LISTEN TO LUKE

A President has been chosen for the next four years. Whatever your beliefs, he is to your President and mine. The campaign is now over and it is the duty of every American citizen to pledge themselves to do all in their power to see that his administration is effective for the good of the nation.

President Eisenhower will go to office hampered by many obstacles. Among other things to hinder the incoming chief executive will be the lack of faith that has become a hindrance to any administration. The present incumbent at the White House has conducted himself in a manner which has caused the American people to lose respect for that high exalted office. It is to be expected that the president-elect will conduct the affairs of government as to command the respect that high place.

This column has taken an important part in this campaign. Not the candidate was General Eisenhower nor because he was any particular political party. This column has attempted to use every means of persuasion at our command in order that it might bring to the attention of its readers some of the principles involved which dangerously affected, in our opinion, the American way of life. If this column has, by one word, caused some reader to consider the trend of thought and creating a situation which was contrary to the democratic principles of government, our efforts will not have been in vain.

We have no apology for taking what we have taken on American soil. There have been numerous threats of reprisals for the part taken by this column. If threats are forthcoming here we have written our feeble words in what we thought to be the welfare of our country. We will try to overcome with the satisfaction we have in the welfare of our grand glorious nation above all else. The day should come when

TS&GRA To Meet In San Angelo On November 10 - 12

San Angelo, Nov. 5 — Interesting speakers, good entertainment, a style show honoring "Miss Wool and Her Ten Pretty Maids," and a chance to just visit are offered to all who attend the 37th annual convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association to be held here November 10-12. The first day will be mostly for registration and committee meetings. Headquarters will be at the Cactus Hotel.

John T. Williams, association president, has announced that the speakers will cover important phases of the industry.

What is being done to promote the use of wool and mohair at a time when mad-made fibers catch the public's eye will be covered by F. Eugene Ackerman, president, Wool Bureau, New York City; J. M. (Casey) Jones, executive secretary of the National Wool Growers' Association, will cover that association's activities on behalf of the grower and explain a new plan of "Party-Tariff for Tax Payer Protection."

Williams said that two talks which will be of great interest to dry West Texas will be on "Water for Texas" and soil and water conservation in general. Gibb Gilchrist, chancellor of the Texas A&M College System and J. C. Dykes, deputy chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service will cover those two topics. Two well-known San Angelo speakers, State Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman and Congressman O. C. Fisher, complete the roster of speakers.

Of particular interest to the ladies will be the "Miss Wool and Her Ten Pretty Maids" style show and contest Monday night, November 10. Williams said. Eleven girls selected as finalists in a state-wide contest will model all wool dresses designed and made expressly for the occasion by nationally famous manufacturers.

Growers desiring rooms for the convention should send requests to the Board of City Development.

RICHARD M. NIXON

WE HAVE CHOSEN A PRESIDENT . . .

. . . who will head the nation during the four years beginning next January 20.

If the United States were one of the Red dictatorships, the losing candidate and his supporters would have been "liquidated" by this time, unless they had been lucky enough to get across the frontier ahead of the winner's hatchetmen.

Fortunately, that is not the American way. Harsh words that were spoken in the heat of the campaign already have been forgotten. Real statesmen have never been "soreheads", and all of them are now working together to promote the interests of our country.

It's time for the rest of us — regardless of party — to pull together toward peace and prosperity as Americans all.

EAGLES ONE GAME NEARER DISTRICT TITLE; TO MEET FORT HANCOCK THERE FRIDAY

The Sanderson Eagles got off to a bad start Friday night here and gave the fans a real let-down during the first quarter, but came to life in their true style of football ability and went on to win the football game from Fabens by a score of 26-6.

