WOODWORK

—by dalton

THE MOUSE didn't roar, but it sure caused an uproar in a drivers education class attended by the editor's daughter recently.

The instructor was called out of class briefly. The class naturally sat quiet (as mice?) while the teacher was out, and someone heard a rustling noise in some papers in a corner.

Sure enough, it was a little mouse, which began darting around the room. Some of the girls in the class started screaming "a rat! A rat!", although the creature was just about two inches long, and no doubt scared worse than the people.

The instructor returned to the room and wanted to know what all the commotion was about. The class told him a mouse was loose somewhere in the room. "Well, where is it?" he wanted to know. At the time, the mouse was under his shoe, with just its tail sticking out, hiding in the area of the shoe which doesn't touch the floor.

He tried to stomp it, but it took off again. One of the boys in the room tried to stomp it, but he had on cleats and the mouse went between them.

Finally, a boy caught it somehow, and tossed it out of the classroom.

The drivers education class surely learned something valuable from all this: No matter how heavy the traffic, if you're alert and move quickly, you may escape without being clobbered.

ALONG WITH a bunch of other people, I watched a film this week on what smoking does to you. Presented by Joyce Burkholder of West Texas Tuberculosis Assn., the film detailed a lot of terrible things that are caused by smoking, and indeed there are enough of them.

All in all, it was a quite impressive argument against smoking, pointing out that the tobacco you inhale can contribute to lung cancer, emphysema, and even heart disease.

One man there, holding his pipe in hand, wanted to know if this habit was as dangerous as smoking cigarettes. Not really, he was told by Mrs. Burkholder. "Pipe-smoking doesn't cause lip cancer," she said, "But you can always have your lip cut out."

She also noted that more men than women have given up smoking after hearing and seeing what cigarettes can do to you. Women who knew that smoking brought on cancer just kept on puffing, she said, until it was pointed out that smoking also ages a person prematurely and causes wrinkles. Then they quit.

"It seems that some of the women don't mind dying, but they sure don't want to live ugly," she observed.

Of course, we who don't smoke can be pretty smug about the whole situation with our friends ment in the 19 year life of the program.

Opportunity Plan, Inc., is an independent student loan fund which has made it possible for hundreds of students to attend universities, technical schools, vocational courses, graduate schools, and even professional institutions on a "package" deal. Participants in the program do not have to excel scholastically, athletically, artistically, or in any skill.

"Any student with good character who is sincere in desiring to further his education is eligible to apply for financial assistance through the OPI," Morris points out. "But on the Opportunity Plan, he receives more than just financial assistance. We give the students our trust, we supervise their budgeting of money and study—we try to help them help themselves."

For the current school year, there are more than 138 students

ANTON OVER SUDAN HERE FRIDAY, 26-14

The Sudan Hornets were defeated here Friday night by the Anton Bulldogs, 26-14.

Starting the first quarter, Sudan found the Bulldog defense tough, and had to punt, and in turn, the Hornet defense stopped the fine Bulldog drive. Receiving the punt on their eight yard line, the Hornets moved to the 27, where Bulldog Monty Newton intercepted the ball, drove down to the eight yard line losing the ball on a fumble which was recovered by Hornets Edwards and Tamplin covering the ball. The Hornets fumbled on the 29, and the Bulldogs recovered, and on this next drive, Alvin Williams ran 25 yards for a Bulldog TD. Try for extra point failed, and the Bulldogs led Sudan, 6-0.

In the second quarter, the Bulldogs were on the move, and after the Hornets had downed the Anton ball carrier, out of the pile of players crawled Alvin Williams, minus his helmet, and he ran 47 yards for a TD. At halftime, Anton led Sudan, 14-0.

In the second half, Anton received the kickoff and Betts concluded that drive with a 23-yard touchdown run. The Hornets drove down to the Bulldog eight and had to give up the ball. Then the Sudan defense held the Bulldogs, and they had to punt. The Hornets came back from the 42, but this drive ended in another intercepted pass by the Bulldogs, and ended another 14 yard Bulldog touchdown by Williams.

Anton was leading Sudan, 26-0, when the Hornets' game began to click. Mark Hanna intercepted a Bulldog pass, and Sudan drove to Anton's 21 yard line. Then Gary Edwards plunged through for the 21-yard Sudan touchdown.

