

First Bales of Big Cotton Crop Reach Gins, Area-Wide Report

Floyd county cotton raisers are making feverish preparation for the opening of the harvest season this week as an occasional cotton picker enters a maturing field, and poised to harvest what is expected to be the biggest cotton crop in history locally.

The colorful Reese Air Force band (above) will appear in Floydada Tuesday at 10:10 a. m. The military band, widely known throughout the area for numerous appearances, will accompany a group of Lubbock good-will tourists on booster trips publicizing the 34th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair.

NOTHING CONCRETE YET TO REPORT Street Paving Program Waits for Property Owners

"When are you going to get started" is the question the members of the city council are being propounded following the announcement of the tentative paving program last week through The Hesperian.

Caesarian Section Saves Male Child, Removes Large Tumor

After 16 years of married life Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chaney, of 1916 15th street, Lubbock, are the happy parents of a son born at 11:50 September 5 in Peoples hospital, weighing six pounds, three ounces at birth.

The mother gave birth to the normal male child by Caesarian section. Doctors at the local hospital had seen Mrs. Chaney last year and found a tumor of the ovaries. She was advised to have the tumor removed, it was said, but refused. After sterility was corrected the tumor increased to enormous size.

The father is employed as route salesman for Borden creamery. The couple are joyously happy over their first child.

Two interesting developments came to light in the week since the announcement of the paving plan was made. One of these is that the school board is interested in trying to work out something for their street frontage and the other that the city plans to accept the assignment for the property owner's assessment against the block of Napoleon park on Fifth street between Tennessee and Georgia, should the property owners decide to go ahead with the proposal on that street.

America has lost many a soldier in battle since the first man fell at the Battle of Lexington. It is recorded that the millionth defender of his country to fall in battle was killed on a Korean battlefield early in September, probably September 3 or 4. Of the total of a million 13,707 U. S. combat deaths occurred in Korea to August 31. Horrible as this may seem to contemplate it is a fact in this world we live in that a man must be prepared to offer his life for his country and, assuming that a man has the right leadership and that his cause is just, he has given his life in a great cause. Contrariwise there is nothing but waste represented in the statistical facts of the lives that are lost in traffic accidents in America. And he is said the record of deaths on the highways is greater on a daily average than that of our wars. It is only a few months away now that we will have killed our onemillionth person in highway traffic since the beginning of the year 1901. This is only a fifty years period against a period of 176 years. The mark when GI-X fell was 988,000 thousand traffic deaths, only 12,000 short of the war deaths, the historic million mark. Since our deadliest driving death rate occurs in the next few months ahead the date of the death of "Victim X" is not far distant. Mr. "X" can be given only a few more weeks or months to live. Tragic, wasteful. Worse than war.

Don't Kill Anybody. A thousand cotton trailers, more or less, are being added to the number of trailers already on the roads and highways in Floyd county, and everyone of them is a potential killer. This fact should by all means be kept in mind by those who are building them to be sure they have the tail lights and reflectors required by the highway department. This is to insure that they will give warning of their presence on the highways, in the lanes and on the farms wherever they may be when the busy season arrives. It isn't a matter of it being all right because "I am a careful driver and I'm not going to kill anybody." When a careful driver is out in a lane or on the highway broke down he is as helpless as a careless driver if somebody runs into him at 40 or 60 miles an hour. This, just for instance. Spend that extra money and save a life. You'll have the money, doubtless, to pay the fine if you're caught, of course, but money won't restore lives and limbs. You'll be a killer, money or no money.

Mr. DiSalle is making an "upward adjustment" of the ceiling prices on this and that meat line, he announced last week. All on account of the congress did not give the executive department the authority sought to make of the nation a military state, although the congress did go a long way. Mr. DiSalle is a former labor magnate and he was declared highly successful as mayor of Toledo. That should qualify him to run the highly complicated meat industry of the nation. He is said to be getting out "among the folks," that is visiting the big shots in the cities, who are easy to convince, of course, because they do not know what the ex-mayor is talking about and any good argument is completely satisfying to them. It is our belief that most likely meats will stay at their present levels or go down if only the government will cease laying its dead hand on the industry. The cattle people don't want meat so high that people can't buy it. Principal difficulty now is the cost of distribution, say the cattlemen.

