Two Injured In Rural Accidents In April

The Highway Patrol investigated 11 rural accidents in Parmer County during the month of April according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons injured and property damage of $5,065.

The rural accident summary for Parmer County from January through April of 1963 shows a total of 41 crashes resulting in no fatal accidents, six persons injured and an estimated property damage of $16,539.

If you travel the rural roads this month, you will meet up with lots of slow moving farm machinery. The Patrol Supervisor reminds motorists to be ready to slow down in plenty of time to avoid collision and pass only if you are sure you can do it successfully and safely. Remember too, where there is a farm house, there is a driveway-even though it may be hidden from view. So be prepared to yield, if you must, to traffic entering and leaving. Yielding right-of-way costs you nothing. Demanding it can cost you an accident.

The Sergeant also stated, "Owners of boat trailers should check to see that they meet the State's Motor Vehicle Laws. If they do not you are asking for an arrest or an accident or both. Every time you take your trailer on the road, make sure all warning and safety devices are working properly. Check especially the lights, and the strength of hitch and coupling. It is a good idea to make additional checks whenever you make a stop."

This Week Proclaimed Texas "Highway Week"

"Highway Week" in Texas was today announced by a gubernatorial proclamation which urged Texans not to rest on their highway laurels--but to keep a wary eye on the road ahead.

Highway Week is to be observed in Texas and nationally during the dates May 26-June 1. The proclamation urged "every citizen to view with concern the needs incurred by increasing population and traffic, to support a sustained improvement program, and to improve standards of driving safety."

Governor John Connally signed the proclamation today in the presence of the Texas Highway Commission and State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer. Herbert C. Petry Jr. is Chairman of the Highway Commission while Hal Woodward and J. H. Kuitgen are members. The proclamation declared that "today's Texas highway system is contributing immeasurably to the future growth potential of the economy of the state" and paid tribute to the Texas Highway Department.

Ode to tax collectors
They say you can't take it with you
But be of good cheer.
You can't even keep it
While you are here--C.T.

Added axioms
The sky used to be the limit.

"The Highway Department is to be commended for its accomplishments in an effort to keep pace with the ever-increasing flood of traffic."

But a note of concern was sounded, keyed to expanding highway needs. . . . the very growth of the state's economy has posed future highway needs of a serious nature," the proclamation pointed out, "since the state's population has increased by 25 per cent since 1950. The state now has more than five million registered motor vehicles, and the miles traveled by these vehicles now total well in excess of 40 billion a year."

Something To Think About
6th. Street Church of Christ
Box 515 -- Friona, Texas

The conduct of some professed Christians has become a stumbling block and a contributing factor to the unbelief of many, and is used by them as a justification for their failure to believe. They point to the division among Christians and claim that the Bible cannot be true because it supports such conflicting doctrines as are advocated by various religious bodies; all of which claim that the Bible teaches their doctrine. That the division and conflicting doctrines exist none can deny, but in spite of their claims, the Bible does not support conflicting doctrines. (Eph.4:1-6) It is divinely promised that Christianity should never be destroyed but there is no promise that it would be kept free from corruption. Even under the watchful attention of inspired men, there were false teachers who crept into the church and endeavored to pervert the gospel of Christ. The apostolic writings speak clearly of damnable heresies, of a falling away, of the fact that some would not "endure sound doctrine; but after their own lust shall heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears . . ." (2 Tim.4:1-4) Paul said that there would be those who would pervert the gospel (Gal.1:7) and a fulfillment of these predictions accounts for the division among Christians. But notice, the cause of this division is not the Bible but false teachers who pervert the teaching of the Bible. They and their followers will not inherit the home of the soul.

come to church sunday

DEVOTIONAL
Last Sunday was the day observed by millions as Mothers Day. Many lovely greeting cards were mailed, gifts were given, and trips were made that Mother would be honored. Yet, this writer cannot help believing that many were slack in this small way of showing our love to Mother.

We have lived to see a thankless generation of people who, in many instances are very unhappy. They see no reason to say thanks to anyone earthly or heavenly. The Bible gives the warning in II Timothy 3:1-2 "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boastful, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy."