Kim Engram passed to Hanna for two extra points. The Hornets stopped the next Bulldog drive cold, and on their next drive moved to the one-foot line, where Edwards jumped over the on-rushing Bulldog tacklers, and the game ended with the Anton Bulldogs over the Hornets, 26-14.

Lets back the Hornets, to beat Shallwater there Friday night when game time is 8 p. m.

The local seventh graders tied Anton 8-8 there Thursday with Darren Provence scoring the lone Hornet TD on a 12-yard run in the first play of the fourth quarter.

Think About These

On the radio today Clifford Irving was boosting his new book that tells what really happened when he tried to swindle McGraw-Hill with his hoax biography of Howard Hughes. He couldn't make his million by fraud, so now he's trying to "con" it out of us. I haven't mentioned the title because I hope you don't buy it.

"Whatever is true . . ."
The disrespectful nonchalance of Vince Matthews and Wayne Collett, chatting hands on hips, during the national anthem at the Olympic games, got them more coverage, nearly than all the other track competitors combined. Probably Mr. Collett spoke more truthfully than we want to believe when he described the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner" as "not true." The phrase, "the land of the free," may have been what he objected to.

Yet unquestionably the United States remains the freest nation on earth and far freer now than 10 years ago. To despise his home-land in the presence of representatives of many brutally repressive countries blazes with bad judgment. Furthermore, his contempt must have seared millions of his fellow-citizens, whose contributions—not any government money—paid his way over there to represent them. There are better times and places for dissent.

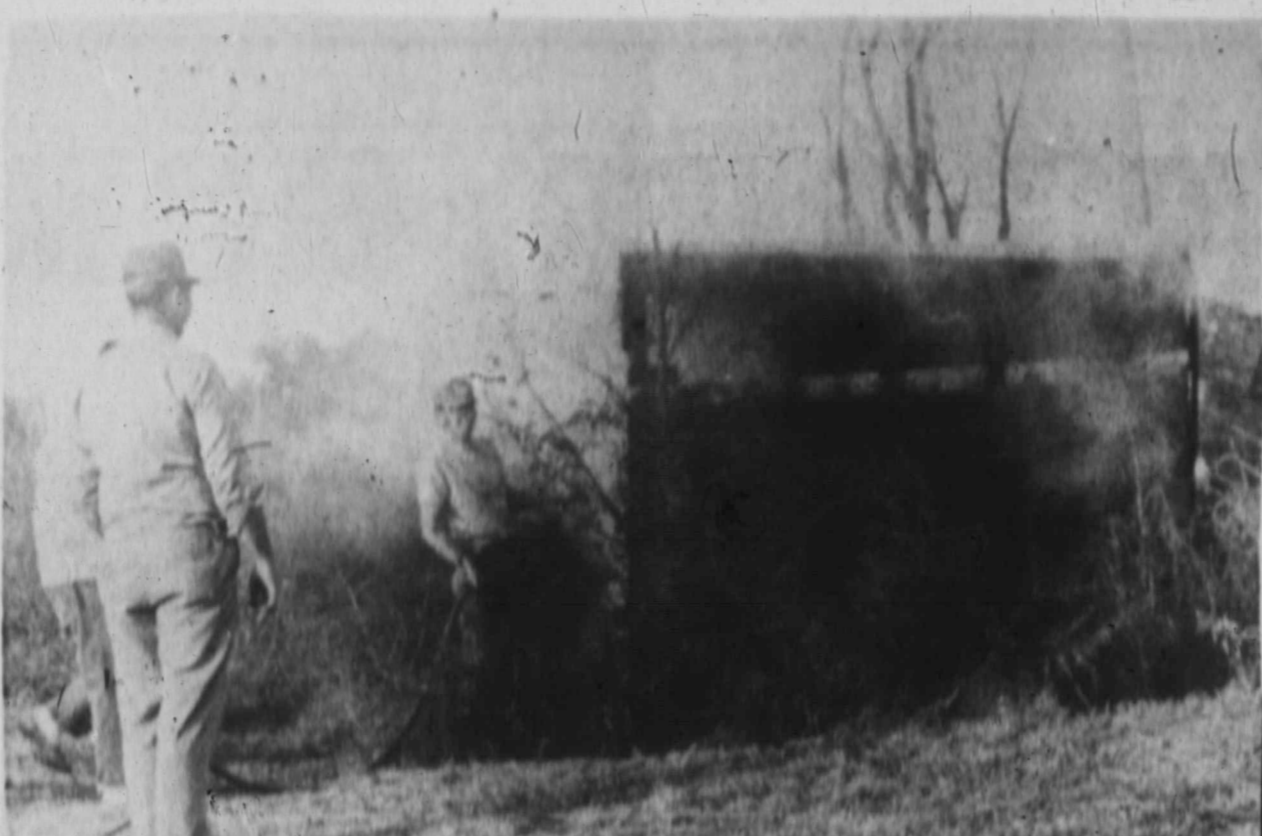

"Whatever is honorable . . ."

