The Church

A careful study of the New Testament will reveal that the warnings of an apostasy of the church as mentioned last week were not that of an alarmist and we find mention of some of the departures in doctrine recorded in the pages of the New Testament. Paul warned about some who had made "shipwreck of the faith" (1 Tim. 1:19), and still others who "denied the resurrection of the dead" (2 Tim. 2:18-19). No apostasy or radical change has ever come to pass over night in spiritual or material matters and the church did not apostatize in one twenty-four hour period but was a gradual change.

The first noticeable change in the affairs of the church was the division of the members into the clergy and the lay members, both terms being wholly unknown to the Bible (we read of living members, but never lay members.) We also read about preachers and ministers but never clergy. Over a period of time the clergy gradually assumed the authority over the church until one man had complete control over a congregation and was known as the priest. This process continued until history reveals the fact that there was a district bishop over the priest's of the congregations in each district, then an archbishop over the districts in a province or state and then the cardinal over the nation and finally Boniface III was crowned the first pope to be the earthly head of the church in all the nations. Back of the year 606 A. D., neither in the Bible or out of it, can any man find where any soul on earth was ever styled pope, and yet our intelligence is insulted by some peoples' suggesting that Peter was the first of that type. The Bible knows nothing about it and history fails to record it. The word pope comes from a Latin word meaning father and Jesus condemned the use of such in a religious sense. "Be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. And call no man your father upon earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ" (Mat. 23:8-10). Not only did Christ condemn the use of the term father when referring to those in the church, but he also condemns the idea of any one person being over or above another in the church.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

By Vern Sanford
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas — Except in Dallas County, Texas voters heavily backed the Democrats and the 11 constitutional amendments at the November 2 election.

In Dallas County, Republican Bruce Alger pushed into the win column, defeating Wallace Savage, former state Democratic chairman, in the fifth district race for Congress.

Among amendments to the constitution, Texas okayed women jurors, more pay for state legislators, hiked terms for office holders to four years and upped expenditures for the state's senior citizens.

Governor Allan Shivers and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson came through with heavy majorities.

Johnson Cooperative
 In Austin for the election, Johnson, now assured of majority leadership of the senate declared that the Democrats would continue their cooperation with President Eisenhower.

More Taxes Inevitable
 Legislative tax talk continued with two state officials believing that the convening legislature will have to wrestle one way or another with taxation measures.

State Comptroller Robert S. Cavert reports that spending from the general fund now exceeds the income rate.

He says the state has no choice except to provide additional revenue in some manner.

Representative Waggoner Carr of Lubbock voiced the same opinion, but hoped that government spending could be trimmed in some places.

School Poll Stopped
 A survey of high school students to determine feelings about segregation was stopped by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd after the poll was made public.

Shepperd said he halted surveys in Marshall and Waco high schools because public attention was influencing answers.

Results were to be used as part of the brief he is preparing for the Supreme Court in the public school segregation matter.

Auto Inspection
 By waiting until deadline time draws near, Texas motorists are causing a potential log jam at official auto inspection stations.

Colonel Homer Garrison Jr., Texas Department of Public Safety director, said that Texans are now 100,000 behind last year's figures. That means motorists will soon start stacking up at inspection stations, he said.

Garrison urged drivers to get inspections now and avoid the predicted jams. Inspection deadline is April 15.

Turnpike Approved
 A proposed $58.5 million turnpike between Dallas and Fort Worth has been approved as a sound financial investment with construction to start next year.

Toll-road experts told the Texas Turnpike Authority that at the ratio of revenue to cost, the project would be one of the best in existence.

Loan Firms Warned
 The GI warning of "shape up or ship out" has been handed Texas loan firms by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

Shepperd's criticism of present operating practices of many loan and credit insurance sellers came at a meeting with representatives of state firms.

He said there was a growing tendency from some companies to "gouge borrowers" with high interest and service charges.

Cigarettes Sales Drop
 Texas cigarette tax stamp sales for October fell a quarter million dollars below totals of October 1963, State Treasurer Jesse James reports.

Liquor tax stamp sale increased slightly during the month.

Radar Warnings
 A new traffic sign will soon make its appearance on state highways. It's the warning, "speed limits radar enforced."

Texas Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. said the new caution boards will be placed on all approaches to highway stretches covered by radar-equipped patrol cars.

