Their head dresses were blue net with yellow carnations, same color as the dresses. They each carried semi-colonial bouquets of yellow carnations with blue maline and satin bows and streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ice blue charilly lace and tulle floor length dress. The heavy lace was used in the light bodice and long pointed cuff sleeves. It blended into the expansive tulle skirt in graceful points. The waist length veil of illusion fell from an attached cap of lace dotted with jewels.

colonial of brides roses, a white cascade orchid in the center with white satin ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Boteler chose for her daughter's wedding a navy linen dress with navy accessories and wore a pink carnation corsage.

Good tonic for August listlessness is a visit to a paint and paper store. Given to you have no paint-up project of your own, the signs of make-ready activity will get into your blood. And a look at the customers as they leave the store, a "mission accomplished" expression on their faces, positively fires the imagination.

Here's a young husband with a quart bucket of soft green paint, a brush and a bottle of thinner in hand. He waves gaily to an acquaintance. "Come to see us," he calls out, feeling like a true householder.

A middle-aged man plunges out the door with a small roll of linoleum flooring under his arm, his mind racing ahead of him up the street into his car and back home to the job he has assigned himself over the weekend.

An energetic matron emerges with some wallpaper samples, wearing the rapt expression of a person about to take off on a long-awaited vacation.

It must be fun to work in a paint store, where each sale promises excitement and adventure for the buyer. Where for a few dollars householders start the hopeful process of refinishing some small trouble spot, where a few rolls of inexpensive wall paper can make a young wife look like a bride again; where an older couple can get the sense of beginning life anew.

We've seen that look of purposeful anticipation in only a few other places: A man buying sports equipment is likely to wear it as he examines a gun or a rod. A woman who sews at home wears it as she fingers the new fabrics, turns the pages of a pattern book. It must be the promise of accomplishment that makes these purchases more than an exchange of goods for cash. Anyway the tonic's there.

Doniece Cline Becomes Bride of Lamesa Man Thursday Evening

In a candlelight wedding, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Christian church, Miss Doniece Cline became the bride of Glen H. White of Lamesa.

The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. R. Earl Allen, pastor of the First Baptist church, before an altar flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli and candelabra. The brides were marked by white glads, fern and white satin ribbon tied to the candle holders.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cline of Floydada and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. White of Lamesa.

Traditional wedding music was offered by Miss Roberta Garrett at the organ, who accompanied Mrs. W. J. Beckham of Lamesa as she sang, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Mrs. Beckham also sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Pretty Wedding Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported Chantilly-type lace and pleated tulle over satin. Designed with portrait neckline outlined with pleated tulle, held by lace applique, the closely fitted lace bodice had long sleeves ending in points over the hands and terminated with a deep point at center-front waistline. From this, stemmed a voluminous walk-length skirt. Fashioned with scalloped edge of shirred lace joining pleated tulle at lower hip-line, the fullness of tulle over satin was emphasized by crinoline worn underneath.

The bride's veil of silk illusion was joined to a Juliet cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with white orchid. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Thomas Spencer of Amarillo. Mrs. Spencer's gown was of shirred pink net over taffeta designed with tight bodice and full skirt. With this she wore a matching stole and carried a net muff decorated with white roses. Her headpiece was a half-bonnet of matching net, with a half-crown of matching net. Candles were lighted by Bob Cline, brother of the bride and Franklin Stovall, cousin of the bride. George Norman, Jr., of Amarillo served as best man for the bridegroom. Ushers were C. T. Beckham of Lamesa and Ted McCollum of Clifton.

Reception Follows Wedding

A reception, following the ceremony, was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with white organdy cloth, with crystal and silver appointments. The tiered wedding cake was white surrounded with pink roses.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Carlo Minor, Mrs. William E.

Young Married Men Alerted to Report Child

AUSTIN, TEXAS, August 10.—Any young married man registered with a draft board had better be on the alert about reporting children in his family or expected birth of a child.

On August 25 and thereafter, fathers are not deferrable because of their children. Draft boards have this new regulation following an executive order of President Eisenhower.