Must a politician ostracize his opponent as an unscrupulous cheat in order to defeat him? The strongest recurring Sunday School Lesson for October 1, 1972 theme of the Democratic presidential nominee seems to be, "I'm the honest candidate," and the rising issues appear to be the Watergate "bugging" allegations and the secret list of GOP contributors. Meanwhile, the Republicans make capital out of personal conflicts and questionable decisions in their opposition party. Too bad one candidate cannot glow superior without painting the other repulsive.

"Whatever is honest . . ."
ABC chose to begin its season of Wednesday movies with "The Daughters of Joshua Cabe," pictured in a review as "a comedy about a wily fur-trapper, recruiting a thief, prostitute, and pickpocket to portray his daughters." Pick up a TV Guide and see this week, too, in replete with offenses by all networks, nearly all stations. Isn't there foolishness in lamenting escalating crime in documentaries while glamorizing antisocial behavior in dozens of entertainment series? Social issues need attention, but with less exhilaration and heroics and more true-to-life fear and personal helplessness.

Why This Analysis?
The Apostle Paul told Timothy to "Reprove, rebuke, exhort" people now, because eventually they will stop listening to what makes spiritual sense. So I am reminding you all: "Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is honest, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is of good report, if there is any excellence and if anything worthy of praise, let your mind dwell on these things." actually participating in the OPI program, dispersed in 26 institutions. Though the plan was initiated by Morris at West Texas State University in 1953, its use is by no means limited to WTSU. Monies from the multi-thousand dollar operation are received totally through contributions from individuals, organizations and memorials. Though there is a general OPI fund, there are also 66 divisions, which include community funds, memorial funds, and those established by private contributors. Morris expresses hopes to have community divisions established in every town in the area within two years.

One of the primary functions of the public relations innovation will be the publication of a periodical newspaper, newsletter, or magazine, explaining the operations of OPI, its activities, personnel and contributors, public appearances, schools and towns included, progress of divisions, and, foremost, profiles and human interest stories concerning students who have or are attending schools on the Opportunity Plan. Karleene "Korkey" Martin has

ROGER SWART

The Littlefield district Future Farmers of America met at the Sudan High School auditorium Tuesday, Sept. 19, with opening ceremonies conducted by 1971-72 district officers.

Following the opening ceremonies, elections for 1972-73 district officers were held. Roger Swart of the Sudan FFA chapter was elected president of the Littlefield district.

Following the elections, a district banquet and sweetheart contest was voted on. District dues were set at 25¢. It was also decided to give a plaque to district Star Chapter Farmer, district Star Greenhand, and district Star Lone Star Farmer. A ten dollar fine was set to be imposed on any chapter in the county not sending delegates to the district and area meetings.

Closing ceremonies were conducted by the newly elected district officers.

'DISNEY ON PARADE' SET FOR LUBBOCK COLISEUM

Established as part of the Disney realm of classic tales, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" receives an entirely new treatment in "Disney on Parade," opening on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at the Lubbock Coliseum, for 8 performances. The first feature-length cartoon ever to be produced, "Snow White" made theatrical history in 1937 and was seen by 20 million people during just its first three months of release.

"Disney on Parade," in an all-new and different edition of this record-setting, all-family arena show, will highlight the magical tale about a beautiful princess and seven delighted little diamond miners in a lavish production number.

"Disney on Parade" is presented by Nawal Productions, a partnership of NBC films, Inc. and Walt Disney Productions. Almost 100 Disney characters will appear together in the most original 2 1/2 hour musical arena show ever conceived.

Sequences from Disney's "Snow White" have been adapted for presentation in "Disney on Parade" on a massive storybook screen which introduces each storyline before "coming to life" on the arena stage. The combination of the art of magic, choreography, motion pictures, sound effects, music and special lighting techniques adds up to history-making theatre as a totally new entertainment medium.

