Executive Committee Meeting

NUMEROUS RANCHMEN EXPECTED HERE MONDAY

Don't forget next Monday, February 12; that's the day on which the "kings of industry," those jolly, big-hearted men of the ranches, the sheep and goat raisers, will meet here in convention.

The business meetings will be held at the court house in the district court room. A local woman's committee has been appointed to look after the entertainment of the visiting ladies who will be here on that day; Mrs. Alex Mitchell is chairman of this committee. And also a committee of local men has been appointed to look after the entertainment of the masculine gender. Ed Downie is chairman of this committee.

One of the features of the occasion will be a big free dance Monday night at the Kerr Hotel.

BAPTIST MEETING

Our meeting will be postponed one day on account of the regular services at the Presbyterian church, beginning ours on Monday night instead of Sunday morning. I received a letter from our evangelist, Rev. Palm, stating he would be here on time.

We will hold two services each day, 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Be sure to be at the very first service and you will come to all the rest. This is an opportunity of hearing a truly great man, and everybody come.

D. K. Adams, pastor.

Sanderson Makes Good Showing At Alpine

Win Third Place in Basket Ball District Tournament

Friday and Saturday, February 2 and 3, the district high school basket ball tournament was held at Alpine and our boys went up to take part in the contest. This district is composed of Marfa, Alpine, Fort Davis, Fort Stockton, and Sanderson. Each team was scheduled to play four games, two Friday and two Saturday.

In Friday's games, Sanderson was matched against Fort Davis and Fort Stockton and our boys were victorious in both games, winning over Fort Stockton by 19 to 8, and defeating Ft. Davis by a score of 27 to 12.

In Saturday's games Sanderson was matched against Marfa and Alpine, two very strong teams. Marfa and Alpine easily defeated Ft. Davis and Ft. Stockton, but when they went up against the Sanderson boys they struck the real thing and during the first half of the game it was nip and tuck. When the first half of the game with Alpine had been finished the score stood Alpine 2, Sanderson 2. This so frightened the Alpine bunch that they held a council of war and put in three new men in the last half of the game, thereby defeating the Sanderson team. The game with Marfa was as hard fought as the Alpine game, and our boys held the Marfa boys down all through the game, being defeated only after a hard fight.

The final results of the two-day tournament was as follows: Marfa, first place; Alpine, second place; Sanderson, third place.

Among those who went to Alpine with the team were Prof. White, Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Lee Grigsby, Lilliemae and Nellberta Lea, Grace Martin.

Royal Neighbors Entertain

On Saturday evening, February 3, the Royal Neighbor Lodge entertained with a party at the Masonic Hall. Cards and music were features of the evening, after which a contest was entered into by all present, Mrs. Dave Pollard and Judge Henshaw being the prize winners. A delicious two course luncheon was served, the table was beautiful in purple and white decorations, Royal Neighbor colors.

Every one present expressed a delightful evening.

An Old Fashioned Boy

Show at Princess Theater Monday Night is Full of Laughter

One of the most humorous incidents in Charles Ray's latest rip-roaring comedy, "An Old Fashioned Boy," scheduled as the feature Paramount offering at the Princess Theatre for a run of 2 days commencing Monday February 12th, centers around a "laffy-paff," wherein Mr. Ray as David Warrington, plays the role of a "kitchen-knight" for the amusement of three kiddies, who he is asked to secretly shelter in his home.

Garbed in a tea apron, wielding kitchen utensils in a most awkward manner while endeavoring to make the taffy, Mr. Ray soon transforms a spotless kitchen into something resembling a gamblers' den after a raid by the police. Mr. Ray's strenuous efforts to remove the taffy from his hands and face at the end of the scene, to say nothing of the time and trouble involved in removing it from his hair, which had become completely covered with the sticky mess, provoked much mirth at the Thomas H. Ince studios where the picture was filmed.

French Troops Moving Into the Ruhr Basin

Here are the first photographs received in this country of the actual entrance of French troops into the Ruhr. One shows troops on the way from Dusseldorf to Essen, and the other a field kitchen on the way.

