

Here We Go Again--

Another Postmaster Exam Planned

Leo McLellan, acting postmaster at Friona since November of 1953, is still Friona's acting postmaster.

That's about all one can say on the post office situation here and be reasonably certain that he knows what he's talking about.

And, even that can change at any moment although it isn't likely in view of the latest word from Washington in regard to the matter.

A letter from Congressman Walter Rogers, stating that the Post Office Department had been requested to conduct another examination, was received last week by J. P. Sims, commander of Friona American Legion Post 206.

In the letter to Sims, Congressman Rogers said, "The Post Office Department has been requested to conduct an examination with reference to the appointment of a permanent postmaster at Friona at the earliest possible time."

No date has been set for the examination yet, but Acting Postmaster McLellan says he will be notified as soon as it is.

When the exam is set, it will be the third time for such an examination to be given in Friona since McLellan took over as acting postmaster seven and a half years ago.

The first examination was in 1954, after which Paul Fortenberry was selected to replace McLellan.

After being appointed, however, Fortenberry declined the position, thus leaving the way open for McLellan, a Republican, to continue in the post throughout the Eisenhower administration.

When the Kennedy administration took office, it was inevitable that a change would soon be forthcoming.

Such was the case, and in March, Roy V. Miller, who had previously taken the postal exam and had one of the top scores, was appointed to the post.

Just prior to the time Miller was to have taken the postmaster's position, the appointment was cancelled for reasons that have not been clearly defined.

One possible reason was that another person, Mrs. Roy Clements, was being supported for the position of acting postmaster by a group of Friona citizens. Congressman Rogers reportedly received "a bushel basket" of letters in support of Mrs. Clements.

Early in May Mrs. Clements was notified that she had been named acting postmaster and the date was set for her to replace McLellan. A representative of the postal department came from Amarillo and conducted a routine background check on Mrs. Clements here in Friona.

A few days prior to the proposed change, however, this appointment was also cancelled "indefinitely," according to the word received by McLellan.

No more information had been received locally until Sims received his letter last week.

Just how long it will be before the exam is set, and another postmaster named, is not known. McLellan says that after the examination is given, it usually takes "about 90 days."

WAVING AGAINST A BACKGROUND OF CLOUDS is Old Glory, the American symbol of liberty. Throughout Friona Wednesday, the Stars and Stripes were waving in observance of Flag Day.

C-C Directors Meet Friday

The board of directors of the Friona Chamber of Commerce are scheduled to meet Friday night to map out plans for the coming year, says Martel Leveque, Chamber president.

"We will see how much money we have got and outline a program for the year," the president says. The meeting will be in Leveque's office at Production Credit Association.

For the past several weeks the directors have been carrying on a membership drive, and the various teams will report on the success of the drive at the meeting.

The directors teamed up in pairs and have been contacting delinquent old members and 36 new ones.

Officers of the Chamber, who were elected in April, are Leveque, president; Frank Spring, secretary; and Wesley Foster, first vice-president.

Directors of the organization are Paul Fortenberry, J. G. McFarland, Ralph Roden, Kenneth Williams, John Wilson, and Ralph Taylor.

Extensive Damage In Freak Accident

A 1957 Imperial, belonging to Nolan Morris, was a total loss following a freak accident Monday morning on a country road six miles east of Hub.

The Imperial was parked in a narrow ditch along side the road when a Clifford-Hill Western winch truck went out of control and crashed into the parked vehicle.

There were no occupants in the car and the three Spanish-American passengers in the cab of the truck were uninjured, according to investigating officers.

The truck was travelling north on a farm road, three and one-half miles north of White's Elevator, when something went wrong with the steering mechanism.

The truck started off to the left, then hit a chuck hole and careened to the right, into rear portion of the parked automobile. The truck came to a stop in a nearby field.

Leonard Coffey, of City Body Shop in Friona, who towed off the wrecked car, estimated it a total loss. Damage to the truck was estimated to be about $200.

The accident was investigated by the State Highway Patrol from Dimmitt.

Skeeter Population Expected To Swell

Contrary to what one might think, in view of the fact that rains this year haven't been numerous as they were a year ago, the mosquito population throughout the county is expected to be even greater than last year.

That was the word this week from Dr. Paul Spring, County health officer, who says that "the small, stagnant lakes hatch more mosquitoes than do full lakes."

"I think it's going to be a bad year," the health officer says, and he advises "everybody to take mosquito control measures."

Dr. Spring is currently attempting to coordinate a county-wide control program, and he is asking the cooperation of the Farmer County Commissioner Court, the Farwell, Friona and Bovina city commissions, and individual farmers.

The City of Friona has already sprayed the alleys once, and additional sprayings are scheduled in the near future, Dr. Spring says. "Also the city has assured me that they will undertake the spraying of lakes in the area," he adds.

The City of Farwell has also said it would undertake a mosquito control program and the commissioners court has acquired solution and a machine for spraying lakes, Dr. Spring says.

The county health officer advises farmers and other individual citizens to do some local spraying to help control the mosquito population.

He says that Dieldrin is a good spray for surface lakes, and as for weeds and shrubs there are several good sprays. Persons who would like to do local spraying can contact the various city commissions as to effective sprays, Dr. Spring says.

"Right now is the time to get started on control measures," the health officer says.

The mosquito population can be controlled the easiest by getting them in the breeding stage. Lakebeds are the largest breeding areas, and from these small, stagnant lakes in the area will be coming "millions of them" in the near future, Dr. Spring points out.

The mosquito is a common carrier of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) and the more steps that can be taken to control this seasonal pest, the less chance there will be of any contracting this disease.

GOING THROUGH THE LINE for barbecue at Friona Wheat Growers annual meeting Tuesday night were 870 persons. Here are a few of them as they stack their plates.

Wheat Growers Pay $540,000 In Dividends

At a business meeting of stockholders of Friona Wheat Growers, Inc., Tuesday night, it was announced that dividends to be paid this year total $540,068.13.

Checks have been made out to 1,574 stockholders, and the average payment is $334.10, says Arthur Drake, elevator manager.

Also at the business meeting, following a barbecue in which 870 people went through the line at the Friona School Cafeteria, E. L. Fairchild was re-elected to the board of directors for another three-year term.

Frank Pharris, assistant manager of the Producers Grain Corporation of Amarillo, spoke at the meeting on the farm program. He also gave details on some expansion projects of Producers Grain.

The 870 persons who attended the barbecue were fewer than the 1,170 who turned out last year.

"The only thing we can figure out," says Drake, is since the Democrats are in the power there were fewer hungry people this year."

Another reason for the smaller turnout, he added, and probably a more logical one, was that many farmers were busy cutting wheat and barley, planting and cultivating.

ALMOST A TOTAL LOSS following a freak accident east of the Hub Monday morning was this 1957 Imperial, owned by Nolan Morris. The car was parked alongside the road and was demolished by a runaway winch truck.

Hospital Room Now Available For Meetings

H. E. Barnett, manager of the Farmer County Community Hospital, reports that the conference room, a part of the recently-completed hospital wing, is now available for group meetings.