"Operation Radar" is planned to begin in mid-November on the main highways.

Weiss Resigns
 Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has announced the resignation of Edwin E. Weiss, his executive assistant.

A native of Hubbard, Weiss resigned his position to enter private business. He has served as Shepperd's assistant since May.

Bids Investigation
 Identical bids on electrical equipment received by the Austin City Council will be looked into by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. However, the investigation will not reach the congressional level as Councilwoman Emma Long advised.

Shepperd said that he is now gathering information from citizens over the state that have experienced non-competitive bidding. The Austin bids, from four different firms, will be included, he said.

Mrs. Long attempted to get the council to back a request for a congressional investigation, but was vetoed.

Funds to Equip Dental School Given to Baylor

Funds to equip and start the first school of Dental Hygiene in the southwest were given Baylor University College of Dentistry by the Caruth Foundation and W. W. Caruth, Jr. of Dallas, Dr. Harry B. McCarthy, Dean of the College of Dentistry, announced Saturday. Presentation of the $30,000 grant in honor of W. W. Caruth, Dallas pioneer and philanthropist, was made by his son, W. W. Caruth, Jr., nationally known Dallas suburban planner and developer.

The school, to be named the Caruth School of Dental Hygiene, Baylor University College of Dentistry, will train young women to perform special duties in the dental office.

The two-year course is scheduled to begin in September 1955.

Instruction will train the student to aid the dentist in such routine duties as cleaning teeth, taking x-rays and educating the patient in dental health.

The grant will fully equip clinics, offices, waiting rooms, class rooms, locker rooms and scientific laboratories with the latest facilities necessary for this instruction.

In addition to teaching the student special skills, the dental hygiene course will include practical subjects in office procedures, health service and surgical and dental assisting.

The profession is open to young women who are 18 years of age and graduates of an approved high school, with preference given applicants having some previous training in a liberal arts college.

The Caruth School of Dental Hygiene will be housed in the new Basic Science Building recently completed as an addition to the Dental Clinic Building of the College.

Graduates of the school will be awarded a certificate in Dental Hygiene, making them eligible to take the State Board Examination for licensure.

There are approximately 20 schools of Dental Hygiene in the United States approved by the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association.

It is expected that the new school will enroll 30 girls in each class.

Members of the Caruth Foundation are Ben H. Wooten, president; B. F. McLain, vice-president; J. Paul Jackson, secretary-treasurer; and Margaret Yates and Fred M. Lang, members of the grants committee.

The Caruth Foundation has made a number of sizeable grants for scientific research since its establishment in December, 1951, by W. W. Caruth, Jr. Early this year it gave $17,000 to Southwestern Medical Foundation, the Children's Medical Center and the Texas Research Foundation.

Prior to their organization of the Caruth Foundation, Mr. and Mrs. Caruth, Jr. established and completely equipped laboratories for research in children's diseases at the Children's Hospital of Texas in Dallas.

Income Tax Forms To Be Available Director States

Quantities of income tax forms will be available at all offices of the Internal Revenue Service in the Dallas District early in December. District Director Ell's Campbell, Jr. said today. They will be available to taxpayers, accountants, lawyers, and any others who may need them early. It was announced recently by the National Taxpayers Union that direct mailing of forms would not take place until after Christmas and might not be completed until mid-January.

The late mailing move was planned to avoid the loss which has been very heavy in past years when the forms were dispatched at an early date to the nation's millions of taxpayers.

Mr. Campbell reminded taxpayers of the Dallas District that the forms for the calendar year 1964 are different from those of past years, as are the accompanying instruction booklets, new material having been added to each to clarify changes in the tax laws as well as questions which arose concerning various types of deductions and allowances. Persons desiring the new forms prior to their mail release may call for them beginning about December 8 at Internal Revenue Service Office at V. A. Bldg., 1600 Block on 19th Street, Lubbock, Texas.

After a short wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M. the couple will make their home in Lamesa.

Highest-Paid Santa

CHRISTMAS AND hospitality closely interwoven as they are, give the Yuletide a particularly unique flavor in Richmond, Virginia, with its tradition of gift giving in colonial era. Its dramatic store displays thrill adults. For kids, there's Santa—in the flesh!

