingo Cards from the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY - THE BETTER YOUR CHANCES ARE TO WIN.

HOW TO PLAY: Check the ads in EACH DAY'S issue of The Big Spring Herald. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol (shown above). Occasionally, numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol may be found elsewhere in the paper. Check the classified ad section for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH (JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS) ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE TOTAL OF THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN ALL ISSUES OF THE BIG SPRING HERALD EACH WEEK - YOU HAVE A "BINGO!" - AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

AT LEAST $50.00 WEEKLY!!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50.00 (in "Bingo Bucks" - they spend the same as cash with any of the sponsoring merchants listed below). If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50.00. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50.00 equally. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly prize will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: A new game will start each Sunday and be completed the following Friday. Be sure to check each day's issue of The Big Spring Herald because some of the numbers may appear in each day's issue. All numbers needed to complete each week's game will have appeared by each Friday's issue. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published for each week's game. A new color of Bingo cards will be available each week at the sponsoring merchants' stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced each week on this page.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, on which all 24 numbers have been matched with the total of numbers published during the week in The Big Spring Herald, print your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card, on the back of your card and mail to: The Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry Street, Big Spring, Texas 79720, Box 1431 (the envelope containing your card must be received by 5:00 P.M. Monday of the following week) - or bring your card to the office of this newspaper at 710 Scurry Street, Big Spring, Texas, by 5:00 P.M. Monday of the following week.

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY: There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at the office of this newspaper - also at the public library - also a Bingo card and/or copies of The Big Spring Herald, containing the Bingo numbers may be obtained by mailing your request to this newspaper (please print your name and address clearly). You may play as many cards as you wish - they are free. Get additional cards - one at a time - each day of the week - from the merchants listed below (ADULTS ONLY).

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK: The color of the cards change each week. To be a winner, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week. Mutilated or altered cards will not be honored. ALL 24 NUMBERS ON A CARD MUST BE MATCHED TO WIN.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS: Bingo numbers for each week's game are drawn strictly at random at the office of this newspaper. Some duplication of Bingo numbers may appear in the merchants' ads - or elsewhere in the paper. This duplication does not affect the game or the total numbers drawn. All numbers for each week's game will appear someplace in the sponsoring merchants' ads - and possibly elsewhere in the paper. Employees of this newspaper and members of their families are not eligible to win any of the prizes. Newspaper Bingo is a program copyrighted and registered by Marketing-Research Associates, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

ALL 24 NUMBERS on any card you play must be matched with the numbers published in the Big Spring Herald each week. You must play cards of the color designated for each week to be eligible to win. Just "X" matching numbers on your cards as shown above.

Couple Recites Vows In Coahoma Church

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Vicki Lynn Tyler and Charles Terry Denton at seven o'clock Friday evening in the Coahoma Church of Christ.

Ralph Beistle performed the rites, and a church choir sang nuptial selections. The bride and groom stood at a heart-shaped archway entwined with boxwood greenery and accented with white doves. Arched candelabra flanked the altar, and a spiral candelabra was placed in the center background.

PARENTS

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Tyler, 3311 Cornell, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Denton, Route 1, Box 316, Big Spring.

The bride's formal-length gown was fashioned in white peau de soie with an overlay of Chantilly lace. The empire bodice featured a high wedding ring collar and long Juliet sleeves. A wattleau train, trimmed with lace, swept from the back of the A-line skirt, and her waist-length illusion veil fell from a peau de soie and lace bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and blue camellias, lily of the valley and pearls tied with long satin streamers.

Mrs. David Harrington, matron of honor, wore a floor-length blue knit dress fashioned with floral print sleeves. The bodice was gathered at the natural waistline and featured a low rounded neckline. She wore a blue garden hat with long blue chiffon streamers.

Miss Julie Hall was junior bridesmaid and wore a blue and white floral print cotton dress styled similarly to the matron of honor's. She also wore a blue garden hat, and both attendants carried nosegays of blue carnations tied with satin ribbon.

John Stanley Phillips, Big Spring, was best man, and Mark Barr was groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Charles Hall, Sand Springs, and Fred Newman, Stanton. Nora Dawn Phillips was flower girl and was attired in a blue floral print, floor length dress.

TO DALLAS
The newlyweds planned a trip to Dallas and Fort Worth, after which they will reside in Sand Springs. Denton is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Howard County Junior College and Tarleton State College. Currently, he is employed at Cosden

MRS. CHARLES TERRY DENTON

Refinery. Mrs. Denton graduated from Big Spring High School and attends HCJC. She is employed at Ward's Boot, Saddle and Western Wear.

A reception honored the couple in the church fellowship hall. The refreshment table was covered with a floor-length white satin cloth edged with a wide band of eyelet lace. A tall brass candelabra holding blue and white carnations, greenery and votive cups centered the table. Serving were Miss Diane Hamilton and Mrs. Bruce Allen, Coahoma.

Relatives who attended from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Holloway, Mrs. Vada Haile and Mr.

and Mrs. Troy Roberts, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Zilbert, Lubbock; and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Denton, Odessa.

Westbrook Families Take Trips

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Dale Kelleys are vacationing in Paris, Texas. The Alfred Taylors of Lancaster, Calif., formerly of Westbrook, were recent guests of the Rex McKennes.

The Maxie Wares are in Houston.

The C. E. Rannes will leave Saturday for a visit with their son and family, the Eddie Rannes, Denton, and the Royce Feasters, Lufkin.

Steve, Sharla and Gayle Rollins are visiting their grandparents in Snyder. The W. A. Bells spent the Fourth of July in Lubbock with her sister, Mrs. A. J. Hollkart. Her mother, Mrs. A. K. McCarley of Colorado City, returned to spend the week with them.

The J. C. Clawsons, Albuquerque, N.M., were recent guests of his parents, the P. E. Clawsons. The Jerry Shaws, El Paso, are visiting his mother.

Summer Scents

Light fragrances — lavender, honeysuckle and jasmine — are better suited for the summer than heavy scented perfumes.

Ceremony Slated At Littlefield

The wedding of Miss Milynda Morris to Mike Walker has been scheduled for Aug. 25 in the First Presbyterian Church of Littlefield.

Miss Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Morris of Littlefield. A graduate of Littlefield High School, she is a senior journalism student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Walker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie D. Walker of Coahoma. He is a graduate of Loraine High School and a senior accounting student at Texas Tech University.

False Fanny

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote and asked you if you knew where she could buy a false fanny and you replied, "Send me your name and address and a stamped, addressed envelope and I will let you know."

Well, I wasn't the person who wrote about it, but I sent my name and address and a stamped envelope making the same request, and you told me where I could order one.

Well, it came and I want to thank you, Abby. My clothes look a lot better on me, but here is my problem: Should I tell a guy (not as soon as I meet him, but after we get to know each other better) that I have a false fanny? I don't think it's fair to wear something fake without being honest about it. I mean, one day we might get to the point where he'll find out himself.

How should I handle this? FALSE FANNY
DEAR FALSE: Don't wait until you get to that point. Just before you think he might find out himself, give him a little warning.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years, my sister, who lives in another state, has been writing me letters that are filled with nothing but her illnesses, the deaths of her friends (whom I don't even know) and any gossip about the family that is bad. She even rehashes the world situation, dwelling on the doom and gloom. After reading one of her letters I'm so depressed I just sit and cry. I have written to her, asking her to please quit sending me such depressing letters, but it hasn't helped.