More Store Tax. Remember when the Texas legislature, in response to hue and cry, put the store tax on the law books? How they fixed it so that one store paid so much, two stores so much, and so on up—directed at the chain stores, which, for some reason needed to get punitive treatment. Well, that tax has been going on all these years. And now it is hiked. Whereas it was $1 it is now two—and so on. When the tax collector ever gets his foot into the crack in the door he keeps it there until he can get his knee in and finally his whole body. He never lets up whether it is done in the name of whatsoever governmental body. But people keep on asking for more of the same, thinking it does not cost anybody but the rich or those who should be punished.

Lenin is quoted as saying shortly before his demise: "We shall force the United States to spend itself into destruction." And we have thought all the time we were doing it voluntarily.

Removing the leaves from cotton plants by defoliation hastens opening by exposing the bolls to the sun light and air currents and may prove beneficial in controlling late infestations of cotton insects.

Newspapers always excite curiosity. No one ever lays one down without a feeling of disappointment. —Charles Lamb

"A mechanic dreams of working on a clean engine," says Lewis Stoddard, Garage Manager, Blackfoot, Idaho. "My dream came true when customers started using new Conoco Super. It cuts down trouble, but I'm a loyal booster of Conoco Super."

RANCHER

"I'm sure glad you converted me to the '50,000 Miles-No Wear' oil," writes Albert E. Lentz, Rancher, Delta, Colorado. "I really barreled my Mercury over the highway on a recent trip, and all I could hear was a motor purring like a kitten."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

Willa Bradford
A. T. Broadwell
Take Nuptial Vows

On the morning of August 28 at 8:30 o'clock, in the First Baptist church in Colorado City, Miss Willa Dean Bradford and Archibald Thornton Broadwell, Jr. were united in marriage by the bride's father, Reverend R. Y. Bradford, pastor of the church.

The couple were wed before an arch of pink, lavender and purple asters, with garlands of greenery. On each side stood beauty baskets of asters of the same colors, with rainbow ribbon streamers from the baskets. Tall palms stood at the back of the arch and smaller palms stood at each side. The pews were marked with the same color arrangement.

Mrs. P. C. Smith, organist, gave the traditional wedding music before the ceremony and also played the wedding marches. She accompanied Darwin Farmer as he sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Norman Hamilton of Floydada. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Evelyn Bradford, of Colorado City. The best man was Dennis Patterson, Colorado City. The bridesmaids were Misses LeVonne Broadwell, Colorado City, and Genora Brown, Midland. The ushers were Emmett Bank, Jr., Colorado City, and Lon McDonald, Merkel, Texas.

The bride chose for her wedding a street length dress of amethyst velveteen and orchid jersey, fashioned with softly rounded shoulders, dolman sleeves with tiny cuff, and Rhine stone buttons of orchid. The skirt was flared with soft pleats in front with a wide rhinestone studded belt. With the dress she wore a small white velvet hat with veil, and black velvet opera pumps. She carried a white bible topped with white orchid with carnation petals falling from it in satin streamers. Her only jewelry was rhinestone ear screws, a gift of the bridegroom. For something old the Bible, something new was her wedding attire and something borrowed and blue was blue garters.

The bridesmaids and maid of honor wore street length dresses of olive velveteen and chartreuse jersey, fashioned after the bride's dress. They wore black velvet hats and carried small colonial bouquets of rose pink, lavender and purple asters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bradford wore a navy faille suit with rhinestone buttons trim and wore navy accessories. Her corsage was of white gladioli.

MRS. ARCHIBALD THORNTON BROADWELL, JR.

The groom's mother wore a black faille suit with black velvet trim, black accessories and Piccadilly Giamella corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlor of the church, with the bridal couple and their parents receiving.

Serving from a white cutwork linen cloth covered table, centered with the bride's flowers, was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Norman Hamilton of Floydada, Mrs. Brooks Allen, of Abilene, and Miss Dorelle Hobbs of Snyder. Others assisting in the reception were Mesdames Dennis Patterson, Emmett Banks, Misses LaVonne Rite and Dean Palmer.

Guests were from Floydada, Midland, Merkel, Allene, Big Springs, Snyder, Amarillo and Roscoe. The couple are at home in Idalou, after a wedding trip to New Mexico. Mrs. Broadwell will teach in the Idalou schools and Mr. Broadwell will enter Tech college, where he will receive his degree in June.

Mrs. Broadwell is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Wright of Floydada. She graduated from the Colorado City High school in 1948 and from Hardin-Simmons university in August, where she was a member of several clubs and Alpha Chi, Alpha Psi Omega, Life Service band, was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges" and was Bronco sweetheart for 1951.

Mr. Broadwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Broadwell, sr., of Colorado City, graduated from Colorado City High school in 1948. He is a member of R.O.T.C. at Texas Tech.

reason. He knows how many strokes of labor it represents. His bones ache with the days' work that earned it."