"Fumbleitis" plagued both sides early in the first quarter with the ball changing hands two or three times, then Fabens was forced to punt and the ball was fumbled by the Eagle safety and placed in the hands of the Wildcats on the 10-yard line. Three tries put the ball down to the 1-foot line where Mackie Whitaker went across for the first score of the ball game. The extra point try, a pass play, was no good. The rest of the first quarter showed little aggressive action on the part of either team, except for defensive action of the Eagle line which was breaking into the Fabens backfield to spoil many of their plays.

In the second quarter Olivares threw a pass to Joe Nessmith, Eagle end, who stiff-armed, stumbled and evaded would-be tacklers for about 40 yards before he was finally trapped and brought down. This play seemed to bring the Eagles to life and from about the Wildcat 35-yard line they marched down to the four on a series of plays from where Nessmith took another pass in the end zone from Olivares to tie the score up at 6-6. The extra point try was no good and the half ended with the score at even-Stephen.

In the third quarter, Roman Zepeda came through the middle and loped 40 yards to put the Sanderson team out in front. The extra point try was good.

In the fourth quarter Zepeda again showed his heels to the Wildcats on a 70-yard run and another score. The extra point was again converted. Then to repeat in the fourth quarter, Olivares, on what was probably his most crafty ball handling of the season, faked a hand off and tucked the ball at his side and trotted off to the left side of the field. When he headed goalward, he had open running and went the 35 yards unmolested. The extra point try was the last play of the ball game.

Roman Zepeda, left-booted kicker, completed two of his four extra point attempts Friday night in his worst average for the season. He has been kicking all or all save one of his conversion attempts in previous games.

Because of an injury to his knee, David Mitchell, starting fullback, saw little action in the game Friday night. Charles Stegall did some duty in that position as did Ruben Ochoa. Glynn Chandler, regular lineman, was kept out of part of the game because of an injured ankle. Dickie Escamilla and regulars, Nessmith, Galoar Cobos, Odell Carruthers, Jack Savage, James Clark, and Frank Vasquez, regulars, saw plenty of action and were relieved some by Matias Gutierrez, Humberto Arredondo, Alfredo Calzada, Raul Flores, also saw some service in the Eagle backfield.

In the game coming up Friday night against Fort Hancock, the Eagles are expecting a little trouble from the Mustangs and are working hard this week to perfect their plays to counterattack effectively against the Mustangs. That team won over Grandfalls Friday night 32-6 and are expected to give the Eagles a run for the score. The Mustangs have only one tie against no loss or tie for the Eagles. A win Friday night by the Eagles would clinch a district title and fans can be expecting to see the Sanderson team in tip-top form with supreme determination for a win. All who can go are guaranteed a jam-up ball game and the players and coaches will appreciate all support possible from the local fans.

Mr. B. C. Henderson and infant son were brought home Monday from a Fort Stockton hospital.

J. W. Haynes Buried Sunday, November 2

J. W. Haynes died about two o'clock Friday afternoon on the Sid Slaughter ranch following a heart attack.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church with Rev. J. W. Byrd, pastor, officiating. Interment was made in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Pallbearers were W. R. Turner, C. W. Burdett, A. C. Garne, W. O. Frankie, W. E. Grigsby and H. A. Thorn.

Mr. Haynes was born at Cameron, Texas, September 16, 1880. He served as the first treasurer of Real County after it was organized and, after four years, was elected county and district clerk, serving eight years. He then engaged in the ranching business and operated a general merchandise store at Vance.

He was married to Miss Sadie Jane Sharp in Edwards County on June 9, 1907. He brought his family to Sanderson in 1929 and for nine years was office deputy in the tax-assessor's office.

Mr. Haynes had engaged in the stock business here for the past few years. He had gone to the Slaughter ranch Thursday afternoon to work for a few days and

Nov 9-16 Declared Wool-Mohair Week In Texas By Governor Allan Shivers

The week of November 9 to 16 has been designated as Texas Wool and Mohair Week by Governor Allan Shivers, and a memorandum from the governor was received this week by John T. Williams, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

The copy of the official memorandum by Governor Shivers follows:

"Sheep and goat raising are an integral part of Texas economy, and wool and mohair contribute a wealthy share of the state's agricultural income.