Let us take this warning from the scriptures and make very sure that our lives escape the snare of selfish living. Christ is still the answer to the problems of life. Why not let Him give you something that will make your life a blessing. Be sure to attend church this Lords' Day.

Valedictory, Salutatory Texts Presented

Valedictory Address

(Editor's Note: The valedictory and salutatory addresses, given last Thursday at graduation exercises at Friona High School, are reprinted so that those who were unable to attend might share the excellent messages presented by the two top students in the graduating class)

By Janet Buckley

Parents, Teachers, Friends, & Classmates:

There are many great and wonderful words common to all mankind, but perhaps the greatest, the most far-reaching in its implication and influence on history -- from the very beginning of time is the word freedom.

Sharon has mentioned what freedom means to us on a personal, every-day living level. I should like to comment on some of the more universal aspects of the word.

A famous American once said:

In the future days which we seek to make secure, we look forward to a world founded upon four essential human freedoms.

The first is freedom of speech and expression -- everywhere in the world.

Our nation, The United States of America, is one of the few that recognizes this freedom. We have the right to say anything, anytime, anywhere so long as it is not treasonous toward our government or derogatory toward our fellowman, and we also have the right to express our opinions either verbally or in writing on any known subject. Unfortunately this is not true where tyranny and dictatorships prevail.

The second is freedom of every person to worship God in his own way -- everywhere in the world. This was the basic reason for the colonization of our country. The early colonists came over seeking freedom from religious oppression, and today we are able to realize this freedom to the fullest extent. In Russia people would jeer at you if you went to church and worshipped. They would tell you that there was no God. The Communist have turned their churches into museums and instead of having church youth rallies they encourage their youth to make public displays against the older ones that still worship.

Our founding fathers considered these two freedoms so important that they proclaimed them with great rhetoric in the Declaration of Independence and with flaming pride in the Constitution of the United States.

The third freedom is freedom from want -- which, translated into world terms, means economic understandings which will secure to every nation a healthy peacetime life for its inhabitants -- everywhere in the world. The perpetration of this freedom is the basic purpose of our foreign aid. We send food to the hungry, clothing to the needy, medicines to the ill, and many things to those less fortunate than we. This is good, but let's stop and think -- what does freedom from want really mean? For some, all their want is based on material wealth. They seem never to be satisfied with what they have, and they are continually seeking more. But, so far as others are concerned, all they want is a warm smile from other nations and people to be polite and concerned about them as free individuals. Is this really too difficult for us to do? The real treasures of life are not the material things, but things such as honor, integrity, and respect.

The fourth is freedom from fear -- which, translated into world terms, means a worldwide reduction of armaments to, such a point and in such a thorough fashion that no nation will be in a position to commit an act of physical aggression against any neighbor -- anywhere in the world . . .

We have fought another war since the time that Franklin Roosevelt made this great statement and we may be on the threshold of another. Whether or not this war be fought and whether or not we come our safely still able to secure these four freedoms will be determined by the attitudes of the youth of America and those of other nations. The fear of war and dictatorship is great, but in America we have less to fear than other nations. It is, therefore, the American citizen's responsibility to recognize the situation and to see that this freedom is shown and carried to other nations.

What can we, the graduating class of 1963, do to maintain these freedoms in America and spread them throughout the world? We must exercise self reliance and maintain a determination to do what we can. We must have faith in self and in God, yet we must use our own basic intelligence. Our fundamental belief should place God first, our fellowman second, our country third, and self last. In maintaining this fundamental belief, we should be willing to put it to practice at any or all times. We must fight the great threat of communism by believing in God, teaching our children to believe in God, exercising our right to vote, and informing ourselves of the real issues of the day and the real threats which face us. We must exercise our basic American rights but not abuse them, for as another American once said, "no man has the right to do as he pleases unless he pleases to do right."

It is my earnest hope that in the days to come my fellow-classmates and I may prove worthy of the supreme task ahead -- the preservation of freedom for our own countrymen and the further establishment of it throughout the world.

