'Back To Sudan' Hornets Smash Sale Saturday Anton 48-8

Saturday, September 30, has been designated by several Sudan Merchants for a "Back to Sudan '99 cent sale. This sale, which is being held in conjunction with Curry Furniture's grand opening, is another opportunity for the Sudan community to become aware of the different stores in Sudan as well as reap many bargains. Nix Department Store, which is located at 120 Main, is running several good specials on clothes, which may be purchased now for immediate wearing or for that early Christmas package. They are offering Dickie's Men's Jeans for $9.99, men's Khaki shirts, $7.99 and boys Jeans for $5.99. One group of ladies blouses are $4.99, one group of Levi panatela pants are $13.99 and one group of men's flannel shirts are $7.99. A special savings can be made on double knit material for $1.99 a yard. Shawna Nix also invites you in to see their new line of stock and let her help you start making your selections for Christmas.

The darting runs of John Miles and a stout defensive effort led by Ivan Gibson was too much for the Anton Bulldogs as they were overwhelmed Friday night to the tune of 48-8. Miles rushed for 299 yards on 18 carries and scored 5 times in leading the Hornets to the lopsided victory. Sudan scored on its 2nd play from scrimmage and were never headed as they built a 26-0 halftime lead with 2 TD's in each of the 1st two quarters.

Anton came back with a 67 yard TD pass in the 3rd quarter and the 2 point conversion made the score 26-8. The Hornets quickly struck back in the 4th quarter on a 32 yard TD run by Miles, a 2 yd TD by Freddie Freeman, and capped it off with a 1 yard score by Freshman Timmy Williams.

Williams rushed for 98 yards on 8 carries for the night. Defensively, the Hornets were led by Ivan Gibson, Odell Johnson, Mike DeLoach, Mike Hill with their aggressive play. The defensive unit held the Bulldogs to a total offense of 142 yards while sacking the Anton QB a total of 8 times. Offensively the Hornets rushed for 463 yards and QB Mike Jones completed 2 of his 3 passes for an additional 15 steps. Both pass completions went to Flanker Joey Bellar while Odell Johnson was on the receiving end of a 2 point conversion pass from Jones.

Defensive pressure and outstanding secondary play held the Bulldogs to the one lone pass completion out of 16 attempts. The secondary composed of Victor King, Mike Jones, Kevin Fisher and John Miles made several outstanding plays. Pete Edwards had two solo QB sacks and L.B. Randy Scott, Bob Graves and John Chester pitched in with several outstanding tackles.

"Mad as a March hare" comes from the fact that hares are unusually shy and wild in March, which is their rutting season.

Olton Pioneers

When the big ranches were formed from the XIT in Lamb and adjoining counties in the early days of the 19th century, only a small acreage in the north east part of the county was available for settlement. A few years later a group of courageous and hardy pioneers ventured on the land seeking a better way of life.

Celia Pierce of the Sudan 4-H Club has been selected 4-H'er of the month for the month of September. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pierce. Celia has been an active 4-H member for six years, carrying many projects and holding numerous offices in her club. She has carried such projects as clothing, foods, swine and leadership. She has been a district winner in clothing. Celia has also been active in the 4-H camping program attending Leadership Lab and Electric camp. Celia is an outstanding 4-H'er and a real credit to the Sudan Community and Lamb County.

They soon decided without schools, churches, roads, and mail service that it was time to do something about it. About 1903-1904 they decided to move the store and post office to a common point and organize a town. They soon built a community church, or place of worship, where all the denominations could use the same building. At a great sacrifice to all that was concerned, they ordered and erected a huge bell and placed it in the church tower. On Sunday morning this huge bell could be heard for miles around, and was a constant reminder for everyone to come to church. Various things have happened to this old bell, but thru the graces of providence and a lot of loving care, this old bell remains a part of the community, and it's glorious sounds is a part of Olton, Texas. Today, and for the past many years, this bell has been in the Church of the Nazarene, and sends out it's glorious warnings on Sunday at church time. On Sunday, September 17, 1978, and the "50th anniversary of the Nazarene Church" in Olton, the "Lamb County Historical Society," thru a lot of gracious assistance placed a historical marker at the church.

Dedication services were attended by a large group of admirers and God loving people.

