Two Killed Near Alpine As Plane Hits Mountain

ALPINE, May 5.—(AP)—Lieut. Wayne C. Gardiner and Staff Sergeant A. R. Huntley were killed when the army attack plane in which they were flying to the Pacific coast crashed against a mountain side and burst into flames in the Ord range 12 miles east of Alpine.

The plane, which was one of a flight from Fort Crockett, Galveston, enroute to March field, Calif., for maneuvers, developed engine trouble during a severe sandstorm just before the crash yesterday afternoon. Lieutenant Gardiner was piloting the ship.

It fell within a mile of the ranch of former Congressman Claude Hudspeth. A cowboy, Bill McBee ran to the scene and pulled the bodies from the wreck. They were charred beyond recognition.

Lieutenant Gardiner, 26, was a native of Illinois, but had been reared in Dallas, where he attended high school. He was graduated from the University of Texas and entered the army air corps after training at Kelly field. His parents Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gardiner, and a brother, Glenn R. Gardiner, survive him in Dallas.

Both the lieutenant and Sergeant Huntley were attached to the Ninth Attack Squadron at Fort Crockett. Lieutenant Gardiner had been on active duty there since last July, while the sergeant's services with the squadron dated back several years.

A Kelly field ambulance airplane piloted by Master Sergeant Peter Biesoit took off Friday morning for Alpine to bring the bodies of Lieut. Wayne C. Gardiner and Staff Sergeant A. R. Huntley to San Antonio.

Resume Drilling On McPhee Test Well Near Dryden

Drilling has been resumed on the McPhee test well which is being put down near Dryden.

In a conversation with Marion Briggs, who is associated with Mrs. McPhee in putting down the test, he stated that they now have a well known geologist of Oklahoma City, Abraham Lincoln, with them at the well and who is a detail in the field. Mr. Lincoln has made a survey of the country where the well is being drilled and states that Terrell County will no doubt bear the East Texas field once that the oil is found for producers. He says that the formation is running right and has every favorable condition to bring in a good well.

All geologists who have inspected the place have always given a good and favorable report and Mrs. McPhee feels confident that shortly Terrell County will have a good field. She states that acreage sales are on the increase and that a number of local citizens have become interested in the test well.

COMMISSIONERS SET VALUATIONS FOR TAX ROLLS

Livestock Lowered While Real Estate Values Remain Same

A decrease in the valuation of livestock for Terrell County to amount to about $135,000.00 was made following a meeting of the county commissioners on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Not only was the livestock valuation decreased but there is a slight decrease in the tax rate over last year.

All land tax assessments were left the same as last year which is $1.50 an acre for all land north of the railroad and $1.25 for the land lying south of the railroad. All town real estate value was left the same, as it has been heretofore.

Sheep, goats, stock cattle and all other kinds of livestock were decreased in valuation from as high as $3 to 50 cents a head. The valuation is as follows: stock cattle $17; native sheep, $2.50; spanish sheep, $1.50; angora goats, $1.00; spanish goats, 50 cents.

The total tax rate set for this year is as follows: ad valorem, 22c; road and bridge, .08c; court house and jail, (general fund) .07 1-2c; court house and jail (sinking fund) .07 1-2 c; jury fund, .01c; school maintenance, .40c; sinking fund, 25c. This will make a total tax rate of $1.11 on the $100 valuation as compared with $1.25 last year.

In addition to setting as the board of equalization the court allowed the regular monthly bills.

M. A. SHERBINO SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Was Pioneer Rancher With Brothers In Pecos County

Merrell A. Sherbino, pioneer ranchman of Pecos county, passed away at his home in Long Beach, California, on Wednesday, April 26th, at the age of 64, succumbing to a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife and two brothers, Newell and Jerome.

Coming to this country in 1898 with his brother, Newell, they established their present great ranch under the name of Sherbino Brothers. This partnership is almost life long having existed since 1896 when they embarked in the sheep raising business as mere boys.

The deceased was a man of sterling character, a constructive citizen and successful ranchman. His passing was a distinct loss to the community and he will be mourned by both his friends and business acquaintances who held him in the highest esteem.