I don't want to sever our relationship completely, but I don't know how else to deal with her. I never write depressing letters to anyone. I am a happy-go-lucky person by nature, but could spread plenty of gloom if I wanted to. I have tried not answering her letters, but she doesn't need a letter to answer. She writes once a week regardless. Please tell me what to do.

ANOTHER DAY RUINED
DEAR RUINED: If you want to let your sister know you mean business, return her letters UNOPENED. She may be hurt and shocked, but I promise you, she'll not write many more depressing letters after that.

DEAR ABBY: A reader thought it would look "ridiculous" for a 47-year-old father to be best man at his son's wedding when the bride had selected a 21-year-old girl to be her maid of honor.

I wonder what that reader would have thought of this situation: When I was 14 years old, I was asked to be the godmother for my new-born cousin. The godfather was my 70-year-old grandfather.

DAVID'S GODMOTHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO THOSE WHO WROTE TO THE EUPHANASIA COUNCIL FOR COPIES OF "A LIVING WILL": If you have not heard from them, please, please be patient. They have been inundated with requests for copies. Thirty thousand additional wills were printed, which were gone in a few days. In order to handle the mail, extra help was called in. Finally, they had to move to larger headquarters. An estimated 100,000 wills have been sent out to date.

MRS. RONALD TED BANKS

Miss Condron Weds Ronald Ted Banks

Berea Baptist Church was the setting Saturday at 7 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Jackie Lynn Condron to Ronald Ted Banks, with the Rev. Gary Higgs officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Condron, Old San Angelo Hwy., and B. W. Condron, 1300 Birdwell Lane. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Banks Jr., 2109 Carl.

After a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas, the newlyweds will reside at 1002 Runnels until August, when they will move to Longview. Banks, a graduate of Forsan High School, will continue his education at Le Tourneau College, Longview, where he is majoring in aviation technology, with plans to go into missionary. He is now employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company. Mrs. Banks, also a graduate of FHS, attended Howard County Junior College and majored in nursing at West Texas University. She is employed by Furr's.

The altar setting, illuminated by branched candelabra, featured columns topped with arrangements of white mums and candles with crystal chimneys. Baskets of white mums, gladioli and yellow daisies completed the decorations.

Nuptial music was by Jerry Oliphant, organist; Mrs. Jerry Oliphant, pianist; and Mrs. Robert Edwards of Canyon, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by Kenneth Williams, was attired in an empire gown of polyester dotted Swiss over bridal satin, the bodice sprinkled with applied daisies. The sheer, puffed sleeves were gathered to wide cuff bands of daisies, and daisies trimmed the small, stand-up collar. Her elbow-length veil fell from a bandeau of daisies, and she carried a cascade of yellow roses, camellias, babies-breath and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Mollie Condron, Lampasas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Banks, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Freddie Maddox, Abilene. Miss Condron was attired in a mint green empire gown of dotted Swiss with green ribbon marking the high-rise waistline and forming a bow and streamers at the back. The other attendants were attired in identical yellow dotted Swiss dresses.

The three attendants wore white garden hats accented with ribbon to match their gowns. Their nosegays were of yellow or green mums tied with tiny bells and satin ribbons.

Betsy Charlene Hale, flower girl, was attired in yellow dotted Swiss.

Randy Banks, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and another brother, Billy Banks, and Tommy Rodman were groomsmen. The ushers were the bridegroom's cousins, Russell Banks and James Banks. Lathy Kenn Williams was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Serving refreshments at a reception in the fellowship hall were Mrs. Carroll Hagle, Miss Karen Stovall, Mrs. Dean Marchant, Mrs. Berry Watson, and Mrs. Chester Faught.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

A bridal shower honoring Miss Polly Wade, bride-elect of Steve Lancaster, was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Jack Burnett, Silver Heels.

Miss Wade was attired in a floor-length pale blue dress trimmed in white as she received guests with her mother, Mrs. Conny Wade, and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. James Lancaster. Corsages of white carnations were presented to the three women.

A pale yellow linen cloth covered the refreshment table, and appointments were of crystal and silver. The centerpiece was a pedestal crystal bowl arranged with white and yellow daisies.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Burnett were Mrs. Helen Dawson, Mrs. Wayne Burns, Mrs. Robert Fuller, Mrs. Jerry Mancill, Mrs. Ernest Welch, Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. R. H. Weaver and Mrs. Odell Womack.

Among the guests was the future bride's sister, Mrs. Bobby Baker of Houston.

Guidelines For Shower Gifting

Some guidelines to shower etiquette may help allay any last minute doubts for those invited. Some rules to follow include:

The gift must be brought to the shower and presented in person, not sent from the store. If the guest cannot attend, she or he may leave the gift with the hostess ahead of time, and the hostess will explain to the guest of honor that her friend couldn't be there in person.

It is usually a tangible gift — not a gift certificate. All presents must be accompanied by a card so that the recipient will know whom they are from.

Of course, people who live out of town may send a gift or a gift certificate to a local store.

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Ha ha! Funny fella! I'm here on business; it's not true." Elizabeth Taylor Burton when asked about the report that she and Richard Burton were separating.

"When you consider that most welfare benefits are reduced and that income and payroll taxes and day care fees rise with increased earnings, you can see that work can quickly become unprofitable." Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., in a study prepared for the joint subcommittee on fiscal policy.

"Women are often afraid they're perverts or nymphomaniacs. I think fantasy is a perfectly normal healthy thing." Nancy Friday author of "My Secret Garden," a book composed of some 400 interviews or correspondence with women on their sexual fantasies.

"To serve the Lord Jesus Christ." Lieut. Florence Dianna Pohlman states her goal as she becomes the first U.S. female chaplain in the armed forces.

"Everybody is over-reacting today, everything is crisis today. I wish we could get our sense of humor back." Mary Wells Lawrence, board chairman of Wells Rich Greene, Inc. whose $414,000-a-year salary makes her one of the highest paid women in the world.

Use Witch Hazel For Work Aches

There is much to say about spring cleaning — much of it unprintable. But there are two good things about it; the feeling of satisfaction when it's finished, and the fact that it's good for the figure.

The stooping, bending and lifting are just like a vigorous session in the gym. Muscles get used that ordinarily just go along for the ride. You know they're being used because they keep reminding you. Tenderness, stiffness and not a little soreness — those are the reminders.

Do as you would do at the gym. Follow the cleaning session with a warm water soak in the tub. Muscles will start to untense. Follow with a witch hazel massage. Massage the muscles lengthwise. It will smooth out the kinks, add tone to muscles and skin.

Color Added For Bridegroom

This spring, the most colorful character in the wedding party is most likely to be the bridegroom, as formal attire literally takes on the bloom of youth. According to a popular brides' magazine, more young people than ever before are altar-bound and an unprecedented percentage are opting for formal ceremonies. Among the young, the consensus favors color, and there are pastels in formal wear and accessories available this year. The traditional blacks and greys, which too often cast the bridegroom and his attendants in lack-luster roles, are being supplemented with an explosion of rainbow-hued finery.

Future Homemakers To Gather In Dallas

Elaine Martin, a junior at Sands High School, Ackerly, will be among 1,400 delegates attending the 1973 national meeting of Future Homemakers of America Monday through Thursday in Dallas.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, Ackerly. She will serve as Area II president for 1973-1974 and as vice president of her FHA chapter.