When I see a field of begira or kaffir, I see things and people in it that you may not see. I see a row binder going down the long rows, the bundles being tied out and dumped in even windrows for the man who is shocking up the feed. I look closely at the woman and see she is young, wearing a split bonnet and a long divided riding skirt of that era. Her arms seem to be aching as she pulls at the chocolate who is on the side of the feed, and takes a nip now and then, pulling the binder off the row and leaving some heads standing. The twine breaks and strings out behind, tied to the dropped bundle, the young woman sees it and stops her team, gets off and draws up the long twine and ties it in a hard knot to the twine ball, strating up Daisy and Bird and Chocolate again. A horse fly comes down on one's back and the team struts up in a trot, having to be slowed down. Most of the time, however, they have to be slapped with the lines and urged in a voice hoarse with clucking and calling to them to "get-up."

The binder makes a peculiar noise, the bundles are not tied. The man works for the binder to make its appearance on the side he is working on. It does not come and the silence tells him, "another break down." Three little children, a boy and two girls come through the thick feed with him and the woman sighs and sits down until she is needed, glad in one way of the respite from the job, but she knows that it will only be prolonged and there is so much work at the house to be done—

The horses stomp and switch the swarms of flies, while the work of repair goes on, the sun shines strong and hot, bugs and pollen from the feed makes one itch. You say you did not see this picture as we go down the smooth pavement by the side of the growing crops? Well, take another look I am that young woman, and that is my family, but I know you only see a combine hitched to a tractor.

The rain was glorious. The sky and the green growing things are washed and clean here in Floydada. It is rather cool, but isn't that just what we ordered last July and August?

I look around in the house for the first time in the long hot days that have passed and see so many things needing to be done. I have time to see the dust which has been eluding my eyes as I only wanted to get outside when it was cool enough and only wanted to keep cool on the hot days when cooked in the house.

Braselton Has Cotton Yield Estimate Idea

MATADOR—If you raise cotton and have hoped for a day when you could determine how much you would gather without picking and ginning it, that day has arrived. S. J. Braselton, Roaring Springs farm implement dealer, now devoting part of his time to cotton production has worked out a system. Count the bolls (that will mature) in a few feet of your field. If the average is 10 bolls per running foot you will gather a bale to the acre. If you find an average of five bolls to the foot, you will gather half a bale to the acre. Simple?

Here is the method he used to arrive at the number of bolls. 14-520 feet of furrows equal one acre. A bale of snaps (1,900-lbs.) has 142,500 bolls since 75 bolls are needed to produce one pound of snaps. The test was made on average Mac-ha cotton.

Half and half cotton, which requires only 60 bolls to make a pound of snaps, needs only nine bolls per running foot to produce a bale to the acre.

Mr. Braselton suggests the boll counting system be applied at various places (the good and bad) in a field; count the bolls in the average cotton, too.

Freezer Odors Are Stubborn

COLLEGE STATION—If your home freezer accumulates unpleasant odors from spoiled food, you may have difficulty removing them.

Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Home Management Specialist for the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College suggests several methods of dispelling the odor from the freezer.

First, try washing all the interior surfaces of the freezer with plenty soap and water. Then go over them with a cloth wrung from clear water. Wipe dry. If this doesn't dispel the odor, wash the freezer with soda water, using 1 teaspoon baking soda to each quart of warm water. Then if the odor persists, try vinegar, using about 1 cup to a gallon of water, or household ammonia in the same proportions.

But if none of these suggestions prove effective, don't give up. Try using heat to bring out the odor particles and get them into the air. Put something like a toaster or electric heater inside the freezer to heat. Then use an electric fan for about 2 hours to blow the air out.

The specialists says activated charcoal in the warm freezer will absorb odors released by the heat, or a commercial, wick-type air freshener may be used.

When the odor has been removed or reduced to where it is of no consequence, the specialist suggests a final washing of the inside surfaces of the freezer with soda water. Activated charcoal left in for a while will pick up any residual odor.

Efficient because it is clean, accurate, automatic, labor-saving.

The accuracy of heat application which assures you that the correct amount of measured heat will be delivered to each range unit takes the guesswork out of cooking — adds efficiency.

The automatic time controls on your electric range eliminate pot-watching and cooking failures, make it possible for your meals to be prepared while you are miles away — adds efficiency.

The cleanliness of electric cooking means less frequent general housekeeping, eliminates entirely pot and pan scrubbing — adds efficiency.