It will handle groups up to 40, Barnett says, and he points out that it is available to civic clubs or for other group meetings.

The room, which was furnished by Friona Wheat Growers, is complete with 40 padded chairs, a blackboard, lectern, two large tables, portable valet, and a coffee urn.

Arrangements for using the conference room may be made by contacting Barnett.

Jimette McLean At Girls State

Jimette McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McLean, is one of seventeen girls from this area that will be among 400 Texas' outstanding high school girls attending the American Legion Auxiliary, Bluebonnet Girls State.

This is the 17th annual session for a ten day period beginning Wednesday in Austin at the Texas School for the Blind.

Mrs. Ora Ott of Hereford will be the counselor from this area. The girls left by train Tuesday and will return on Saturday, June 24.

Girls State is an exercise in self-government. The "citizens" will organize their city, county and state governments. They will also go through such procedures as paying poll taxes.

Near the end of the session, the girls will elect a Girls State Governor and will select two outstanding citizens of the 1961 session who will be sent to attend Girls Nation in Washington D. C. in July.

First Wheat Is Cut

Wheat harvest is still several days away yet, but a few loads of dryland wheat have already made their way to elevators in the area.

Edward Schilling, who farms 2 1/2 miles southeast of Black, delivered the area's first load of wheat to the Tri-County Elevator Saturday afternoon. He delivered a second load to Prewett Grain Company Sunday afternoon.

The wheat was good quality, testing under 14 per cent in moisture content, and it scaled 61 pounds. It was making about 30 bushels per acre, according to Lloyd Prewett.

In Friona, John Renner, who farms southwest of town, delivered the first load to Friona Wheat Growers Monday noon.

It was also dryland. Early Premium variety, and weighed 60.5 pounds. Moisture content was 13.2 per cent and the average yield was from 15 to 18 bushels per acre. Renner says the load was cut Saturday afternoon, but he put off delivery, thinking that the first wheat had already been received in Friona.

He received a $25 premium for delivering the first load.

Preach Cranfill of Continental Grain Company received a couple of partial loads of wheat from Calvin Talley and Aubrey Cole Monday afternoon.

Both loads were extremely wet, Cranfill says. "They were just tuning up their combines," Cranfill says, "and brought in what they had cut to see how it would test."

By Tuesday morning, Continental Grain had received several loads of wheat. "It's too early to tell what any of them were making, but the wheat was good quality," Cranfill says.

The area elevator men believe that it will be next week before many combines are rolling.

FOREIGN VISITOR on the farm of Keith Brock for the past two weeks has been Peter Hewlett, 20-year-old son of a farmer in South Rhodesia. Here, he is shown driving a tractor on the Brock farm southwest of Friona. (For complete story, see Farm and Home section.)

Make $5 An Hour Growing Corn

You can earn $5 or more an hour in the cornfield if you follow the sound management practices used by today's top corn growers.

These farmers have junked old-fashioned horse-age methods in favor of big tractors and implements that make it possible to grow more corn in less time. And they use fertilizer, chemicals and other tools of modern farming to get big yields.

A Massey-Ferguson research report shows that a farmer who can grow 100 bushels of corn per acre with only nine hours of labor is earning $6.33 per hour. Corn was figured at $1.06 per bushel, and costs were $49 per acre. Fifty bushel yields at the same figures paid only 44¢ per hour.

Here are some of the practices used by farmers who make top wages in the cornfield:

Buy the Best Seed. Corn yield studies show there is often a yield difference of 20 to 30 bushels or more per acre between top and lower yielding hybrids. It's enough to cut costs 25¢ to 30¢ per bushel.

Shoot for Thick Stands. For maximum yields, it's necessary to have good stands. Populations of 15,000 to 17,000 per acre are about right for average corn soils.

Cut Down on Tillage. Too much tillage increases machinery costs, fuel and labor. Each unnecessary disking, harrowing, or cultivation costs $1.25 per acre.

Keep Fields Large. Big fields improve machinery efficiency and cut tillage costs. Time required to work an acre of corn is less for a 100 acre field if it is divided into two 50 acre or four 25 acre fields.

Harvest All the Corn. Many corn growers leave as much as a fifth of their crop in the field after picking. Top producers begin picking corn as soon as it can be safely stored.

Editorial Comment: Some Good Advice

"Little League baseball is a splendid opportunity to teach boys the basic facts of sports and sportsmanship, teamwork and fairplay. But all too many parents spoil the opportunity by putting unnecessary pressure on their youngsters, especially the pressure to win."

The above statement came from Donald R. McNeil, who last year was a coach of a Little League baseball team in one American city, and who recently authored a story for Parents' Magazine.

Under the heading, "Little Leagues Aren't Big Leagues," the article appeared in condensed form in the June issue of Reader's Digest and was apparently widely read by some of Friona Little Leaguers.

At least, some of them have confessed that they were guilty of many of the things the author said they were.

McNeil points out that many parents, "who superimpose their own standards on a sport designed for children 8 to 12 years of age," are undermining much of the good that a Little League program does.

A Little League player shouldn't be subjected to the same type of pressure that goes with major league baseball, and as McNeil says, mothers and fathers shouldn't "abuse their boys for not fielding like Red Schoendienst, hitting like Mickey Mantle or pitching like Vernon Law."

This type of "support" only humiliates the young ball player, and, as members of the medical profession point out, it has an effect on a child's emotional and social development.

Many of these parents who do so much damage to the Little League cause, "are simply worried about how they will look in the eyes of their neighbors," McNeil says, "and they assume that their son's actions somehow cast an unfavorable reflection on them."

We don't know whether or not Friona has many parents of Little Leaguers who would fit the description of those outlined by McNeil, but from what we hear about the Little League program here, we'd say that few of them do exist.

Friona, unlike many other towns on the Plains, is doing a first-rate job in the handling of its youngsters and the support it is giving the Little League program.

But as McNeil points out, the Little League program does have some pitfalls, and there are certain things that mothers and fathers should try to guard against. One is, the "win at any cost" philosophy that has become so prevalent in every phase of athletic endeavor.

A pat on the back and a word of encouragement when a youngster makes a blooper can be far more beneficial than shouts of praise when he hits a homerun.

Little League baseball can be a valuable adjunct to the growth and development of a young boy, and McNeil says, "Parents can either help or hinder, but they can help most if they will leave the Little Leaguer alone."

He does have some good advice.

Equalization Board Named By Trustees

The Friona School Board, meeting in regular session Monday night, appointed a three-man board of equalization which will probably meet sometime in July.

Members of the board are Clyde Goodwine, Wright Williams, and Paul Fortenberry. They will meet soon after tax notices are mailed out to discuss any questions or complaints from taxpayers.

In other business Monday night, the school board approved the Friona State Bank as the depository bank for Friona school funds for the 1961-63 biennium.

Dan Ethridge, tax-assessor collector, reported that delinquent taxes for the month of May totaled $1,194.01.

Superintendent Alton Farr gave reports on the activity fund, cafeteria fund, transportation fund, and the school bus fund.