Helicopter With Two Men Flies Successfully

For the first time in history a helicopter, tested the other day at McCook field, Ohio, made a successful flight while carrying two passengers. It is here seen rising from the ground, and the illustration also shows, left to right, Arthur Smith, civilian pilot, and Maj. T. H. Bane, who were in the machine, and Georges de Bothezat, the Russian inventor under whose supervision the helicopter was built.

See What Lieut. Barth Brings Home

This photograph, just received from Coblenz, shows Lieutenant Barth, Machine Gun Company M, Eighth United States Infantry, United States army of the Rhine, and the trophy which he won as the best shot in the American Army of Occupation in Germany—the army that has now come back to the United States as ordered by President Harding.

She Forgave Him for Being Rich

L. Gaston Boissonault, Jr., son of the inventor of the detograph, Gaston Boissonault, a wealthy business man of New York, went to the Adirondacks a few months ago looking for a change from the ordinary routine of his life. He took a job as carpenter on a house that was being built. He met Miss Katherine O'Brien of Saranac Lake, an eighteen-year-old beauty. They fell in love and shortly after married. Then young Boissonault confessed to his bride that he was the son of a wealthy man, and the bride forgave him for being wealthy. Here they are out for a little fun in the snow.

"DIAMOND QUEEN"

Miss Ruth Johnson, is the only woman manager of a gold and gem mine in the world, and has been nicknamed "the Montana Diamond Queen." She is manager of a gold and diamond mine near Livingston, Mont. All the stones are mined and cut under her personal direction.

JEAN IS PRACTICE BABY

Jean Elizabeth Christie, a real nine-months-old baby, rules the home economics house at South Dakota State college, Brookings, S. D., where all young women specializing in that department must spend one term keeping house and taking charge of Jean Elizabeth before they can receive degrees. State college is one of the few schools in the Middle West to furnish a real baby for home economics students. The appearance of the child indicates that she is thriving under the treatment given her at the practice house.

OUTSTANDING FIGURES IN GOLFING

Reasons why there are so few good left-handed golf players, noted by Jack Hutchison, are: Gold courses are laid out for right-handers. Left-handed golf clubs have not been adequately developed. Professional golf instructors are right-handed and generally advise the player to play right-handed. There are not many left-handed players of import, but the percentage of right-handers who are above the plane of duffers is not extraordinarily large. Tradition in golf has it that one can't play good golf left-handed. There are local champions who are left-handed, though none of the great champions have played left-handed.

Still in its infancy at University of Nebraska—Was inaugurated by Luehring.

Swimming, as a minor sport at the University of Nebraska, still is in its infancy. The sport was inaugurated at the cornhusker institution last year by Director of Athletics Fred T. Luehring, who since has taken over the reins of a similar position at the University of Minnesota.

Last year Luehring coached the team through a successful season and this winter three of his proteges again are out for swimming practice. They are: Neil Phillip, last year's captain; Graebling and Lindlay, all letter men in aquatic sports.

Graebling, the captain this season, is considered a fast traveler through the water, while Phillip took second place in the Western A. N. A. fancy diving contest last season, and is rated one of the country's best in the diving class.

The swimmers are being instructed this year by Coach Frank Adkins, who was assistant last year.

A 400-yard cinder path will offer facilities for track and field sports, while football and boxing also will be staged in the big arena, the seating capacity of which will be from 70,000 to 80,000.