Other representatives attending from Area II are Nancy Prybyla, Klondike; Nancy Smith, Loraine; and Rita Cornett, Gail. About 100 of the 1,400 delegates will be from Texas, plus 50 adult advisors. Mrs. Betty Romans will head the Area II delegation.

The four-day program will accent the theme, "Impact '73." Officers and delegates will conduct and participate in "talk-in" sessions and "action labs," exploring ways to carry out in-depth projects that relate to their home economics classroom work.

The keynote address, "Change — Coping or Coping Out," will be given Monday evening by Miss Louise Roy, New York, national director of youth activities for the national foundation. Miss Nancy Hodgkinson, Garden City, Kansas, national FHA president, will preside during business meetings. Election of 12 national officers will be held, with results to be announced Wednesday.

The Texas delegation is responsible for hostess duties and information at the convention. Activities will include sight-seeing and a Texas barbecue and rodeo. Future Homemakers of America is the national organization for students in home economics and home economics related courses in the secondary schools. A self-supporting, non-profit organization, it is sponsored by the Division of Vocational and Technical Education, U.S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association.

Faith Is A Strong Ally

We have come to a strange and potentially perilous point in our history. Seldom before has the American system been subject to so many stresses that threaten to tear it asunder.

Only in the foreign affairs field are prospects relatively reassuring. A beginning has been made on the great task of healing the divisions which created two world wars, and the Korean and Vietnamese conflicts. The hope has been raised that communism and capitalism can coexist peacefully, arising from the belated realization that we can exist together, just as Christians and Moslems realized that they must exist in the world together.

But our economy is in difficult straits. We have inflation and an unacceptable rate of unemployment at the same time. The ghettos of our large cities are momentarily quiescent, but could spring to life at any time, sparked by poverty, impossible housing conditions, and the frustrations that lack of hope and of job opportunity can kindle.

Everyone seems to have been caught in a price squeeze from housewives to poultry growers, from home builders to money-managers. Prices generally are higher today than at any time in at least 20 years. The dollar is under attack, making our imports costlier with every depreciation of the dollar in the international money market.

We are face to face with an energy crisis which is real enough, whether it was contrived or not. Billions of dollars will have to be spent each year to make up the difference between domestic production and demand. No public transportation system to meet this crisis has been devised, nor has any serious consideration been given in most cities to expansion of transportation. The crisis may be with us until 1980, or longer. Rationing of gasoline and of electricity use is certainly possible.

Contributing as much as anything else to the pervasive uneasiness among the people is the loss in confidence of national leadership. This issue is not apt to be settled conclusively until 1976, and there is a disturbing lack of a personality or personalities on the horizon who might inspire and lift the spirits of the country.

But we have had many, many difficult moments in our history, and we have surmounted them. We just have short memories. Meanwhile, faith can be one of our strongest allies.

No Simple Answer

In striking down a variety of state plans for providing public aid to nonpublic schools, the Supreme Court apparently has doomed a promise of the Nixon administration to offer such aid on a federal level.

The court's ruling is a mixed blessing. The basic reasoning jibes with the constitutional strictures against mixing state and religion, since most private schools are church-oriented. But those parents of children in parochial and other private schools will doubtless have to pay more for the choice they have made — if parochial and private schools indeed can continue to operate at all without some public assistance.

But if parochial education is doomed in some locations because of inability to meet the cost, those students will have to be absorbed by public schools, at additional cost to taxpayers.

There has been a particular danger in parochial aid in the South and in urban centers, where the trend has been to isolate the poor and the black in public schools, while the children of wealthier and white parents enroll in private schools. Carried to its lengths, the policy could have ominous overtones. The answer obviously isn't a simple one.

The Solution

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Congress generally is in session five days a week, and really works at it three of them, my technical adviser on Washington affairs says.

I THINK we ought to ask them to do us — the taxpayers — a favor and meet only every other week and work only two days.

Not as a reward. It's just that every time they do something, it costs me money. So the less they do, the better off I'll be.

If it works we could cut their sessions down to every-so-often, and — maybe eventually — do away with them entirely.

Opponents of this plan will term it anarchy — or no government at all. And the more I think about it, the more it appeals to me. It has a natural slogan.

"Let's bring this country to a screeching halt!"

BACKSHOP BOSS Bob Rogers commented "The high price of meat finally got a lot of people up off their rump roasts to protest."

The thought for the day for my dentist, Dr. Charles Warren, is from a dentist whose name was not preserved for posterity. (You remember prosperity — Herbert Hoover insisted it was just around the corner.)

Researchers in Detroit are studying barnacles whose hard shells resemble the calcium makeup of teeth.

They have found that barnacles excrete a very strong glue which may provide a clue about manufacturing a similar substance for dental work.

The perceptive dentist said, however, that researchers have a way to go "because nobody wants a mouthful of barnacles."

THE ARGUS, publication of the Fulton, Mo., State Hospital, says: "Kindness goes a long way lots of times when it should stay home."

Mack McGinnis, Indianapolis, saw some plans for a new church which "is so modern it had bucket pews." Papa Ladd, my grandfather, would turn over in his grave if he knew turnips were selling for 10 cents apiece.

THE PENNSYLVANIA Auto Club says it is dangerous for women to drive in platform shoes, and is asking that all of them be recalled. Shoes, not women.

A Denver meat company owner reports burglars broke into his warehouse and stole $5,490 worth of steaks.

That would serve about 12.

MY BASHFUL aunt, Marie Chastain, gave me two items: A company called Arizona Natural Resources Inc. is marketing mud. They advertise it as "clean Arizona mud" called "Down to Earth." It's to be used to clean your face.

Society note: Champion sky diver Phyllis McCord will make a spectacular entrance at New Rochelle socialite Mary Foster's annual spring party.

Phyllis will land in the middle of the party by parachute — and wearing only her parachute.

Bashful Marie added: "I picked these items up from magazines at the beauty parlor."

Good thinking. That keeps the trip from being a total loss.