American Agriculture Movement

A spokesman for the American Agriculture Movement says farmers and ranchers are not responsible for increased costs of food to consumers as reported by the media Thursday.

Eugene Schroder, national spokesman for the AAM, advises consumers to look to the middlemen (large corporations that process and market food) to find the real culprits behind escalating food prices.

"Farmers are not responsible for the price of food going up. They never were and they never will be," Schroder said. "It's the monopolistic corporations in the middle that are raising the prices of food to maintain their profit margins."

The effort of corporations to maintain their profits at whatever cost is the actual cause of inflation, Schroder maintains.

Schroder said farmers and ranchers are not responsible for inflation. For example, he said, in 1947, farmers received $2.85 a bushel for wheat, and bread cost 11 cents a loaf. Now, the farmers get $2.70 a bushel for wheat, but the price of bread is 60 cents a loaf.

The American Agriculture spokesman made his remarks in response to testimony before a House subcommittee on banking Tuesday. Schroder agreed with a statement made by Howard W. Hjort, USDA economist, that, "Consumers will pay 4.5 to 5 per cent more at the food store, even if the farmer receives not one penny more for what he has produced."

But, Schroder said, in response to Hjort's remarks that a halt in food prices would require either ending inflation, or a cut in farm prices, "Farmers are already getting prices for their products below the cost of production. We need to curb inflation by curbing the cut the middlemen take, not by hurting farmers and ranchers."

PROTECTING AMERICA

Freedom Not To Join

Just as the Constitution guarantees all Americans the right of association—the right of persons to act together for some common purpose without public grant or charter—most Americans agree we all have an equal right not to join private organizations.

A NUMBER OF WORKERS are helping protect our freedom.

Some of the people fighting for that right are the workers at J. P. Stevens and company. These workers are combatting the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, which is trying to force them to join up.

For the past 15 years, the workers have repeatedly rejected the union in secret and in open ballots.

These workers, by their persistence, are helping to protect the freedoms of us all.

Happy Birthday

The Bible Says-----

BY: ART LYNCH

"The acts of the sinful nature are obvious; sexual immorality, impurity and debauchery....etc." Galatians 5:19

We have seen that adultery is a sin against God. (Genesis 39:9 and Psalm.51:4) Adultery is also a sin against the body, our own bodies.

"All other sins a man commits are outside his body, but he who sins sexually sins against his own body."

1 Corinthians 6:18

Our bodies are created to be joined to only one member of the opposite sex, our wives or husbands. Any other union is a union of prostitution.

Adultery is also a sin against the family. "I tell you that anyone who divorces his wife, except for marital unfaithfulness, and marries another woman commits adultery; and he that marries her when she is divorced commits adultery."

Matthew 19:9

We need to keep our families in mind when we are tempted to commit this sin.

Adultery is a sin against society.

For a man to lust after a woman and finally have her in a way reserved only for her husband is to break down the very foundation on which our society stands. Today we even see men and women who are married "swapping mates" for an evening of pleasure. We need not discuss the breakdown in respect for one another that occurs when this is allowed to happen. A man's wife becomes a piece of barter or money to trade for his pleasure just as he would buy a candy bar or a new automobile. He can no longer have any respect for her nor her for him. And just think what children must wonder about the relationship of their mother and father as their respect for one another is zero. How can the child have respect for itself, when the parent has no respect for the child or for the other parent?

As long as there are homes that are pure, a society will remain. The society will be blessed by God. The home is the foundation of society. The home is where the children learn how to live. If these homes are destroyed by the act of adultery, followed by the sin of divorce, the fabric of society will crumble, men will become beasts and women will be looked upon as objects of physical satisfaction for men's appetites.

This is what makes pornography so ungodly. Beautiful women who have been created by God for good purposes become things for men who were also created by God for good purposes.

The most popular movie of the year, according to the latest pole, has one message, "live the greasy, immoral life and have fun!" When our children are allowed to see movies like "Grease," how do we expect them to know the true life of joy and happiness that God intended in marriage if they do not see it at home?

According to the Bible, the home is second in importance only to the church. Jesus bought the church with his own blood. (Acts 20:28) and He commanded us to love our wives as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for it. That puts the two very close in importance in the mind of God "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

Laundry Needs Changing

Laundry needs change with the arrival of a new baby.

During the first few months, babies wear a lot of cotton or synthetic knits, shirts, kimonos, gowns, booties, diapers.