The board decided to advertise three old school buses for sale, and also approved restroom repairs and the painting of some classrooms in the two-story grade school building.

Board members present at Monday's meeting were President D. C. Herring, W. M. Massie, John L. Ray, Glynn D. Hughes, W. R. Maury, and Clyde Weatherly.

Two County Residents Granted Citizenship

Two residents of Parmer County were among the 33 Panhandle citizens who took their oaths of allegiance and were granted U. S. citizenship Friday at Amarillo.

The oaths were administered in the Federal District Courtroom in Amarillo by Judge Joe B. Dooley. The group included 28 adults and five children.

The two persons from Parmer County who became naturalized citizens were Hilaria Luna Rodriguez, Friona, a native of Mexico, and Christiane Putman, Farwell, a native of France.

County To Aid Fire Departments

The Parmer County Commissioners Court Monday voted to contribute $750 annually to each of the Friona, Bovina and Farwell fire departments for fighting fires outside of city limits.

The money will be used by the fire departments for purchasing new equipment and/or maintenance of equipment.

In other action Monday, the commissioners set the taxable value of city residential property at 10 per cent of the actual value, and the taxable value of business property at 20 per cent of the actual value.

Harlingen Boy Wins Election

Pete Coneway of Harlingen, head of the Longhorn party, defeated Ralph Baker of Dallas, leader of the Pioneer party, for governor of the annual Boys State at Austin.

Elections Wednesday night were tabulated and announced Thursday.

Pete is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Coneway and grandson of Mrs. O. F. Lange, Friona.

Tourists Advised To See Texas First

By--Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.-- See Texas first this summer. Texas Highway Department will help you plan a good time.

"Many Texans have never seen their own state through a tourist's eyes," says State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer. They're unaware of the pleasures immediately available to them via Texas' excellent highway system.

For example, Greer noted, Texas has:

1. One National Park. (Big Bend).
2. Four National Forests.
3. More than 600 miles of coastline.
4. More than 50 mountains over 6,000 feet high.
5. Numerous scenic caverns, inland lakes, old cattle trails, restored forts, monuments and museums.

6. More than 50 state parks for outdoor recreation including water sports and camping.

7. Some 1,000 roadside parks where travelers may rest or picnic.

Highway Department will send maps and descriptive literature on points of interest and special events upon request without charge. Those writing should indicate the part of the state they want to visit and the sort of things they would like to see and do.

Address the Texas Highway Department, P. O. Box 5064, Austin 31.

TASK FORCE FOR TAXES-- Gov. Price Daniel has named a 19-member committee to study Texas tax problems and recommend a plan for raising some $350,000,000 for the next two years.

All the 19 appointees are in positions causing them to have a strong interest in seeing sufficient money raised for coming state appropriations. They include the chairmen of the governing boards of the state's educational, welfare and hospital systems and officials of a number of school-connected associations.

Their report is to be ready prior to July 10, opening date of the special legislative session.

WHAT'S IN A NAME-- Pro-sales tax legislators declare that Governor Daniel is merely calling "a rose by another name" in his labeling of what is and what is not a sales tax.

Sen. Wardlow Lane and four House members presented "their side of the story" in a formal answer to the governor's report to the people on the regular session failure to pass a tax bill.

Any $350,000,000 tax program, including the governor's, will have to run heavily to sales taxes, whatever they're called, said the lawmakers. They recommended "telling the truth about it."

Governor Daniel announced he had received a heavy volume of mail since his talk, with the sentiment running 6-to-1 in favor of his program.

Several legislators said this was contrary to the way their mail was running.

TROUBLES ALL OVER-- To make matters worse, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported that some of Texas' prime sources of tax revenue seems to be dwindling.

Oil production taxes for the nine months ending May 31 were $92,110,769, down by $3,000,000 from the same period a year ago and down $12,000,000 from the year before that.

Gasoline taxes, which have spiraled up at about 5 per cent a year, have hit a slowdown. They are expected to be about $129,000,000. This is identical to the same nine months period of a year ago.

Corporation franchise taxes were also down to $51,542,964 for this year, a drop of about $7,000,000 from last year.

One bright spot was in "sin taxes." Cigarette taxes brought in $7,821,931 during May compared with $6,310,562 for April. Taxes on alcoholic beverages (beer, wine and liquor) were up from $2,672,947 in April to $2,835,650 in May.

But poll taxes were down from $2,818,527 in 1960, the presidential election year, to only $1,827,574 for 1961.

Despite everything, the deficit in the state general revenue funds dropped in May to $78,-848,137 from a high of $102,-000,000 in April. Hopes are that it will go even lower, not to exceed $63,000,000 by August 31, the end of the fiscal year.

SOME CHANGES MADE-- Despite the bog-down on tax bills, the Legislature did add quite a bit to the law of the land in its recent session. Among noteworthy changes:

1. Old age pensioners, beginning next January 1, can receive help with their hospital, doctor and nursing home expenses. Any state-licensed hospital or nursing home will be eligible for participation in the program.

2. Filing fee for candidates for statewide office will be $1,000. Previous fee for candidates in special statewide elections was $50. This brought out 71 candidates in the recent special senatorial race.

3. Persons who refuse to hang up when a party telephone line is needed for an emergency call will be subject to fine. Notice will be printed in this year's new telephone directories.

Not all these bills have been signed, but the governor has indicated no opposition.

SMALL LOAN LAURGED --Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has urged Governor Daniel to add loan company regulation to the list of subjects which may be considered in the upcoming special session.

At present the governor has limited the session to revenue and appropriations bills. Only subjects included in the governor's "call" may be considered in a special session.

Wilson said that, by beginning where the last session left off, lawmakers should be able to pass a loan bill quickly. A regulatory bill was passed by the House last session, but opposing forces came to a deadlock in the Senate.

Governor Daniel has evidenced coolness toward considering anything else until a revenue - and - appropriation agreement is reached -- not even his pet escheat bill.

Also being asked for special session consideration is a bill to increase unemployment benefits which failed in the regular session. It passed on second reading in the House, but never got any further.

HE'S STILL JUDGE-- A district court conviction cannot be thrown out because the judge of the court had not paid his Bar dues, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled.

In the case at issue, the defendant was sentenced to 10 years for theft. He sought his freedom on grounds that the judge of the trial court, because of failure to pay dues, was not a member of the State Bar of Texas.

Appeals Court ruled that the judge was qualified for his office under the requirements of the Texas Constitution and the conviction was upheld.

YOUTH TAKES OVER-- On the heels of the Legislature's departure, the Capital was invaded by two new contingents of politicians -- the youngest and most vigorous it sees from one year to the next.

They are the delegates to Boys State and Girls State, outstanding high school seniors who come to Austin each summer to gain experience in government. And they learn to do by doing. Each group (separately) forms political parties, nominates candidates, holds elections and sets up a state government -- all with realistic zeal.

American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary sponsor the activity.

SHORT SNORTS

Car-jammed Texas cities are getting sympathy and an offer of help from the Texas Highway Department. Commission announced that cities may use the space under elevated expressways for parking lots -- to be operated by the cities or under contract by private parties.