COMMUNITY'S favorite Santa is William Strother, ex-champion human fly. Annually, 15,000 youngsters sit on his lap at twice-a-day December shows.

Recovering From Bout With Polio

Herbert Funk, 37-year-old Pcp resident who was one of last summer's Polio Victims from this area, is evidently recovering nicely from the effects of the disease, though not yet stout enough not to feel the effect. Funk, whose address is Morton Route, left last week to visit a brother, Leonard, in Bakersfield, Calif., accompanied by a cousin from Enid, Okla.

Doctors report Funk much improved though he still has weakness in his left leg and trunk muscles.

EDITORIALS

HOW MUCH IS A LIFE WORTH?

It's a question that has been debated millions of times for so many years . . . how much is it worth to save a human life. This is a hypothetical story. It may be so far from the true facts, as to sound like pure fiction. But it is credible. It could be true. It could be the story of what did happen Monday night or it could be the story of what may happen to you. Personally, we hope it is far from the facts.

In a funeral parlor in Levelland, a young 20-year-old mother and her only child, a six month old son lay in their coffins this week. But for a slight inconvenience, they might still be alive.

Sure, I know. That kind of logic can be worked in almost any death. But this is a story dedicated to those who continually gripe about our law enforcement officers. For those who believe they are being hounded to death on the Bledsoe road. For those who condemn publicly, our officers because they stopped your car or someone else a time or two near the bar.

If an officer had been on duty that afternoon, a life or two would perhaps have been saved. And, the Negro who finds himself charged in the two hit and run deaths would have been in jail paying a DWI fine, not happily, but in much less trouble than he's in today.

You see the beer found near the scene of the accident was purchased at the nearest bar, just across the state line from Bledsoe. Chances are it came from the hi-run pickup. Probably thrown out by the driver who in all likelihood had been drinking too much. But he never would have gotten to Opdyke, where the accident occurred, if an officer had been on duty. Probably wouldn't have gotten past Whiteface. For people have a habit of letting the Bledsoe Sheriff Deputy know when a drunk driver seems to be making his way back from the bar and, as you to whom this letter is dedicated, we well know our officers have a knack of getting them and charging them with DWI.

But that day the deputy was busy. He had to be in court at Morton. He was busy discussing with lawyers and law enforcement officers the DWI case of another Levelland man . . . another man who was fighting a DWI case, who might himself not be alive to fight case if he hadn't been arrested on another night and forcibly prevented driving his automobile.

And so it goes on, and on. The

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS, NOW

Once again this year Morton's various civic groups have planned a full Christmas season dedicated to two aims, one to bring the spirit of cheer and good will to the hearts of all residents of the Last Frontier trade area and the other, to remind everyone of the full significance of the occasion for which Christmas was originally observed.

The program planned is extensive and wholesome in every respect. But it cannot and will not be successful without the voluntary cooperation of everyone.

The spirit of giving to those less fortunate than we, will be the most important part of the overall program. The more we give of our time and our money, the closer we will be brought to the realness of Santa Claus. For in the happy faces of those underprivileged children who receive toys and food, and in the grateful eyes of their parents will we receive the greatest earthly compensation any man can receive.

But other facets of the program are every bit as significant and every bit as important to the entire community. For instance, anyone who passes off the sending of Christmas cards the writing of letters to Santa; the group singing of Christmas carols as something unimportant; are themselves missing a major portion of the true Christmas spirit.

Help us, in every way you can bring to our community a Christmas program that will not only build up great holiday cheer but will leave a lasting impression on all.

"The Bible is a book in comparison with which all others in my eyes are of minor importance, and which in all my perplexities and distresses has never failed to give me light and strength."

GENERAL Robert E. LEE

The Bible - Source of Light and Strength

With Your... COUNTY AGENT

Homer E. Thompson

Mr. W. D. Ford, Morton, Texas, is farming 7 miles southwest of Morton. In 1953 he reported harvest of cotton on 10 acres of land which had 5 tons cotton burrs applied per acre. The burrs were applied in the fall 1952. The land where the burrs were applied had blown out to the quick, Mr. Ford says. In 1953, Mr. Ford harvested 25% more lint per acre on the burr land. This land was irrigated and it yielded about 3/4 bale per acre average on all his irrigated cotton land in 1953.