Those who now have children, and those who are expecting birth of a child, are deferrable; likewise, those who become fathers or expectant fathers before midnight, August 24th.

But those men who are fathers and expectant fathers before August 25th must act at once to advise their draft boards in writing. If they fail to perform this important duty they will be liable for the draft simply because they failed to advise their boards of the facts.

In the case of expectant fathers, certificates from a licensed physician, stating that the child has been conceived, probable date of delivery, and evidence upon which positive diagnosis of pregnancy is based.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, urges all married men who come under the provisions of this new regulation to act at once if they wish to retain their deferred status.

Record Broken For Water And Electricity Use

Residents of Floydada broke all the records for the use of water and electric power during June and in July broke the record again, it is indicated both by the readings at the master meters of the two branches of the municipal utilities and by the books of account of the collection department.

The heat of June put all the cooling fans, air conditioners and lawn and garden hose into service it is evident from the July 1 billings. July 1 bills sent out for June consumption totalled $24,227. This was a jump from $19,884 for June 1, representing May consumption.

The August 1 billings ran $24,749 (for July consumption) a slight increase of $522 over July.

Water superintendent Truett Smith said the water passing through the master meters in June exceeded an average of a million gallons per day. The exact total for that month was 34,990,000 gallons. July figures were almost the same. Meters are read on the 15th of the month and the billings cover the period from the 15th to the 15th.

A considerable drop in use of both water and electricity was noted at the city plants the last 30 days. Users demanded nearly 10 million gallons less water than in the previous 30 days. Smith said the totals were 24,252,000 for the three master meters which measure the water put into the mains.

The big bills occasioned by the extreme weather of June and July were the source of many complaints about rates and charges, from the storm of which the collectors at the city hall were beginning to recover the first of the week as the 10th of the month rolled by.

Getting Ready For Traveling

AUSTIN — Based on its experience with millions of travelers, the American Automobile Association has prepared some tips on how to get ready for a vacation trip.

First of all, say the Three-A travel experts, don't plan to drive more than 300 miles a day. They say drivers who speed up their trips miss a lot of interesting sights and usually wear themselves to a frazzle.

Next, the travel experts say, plan to spend $9 a day for car operation, $8 a day for accommodations for two people, and another $8 per couple for food. The Three-A experts also advise vacationers to take along some extra money to cover admissions, toll charges, entertainment and incidentals.

They also recommend having the car thoroughly checked.

On the subject of clothing, the Three-A travel experts have this advice for motorists: It's a good idea for women to take only tailored suits, tropical weaves that can be worn in any city; stick to basic colors, and choose contrasting accessories; take things that require little or no ironing, take a raincoat and umbrella and a pair of waterproof boots; and include a first-aid kit, flash light, sun glasses, camera, and a thermos jug among the necessary travel articles.

Finally, say the Three-A travel experts, be sure to cancel the paper, milk and laundry pickup before leaving; lock windows and doors, phone the police and arrange with a neighbor to keep an eye on things.

Experiments in flying were carried on by the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., because winds there are steady and strongest of anyplace in the United States.

Wind must travel at least a mile a minute to be a hurricane.

Outline Annual Re-Union Plans

Roaring Springs — Plans are taking shape for the annual reunion of the Motley-Dickens county old settlers at the Roaring Springs Pioneer park.

The convention this year will be held Thursday and Friday, August 27-28. Caldwell Smith of Roaring Springs is president.

Ward Rattan, president of the rodeo division of the reunion, said he had been authorized by the directors to make arrangements for the two days. He said the rodeo stock had been procured and that other details of the rodeo performances were being arranged.

Machine Takes Over For Heart

PHILADELPHIA — Surgeons at Jefferson Medical College Hospital recently used a mechanical apparatus successfully that performed the work of a patient's heart and lungs for 26 minutes while an operation was performed on her heart.

It was the first time that a cam-binned mechanical heart and lung apparatus was used successfully on a human being.