My Answer

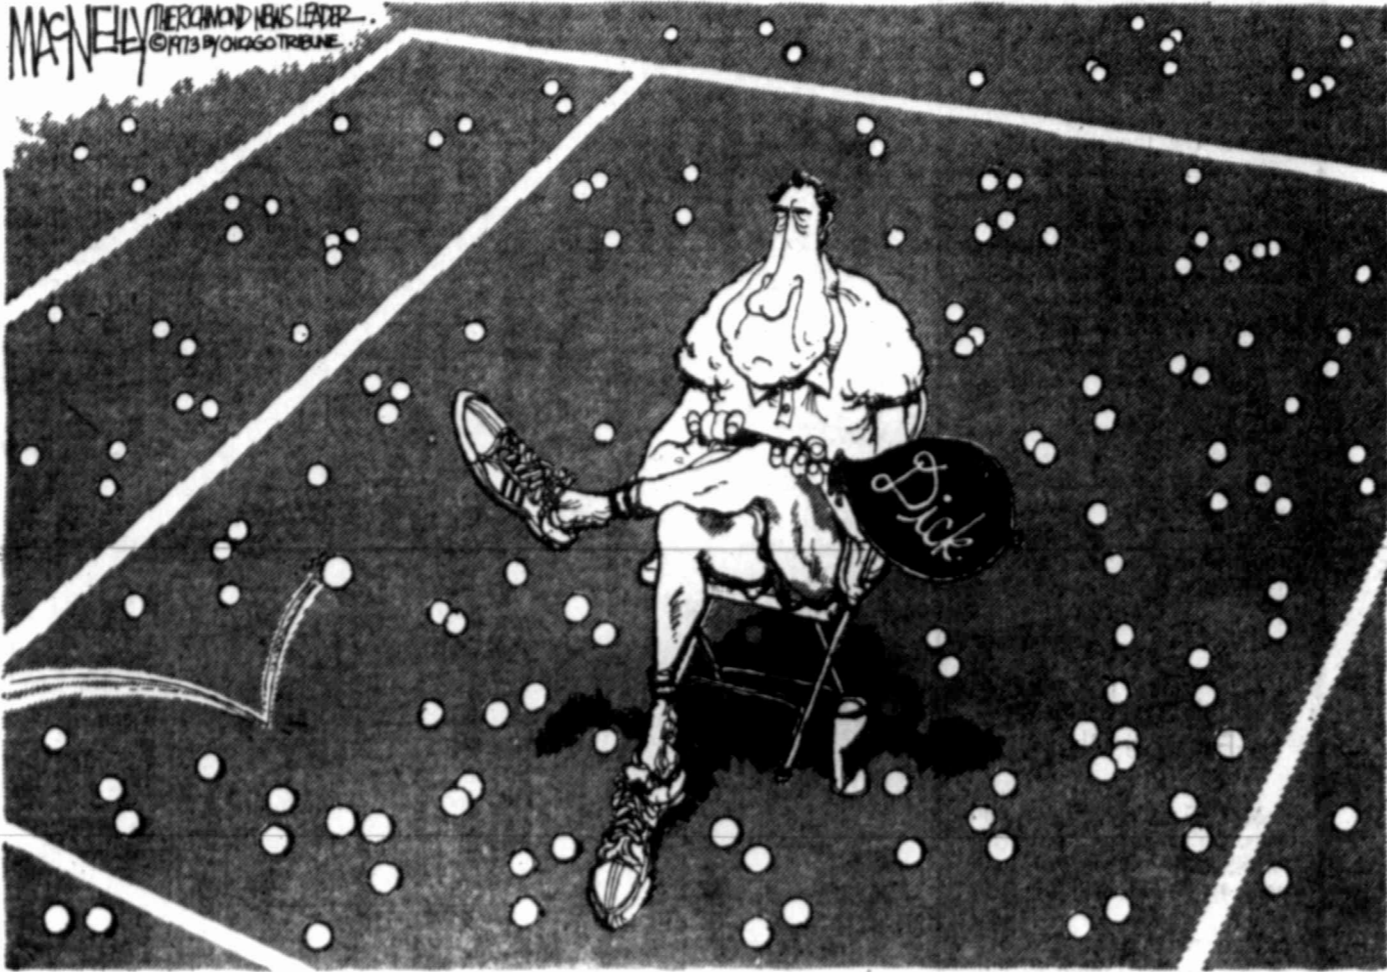

BILLY GRAHAM

I recently read that by 1975, half of our population will be apartment dwellers. I live in an apartment complex, and I know how these people worship privacy. The question is: how will the church deal with this new "high-rise" isolation? D. W.

We've learned, or course, that really "no man is an island" in our complex and seclusion-shattering society. Nevertheless, ever more sophisticated equipment is being installed in the luxury apartments to afford some semblance of privacy.

The church in the inner city has been trying to cope with the practical problem of reaching its neighbors who by definition are disinclined to permit intrusion of any kind. Several techniques have been developed — radio programs that get behind every locked door, the use of the mail with lists prepared from voter registrations, and Bibles and other material left on a table in the mail rooms. What is perhaps most immediately effective is the "planting" of committed Christians in an apartment in the building, serving as a continuing contact and a Bible study base for other residents.

Church history is full of the genius of the Gospel to pierce opposition. Why, the house of a famous agnostic, later became the unlikely headquarters for a Bible society in Geneva.

I grant you that our civilization presents some unique problems in sharing the Gospel of Christ. I am optimistic, however, that God's Holy Spirit, charged in the first place with the task of announcing truth, will find effective ways to do it.

A Case For Nixon

William F. Buckley Jr.

There is a case to be made for Mr. Nixon's declining to enter into a dialogue with the Senate investigating committee, though I find it formalistic. There is no case at all, that I can see, to delay presidential comment on the exchange of memoranda between Charles Colson and John Dean; and, in particular, the memorandum from John Dean to John Ehrlichman, which will go down in the history of syntax, if not in the history of politics, as the memorandum on Maximizing the Incumbency.

THUS IT BEGAN, with that perfect fidelity to bureaucratic pomp so appropriate to the bloated ego and the diminished mind. "This memorandum addresses the matter of how we can maximize the fact of our incumbency in dealing with persons known to be active in their opposition to our Administration." Get that "our Administration." And he was addressing, in this memorandum, the two top officials in the Nixon staff: Robert Haldeman, the chief of staff, and John Ehrlichman, the chief adviser on domestic political affairs. This wasn't the cleaning woman then, addressing the night watchman at the Metropolitan Opera, referring to "our production of Aida." The memorandum went on: "Stated a bit more bluntly — how we can use the available Federal machinery to screw our political enemies."

Mr. Dean suggested a modus operandi. "Key members of the staff (he named top presidential assistants) could be requested to inform us as to who they feel we should be giving a hard time. The project coordinator should then determine what sort of dealings these individuals have with the Federal Government and how we can best screw them (e.g. grant availability, Federal contracts, litigation, prosecution, etc.)."

In other words, a citizen who is listed as in "active opposition" to "our Administration" would pop up in the "project coordinator's" radar screen whenever he came into contact with a government agency. He might be a business man seeking to deal with the SEC, or the FCC, or the FTC, or the CAB, or the OEO, OR THE DOD, to limit to a half dozen the hundreds of executive agencies with which a business man might need to deal. Or he may be a journalist, filing his tax returns with the IRS, or seeking the aid of an Embassy abroad on assignment.

AND FINALLY Dean acknowledged the need to proceed with his plan to persecute people who are hostile to "our Administration" with some care. "I feel it is important that we keep our targets limited. . . low visibility of the project is imperative. . . we can learn more about how to operate such an activity if we start small and build." Build means, presumably, to expand the list of people to be "screwed" by the Nixon Administration for insufficient servility to it.

I have lodged a lawsuit against people who use the term imprecisely, a fact I mention only for the purpose of drawing attention to the holy precision with which I think the term needs to be used. Dean's memorandum was an act of proto-fascism. It is altogether ruthless in its dismissal of human rights. It is fascist in its reliance on the state as the instrument of harassment. It is fascist in its automatic assumption that the state in all matters comes before the rights of the individual. And it is fascist in tone: the stealth, the brutality, the self-righteousness. It is far and away the most hideous document to have come out of the Watergate investigation.

By DEBORAH M. RANKIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing pressure of inflation was reflected this past week in broad increases in interest rates and a report that June wholesale prices rose at their sharpest rate since the Korean War boom.

The lone bright spot was a government report that the jobless rate has finally responded to the expanding economy and dropped below 5 per cent last month for the first time in three years.

The increases in interest charges indicated that the cost of borrowing money has gone up, and paralleled boosts in the costs of other items such as food, clothing and industrial materials. The interest rate hikes applied to everything from corporate loans to savings accounts to mortgages.

