R. E. Thomason For Congress

The following article was clipped from the El Paso Post, and was mailed to us by Allen R. Grambling of El Paso, campaign manager for R. E. Thomason for Congress:

"At a time like this, when great national and international problems are crowding themselves before the legislative branches of our national government, voters of the dominant Democratic party in Texas' 16th congressional district can't afford to make a slip in selecting a man who will succeed Rep. Claude Hudspeth.

"On the heels of probably the greatest financial crash this country has ever seen, America now is faced with the most serious problem of unemployment in its history; we need a man of sound judgment, of seasoned experience and human sympathies to help solve that problem. Cotton gamblers and vested interests of the eastern money centers too long have fattened at the expense of the farm and ranch operators of this western country we need a man who will know how to deal with them. There are the problems of international peace and proper limitation of immigration to solve; there is the great national problem of civil liberties—of the gradual encroachment of property rights over human rights—demanding prompt attention; the growing power of the power trust must be challenged; our system of freight rates must be readjusted—particularly the unfair discriminations that exist against this southwestern country—but with such wisdom that an industry whose existence is challenged now by motor transport systems and air routes will not be resultingly crippled. And this newly developing southwestern corner of Texas, with its oil and irrigation and long stretches of irregular river boundary to puzzle over, needs frequent consideration at the hands of the federal government. For all of these, we need a man of mature judgment and of sufficient force of character to get results.

"The man in the race who stands out as statesmanlike timber is R. E. Thomason, El Paso's present mayor. Mayor Thomason 14 years ago was given his first opportunity at legislative experience when the voters of El Paso county sent him to the Texas legislature. His qualities of leadership there were so pronounced that he was elected speaker. Then, with the solid backing of house members, he became a candidate for governor and was barely nosed out of the runoff primary. Three years ago, he was drafted as a candidate for mayor and, elected by the biggest majority El Paso voters have ever given their chief executive, his first administration was so successful that he was re-elected without opposition. In experience, in personality, in soundness of judgment, in human sympathies, he is equipped to make a congressman of whom any district could be proud. Democrats of the 16th Texas district ought to nominate him in the first primary.

J. E. Landers and wife, Roy Landers and wife, Mrs. Lawrey and son, Pat, made a trip to Reagan Canyon Thursday of last week, returning Saturday. If you don't think J. E. can't tell you some big fish stories, just ask him.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Brown and baby of near Sanderson spent Sunday with Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stavley at their ranch north of Dryden.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roberts were in Sanderson Saturday from their ranch north of Dryden. They attended the show while in town.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Latimer and grandson, Bill, attended the picture show in Sanderson Saturday.

E. E. Murphy For Congress

E. E. (Pat) Murphy, San Angelo candidate for Congress from the 16th Congressional District to succeed Hon. Claude B. Hudspeth, gives in brief a part of his life and his platform.

Pat Murphy was born in West Texas, and reared around the ranch town of San Angelo, Mr. Murphy read law at night while working in a shoe store, later started the practice of law at San Angelo in 1916. Through his own efforts he has graduated from three of the largest colleges in the country, Cumberland University, National University (LLB), and Georgetown University—the last two in Washington, D. C. While in Washington, Mr. Murphy was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court and practiced law by day, attending college from 5 to 10 o'clock at night while completing his post graduate legal work. While in Washington he made a study of every Government Department, and is perhaps as well versed on the affairs of the Federal Government as any man in West Texas. During the World War Mr. Murphy enlisted as a buck private and served two years with the 36th Division, eleven months of the time in France.

Mr. Murphy praises Claude Hudspeth, the present Congressman, as "the most outstanding statesman of the Southwest and certainly the greatest friend of the rancher and every farmer ever to sit in the National Congress." Murphy says he is proud to have such a man as Mr. Hudspeth actively supporting him for Congress.

Mr. Murphy says that he is strong for the Red Bluff Dam and promises to carry out the policies of Claude Hudspeth in aiding the Red Bluff Dam project. Claude Hudspeth he says, has done more for Red Bluff Dam than any living soul and Claude Hudspeth wanted Murphy in Congress that Red Bluff might be completed immediately.

He advocated prompt and liberal relief for the disabled soldier, also changing the date of adjusted service certificates from 1925 to 1918, by law, to enable the ex-soldier to borrow about 50 per cent on the certificate without costing the government one penny more; world peace by taking the profits out of war, and making the munition factory serve with its profits in time of war as well as the manpower of the nation; a Department of Education in the Federal Government as an aid to education and to give the school teacher a decent salary and the American boy and girl a decent education; he does not favor changing the Constitution or repeal of the 18th amendment; he favored curbing the cotton exchange as a remedy of the farmer's ills, and was opposed to retaining the control of our "State railroads in the hands of the Federal Government."

Murphy is bitterly opposed to cancellation of any war debts of any foreign nation. He promises to see that Texas is given a fair share of Federal jobs.

Mrs. Johnnie Scott and two daughters of Longfellow, Miss Ethel Skevington, Miss Hudman and Miss Josephine Cotter of Alpine, spent the day Friday of last week with Mrs. A. F. Thrift.