The operation was performed on an 18-year-old Pennsylvania girl who has suffered for years from a malformed heart.

A surgeon told a press conference that the machine is not a "cure-all" for heart conditions. He said the machine will probably be used chiefly on people born with a deformed heart, possibly blue babies, children with congenital heart defects. "It can't help coronary-artery diseases or hearts crippled by disease or old age," he said.

He said the invention was the culmination of years of work.

The machine was invented by Dr. John M. Gibbon, Jr., professor of surgery and director of surgical research at the medical college.

Former Resident Mrs. W. J. Burke Passed Saturday

Friends here have received the news of the death of Mrs. W. J. Burke, 72, former Floydada resident at her home in Athens on Saturday.

Mrs. Burke had been ill since December, when she suffered a paralytic stroke.

The funeral service was held Monday morning in Athens at 10:30 o'clock in the Corbell-Lear Funeral home chapel. Interment was in the Athens cemetery.

Survivors include the husband and two sons, Maurice of Shreveport, Louisiana, and Macey Burke of Dallas.

The Burke family left Floydada in 1928. Mr. Burke was in the grain business when the family lived here for several years. The sons are graduates of the Floydada high school.

English Professor Defends Lazy Wives

LONDON — Professor Guy Pascoe Brown at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, has come to the defense of lazy housewives.

The professor, who has devoted years to the study of fatigue, says that frequent rests are essential when performing routine tasks. He even suggests a minute's rest after four minutes of work.

He also advises housewives never to work standing up if they can avoid it; never to go without their morning tea, equivalent to mid-morning coffee in the United States; never to work with poor lighting, and never to go without sufficient nutritious food.

The question is: When are the housewives going to get their work done and lunch and supper cooked?

'I Give You Texas' —Boyce House

Everyone knows of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood with the concrete walk holding the foot-prints of the stars: Janet Gaynor, Shirley Temple, Mickey Rooney and many more. Then there is an inscription, "Here's looking at you" and a drawing of the big eyes of Eddie Cantor. "May this cement our friendship," Joan Crawford, reads another inscription.

Then there are the skate-prints of Sonja Henie; the mouth-print of Joe E. Brown; a drawing, in the concrete, of Harold Lloyd's spectacles and the print of Al Jolson's knees.

Almost as interesting was the lobby of the Egyptian Theater (this was 1940) with a dugout used in "Hurricane," the Guttenberg press used in "Hunchback of Notre Dame," a chariot from "Ben Hur" and a pump from "Wuthering Heights."

One day, during my stay in Movieland, a man who once drew $16,000 a week as a director was arrested for drunkenness — not his first such arrest. There is more poignancy in the true stories of Hollywood than in the make-believe ones they put on the screen.

One studio was making a picture in which there were five pups. As the filming of the sequences showing the dogs required 30 days, they had to use three different sets as the original puppies and then the next ones grew too big.

Hollywood spoke a lingo of its own, such as "A" pictures, one which had cost a great deal; "B" picture, not an expensive one; "quickie," a picture made in a hurry; "sleeper," one which didn't cost much and of which little was expected but which turned out to be a hit. If an amount that was considered small was mentioned, somebody would comment, "That's just buttons." If a big amount was mentioned, it drew the comment, "That's not hay."

The most famous editor of a woman's magazine was a man—Edward Bok in his autobiography, Bok pointed out that most women's magazines have a man as the editor, though a woman may be the nominal editor. Why? It has never been explained, he wrote, any more than why the majority of women's fashion designers are men or why music, with its larger appeal to women, has been and is still composed largely by men, and why its greatest instrumental performers are likewise men; and why the church, with its larger membership of women, still has, as it always has had, men for its greatest preachers.

GI Soap Fights for Survival In Dishpan Arena

WASHINGTON — The familiar brown bar of GI soap soon may become a dishpan casualty.

Government-issue soap — used primarily for washing dishes by hand — has been used by the Army for the past half century. It now is making its stand against a new detergent in a battle for survival at nine Army installations in the United States.