NEARING RECORD The nation's commercial banks increased their prime lending rate twice during the week and lifted it to 8 1/4 per cent, just under the historic high of 8 1/2 per cent reached during the 1969-70 credit crunch. The hikes in the minimum borrowing fee banks charge large corporations means big business will find it more expensive to obtain loans.

Consumers, who had been exempt from the upward sweep of interest rates under government guidelines instituted earlier this year, came in for

Inflationary Pressures Felt

The Week's Business

- Wholesale prices rise most rapidly since Korean war
- Price rate at 8 1/4 pct, nearing all-time record
- Passbook rates up, but so is interest on home building
- Food, clothing industrial materials show prices gains
- But, one bright spot glitters with unemployment decline

two rate increases of their own this past week. One allowed them to receive higher rates on savings accounts but the other paved the way for them to pay more on home mortgages.

BANKS AND SAVINGS The Federal Reserve Board, which acts as the nation's money manager, said its member banks could increase the maximum interest rate on passbook savings accounts by one-half a percentage point. The boost from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent on the accounts, the most popular type of deposits used by small savers, was retroactive to July 1.

In a related move the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates savings and loans associations, raised its ceilings on passbook accounts from 5 to 5 1/4 per cent. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. took similar action for national banks. The move was aimed in part at inducing more consumers to place their funds in savings and loan associations, the major source of mortgage money. The flow of funds into these thrift institutions has been slackening recently because the institutions were not allowed to pay rates comparable to those in the money market.

UP MORTGAGE RATES In a separate action to maintain a pool of mortgage money, the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration raised the ceilings on home loans they now insure or guarantee from 7 to 7 3/4 per cent. The boost in the ceiling on government-backed home loans, which account for less than 20 per cent of total new home owner mortgages was the first in that rate in 3 1/2 years.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the nation's unemployment rate dropped to 4.8 per cent in June.

Keep Insulin Supply Cool

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If a person has diabetes and uses insulin, should the insulin be stored in the refrigerator after it is open and being used?

Some of our relatives think that because it sits on the shelf in a drug store, it can be at home, too — T.Y. It's wise to keep it in the refrigerator although not a necessity. It IS necessary to keep insulin cool, though, and the refrigerator habit is one sure way of making sure it isn't left somewhere that can get too warm — in a cupboard above the stove, for example, or on a window ledge where the sun can beat on it, or near a radiator.

Keep this in mind when traveling. In your car, keep the insulin out of the sun. And keep it out of other parts of the car that become warm: Under some conditions, the trunk and the glove compartment can get quite warm, so beware.

Some seasoned travelers use a small thermos bottle and slide the bottle of insulin inside it.

That's good insurance. As to drug stores keeping insulin on the shelf — well, some do and some use a refrigerator, but if they keep it on the shelf they take pains to choose a spot that won't be in direct sunlight or exposed to other excessive warmth.

Besides, the bottle hasn't been opened, and in any event the supply is sold rather rapidly. Most stores can gauge quite accurately the amount that will be needed.

After you buy it, a bottle lasts from 10 days to three weeks, depending on your dosage, and it does not deteriorate rapidly — unless exposed to heat.

But never let insulin freeze! That can change the chemical structure. So when we talk about keeping it in the refrigerator, don't set it anywhere near the freezing compartment.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How do you get rid of a body louse? I don't know where I picked them up. Do they get in the blood stream? — Mrs. G.I.M. No, they don't get in the blood stream. But for whatever reasons, lice of various sorts have become much more prevalent in recent years.

If you can see 'em all, you can pick 'em off and destroy them — but unfortunately they have a habit of laying almost invisible eggs, attached to the shaft of hairs on the body, so eventually some more hatch.

Most efficient answer is to have your doctor prescribe a medication that destroys both the lice and the eggs.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Good News!

WASHINGTON — Tung Dat, who lives in the village of Bomb A Gen outside of Phnom Penh in Cambodia, came running out of his hut the other morning and shouted, "Good news! Good news!"

"THE VILLAGERS gathered round. "What is your good news?" asked Nu Dong.

"I just heard on the radio that President Nixon and Congress have reached a compromise, and we can only be legally bombed by United States planes until Aug. 15."

"That's good news?" Nu Dong said.

"WELL, IT could have been worse. You see, Congress didn't want to let the President bomb at all. At the same time the President insisted he needed the bombing to implement the Indochina cease-fire. There was going to be a constitutional crisis.

"Fortunately, cooler heads prevailed and everyone agreed it was all right for the President to bomb us for another month and a half — and that was it."

"WHAT HAPPENS if the B-52s bomb our village in the next month-and-a-half?" the schoolteacher Won Low asked.

"I guess that's just tough luck," Tung Dat said. "Look, I would just as soon the President stop the bombing tomorrow, but he had to save face with Congress. If he agreed to cease the raids because of pressure from The Hill, it would have made him look very weak. The question that we all have to answer in this village is: Do we want our homes intact, or do we want a weak President of the United States?"

"I would rather have my home," Grandmother Ling Lang said.

"HUSH, OLD woman," Tung Dat said. "Do you realize that this extension of the bombing for another month-and-a-half could affect the entire peace of the world? If Cambodia falls to the Communists, then they will be encouraged to foment other civil wars in other countries. The security of the Free World could depend on what American air power does with their bombs in the next month-and-a-half. Be proud that Nixon has chosen us to defend his doctrine in Southeast Asia."

Sad Overtones

Marquis Childs

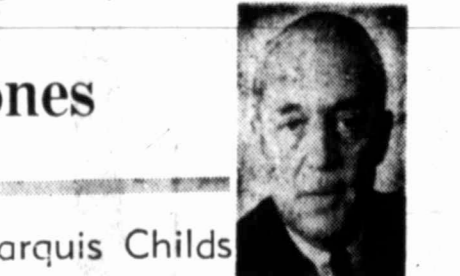

WASHINGTON — The word first applied to Watergate was caper — something slightly absurd, not very important. In retrospect, it may have been deliberately intended, as used by Administration figures, to dismiss the whole affair as a trivial episode. There are comic overtones that also have deeply disturbing implications, notably in the White House list of friendly colleagues for his earnest enemies.

THAT JAMES Reston of The New York Times should be put down as an "enemy" is the height of absurdity, and other instances are equally ridiculous. The failure to distinguish between critic and enemy is a fundamental distortion in the outlook of the Nixon White House.

Reston, to take this example, could hardly have been more measured and just in his criticism of the Administration. He has often seemed to bend over backward to find the good in the actions of the President and the men around him. In a position close to the center he has been subjected to good-natured ribbing by friendly colleagues for his earnest search for the silver lining in the Nixon cloud.

AND THE Voice of America, the USA's worldwide broadcasting arm, is charged with trying to narrow down reporting of Watergate.

IF A FREE and independent press can be destroyed — the free and independent press that brought to light the corruption of the Watergate scandal — then the other freedoms will quickly be lost.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Whatever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son." (John 14:13)

PRAYER: Our Father, thank You for Your everlasting presence and the privilege of communing with You in prayer. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

Miss Andra Madry Weds Jerry Webb

Miss Andra Jean Madry and Jerry Don Webb were married Friday evening in the First Baptist Church, Coahoma, with the Rev. Monroe Teeters officiating.