NICE BUNGALOW OF CALIFORNIA TYPE

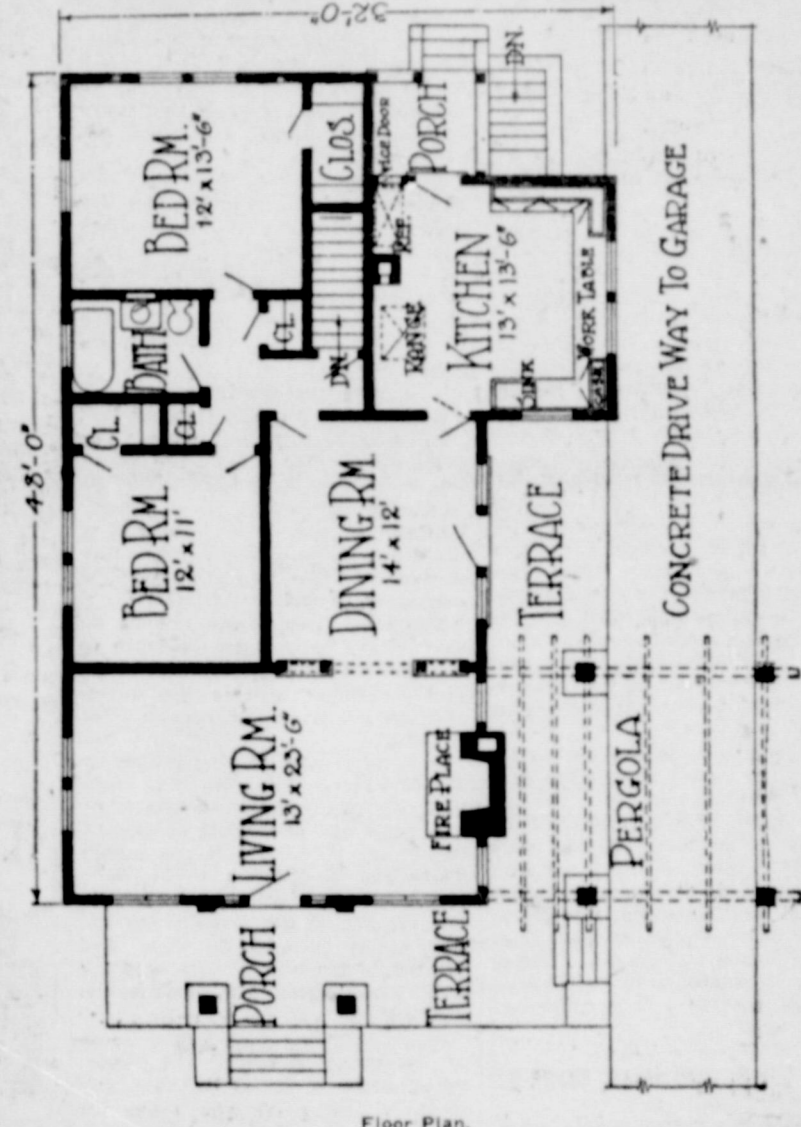

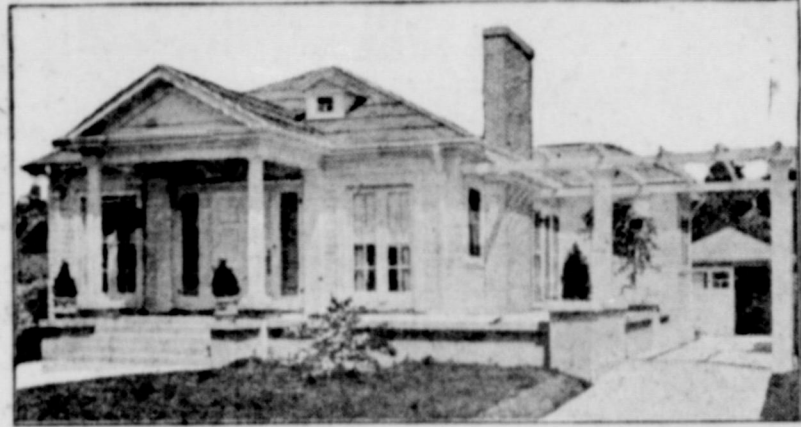

Pretty Home of Frame Construction for Suburbs.

EXTERIOR IS VERY PLEASING

Gives Convenience and Efficiency of Apartment Without its Objectionable Features—Adapted to Small Family.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 187 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Out in California the most popular type of home is the bungalow. Set in the semi-tropical surroundings that are found around Los Angeles and to the south of that city, these small homes, usually of frame with either board or stucco walls, are exceptionally attractive. Because of the climate, however, the construction is rather flimsy, as there is no need for protection from the cold.

Architects in all other parts of the country have taken the California idea and altered their plans so that bungalows, built of all sorts of materials, have become a most popular type of home. The buildings for the colder sections are well constructed, set on good foundations of masonry or concrete and have a modern, full basement to accommodate the heating plant, provide storage space and for the laundry.

When closely analyzed, the bungalow and the apartment are practically the same thing. Floor plans for the one approximate the floor plans for the other. The apartment building is really a series of bungalows, set one upon the other. However, in doing this the attractiveness of the bungalow is lost. Also there is little opportunity to beautify the surroundings and gone is the feeling of "home," that is found in a single house.