One of the things the battle of the dishpan will seek to prove is whether the newly-developed detergent can achieve a more complete emulsification of grease than GI soap in hard water areas. To prove its superiority in this respect, the detergent must break up fat particles and leave them in suspension so that they wash away more readily.

Army Quartermaster Corps tests of the new detergent developed by private industry are being conducted because of some complaints received regarding GI soap as a manual dish-washing compound.

GI soap is not inadequate, for washing dishes. However, it is not as effective in hard water as some detergents. The detergent now being put through its paces showed marked improvement in laboratory tests over the soap presently being used, especially with respect to functioning more efficiently in hard water.

To determine the efficiency of soil-removal qualities of the new dish-washing compound, dishes will be checked by ultra-violet light after being washed. This light may be used to two ways to detect foreign matter.

In the first method, a dye solution is applied to cleaned dishes by immersion or spray. The dishes then are rinsed either in cold or warm water. Next, they are examined in a darkened room under ultra-violet light.

The second method is to treat tableware in the dye solution before washing and then examining it after the regular washing has been completed.

Clean tableware shows up a dark reddish or bluish-purple color. Any unclear portion will shine brightly and clearly under the light.

Ten per cent of the dishes are being tested under the ultra-violet light.

The tests are being conducted at Fort Bliss, Fort Hood, and Fort Sam Houston, Texas; Fort Knox, Ky.; Camp Atterbury, Ind.; Fort Custer, Mich.; Fort Riley, Kan.; Fort Ord and the Presidio of San Francisco, California.

Firemen Resign As Dissension Seen in Ranks

The resignation of 12 of the 20 members of the Floydada volunteer fire department, presented to the city council at their regular meeting Monday night, brought to a head smoldering dissension in the ranks of the department and resulted in the partial re-organization of the department Tuesday, with the exception that the personnel would be back to normal in numbers again by the week-end.

The resignations came in a signed statement presented to the council, which assigned no reasons. The statement said, "We, the undersigned members of the volunteer fire department of Floydada, Texas, submit this our resignations, from such department effective August 5."

It was signed by Doyle Turner, Louis Earl Warren, Ralph Rucker, J. C. Pierce, Buddy Hatley, Edwin Pollan, R. C. Pollan, Jimmy Jackson, Alva Redd, A. G. Tyler, Noland Arney and Francis W. Scott.

The resignations were accepted and Fred Lambert was named to succeed Alva Redd as paid night man and acting chief of the department. Lambert was recently elected to assistant chief.

Warren, the resigned chief of the department had held office since his election in July. Four members of the council had visited the firemen's quarters one week previous to their meeting date and had asked for the resignations of Warren and Redd. Members of the council who made the trip to the fire hall were D. T. Mayo, Parnell Powell, Lewis O. Norman and Carl L. Minor.

Most of the resigning firemen were said to have indicated their intention to resume their volunteer status as firemen this mid-week, said Carl Rodgers, who is fire marshal. In prior years he served the department for several terms as chief.

Social Security for Employees
The council Monday night adopted the rule putting all city employees under the protection of the Social Security law. Deductions will begin as soon as enrollment can be effected.

The council took no action looking to the establishment of a new method of garbage collection. However, they have under study a plan to eliminate open-top, over-heavy barrels now generally in use by substituting closed garbage cans of 20-gallon capacity. The matter will be studied carefully before it is adopted, a member of the council said.

The change over would be signaled by the adoption of an ordinance after ordinances of similar import used in other cities have been studied.

The council is also checking the cost of various types of garbage collection cans on the market. It is probable a can for which the Lions club proposes to sponsor, a mass sale will be adopted when the new collection plan is started.

The city has not yet received the new garbage truck for which the council contracted about 60 days ago. At that time they paid $1,500 in advance for a truck which they contract to accept at a cost of $6,746.25. The truck is being bought on a lease plan which obviates the necessity for a contract letting, it was said at the city hall. The Hesperian said recently that cash would be paid for the truck upon its arrival and acceptance by the council. A city street maintainer is being paid for on the basis of a similar transaction.

