On the beach, three huskies kept abreast of the canoe.

"There's Brock in the bow!" cried Angus McCain as the craft approached the post. "I'd know his shoulders, anywhere; and Gaspard's steering her!" Closer came the wanderers, and the little group of excited people on the high shore ran to the beach below to welcome those who had returned from the ruthless maw of the Yellow-Leg wilderness.

LIGHTS BY CRANT of NEW YORK

The City Underground.

To me, one of the most fascinating tours of New York can be made for a nickel on the front platform of a subway train. From a front window the subway is not as dark as it appears farther back in the train, and there are numberless things to watch and puzzle over. There are the signal lights, and the accompanying automatic blocks that prevent a train from colliding with another. Every so often there are illuminated boards with the letters SB on them. I tried for months to figure out what SB meant, but finally had to give up and asked some one. It means section break, and indicates to the motorman that one current supply ends and another begins there. I believe he is supposed to shut off his motors at this point.

At first-or even hundredth-glance it appears that every inch of the subway system is used. Platforms are jammed with waiting passengers, and no room is wasted.

New York's Speedway.

Park avenue, one of the principal streets in New York running north and south through the heart of the city, is really a speedway. Broadfare carries most of the rush hour traffic and in order to speed it up the police insist on all cars driving at a very fast rate. Therefore it is nothing unusual to see traffic moving the rate of forty to forty-five miles an lour, without any protest from the police, but rather with encouragement,

About Manhattan.

Last Sunday I took a six-hour walk of about twenty miles around Manhattan, starting on the fashionable upper east side and working down through the slums. The slums are dirty, right enough, and crowded. But all the children on the streets appear to be well-fed and are warmly clad. And there is no begging there. It wasn't until I reached Park avenue at the completion of my jaunt that beggars, clad worse than the slum dwelers, approached me.

Hope for Seafarers.

That awful curse of the Twentieth century searfaring man, the ship's concert, may finally become a relic of the past, instead of a pest of the present. The word has got out that the United States lines, faced with strong competition for summer trade from new ships of other lines, have decided to take on a cabaret crew. And why not? Summer hotels have The silent audience, Indian and recently been enormously successful It all. They will even take smaller salary than is customary for the opportunity of sporting around in flannel trousers and summer dresses at the more expensive resorts.

Ball bearing offers a short turning radius of 23% feet and assures easy handling in restricted places.

4-speed trans-mission gives ample power for every condition of road or load.

Channel steel frame, 6 inches deep, 15½ feet long, takes oversize bodies without excessive overhang. Chevrolet offers un-usually low loading height.

The rear axle is bigger, stronger and has spiral bevel gears —is easily accessible for inspection or adjust-ment, due to a detach-able cover plate.

Four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted parallel to the frame, carry peak loads with safety, and provide better load distribu-tion.

Rear fenders, splash aprons and full-length running boards are standard equip-ment on the Chevrolet truck and are included in the list price.

Two new breeds of dogs have been exhibited at the European shows this year. A pair of Ivicenes were added to the ever-growing list of curious dogs. They came from the Balearic isles, but no textbook has been found giving any information about the breed. The other new dog is an Afghan spaniel, attractive in appearance and very expensive.

SHEER STRAWS ARRIVE EARLY: GAY COLORS FOR LITTLE GIRLS

A N INVITATION to "come early and airy, it is almost fragile in apand stay late" has evidently been extended to the sheer and lacy straws, especially hair braids, which are so conspicuously present in the millinery modes of today. Certain it is that transparent straws are making an unusually early appearance this season -defying tradition, as it were. Hitherto the feeling existed that only the advent of summer warranted the pearance. A sheer hair tem widens its brim. There is a back-bow of black satin ribbon.

To the right in the picture a panamalaque crown combines with handsome straw lace for the brim. Wide black satin ribbon developes an artfully tied bow at one side.

An ingenious designfulness which involves intricate handwork distinwearing of airy-fairy sheer straws. I guishes the last model. Milliner folds

However spring 1930 has changed all

Even the "first" hats flaunted touches of lacy openwork straws and hairbraid transparencies, such as, for instance, the handsome shapes of baku, panamalaque and other linenlike types which were and are continuing to be enhanced with insets of lace straw, or flares of thin hairbraid and so on. And now, with summer not yet begun, hats as wispy and sheer as the sheerest meet with fashion's approval for immediate wear. That their vogue will be stressed on a crescendo scale, there is no doubt, for what with the emphasis placed by the mode on "feminine" and "pretty" frocks of chiffon, printed net, organdie and such, bats of thinnest bair and lacy straws are destined to remain in the picture until the curtain is

One of the very interesting effects this season is the poke bonnet with or tin lace straw so transparent the outline of the features show through.

Black with pink being very fashtonable, many of the black lacy straws have either a band of pink grosgrain ribbon on the more tailored types or a rose or a cluster of pink gardenias tucked under the brim.

The very thin brims which are of black faille silk are scrolled on this transparent body hat of hairbraid in open fishnet mesh. The brim is caught back off-the-face in picturesque

Gay Colors for Girls.

A cape, a cape, my kingdom for a cape! Well, perhaps little daughter does not say it just exactly in these words, when she rushes into mother's arms pleading for one of the new cape coats. Nevertheless her heart is set on keeping pace with her little friends, who being in the welldressed class, will be flaunting capes | glory. on their coats, on their frocks, on the sleeveless blouse-no doubt on all three as the spring and summer program unfolds.

