Repeated obliteration bombing attacks on Jap war production centers from the Marianas Islands coupled with air base possibilities of Okinawa make the B-29 Superfortress spotlight news. The Marianas—Saipan, Tinian, Guam are main air bases—are around 1500 miles from the Tokyo area; Okinawa is about 325 miles from Kyushu Japan's southernmost homeland island—easy fighter range and a distance that requires so much less gasoline than the bomber flight from the Marianas that bomb tonnages can be raised considerably. An example of what the B-29 can carry is shown above: all those bombs waiting to be loaded in the single Superfortress behind them. At upper left is Maj.-Gen. Curtis E. LeMay of Lakewood, O., chief of the Marianas-based 21st Bomber Command. At upper right, a B-29 flight engineer at his complex control board; he operates engine controls and basic flight system, but can be overridden at any time by pilot or co-pilot.

We have received a humorous post card, printed on a V-Mail sheet of paper. It shows a young man with the bill of his cap pointing straight up from the top of his head, and he is standing waist deep in a hole he is digging, and welding a pick with apparently great skill. The message accompanying the picture is: "I am learning a Trade!" Also the greeting: "Best Regards, Frank." In Frank's own handwriting. It is from Frank Truitt of the Seabees.—Uncle John.

Another card, also printed on a sheet of V-Mail paper, has been received from S-Sgt. Wilbur M. Meade and bears the following information: "Effective immediately and until further notice, please do not send any more mail to me at the address given below. I will advise you promptly when mail should be resumed and will give you my proper address. I cannot do so now for military reasons."—Uncle John.

U.S.S. Boyd, in Port June 8, 1945

Dear Uncle John: I will drop you a few lines to let you know that I have just received 12 Stars within the last two days. They were the first over in nearly six months. We have been on the move so much lately that about all that has caught up with us was air mail, and that was pretty slow at times. Most of the papers were from November 1944 up until March 6, but they were new to me, and I think it is a very swell thing you are doing for the boys in service by sending them to us. Well, I have been out for over 15 months now and haven't seen a boy from home yet. I was in port at Guam, but at the time I didn't know that James Watkins was there until we had left. I have been hoping to make it there again before long and get a chance to see James. I received your paper with the piece about my cousin, Roy Hughes, getting the two medals but I would rather have him safe than all the medals made, but we can't all come out of this war. Say "Hello" to all my friends at Friona for me.

Vaughn D. Stanford, S-1-C Seaman Stanford is one of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Stanford who are in the Armed Service. They formerly lived at Friona but the parents now live near Muleshoe.—Uncle John.

Pfc. Roy T. (Tilden) Slagle, with Mrs. Slagle and children, arrived here last week from last week from Seattle, Wash., where he is stationed. Pfc. Slagle was granted a 21-day furlough, but was given an extension of 30 days more in order to be at home to assist his father with wheat harvest. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Slagle of Friona.

Sgt. and Mrs. Dallas Coldiron arrived here last week from Boca Raton, Fla., where he is stationed, to spend his furlough with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Coldiron and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Coleman, and other relatives.

Lt. Luther Loveless of the U. S. Navy arrived at Friona Monday to spend a two-weeks leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Loveless. Lt. Loveless instructed the Star to remove his name from its subscription list, as he will be shipped out immediately on his return to Riverside, Calif., where he has been stationed for the past several months.

Seaman O. B. (Boots) Deatherage who has been somewhere in the Pacific for the past few months, returned home Tuesday to spend a few weeks leave with his family. "Boots", it seems, could never get over being seasick, and prior to his return home had been in a Navy hospital on some island under treatment in an effort to overcome the malady.

What about travel?

Now, you may naturally ask, "Won't it be a little easier to get accommodations?" . . . "Won't it be a little more comfortable to travel?"

We of the Santa Fe would like to hold out some hope to our friends who have good reasons for taking a trip, but who find it difficult to do so.

We would like to give those who do travel all the little niceties of service that are part of the Santa Fe tradition.