Canada — With the 12 suburban communities has become one of the largest cities in North America. The population is 678,000 but the area of the 12 nearby suburbs is in an area of more than 1,200 square miles. The population of the total area is about 1,200,000.

Of 24 members governing Greater Toronto. Each suburban mayor has one Toronto proper has 12.

Council has control over zoning, housing, parks, major arterial roads, supply and sewage, all city functions including the aged, and parks. In addition, it will impose out-wide assessments.

Transportation will be an independent authority called the Toronto Commission. Also separate council will be a Metropolitan Council of Education.

Delegated specifically to the Metropolitan Council remain local councils, including protection of the suburbs, full taxing powers, and the direction of the city.

Planners say Toronto's many problems of this city are in this area because of recent population and trend of population into suburban areas.

San Angelo Author Of Current Books Has Niece Here

Mrs. Ada Clendenen, author and operator of a San Angelo antique shop and aunt of Mrs. Kenneth Ring of Floydada, shows signs of developing into a community project and an all-Texas enterprise.

Mrs. Clendenen has written a new book which will be published on August 17, which makes a total of three she has written recently.

The new book's title is "Ida Throws a Whing Ding." On the fly leaf of the new book is printed: "The characters in this book are fictional and any similarity to persons living or dead is a dirty shame and is unintentional." Despite this denial, it is stated by her sales manager, Arthur Ingalls of San Angelo, the story is based on the antics of Mrs. Clendenen's four children, three boys and a girl, Mona, to whom the book is dedicated.

Reviewers of Mrs. Clendenen's first book, "Ida wears the Britches," hail her as a homespun humorist, destined to take an important place among Texas writers. Mrs. Clendenen is now working on her experiences as an antique dealer, and her book, "Ida Goes A-Rag-Pickin'" will be a Texas production with Texas characters out of the author's everyday life. Mrs. Clendenen has visited her niece in Floydada and has made a number of friends here.

MONEY MATTERS
WASHINGTON — The Army Finance Corps' world-wide system for paying salaries of Army personnel uses 25 offices in the United States and four in overseas areas—Cairo, Egypt; Paris, France; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Rome, Italy.

Besides writing pay checks for Army military and civilian employees in their areas, these offices pay bills for the Army, settle government claims, and handle other money matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Wood and children of Winslow, Arizona, have returned to their home, after a visit last week here with Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Teepie.

Rolling Stock, Intangibles at Higher Figures

As local taxing authorities arranged their budget hearings and made their plans for the tax year of 1954, the final figures were made for county tax roll totals by the state board with the announcement of considerably increased values to be set up for rolling stock and intangibles for all types of transportation concerns operating in the county.

There are 22 concerns on the state tax board's list as operating in this county. Of these the Fort Worth & Denver Railway company is far and away the biggest, tax-wise.

County assessor-collector Hamilton's notice from the comptroller last week of the values set for this county for intangibles and rolling stock, upped the Denver's values for rolling stock from last year by $88,686. This figure was a raise to $88,970 from $10,284. The line's intangibles remain listed at $333,940, the same as last year.

The Santa Fe's rolling stock this year goes on the rendition rolls at $18,640, an increase of $13,370 from $5,270, the values set up on last year's rolls. Santa Fe's intangibles are put at $9,590.

For the Quanah, Acme & Pacific, the rolling stock values remain about the same, a change of $20 from $2,010 last year to $1,990 this year, but the company's intangibles were upped $31,290 from $14,420 to $46,610.

Two other more important taxpayers in the county, engaged in the transportation business are Service Pipe Lines, with a $28,700 rendition and Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches with a $38,570 rendition. The figures for these also are set by the state tax board.

This board is composed of the state comptroller, the attorney general and the secretary of state. Two new names appearing on the intangibles list reported by the state board to Hamilton this year are Bonanza, incorporated, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Panhandle Film service of Oklahoma City.