Sargeant McCabe of Dryden left Sunday of this week for San Antonio where he met his wife and baby. They returned home Tuesday.

Rev. Owens and family and Mrs. Nox and children spent several days the past week at Pumpville attending a revival meeting.

George Edwards received word Saturday that a sister in Kansas City was ill. Mr. Edwards and family left overland for Kansas City Saturday night.

Johnnie Bregg made a business trip to Balmoray Friday.

Meet In Sanderson October The 7th.

Several motorists, headed by Hal Hamilton of Del Rio, president of the Highway No. 90 Association, arrived in Sanderson Wednesday of last week about the noon hour, taking lunch at the Kerr hotel, en route to Van Horn where a general meeting of the association was scheduled for Thursday. Quite a large crowd was in attendance from the different towns along the highway, there being delegates from most every town.

Two barbecues, a baseball game and a dance were among the festivities provided for the visitors, the dance having taken place at the El Capitan Hotel.

The next meeting of the Highway No. 90 Association will be held in Sanderson, October 7. Let us bear in mind this date, and make it one worth while.

Clay Holland of Alpine was elected and installed as president of the association, in place of the retiring president, Hal A. Hamilton of Del Rio, and H. R. Robertson, also of Alpine, was made secretary-treasurer, in place of the retiring secretary-treasurer, H. Wren of Del Rio.

Let us all pull together and make one big day in Sanderson October 7.

Proceedings Of District Court

District Court convened here Monday morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Reece Tatum presiding in the absence of Judge Joseph Jones who went to Dalhart to hold court. District Attorney Julian LaCrosse and official court stenographer, Mrs. Belle Sutherland, were present.

The grand jury was empaneled and a foreman appointed and then they were dismissed and instructed by the presiding judge to appear at a special term of court to be held on October 23. One civil case, that of C. H. Arvin vs. L. W. Leeper, a suit for cancellation of note, was tried without a jury and verdict rendered in favor of plaintiff, C. H. Arvin. Two divorce cases were disposed of. A divorce was granted to Lucille Powell Scott vs. Virgil Scott. A divorce was also granted J. T. Henson of San Antonio.

The petit jury which had been summoned to appear for Thursday, July 17, were informed not to appear until the October term.

Mrs. J. Green and family visited last week with Mrs. W. Bell of Alpine.

For Re-Election Of District Attorney

Julian LaCrosse of Del Rio, candidate for re-election as District Attorney, 63rd Judicial District, was in Sanderson several days this last week shaking hands with his many friends.

Mr. LaCrosse was here not only in behalf of the election, but to attend District Court as well. Owing to the fact that court was dismissed and set for special term October 23, gave Mr. LaCrosse more time to talk election. He was quite busy every day while here and his friends feel sure that he will continue to be our District Attorney after the coming election.

District Attorney LaCrosse called on the writer and left us a nice ad which you will see in the columns of this paper. Vote for Julian LaCrosse and you will be making no mistake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Thrift motored to Fort Stockton Sunday of this week where they visited Mrs. Thrift's mother, Mrs. R. W. E. Herst. Little Allen Owen, Mrs. Thrift's son, who has been visiting in Stockton the last three weeks, returned home with them.

Afternoon Frock Is in Limelight

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

The afternoon frock is again important in the fashion world. Was a time, not so long since, when we really forgot, or rather the style program did not demand that we change our clothes for each passing daytime social event.

The real reason we did it was because there actually were no definite luncheon, afternoon and tea fashions. Having reached the point where sports clothes were accepted even by "the best of regulated" dressers as appropriate as anything, we sometimes became totally resigned, and just wore them on through the dinner hour.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Light colored walls in the kitchen reflect and diffuse light and help to make the room a convenient workshop.

Summer clothes for the child should be light, airy, and easy to launder and they should absorb moisture readily.

Frequent turning, sunning, and cleaning with a brush or vacuum cleaner attachment make a mattress last longer and more comfortable as well.

A convenient way to serve raw vegetables to the child is to chop them fine and use as filling in small whole wheat bread sandwiches. Chopped celery, carrots, spinach, lettuce or cabbage seasoned with a little salt help supply the minerals and vitamins needed for health and growth.

bridge of a warm afternoon, but one would never play golf in it.

All of which goes to show that the clothes question is anything but a "happy-go-lucky" proposition this season. It requires intelligent study as to the appropriateness of things. The new rules are really quite arbitrary—sports for sports, afternoon costumes for afternoon, and formal evening attire for just that and none other.

Notwithstanding some few objections voiced at the outset of the new regime, women are completely won over to this order of things which calls for "perfectly darling" summer frocks made picturesquely instead of "sportsy" of loveliest materials, chief among which are handsomely all-over embroidered effects.