Salutatory Address

By Sharon Reeve

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The honor has come to me to speak as salutatorian of the Senior Class of 1963 and to welcome you to participate in our graduation ceremony. In addition to simply greeting you, I wish to discuss how we may use the freedom which is a part of our birthright.

We have done quite a lot of hard work for our grades and for school activities and sports. But it is true that much of what we are and how we live has come without any effort on our part. It is a heritage for which we are extremely grateful.

We have been taught to regard our freedom highly. We are grateful for our freedom to gather in our school auditorium tonight to participate in our graduation exercises before our parents and friends. There are no guards at our doors. We did not have to get permission from the government to come here. There are no spies in our midst to be critical of what we say. We can be thankful we have this use of freedom.

We are also glad we can use our freedom to learn. We can read and listen to many different political views. We can hear the news of our country and the world from many different reporters. We can read newspapers and books from any nation in the world. These liberties are not allowed in many nations.

We have also been given a respect and appreciation for our United States citizenship. Until now we have enjoyed the benefits of citizenship in a care-free manner without too much thought of the obligation involved. Today we join those who have already gone out to assume the responsibilities of citizenship.

Regardless of the kind of work we are given to do, we can read and study and decide what is right. And we can take a stand for this. We are grateful that we have the opportunity to work for what we decide is right.

We want to use our freedom to be kind, thoughtful, and considerate in our relations with our friends. We want to be just and generous in our church and community activities. We hope in the use of our freedom that we can be reasonable, gentle, and helpful.

In our freedom we want to be happy and gay. We want to be lighthearted yet serious at the proper times. We want to build homes and own them. We want to preserve the past, enjoy the present, and plan for the future.

As seniors we thank you for the opportunities you have provided for us and for the precious heritage you have preserved for us.

SHERIFF'S SALE
THE STATE OF TEXAS
County of Farmer

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County, on the 7th day of May 1963, by the Clerk of said Court for the sum of One Hundred Seventy - three and 25/100ths -----Dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment, in favor of Municipal Investment Corporation in a certain cause in said Court, No 41560 and styled MUNICIPAL INVESTMENT CORPORATION vs J. W. WRIGHT and GLADYS WRIGHT, placed in my hands for service, I, CHARLES LOVELACE as Sheriff of Farmer County, Texas, did, on the 10th day of May, 1963, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Farmer County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: The West 15 feet of Lot Four (4), and all of Lots Five (5), Six (6), and Seven (7), Block Two (2), Original Town (also known as Old Town) Addition to the City of Bovina.

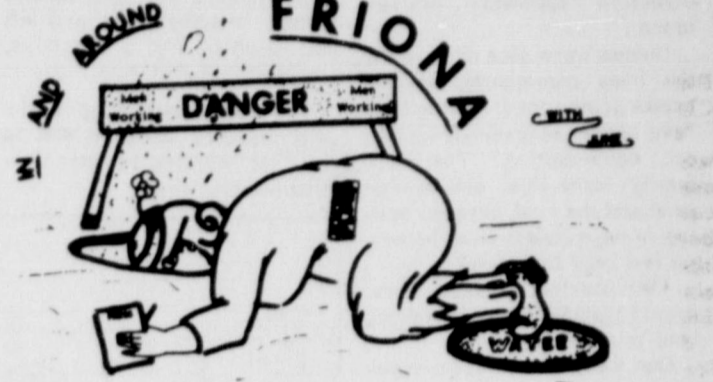

Farmer County, Texas; and levied upon as the property of J. W. WRIGHT and wife GLADYS WRIGHT and that on the first Tuesday in July, 1963, the same being the 2nd day of said month, at the Court House door of Farmer County, in the City of Farwell Texas, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. W. WRIGHT and wife GLADYS WRIGHT.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Friona Star, a newspaper published in Farmer County.

Witness my hand, this 10th day of May, 1963.

CHARLES LOVELACE
Sheriff, Farmer County, Texas.

Published in the Friona Star May 16, 23, 30 and June 6, 1963.