Bigger Traffic Loads

The stubborn facts are that the traffic to our Pacific ports of war is stepping up instead of letting down!

This means, in the war days to come, there will be more passenger and freight traffic—new loads and greater loads and less space for civilian travelers than ever on Santa Fe rails.

In The Meantime

Santa Fe facilities have been enormously increased—bigger yards; more freight Diesels; centralized traffic control at key points; and improved shop tools and practices which keep our locomotives rolling.

In peacetime these increased facilities will enable us to provide better service than ever. But in the meantime, the stuff needed to jick Japan is top priority.

So—again we ask, "Unless your trip is essential, can't you put it off until we have a little better opportunity to serve you in the traditional Santa Fe manner?"

HOW and WHY CHIROPRACTIC METHODS are DIFFERENT

Chiropractors use the word "adjustment" instead of "treatment," because the word "adjust" exactly expresses what they do. It means "to make accurate; to bring into a true relative position." As Chiropractors employ it, it means to correct the position of a vertebra which is out of alignment, so that it assumes its proper relation with the vertebra above and below.

To "treat" means: "The application or giving of remedies for the cure of diseases; medical or surgical care of a patient."

Explanation may further clarify the distinction between the words.

To soften hard water you treat it with borax or some other chemical; you do not adjust it. Soil is treated by adding to it the chemical which it lacks, but it is not adjusted. However, if your sewing machine takes too long or too short a stitch, you adjust it; you do not treat it.

The Chiropractor applies no remedy, medicine, liniment, lotion or operation to act upon the disease or the diseased organ. He merely corrects the mechanical obstruction, which has acted as a hindrance to Nature's efforts to "treat the disease." That is why Chiropractic results are real and permanent.

Thus, it is evident, that the Chiropractor cannot be said to "treat" for the fundamental fact upon which the science of Chiropractic is based is that there is an intelligence which builds, controls, repairs and adapts the body to the requirements of life through the nervous system.

Not a muscle moves, not a gland secretes, not one function of the acts of nutrition, breathing, circulation, etc., is carried on except through nerve stimulus. It is the Chiropractic premise that the power which heals the body wounds, mends its broken bones and adapts it perfectly to its environment is self-sufficient—capable beyond all wisdom of man. All that is necessary in the restoration of health to diseased organs is to open the lines of communication and allow the normal power to flow through. This requires an adjustment, and the fact that Chiropractic succeeds where other methods have failed should commend it to thoughtful, intelligent people.

The word "adjust" indicates the difference between finding the primary cause and correcting it, and "treating" effects of that cause for temporary relief or for the suppression of symptoms.

Chiropractic teaches that disease is not a substantial thing which lies in wait just around the corner to pounce upon and invade the unsuspecting victim. Disease does not invade our bodies. It does not attack us from without. Disease is merely a condition within the body which prevents a normal expression of function.

Are these functions within our bodies a mere happenstance? Does the stomach digest our foods without intelligent direction? Does the heart beat seventy-two times each minute by mere accident? Is it only an accident that maintains the bodily temperature at 98.6 degrees? We need but a cursory thought to realize that all these must be in response to immutable law.

Cut the nerves leading to the stomach, and it can no longer digest the foods. Cut those leading to the heart, and it ceases to beat. Destroy the central center in the brain and death results. In brief, the Chiropractor recognizes that all function within the human body results from an intelligent control exercised through the nervous system must be free from interference, or function will be deranged.

It is the providence of the Chiropractor to discover where nerve transmission is interfered with and to remove such interference.

It should be remembered that nerve interference develops gradually. It is also true that relief must be brought about gradually. Don't come to the Chiropractor expecting instant freedom from a condition which has existed perhaps for years. Be as reasonable in your conception of Chiropractic as you are in other matters.

What about travel?

Now, you may naturally ask, "Won't it be a little easier to get accommodations?" . . . "Won't it be a little more comfortable to travel?"

We of the Santa Fe would like to hold out some hope to our friends who have good reasons for taking a trip, but who find it difficult to do so.