With these figures from the state comptroller in hand the commissioners court will have a complete picture of their probable income for the year from all tax sources. This information is important for their annual budget hearing to be held Monday morning, August 17.

Enos T. Jones has charge of the public address system. Bert Taylor and Raymond Campbell head the survey committee for North ward community.

Local survey officials point out that the Texas State Department of Health has made great progress in the past five years in the State's fight against Tuberculosis. By giving every two years a chest X-ray is found in its early stages without symptoms which makes the disease easier to cure. The survey is limited to persons fifteen years old and older because doctors say that children contract their Tuberculosis from adults.

Four Rules are Given

There are four rules to follow, says the Health Department, to determine whether you need an X-ray:

- (1) Have an X-ray if you have never had an X-ray;
- (2) If you have not had a chest X-ray in two years;
- (3) If you have been in contact with someone with Tuberculosis; or
- (4) If you want to be sure that your Lungs are healthy.

Floyd county survey officials urge every citizen to take advantage of this free health service. We want numbers, they say. A quota of seven hundred X-rays a day has been set and that means that everyone must make a special effort to be a part of the county survey. As there is no undressing, the whole process does not take more than five minutes. Hours for the survey are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Suit on Trial Grows Out of Crash at Cedar

Yesterday a law suit in Floyd county district court was being tried as a result of the April road intersection crash of two automobiles at Cedar, resulting in the death of a 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robin Fortenberry and the injury of four others.

The suit, styled H. H. Doshier vs. Robin Fortenberry and others, got underway Tuesday morning. Monday the plaintiffs had subpoenaed three witnesses, the defendants 19 witnesses. Doshier was living at Andrews when the accident occurred. He was here temporarily working.

Americans are Rolling Up Their Sleeves

YES ALL KINDS OF PEOPLE ARE GIVING BLOOD SO THAT OTHERS MAY LIVE!

It's a fine thing to give blood—and it gives you a wonderful feeling: The deep, inner-satisfaction of knowing that you have helped make it possible for a man to live.

Right now the need for blood is urgent. In hospitals — at home and overseas — many men require transfusions during delicate operations. And the blood must be there—when it's needed. So give the most precious gift of all—the gift for which there is no substitute—your blood! It will flow back into the veins of a human being, give him a new lease on life—help him along the road to recovery.

If you have already given blood, you know that it is neither difficult nor distressing. So — mark your calendar and donate again. And tell your friends and neighbors about your experience. Let them share the wonderful feeling Americans get when they roll up their sleeves—and give blood.

Says One-Cent Price Increase Long Over-Due

The recent one-cent per gallon price increase in gasoline is not only justified, but is long overdue, according to B. B. Henry, county chairman of Petroleum Marketers Association of Texas.

The last general price increase in gasoline came in 1948. Mr. Henry pointed out. Since that time, all other commodity costs have increased in far greater proportion than has the cost of gasoline, he added.

The Petroleum Marketers Association is an organization of wholesale petroleum distributors representing all supplying companies operating in Texas.

Gasoline is actually about the cheapest commodity the consuming public buys today, Henry said. The public often overlooks the fact that more than one-third of the total price is due to direct and indirect taxes.

Costs in wages, in production, materials and transportation have almost doubled in recent years, he said, whereas the actual cost of a gallon of gasoline has fluctuated very little.

He pointed out that the average wage-earner in 1919 had to work approximately 5 hours to buy ten gallons of gasoline, exclusive of tax. The same wage-earner today works less than one and one-quarter hours to buy the same ten gallons.

The average wholesale marketer actually shows a smaller profit in his operations today than he did ten years ago, Mr. Henry added.

Conservation District News

FOR LANDS SAKE — "COVER"

Floyd County Soil Conservation district board of supervisors take the opportunity to encourage all farmers in this district to become aware of the hazards of going into another blow period with no more crop residue and cover on the land than could be found up until the past few days.

The district joins with all other soil conservation districts in the high plains and south plains area to encourage farmers to plant high residue crops, such as cane, Hegari, other sorghums on dry land when sufficient moisture permits, on wheat if moisture should come too late for sorghums. Wheat may be seeded above your normal allotment for the purpose of green manure, grazing or cover. In this drought area, however this area cannot be harvested for grain.