Noting that the number of 1961 polio cases in Texas is up 9 per cent above the same period last year, State Health Department is launching a new campaign for inoculations -- especially for "babies and breadwinners."

"Moonshining" is not just a part of the colorful past. Texas Liquor Control Board reported that it seized eight illegal stills and confiscated 2,970 gallons of mash and 34 gallons of liquor in April.

Texans launching an insecticide war against garden pests should take care that it doesn't backfire, warns the State Health Department. Among tips: (1) Read labels carefully, (2) Keep sprays away from children and pets, (3) Don't inhale while spraying, (4) Don't inhale insecticide or get it on your skin, (5) Avoid contaminating food or water supplies, (5) Throw away leftovers.

Lewellen Rites

Held Monday

Funeral services for G. D. Lewellen, 68, were conducted Monday, June 12, at 10 a. m. in the First Christian Church at Plainview. He was the brother of Tom Lewellen, Friona.

Mr. Lewellen died Thursday morning at Merkel of a heart attack. He had resided at Plainview for 53 years.

Those attending the services from Friona were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewellen, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Delton Lewellen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewellen and family and Mrs. Henry White.

Beene Qualifies For Two Awards

Bill Schwab, Darrell Thompson, Johnnie Woodson and Donnie Renner spent several days at Friona last week. They have been harvesting in Oklahoma.

O. J. Beene, a Friona life underwriter, has been notified of his qualification for the National Quality Award by the National Association of Life Underwriters. The award is highly prized by members of the Association of the Life Underwriters since it is given only to those who have produced a substantial amount of life insurance with an unusually high persistency.

Mr. Beene has also been notified that he qualified for the Texas Leaders' Round Table, sponsored by the Texas Association of Life Underwriters. This award is also on the basis of large production with high quality and is in recognition of outstanding service to the life underwriter's clients.

Mr. Beene is associated with South Coast Life Insurance Company of Houston, Texas. He has been in the life insurance business more than five years.

WITH JUNE

Attendance at the first game of the Babe Ruth League at Reeve Field Saturday evening was good. This field is one that all Frionans can be proud of and will be useful for a large number of boys for years to come. Men responsible for construction of this field have done a good job and are to be commended for their efforts.

Like most other projects in the community, cooperation on the part of merchants, civic organizations and individuals was necessary for completion of the job. When any worthwhile project is undertaken, you can always count on Frionans to do whatever jobs are necessary for its success.

Farmers are very optimistic over expected yields, but realize that it will take good yields to pay for present investment in the crop.

The days of one waying the land two times, drilling it then forgetting about it until harvest are gone and have been replaced by deep plowing, fertilizing, irrigating, spraying for insects and constant watching until harvest time.

Barley yields have been good and most of the barley has already been cut.

Cotton and sorghum grains are growing rapidly and the entire countryside is being made beautiful by contrasts of growing crops, golden wheat and clean brown lay out land.

Members of the American Legion need the cooperation of at least one individual. Someone secured permission from J. P. Sims, commander, to borrow two fifty foot garden hoses some time ago. Now the lawn needs to be watered and J. P. has forgotten who borrowed the hoses.

Members of the Oddfellows Lodge of Friona are justly proud of progress being made on their new meeting place in the east part of town. Although this group hasn't been active very long, members are actively engaged in securing new members.

Anyone knowing their whereabouts is asked to contact J. P. or to return the borrowed property.

One of the prettiest and most practical family rooms I've ever seen is the newly constructed addition to the J. G. McFarland home. Everything in it has been planned for easy keep and for the enjoyment of every member of the family from Grandmother Farland down to young Chris Barnett. Planning a room to fit the needs of three generations must have taken a lot of thought and the pleasure from living in it will be long lasting.

Wheat harvest is beginning on a small scale in this area, but probably within the next week or ten days harvest crews will be running full swing.

A number of nice compliments have reached Friona since members of the 1961 senior class spent several days at a lodge in Colorado. Of course, those of us who live here have known for a long time that they were a fine group, but it certainly is good to hear reports of exceptional behaviour from owners of the lodge.

Congratulations seniors.

Until this month the Foister Rectors had not had any granddaughters-in-law, but June brought them two. On June 3 Jackie Oldham was married to Linda Renfro of Hereford. Now Mrs. Rector tells me she will have information for a story of Kenneth May's marriage for next week's Star.

Still Mighty Dry

The Friona area received a couple of showers during the past week, but they were spotted, and for the most part things are still "mighty dry."

Rain reports from around the area ranged from "a heavy dew" in the Rhea area to an inch of moisture in the Black area.

In Friona, the total amount of moisture received since June 1 measures only .17, according to the official rain gauge at Friona Consumers.

Friday night's shower measured .09 of an inch and Sunday night's rain totaled .04.

Mrs. J. W. Gammon, who lives between Hub and Lazhuddie, reported a half inch Friday night, and Clyde Hays, of Black, reported an inch of moisture the same evening.

Clyde Weatherly, who lives 7 miles north of town, reported only a trace, and Carl Schlenker, at the Rhea community, reported only "three heavy dews" during the past week.

Other parts of Farmer County have been receiving a little more moisture than has the Friona area, with the Farwell, Oklahoma Lane and Lariat areas reporting "good showers" both Friday and Sunday nights.

LaVoyce Burrow has returned to Friona after visiting in Stamford for about ten days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Gibson.

Something To Think About

Wisdom is most desirable. Some are wise and some are not. If there be any doubt into which category a person belongs, there is one sure way to determine, obedience is proof of wisdom. Both the wise and the foolish can go to church. Both the wise and the foolish can attend Bible classes on Lord's Day morning. Both the wise and the foolish can attend the services of a gospel meeting. But how can we distinguish between the two? How can we know which is wise in the sight of God? If man should attempt to answer these questions there would be room for doubt because man is subject to error. Therefore we seek our answer from the only source that is beyond doubt, the Lord Jesus Christ. In Matthew chapter seven Jesus said: "Whoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man. . . . Every one that heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man."

The wise and the foolish heard; the wise and the foolish knew the will of God. The wise obeyed, and the foolish did not obey. Regardless of one's scholastic background, his accomplishments in the field of science, history or theology, the Lord's work still stands out above all else—a man is not truly wise until he obeys the will of God, which is revealed to us through Christ. Think about it, my friend, how wise are you?

There's no free gate to anything worth while. . . . Not to skill nor health, nor to success nor friendship, nor even to the lasting love and respect of those who are nearest and dearest to us. . . . These are the items that make up the best income that any human being can have, and the sum of that income will be measured by the sum of what we are willing to pay to get it.

Leon Hartman To Spend Summer Here

Leon Hartman of Boise City, Idaho plans to spend the summer in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Houser. He is the nephew of Mrs. Houser.

Mrs. Houser met Leon in Dove Creek, Colo. where she visited with her father, G. C. Hartman. She was accompanied to Dove Creek from Albuquerque by a sister, Mrs. Buddy Witherspoon and a niece, Mrs. Leon Hennington.