LAUNDERING
Wash these clothes on regular cycle, about 10 minutes, in hot water with an all-purpose detergent.

Launder new clothes before putting them on the infant, any residue from chemicals used in finishing the fabric may irritate the baby's skin.

If the baby develops a rash, it is often from an ingredient in a specific detergent. Switching products or an extra rinse cycle should eliminate the problem.

Although warm or even cold water laundering is fine for lightly soiled or brightly colored fabrics and desirable for saving energy, hot water is generally required for thorough cleaning, stain removal and odor control of children's everyday clothing and bedding.

BLEACHING
Bleach the baby's clothes when they need it using a product that is safe for the fabric.

Bleach is an effective stain remover, disinfectant and deodorizer which is important when washing items such as polyesters which tend to hold odors as well as oily stains.

When adding liquid bleach to the washer, take care to insure that undiluted bleach does not come in contact with clothes since it will weaken the fibers, eventually causing holes and tears.

After bleaching, rinse the clothes thoroughly. If the machine does not have an automatic bleach dispenser, add diluted bleach, one part bleach to four parts water, a few minutes after agitating begins.

OTHER LAUNDRY AIDS

In lieu of chlorine bleach, there are other laundry aids that increase a detergent's cleaning power.

Oxygen bleaches, detergent boosters or bleach substitutes help remove stains and odors, plus they won't fade non-colorfast colors or cause holes or tears if improperly used.

REMOVING FORMULA STAINS
Formula spills may cause dark brown stains that show up on baby's shirts and sacques after laundering. Stains appear when heat from the dryer or iron caramelizes the sugar in the formula.

To prevent these stains, wash the clothes well in hot water and detergent.

Bleaching will remove many old stains, but some may be permanently set. Soaking in an enzyme presoak product may also help remove the stains.

FREE BRUCELLOSIS VACCINATION PROGRAM NOT BEING USED—Most cattlemen and dairymen in Lamb County are not taking advantage of the free brucellosis vaccination program for their herds.

The program is designed to protect beef and dairy herds from brucellosis, a disease that often causes reproductive failure in cows.

All female beef and dairy calves should be vaccinated as soon as possible after they are two months old. After vaccination by a local veterinarian, the calves are tagged and tattooed and the owner is issued a certificate.

The Strain 19 vaccine used in the program provides complete protection against most levels of exposure to 65 to 75 percent of the vaccine, while the remainder receive various degrees of protection.

Vaccination should be a continuous thing since herd immunity decreases with the number of calf crops vaccinated.

The vaccination program will help make beef and dairy heifers more valuable. The demand is high for vaccinated animals. Several states require that all replacements brought across state lines be official vaccinates.

In buying heifer replacements, it's also wise to buy only vaccinated stock. All replacement stock should be tested for brucellosis, isolated for at least a month, and then retested.

Through active participation in the free brucellosis vaccination program, chances are good that this costly livestock disease can be eradicated.

USES OF EARTHWORMS EXPLAINED—Many folks raise earthworms for fishing bait, but beyond that, their uses are limited.

Some claims for using earthworms that have little support are these:

1. Earthworms are toxic or free additives. Due to a major dog and cat food manufacturers are not conducting extensive research. Fresh earthworms cost $2 a pound. A 10 percent solution. So, do earthworms cost $2 a pound, dried material costs $10 a pound. Protein and is complete. 15 to 25 percent of soil. 1 to 2 cents per pound.

2. Earthworms are a good land dressing. About 500 pounds of earthworms are required for an acre for most soil types. If "poor land" is purchased for $200 an acre, then $1,000 worth of earthworms should be added. At least three tons of cow manure should be required annually to feed these worms.

3. Earthworms for garbage disposal. This usage has considerable appeal from an environmental standpoint, but no major market has developed. Problems associated in using earthworms for garbage disposal in California include these:

1. Glass, metal, plastics and other nonbiodegradables must be removed.
2. Since fresh garbage has noticeable odors and presents a considerable fly problem, it would probably require an enclosed facility.
3. Although there is some garbage shrinkage (one-third of volume and one-half of weight), a large portion of this is moisture loss.
4. After reduction of the garbage, it is still necessary to dispose of about one-half ton of worm manure per ton of original garbage. Value of this manure is probably not over $10 per ton.