In addition to "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the lavish new show will include production numbers from "Fantasia," "Pinocchio," "Small World," as well as a host of familiar Disney characters such as Goofy, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

First county officials were: Judge, H. R. Miller; Commissioners, J. A. Hooper (Precinct No. 1), Claude E. Halsell (No. 2), G. M. Arnett (No. 3), Walter Sullivan (No. 4); Sheriff, Herb Dickenson; Clerk, George Galloway; Treasurer, Fred Schreier; Assessor, Luther Williams.

ANNUAL TEXAS PRISON RODEO SLATED IN OCT.

Exciting unusual events will highlight the 1972 edition of the Annual Texas Prison Rodeo which this year will for the first time feature events for convict women, it was announced by Jim Batten, rodeo supervisor for the Texas Department of Corrections.

Held in the prison stadium each Sunday in October at Huntsville this year's event will be an all-convict show, without the usual free world country and western stars as special guests.

Instead, Batten said, the Prison Rodeo will highlight convict bands and convict singers, who, Batten said, "are better than most guest stars who have appeared in previous rodeos."

"In a nut shell, the 1972 Texas Prison Rodeo will be a return to the original concept of a prison rodeo—with all convict performers," Batten added.

Rough and tough convict cowboys will be joined by convict cowgirls, bands and singers for a full-scale fast-moving two hour show that promises to be the "biggest, fastest and most exciting entertainment spectacle ever presented in the long history of these annual events," Batten said.

In addition to the rodeo, which begins at 2 p. m., there will be a host of thrilling midway acts outside of the stadium from 9 a. m. to noon each Sunday. A pre-rodeo show will also be included in the entertainment package from 12:30 p. m. until showtime.

Reserved seat tickets at $3, $4, $5, and $5.50 for box seats (including children) may be obtained by writing Texas Prison Rodeo, Box 99, Huntsville, Texas 77340.

Net proceeds from ticket sales are earmarked for rehabilitation services for more than 16,000 inmates of the state's sprawling prison system.

The Old Timer

"A lot of fellows who spout so profusely about capital and labor never had any capital and never did any labor."

"The trouble with opportunity is that it always looks better going than coming."

These Americans have held the line on prices.

The high cost of winning.

All the while our farmers have been doing business at prices substantially out of the 1950's, the cost of the goods and services they buy are straight out of the 1970's. How can they survive buying high and selling low? The sad fact is many don't. In the last two decades, nearly half our farmers have left the land for already crowded cities because ends couldn't be met.

Now you know.

Statistics say the American farmer is the most efficient worker in the world. Each farmer provides food for fifty-one people. Compared to 20 in 1950. He is one of the very few of us who literally makes something where nothing was before. That could be why, in spite of the built-in risk of trying to beat Mother Nature year in and year out, you'll hear them all say, "I'm proud to be an American farmer."

Now, you may ask why the folks at Pioneer are telling you all this. Over the years, we've gotten to know a whole lot of farmers... so we decided we ought to speak up with the facts. Our friends on farms all over the country deserve it.

Check the facts.

Cotton (100 lbs.)	$37.88	$28.46
Grain Sorghum (100 lbs.)	$2.36	$1.84
Cattle (100 lbs.)	$36.72	$33.12
Corn (bushel)	$1.66	$1.08
Wheat (bushel)	$2.11	$1.31

Average yearly prices received by farmers (U.S. Department of Agriculture figures)

Take a look at the prices farmers received for a bushel of corn or wheat in 1951. Twenty years later, in 1971, prices were substantially lower. In 1951, farmers sold beef cattle for $36.72 per hundredweight. Twenty years later, the price had dropped more than 7%! Prices received for hogs decreased. Maybe you'll agree the best inflation fighters in the country manage America's farms.

Cheaper than dirt.

Here's a real eye-opener. Next time you're at the supermarket, price a 5-pound bag of flour, a 5-pound bag of corn meal and a 5-pound bag of potting soil. You'll find it's no exaggeration to say our farmers sell their products cheaper than dirt.

NOTE

The success of the American farmer is basic to our country's economy. Yet he is besieged on every side... occasionally even characterized as some kind of profiteering villain. It is obvious that he needs help in telling it like it is. Pioneer Hi-Bred International is placing ads similar to this one in consumer publications. Pioneer's Southwestern subsidiary, Pioneer Hi-Bred Company of Plainview, Texas, hopes others in the business community will do what they can to help the American farmer get the credit due him.