"While present drought conditions have been detrimental to sheep and goat raising when comparisons are drawn with years of normal rainfall, these adverse conditions serve in one respect to emphasize the industry's important position in the economy of our state and nation.

"For instance, millions of acres of Texas lands which otherwise would be unproductive, are yielding an income from sheep and goats, thus filling an important place in the agricultural picture. The industry plays a vital role in our rearmament, also, since wool, mohair and meat all are essential to the Nation's defense program.

"THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of November 9-16, 1952, as TEXAS WOOL AND MOHAIR WEEK and take this opportunity to call attention to Texas' leadership in the field of wool and mohair production, and the valuable economic contribution this production is making to the state."

NEW DAUGHTER FOR THE MARVIN BATSONS

Stores To Close On November 11

Mrs. Jettie Peavy, secretary of the Sanderson Retail Merchants Association, announced Wednesday afternoon that she had taken a poll of local members of that organization and the consensus was to observe a holiday on November 11 so that owners and employees of businesses which could close would be able to have a holiday.

Some of the retail businesses in Sanderson, because of the nature of their business, stated that they would be not able to close on November 11.

Housewives are asked to please anticipate their needs of grocery items over that day.

A & M Designates Funds To Collect and Classify Material To Aid Water Problem

College Station, Nov. 3 — Establishment of a state-wide Water Research and Information Center on the campus of A & M College of Texas has been authorized by the board of directors of the Texas A & M College System with funds appropriated to get this major undertaking under way. The center is designed to bring together and organize the vast amount of scattered information now existing on Texas water problems and to develop research programs needed to answer the many problems still unsolved.

Action was taken by the board at its most recent meeting on a plan presented by Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist, which provided for beginning this long-range program with existing facilities and personnel of the A & M College System. Governing body for the center was established, with Chancellor Gilchrist as chairman and including the president of A & M College, the vice chancellor for agriculture and directors of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Agricultural Extension Service, Engineering Experiment Station, Engineering Extension Service and Forest Service.

Dr. J. R. Johnson, on loan from the Agricultural Experiment Station, of which he is assistant director, was named as executive head of the new organization in its formative stages. He will establish an office in the system headquarters building on the A & M campus and organize the staff. A full-time engineer to work with Dr. Johnson will be employed jointly by the engineering experiment division and the engineering extension division.

The first big project of the new center's staff will be the collection of publications, papers, maps and other material representing the accumulated knowledge of all organizations and scientists on Texas water supplies and problems.

Topographic maps and maps of underground structures involving water will be collected and organized so that their information may be available when needed. It will then be possible to determine the additional mapping needed to fill in the gaps and a long-range program will be organized to fill this important need. Provisions will be made for reproduction of maps and diagrams for those who need them at minimum cost.

This first major phase of the work will lead into the two other principal fields of activity in connection with water which the center will direct. Collection of information will furnish material for building stronger courses in water specialization within the colleges of the system and will indicate the gaps in our knowledge which must be filled by research.

"This plan of work," Chancellor Gilchrist told the board of directors in presenting the project, "will not duplicate the work now being done by any governmental or private agency, but will serve to pull together the scattered work now being done by many on Texas water problems. It will furnish a center of information and training for technical people in the water business and citizens throughout the state. We will undertake to furnish the information needed and do the research within our fields as a service which established organizations have declared to be their most serious need."

General Eisenhower, or any other president, acquiesces to the influence of the dangerous and scandalous doctrine of coddling the Communists at home or abroad, then this column will be the first to denounce his stand.