Denice Hartman returned to Friona with Mrs. Houser and Leon to visit for a week.

come to church sunday

There was a man of Faith who was visiting with a young man of about 25 years of age in a great factory one day. He was seeking to witness to him about Jesus. The young man was on the defensive and stated, "Did you ever see Jesus?" "No," was the older man's answer. "Then you are basing your faith on something you have never seen, something just handed down to you," said the young man. "Did you ever see the electricity that runs this huge machinery?" asked the older man. "No," was the reply. "Did you ever see anyone who did?" came the next question. "No," again came back in reply. "By the same token, Jesus is real although invisible. One day I met Jesus and had a real experience with Him, and new energy surged through my soul and my life," was the final testimony of the older man.

The Bible states that "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." The Bible further tells of great men of Faith who dared for the Lord. Many, although they had never seen Jesus, yet believed and trusted and evidenced Faith in God. Faith that overcomes is a Faith that Dares. Noah's venture was a venture in Faith. Abraham was a man of Faith. Joshua and Caleb came back with daring reports, because theirs was a Faith that dares. "If ye shall have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you shall say to this mountain, be ye moved and cast into the depths of the sea." There are many mountains about us today which need moving, but it will require Faith; and this must be a Faith that dares.

M. Wiley, pastor of the church. Mrs. Magness, youth director of the church, will direct youth activities each night at 7 o'clock, preceding the services. Sandwiches will be served.

All young people of Friona are invited to attend this Christian fellowship, the pastor says. The youth will also occupy the choir each night, he says. Sunday, the young people will teach classes and give devotionals in the different departments. Helen Stowers has been appointed to make arrangements for teachers and officers.

Two Friona Boys To Attend Camp

Exciting dreams of summer camps will come true for two boys from Friona. These boys have been selected by the local Salvation Army Service Unit Committee, and will be two of more than 2,000 youths who will each enjoy a full week of camp activities at The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle near Dallas.

During the summer season, thirteen weekly camps will be conducted, with each session accommodating about 175 youths. The local campers will depart on June 18, returning on June 25th.

Ben Moorman, camp chairman for Friona has selected the boys to attend the camp. Local boys attending are Harold Walker & David Pipes. They will be driven to and from the camp by Moorman.

Camp Hoblitzelle is located on a beautiful wooded tract of 340 acres, seven miles south of Midlothian and eight miles west of Waxahachie, and within an hour's drive of Dallas. At the camp are well-arranged, well-equipped playgrounds for all boys' sports, a swimming pool, a lake for boating and fishing, organized sports under the direction of experienced coaches -- everything to bring happiness and realization to the dreams and hopes of growing boys.

The boys will be housed in the camp's attractive brick and redwood cabins. Meals, prepared by expert chefs and designed to meet the physical needs of healthy growing youngsters, will be served in the camp's own dining room.

Camp Hoblitzelle was made possible through the generous gifts of more than one hundred men and women of Texas. Their gifts provided money for the purchase of the land, buildings and other improvements made there. The camp is operated by The Salvation Army for the benefit of boys who, without their help, would not have the opportunity to enjoy the wholesome atmosphere of camp life.

In Friona, The Salvation Army is supported by the United Fund.

Linda Renfro-Jackie Oldham Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Wedding vows for Linda Renfro, daughter of Lee Renfro and Mrs. Mildred Renfro of Hereford, and Jackie Oldham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oldham of Amarillo, were read in the home of the bride's mother at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 8. Rev. B. L. David, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hereford, performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar decorated in cascades of greenery interspersed with sweet peas. Large baskets of orchid gladioli and pyramids of candelabra completed the decorations.

TEL Class

Met Monday

Mesdames J. W. McMahan, Vernon Roberts, Leonard Haws and John Wright were hostesses for the TEL Class of the First Baptist Church that met Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Frank Truitt presented a devotional and Mrs. Roy Miller conducted the business meeting.

Miss Jere Buske, singing two numbers, and Miss Janet Smith, accompanist, were special guests.

Salad plates and iced tea were served by the hostesses to Mesdames Miller, Ralph Taylor, Ross Terry, Lloyd Prewett, J. T. Carroll, Ed Duke, Frank Truitt and Jere Buske and Janet Smith.

Mrs. Ray Vickers and son, Richard, of Hot Springs, Ark. and Mrs. Neil Osborn, Hope, Ark. were recent guests in the homes of the Claude Osborns and the Sloan Osborns. They attended the wedding of their niece, Sally, while here.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarland C. Osborn and Paige visited with relatives in Vernon last week.

Visiting with Mrs. Tom Lewellen Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Foust Roe of Richmond, Calif. and Mrs. Lester Odum of Quahan.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white faille dress with satin flocking and carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas atop a white Bible. Her shoulder length veil fell from a white hat of satin and lace.

Miss Connie Renfro, the maid of honor, wore a ballerina length dress of white pima mist and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Jimmy Oldham, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Renfro, mother of the bride, wore a beige silk dress and corsage of red rosebuds. The groom's mother, Mrs. Oldham, wore a white arnel cotton dress and corsage of pink and white carnations.

Candlelighters were aunts of the bride. Guests were registered by Alice Callaway.

The serving table at the reception was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of orchid sweet peas. A miniature bride and groom atop the wedding cake were surrounded by white rosebuds with orchid centers. Cake and punch were served by Paula Moore, Linda Edwards and Terry Smith.

Following a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Oldham, both 1961 graduates of Hereford High School, will be at home in Alice, Texas.

Oldham, a former student of Friona High School, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Foister Rector.

Three Sentenced In Dist. Court

Judge E. A. Bills tried and sentenced three men in district court criminal cases last week at Farwell. All three men pleaded guilty as charged.

Roy Armstrong, Pampa, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary for forging and passing a check at Holiday Store in Farwell last fall.

James Franklin Green was also sentenced to three years for a car theft which occurred about a year ago.

Morgan Smith, 20, of Clovis was given three years probated sentence for theft of an irrigation motor five miles east of Farwell.

The sheriff's department reported one arrest during the past week.

Charles Edward McDaniel, 27, Oklahoma City, was picked up between Farwell and Bovina and charged with driving while intoxicated. He was fined $150 by County Judge Loyde Brewer and was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

When his sentence is served, McDaniel will be turned over to the sheriff of Dallas County to face a bond forfeiture charge.

The wheat harvest is moving along in spite of the weather, and the USDA goes out on a limb and says that the wheat production this year will be one billion, 340-million bushels. This will add at least 125-million bushels to a record reserve and surplus.

The House Agriculture Committee is supposed to be working on proposals for an emergency program for next year. A new program would have to be submitted to a grower referendum in July.

It appears, likely, now, that next year's program may be patterned after the feed grain program. It would require growers to reduce planting allotments ten per cent below present minimums. It also may give growers the option of retiring an additional 30 per cent. Payments would be made on the idled land. Price supports could be raised from the present national average of $1.78 a bushel to around $2.05 per bushel.