We would like to give those who do travel all the little niceties of service that are part of the Santa Fe tradition.

Bigger Traffic Loads
The stubborn facts are that the traffic in our Pacific ports of war is stepping up instead of letting down!

This means, in the war days to come, there will be more passenger and freight traffic—new loads and greater loads and less space for civilian travelers than ever on Santa Fe rails.

In The Meantime

Santa Fe facilities have been enormously increased—bigger yards; more freight Diesels; centralized traffic control at key points; and improved shop tools and practices which keep our locomotives rolling.

In peacetime these increased facilities will enable us to provide better service than ever. But in the meantime, the stuff needed to lick Japan is top priority.

HOW and WHY CHIROPRACTIC METHODS are DIFFERENT

Chiropractors use the word "adjustment" instead of "treatment," because the word "adjust" exactly expresses what they do. It means "to make accurate; to bring into a true relative position." As Chiropractors employ it, it means to correct the position of a vertebra which is out of alignment, so that it assumes its proper relation with the vertebra above and below.

To "treat" means: "The application or giving of remedies for the cure of diseases; medical or surgical care of a patient."

Explanation may further clarify the distinction between the words.

To soften hard water you treat it with borax or some other chemical; you do not adjust it. Soil is treated by adding to it the chemical which it lacks, but it is not adjusted. However, if your sewing machine takes too long or too short a stitch, you adjust it; you do not treat it.

The Chiropractor applies no remedy, medicine, liniment, lotion or operation to act upon the disease or the diseased organ. He merely corrects the mechanical obstruction, which has acted as a hindrance to Nature's efforts to "treat the disease." That is why Chiropractic results are real and permanent.

Thus, it is evident, that the Chiropractor cannot be said to "treat" for the fundamental fact upon which the science of Chiropractic is based is that there is an intelligence which builds, controls, repairs and adapts the body to the requirements of life through the nervous system.

Not a muscle moves, not a gland secretes, not one function of the acts of nutrition, breathing, circulation, etc., is carried on except through nerve stimulus. It is the Chiropractic premise that the power which heals the body wounds, mends its broken bones and adapts it perfectly to its environment is self-sufficient—capable beyond all wisdom of man. All that is necessary in the restoration of health to diseased organs is to open the lines of communication and allow the normal power to flow through. This requires an adjustment, and the fact that Chiropractic succeeds where other methods have failed should commend it to thoughtful, intelligent people.

The word "adjust" indicates the difference between finding the primary cause and correcting it, and "treating" effects of that cause for temporary relief or for the suppression of symptoms.

Chiropractic teaches that disease is not a substantial thing which lies in wait just around the corner to pounce upon and invade the unsuspecting victim. Disease does not invade our bodies. It does not attack us from without. Disease is merely a condition within the body which prevents a normal expression of function.

Are these functions within our bodies a mere happenstance? Does the stomach digest our foods without intelligent direction? Does the heart beat seventy-two times each minute by mere accident? Is it only an accident that maintains the bodily temperature at 98.6 degrees? We need but a cursory thought to realize that all these must be in response to immutable law.

Cut the nerves leading to the stomach, and it can no longer digest the foods. Cut those leading to the heart, and it ceases to beat. Destroy the thermal center in the brain and death results. In brief, the Chiropractor recognizes that all function within the human body results from an intelligent control exercised through the nervous system must be free from interference, or function will be deranged.

It is the providence of the Chiropractor to discover where nerve transmission is interfered with and to remove such interference.

It should be remembered that nerve interference develops gradually. It is also true that relief must be brought about gradually. Don't come to the Chiropractor expecting instant freedom from a condition which has existed perhaps for years. Be as reasonable in your conception of Chiropractic as you are in other matters.

coating reduced oxidation, loss of moisture and "freezer burn." When the frozen food had thawed slightly, the covering proved easy to strip off.

Dip-coating may be especially useful for packaging cuts of frozen meat and poultry because the coating automatically adapts itself to the shape of the food, thus leaving very little air confined in the package.