The Experiment Station, Lubbock, Texas, Sub-Station No. 8 reports 25 lbs of lint cotton more per acre per ton of burrs applied to land up to two tons with slight increase in lint above two tons of burrs applied per acre up to six tons. In other words, the first two tons of burrs applied to cotton land yielded 50 lbs. more lint cotton per acre, with slightly more yield when 4 to 6 tons of burrs were applied. Therefore, you might say that the point of diminishing returns begins when more than 2 tons of cotton burrs are applied per acre of land.

Last fall, Mr. Ford applied about 5 tons of burrs on two acres of land east of his house on 1954 cotton land. It is too early at this writing to determine how the yield turn out, will be in 1954, but Mr. Ford said, "I only had 8 acres of cotton east of my house in 1954 and it all turned yellow and did not take the irrigation water as well as the two acres which had the burrs applied. The two acres which had the burrs applied did not turn yellow when water was applied and looked much better than did the other 6 acres."

Mr. Ford also stated that where the burrs were applied on his worst 10 acres in fall of 1952 and that he made more cotton yield per acre this year, 1954 on these 10 acres than he made on any other 10 acre spot in his field. That speaks well of the burrs the second year in a row, more especially when he figured this his worst land in 1952 before the burrs were applied.

Cotton varieties, cotton yields and method of harvesting make a great deal of difference in your net income advises Mr. Andy Dunlap, Morton, Texas. Mr. Dunlap likes open cotton and he likes to get it out early. Briefly here is his story. He said, "In 1953, I gathered 100 bales of cotton with a stripper off of 160 acres of stormproof varieties. These varieties of stormproof were storm-master and Macha. Now this year, 1954, I have 155 acres of cotton land. I planted Hybrid cotton. So far I have already gathered 160 bales of cotton and I expect to gather 12 to 14 more bales. This will make 174 bales of cotton on 155 acres. I like this open boll cotton because it opens up in a hurry and I can gather it with National labor. I used 40 Nationals this year to get the first 160 bales."

Raymond Milligan is growing or has grown in 1954 another open boll variety cotton, Empire. Raymond reports he is through harvesting, and this is November 20, 1954. Raymond did work on his cotton fleahoppers early, and that is the reason he has finished with his harvesting. He says his cotton put on quick-matured early and opened. He too, used Mexican Nationals to harvest. His last bale brought over 32c per pound. His Empire cotton turned out good. He estimates it turned out 31% for his earliest pulled to 28.5% for the last pulled. The staple on his cotton pulled from 1" to 1 3/4 inch. Some of his first bales brought better than 34c per pound. In 1954 Raymond has harvested 194 bales of cotton on 143 acres of land.

Haskell Milligan, Morton, Texas is another cotton grower of recognition in Cochran Co. I should have made more than I did but I waited too long to poison for fleahoppers. Haskell said, "I waited three weeks after my son, Raymond, poisoned his, before I started. He'll beat me this year because of that fact. Where Raymond will make close to 1 1/2 bales per acre, I'll make about 1 1/4 bales per acre. I have already harvested a bale to the acre off of my 327 acres of cotton in 1954, but I'll only get about 80 more bales." I estimate that I'll make about 400 bales of cotton on my 327 acres but I could beat that a little. Maybe 410 bales this year. All is Empire cotton variety."

In 1953 Haskell produced 228 bales on 150 acres with Empire variety advises the county agent. Haskell says, "I would have done that this year, if I had poisoned when my boy did."

What You Should Know About Health Insurance

By Jhan and June Robbins

This is the first of a series of articles based on a recent national survey—sponsored by Health Information Foundation a public service organization supported by 165 drug, pharmaceutical, chemical and allied companies—which provides facts about family medical costs and how they are being met.

No. 1—Where Are We Now On Health Insurance?

What happens in your house when someone gets sick, bears a baby, has a set of tonsils removed or breaks a leg and you think about the medical costs involved? Do you say, "Don't worry, we're insured" and go more or less cheerfully off to the hospital? If so, you are one of the 87 million people—57% of the U.S. population—who are enrolled today in hospital insurance plans. If you aren't worried about the doctor's bill either, chances are you're also one of 74 million people who now carry insurance against surgical or medical costs.

The idea that medical emergency need not mean financial disaster is comparatively new. Voluntary health insurance plans began to interest the nation in the early thirties, expanded steadily up to 1939 when five and a half million of us were included. In the next fifteen years membership zoomed dizzyly, doubling and re-doubling as the idea of voluntary health insurance caught on all over the U.S.