Two men were discussing a friend's bad luck at the races. "It's funny," commented one of them, "Frank is a demon at cards but he can't win a bet at the track."

"That's not so funny," the other said. "He can't shuffle the horses."

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Wheat Stubble Rich In Organic Matter; Should Be Preserved

FARMER COUNTY'S POTATO CROP is looking good in the Friona area, and farmers are hopeful for high yields. This field is located on the Hardy May farm south of Friona, and is part of the 425 acres in the area. Harvest is expected to get under way soon after July 1.

As combines move into the fields to harvest the wheat and barley crop, once again farmers will be confronted with what to do with the remaining stubble.

The heavy excess straw does present a problem, especially to those farmers who need to get the land ready for another small grain crop this fall.

But even though it is a problem, that crop residue is valuable in that it is rich in organic matter and it should be worked back into the soil. Research specialists point out that the advantages of plowing under the stubble are: (1) It maintains the organic matter content of the soil which facilitates water penetration by improving the tilth and structure of the soil, (2) it returns plant food to the soil, (3) it makes for better aeration of the soil, and (4) it aids in prevention of disease.

Joe Jones, Farmer County agent, and Bob Crozier, of the Soil Conservation Service, advise farmers who need to get the land ready for fall planting, to apply nitrogen on the stubble as soon as possible and plow it under.

The fertilizer speeds up the decaying of the crop residue, and thus aids in getting the seed bed in good shape again.

This method of handling the stubble takes some time and effort, but is well worth it, Jones and Crozier point out.

It is far better to plow it under than to burn the stubble, a practice which has been increasing in recent years, because with irrigation and fertilization, the high-yielding wheat fields leave a heavy, thick stubble which is hard to work back into the ground.

Burning off the stubble does have several temporary advantages, in that the fire kills weeds and insects, the charred remains have the immediate effect of released potash, and the burning makes it easier to get the land ready for fall planting.

However, these benefits are only temporary, and it is pointed out that the long-range effects of the burning are far more damaging to the soil than any of the immediate effects are beneficial.

The growing of any crop draws valuable organic matter out of the soil and it is necessary to return as much of it as possible back into the ground.

Research tests have shown that burning stubble for a period of five years resulted in a considerable reduction in wheat yields as well as crops used in rotation. The loss in production from continuous burning of stubble over a period of time is very high.

The county agent says there will be less reason to burn stubble this year than in years past, due to the new feed grains which is in effect this year.

Lay-out acreage from the program can be summer fallowed and can be planted to small grain this fall. This will lessen the need for farmers having to rush to get the wheat ground ready for fall planting.

If he can plant his lay-out acreage to wheat, the farmer will have more time to take care of the wheat stubble. Rather than getting it ready for fall planting, he should be able to work the soil longer and get it ready for planting some other crop next spring.

Properly managed residues should be worked into the soil surface and this will serve a dual purpose. It will protect the soil from erosion and provide organic matter for plant growth and crop production.

Repay your soil part of what you borrow from it by making a deposit of crop residue.

Committee, Council Set Summer Activities

The 4-H Committee and 4-H Girls Council met recently in the District Courtroom in Farwell. Plans were made to schedule the 4-H summer activities.

County 4-H Dress Revue was set for July 14 with location to be announced later. Judging of the garments on the girls will be at 9:00 a.m. In order that parents, friends and guests may attend, the Dress Revue will be held at 8:30 p.m.

Committees volunteered for decorations and refreshments. All girls will bring one dozen cookies and Lazbuddie 4-H Girls will be responsible for the punch. If the revue is in Havana the girls of the Jr. Leadership Club will decorate the stage. If held in Friona the Friona 4-H Girls will be in charge of decorations.

County 4-H Bake Show will be held the same day as the Girls' Recreation. Bake Show will begin at 1:30 p.m. for registration and display of cinnamon rolls and muffins.

While these foods are judged the girls will go swimming. Afterwards the ribbons will be presented to each girl and high scored foods observed and discussed.

The group will then have a cook-out in a local community center. Planned games will be led by each of the girls' clubs. All girls will spend the night inside the community center. Following breakfast in the morning the camp will be dismissed.

Council decided to not participate in a County or District Favorite Foods Show this year. Following all the lessons conducted by trained leaders the girls will be ready for next year.

Nine 4-H council members from each of the 6 clubs were present. These present were Reba Lesly of Farwell Girls 4-H Club, Linda Schilling and Alice Duran of Friona Sr. 4-H Club Girls, Wanda Huddleston of Rhea 4-H Girls, 4-H Club, Katie Blackstone and Judy Koelzer of Lazbuddie Sr. 4-H Club Girls, Carolyn Anear of Lazbuddie Jr. 4-H Club Girls, and Sherri Tannahill of Friona Jr. 4-H Club Girls.

Adult leaders attending were Mrs. Leon Billingsley, Mrs. L. H. Schilling, Mrs. Glenn Anear, Mrs. U. L. Lesly, Mrs. C. W. Tannahill, and Mrs. Joe Jesko, and home demonstration agent, Miss Ettie Musil.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

There is a very poor farming practice that is usually carried on in Farmer county. This is the practice of burning residue from wheat and barley.

This practice burns up valuable organic matter which is scarce even on those farms where the residue is properly managed. Organic matter is necessary for bacteria to feed on and those bacteria are what makes plant nutrients available for plant growth.

Properly managed residues should be worked into the soil surface and this will serve a dual purpose. It will protect the soil from erosion and provide organic matter for plant growth and crop production.

Repay your soil part of what you borrow from it by making a deposit of crop residue.

Mrs. J.T. Guinn Hostess For June Club Meeting

Mrs. J. T. Guinn was hostess for the June meeting of Kinsley Past Matron's Club recently.

New officers to serve for 1961-62 are Mrs. R. W. Ginsburg, president; Mrs. Mack Bainum, vice-president; Mrs. Pearl Kinsley, secretary; Mrs. Ed. Bogges, treasurer, and Mrs. Claude Miller, reporter.

Mrs. Ginsburg presented the devotional and conducted the business meeting. It has been the practice of the Past Matron's Club to give each incoming Worthy Matron of Friona Chapter No. 990 Order of the Eastern Star a gift at the time of her installation. Members voted to present Mrs. R. B. McKee with a record book especially designed for Worthy Matrons. It was voted into the constitution and by-laws that a similar record book would be an annual gift to each incoming Worthy Matron.

Mrs. M. B. Buchanan, a charter member who had resigned several years ago, was accepted as a member again.

Pressed chicken, hot rolls, chocolate cake and ice cream were served to Mesdames Bogges, Bert Chitwood, Earl Chester, R. W. Ginsburg, Kinsley, Miller and Mrs. Daley, mother of Mrs. Guinn.

Mrs. Earl Chester will be hostess for a July meeting and will present the devotional.

Sunday Dinner Honors Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams were hosts at a family dinner in their home Sunday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Troy Harrell and daughter, Karen, of Nampa, Idaho.

The Harrells have been guests in the homes of Mrs. Ethel Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams several days. Mrs. Harrell is a niece of Mrs. Ethel Adams.