SERVING SALAD FAMILY STYLE

Possibly one reason why the busy housekeeper does not serve salads as often as she might is that it suggests individual salad plates, which often means extra work. Why not use the large salad bowl placed on the table as any other vegetable dish? It can be attractive and garnished. Raw carrots, fresh cucumbers, tomatoes and lettuce can all be served "family style," giving each one ample servings with less work for the home-maker.

Story for the Children at Bedtime

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"I saw you both in the city not long ago," said the horse whose name was Fred.

And the other horses nodded their heads and neighed as they agreed with Fred.

"We must have all come about the same time," said Bennie.

"I know you're right," said Kittle. "I heard my master talking to your masters about it, and I heard him say things which I am sure you will both be glad to hear."

"They made me very, very happy, for I have tried to do my best and it is nice to hear the good things, isn't it?"

"Yes," said Bennie. "I think it is, for I don't think it makes one conceited to hear nice things."

"I think it makes one want to live up to them, and it makes everyone happy."

"I agree," said Kittle. "I think there are so many nice people, men and women, boys and girls, and animals, too, that they should be made happy by hearing that they are liked."

"Well you both would like to hear my story then, eh?" asked Fred.

"We would," said Bennie. "For we are glad to hear you have good news for us."

"There were a few days when we were quite certain we were going to be sold, and we didn't know what sort of masters we would have."

"I almost died of joy when I came here," said Kittle.

"My master and your master," said Fred, pointing to the other two horses, "couldn't bear to have us sold."

"Of course, we have spent our lives on the police force of a great city."

"We have helped the policemen who rode us."

"We have stopped runaways, we have saved lives of children, and we have done everything we could, always."

"Of course, it would seem to me quite dreadful not to do everything."

"I Know Why We All Came Here."

possible to save the life of a wonderful child, for I came to the conclusion, which means that I finally decided, that children were about the most wonderful things in the world.

"How I loved helping them when they came from school. How gay and bright were the hours in the day when their high, gloriously happy voices would reach my ears."

"My master would whisper to me: 'The children are coming, Fred. We must be on guard to see that they don't get run over.'"

Testing Sheets for Endurance

As an initial step in learning what grades and staple lengths of cotton give the most satisfactory service for sheeting, the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting a test of 90 sheets in ordinary use in a Washington (D. C.) hotel. These sheets were made under the direction of the bureau of agricultural economics, which selected the cotton to be used and supervised the manufacture of the sheets. Three different grades of the same staple length—1 inch—are represented in the study now under way.

After making tests of the tensile strength, thread count, and weight in ounces per square yard of these three grades of fabric, the bureau of home economics arranged to place the sheets for service on one floor of the hotel.

Each sheet is marked with a number for identification whenever it is laundered. Every morning the used sheets of this lot are collected by themselves and sent to the hotel laundry. There they are washed separately, but in the same manner as the other linen used in the hotel. A specialist from the textile and clothing division is present throughout the laundering process, timing the sheets in the machine and in the rinse waters and checking the numbers on those which are washed. Thus, at any stage of the experiment it is possible to tell how many times a given sheet has been used.

When the first breaks begin to appear in these sheets samples will be withdrawn for laboratory tests, and at the conclusion of the study all the discarded sheets will be examined for areas of greatest wear.

It is hoped that this study will lead to others linking the production of textile fibers more closely with quality and performance requirements in the finished articles. Up to the present very little attention has been given to this aspect of agricultural production of textile fibers.

ASPARAGUS ON BUTTERED TOAST

Cook the asparagus as quickly as possible, but cook it gently, by simmering, to avoid breaking off the tender heads and toughening the stalks. Quick cooking preserves its nutrients, its color, and its flavor. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture says, "Wash the asparagus well, scrape off the little scales with a knife to remove all sand, and trim off the tough lower end. Leave the stalks whole or cut into 2-inch pieces. Drop into a small quantity of lightly salted boiling water, simmer for from 15 to 20 minutes, drain, and arrange neatly on thin slices of buttered toast. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour melted butter or other fat over the top, and serve at once."

LATTICE POTATOES AN ATTRACTIVE DISH

The attractive appearance of lattice potatoes, their color and crisp textures, makes them unusually pleasing when served with cold meat and salad for lunch or supper. They are not hard to prepare. To make them, a grooved board covered with a piece of tin with a cutting edge can be bought almost anywhere kitchen wares are sold. This apparatus is not expensive.

After the lattice potatoes are cut they should be rinsed in cold running water and soaked for two or three hours in cold water to remove as much starch as possible, says the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Dip the pieces from the water, and pat them with a clean dry cloth to absorb as much moisture as possible. Heat a kettle of deep fat hot enough to brown a small piece of bread in 60 seconds. Fry about a cupful of the potatoes at a time. Remove them from the fat when golden brown, drain on clean absorbent paper, and sprinkle with salt. Serve at once while hot and crisp.

A man who brags about himself hasn't time to notice your good points.

This is the essential evil of vice, that it debases man.—E. H. Chapin.

