WOODWORK Senior Class Play Scheduled

BY DALTON

THE FOLKS down at the office last week were chiding me for not knowing any more than I do about swine. I readily admit I don't know much about swine, or beef, or horses, or lambs, or cattle, or cats.

We do have a couple of dogs, and I can tell you all about dogs' good points, and also their nasty habits. They're totally useless, but we enjoy their antics.

The conversation the other day had to do with one of the area's junior livestock shows, fine events which give local youngsters opportunity to get some exhibiting experience, plus some money for their projects.

My problem was, I didn't know when a pig becomes a hog, and besides I wanted to know does a barrow have any specific gender (somehow, the word "sex" didn't seem to fit the situation). The use of all these words, plus gilt, swine, pttlet, porker and Razor-back, has me confused.

One of my more informed friends tells me it might help to know that a barrow can't farrow. And I was right—the word sex didn't apply.

I'm always a bit confused, too, when I get those periodic news releases from the American Polled Hereford Assn. I received one of those things Saturday, telling me that some guy from College Station has been inducted into the association's "Hall of Merit" because of his outstanding contributions in research and education.

I couldn't understand what he had done to get into the hall of fame. He probably never scored a touchdown in his life. But I suppose that he is being honored because he has polled more Herefords than anybody. I can imagine more interesting occupations than going around over the country getting the opinions of a bunch of cows.

Anyone should be able to see by now that when it comes to animals I don't know much. Fortunately there are many persons around who are expert in the care and breeding of livestock and it therefore is not necessary that I learn a lot about them.

Sundae Pies Start With Apricots

Scoops of vanilla ice cream, a slice 'n bake refrigerator cookies, plus canned apricots aplenty—that's what Apricot Sundae Pie is made of!

Let the children make the "pie crust" from refrigerator cookie dough. Then fill the crust with vanilla ice cream flavored with apricot purée, which has been made quickly in a blender from canned apricot halves. Apricot purée adds flavor and color to the pie and supplies Vitamin A, C, and iron too.

When filled and ready for decorating, the pie may be stored in the freezer until dessert time. Be sure to swirl additional apricot purée on top before serving.

APRICOT SUNDAE PIE (Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- |                                     |  |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| 1 can (30 ounces) apricot halves    | 1 roll (15 ounces) butter-scotch nut slice 'n bake cookies |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice           | ½ pint heavy cream, whipped and sweetened                  |
| 1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened |  |

Drain apricots and purée in electric blender or food mill. Blend purée with lemon juice; set 2/3 cup of mixture aside for topping. Combine remaining purée mixture with ice cream; stir until smooth. Spoon mixture into shallow pan; freeze until firm.

Grease and sprinkle sugar over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. To prepare crust, slice cookie dough 1/8-inch thick. (You will need slightly more than ½ of roll for crust. Bake remainder as cookies.) Line side of pan, overlapping slices slightly to form scalloped edge. Line bottom of pan with more slices. Bake in 375° oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. (If necessary, cover edge of crust with foil towards end of baking period to prevent over-browning.) Cool crust.

Spoon ice cream into cooled crust; return to freezer and freeze until firm. Half an hour before serving, remove from freezer. Spoon reserved apricot purée over top of pie; garnish with whipped cream. Keep pie in refrigerator until serving time.

Five Danger Signs
Because most hearing losses appear gradually, the victims often are not aware of their problem until it has become acute, according to the Heltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. And, this group of persons who are unaware that they are hard of hearing may include members of your family or close friends, crusade officials warn.

The crusade, sponsored by Heltone Electronics Corporation, world leader in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments, is designed to make persons aware of the vital need to protect their hearing ability.

While a hearing test is the only certain method of determining if a person's hearing ability is normal, there are five danger signs commonly exhibited by the hard of hearing.

These include: 1. Turning the head to one side when trying to hear a speaker, asking the speaker to repeat what has been said or believing persons frequently slur what they say; 2. the inability to locate the direction of sounds; 3. difficulty hearing in church, the theater or at the movies; 4. operating television sets, radios or record players at excessive volume levels; or 5. complaining of a constant ringing in the ears.

If you have a friend or relative who exhibits one or more of these danger signs, do the person a favor by encouraging him to have a hearing test either from a medical ear specialist, at a hearing clinic, or from a hearing aid dealer, the crusade officials urge.

The Make Yourself Over Clinic

BY DOLLY REED WAGEMAN, Director, The Camellia Fashion Office

Q: Winter makes me look as dreary as I feel. How can I make over my makeup to beat these gray days?
A: You're right. Gray weather does gray down your complexion. You really must build in a little sunlight of your own to compensate for the lack of natural lighting. Have you ever used one of the under-make-up blenders? Try one. Give yourself a rosy glow over the entire face, eyelids, nostrils, and all, before applying foundation. This should be lighter than usual. On cheeks, add an extra dab of rosiness and blend well. Consider skipping face powder altogether. During this cold and drying season a slightly moister look can be very flattering. Most important is your lipstick shade, or shades. Whether you prefer a pink or orange tone, keep it light and bright. Too pale washes out, too dark can be aging. Avoid the midwinter "blues" in more ways than one!