Owing to failing health, he had lived mostly in California during late years, leaving the active management of the ranch to his brother. The earthquake is said to have hastened his demise.

The sincerest sympathy of all Pecos county is extended the bereaved family and friends of this well known and beloved pioneer.—Fort Stockton Pioneer.

Mr. Sherbino was well known in this city and county especially among the ranchmen. At one time he ranched in this county and made his home in this city.

Baptist Worker's Conference Met Here Last Week

The Worker's Conference of the Pecos Valley and Davis Mountain Districts held their monthly meeting with the Sanderson Baptist Church last Thursday May 4th.

The inspiring program was as follows:

Devotion was led by Supt. Ruel Adams, who stressed the importance of winning young people to Christ during their youth.

Rev. Buren Sparks said that a revival spirit in our churches would act as a tonic to the financial and spiritual interests of all our people.

Evangelist Geo. W. McCall, of Dallas, that rugged scotchman said, "I am enjoying the depression. We need a spiritual revival of religion far more than we need an economic revival." Evangelist McCall is one of our best preachers in the State.

Evangelist McCall is trying to get every Baptist pastor to go out and hold at least one revival this summer. He stated that all of this propaganda to bring back beer with a 3.2 per cent alcoholic content is fostered by the American Millionaires. By placing a tax on each glass of beer sold that an enormous amount of money would be collected and used as revenue for our government, thus the millionaires would save themselves millions each year which they otherwise would have to pay as income tax.

Our church served a delightful lunch to all who were present.

In the afternoon the ladies of our association had a meeting. Also our executive board had a meeting. At this session Rev. C. F. Marsh of Odessa and Evangelist Geo. W. McCall discussed the evils of strong drink.

Rev. and Mrs. John V. McCall and Rev. and Mrs. B. M. Stradley were honor guests at the meeting.

The next Workers' Conference will be held at Wink, Texas.—Reported.

TALK ON RADIO BY ROOSEVELT LISTS ACTIONS

Can't Ballyhoo Country Into Prosperity President Says

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt in an exposition of his emergency policies to the Nation Sunday night projected a partnership between the Government and industry to improve wages, hours of work and control of production.

Seated at a desk in the oval reception room on the ground floor of the White House, the confident President related to the country what he had done and why, and what he proposed to do to help conditions which he reported to be a little better than they were two months ago.

He indicated a relaxation of the anti-trust laws, declaring that while their purpose must be continued, they were not intended to encourage the kind of unfair competition that results in long hours, starvation wages and overproduction.

He asserted that the authority to control inflation about to be given him by Congress will be used when, as, and if it may be necessary to accomplish the purpose.

Purpose of Inflation

That purpose, he said, was the raising of commodity prices and an expansion of credit to permit borrowers to repay in the same kind of dollar which they borrowed.

"We do not seek," he said, "to let them get such a cheap dollar that they will be able to pay back a great deal less than they borrowed. In other words we seek to correct a wrong and not to create another wrong in the opposite direction. That is why powers are being given to the administration to provide, if necessary, for an enlargement of credit, in order to correct the existing wrong."

As far as supervision of agriculture about to be given him by Congress he said the extent if its use will depend entirely upon the gold embargo and the recent refusal to make gold payments on Government bonds he said a series of conditions arose recently which might have meant a drain on the gold supply by foreign countries and a resulting flight of American capital out of the country.

Goes Over His Actions

Addressing the people as "My Friends," the President went over thoroughly the actions he has taken in his two months in the White House and emphasized that these had resulted in no surrender of power by Congress but rather a delegation of himself as the agent of

NEWSPAPER ADS MOST EFFECTIVE, CHAIN SAYS

Store managers of one national clothing chain said to have received a circular from headquarters containing the following:

"1-Do you want to be certain of reader interest? Then use the newspapers. Many a circular receives only a glance while the local newspaper, with hundreds of general items, is read thoroughly from first to last page.

"2-Do you want fast action? Then use the newspaper. The ad you run today, if it contains real merchandise news will bring immediate results tomorrow. You can receive and sell out a consignment of merchandise with newspaper advertising in less time than it takes to prepare a circular.