How to Prepare Fried Chicken

Nothing is More Tempting Than a Plate of Fried Chicken.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When the subject of chicken, properly fried in true southern fashion, becomes sufficiently important for a mere man to voice his feelings and ideas on the matter in a lengthy magazine article, it is apparent that there must be one right way and many wrong ways of preparing this always delectable dish. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture was therefore asked for a satisfactory recipe, and here it is. The two points important to a good southern cook are "partly cover," so the chicken will cook through, and "drain on absorbent paper" so it will not be greasy. Experience must be depended on to some extent in the matter of cooking time, for even frying chickens differ in size and plumpness, but the larger pieces will almost certainly take from 20 minutes to half an hour to become done. Keep the cooked pieces warm until all are ready, but do not let them get dry and hard in a fiery hot oven.

Select young, plump chickens. Remove pin feathers, wash the chicken, draw, and cut into pieces suitable for serving, and wipe dry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and rub well with flour. In a heavy skillet, heat a generous quantity of well-flavored fat to just below the smoking point, put in the larger and thicker pieces of chicken so that each piece will be surrounded by the hot fat, partly cover, and watch closely to prevent scorching. Turn the chicken as soon as it becomes golden brown, reduce the heat, cook until tender, and drain on paper to absorb the excess fat. As the larger pieces are removed, add the smaller ones and all will be finished about the same time.

For gravy, to each two tablespoonfuls of fat in the skillet allow two tablespoonfuls of flour, cook for a few minutes, stir constantly, add one and one-half cups of rich milk, and cook until thickened. Add more salt and pepper if needed, sprinkle finely chopped parsley over the gravy, and serve hot with the chicken.

Some Nellie Maxwell Recipes

During the summer we begin with the luscious strawberry and serve it fresh with sugar and cream, over angel cake with cream, crushed over ice cream, and everyone likes the old-fashioned rich biscuit mixture for strawberry short-cake. The currant and cherry follow with raspberries and blackberries, so that one need not wait for fruit deserts from early in the spring until the delicious later fruits of autumn are ripe.

Blueberry Betty—Mix two cupfuls of soft bread crumbs (packed solidly) with one-half cupful of melted butter. Arrange in a buttered baking dish in alternate layers with two cupfuls of blueberries, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt and a little lemon juice. Cover the top with crumbs and bake 20 minutes. Remove the cover and continue baking until the crumbs are brown. Serve with hot sweetened cream.

Orange Jelly With Strawberries—Prepare a ring mold filled with orange jelly to the depth of one-fourth of an inch. When set add strawberries cut into lengthwise slices over the jelly, adding more of the jelly to hold them in place; chill, repeat until the mold is filled. Chill, unmold on a serving platter and surround with billows of sweetened whipped cream. Save with orange. Fill the center with whole berries dusted with sugar.

Raspberry Charlotte Russe—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water, dissolve over hot water, cool slightly and add to one and one-half cupfuls of strained raspberry pulp and the juice, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of orange extract. Set the dish in a bowl of iced water and stir constantly until the mixture begins to thicken, then fold in one and one-half cupfuls of heavy cream whipped until stiff. Turn into individual molds lined with thin slices of sponge cake. Chill and serve.

Foamy Sauce—Cream one-half cupful of powdered sugar gradually, then add one egg well beaten and two tablespoonfuls of any fruit juice—orange, pineapple, or the blackberry will be just the one for the above recipe.

Cocktails are always a refreshing beginner for a luncheon or dinner.

During the warm weather the melons of various kinds make especially attractive cocktails or fruit salads. Scoop out the balls of melon using a small french potato cutter; serve with any sauce that appeals to the taste. A lemon sirup over muskmelon is well liked as is a ginger sirup, using some of the preserved ginger as a garnish.

Red Raspberry Whip—Set a bowl into a pan of crushed ice. Into the bowl put one and one-half cupfuls of ripe berries, one cupful of powdered sugar and the white of an egg. Beat with a wire egg beater until the mixture holds its shape. Pile lightly on a fancy glass serving dish and surround with fresh macaroons. Serve with a chilled boiled custard.

Junket in Cups—Heat a pint of milk until luke warm, add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and a junket tablet, crushed and added to a tablespoonful of water. Flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into sherbet glasses and let stand in a warm place until set. Then chill. When ready to serve top each portion with a raspberry sauce.

Frozen Plum Pudding—Melt three squares of chocolate over hot water, add one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-fourth cupful of boiling water, stir and cook until smooth and glossy. Scald one quart of milk, one cupful each of heavy cream and one cupful of sugar in a double boiler. Add the chocolate mixture and a tablespoonful of vanilla, one junket tablet dissolved in one tablespoonful of cold water. Set the mixture in a warm place until it jellies. Add one-half pound of mixed fruits soaked over night in a thin sirup to cover, seeded raisins, shredded candied cherries, candied pineapple and shredded citron. Drain and pack in a fluted mold lined with lady fingers, cover and let stand in equal measures of ice and salt.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE VISITS SANDERSON

Repeal candidate for Congress, M. L. Burkhead, visited Sanderson Friday of this week en route to his home in El Paso, after a campaign of the different towns in the district north and east of here.