"When it rains, it pours," "One extreme follows another," and maybe another adage or two have been proven beyond a doubt the past week or so. Tuesday afternoon areas of Farmer County that hadn't had an inch of rain in several months received up to eight or nine inches in less than an hour. Water has been standing several days in fields that had not had enough rain to settle the dust in months and months. Farmers who were enjoying having a fine early start of cotton and maize and expecting fair returns from wheat crops in spite of extremely cold weather during the winter have headed in exactly the opposite direction. Their wheat was harvested in a very short time, but instead of receiving the fair returns they were expecting from time, labor and money invested, they have a bright future for "next year" if weather doesn't interfere again.

Acres and acres of cotton and maize that were up to a good stand will have to be replanted. That is, when the fields get dry enough. Many fields that were flooded Tuesday afternoon of last week received 1/2 to 1 1/2 inches of rainfall Monday of this week.

Hail damage reportedly done to homes and other buildings in the Hub community is almost unbelievable, but anyone who doubts the veracity of the damage accounts would have been convinced by a drive in that direction following the hail storm.

Homes were also damaged in the Phea community. Several crews of mending roofing work have been seen in town from other communities. The Floyd family home lost one window pane and the roof, but after seeing damage done to other homes, we felt very fortunate.

Two stories I heard were events that could have happened, but I'm sure they didn't.

One went like this: Have you seen that place where the fence posts and wire were driven into the ground by the hail until it was impossible to even see where there had been a fence?

The answer was as follows: "If you think that was bad, you should have driven by my place. The same thing happened to me Tuesday afternoon then Friday another hail storm came and beat the ground down until the posts and wire looked as if nothing had ever happened to them except that they had been put in a gully to begin with."

Several persons have inquired about the absence of Greta Mears Armstrong from commencement exercises Thursday evening. Upon doing some checking, I learned that Greta was home in bed with mumps.

For the past several months Greta has been successfully combining the jobs of being a homemaker and a high school student. After completing all requirements for graduation, mumps overtook her and left her disabled for a few days.

The poor working girl who gets married because she is tired of working is soon disillusioned.

Public Hearing On Wildlife Changes Set For Farwell

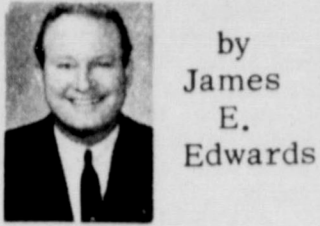

Sportsmen, landowners and others interested in wildlife conservation will have an opportunity to hear proposed hunting and fishing recommendations for the coming year at public hearings scheduled in June.

Technicians of the Game and Fish Commission will present their recommendations at meetings held in all counties presently participating in the Commission's Regulatory Authority program. These recommendations are based on actual field studies and are proposed in the interest of wildlife conservation.

Each hearing will be recorded and a summary presented to the Commissioners prior to their final regular meeting in July, when they will issue hunting and fishing proclamations for the coming season.

The public is invited to attend and participate in these hearings. Farmer County's hearing will be June 10 at the courthouse in Farwell.

If Children's Feet Do Not Hurt But Adults' Feet Do What Is The Dividing Line?

The question sounds academic but it is really amazing how many young fathers tell us that they wore ill-fitting shoes for years with no discomfort afoot. The first symptom was pain in the knees. A fortunate few investigated the knee pain in time to prevent irreparable damage to their feet.

Girls are more fortunate. Their feet hurt earlier. The bones of girls' feet harden at an earlier age and exert more pressure on soft tissue when the feet are encased in tight shoes. This is the reason for the fact that almost all teenage girls step out of their shoes at the door.

There is no definite age when feet begin to hurt but there is plenty of proof that 99.44% of the torture endured by adult foot sufferers is the direct result of ill-fitting shoes worn in childhood.

County Voting Turnout For Referendum Tops In State

Farmer County led the state in number of voters casting ballots in last week's wheat referendum, according to preliminary figures released by the State ASCS office.