The American people have spoken in no uncertain terms that they will endure it no longer. Our Congressmen and our Senators should know by now that the people will not tolerate it longer. We have been told of many commitments made by present administration leaders which would scrap our Constitution. If we have a representative in Washington who knows of such treaties, it is their duty to enlighten the citizenship of such traitorous commitments. The time has come when we must make our representatives know they are sent to Washington as representatives — they are accountable to the voters back home. Christianity and Americanism won a glorious victory at the polls. That victory may be the difference between a free nation and a Socialistic or Communist state. God bless America. He will if we prove ourselves worthy of His blessings.

Carnival Nets $568 For P-TA Treasury

The carnival sponsored by the Sanderson Parent-Teacher Association last Thursday night was considered a success in every way.

A parade led by the Sanderson Eagle Band marched through the business district at five o'clock. School children in gay Halloween costumes were accompanied by their teachers and some of the parents in the parade.

The concessions on the school ground opened immediately after the parade and sold out of food of various kinds before the time for the boxing matches and variety show.

The two-hour-long show in the high school auditorium provided a very entertaining feature with the special dances, songs and other musical numbers presented by local talent.

Mrs. Gene Hodgkins was in charge of the arrangements for the show.

HEALTH FOR ALL—

ALLERGIES

Traditionally, for some people this season is associated with watery eyes and nose, nostril-tickling sneezes, and congested breathing. The common name for their illness is hay fever, an allergy (unusual sensitivity to substances ordinarily harmless to others) due to the ragweed pollen. However, these symptoms characterize numerous other allergies that trouble people year around. Allergies not only frequently produce disturbances in the respiratory organs, but also in the digestive system or the skin.

Of the total field of known allergies, the most common are hay fever, asthma, stomach and intestinal disorders, eczema, hives, and other skin irritations. Exhaustive tests are often necessary to discover a person's particular allergy. Specialists do not believe that allergies are hereditary, but that a person can inherit a tendency toward them.

The substances that produce allergies are called allergens. When they enter the body either by swallowing, inhaling, external contact, or by injection (drugs, serum), they produce an irritation in susceptible tissues, causing the blood vessels to dilate and the tissues, which they supply, to swell. Typical allergens are:

Pollen, house dust, strong fumes.

Tiny particles of skin, hair or feathers shed by dogs, fowl or other animals.

Various foods, eggs, milk, wheat, nuts, fish and seafood.

Drugs, serums, fungi.

Dyes, perfumes, plastics and numerous other chemicals used in home and industry.

Bacteria in a person's body.

Insect bites or stings (bees or wasps).

Heat, cold or sunlight.

If the allergens can be identified and removed from the patient's diet or surroundings, an immediate cure may follow. Some allergens, however, cannot be avoided. In such instances, it may be possible to build up the patient's resistance by repeated injections. New drugs (including the anti-histamines) are often very helpful. Increased rest and relaxation are sometimes necessary and the emotions, too, are often a contributory influence.

People with allergic tendencies should observe a few important

"don'ts". They should not expose themselves to drafts and cold air. They should avoid dust, strong fumes, and frequent contact with drugs, cosmetics, plants and similar items. On the positive side, they should consult a physician. Frequently, a doctor can cure an allergy and in most cases he can give welcome relief.

Poppies To Be Sold Here November 7-8

Replicas of the poppies of "Flanders Field" are being fashioned by J. Mack Prescott, San Marcos, left, and Fred C. Fulton, Cleveland, Mississippi, pictured at right, to be worn throughout the United States to pay tribute to the hundreds of thousands of young Americans who have given their lives in the nation's defense in three wars — the two World Wars and the present conflict in Korea.

The experience of being able to do something useful again sometimes changes the veterans' whole attitude. Some apparently hopeless cases have been started on the road to recovery by making poppies.

"The poppies we will distribute here have been made at Legion. The materials are supplied by the Auxiliary and the veterans are paid regularly out of Auxiliary funds. Everyone who wears a poppy on Poppy Day helps these veterans while honoring their fallen comrades," Mrs. Brown said.

Mrs. W. L. Lindley and son, Eob., of El Paso spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Carr and Si.