Mr. Burkhead is running on a wet platform as opposed to his opponents' stand in favor of retaining the present prohibition. He is for a tariff on oil, hides, beef, wool, mohair, cattle and sheep.

On the liquor question Burkhead came out plainly and told us that he was for a change in the present conditions, stating that he considered the 18th amendment a "farce," "a fraud and a fake," and unequivocally declared for the repeal of the 18th amendment or its modification, and the same for the Volstead act.

Mr. Burkhead told us that he had lived in West Texas a number of years and his associates and friends were among the cattlemen, farmers, and the laboring people. He also said that he believed in the policies of Claude Hudspeth, and while he was 100 per cent Democrat he believed in a tariff, and had he been in Congress he would have voted just as Claude Hudspeth.

The above mentioned candidate made only a short stay in Sanderson, but called at the Times office for a brief visit and gave us his platform in as few words as possible. He said he was very sorry that he was so rushed for time and was unable to see each and every voter in the county.

Mrs. Beulah Rawlins, Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Texas Order of Eastern Star, Miss Eula Brown, District Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 2, O. E. S. Alpine and Mrs. Minnie Qualtrough member of the Credential Committee O. E. S. El Paso, are guests in the home of Mrs. Mora Cochrane, District Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 5 O. E. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Esser, accompanied by their granddaughter, Camille Campiche, all of Boerne, Texas, and their daughter, Miss Erna Esser, of San Antonio, visited their friends here the later part of last week, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. McKnight.

Mrs. Miletus Dunagan, of Dallas, sister of Mrs. W. M. Justice is here for the summer.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE NOW ON IN TERRELL COUNTY

The Salvation Army is making the regular annual appeal for funds in Terrell county this week.

W. D. Pedigo, representing the Texas division, is here to assist in making the canvass. The quota for the county is $100. The appeal is for the entire year. No other authorized collection will be made.

The campaign is under the supervision of the County Advisory Board as follows: Alfred E. Creigh, Pres. H. R. Laurence; Tr., W. J. Ferguson and Jas Kerr.

The Salvation Army is an old organization and earned prominence during the World War. This non-sectarian organization is worthy of all groups actuated by Christian doctrines, without regard of class or creed. The name Salvation army has become a household word—a symbol of hope, help and righteousness all over the world.

EDITOR ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS

S. A. Pipes of Presidio, Texas, has announced as a candidate for congress from this district subject to the Republican primary, July 26. Mr. Pipes is editor and publisher of the Presidio Journal and has been connected with other papers in Texas. Some of the things Mr. Pipes favors are as follows:

Repeal of the 18th amendment and return of the liquor traffic to the states.

Adequate monthly compensation for war veterans.

Under the STERLING Plan Taxes Will Be Reduced in TERRELL County

The taxpayers of Terrell county, including the ranchers, home owners and business men, are now assessed an average tax of approximately 47c on the $100 valuation to pay for the construction of State Highways, a tax that should be borne by the State.

Under the Sterling Tax Reduction Plan

the State will assume this obligation and pay for it out of the Gasoline Tax.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan

will place the burden of paying for the State roads your county has built on the traffic, where it belongs.

THE STERLING PLAN

will provide the state with adequate funds to build a connected state system of hard surfaced, all weather highways and for paving the gaps over the state without county aid and without increasing the gasoline tax one penny.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan

provides that no property tax shall ever be levied to carry out its purposes.

BAPTIST ASSEMBLY

The Baptist Assembly will meet August 1 to 10, inclusive. The Assembly is located in the historic and beautiful Pecos Pass, which is in the heart of the picturesque Davis Mountains, 5000 feet above sea level, midway between Alpine and Marfa, and through which the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe (old Orient) railroads and State Highway (border route between San Antonio and El Paso) pass. Centuries ago the Spanish priests traveled from northern Mexico, through this pass, en route to San Antonio and other missions north and east in Texas.

The Assembly owns approximately one thousand acres of land on which are a number of beautiful groves suitable for camping. Pure mountain water is piped over the grounds and hydrants are located at various places where it will be convenient for campers to get good pure water.

Meals will be served under large sheds, as has been the custom heretofore. No specific charges will be made for meals, but everyone will be expected and given an opportunity, as the Lord impresses, to give a free will gift to help cover the expenses of the meeting. Those who desire to do their own cooking, either individual families or groups of families, may do so. However, it must be understood that fires must be placed where they will not endanger the trees, buildings, or other property belonging to the Assembly.

A cordial and urgent invitation to come and help put over a great meeting is extended to everyone.

In memory of Ross Shaw, Jr., who died in 1924, Mr. Sterling gave the Y. M. C. A. of South Texas a beautiful wooded camp on Galveston Bay. Recently he purchased 100 acres of the old Sam Houston homestead, adjoining this camp, for donation to the State of Texas as a park.

Governor Dan Moody appointed Mr. Sterling chairman of the state highway commission early in 1927. He and his colleagues, Commissioner Cone Johnson of Tyler and W. R. Ely of Abilene, reorganized the department, sponsored an increase in the gasoline tax, and for the past three and a half years have carried on an intensive program of highway construction and maintenance.