Actually, there was a tie, with both Farmer County and Collin County, in north central Texas, registering exactly the same number of votes -- 1534.

These figures were compiled before county committeemen ruled on "challenge ballots." With the checking of these ballots in Farmer County, the official votes were trimmed to 1525. The corrected vote isn't known for Collin County, so it might be more or less than Farmer's total. Collin's voters no doubt include a number of 15-acre farmers, it was observed by an ASCS official.

Farmer County would no doubt be easily "tops" in percentage of eligible voters casting ballots. It was figured that there were 1687 eligible voters for the referendum, so 90.42 per cent of these went to the polls last Tuesday.

Apparently, Hale County was third in the state for total voters, with 1408 turning out. Next came Grayson, 1330; Swisher, 1289; Deaf Smith, 1128; Castro, 1079; and Floyd, 1068.

The final tabulation in Farmer County showed 918 voting for the referendum, and 607 against, or 60.2 per cent in favor of the program. This is 6.5 per cent lower than 66.7 per cent which was needed in the nationwide totals for the referendum to carry.

Besides being a record turnout for a farm referendum in the county, it was the smallest percentage of "yes" votes ever recorded. Last year's wheat vote, which narrowly won nationwide approval, passed in Farmer County with a 73.4 per cent approval.

Only two polling places in the county gave the referendum the required two-thirds majority. Bovina led the "yes" parade with 77.3 per cent of the voters favoring the program. At Hub, where 34 persons voted, 69.8 per cent cast in favor of the program.

Near two-thirds majorities were registered at Farwell and Friona, where the same percentage, 66.2, cast ballots in favor of the program.

Biggest percentage of "no" votes came at Rhea, where the measure was defeated, 26-8, or only 23.5 per cent in favor.

At Clay's Corner, the per cent favoring the program was only 35.7. At Oklahoma Lane, balloting was all even, with 34 favoring the program and 34 against.

The state as a whole voted 44.8 per cent in favor of the program. District One, of which Farmer County is a part, went in favor by a 56.1 percentage. District Two, embracing North Plains counties, had only 40.8 per cent "yes" votes, and District Three, comprised of counties directly south of Farmer County, had a favorable vote of 49.7 per cent.

Some of the voting results in other districts revealed the following information (there are 20 districts in the state): No votes were cast in District 20. Only 18 votes were cast in District 19, and all were opposed to the program. Only two votes were cast in District 16, both favoring the program.

Hailed-Out Wheat Cannot Be Termed Diverted Acres

Hailed-out wheat acreage will not qualify for diverted acreage, according to an announcement this week from the Farmer County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"We have had a number of questions concerning the use that may be made of wheat acreage that was recently lost to hail damage and we felt that we should advise everyone that this acreage will not be eligible for consideration as diverted acreage under the 1963 wheat or feed grain program," said Prentice Mills, office manager of the Farmer County ASCS.

This acreage has already been classified as wheat acreage for 1963, and may not be reclassified after May 1, it was pointed out. The acreage may be used for any other purpose that the farm operator may desire, so long as he stays within his allotted and permitted acreage on his farm.

"If a farmer has any question about the use that may be made of this hailed-out acreage or the use that may be made of his diverted acreage, please call on us for a discussion of the situation," Mills emphasized.

"A few producers are considering withdrawing from the feed grain program as a result of the hail and other adverse weather. If you are one of these people, please contact us for a discussion of the matter in order that we both understand just what we are to do," Mills concluded.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

DERYL COKER

Normally I write my column on Monday morning and it goes to press on Tuesday. The three Farmer County newspapers come out Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, so there is a two or three day lapse period that could nearly make my column obsolete as it did last week.

No one ever dreamed Tuesday May 21 would turn out like it did, and as far as I'm concerned we can do without storms of that nature. It certainly is hard for anyone to conceive or imagine the amount of hail that we received. One thing for sure, it will be easy to remember the date of the hail storm as it was the day of the wheat referendum.

Here we go again on the subject of screwworms, but I certainly feel that we must stay abreast of the whole picture, because we have spent too much money to just forget it. Anyone with any livestock should stay on the alert for infestations of screwworms.