If seeding of sorghums are possible the board suggests you leave enough stubble to give adequate protection to the land from the wind next spring.

Irrigated farms which have sorghums seeded should likewise maintain a stubble which will protect the land. On cotton land it is suggested that cover crops be drilled in the middles and if crops come off early enough, solid seedings may be made.

The district is recommending the following legumes for clover: Vetch, Austrian winter peas, Madrid sweet clover, biennial yellow clover and biennial white sweet clover or if you plan to go into an alfalfa rotation this fall would be a good time to put it in so it would be on the land next spring.

The board is aware of the large acreage of sorghum seeded following the rains in the later part of July, and wishes to compliment you for this effort. It is hoped that much may be received in capitol returns as well as adequate protection to your land.

VIEWS AND COMMENT

That you can and might price yourself out of business is an old business adage that is entitled to serious thought on the part of working peoples' organizations. We note in particular unrest, strike talk and strike vote among some of the telephone workers. If the public gets in mind that part of their troubles with the telephone companies stem from the companies' troubles with their employees it would not be too good public relations, especially if the demands of the employees appeared to be above and beyond good common sense. The trend of the times for prices is down, not up. The steel makers, to illustrate, keep wanting the public to pay higher and higher prices. Among the few industries which can justify an increase in whole or part, that we know about, are the oil people and their one-cent increase. A large part of the price one pays for gasoline is a sales tax under a pseudonym.

Better get organized. Announcement was made recently that the city council is seriously contemplating passage of an ordinance that will put a prescribed type of closed garbage containers at homes over the city, substituting them for the unsightly and unsanitary open barrels which now dot the alleys by the hundreds. The move will be hailed by all as a step in the right direction especially since the city is making more adequate preparation for garbage disposal, with a closed type garbage truck. Experience of other small cities in Texas, however, points to the probability, at least the possibility, that the city authorities are under-estimating the job they are undertaking. Nothing more aggravating than the garbage barrel full of garbage and no place to put any more while you wait for the disposal truck to heave into sight,—nothing more aggravating unless it is the unsightly open-type barrel with its scraps of burned paper, chicken feathers and ashes littering the alley. But huzzas for the council that puts the new plan into practice. If they get the usual results as in other communities that we know about they should also install an additional telephone for the complaint department.

Smell them onions? Just how much business a few acres of produce can make is illustrated by the current activity in harvesting a scant 100 acres of onions in the area. True the onions are hitting a bad market and presumably are not making the growers a lot of money. But to gather and market a hundred acres of onions is calling all kinds of help, including the harvester, the cleaner and sorter, the broker, skilled and unskilled help, from far and near. Carrots, onions, lettuce and the like, often hit and make big money for the man who raises them. They always make business and a lot of it in ways that the usual row crop or grain crop does not approach. Over at Hereford they've learned to like to raise the basic crops and diversify them with some of the so-called gambler's crops. The produce crops apparently add a lot of spice to living.

The packers must have bought The Hesperian off, since we salute them this week as the people who kept many cattle from being shot where they stood out on the dry ranges of the southwest. There has been some kind of a market during all the stampe of cattle to the market places, not too good a market with everybody on the selling side, but a market of sorts, just the same. What the packers did with all the cattle bought in the last five months one wonders. We don't think it is bad at all that one of the first things done in the emergency was to take several thousand carcasses out of the packers' storage rooms and process them for use in school lunches, for relief and the like. It made room for a lot of cattle that are still going to go to town in the next several weeks, should no more rain fall in August.

DRAFT RULES AND REGULATIONS

(Ninth in a series of 10 on the draft law and its rules and regulations)

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations. Appeals from local board decisions are heard by four state appeal boards.

Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of a local board at any time.

A man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification except a determination of physical or mental condition.