Need for Accurate Figures
Meanwhile, however, the nation's economic picture changed and information about how much we actually spend for medical care was hard to find. The last accurate figures were based on a survey dating back to 1932. A few months ago a nationwide survey conducted by the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center brought to light the first reliable, nationwide statistics on the current cost of medical care in the U.S. Chief among their findings was this impressive total: 85,500,000 persons now carry some kind of health insurance—nearly 60% of the total U.S. population!

There is no doubt about it, the preservation of our good health has become one of our chief national interests. Today most of us are no more willing to risk an illness without a doctor than we are willing to risk a fire without a fireman.

Survey of Health Costs
Sponsor of the recent survey of the present-day status of medical costs and voluntary health insurance is the Health Information Foundation, a public service organization backed by 165 drug, pharmaceutical, chemical and allied companies, working under a Citizens' Advisory Committee whose Chairman is former President Herbert Hoover. The Foundation, in consultation with representatives of Blue Cross, Blue Shield and other private insurance plans, social scientists, public health officials and physicians, sought to find out how health in-

Junior High Group Program Friday In Auditorium

A Junior High program at the County Auditorium, admission free, will feature a variety of entertainment for Mortonites under the direction of three teachers, Mrs. Ruth Whitecotton, Mrs. Wanda Behrends and Joe Carroll.

Included on the agenda for the evening will be a play entitled "The Laughing Ghost." The program will start at 7:30 p.m.

Other numbers will include "Easter Parade" by the Junior High choir; twelve boys in a style show number; Sarah McIlroy in an acrobatic number; Sherry Grant, ham singing "Two Front Teeth"; a septet (seven girls) singing about Rudolph; and four other choir numbers: "Teddy Bears Picnic," "Hey, Ho! Silent Night and White Christmas."

Post Office Issues New Regulations

Another important "first" in the Post Office Department—allowing mail users themselves to help shape postal regulations into the most practical, usable form—has been incorporated into the precedent-setting Postal Manual being issued in final form, effective December 1. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

The December 1 edition replaces the preliminary edition originally issued October 21. It contains proposals advanced by the public for improvements in the postal regulations. The suggestions came from large commercial users of the mails, publishers, newspapers, citizens in all walks of life and postal employees themselves.

Postmaster General Summerfield announced, when the preliminary publication was released, that the regulations, originally set for November 20 had to be moved up to the present December 1 date to take advantage of the best of the recommendations.

Among additional changes being made in the final publication are the following:

1. Further clarification of the use of meter stamps has been made. The entire part on meter stamps has been rewritten.
2. Publishers will be allowed to use white or any other light-colored paper for wrapping, instead of being restricted to white or Manila paper—a simple change, but one which will be important financially for this large group of mailers.
3. Another important revision for publishers who are among the largest users of the mails will be one permitting use of light-colored paper for address strips also, instead of the present mandatory white or yellow—another simple change which will have financial importance. As a part of this change, the requirement is abolished that black ink exclusively must be used on the address strips.

4. Specific measurement limitations as to where the "window" must be located in the envelope are changed to eliminate unnecessary restrictive and technical requirements which formerly applied to large mail users.

5. A complete list of territories, possessions and trust territory land included in domestic mail service has been placed in the final Manual—illustration of how the Manual will give complete, basic information for mail users.

6. Strict and unnecessary restrictions on the identifying lettering for rural mail boxes are modified.

These are only a few of scores of suggestions which are included in the final version, Mr. Summerfield noted.

"While many of them appear of a simple nature, their importance for large groups of mail users is great, and sometimes the value of a single one of these changes made as a result of public cooperation may be worth thousands of dollars to individual mail users," Mr. Summerfield commented.

In addition to the improvements brought about by the final manual, Mr. Summerfield recalled that the preliminary edition itself brought about a basic revision of postal regulations, providing many important improvements.

This included provisions under which innocent mailers have been plagued by professional informers who took advantage of the mailers' unwitting violations of "booby trap" regulations—obsolete and unenforceable provisions formerly buried among the 4,000 pages of official publications. Innocent violators of these provisions laid mailers open to the possibility of court suit, particularly those investigated by professional informers.