When an infestation is located, collect 10 or more of the larvae from deep within the center of the wound and place them in a collection kit or a bottle of water or alcohol. This sample should immediately be taken to vocational agriculture teacher to bring to our office, or mail to Box 969, Mission, Texas.

All wounds should be treated and all worms killed, including any that may have dropped to the ground. Spraying every two to three weeks with Co-ral or Korlan will prevent the development of screwworm cases that could be the source of further outbreaks.

All livestockmen must give their full cooperation in order for eradication efforts in this county to succeed. The sterile fly technique of eradicating screwworms will work, but the producer-in examining his animals, collecting samples, reporting cases, treating wounds and spraying livestock plays a key role in its success.

There has been an Area Veterinarian assigned to our area, so if you think we should need him, let me know.

Rogers Voices Disinterest In New Wheat Legislation

(Editor's note: The following is an excerpt from the weekly newsletter from U. S. Congressman Walter Rogers)

NEW WHEAT LEGISLATION?

The majority of the nation's wheat growers, by their resounding "no" vote in the Wheat Referendum this week, have turned thumbs down on high prices through rigid, federally-enforced controls. Will wheat prices be depressed seriously? Will a wheat glut develop? These questions remain to be answered. The farmers had the choice of programs, if the alternative they chose works satisfactorily -- and I believe that, in view of the vote by the farmers themselves, it deserves a fair trial -- no further wheat program will be necessary.

In advance of Tuesday's referendum, I made it clear to farmers in our district that they should study all the facts before making a decision. I also notified them of my belief that no interim wheat legislation could be expected from Congress this year should the referendum fail to carry.

Already, some of those who strongly opposed a "yes" vote in the referendum are saying they believe Congress will provide new wheat legislation before this Session ends. I'm afraid they've misread the mood of the Congress, which had set up the enabling legislation under which the defeated program was proposed to the wheat growers, and also the primary political orientation of most Members of Congress.

Most Congressmen are from urban areas. My Texas colleague in Congress, Bob Poage, the chairman of the Livestock and Feed Grains Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, estimates that not more than 6 per cent of Members of Congress are from major wheat producing areas. That Congress is so heavily weighted to urban areas reflects the dramatic shift in our population over the last few years. The powerful "farm bloc" of the 1930's has been succeeded by a strong "big city bloc". Its power to control the course of legislation is growing stronger.

A study last year showed that 300 Congressional districts are urban, 137 are rural. By sections, the breakdown is as follows: South, 58 urban, 62 rural; East, 109 urban, 20 rural; Midwest, 84 urban, 45 rural; West 49 urban, 10 rural. As you can see, farm legislation must have the support of city Congressmen in order to win approval. Such is their strength in numbers, in both parties, I've discussed the situation with colleagues from big city districts. They are not now inclined to support any new wheat legislation this year. They say that if farm income suffers drastically and supplies of wheat become excessive, the Secretary of Agriculture is obligated by law to take action. He is required to establish a marketing quota for wheat and call a new referendum for no later than June 13, 1964, to establish the program for the 1965 crop.

City Congressmen realize, however, that it is an obligation of government to help prevent economic calamity. If the approval of a program calling for loose controls and low price supports threatens disaster for a substantial portion of rural America, I feel confident that these Members of Congress will be receptive to corrective proposals. It may well be that the next few months will find Congress engaged in a serious re-examination of methods of wheat production controls and support prices.

Those of us who represent major wheat production areas will watch the situation very closely. We will do all we can to see that injustices against wheat farmers by other segments of the economy are forestalled...

FOR REGION I

Lazbuddie Girl Writes Top Essay On Conservation

Linda Gleason, who was a sophomore this year at Lazbuddie High School, submitted the winning regional entry in the annual "Save the Soil and Save Texas" essay contest, sponsored by the Fort Worth Press.

Miss Gleason, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Gleason of the Lazbuddie community, was presented with a trophy at the annual regional banquet at Plainview's Estacado Junior High School Cafeteria Friday, May 17.

Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press, presented the award. Title of this year's essays was "Conservation . . . A Way of Life." There are from 25,000 to 35,000 essays entered in the entire state each year, and there are five regions in the state, so Miss Gleason won out over around 6,000 entries in Region I.

At the banquet, Miss Gleason read her essay, and then was interviewed by Humphrey. It marked the first time an entry from Farmer County had ever won the first-place trophy, although last year the county had three entrants in the top ten. Last year's banquet was held in Friona.

Those attending the Plainview banquet from Farmer County included Mr. and Mrs. Gleason, Linda, Scotty Windham and Steve Messenger.

The text of Miss Gleason's winning essay follows:

Conservation - A Way of Life

Today is a very important time for all of us. Why do I make this statement? Because America's future is left in our hands today. We can easily throw America away, or we can work to save her for tomorrow.

I wish to urge you to save America. What must we preserve in America? What can we do to protect America?

I believe that America owes her position as a great nation to soil and its produce. The people of America owe their power, wealth, and vigor to the soil, our greatest natural resource. Our soil is the foundation of our happiness, prosperity, and progress. Deeply rooted in the earth are our freedom, safety, and welfare. Therefore, to keep America for future roles we must conserve our soil. Conservation is our way of life. With conservation our soil can be kept to meet the growing needs of our people.

The soil that supports life is created by Mother Nature. The sunshine, air, water, and life itself make soil productive. The production comes from a thin layer of topsoil. Topsoil is the chief support of life. The sunshine, air, water, and life all work together many years to produce one inch of topsoil. However, all this work can be destroyed in only a few years.

At this important time we must preserve America. We must preserve her greatest natural resource - soil. We all depend upon the soil for the necessities of life and we all play an important role in conserving our soil and keeping it productive. We must all keep in mind that in order to protect America, we must remember that conservation is our way of life.

RECEIVING TROPHY for the first-place essay in Region One of the state is Linda Gleason, sophomore student at Lazbuddie High School. June Plentiful Foods List Has A Lot Of Good Eating

June scores high on all yardsticks of enjoyable livability. It's the beginning of the vacation season. Weather and natural beauties are at their apex. Special occasions like weddings and graduation brighten our schedules.

High on the list of June joys is the abundance of good food. Take the U. S. Department of Agriculture's June list of plentiful, for example, suggests the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Milk and all dairy products head the list, naturally. June is Dairy Month, when milk production is at its seasonal peak. The plentiful tag applies to all dairy foods -- whole, skim, dried, condensed and chocolate milk; ice cream; cream; half - 'n - half; cheeses of all kinds; butter and even buttermilk. Use them generously, to heighten June enjoyment.

In the meat line, look for plenty of beef, pork and broiler-fryers. All are on USDA's June list. And prices are unusually attractive, as meat production exceeds normal needs.

Eggs also will be plentiful all June. Use them in salads, in baking, as gems of breakfast nutrition, or in egg-nogs in combination with the abundance of milk.

Think of vegetables to complete your menus. Early-summer gardens are doing their best to provide a bit of everything for your June needs and pleasures. Lettuce should be particularly plentiful, says USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service that compiles the list of plentiful foods each month. In cooperation with growers and the food trade.

Rosen Promoted By Foundation

Charles Rosen was promoted to the position of Laboratory Assistant at the High Plains Research Foundation recently. Rosen has been on the field staff at the foundation for two years. In his new position, Rosen will be assisting Dr. Arthur Gohlke on the research being conducted in the Foundation's Killgore Research Laboratory. He will be responsible for the operation of the intricate laboratory equipment being used to investigate problems in soil and plant relationships.

"The promotion of Rosen to this position will result in an acceleration of the research program being conducted at the Foundation," stated Dr. Gohlke, Soil Scientist at the Foundation.

Rosen completed his high school education at Idabel, Oklahoma. He farmed in southeastern Oklahoma before joining the staff at Halfway in September of 1962. He is married to the former Louise Corgill of Plainview. The Rosens reside near the Foundation at Halfway.