The church setting was enhanced with a heart-shaped arch, accented with pink roses and flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and pink daisies.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Madry, 3101 Navajo, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Webb, Vincent Rt., Coahoma.

Carrying a bouquet of pink carnations, orchid roses and English ivy, the bride was attired in a gown of polyester organza styled with bishop sleeves. The empire line was marked with sequined, scalloped lace which extended the length of a detachable chapel train, and the lace was repeated in edging for her full-length veil of illusion.

Miss Paula Madry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Vonda Madry, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Gloria Webb. The maid of honor wore a sleeveless, A-line dress in orchid styled with a high, round neckline, and the bridesmaids wore identical dresses in pink. Their floral headpieces were in pink and orchid, and they carried nosegays of pink gypsophila and orchid mums tied with satin ribbons.

BEST MAN

Don Richters was best man, and groomsmen were Kenneth Furlong and Mark Powell, brother of the bride. The ushers were Leon Langley, Rex Rainey and Dusty Choates, with Charlie Ogle as ring bearer. Jancy Cunningham, Sand Springs, was flower girl, and tapers were lighted by Jill Cunningham and Stephanie Madry.

Music was by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Jimmie D. Hopper, Huntsville, Ala., pianist, and the bride's uncle, Bill Madry, Midland, guitarist.

After a trip to San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Webb will reside at 704 Bell. A graduate of Coahoma High School, he attended Howard County Junior College and is employed by Highland Manufacturing Company. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall, with refreshments served by Miss Cindy Halfmann, Miss Stormy Hale, Miss Kathy Gunnels, Miss Clarice Ringener and Miss Cindy Lester.

Appointed with crystal and silver, the table was covered with white net and draped with garlands of greenery. The centerpiece was an orchid candelabrum arranged with spring flowers.

GUESTS

Out-of-town relatives attending included Webb's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mac O'Bannon, Garden City; Marion O'Bannon, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Madry and Patti Buchanan, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Brady Shadle and Mrs. Lillian Shadle, all of Aspermont; Mrs. Bob Hunnicutt, Channing; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Mauss and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sheehan, all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Byrd, Borger; Elaine Byrd and Doug Byrd, both of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Don Leidecker, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oliver, Temple; and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sheehan, Odessa.

OWC Slate Is Presented

Mrs. Roy W. Peterson, president of the Officers Wives Club, Webb Air Force Base, introduced new officers and chairmen during the group's monthly luncheon program Thursday in the Officers Open Mess.

Sharing the slate with Mrs. Peterson are Mrs. Nancy Cole, first vice president; Mrs. Janie Ward, second vice president; Mrs. Ruth Craig, third vice president; Mrs. Sherri Stillwell, recording secretary; Mrs. Lucy Randall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marlene Missman, treasurer; and Mrs. Donna Miller, assistant treasurer.

Current chairmen are Mrs. Elke Dickinson, ways and means; Mrs. Susan Schaub, Thrift Shop; Mrs. Nancy Schmidt, welcome; Mrs. Beth Stouck, hospitality; Mrs. Joan Wood, publicity; Mrs. G. G. Vander Ven, editor; Mrs. Janet Jagers, spotter roster; Mrs. Jean Clements, special activities; Mrs. Sandi Miller, sports and games; Mrs. Marilyn Morrison, luncheon; and Mrs. Carol Cusano, program.

Also, Mrs. Kay Corbett, reservations; Mrs. Donna Hall, coffee; Mrs. Ann Sparks, nursery; Mrs. Missy Steinrode, commissary; Mrs. Judy Weiland, delegate at large; and Mrs. Pat Danforth, Air Force Village.

Introduced at the head table were Mrs. Stanley M. Umstead Jr., wife of the wing commander; Mrs. Robert G. Liotta, wife of the base commander; Mrs. Whitcomb Jones, wife of the deputy commander for logistics; and Mrs. Jo Bright women's editor of the Herald. Mrs. Ward introduced two guests, Mrs. Adelle Hodo and Mrs. Irene Watts.

During the business session, Mrs. Peterson announced that Mrs. Missman will serve as treasurer for the next two months until Mrs. Cusano can assume those duties.

General chairman for the luncheon was Mrs. Craig, assisted by Mrs. Cusano, program; Mrs. Morrison, menu; Mrs. Sharon Faulkner and Mrs. Haria Hulsey, publicity; Mrs. Carol Crittenden, decorations; and Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Crittenden, door prizes. Tables were covered with white cloths and accented with red and blue spirals and baskets of fruit.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Dorothy Dockter of the Magic Mirror Figure Salon who discussed the advantages of a salon-type program of exercise and figure control. Pointing out its benefits in health and beauty, she described equipment available at the facility and demonstrated corrective exercise for various figure problems.

It was announced that OWC bridge is scheduled at 9:30 a.m., July 19, and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Sandi Miller, 267-5708. Bridge lessons will begin at 10 a.m., July 30, and will continue for nine consecutive Mondays. Cost is $4.

OWC needs about 15 models for a Swartz style show slated Sept. 29. If interested call Mrs. Elke Dickinson, 263-2389. Other announcements included a request for Youth Center volunteers to assist summer swimming programs. Call the Youth Center at 267-2511, Ext. 2714. An orientation is scheduled by Family Services July 30 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Make reservations by calling 267-2511, ext. 2446 by July 27. Westside Community Center is collecting Betty Crocker coupons to obtain a piano for the center. Members with coupons to donate are urged to bring them to the Aug. 2 luncheon.

ENGAGED — Mrs. Lupe Sosa, 901 NW 4th, announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her granddaughter, Belinda Kay Gonzales, to William Rowan Settles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr Lea Settles, 2301 Main. The couple will be married Aug. 18 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Pantry Pickups

Mix soft butter with prepared horseradish and spread over thick slices of cooked beef (from a roast). Broil just until hot through.

Mixed cooked leftover corned-beef makes an excellent spread for crackers when the beef is mixed with mayonnaise and pickle relish.

A loaf of quick bread in the freezer? Thaw it, wrapped, at room temperature allowing about 2½ hours.

Mix a cup of sifted confectioners' sugar with a tablespoon of lemon juice and use as a frosting for sugar cookies.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

'Mary, Mary' Starts At Permian Playhouse

Permian Playhouse, 310 W. 42nd, Odessa, kicks off its summer repertory schedule Thursday with a three successive night run of "Mary, Mary." This will be followed July 19-21 with "Cheaper by the Dozen," and July 25-28 with a repeat on "Cheaper." Then on Aug. 24 "Mary" repeats, followed by "Butterflies are Free" Aug. 9-11; "Mary" Aug. 16-18; and "Cheaper" Aug. 23-25. The box office is P.O. Box 6718, Odessa 79760.

have gathered about $30,000, the board said.

Midland's Community Theatre Summer Mummets have opened their summer season with "Plotting on the Planets," which runs each weekend for nine weeks. Also, the theatre's Pickwick Players are set to present "Runaway" July 19-20-21, and "The Great Cross Country Race" Aug. 9-10-11. The box office is 4847 Midland 79701.

Globe Theatre of the Great Southwest in Odessa is continuing its Shakespeare Festival Tuesday through Saturday evenings, alternating between "Comedy of Errors" and the "Tempest," with a deviation for Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Comes word from Yellowstone National Park that there's no gasoline shortage up that way. The nine stations in the park are meeting all demands, and the same is true of stations in the area. Similar reports are coming back from other travellers from most areas.

