Ordinarily speaking, I am quite a busy philosopher, that is, a "Street - corner Philosopher." At least I have enough small and varied duties to keep my time almost totally occupied, but when I am off duty and at home alone in my "loft," I have some time to "kill," as it is oft times expressed. At such time I indulge in reading whatsoever reading material I may have at hand, which may be either a book of romance, history, intrugus or articles or stories of just pure fiction. I also read very disconnectedly, after some of our most prominent and popular columnists, and occasionally a book of science, social life or deep religious doctrine.

While thus engaged in reading, especially if it be some unusual fact or some fact expressed in an unusual manner, I find that I have dropped the book or magazine and have drifted mentally off into some sort of cogitation, reflection or retrospection along the line of facts or thought. In so doing I find myself discovering new meanings to old expressions or old meanings to new expressions or ideas, and most frequently do these reflections follow my reading of some of our columnists, such as Drew Pearson, Westbrook Pegler, Ray Tucker or Peter Edson and while most of their columns treat on governmental, political or social conditions in our own country and England or Russia.

And as my meditations leads me along a line of thinking that seem to be a sort of summing up what has been written by all of them, it occurs to me that all hinting, aiming or driving at a rather obscure fact that our nation or government is steadily slipping down a slope and nearing the brink of some serious disaster or frightening calamity, frequently referred to as a form of socialism and verging on communism, and these hints and sometimes outright claims, come from men whose business it is to keep posted on all such matters, and therefore should know what they are talking about.

But it seems that no one is doing anything about it and that it is all just "talk." And talk seldom accounts for anything, save to kill time, and it occurs to me that "killing time" on the part of our congress and other branches of government, is just what those of what is commonly termed the "Left-Wingers" or subversive element, are wishing for at this time and under the present predicament.

In the event that our country is drifting or slipping steadily toward the conditions to which I have just referred, who is to blame? Just who should and could do something to stop it?

As I gather from my diversified reading, Harry Truman is the person who is largely to blame for it, that is directly, but the people who voted for him in last fall's election are all indirectly to blame, and if, as Mr. Truman continues to assert, he gets his entire legislative program through congress, who will be the direct sufferers from such legislative action? Would conditions have been any better should Mr. Dewey have been elected?

As I understand the matter, the present condition of our government is largely considered as the direct result of what was commonly called the "New Deal" which was instituted and promoted by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and is being kept alive and urged on by Mr. Truman.

While I never supported Mr. Roosevelt by either word or vote, I am nevertheless inclined to think that Mr. Roosevelt did not intentionally institute a system of government that would eventually bring harm to his country or its people, but he was wise enough to understand that the principles of the "New Deal" would keep him in office as president, which was for the remainder of his life, and which proved to be true. I further believe that Mr. Roosevelt lived to see that the fire he had kindled had spread to such proportions that even he, was not able to check it.

Mr. Roosevelt was, what I term an opportunist. In other words he came upon the political stage at a time when any man who succeed in getting his name upon the Democratic ticket would have been elected, regardless of how obscure or unqualified he may have been, and I am not expressing any

There is probably no person who is not subject to fear of some part, and fear is of at least two sorts, a fear for good and a fear for bad, and frequently one fear is made subservient to another. As I understand Mr. Truman's attitude, he has not the least fear as to his re-election to the office of President, but he evidently has a mortal fear of doing something that will incur the ill-will of those groups whose votes he claims elected him last fall. It is said of some religious cults, that their fear of God was so intense that they lost all fear of anything else in the universe.

At a meeting of the "Forum" or "Quorum" whichever it may be called, I made a serious effort to get my mind set straight in regard to this fear of Socialism or Communism, but my questions merely called forth a volume of talk, and I was still as deeply in the fog as ever. One member of the aggregation did say he had an idea but was afraid to express it. As I understood his attitude, his fear of ridicule or censure over came his fear of entertaining an erroneous idea. A great and mighty thing is this element known as Fear.

ego, should I say that even I would have been elected had my name been at the head of that ticket. After that first election, however, Mr. Roosevelt's election was at the mercy of his own political ability, and he made good. I consider Mr. Truman in the same role, as an opportunist. A wave of opportunity rolled over the country and Mr. Truman was caught up in its surges and again carried into the presidency. Surely it was not his ability as a statesman, nor his intellectual qualifications for the discharge of the duties of the office. Having been elected, Mr. Truman, regardless of what his own private convictions may be, credits his election to certain groups, classes and organizations of voter, and even though he may have private opinions that vary from those of his legislative program, (which I seriously doubt) he is afraid to allow his administrative acts to oppose any views or wishes of those to whom he credits his election.