"3-Do you want representation in the same shopping window as the other merchants of your town? Then use the local newspaper. Women, the purchasing agents of the home, read newspaper advertising daily, whereas many a circular is tossed into the wastebasket without a glance.

"4-Do you want to be recognized as a factor of importance in your community—a real home town store? If you do, use the newspaper—it undoubtedly is a strong factor in the building of good will and acceptance by the whole town as a good place to trade."

The real issue today is the welfare of the next generation. It cannot be evaded or postponed.—Carroll R. Reed, superintendent, Minneapolis.

The Livestock Situation

J. A. McNAUGHTON

LOS ANGELES, May 11, 1933—

Despite the fact that prices for cattle have not been too satisfactory in the United States so far this year, it is very apparent that a better condition exists now than was the case a few months ago, and the way seems cleared in the opinion of many closely identified with the trade, for further improvement. It is essential, in fact, that cattle prices along with other livestock values, should improve if the prevailing upward trend in grain prices continues.

American livestock interests view with a fair degree of optimism the present trend towards better values. When the prevailing prices of cattle in the huge cattle producing country of Argentina is noted, our American prices appear to an advantage. In view of the extremely low prices being paid for Argentine cattle, the American cowman has all the more reason to hope that imports of Argentine beef may be withheld from this country. At present, the American cowman is protected both by a high import duty on beef or live cattle and also by an embargo against Argentine beef because of the known prevalence of the dreaded foot and mouth disease in Argentine herds. This protection should be continued, for we learn that Argentine beef is selling at sufficiently low prices to actually hurdle the present tariff.

The American Consulate General at Buenos Aires reports that in January 1933, Argentine cattle producers were paid the equivalent of between 2.34 and 2.92 cents a pound live weight for steers suitable for producing chilled beef, while a lower grade suitable only for frozen beef brought 1.75 to 2.22 cents a pound. From 1.17 to 1.64 cents a pound was paid for beef animals consumed within the Argentine Republic, with canned beef animals at 0.7 cents a pound. These prices were the lowest in any month since March 1923.

Packers in the Argentine are reported by the Argentine Ministry of Agriculture to have paid in 1932 the equivalent of $23.08 per head for prime chilled beef steers; the lowest for that grade since 1906. The average for slightly inferior cattle in the same year was $17.96 per head.

It is no secret that every possible pressure is being brought to bear to permit the entry of at least a portion of the Argentine beef production into the United States, due in part to restrictions on importations of Argentine has been made in scientifically shipping beef by boat under refrigeration, and that the Argentine beef which, should American restrictions be lowered, might be shipped to the United States would not be frozen beef which is very unpopular in the United States, but would consist of chilled beef similar to that transported in refrigerated cars in this country.

Available statistics show that beef from Argentina largely to the United States is chilled, whereas in 1913 it was frozen.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

RECIPES AND MENUS

DENTON, May 11—One of the simplest ways of assuring oneself of an adequate diet is to eat a variety of foods. One of the most embarrassing things that may happen to a person is to be a guest at a dinner where one is served foods one does not like, or even worse, to be the hostess who makes the tragic mistake of unknowingly serving guests with foods they dislike. And, yet, with few exceptions, had we been trained at a sufficiently early age we might all like everything that is served on American tables.

The young infant has no established taste, likes or dislikes apparently quinine is just as appealing as sugar. Furthermore, tests made by Gauger at Columbia University showed that taste responses of children 3 to 4 years of age may be modified without difficulty.

The important points in training a small child to like new foods are practice and indifference. The food should be served at frequent intervals, starting with a very small quantity the first time and more the next time. Be pleasant and cheerful at meal time. Assume that the child will eat the food, but do not coax and do not threaten for the best results. Set a good example, and the child will usually do the rest.

Breakfast: Stewed apples, wheatena with top milk, toast, milk, coffee for adults.

Mid-morning lunch: Cod liver oil, orange juice.

Lunch: Baked potato, scrambled eggs and brains, buttered spinach, carrot sandwich, lemon sponge, tea.

Dinner: Swiss steak, steamed buttered rice, creamed onions, hot rolls, butter, pineapple salad, frozen custard, coffee.

Breakfast: Tomato juice, French toast, scrambled eggs, apricot jam, coffee.