Ross Sterling is a member of the South End Christian Church of Houston, and a trustee of Texas Christian University of Fort Worth. He is a member of the Masonic, Knights of Pythias and Woodmen of the World lodges.

Having achieved success in all his private and public endeavors, Mr. Sterling became a candidate for governor through an expressed desire to be of further service to his state; declaring that state progress and growth demands a business-like administration of the state's affairs, and that the man best fitted to give such an administration and meet the demands of the changing times should be elected.

He advocates relieving the counties of financial responsibility for building state highways, and believes the people should be given an opportunity to decide at the polls whether they want a state bond issue, to be retired wholly with proceeds of a motor fuel tax. He proposes the refunding to counties of money already spent on state highways, as a means of lifting the heavy burden of county road taxes, and developing a system of lateral roads.

His platform pledges constructive and progressive executive efforts toward equalizing the tax burden, to the end that the small farm, ranch and home owner be relieved and minimal wealth may bear its just share of taxation.

He proposes a modernization of the prison system, useful employment of prisoners, and segregation of youthful offenders.

Mr. Sterling promises hearty support of the rural and urban schools and the colleges of Texas.

A lifelong prohibitionist and total abstainer, he promises vigorous enforcement of the dry laws and all other laws.

He would give earnest attention, if elected, to problems of labor, eleemosynary institutions, agriculture, conservation of natural resources, judicial reform, regulation of public utilities, and department efficiency.

Finally, he pledges his utmost efforts to end factional strife in Texas Democracy, and to restore harmony.

"The God of 2.5"

By E. S. WATSON

IN NO institution of higher learning in the United States is tradition stronger and more religiously observed than in the two service schools, the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., and the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. Commencement day at Annapolis is occasion for one interesting exhibition of that. After the last member of the graduating class has received his diploma from the hands of the secretary of the navy and returned to his seat, the solemnity of the occasion is suddenly broken. At a signal every graduate rises to his feet and a second later the air overhead is filled with white objects. They are their white caps which they have hurled aloft, thus signaling their promotion from midshipmen in the academy to ensigns in the navy.

But most interesting of all Annapolis traditions are those which cluster around a curious statue there. It is the figure of an Indian chieftain, the mock-serious patron saint of the midships—"Old Tecumseh," the "God of 2.5."

All who enter the academy are warned that the great Indian chief frowns on skeptics, but will smile on all believers in his power. It is said that in return for a respectful salute he will grant a passing mark in examinations, which in the navy is rated as 2.5, and the midshipmen file past the stern figurehead of wood, tossing pennies and invoking him to aid them.

This statue has had an interesting history. Until this year, "Old Tecumseh" was a "wooden Indian" that is to say he was originally the figurehead of an American warship, the Delaware. But last May the wooden statue was replaced with one of bronze. Originally too, his name was "Tamanend" instead of "Tecumseh."

Away back in 1817 the name Delaware was selected by the commissioners of the navy for a ship-of-the-line which was laid down at the Gosport navy yard in Norfolk, Va. After consulting senators and representatives from Delaware, it was decided that the most appropriate figurehead for the new vessel was that of the distinguished chief of the Delaware Indians, Tamanend. The gentlemen from Delaware then informed the navy that "The name of Tamanend is held in the highest veneration among the Indians. Of all the chiefs and great men which the League nation ever had he stands foremost on the list."

All we know of Tamanend, therefore, is that he was an ancient Delaware chief who never had his equal. He was in the highest degree endowed with wisdom, virtue, prudence, charity, affability, meekness, hospitality—in short, with every good and noble qualification that a human being may possess. He was supposed to have had an intercourse with the great and good spirit, for he was a stranger to everything that is bad."

The Delaware, with the great Indian chief poised on her bow, was a wooden vessel of 2,633 tons displacement, mounting 74 guns and with a complement of 820 officers and men launched in 1820, she served in Mediterranean and Brazilian waters.

At the beginning of the Civil war the Delaware was out of commission at the Norfolk navy yard. When the navy yard was destroyed in 1861 she was scuttled and burned but after the close of the war what remained of her hull was sold to wreckers, who raised and broke her up for the copper in 1867 and the figurehead was sent to the naval academy.

In the old naval academy "Tamanend" had a place near the Lyceum, a building devoted to gunnery and close to the department of seamanship. When the old building was torn down the figurehead was moved to the Seamanship building. In 1880 it was placed on a pedestal facing Bancroft hall.

Gradually the tradition of his mysterious power of imparting knowledge was established. Also by this time he had been renamed "Tecumseh" by the midships and had become the "God of 2.5." Later his powers were increased and he was charged with gaining victories for the navy teams. As the regiment of midshipmen departs for the big games each platoon gives a "left-hand salute" to him that the navy may win that day. Another ceremony is centered around "Tecumseh." When the final examinations are concluded the graduating class gathers before him to read his class history and pay final homage to his steadfast aid.