He is an opportunist, is Mr. Truman, and while his reelection in 1952, is already conceded, his purpose as a political tool for those who support his election, will then have been accomplished, the die will then have been cast as to the eventual fate of our nation and Mr. Truman's help is peruating it will no longer be needed, and he will be dropped coldly and definitely from the political arena, and will thereafter make no perceptible ripple on the surface of oblivion. He will be consigned to an endless period of political undesness.

There is probably no person who is not subject to fear of some part, and fear is of at least two sorts, a fear for good and a fear for bad, and frequently one fear is made subservient to another. As I understand Mr. Truman's attitude, he has not the least fear as to his re-election to the office of President, but he evidently has a mortal fear of doing something that will incur the ill-will of those groups whose votes he claims elected him last fall. Jim Coffey Falls And Breaks Leg And Arm

Kim Coffey, eight year old son of Superintendent and Mrs. Dalton Coffey fell from the top of a fence where he was playing Saturday afternoon and suffered a broken left arm and right leg. He was taken at once to the local hospital. The Parmer County Community Hospital, but owing to the shattered condition of the elbow bones, he was sent to a bone specialist at the North-West Hospital at Amarillo, where his wounds received the necessary attention. Last accounts from him Wednesday evening was to the effect that his condition was quite satisfactory.

HEW TO STEPHENSVILLE FOR WEEK END

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Magness accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bainum made an air trip to Waco and Stephenville for a week end visit. They flew over in Mr. Magness' plane. Mr. and Mrs. Magness visited their son, Tim, who is a student at the college at Waco, and Mr. and Mrs. Bainum visited their two sons, Wayne and Kenneth, who are students at the John Tarleton College.

Black Study Club Has Meeting At Benger's

Members of the Black Study Club met Thursday evening, October 6th, in the home of Mrs. John Benger. Roll call was answered with "Tips for Canning." After a short business session the group was entertained with a special song, sung by Grace Parr and Pearl McLean. They sang "Room Full of Roses," and were accompanied by Zelma Allmon. An interesting talk was given by Helen Fangman on "Preparation and Canning of Foods." "Preparation and Freezing of Foods" was given by Ethel Benger. Refreshments were served to Alpha Presley, Lucile Rocky, Christine Braxton, Maxine Price, Grace Parr, Pearl McLean, Helen Fangman, Maud Allmon, Zelma Allmon and Mildred Barnett.—Reporter.

Co-Op Roundup Salutes Dimmitt Consumers, Inc.

The Co-op Round-up a regular weekly feature over KFDA, Amarillo, each Saturday from 8 to 9 a. m., will salute Dimmitt Consumers, Inc., this Saturday morning, October 15th. The Dimmitt Consumers was organized back in 1932 by 100 progressive Casady County farmers. At this time more than 530 members and patrons are using the complete farm supply service now offered by this outstanding West Texas farm organization. Watch the Star columns each week for date of the Friona salute.

STAR CLIMBER—Michael Kropp, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kropp of Paris, Texas, gives out with a laugh just before he takes a trip down a playground slide. He climbs the six-foot ladder unassisted, goes down the slide and starts back up the ladder again. He keeps this up until his mother stops him. He's been doing it since he became one year old. Amarillo Editor Tells Large Crowd Of Travels In Europe And England