What might be termed a most unusual design for a frame bungalow is shown in the accompanying home building design. Here is a five-room, modern home, in which are all the conveniences, surrounded by a terrace. The combination of hip and gable roof, the pergola and the clappboard siding all combine to add to the attractiveness of this bungalow.

The living room of this bungalow, as shown by the floor plans, extends the width of the house. It is 13 feet wide and 23 feet 6 inches long. At one end is an open fireplace. The dining room is connected with the living room by a colonnade opening. The room is 12 by 14 feet, and opens onto the terrace at the side. Back of the dining room is the kitchen, 13 by 13 feet 6 inches. This room arrangement places all of the daytime activities of the housewife in a series of rooms, each connected with another. A short hall, reached through the dining room connects the two bedrooms, one 11 by 12 feet, directly back of the living room, and the other, 12 by 13 feet 6 inches, at the corner of the building. Between the two bedrooms is the bathroom.

How convenient this arrangement is can be readily seen by a study of the floor plan. Also the amount of closet room, the built-in kitchen fixtures and other good features of the design will be noted.

For a small family wanting a pretty little home this design is appealing. Here are the combination of exterior beauty and interior comfort and convenience. The house itself is not large, 32 by 48 feet, but there is sufficient room for the average family. Built in the suburbs of a city, or in a smaller town where building sites are not expensive, this home may be surrounded by lawn and flower gardens, and will have the appearance of a real home.

There are many bungalow designs from which the prospective home builder may choose a plan that suits his needs, his pocketbook and the site

The Fairbanks-Morse "Z" is the Logical Engine for You to Buy

Every ranch should have an engine, large enough to drive not only all the lighter machines about the ranch but also the other machines taking more power.

You cannot take a chance with an engine that MAY pull the load, you MUST be sure it WILL pull the load right through to the end and be ready for the next job. That's where the wonderful "Z" engine shines.

No effort is spared in making these "Z" engines of the very highest quality in every detail.
All parts are precisely made and fitted and standardized for inter-changeability. The "throttling governor" ensures uniform speed maintaining any speed for which the controller may be set. It is easily started, will run on kerosene as well as gasoline, is effectively lubricated, equipped with Bosch magneto, and every part is built to be readily accessible.

Let us demonstrate the "Z"
engine to you, compare the amount of engine quality per dollar with any you have ever heard of. Add to this all the years of satisfaction that go with the Fairbanks-Morse name plate. Then you'll buy a "Z" engine knowing that you have bought the utmost in enduring engine value.

were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gale

This entertainment was both familiarize white people with the natural characteristics of the Red

of the Indian life, to visualize the costumes of different tribes. The love songs and dances and different lullabies of the mother rock-ing her papoose to sleep, were all given to show the feeling, loving human beings the red people were.

Mr. Gale has made a study of over 25 years of the remaining tribes, recording their songs and legends and collecting specimens
of their handicraft.

Ford Coupe Stolen
From The Tyler Courier.

"The sheriff's department, assisted by Rangers, had quite an exciting chase last night after a man who stole a Ford Coupe belonging to Mrs. Ethel Raysor."

"Mrs. Raysor had left the car standing on Bois d'Arc avenue near J. H. Herndon's office.

"Sheriff Strange was notified and got busy in a hurry. He phoned all points in Smith and adjoining counties and started men on the chase. In a short time Constable Sparkman phoned from Winona that a man riding
in a Ford coupe had passed through that place at a rapid clip and that he shot at the car
several times, trying to puncture
the tires.

"The coupe stolen from Mrs.
Raysor was found about 18 miles from Tyler on a side road where it had been left by the thief.

"Some one saw a large red-headed man in the car as it stood on Bois d'Arc avenue and he is believed to be the man who stole the car. The man left a flash light and a quantity of files and screw drivers in the car. No trace of him was found by the officers, but the stolen car was returned to the owner in as good condition as when it was stolen."—Tyler Courier.

(Mrs. Ethel Raysor, referred to in the above article, was formerly Miss Ethel Bodkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C.
Bodkin of this city.)