The registered man and others named in the above paragraph, in most cases, are allowed only 10 days from date a notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period, from 30 to 60 days, when the man is in certain U. S. territories, foreign countries, or on the high seas.

The local board may allow appeals beyond these time limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to lack of understanding or to some cause beyond control of the person.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the board. The notice need not be in any particular form but must state the registrant's name, and identity of person appealing. If registrant is registered with a Texas board and is working or living in California, for example, he may appeal to a California appeal board if he wishes.

If the registrant is placed in a class available for military service (I-A) by the appeal board, and there is a dissenting vote, he may appeal to the President of the United States.

First sizeable demand for the hunting licenses will center around the north zone mourning dove season beginning September 1.

The twenty-eight different kinds of licenses cover all phases of hunting and fishing, ranging in cost from fifty cents for a duplicate license to $200 for a wholesale fish dealer's license.

The license clerk said a new addition to the hunting licenses, which is expected to prove popular in the coastal areas, calls for a $5 five-day, non-resident license to hunt migratory waterfowl. Heretofore, non-residents desiring to hunt ducks and geese had to buy a regular $25 non-residents hunting license.

This new non-resident hunting permit is in conformity with the previously arranged five-day non-resident fishing license for $1.65 or a season's non-resident fishing license for $5.25. Resident fishing licenses are $1.65.

The main hunting permit costing $2.15 is the popular one for resident Texas because it covers both big game and small game.

The license clerk noted that the paper tags again will be used for big game since the proposed metal tags are still being tested as to their practicability.

New Labor Saver Let Men Eat Goose

ALBUQUERQUE — New Mexico's cotton fields these days are the homes of flocks of geese, replacing hundreds of imported laborers.

Cotton farmers throughout the southwest are beginning to see how much more economical a good-worker can be than a human being for the back breaking job of weeding cotton.

Geese, which have a reputation for being silly anyway, will gulp down just about any weed, including hardy-saw-edged Johnson grass. During their first year they'll starve rather than eat cotton. After one year, however, they must be sold since even a goose isn't silly enough to pass up nice juicy cotton for Johnson grass.

Geese have been used in many sections of the country to weed strawberry patches for several years.

Soil testing is not a recent development—it dates as far back as 1800 A.D. It is reported that in this country an Indian brave would sit on the ground for hours. If he didn't sneeze, the ground was warm enough to plant beans.

The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is now installing the first standardized system of road signs, according to the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association. A $200,000 project will place some 12,000 signs throughout the island, which is approximately 100 miles long and 35 miles in width.

Directional signs, names of towns, curves, school and church markers will be identical to those in general use in the United States.

In every way, more car for your money!

Ford gives you V-8 power like that of costly cars... fine car build... fine car ride and "at-home-everywhere" good looks - but the price tag never moves out of the low-price field

Everywhere you go people are making the swing to Ford. And can you blame them? Many cars costing over $1000 more offer no more of the things you need and want. Here are some of Ford's "Worth More" features... but to get the full Ford "Worth More" story, Test Drive a new Ford today!

Less front-end road shock. The kind of shock you feel most is reduced up to 80% with Ford's new ride. You get a smoother, more balanced, more comfortable ride all around!

Suspended pedals are designed to work easier and make foot space of your Ford's entire floor area. Suspended pedals are also a "keep out" sign to dirt and drafts... make it easier to keep the floor clean!

Smooth V-8 power is exclusive to Ford in its field. And Ford's Mileage Maker is the most modern Six you can own! Both the V-8 and Six-cylinder power plants deliver their hill-climbing "go" on regular gas—and not much of that, thanks to Ford's Automatic Power Pilot!

An extra suitcase will fit into Ford's luggage compartment—the roomiest in the low-price field. In fact, Ford's combined luggage and passenger space is the greatest in the low-price field... compares with that of many cars of higher price.

Center-Fill Fueling permits filling your Ford from either side... saves you time when refueling... and puts an end to hose scratches on your fender!

Curved one-piece windshield (below) and large picture windows, give Ford the most "look out" area in the low-price field... another reason your Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!