Monday evening, Oct. 10, Wes Izzard, editor-in-chief of the Amarillo Daily News and leading radio news analyst of the Southwest spoke to a large crowd in the auditorium of the new Methodist Church. Mr. Izzard was accompanied by his charming wife and came here under the joint sponsorship of the Friona Woman's Club, Modern Study Club, and Friona Lions Club. Mr. Izzard spoke on his travels throughout England and Europe during the past summer. Dealing primarily with the people of these countries he presented his comments in such a manner that held his audience spellbound for an hour and twenty minutes. He described the people of England as being in a bad way, being overtaxed, underfed, and their men with baggy knees. Some of these conditions, he blamed on the recent war in which they suffered greatly. The recent war is believed to have brought on the Labor Government with its cradle to the grave security plan—including Socialized Medicine. He likened their condition to that of an inmate of Huntsville prison—who has security but no freedom. He liked the French farmer, and the small French townsmen, thought Paris a wonderful city but wonders who does the work there. The Germans in Western Germany seemed to tell him what they thought he wanted to hear. The seven Russians he encountered seemed the most like Americans and he believed if the everyday Russian could be reached much more could be accomplished. Switzerland and Scotland seemed in a better condition than any country he visited. Mr. Izzard predicted that, due to modern transportation, fifty per cent of his audience would visit England and Europe within the next ten years.

Legion And Auxiliary Zone Meeting Here Has Good Attendance

A zone meeting of the zone which includes the Friona post, American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, was held at the local Legion Hut, Tuesday night. There was a goodly attendance of the local members and the other Posts in the zone were represented by delegates, about 20 being present from Hereford. Entertainment was furnished by the Friona High School band, and at the social hour following the business meeting, refreshments were served to all present. During the social hour, all those who cared to do so enjoyed themselves at dancing, which included square dancing, Schottisches and round dances. Guest speaker at the meeting was Syd Lowry of Lubbock.

Young, is a sophomore majoring in history and minor-ing in math.

Parmer Red Cross Chapter Meets In Bovina Thursday

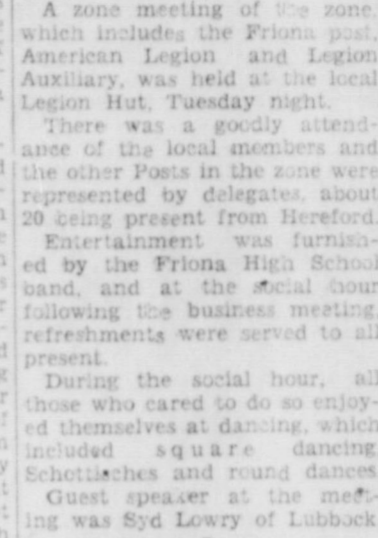

A meeting of the Parmer County Chapter of the American Red Cross is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, October 27th, at the American Legion Hall at Bovina. All officers of the chapter and all residents of the county who have contributed $1.00 or more to the Red Cross during the year, are invited to attend. Plans for the meeting, aimed to revive interest in the Red Cross work in the county, were announced by Mrs. Wauanita Hutchinson, Field Representative.

A Card From J. W. Loney

The Star office is in receipt of a card from our friend and neighbor, J. W. Loney, who is in the John Sealy Hospital at Galveston. The cards reads as follows: Galveston, Texas. Dear Sir: I will drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still alive, and fighting to get well. I hope these few lines finds all well. I got the best doctor I could find. They have a time keeping me in bed. I don't like the sea food. It is too salty. Give my best regards to one and all. As Ever, J. W. Loney, John Sealy Hospital, S. S. Ward 1.

First '49 Cotton Belongs To Long

Rather an unusual scene appeared on the streets of Friona Wednesday when our people were given the pleasure of viewing a whole bale of new cotton as it stood in the center of the junction of Main and Sixth streets. This was the first bale of cotton to be ginned on the Friona gin this season and was brought in by Mr. Long, whose farm is located about two miles southwest of Hub. The cotton appears to be of A-1 quality, and it is reported that Mr. Long has about 300 acres of it, and that it is yielding slightly more than a bale to the acre. The Star has not been able to learn whether or not a bonus was given to Mr. Long for his first bale of the season.

Homemakers Class Halloween Party

Members of the Homemakers Class of the First Baptist Church, entertained their husbands with a Halloween party, Thursday, October 6th, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Smith, with Mrs. Wallace Rogers, Mrs. J. Eiders and Mrs. Herbert Beauchamp assisting. Games were played throughout the evening, and refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served to 45 members and guests.