The biggest use of earthworms is for sport fishing. This is a large and stable market and can provide some income. However, competition is increasing, and it is a major requirement.

As far as production is concerned, normal harvests are generally below 0.4 pound of earthworms per square foot each 30 days. For a standard bed 3 feet by 8 feet, this results in an average harvest for beginning growers of 25 to 30 pounds per year. After several years, experienced growers can get about 100 pounds of earthworms per year from the same bed.

So, with this in mind individuals interested in raising earthworms should be aware of market claims and to search out sound information on earthworm production and marketing.

Medical ID Card Needed For Some

A medical identification card could save a life.

In emergencies, a medical "ID" card can speak for the patient who cannot tell doctors about special needs or problems.

People who need a medical "ID" card are those with certain diseases or drug allergies and those who take medicine regularly, along with those who have any other problems that might affect medical treatment.

To prepare a medical "ID" card, make clear, direct notes about needs or problems.

DISEASES
Among diseases that require notes on a medical "ID" card are diabetes, asthma, epilepsy and heart or kidney disease.

For example, if a person is diabetic, that note is necessary, because of the possible need for insulin in case of injury.

Also, an insulin reaction can be mistaken for drunkenness and result in improper medical attention.

DRUG ALLERGIES
Any severe allergies need a note, especially those caused by drugs.

For example, penicillin and sedatives often are used in emergency situations. If a victim is allergic to these drugs, the treatment might cause more problems than the original emergency.

Also, write down known allergies to various insect stings, such as bees. These require immediate action.

Also, include the date of the last tetanus immunization, and whether or not the person is allergic to tetanus antitoxin.

REGULARLY TAKEN MEDICINES
Notes about medicines taken regularly are important for two reasons.

First, lack of this medicine may cause serious problems, such as for persons who regularly take insulin, cortisone or special eye drops for glaucoma.

Also, emergency medical people can prevent serious drug interactions when they know what the patient has already taken.

OTHER PROBLEMS
Other information for a medical "ID" card might include a note about such things as wearing contact lenses, deafness, not being able to speak English or any other medical problem or condition not easily recognized in case of emergency.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A famous store in New York displayed a fabulous assortment of crosses in their window. Underneath was a sign that read: "Easy Terms." But the Christian finds no easy terms with the cross of Christ.

There is a startling honesty about the Lord. He never tried to bribe men and women by the offer of a crown. He offered a cross.

He declared that there could be no meal without a mill, no gain without a pain, and no crown without a cross. He said, "If any of you wants to be My follower, you must put aside your own pleasures and shoulder your cross, and follow Me closely. If you insist on saving your life, you will lose it. Only those who throw away their lives for My sake and for the sake of the Good News will ever know what it means to really live."

There are many who love His kingdom, but are loathe to bear His cross.

How many real Christians would our churches have on their rolls if public worship were illegal, their sanctuaries ill-equipped, and all Christians ill-treated?

Chili Lovers Cook Book

The Chili-Lovers' Cook Book, "hottest" recipe book of the year, has just been issued by Golden West Publishers.

This unique three-in-one cook book presents three sections of recipes: chili without beans, chili with beans, and dishes made with green chili peppers and chile products.

Many of the recipes were prizewinners in recent chili cook-offs. Chili chefs in Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, Texas and Washington have provided the bulk of the recipes. United States Senators and Congressmen who share their personal recipes include: Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Sen. Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, Sen. Harrison Schmitt of New Mexico, Sen. John Tower of Texas, Rep. Eldon Rudd of Arizona, Rep. Bob Wilson of California, Rep. Linda (Mrs. Hale) Boggs of Louisiana, Rep. J.J. Pickle and Rep. Kika de la Garza of Texas.

Some of the more esoteric recipes are: Bowl of Fire, Buzzard's Breath Chili, Butcher's Best Chili, Bite-the-Bullet Chili, Hog-Heaven Chili, Fiesta Chili, Prospector's Chili, Mucker's Chili, Rio Grande Chili, and Truck Stop Chili.

In the "Recipes with Chiles" section, are such novelties as Carne Enchilada, Chile Cheese Puffs, Chili Paste, Drunken Beans, Green Chili Grits, Hot Pepper Jelly, Jalapeno Cornbread, Peppy Pecan Balls and Red Chili Apple Pie.