The coolness of electric cooking means added pep, more pleasant cooking conditions — adds efficiency. Yes, electric cooking is completely efficient — as modern women know.

Maybe you're missing something BIG

WE know how you feel when a car has given you faithful service. You like it. You're loyal to it. And that's only human.

But just suppose you found out that some other car could make familiar roads seem a lot smoother.

Suppose some other car held the curves in a way you'd never felt before.

Suppose some other car had more thrilling power—steered like a dream—held its course like an airliner on the beam—and let you finish a long day's drive feeling daisy fresh.

Wouldn't you feel you're missing something big unless you tried it out?

There is such a car. Its name is Buick.

It has big soft coil springs on every wheel. It has a Fireball Engine. It has a "front-end geometry" that does miracles with steering. And it has Dynaflo Drive.*

And incidentally, it wears a price tag that makes it a very smart buy compared to anything else you own.

We'd like to have you try this car. You'll never know what you're missing till you do.

How about giving us a call—or coming in to see us real soon?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

Soil District Tour Almost Rained Out, High Lights New Practices

The Floyd County Soil Conservation field tour was well attended by a crowd in excess of four hundred persons. Last spring the tour was rained out and it was almost rained out again.

Two stops were omitted from the itinerary. The Henry Schacht and J. R. Belt stops which was cotton on land four years after alfalfa was plowed up was passed up and Helmut Quebe's grain sorghum that had been treated with anhydrous ammonia was cut out due to the fact that it is in the middle of the field. Some of the other stops were viewed from a distance because of the mud.

The utilization of lake water through underground concrete pipe system on the Jack Taylor farm north of Lockney probably caused more interest than any other stop. Mr. Taylor gave an explanation of the system as did B. M. Jones, branch manager, of Gifford-Hill Western's Plainview office, who installed the pipe. Mr. Taylor said the lake pump would fill 170 two inch tubes with less cost than to operate one regular irrigation well.

Pasture Crops Interesting
The mixed pasture of Lockview Farm and perennial rye and sweet clover pasture on benches on the Oscar Golden farm were of great interest to many people.

The heavy rain showed how the benches kept the water out of the lake on the J. T. Huckabay section west of Floydada. Mr. Huckabay said the thirty-one acres of benched land made eight hundred bushels of wheat where he had never made much wheat before, due to crop drowning out.

Legume benefits to land were shown on the Buck Sams farm south of Lockney and the B. H. Quebe farm near Providence. Both of these farmers have cotton and grain sorghum on land where a legume has been and also plots of both farms where these two crops follow other crops. There is a distinct difference in both cotton and the grain where they follow the legume.

District-Owned Equipment
F. L. Montandon, vocational agriculture teacher of the Lockney High School, gave a discussion on District owned equipment which was on display. A similar grass drill and land leveler are for rent to farmers in the Floydada area by the Floydada FFA chapter under supervision of Henry Barber.

Underground concrete pipe to carry water from an irrigation well was viewed on the B. E. Harris farm. Because of the lay of the land, it has been difficult to force the water through the ditches near the well.

George Able, out of the Lubbock office of the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, discussed the use of new oil bearing plants that have been planted in test plots on Lockview Farm north of Aiken. Trials are being run on safflower, sesame and castor beans.

Dr. A. W. Young, Head of Plant Industry department of Texas Technological college, gave an informative talk on soil conservation during the noon program. Dr. Young stressed the fact that the number of tillable acres of land in our country is steadily decreasing while the population is increasing every year. He pointed out that the future security of every individual, and therefore the security of our nation as a whole, depends upon the productivity of the soil; which in turn depends upon the care that it is given. It is only through complete cooperation of all parties concerned that such a conservation program can be effected, he said.

Gayle Mayo, on behalf of the Floydada Lions club, presented the Lions club plaque to Oscar Golden for his outstanding accomplishments in conservation farming in the district in 1950.

Everyone enjoyed the barbecue lunch served by Lockview Farm and the Floydada Chamber of Commerce at headquarters of Lockview.

SIXTH GREAT GRANDSON
Mrs. Lula Slaughter has received word that she has a new great grandson, which makes six great grandchildren for her. The new boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Day of Long Beach. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Day, former Floydada residents.

The great grandson has been named Michael Keith. He weighed seven pounds and eight ounces.

CARD OF THANKS
After spending two weeks in Lubbock Memorial hospital, we came home with a little deeper sense of appreciation for our neighbors and friends.

We take this method of saying thanks for the many letters, cards, flowers and personal visits and presents.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Allen.