HOME FROM FT. WORTH
 Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkinson, perhaps better known here as "Wilks and Winnie," spent four days of last week, visiting their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Warren White at Ft. Worth, and attending the Texas State Fair at Dallas. They returned home Monday and report a most enjoyable trip and visit. Besides the visit with their daughter, who is the former Miss Jacqueline Wilkinson, they had the pleasure of witnessing the football game between the Oklahoma U. and the Texas U. teams, so that the four days were crammed full of enjoyment.

Two Friona Boys Make Top Boys Ranch Hands

AMARILLO—A couple of Friona brothers are making top cowhands at Boys Ranch at Old Tascosa, north of Amarillo. The brothers are Ronald and Connie Dale Dodson.

The boys were welcomed at the ranch by sitting at the head table their first day and being introduced to the other 110 boys at the famous ranch. Then they were taken on a tour of the ranch by some of the older boys.

That was followed by assignments to a dormitory, enrollment in school, job and play assignments.

Each boy at the ranch has a job to do. And since play is an important part of the ranch life, each boy plays softball, football, and basketball. He also rides horseback and fishes in one of the ranch lakes if he likes that sport.

"The boys are making top cowhands," the ranch superintendent reported.

THAT'S WHAT I CALL REAL SERVICE

And You ALWAYS Get It
When You Use
McCormick Equipment

One day, right in the middle of harvest, a customer hurried in and asked for a replacement part for his 10-year-old combine. I went to the parts bin, and as I came back and plunked the part down on the counter, he grinned and said: "That's what I like about using McCormick equipment. When I do need a part, you always have it or can get it right quick."

He started to walk out, and I said, "How about letting our service man put that part on for you? Your machine might need a little adjustment here and there, and he can do that at the same time."

He thought it over for a minute, and laid the part back on the counter. "Go ahead," he grinned. "I've got a couple of other things to take care of here in town anyway. The combine is standing in the field south of the house."

He turned to go, and I mentioned, "If you're not at home by the time he puts on the part, I'll have him try the combine and look it over thoroughly and give you a report. Maybe we can get together and arrange to fix it ahead of time for next season and save you time and trouble."

"Go ahead," he agreed again. "That's what I call real service!"

"Just a part of our regular IH 5-Star Service," I said.

(D. M.). "I've heard it many times. I remember as far back as the period after World War I, when the same cries were raised by those who fought to keep us out of the League of Nations. If congress had not listened to those men, there might not have been a World War II."

Then, pointing at Rep. John Davis Lodge (R. Conn.), Sabath added, "there sits the grandson of the man who led the fight against the League—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge."

For a moment, Lodge sat in stunned silence. Then, white with anger, he jumped to his feet and shouted, "The record will prove who is right."

"I just gave you the record," retorted Sabath.

Sunday School Vaughan
The "5-percenter" uproar has had no effect on Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan as a Sunday-School teacher.

He has continued to conduct his regular class of high-school boys every Sunday morning at the Westminster Presbyterian church across the Potomac in Alexandria, Va. Usual attendance is 10 to 12 students.

Vaughan has been conducting this class for three years. He is very regular in his appearance when he can't attend, Mrs. Vaughan takes over.

Vaughan uses themes from the regular material prepared by the Presbyterian church for such classes. He does not wear his uniform to church. Vaughan is an elder of the church, and preaches to parishioners and his class. He enlivens his teaching with jokes and witticisms.

Note—Vaughan has told friends that regular army antipathy to reserve officers is one of the secret influences behind the senate probe. Vaughan has long been critical of "West Pointers."

Tideland Oil
Sen. Joe O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), chairman of the interior affairs committee, has thrown a monkey wrench into the drive to steamroller through a so-called "compromise" on the tideland oil issue.

He was supposed to sponsor "compromise" legislation in the senate. But after examining the bills agreed on at secret conferences with California, Texas and Louisiana officials, O'Mahoney refused to have anything to do with them.

Hearings on the measures were scheduled before a house judiciary subcommittee, headed by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D., Pa.).

One of the measures is an out-and-out grab. It would give the states the bulk of these vast oil reserves.