With its plastic binding (permitting the pages to lie flat), easy-to-read type (ingredients are printed in boldface, capital letters), glossy, easy-to-clean cover, and background information, the Chili-Lovers' Cook Book is a practical recipe book as well as a colorful gift item.

Copies of the cook book may be obtained from local book-sellers or may be ordered at $3 (plus 50 cents postage) direct from the publishers, 4113 N. Longview, Phoenix, Az. 85014.

The book was compiled and edited by Al Fischer and Mildred Fischer, whose earlier cook books are also available: the Arizona Cook Book and the California Cook Book.

Contrary to popular belief, chili is not of Mexican origin, but was probably created in the chuckwagons, cafes and kitchens of Texas. Today, chili has become so popular that chili societies throughout the country now conduct annual chili cook-offs to determine the most unusual version of this favorite dish.

Entertaining Ideas

by Laura Wells

Think of autumn and what comes to mind? Pungent breezes, spectacular foliage, crisp apples, informal gatherings of close friends. If you decide to greet autumn with a party, one key ingredient of a successful get-together is preparation.

First, determine how many guests you can entertain comfortably. Can you scout up extra chairs? Does kitchen size limit the amount and type of food you can serve? Then, compile a guest list. Aim for harmony by inviting people who will enjoy each other's company. Add listeners to balance out the extroverts and try for an equal mix of men and women.

Every party benefits from a note of originality. Plan to tie in to the "spirit of the season." For a festive fall party dish that's easy to prepare and will keep everyone warm, try a chocolate-cherry fondue. This one calls for lots of dunkables and one of my favorite liqueurs—Cherry-Suisse.

Simply break 12 ounces of semi-sweet chocolate into pieces and "cook, stirring, over moderate-low heat with a 1/2 cup of heavy cream and 4 tablespoons of Cherry-Suisse. When melted and smooth, serve in a fondue pot over low heat. Ask your guests to spear slices of apples, oranges and bananas, pound cake cut in chunks and tea biscuits with fondue forks and dunk into the chocolate.

In addition, a beverage that goes a long way and keeps spirits lively is "Autumn Apple Punch." Place a large ice block in a punch bowl. Pour 12 oz. each of Harwood Canadian Whisky and Leroux Apple Flavored Brandy and two quarts of apple cider into the bowl. Stir well and let stand 15 minutes to chill. Gently stir in one quart of ginger ale, and float the slices of two oranges on top. You'll make about 32 four-ounce punch servings of 16 eight-ounce highballs.

Remember that if you're caught with too many things to do, your best help just may come from your guests!

MAKING IT BETTER FOR YOU

Microwave Maxim

Now that the microwave oven can be found in nearly 10% of American households and projections for the next few years approach a 30% ownership rate, food processors are starting to gear their products to the microwave cooking style.

In addition, most national frozen food firms have responded to the boom with microwave cooking instructions for existing products, such as partial and complete dinners, vegetables and desserts.

Because of shortened cooking time, microwave ovens do use less electricity than conventional electric ranges. However, don't be misled into thinking that microwaves are the best cooking method for every food item. Cooking with a microwave oven is only economical on a case-by-case basis.

In an effort to help make it better for you, the people at Hunt-Wesson Foods offer the following guidelines for efficient microwave cooking.

For example, microwave ovens should be used when reheating or cooking food in small quantities. The smaller the amount of food to cook, the shorter the cooking time, hence, the less energy expended.

It is not economical, however, to cook a complete meal in your microwave. Aside from taking a long time to cook, each food item must be cooked individually according to density. Also, the size of the microwave oven dictates the amount of food that can be cooked comfortably at one time.

Frozen foods were seemingly invented for the microwave concept. There is no preheating involved with a microwave. Once it's turned on, it's ready to cook; there is no temperature to set.

Microwaves also operate at top efficiency when cooking items in water, such as vegetables. The microwave itself, similar in many ways to the radio wave, seeks out the moisture in the food. It creates a vibration effect within the water molecule, thus generating heat within the food quickly.

As a general rule, always remember to follow tested microwave recipes for the best results. An incorrect setting can literally destroy a lot of hard work and preparation.

Also, do try to keep your oven in good operating order. Always refer to the manufacturer's manual whenever you experience any difficulty in operation, as it was written for such instances.