Atomic Energy In Sun
Scientists believe that the sun (like other stars) keep going by a process in which four nuclei of hydrogen atoms combine to form one nucleus of a helium atom, and by which atomic energy is released near the Sun's center. This energy reaches the solar surface and is radiated as light and heat, some reaching the earth. All the energy we use originates in this way.

Leukemia

The medical explanation of leukemia, which has stood for 125 years in essentially the same outlines, has been greatly broadened by a new concept resulting from research during the past year at the University of California School of Medicine.

Plant 2-Skip 1

COLLEGE STATION—Approximately equal yields of cotton were obtained under irrigation by planting two rows and skipping one and by planting each row, according to D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment Station.

Little difference in yields were observed between the two practices in tests conducted under irrigation at Lubbock during the three years 1948-50. Where each row was planted, an average of 382 pounds of lint per acre was obtained, while 370 pounds of lint was obtained from planting two rows and skipping one. During the two dry years of 1948 and 1950, the practice of allowing every third row to remain blank returned greater yields.

In tests conducted under dryland conditions during the four years 1929-32, the practice of planting each row gave an average of 23 percent higher yields. These results were obtained where the "plant two-skip one plots" had two-thirds as many plants as where each row was planted. Jones points out that planting each row hastens maturity as compared to planting two and skipping one.

The practice of allowing each third row to remain unplanted, on the average, retards maturity except where the number of plants are equal on an acre basis, reduces harvest time, presents a weed management problem in the blank row, and is not easily adapted to four-row equipment.

The results of this research are given in Progress Report 1384, available from the Publications Office, College Station, Texas.

Why Sunday?

Why do most Christians observe Sunday rather than Saturday? The custom of Sunday worship began in apostolic times as a weekly commemoration of Christ's resurrection. Most Christians have not regarded this change of days as signifying disrespect for the Commandment, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy."

Antelopes Edge Whirlwinds 6-0

(By Sammy Hale)

The Whirlwinds of Floydada High school minus the services of five regulars, lost a bruising and hard-fought game to a favored Post Antelope eleven by the score of 6-0 at Wester Field Friday night. Post's Jack Kirkpatrick ran 15 yards for the only score of the night in about the middle of the fourth quarter.

Kirkpatrick, the 190-pound Post Quarterback, who is Post's nomination for all-state, was kept pretty well bottled up most of the night by the Whirlwind defensive line. He was able to get off only three runs of fifteen yards or more during the night with his longest run being some twenty yards. Also the Winds kept the vaunted Post passing attack from clicking by allowing Kirkpatrick to complete only two of the six he threw for a total gain of only a dozen yards through the air.

Neither team made a serious scoring threat in the first quarter although Post reached the Floydada 13 yard line early in this period, but a fifteen yard penalty moved them back to the 33 and ended the threat. In the second quarter Floydada had their only scoring opportunity of the game as Jackie Hutchinson intercepted a Kirkpatrick pass on the post 33 and raced it down to the 23. From here the Winds made a first down on the 8. After a one-yard gain the Whirlwinds fumbled and Post recovered and ended the Whirlwinds' only scoring threat.

Antelopes Not To Be Denied
The game then rocked back and fourth with Post gaining the edge in the statistics, but still not able to find a scoring punch as the Floydada defensive wall tightened up and stopped Post any time they made any scoring threats. About midway in the fourth quarter the Antelopes intercepted a Whirlwind pass and returned it to the Floydada 32 yard line. Post then started a march and were not to be denied as they reached the 15 in four plays. It was from here that Kirkpatrick circled left and dived across the double stripe for the only score of the night. The extra points, which was an attempted run by Stone brought quite a bit of discussion as the referees first said that he had scored the extra point, but afterwards, after more discussion, ruled that his knee had touched the ground and that the point after the touchdown was not good and the score remained 6-0.

The rest of the game was played near the midfield stripe, with neither team making any serious threat.

Line Does Good Job

The defense was again the strength of the "Winds game" and it did a good job in keeping Kirkpatrick well corralled most of the night. He found himself rushed on his passes, and was trapped several times by almost the entire Whirlwind forward wall. The defense also kept the rest of the Post backfield to short through fairly consistent gains, while they were keeping their eyes on Kirkpatrick.

The offense was moving better than it did against Slakon due mostly to the blocking that was opening holes in the outweighed Post line. The Whirlwinds were playing Post on even terms during most of the second half, but it was fumbles that stopped most of the Winds drives. They lost the ball five times through fumbles which is too many times to lose the ball for any team.