Lunch: Vegetable hash, liver sandwiches, carrot salad, doughnuts, coffee.

Dinner: Chicken pot pie, mashed potatoes, buttered new peas, escalloped spinach, peach pickle salad, Dutch apple pie, coffee.

Frozen Custard: 1 1-2 c sugar, 1-8 t salt, 3 eggs beaten, 3 c evaporated milk chilled and whipped, 1 T flour, 3 c boiling water, 1 T vanilla. Mix sugar, flour and salt; add water and boil 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour mixture over eggs slowly to prevent curdling. Remove to fire and cook two minutes longer. Cool; add vanilla and fold into whipped cream. Freeze with 1 1/2 salt mixture. Yield—2 qts.

Liver Sandwich Filling: 1-2 lb beef liver, 4 medium sized grated carrots, salad dressing, 4 stalks celery grated, 1-2 t salt. Pour boiling water over liver and simmer for about 3 minutes. Cool; put through a food chopper and mix with grated vegetables. Season to taste and mix with salad dressing to make smooth paste.

Escalloped Spinach: 2 c cooked spinach, 1-2 t salt, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1-2 c buttered crumbs, 2 T minced onion, 1-4 t pepper, 1-2 c milk. Heat spinach, put through sieve, add all ingredients except crumbs. Put mixture into greased baking dish. Cover with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven until brown. Requires fifteen minutes baking.

Congress to put an emergency program into effect.

"We are working toward a definite goal," the chief executive explained, "which is to prevent the return of conditions which came very close to destroying what we call modern civilization. The actual accomplishment of our purpose can not be attained in a day. Our policies are wholly within purposes for which our American constitutional Government was established 150 years ago.

"I know that the people of this country will understand this and will also understand the spirit in which we are undertaking this policy.

freight, farm prices are better, but I am not going to indulge in issuing proclamations of overenthusiastic assurance. We can not bally-hoo ourselves back to prosperity.

"I am going to be honest at all times with the people of the country. I do not want the people of this country to take the foolish course of letting this improvement come back on another speculative wave.

"I do not want the people to believe that because of unjustified optimism we can resume the ruinous practice of increasing our crop output and our factory output in the hope that a kind Providence will find buyers at high prices. Such a course may bring us immediate and false prosperity, but it will be the kind of prosperity that will lead us into another tailspin."

The President made no reference in his talk to the proposed banking reform legislation nor to war debts. Nor did he refer to the disputed thirty-hour work week bill.

Four Big Objectives

He outlined his four objectives in the international negotiations as follows:

1. A general reduction of armaments and through this the removal of the fear of invasion and armed attack, and, at the same time, a reduction in armament costs in order to help in the balancing of Government budgets and the reduction of taxation.

2. A cutting down of the trade barriers in order to restart the flow of exchange of crops and goods between nations.

3. The setting up of stabilization of currencies, in order that trade can make contracts ahead.

4. The re-establishment of friendly relations and greater confidence between all nations.

UNIVERSITY ACCEPTS OBSERVATORY SITE

A letter received by W. D. Bloys secretary of the Jeff Davis County Chamber of Commerce, Sunday evening from H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas assured Fort Davis people that the observatory would be built here.

Mr. Benedict stated that the "Board of Regents of the University of Texas at a meeting April 27th accepted the gift of Mrs. Violet Locke McIvor of the 200 acres for the McDonald Astronomical Observatory site." The letter further read: "Discussions are continually going forward between Dr. Struve, (director of the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago) and the telescope makers and that by and by hope to have all of the difficulties ironed out."

This observatory site is located on top of Mount Locke about 16 miles northwest of Fort Davis and only a short distance from the Davis Mountains State Park highway. The Park Highway has already been built beyond Mount Locke. The state highway commission promised in a recent meeting to build the road from the Park Highway to the top of Mount Locke and to black-top the entire road from Fort Davis to the observatory site. This promise was pending the decision of the Regents of the University as to whether they accepted this site. Now that this has been definitely decided it is supposed that the state will start the works on the road very shortly in order to have the black-top as nearly finished as possible by the time construction is started on the observatory and other buildings on the mountain—Fort Davis Dispatch.