Others present for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Casey Adams of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Weeks, Waymon Wilkins, Jerry Hinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Ashford Hill.

Reunion Planned For Girl Staters

Announcement has been made of a reunion of all former Citizens of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State at the Colonial Cafeteria in Wolfen Village in Amarillo at 6 p. m. Friday, June 30.

Each former Citizen of Bluebonnet Girls State is requested to be present. She is also asked to invite her husband or escort to accompany her. Arrangements have been made by Mrs. R. L. Layman of Hereford, Mary Behrends of Dimmitt and Mrs. Jack W. Flynt also of Dimmitt.

Mrs. Flynt, 18th District Girls State Chairman for the 18th Congressional District of the American Legion Auxiliary, request that all former citizens send their name, both maiden and married, and present mailing address to her. She would also appreciate having the name of the city or town which the girl represented.

This information should be sent to Mrs. Jack W. Flynt, 1005 Lee Street, Dimmitt, Texas.

Mrs. Lucy Welch, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson of Belton are vacationing in the mountains north of Pecos.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. ■ The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. ■ You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you! Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. ■ You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

AFCO The Only FLAME CULTIVATOR

With The Self Vaporizing Liquid Burners

Advantages Of FLAME CULTIVATION

When used as recommended, Flame Cultivation provides the cotton, corn, and soybean farmer with the most economical and effective weed control known today.

Insects are controlled to the extent that all on the ground are destroyed when flame hits them, cutting down on the use of insecticides.

Most weed seeds that will germinate are within about 1/4" of the top of the ground; and unless something disturbs the ground (such as hand hoeing), new seed will not be turned up out of the ground. Your "AFCO" Flame Cultivator gives you a definite advantage here, as it not only leaves the ground undisturbed, but burns up weed seeds that land on the ground from other sources.

Flame Cultivation may be used as often as desired to control weeds without harming the crop.

Your "AFCO" Flame Cultivator consumes residue weeds and ground leaves. This will help when harvest time comes. Cotton pickers and harvesting machines will not be clogged and thrown out of adjustment by this common trash cause.

Santa Fe Launches New Bindweed Attack

Representatives of Santa Fe Railroad have returned to Farmer County for the second straight year to renew their fight against bindweed along the railway right-of-way. Ronald E. Mock, of Santa Fe's division engineers, and a two-man crew were in Farmer County Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week spreading Benzabor, a dry acid, on spots of bindweed missed last year and new ones that had been located by the county weed control committee. Santa Fe undertook the bindweed fight for the first time last year, and of the areas treated, "we got from 75 per cent to 90 per cent kill," Mock says. Mock and a representative of the Borax Company, manufacturers of Benzabor, came back several months after the first application was made last year and checked the effectiveness of the weed killer. Mock has kept a map of all the areas treated, the conditions under which the chemical was applied, and how effective the bindweed program has been. He estimates that after five years, Santa Fe can have a complete kill on all bindweed on the railroad right-of-way in the county. Last year 900 pounds of Benzabor was applied to five acres, and this year Santa Fe is applying about 700 pounds. The dry acid is applied with a PCB spreader, strapped to a person's shoulder. It will carry a 25-pound bag of the compound and cover an area from 8 to 10 feet wide. Santa Fe is carrying on the bindweed control program, is co-operating with the Farmer County Weed Control Committee. The weed committee, of which J. T. Jones of Bovina is chairman, locates the weed and makes a chart of the right-of-way so that the railroad engineers will have little trouble finding it. The weed control committee has been carrying on its fight against bindweed for eight years, attempting to educate farmers and other interested persons on the harmful effects of the noxious weed. Besides the railroad, other groups cooperating in the program have been the state highway department, Farmer County Commissioners Court, the ASC office, city commissions in the county, and other groups. Many farmers have undertaken weed control efforts on their individual farms, and all in all, the entire program has been effective. However, a great deal of work remains to be done, especially on many individual farms, say representatives of the committee. Bindweed, if it goes untreated, will expand one-third its original size in one year.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

JOE JONES

Cotton is a little ragged and is not as healthy as we would like. It looks a little rough to you, just stop and remember this time last year and you will feel a lot better. As a whole way ahead of last year. THIRIP control continues and with some hot nights we would be off to a good cotton year. More farmers are using early season insect control programs this year to get cotton off to the best start possible. The early season program here is directed primarily toward THIRIP and Fleahopper control to get the young plants started and set the first fruit the plant puts on. The late season control program should be primarily to protect fruit on the plant and to insure continued fruiting until the plant can hold no more fruit. Keep in mind the early season insect control program should be discontinued at least 30 days prior to the expected build up of the cotton bollworm. The bollworm usually begins to build up here and about the third or fourth week in July. This means we should discontinue the early season control program the last part of June unless the THIRIP and Fleahopper are still found in damaging numbers. Where early season programs have been carried out effectively the THIRIP and Fleahopper population should be low enough in late June that we could discontinue poisoning for these two cotton pests. Check your field close 3 or 4 times a week and know what is happening out there. I was discussing the new Barn loan program with Archie Tarter, Chairman of the County A.S.C. Committee, the other day and I feel he and the committee have taken a very good attitude toward the farmers use of this loan. If you need a barn I'd suggest you discuss it with Mr. Mills and the committee. This program looks rather attractive to me if you could make use of such construction on your farm. I have just received a good publication from the office of civil defense on the Family Fallout Shelter. If you are considering new construction you should take a look at it before you build. This type shelter will also serve as another room, storage, and storm shelter. Yes, it has many uses and may be needed one of these times. The publication is free for the asking, just call or come by. I am leaving Saturday for Colorado State University, Fort Collins, Colorado, where I'll attend the Western Regional Extension School for three weeks. I plan to take two courses, "Agricultural Marketing for Extension Workers," and "Principals in the Development of Agricultural Policy." I'll be back in my office July 10, but in the meantime my secretary and Miss Musil will be able to help you out with most things, so don't fall to call on them. Mr. Ronald Mock with the Santa Fe Railroad was by my office Monday morning to let us know he is here poisoning Field Bindweed on Santa Fe property. I wonder just how many of you who own land or are charged with the responsibility of land here in the county are making plans to rid this land of field bindweed in 1961. This is something for us all to consider whether we own or control farm land, right-of-ways, or city property.

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

Help, help.

We've been invaded. Now don't stop now with panic, but read on. Have you ever seen such a sight in your life? Yes, I'm talking about the black and orange harlequin cabbage bugs. This insect is taking over turnips, mustard, radishes, and cabbage. Oh, and we can't over look them in lilac bushes, elm, and ash trees. Just to be safe, look for them in your garden, flower beds, and trees. Since the harlequin cabbage bug is a sucking insect you will need to use 5% malathion. Follow directions on the label for chemical and water proportions. Be very careful not to spill any of the spray on your skin. If the spray settles on you, or your skin, wash it off immediately. A lady once told me that her husband broke out in blisters and was a very sick man because he did not follow the caution when handling insecticides.