In the archives of the navy is an unpublished manuscript, "The Private Journal of Lieut. S. C. Rowan, U. S. Navy," dated 1841-43, recording an incident of almost a century ago which earned for "Tecumseh's" ship, the Delaware, a reputation for gaining favors with "the powers that be" and helping promotions. This journal, recently presented to the navy, contains an account of an official visit to the Delaware as she lay off Annapolis and its result, which was the largest promotion of officers which had ever taken place in the navy.

The Midships Discard Their Caps

Tecumseh, "The God of 2.5"

Lieutenant Rowan said:

"The last Saturday in July (1841) we got under way for Annapolis. We arrived there on the fourth day, having to anchor at least five miles from the city. Commodore Morris, who had been in Washington for some weeks, came off and informed us that the President and secretary and heads of departments, ministers, distinguished citizens and naval officers would visit the ship in a few days. "During this interval our first lieutenant, who is a man of energy, did all in his power, with the able assistance of the officers, to put the ship in the perfect condition of a man of war. The officers and crew were thoroughly exercised in every department of ship's duty until the ship was in better order than anyone I had ever the honor to sail in.

"When the steamer reached the gangway Lieutenant Wilson, who was to receive the President at Annapolis, informed the first lieutenant that the President was not on board. The commodore then ordered all the honors to be paid to the secretary of the navy which were intended for the President, except the number of guns and the substitution of the American ensign at the main for the broad pennant.

"Mr. George E. Badger, then secretary of the navy, led the way and was followed by Webster, Crittenden, Granger, Bell, Senator Preston and numerous other members of both houses with their ladies, as well as other distinguished citizens. When the company had all reached the deck of the ship the steamer dropped astern and a salute of 17 guns was fired and the men ordered down. The officers all came forward and were severally introduced to Mr. Badger by the commodore.

"Refreshments were furnished in the port cabin and mastroom and after the retreat was beaten the officers devoted themselves to the company, taking pains to show them everything. The people went to dinner to the infinite interest of our visitors, all of whom were delighted with the fare as well as apparent comfort of Jack. When an hour had elapsed the drummen beat to quarters for action. In stantly all were flying in apparent confusion for arms, cartridge boxes, etc., and all of which delighted our visitors. In a few minutes all was quiet and silence pervaded the ship."

"The divisions had been reported 'clear for action' and the officers and men stood in their places anxiously waiting the order to fire. Presently the order was given in detail to load and the firing commenced from each deck in admired confusion.

"Having tickled their fancy to the amount of three rounds of blank cartridges, we ceased firing and scoured the guns, and while all hands were called to exercise sail for the amusement of the nobles, a small detachment was busy in spreading tables on the gundeck, gunroom and poop cabin. By the time exercise of sails was finished the collation was ready and the whole party divided and filled their plates and no doubt gratified their palates equally with their curiosity while on board.

"About four the steamer took the party back to Annapolis, where an extra train was in waiting to convey the highly gratified party back to Washington. They left us with the assurance that their visit would be highly advantageous to the service. The subsequent promotion of many old and meritorious lieutenants was no doubt the consequence. The long-hoped-for grade of admiral will no doubt grow out of this visit."

In recent years it was discovered that the ravages of time were threatening to destroy "Old Tecumseh." From time to time heroic efforts were made to lengthen his life but finally it became apparent that he could not stand much more exposure to the elements. They decided to replace the wooden figure with an exact replica of bronze which should not only be a memorial to all members of that class but which should continue to be an inspiration to all future midshipmen in the academy.

They raised funds to have the work done and received subscriptions varying from $5 to $200. Along with the subscriptions usually came letters, recalling fond memories of midshipmen days at Annapolis. One anonymous subscription was sent with this message: "Well, I got ten demerits for hanging a light on Old Tecumseh one dark night, so I guess it's up to me to give him ten bucks now." The bronze which was used in the cast of the new statue was obtained from historic ships and from trophies of many wars and naval demonstrations. So the "Old Tecumseh," who was unveiled last May at a ceremony in which Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, and Rear Admiral Samuel Robinson, superintendent of the academy, took a leading part, and who will stand guard over the destinies of future midshipmen, is not only the patron saint of the naval academy, but is also a visible symbol of the long and honorable record of service of the United States Navy.

The original "Old Tecumseh," however, is not the only ship figurehead which is preserved at the naval academy. It also owns one of Grecian design which once graced the British ship Macedonian until that vessel was captured by Stephen Decatur, while in command of the U. S. S. United States during the War of 1812, and one of a bust of Benjamin Franklin which adorned the U. S. S. Franklin, launched in 1815. But more interesting than either of these, because of the exciting history it had, was a figurehead which once had a place at the bow of the famous frigate Constitution, the "Old Ironsides" of song and story.