Thirteen pieces in a "bak'r's dozen" originated when King Louis of France warned all bakers who gave under measure that they would be beheaded.

BIBLE COMMENT

FOR SEPT. 11

Atomic Age Reflects Fears Of Old Testament

JESUS and His disciples were thoroughly versed in the Old Testament Scriptures. The Old Testament was their Bible, and Christ declared that He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

The quotations from the Psalms in the New Testament are many and varied, but there is to be found a special interest in tracing and indicating certain parallels, which constitute New Testament enrichments.

Read the 23rd, or Shepherd Psalm, then turn to the 10th chapter of John, and read of the Good Shepherd. Here, the Lord who is the shepherd is personified in the Christ, who actually gave His life for the sheep.

Next to this, the most striking parallel between the Psalms and the New Testament is in setting alongside the 46th Psalm the closing verses in Paul's eighth chapter of Romans.

That 46th Psalm might be expressive of the faith that we need in this atomic age. Apart from all outward differences the times and situation out of which that Psalm came are remarkably like our own.

In the world of the atomic bomb, and the threat of its use in war, discounting all the worst predictions of what might happen, we know that a peril of dire destruction has settled down on peaceful communities that hitherto had little to fear.

That, in a way, was precisely the situation of the man of faith who wrote that Psalm.

It was, therefore, no merely poetical sentiment when the Psalmist wrote: "God is our refuge and strength; therefore will not we fear," and went on to declare his courage of faith, though his whole world should be destroyed. This might be termed the faith of an atomic age.

Gayle's swallowed a bobby pin!

When her two-year-old daughter swallowed a bobby pin late one evening, Mrs. Chenoweth rushed to the telephone—and this series of calls followed. She says that she wouldn't even try to guess what these calls were really worth to her. But she can tell you what her actual cost was—less than 2c each!

Mrs. Chenoweth knows the cost because she kept an accurate record of all her telephone conversations, then checked it against her monthly bill. "I never realized before," she reports, "how much the telephone helps me run our house, keep in touch with our friends and meet emergencies. It's a real bargain!"

To Mrs. Chenoweth's verdict, may we add: We're doing our best to make your telephone service a real bargain today... and to keep it growing in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

What else gives so much for so little?

Called Gayle's doctor. She's swallowed a bobby pin. But he isn't home!

Got our family doctor. Gayle's not choking, so no real danger!

Home from X-ray. Called my husband, George. Gayle's fine!

The phone rang the rest of the day—the family and friends calling to ask about Gayle. Made me feel good. Everyone's so nice!

Local Church Greet New Superintendent

The members of the local Union Congregational church had the pleasure of having as their guest, their new Superintendent, Rev. Royal J. Gibson of Oklahoma City, and hearing an interesting and helpful sermon by him at the eleven o'clock hour.

Following the worship service, a fellowship dinner was spread in the church basement, which was also fully enjoyed by all present. Following the dinner, a congregational meeting was held, in which Rev. Gibson presented the names of two highly recommended ministers, whose services as pastor of the local church may be subject to a call from the congregation, and the pulpit committee will endeavor to secure the services of one of them.

This was Rev. Gibson's first visit to Friona, and his social virtues and professional ability made a most favorable impression on all who met him. Rev. Gibson succeeds Dr. H. H. Lindeman, who had retired after having served as Superintendent of the Congregational Christian Churches of the District of the Central Southwest for the past many years.

Since 1902 when President McKinley was assassinated, the U. S. Secret Service has been charged with guarding the President.

The word salary comes from "salarium" meaning salt money, since Roman soldiers received part of their pay in salt.

NEW A&M PRESIDENT—Dr. M. T. Herrington, 47, is the first Texas A&M ex-student elected president of the institution. He is from Plano, Collin county, and has served as A&M dean for the past two years. He will take office June 1 following the retirement to modified service of the present president, Frank C. Bolton. (AP Photo)

Youth Is Often Steered Into Wrong Because Of Emotional Instability

By BO BYERS Associated Press Staff

Austin, Tex. (AP)—"Bundles of emotions—each one with its fears and ambitions." That was the way the Youth Development Council's institutional director described the boys at the Gatesville Training School.