Appearing in "Plaza Suite," one of the free public service programs by Sul Ross University's drama department during the summer, is Mrs. Sheri Compton, a Lubbock graduate. She also performs with her husband, Steve Compton, Big Spring, a senior in drama. Other offerings include "Black Comedy" and "The Tiger."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce (Box 1661, Abilene 79604) is now receiving nominations for its annual Cultural Achievement Award. The nominees must be West Texans and able to attend the directors meeting in Kerrville Oct. 11. Past recipients include artists, musicians, authors, craftsmen, cartoonists, corporations and individuals who have supported the arts. The selection committee will need clippings, program, brochures, etc. to help reach decisions. You may have someone you want to nominate.

December-May Love 'Natural Experience'

By The Associated Press
Why can't a mature woman have a romance with a younger man and have it accepted for what it should be — a natural experience. So says actress Merle Oberon, who has brought such a film to the screen as producer of "Interval," in which she plays the leading role.

"As the woman says in the picture — we are all born and we all will die — we live in between . . ."

In a real-life parallel to the movie Miss Oberon, who says she is 56, has been romantically linked with the leading man, Robert Wolders, 37. Now that she is separated from her husband of 16 years — Bruno Pagliai of Mexico City — she has confirmed the rumors: she and Wolders intend to marry.

Her age invites speculation everywhere, she says.

"ALWAYS TALKING"

"People make me feel like I am 100 years old because they are talking and writing about my age all the time. I think it could be aging to think about age . . . I never do on my own . . . In fact one man sitting at a dinner party with me in Los Angeles said, "In New York they are always talking about how many times you have had your face lifted."

"But if one didn't keep herself healthy and well, it would soon look unnatural . . ." she added.

It is pretty silly to concentrate on age in this way, she says. She doesn't consider 56 old. Her birth certificate would reveal that she was born Estelle Merle O'Brien-Thompson, Feb. 9, 1917 on the Island of Tasmania. Her father was a British Army Officer.

It isn't necessary "to show ugly and private things on the screen," she insists. "It is awful too, that the worst of America is filmed and sent to other countries and naturally they are pleased to show that kind of thing. Producers are scared.

Nothing is making money and they are going further out in trying to discover why."

She wouldn't know how to go about making "A Clockwork Orange" or a "Last Tango" she explained, but she had begun backing away from her love story thinking it might be too different from what moviegoers had grown accustomed to. Then an enthusiastic telegram came from Noel Coward advising her not to change a word of the script, which he had read.

After two years in production she plans to take a long rest — a three-month cruise maybe.

"If the film makes money — how much money does one need to be happy — I'd like to use it to do something for older people, to take away from their loneliness. I think about it every day of my life — when I was in Rangoon an old man told me 'I am happy now.' We look forward to being old when we can be cared for . . . we are spoiled and everything is done for us."

HAVE TOO MUCH

In Acapulco she built a 5-acre park for underprivileged children with pool, rink, theater, library, but many children have too much, in her opinion.

"There is the instant car, the instant anything — children should need to forage for their food."

She hopes to put her own children — Bruno, 15, and Francesca, 14 — in schools in the United States — Arizona maybe.

"With 14 servants around how can you bring up children for the kind of world we live in," she remarked.

Her house on the beach in Malibu will provide her with opportunities for interests she loves — walking, hiking, swimming.

"One must care for one's body as one would care for a favorite plant. I feel sorry for people who cannot get outdoors and who have never enjoyed the pleasures of working in a garden and the exhaustion that can make going to bed so marvelous. If more people could do that there would be less meanness in the world, I am convinced."

As for producing another movie — she thinks she might be "too old for all that, not that she feels 'old.'" In fact sometimes when people are talking about how old they think she is, and she reflects upon her accomplishments, "it really makes me feel pretty super," she observed.

Let Him Decide

TEEN FORUM

TELL? (Q) I want to go out with Walt and he wants to go out with Cheri. My problem is that he doesn't seem to know that I want to go with him. His problem is that Cheri isn't interested in him at all.

His sister is my friend. Being as Cheri doesn't want to go with him, should I tell his sister that I want to? If so, how should I tell her? — 15 in Florida.

(A) No, do not tell Walt's sister that you want to be his girl friend.

Just the fact that you want to go with him and Cheri apparently doesn't is no assurance that he would care for you.

Be friendly with his sister. Visit her as often as you reasonably can. And when you see Walt there, be friendly with him. If he likes your friendliness, he will respond.

But let him be the one who does any arranging of dates or any other relationships between you. His sister is not the right person to do the arranging.

DRIVER FEAR: (Q) When does a mother get over the fear of having her children driving in traffic? I do believe I am confident in my son's driving ability, but I am just a bundle of nerves until he returns home.

I know that unless he drives he can't learn to be a better driver. But I am still afraid. I have never ridden in the car when he is driving, and I know that this is unfair to him.

How can I overcome this fear and let him go? He is 16. — All Nerves in Pennsylvania.

(A) Your son may be a better driver than you are. He has studied the process and passed tests and his reflexes are probably better than yours because of his youth. He also is NOT AFRAID. This makes for better driving.

Swallow your fear, buckle your seat belt, and ride with him. Often you do now you may never be able to overcome your fear.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.

Newhart Show Starts Slowly

By DON FREEMAN
Copy News Service
HOLLYWOOD — It is what you might call the season's quiet hit. With very little hoopla and a surprising dearth of recognition, the Bob Newhart Show, on CBS, has frequently found a roost in the top 10. It has won a number of fans (including me) and, yet, for unathomable reasons, it failed to gain even one Emmy nomination.

'OVERLOOKED'
"I can't explain why we were overlooked in the Emmys," says Dave Davis who, with his partner, Lorenzo Music, created the show and function as coproducer and occasional writers. "The show is kind of an acquired taste," Davis says. "We started slowly and then we perked up and now it's almost as though we've been on the air for five years." Davis has a point. It seems in its secure niche following The Mary Tyler Moore Show, that Newhart has been there all the time. Newhart has a way about him and a look about him and that look is hardly that of a comic.

The late Joe E. Lewis once suggested that Bob Newhart looked like some anonymous fellow on the street selling Watch Tower. Newhart would disagree with that but only slightly. "Me, I think I look like a fella who's about two years away from being branch manager of one of the smaller markets."

PSYCHOLOGIST
"For the first time," says Newhart, "I'm playing Bob Newhart, whoever he might be." On the show, Newhart portrays a psychologist, which is a rare profession in a medium where cops and private eyes and lawyers flourish. "At first," says Bob, "there was talk of making me the boy next door. But the network went out and took a poll — turned out that eight out of 10 people can't stand the boy next door."

Backgammon Back Again

NEW YORK (AP) — They're playing it on cummutter trains, at charity functions, among high society and at the local pub. The rich are doing it, the not-so-rich, and everybody else. It's not new. In fact, it's several thousand years old. The Romans called it "ludus duodecim scriptorum"; the French, "trictrac." Chaucer mentions it, and Hoyle wrote the rules. It was once played by kings and their court, by crusaders, by the citizens of Pompeii. Today, everybody's doing it. You might say it's an elitist game that's caught on.