Now that it is decided that little daughter's coat must have a cape, the "what color" question comes up next rung down on the summer style scene. for discussion. In the original, the spirit of avarice enters, the house of coat pictured is in a "springy" mint green, for pastel colorings are quite very deep brim which is of hairbraid the rage for little folks' coats. A range of blues from "baby blue" to turquoise are accented, also, the materials for these colorful coats usually either tweed mixture, flannel or basket weaves. Navy flannel or cheviot coats with bright red linings present a more vivid side of the question, but one of equal style importance. Then there are many handsome models of draped off the face, are exceedingly smart. The dimensions of these brims from side to side reach tremendous proportions. In the season's modes, as the upper illustration bears witness, picturesque wide brims and lacy straws are playing most charming duets. The lacebraid model at the top is that light covert cloth in both practical dark shades and in lovely lighter tones. The very simple tailoring given to these gay colored cape-coats is one of their leading attractions. In almost every instance the cape is detachable and there is ever the inevitable belt. The body of the coat varies in that it may be straightlined with a belt as pictured or it may develop a decided flare at the bemline, perhaps with double-breast fastening and large

For the hat to match the coat so far as color goes is also a featured point. Both straws and felts take on the color of the coat with which they are worn. As is the fashion for grownups so is it also for little girlsthat of the transparent straw hat in any of the the new lovely colors. An infinite variety of shapes are offered this season, including berets, cloches, very wide brims and novel off-the-face models. As a postscript we might add that cunning little separate skirts of the new woolens are being shown this season for Miss Junior and her younger sister. A skirt matched to the cont supplemented with several blouses suggests a practical costume.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Hailing Jesus at INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC-Making Christ Our King.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP. IC-Making Christ Our King.

1. The Preparation (vv. 1-6). The sending of the disciples for the ass (vv. 1-3). Christ told them just where to go to find it and how to answer the inquiry of the one who owned it. This shows how perfectly Jesus knows our ways. The providing of the animal was not man's plan, but according to Christ's foreknowledge.

2. The fulfillment of prophecy (vv. 4, 5).

Some five hundred years before this, Zechariah had made this prediction (Zech, 9:9). Christ's coming in this way was in exact fulfillment of Zecharlah's prediction. This is highly instructive to those who would understand as yet unfulfilled prophecy. If the predictions of His first coming were thus literally fulfilled, there is no alternative but to believe that those of His second coming will likewise be literally fulfilled.

3. The obedience of the disciples

The request may have seemed strange and unreasonable, but they obeyed.

11. The Entrance of the King (vv. 7-11).

1. The disciples put their garments upon the ass and set the Lord thereon (v. 7). This act showed that they recognized Him as their King (II Kings 9:13).

2. The multitude (vv. 8, 9). Some spread their garments in the way; others who had no garments to spare, cut down branches and did the same with them. 3. The city awakened (vv. 10, 11). It was a stirring time, but a more stirring time is to come. This will be when the Lord comes in power and III. The King Rejected (vv. 12-16). The immediate occasion of this rejection was the cleansing of the temple. To sell oxen and sheep and doves was legitimate, as well as to exchange money in doing it, but doing it for gain was wrong. As soon as the prayer becomes a den of thieves.

IV. The Nation Rejected by the King (vv. 17-46).

Having shown their unwillingness to receive Christ as King when officially presented to them, Christ now turns from them and makes known their awful condition in the following parables:

1. The barren fig tree cursed (vv. 17-22).

It was on the morrow after his official presentation as He was returning from Jerusalem that Jesus observed the unfruitful fig tree. The barren fig tree is a type of Israel. With its leaves, it gave a show of life, but being destitute of fruit, it had no right to cumber the ground.

2. The parable of the two sons (vv. 28-32).

Both sons were told by the father to work in the vineyard. The one refused outright to obey, but afterwards repented and went. The other pretended a willingness to obey, but in reality did not. The first one represents the publicans and harlots. The second the proud and self-righteous Pharisees-priests and elders.

3. The parable of the householder (vv. 30-46).

(1) This was God Himself. (2) The vineyard. This means Israel (Isa. 5:1-7, Jer. 2:21, Ps. 80:9). The Lord went to particular pains to gather out this nation and make it separate, bestowing peculiar favors upon it. This vineyard so well kept and provided for, did not bear fruit. (3) The husbandmen. These were the spiritual guides-the rulers and teachers of Israel. (4) The servants were sent for the fruit of the vineyard. These were the various prophets whom God sent to the nation. They were beaten and killed. (5) The Lord Jesus Christ, God's only and beloved Son, came into their midst. They knew Him to be the Son, but did not show Him reverence. They not only rejected the kingdom, but the King who was the Son,

Could you do the right thing-immediatelythough the emergency came without warning-perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until

Canaries of Many Colors

Many colors of canaries were shown at the recent grand national wife for congress show of cage birds held in the Crystal palace, London. Blue canaries were entered for the first time, and handy introducing bills in the house. there were a number of white ones and hundreds of yellow singers. Roller canaries were tested for song in a remote, softly carpeted room. One feathered prima donna went from Metz, France, to sing. Another color novelty in the show was a white jackdaw. More than $500,000 worth of birds of many varieties were displayed.

Society's Deadly Sins

The seven deadly sins of society, as listed by Dr. E. Stanley Jones before the Methodist Episcopal World Service conference, are: Polftics without principles, wealth without work, pleasure without conscience, knowledge without character, business without morality, science without humanity, and worship without sacrifice.