The director, Harold J. Matthews, was making his first report to the council members who hired him about a month ago.

Matthews wasn't being mushy. He knows many of the juvenile delinquents at the Gatesville, Gainesville (for white girls), and Brady (for negro girls) schools are tough.

But he was driving at a basic factor which makes wrong doers of so many of today's youngsters. Emotionally instability. He didn't go into any highly technical explanation of what it takes to make these children worthwhile citizens. He told what work has been done in the short time since his appointment and outlined a few objectives.

Two case workers went to Gatesville about mid-September. They began interviewing new boys coming in and those preparing to leave. Purpose of the interviews is to help the newcomers adjust themselves and to maintain home relationships. Talks with outgoing boys are designed to help them a better go of it when they return to their communities.

Matthews mentioned three boys who require special attention.

One has an osteomyelitis knee, and inflammatory bone condition.

Another has faulty eye lid muscles which cause one lid to drop badly, distorting his appearance and making him the object of teasing by other boys. The teasing makes him violently angry. He wants to be put in a hospital ward where there will be fewer people to see him and ridicule his looks.

Plastic surgery might improve his appearance, make him no longer an object of curiosity, Matthews observed.

A third boy suffers from epileptic fits. His in another case of a highly emotional youth being subjected to stares and rude remarks of companions.

These cases need particular treatment, but virtually all the boys can be helped by improving the general program of activities at the school, said Matthews.

"They need a library, and we will be most willing to accept books and magazines from anyone in the state," he told the council.

"I hope it will be an interesting library, not one of those kind with five-foot books of dull information," commented council member Leslie Jackson of Dallas.

"We want it to be interesting. We want books of adventure, action books," Matthews agreed. He urged Texans to send books either direct to the Gatesville Training school or to the youth development Council Austin office.

He reported the school now has secured a coach and physical education director.

"Just a detail, but I've heard stories in the past of punishment creeping into physical education programs at such schools," said Jackson. "Like making boys run until they drop, having them try to tear each other apart, and making them climb up and down ladders until they can't take another step."

He wanted to make sure the physical education program at Gatesville would be a constructive one taking into consideration the boys' individual abilities.

Hospital Notes

Patients admitted: Mrs. James B. Collier, med. Friona; Mrs. Marion H. Carson, O. B. Bovina; Mrs. W. Perry, surg. Adrian; Johnny Nazworth, med. Friona; Mrs. Tom Griffith, med. Bovina; Kimberly Coffey, arm and leg fracture, Friona; Mrs. Miles Funk, accident, Hereford; Mrs. Mary Balmum, med. Friona; Mrs. Oscar Baxter, O. B. Friona; Connie Lee Baxter, med. Sundown; Mrs. Cecil Belcher, O. B. Friona; Mrs. F. T. Paul, surg., Friona.

Council members agreed there should be no exploitation of such a group. That they should not be made objects of public curiosity.

On the other hand, observed Jackson, "It looks like all the spiritual and beautiful things they could be exposed to would be helpful. They've certainly been exposed to enough of the other side of life."

Khaki is a Hindustani word meaning "dust colored." Both the words Czar and Kaiser come from the Latin word Caesar.

Patients dismissed: Mrs. Johnnie Bengler, Friona; Mrs. Malouf, Muleshoe; Mrs. L. M. Grison, Farwell; Jerry Pool, Farwell; Mrs. D. G. Hand, Friona; Mrs. W. Perry, Adrian; Kimberly Coffey, Friona; Mrs. Mary Balmum, Friona; Mrs. Marion Carson and son, Dale, Bovina.

WE THOUGHT EVERYBODY KNEW REDDY!

A recent national survey showed that 20% of business-managed electric company customers either think their electricity comes from a government operation, or don't know what kind of company serves them.

That comes as quite a surprise! One out of every five customers didn't know who Reddy Kilowatt works for! We thought everybody knew that wherever you see Reddy you see the symbol of business management... free enterprise... in the service of all the folks in the community.

Yes, and that's what your Public Service Company is... a home-operated company... business managed... ever striving to bring more and more dependable, low-cost service for better living—electrically—to everyone.