Quick Help for Heart Attack Victims

Heart disease is America's No. 1 killer. Also, from 50 to 75 percent of deaths from heart attack occur outside hospitals. So a group of physicians, supported by the pharmaceutical industry, sponsored Advanced Coronary Treatment Foundation, have launched a national program to bring life-saving medical equipment to the patient, rather than vice-versa. Inside this Mobile Coronary Care Vehicle which rushed to the heart attack site, a victim is receiving emergency care. Then he will be taken to a hospital intensive care unit. Communities wishing to organize such an early coronary care system can obtain information from the ACT Foundation, 875 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022.

PVT. AND MRS. JOHN CAPERS III

Couple Pledges Double Ring Vows

Miss Cheryl L. Beauchamp and Private John E. Capers III were united in marriage February 11 during a full-dress military wedding at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Vows were exchanged before an altar flanked with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra with white tapers in Disney Chapel with the Rev. Chaplain William Hollis officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Beauchamp Jr. of Sudan and John E. Capers III of Cadiz, Ohio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white mirror mist over slipper satin featuring long full cuffed sleeves and a natural waistline. The bride's bouquet consisted of red and white carnations. The traditional wedding customs were executed with the bride wearing her grandmother's wedding band and a blue garter. For something new, she wore a necklace given to her by the groom.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Kay Vickers of Deervilles, Ohio, sister of the bride. Serving the groom as bestman was Tom Petty of Cadiz, Ohio. Ushers were Donnie Johnson and Sgt. Warren of Fort Knox.

The couple left the chapel via an archway of swords and the crossed gun tubes of the M60-A1

Tennis Tournament last weekend.

Terry, a former student of both Sudan and Plainview schools, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Wood and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jay House.

tanks from the groom's battalion. Swords and spears used to form the arch belonged to Sergeant First Class Donald J. Tusten from his personal collection.

A champagne reception was held following the ceremony with the wedding cake baked by the battalion's Consolidated Mess Hall and served by members of the Third Battalion.

Private Capers just completed his advanced training in Armor with Company A, 3rd Battalion, 1st Brigade and will serve a tour of duty in Germany. Mrs. Capers is making her home in Sudan with her parents but plans to join her husband in Germany in the near future.

by MARY LEE

"Out of sight, out of mind" is a good old cliché that can have several meanings depending on how you punctuate it. For example, during sloppy winter months, it's a wise driver who makes sure he can see clearly in fair weather or foul. To be "out of sight" is to be out of your mind.

So, check windshield wipers frequently. If the rubber is flabby or the blades don't sweep clean, replace them immediately. Remember wiper blades deteriorate more from the elements than they do from use.

ADVERTISING ADVICE...

By A Banker
IN American Bankers' Magazine

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and address being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, even if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and to the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. . . . The life of a town depends on the life, wide-awake and liberal advertising man."

INSTALL GAS AIR CONDITIONING NOW?

Install GAS air conditioning now and beat the rush that always comes with the first hot days. While everyone else is waiting on installation, central GAS air conditioning will be quietly and efficiently cooling your whole house. And another benefit of installing now is you have the time to consider the advantages that GAS air conditioning has over the other kinds.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built and operates on a simple principle. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. There are fewer major moving parts and no compressor to break down or wear out. It's this simplicity that gives GAS air conditioning its low operating costs, its long life with no loss of cooling capacity, and its easy maintenance with few repair bills. GAS air conditioning also filters the air to reduce dust and pollen.

If you have a forced air heating system, you may be able to use the same ductwork for GAS air conditioning. So, be foxy. Call Pioneer Natural Gas Company for a free air conditioning survey of your home or business.

Energy and Ecology Needs Should Balance

Walter Rogers, president of the Independent Natural Gas Association, asserted in a year-end statement.

He said that the United States is entering a period when it will have to balance its environmental needs against its energy requirements.

Confronted with soaring demands, Mr. Rogers said the industry must increase our efforts to find and develop new domestic sources of natural gas and other energy.

The environmental problems associated with production of energy should be met and solved quickly, "without undue delay or prolonged public debate," Rogers concluded.

Sculptured Face Of Christ Eyes Mysteriously Follow Viewer

GATLINBURG, Tennessee—Visitors to this vacation city in the Great Smoky Mountains have taken more photographs of a huge marble sculpture than of any one of the multitude of scenic vistas in the area.

The reason is the mysterious way in which the eyes of the sculptured face of Christ always seem to follow the viewer, no matter what angle the sculpture is viewed from.

The composite photograph above tells the story. It shows a small child's puzzlement upon viewing the sculpture from the left, head on and from the right, and finding the eyes continuing to be upon him no matter where he stands.

The sculpture, discovered in an old warehouse in Carrara, Italy, was carried by unknown Italian sculptors in a six-ton block of Carrara marble.

It was brought to Gatlinburg by Ronald S. Ligon, founder of Gatlinburg's world-famous Christus Gardens, and is on display in the patio garden there, where it has been viewed by millions of visitors from all 50 states and dozens of foreign countries.

An example of intaglio, or concave, sculpture, it is one of the unique features of Christus Gardens, a memorial to Christ that includes life-size three-dimensional scenes from biblical history, peopled by more than 80 wax figures made by Gems, Ltd., of London, considered the finest artisans of their kind in the world.

The Gardens also have on public display the finest collection of biblical coins in the United States and one of the three finest in the world.

But the sculptured face of Christ seems to be a focal point of interest, and records indicate more photographs have been made of it than of any other single object in Gatlinburg.

Information about Gatlinburg and Christus Gardens may be obtained by writing to P. O. Box 587, Dept. A, Gatlinburg, Tenn. 37738.