That game, of course, is backgammon, an American version of which is called "acey deucey," and which for generations was known as "tables." At the moment, backgammon is going through one of its periodic upswings in popularity, a cyclical phenomenon as mysterious as the annual rush of lemmings to the sea. Backgammon parlors are sprouting all over the country, sales of backgammon sets are skyrocketing, there are new books to explain it all, and the smartest people at the smartest parties think it's THE game. Why the sudden popularity of a game that goes back to Ur of the Chaldees? EASY LEARNING "It's everybody's game," says Charles Hidalgo, a Manhattan backgammon teacher and entrepreneur of a 24-hour backgammon parlor. "It's fast, it's competitive and it's easy to learn. You can pick up the basics in less than an hour, while it takes a lifetime to master the intricacies of bridge or chess, for example."

NEW GUN FOR WAYNE—John Wayne, whose movie roles usually find him on a western set with a six shooter, tries a new M10 9mm weapon on the set of "McQ."

NO KIDS, NO DOGS
Originally, when Davis and his partner approached Newhart with their concept for a series, he offered only one proviso, No kids and no dogs, Newhart insisted.

Lawyers React Differently To Watergate Significance

By ANN STEVENS
Opinions of local attorneys vary on the appropriateness of the Watergate investigating committee and its televised hearings. The seven senators on the committee — all lawyers — also got mixed reviews from their local peers in the legal profession.

Comments on the committee hearings as a method of dealing with a governmental scandal ranged from R. H. Weaver's verdict of "damaging" to Wayne Burns' opinion of "great."

"The hearings are damaging our country," said Weaver. "The right place for Watergate is in the courts — they are not a trial. The really damaging part of the hearings is the innuendos, the slight references that are condemning a lot of people."

OPPOSITE VIEW
Burns took the opposite view. "If you relied on the courts alone to ferret out the truth in this case, you'd become entangled in legal rulings and rules of evidence which would seriously hamper the whole picture coming out.

"Quite often, rules of evidence prevent the whole story from being presented. While there's a good reason for them in the trial of a lawsuit, in a political situation like this they can keep the public from hearing things they have a right to know," he continued.

A sort of middle ground position was taken by Harvey Hooser. "The Senate has been making investigations like this for years and years. It's part of our checks and balances system, but it has become sensationalized by virtue of the TV coverage," he commented.

"TOO EARLY!"
Richard Milstead stood on neutral ground on the appropriateness of the hearings. "It's too early to tell. Senatorial procedure gives the questioner more leeway than the courts would permit but lets witnesses give answers that wouldn't be permitted in court. Whether this is good or bad, well, it's just too early to tell."

Actually, none of the four seemed dismayed at the hearings themselves but the daily television broadcast of the sessions did rile them a little. "I'm not a Republican in any sense of the word. I've been a Democrat all my life, but I think the TV coverage of Watergate is making a laughing stock of our government," said Hooser.

R. H. WEAVER

The four all said they thought Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.) was a good questioner.

"From the limited number of hearings I've been able to watch, I'd say Baker asks the most pertinent questions, getting to the very heart of the matter than dealing on the fringes with nitpicking things," remarked Milstead.

Neither did the locals have anything encouraging to say about Joseph Montoya (D-N.M.). "He hasn't asked a pertinent question yet from what I've seen. He's just repeated things the witnesses have already answered and asked 'is that true,'" said Milstead.

Burns said Montoya's partisanship shows through more than that of the other committee members excepting only Gurney and Weicker.

IMPARTIAL, NO?

He said the other four (Baker, Ervin, Inouye and Herman Talmadge) all seem impartial in striving to get at the truth.

In seeming disagreement, Weaver said, "Everyone is seeking the truth, but it is obvious that the tenor of each member's questioning is according to whether he's a Democrat or Republican."

Differing opinions were inevitable, probably, because asking for comments on the Watergate investigations and investigations is hardly as cut and dry as asking for comments on the effectiveness of Perry Mason.

INOUE CITED
"I was impressed," said Weaver, "with the questioning of the Republican minority rather than the Democratic majority. Most effective would have to be Howard Baker because he is considerate, forthright, knowledgeable and articulate."

Sen. Daniel Inouye (D-Hawaii) was considered by Burns to be the most effective questioner. "It seems like he asks the most penetrating questions and the ones that reflect most closely those in my own mind."

Burns went on, however, to praise Chairman Sam Ervin (D-N.C.), saying that he has a better command of constitutional law than any other member of Congress.

Hooser said, while each member has his own particular "pet" phase of the scandal about which he centers his questioning, that no one is any more effective in his questioning than any other.

A DUBIOUS HONOR
Burns and Milstead gave Sens. Edward Gurney (R-Fla.) and Lowell Weicker (R-Conn.) the dubious honor of being most slanted in their questioning. Both agreed that Gurney has a definite pro-White House bias while Weicker has an anti-White House bent.

Hot Weather Bad For Pets

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA) reminds pet owners that summer months mean added responsibility to pet care.

Fleas, ticks and summer eczema are an increased threat the association reports.

Akin M. Simpson, doctor of veterinary medicine, said fleas and ticks are picked up from bedding, grass and even from homes. Various medications are available to control them, he said.

Exema is a skin disease that causes the skin to turn red and form a moist irritation, Dr. Akin said. Exema can be caused by scratches or such things as not rinsing a pet's coat well after a soapy bath.

An owner should be sure that strong chemicals applied to a pet's skin such as flea powder does not irritate the skin.

The TVMA also warns pet owners to take responsible care of a pet while traveling.

Dr. Akin said owners should make sure care is available wherever the family stops to spend the night. Some motels and hotels do not accept pets and others provide kennels, he said.

Owners should be sure to leave car window open enough to allow heat to escape and let fresh air in when a pet is left in the car, he said.

Pets may also suffer from motion sickness, he said, and tranquilizers are available for nervous pets in the car.

Tomato Dealer In Tulsa Shut Down By 'Freeze'

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A long-time Tulsa produce firm which handles tomatoes said today it has shut down because of the price freeze.

Quinton Langston, of Langston and Sons Produce Co., said he is caught in a squeeze and has no way to operate.

"The ceiling price on tomatoes is so low we can't buy and sell to our customers," Langston said.

The freeze, which went into effect last month, has put a lid on their prices that is below what they can purchase, Langston said.

"At the time of the freeze we were billing to our customers at $5.00 on 20 pounds and $7.00 on 30 pounds," he said. That was about the cheapest price level all winter.

"Now the market in California is $7.00 on 20 pounds f.o.b.

(before freight), or $2.00 over our ceiling."

At Hermitage, Ark., a major supply point for Langston, the price is $5.00 on unclassified tomatoes and $8.00 on no. 1 for 20 pounds, he said.

The Arkansas seasons will last until about July 20, he said, and then nominally he begins buying from California.

"But unless the market drops or the ceilings go off, we are out of business."

While he is frozen on prices, Langston says a trucker who never handled tomatoes in his life "can go out and pay the farmers any price and sell them." They were not limited by the freeze which is based on prices that were being charged by each firm at the time it went into effect.

THE DANGER OF POLIO IN 1973

Twenty years ago the hot summer months brought the fear of polio to every parent. And now, in 1973, in spite of the availability of an easy to administer and effective vaccine against polio, one out of every three children in the 1-4 year old age group has not been immunized.

With the development of the oral dosage, Sabin vaccine, protection can be obtained without any discomfort. It is administered on a sugar cube, or a few flavored drops are put into the child's mouth. Only by being sure that all children are immunized can we be certain this dread disease will remain dormant.