When spraying mustard and turnip greens, cabbage and radishes with malathion wait 7 days before harvesting any of the greens or vegetable. Remember the cranberry scare. After 7 days be sure to wash the vegetables very carefully, rinsing a number of times. If your garden or shrubs are bothered with insects, write, call or come by for two very good bulletins "Controlling Insects on Vegetable Crops" and "Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants."

If you can't identify the insects, you can follow an easy rule for controlling insects. If the insect sucks on the tender leaves or stems spray with malathion, lindane, or toxaphene. Don't use toxaphene on garden vegetables when edible portions begin to form. Sucking insects could include thrips, aphids, spider mites, whiteflies, lace bugs, and mealy bugs.

For leaf eating insects such as ants, blister beetles, bagworms, webworms, grasshoppers, crickets, armyworms, and leaf beetles use other chemicals. These insecticides would include dieldrin, aldrin, and chlordane. For bark and wood boring insects use DDT sprays. More information is described in these insect control bulletins.

South African Lad Learns Parmer County Irrigation

Peter Hewlett, a young farmer from South Rhodesia, British crown colony in South Africa, passed up a chance for a college education to come to the United States to study cattle feeding operations.

For the past year he has been earning his keep, and learning some of the feeding and farming operations of his American counterparts, by working as a farm and ranch hand at various places throughout the country.

He came to Parmer County from Lubbock about two weeks ago and since that time has been learning about irrigation on the farm of Keith Brock, four miles southwest of Friona.

When he landed in the U. S. on May 26, 1960, the 20-year-old Hewlett first went to work on a farm in Vermont. He stayed there for four months, later toured much of the Midwest and went to California, then came to Texas where he worked on a ranch in South Texas and at Leuders Feed Lot in Lubbock.

Hewlett, son of a farmer and rancher in South Rhodesia, plans to leave for Missouri this week end where he will work on a ranch for two months, and then continue on to New York where he plans to sail for home in September.

When he returns to his homeland, Hewlett hopes to put to good use on his father's farm the things he has learned in the United States.

Here in Parmer County, the young farmer has been mostly concerned about applying irrigation water to farmland, but has also been driving the tractor is ranchland, and about 1,800 acres are used for growing corn.

His father's ranch is small in comparison to the average ranch in South Rhodesia, which Hewlett says, normally are from 50,000 acres up. However, his farm land, is comparatively large.

The average yield on corn, Hewlett says, is around 40 bushels per acre, "but if we had some way of watering the crop during the two hot summer months of March and April, we could probably produce 100 bushels per acre."

He points out that there is plenty of rain during January and February, the early part of the growing season, "but then it just quits."

In March and April, when the crop is reaching maturity, there is a drought and the corn suffers.

That's why Hewlett hopes the irrigation knowledge he picks up on Brock's farm here in Parmer County will help in getting an irrigation project under way when he gets home.

There is plenty of water on his father's farm, especially since 6,000 acres of it was recently included as part of a 45-mile lake. The lake was built jointly by the government and a citrus company which recently started a farming operation there.

Hewlett hopes that something can be worked out whereby he and his father can irrigate their crops with water from the lake.

There is also an ample supply of underground water in South Rhodesia, but irrigation has never been developed, Hewlett says. The reason is due largely to the fact that there is no well-drilling equipment capable of handling an irrigation well similar to those here on the Plains.

The average depth to water in South Rhodesia is around 120 feet, Hewlett says, and most of the domestic wells are four inches in diameter. There is no equipment for drilling larger ones, and it would be quite expensive to acquire any, and assisting Brock with other farming operations.

Cattle feeding and irrigation are a couple of farming practices which most farmers in South Rhodesia know little about, but Hewlett thinks they would greatly benefit his country.

Both cattle and farming play a dominant role in providing the citizens of South Rhodesia with their livelihood, but periodic droughts keep them from achieving maximum benefit from the two industries, Hewlett says.

There has never been any supplemental feeding of cattle in Hewlett's country, and farmers there depend solely upon grazing land for fattening their animal for market.

Grazing land in South

Rhodesia is good throughout much of the year, but during the winter months, which are from June to October, the grass dries up and the cattle suffer, Hewlett says.

Cattle lose on the average of 350 pounds during these months, and it takes half of the summer for them to gain it back, he says, adding that if something can be worked out to feed the cattle during these months, the cattle business will be more profitable.

Because the country grows a surplus of corn, the number one crop there, Hewlett hopes that what he has learned here will enable him to start a supplemental feeding program on his father's place when he returns.

On his father's 13,000 acre farm, about 11,000 acres

CHECKING OUT A WHEAT FILLD are Keith Brock, left and his foreign guest, Peter Hewlett. The young farmer from South Africa has been in Parmer County learning some of the methods of High Plains farming.

he says. Besides growing corn and raising cattle, another phase of the operation at the Brucehame Estate, the name of the Hewlett farm and ranch, is dairy cattle. His father has a good-sized dairy herd and some hay is grown for feed.

It is crops such as hay and alfalfa that farmers in South Rhodesia do irrigate some, "but we do it by flooding and with a sprinkler system," Hewlett explains.

There is no open ditch, tube irrigation like that done on the Plains.

"By adapting the open-ditch irrigation like you have here, we should be able to save a lot of water," Hewlett says.

Brock says that Hewlett does make "a good hand" and he catches on fast. "When I first put him on a tractor, I made the first round with him and he took it from there," Brock says.

"He can now make just as straight a row as I can," Brock adds.

How did Hewlett happen to go to work for Brock here in Parmer County?

While he was working on a

American Consul in his country. The consul in turn contacted the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the USDA made arrangements for some of Hewlett's first jobs.

Other jobs were those which he found on his own after he arrived.

Hewlett's father paid for his trip over and will also finance the trip home, but during his stay here Hewlett has financed his travels and his room and board with money earned at his various jobs.

He says that his stay in the U. S. has been interesting and educational, "but I am looking forward to going home."

A buddy who came along with Hewlett returned to South Rhodesia last November.

Of all the places he has visited in the U. S., Hewlett says "I like Texas best," and he hastily adds, "I'm not saying that just to be polite."

He says that the people here have all been friendly, and the climate here, "especially in South Texas, is much like that at home."

South Rhodesia is only about $5 per acre.

Average rainfall is 26 inches per year.

South Rhodesia is still an English colony, but Hewlett says the country hopes to gain its independence in the near future.

Of Parmer County, Hewlett says, "I have been impressed with the area, and from what I can see, irrigation has been the reason for the growth of the area. I think that my country could also prosper from irrigation such as you have here."

My Baby Draws Up Her Toes When I Try To Put Her Shoes On. Any Suggestions?

I have heard of one sure cure" It works--sometimes. Holding the leg straight by grasping the knee, your fingers behind the knee cause the foot to relax in much the same way as placing your finger under your nose stops a sneeze. That doesn't always work either.

In the store we find that most shoe - fighting babies stop fighting when we put on larger shoes. It is not the shoes that babies dislike but the smallness of them.

Your baby can't explain reasons for disliking her shoes but they are her feet and she is probably a good authority on the question of whether or not her toes are cramped.