The first figurehead on the Constitution, when she was launched in Boston in 1797 was Hercules with his club. This was shot away during a battle with the Barbary pirates in Tripoli and was replaced with a figure of Neptune. During a part of the War of 1812, "Old Ironsides" had only a small hull head. Then in 1834 when as a result of the stirring poem written by Oliver Wendell Holmes, the ship was being refitted in Boston, a full length statue of Andrew Jackson was ordered for a figurehead. This caused a great political furor. Jackson's opponents were enraged over what they called the "presumption" of putting the likeness of "Old Hickory" on the famous vessel and declared that no living man, with the possible exception of James Madison, the "Father of the Constitution," should have such an honor.

One dark night after the figurehead had been placed in position a young captain named Dewey rowed out to the ship, boarded it, sawed off the head of the statue just below the nose and carried it away in a bag. His friends hailed this feat as a great achievement and Dewey is said to have carried the head to Washington with the intention of presenting it to Jackson himself. Eventually the figure was restored and a new head fashioned on with a bolt of huge size so that no other vandal could take such liberties with it as Dewey had taken. It is this historic figurehead which is now one of the most cherished possessions of the naval academy.

Lesson for July 23

MOSES, A COURAGEOUS LEADER

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 1:8-14; 2:1-22; 3:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses Doing Hard Things for God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Moses' Call to Leadership.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Doing the Impossible.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Leader, Liberator and Lawgiver.

1. The Enslaved People (1:8-22). After Joseph's death Israel quickly grew into a nation. The amazing growth of the nation aroused the envy and fear of the new king.
2. Heavy measure of service (vv. 10-14). Cruel taskmasters were placed over the men, forcing them to labor in building treasure cities as well as in field service. However, the more they afflicted them, the more did they multiply and grow.

3. The midwives were ordered to murder the male infants. This measure also failed, as the midwives feared God and chose to obey Him.

4. Commanded that the male children should be cast into the river (v. 22). In God's providence this mandate failed.

5. Moses, the Deliverer, Prepared (2:1-22).

1. His birth (vv. 1, 2). Both his father and mother were of Levitical stock. Being of the same tribe, they would have a common bond of interest and sympathy. There was something striking about the child which caused his parents to believe that he was sent of God.

2. His preservation (vv. 3, 4). Because his mother had faith she did not ignore the proper use of means. She was doubtless familiar with the place where Pharaoh's daughter came to bathe and believed that somehow through her the child would be saved. She placed the ark of bulrushes at the particular place where it would attract attention. Though the hand of God was directing in the carrying out of His plan, the steps in the process were entirely natural.

3. His education (vv. 5-10). Moses was educated, first at his mother's knee. Here his mind was filled with the word of God and acquainted with the Jewish hopes and prospects. Doubtless here the indomitable purpose was fixed "rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season" (Heb. 11:24-26). Again, he was educated at the Egyptian court where he became acquainted with all the wisdom of the Egyptians (Acts 7:22).

4. His exile and marriage (vv. 11-22).

Moses was obliged to take his flight from Egypt at the age of forty, because he attempted to enter upon his work as the deliverer of his people (Acts 7:25). He was conscious of his mission, but was mistaken as to the time. His rejection by his brethren was a type of Christ's rejection by the Jews. During this time of rejection he secured a bride, Jesus Christ, his great antetype, while now in the place of rejection by His brethren, is getting a bride from among the Gentiles. Just as Moses after awhile returned and delivered his people, so will Christ return and deliver His people, the Jews, who rejected Him.

5. Moses Called to Deliver His People (3:1-14).

1. The Lord spoke from the burning bush (vv. 1-6). It was while keeping the flock of his father-in-law in the desert that the Lord appeared to Moses in the vision of the burning bush. This bush, enveloped in flames, yet unconsumed, symbolized the people of God ensnared in the very fire of God.

2. Moses' commission (vv. 7-10). In this commission God showed His active interest in His people. Because of His grace He obligated Himself to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians and bring them into the chosen land; therefore God commissioned Moses to bring forth the people out of Egypt.

3. Moses' objections removed (vv. 11-14).

Four objections were offered, each one of which God met and removed. (1) Personal unworthiness (v. 11). (2) The difficulty of the people to understand Moses' relationship to God (vv. 13, 14). (3) Unbelief on the part of the people (4:1). (4) Lack of eloquence (4:10).

Value of Religious Belief. I should prefer a firm religious belief to every other blessing; for it makes life a discipline of goodness, creates new hopes when all earthly hopes vanish, and throws over the decay, the destruction of existence, the most gorgeous of all lights; awakens life even in death.—Sir Humphry Davy.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Old-Timer Takes Fling at Feminine Reasoning

With the announcement of a woman senator nominated in Illinois, a worried look spread over the countenance of Senator Moses of New Hampshire. "I guess the Old Guard is about licked," he grinned, "because in debate, either domestic or political, you can't beat a woman."

"A constituent of mine has a wife who would make a great congresswoman. She had tackled her husband for a new fur coat."

"But, my gracious," he cried, "I just bought you an elegant, brand-new fox coat last year!"

"New!" shrieked his wife, "John Jones, how dare you say it was new? You know very well that the fox had been wearing it for at least six years!"—Los Angeles Times.
