Yes, son, I'm sure glad to see you. All I've got to do now is make out my annual report and it's all yours. And you're welcome to it. Believe me, you're going to need all the help you can get to stick it out for a full year.

Oh, I know. You're young and inexperienced and full of pep. You've got a lot of bright ideas how things are going to be changed. I was that way last January, when I took over. Only thing is, no one put me wise to what I was going to have to face.

You might not believe it but I wasn't skeptical and critical and pessimistic when I took over. I just knew everything would come out all right, in the end. And, I went through half the year and still had faith . . . then the pessimism got the better of me. I got to checking around and found that everyone was at fault. In a way it was a city of people tearing against one another. They, of course, were the losers.

Let me tell you about it. And, show you why a man can get so old, and weary and disgusted in just one year. Started out fine. Back in January everyone was full of pep on the March of Dimes drive and the Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce were getting ready to open a brand new County Office and Activities building with a big fanfare. That sounded good to me. The March of Dimes is a fund to help pay the bills in the fight to conquer a terrible disease, Polio. The County building was the answer to a long need in Cochran County, a place where large groups could congregate for meetings, dinners and just good fellowship.

The money came in all right, on that March of Dimes, but I soon detected people had a kind of grudging attitude. First thing you know the merchants and others were complaining. They were being "March of Dimes" to death. Instead of just saying no, I've already given, they began to complain that the money wasn't all going to a good cause, and that some organization was getting a kick-back, and all sorts of things. Well, I overlooked it. They didn't know how close the scourge of polio was going to come to their own town, their own hearts, before the year was over. They never dreamed they'd lose one of their own.

On that County building deal, they opened it with a bang. Brought in a University choir, had some real pretty music. You know, big time stuff. Course there wasn't too many showed up, but those that did enjoyed it and the others, I figured had something else more important to do.

Then what do you suppose happened? Got to checking around and found a lot of the people didn't come because they'd never heard of the Eastern New Mexico choir. Next door neighbors, but they hadn't taken time to even know they were around. Some others just figured they didn't like that kind of music. Others were mad because they said it wasn't a community building at all, just for the use of a few Morton people. In fact, along later in the year I heard a conversation between two men and one decided he wouldn't even vote because they were going to hold the election in the County building. He'd read about how much money they'd spent on it and got so mad he swore he'd never go near the place. Who do you reckon he was spitting?

Things went along pretty good for awhile. Sold quite a few poll taxes, seemed like folks were really interested in the local politics. Then I found out they were reserving the right to vote AGAINST the ones they didn't like, instead of voting FOR the man they wanted.

Seemed like every merchant in town threw a big sale last January and February. Some pretty good prices, too. And they did fairly well. But I'd like to have a nickel for every one of the ladies both in town and in the County who spent their time arguing that they could get it cheaper in Lubbock, and this merchant and that merchant was marking up prices, and they could get this item here, and that one. Course there was no telling them that their credit was at home not at Lubbock; that their local merchant was offering services; delivery, fittings, exchange if needed, and a dozen or so other things not to mention supporting all of their pet funds, and their churches, and schools, etc. What Lubbock merchant was doing that.

You'd be surprised how many people were in that group, too. There wasn't any arguing with them. Just a way they had of wanting to get to a bigger town and get away from home. But most of them wouldn't admit it. Course they were the first to holler if a merchant failed to buy a ticket to their club pie supper, or failed to buy a page ad in their daughter's school annual.

Along in February or March we had a local election. Should the city spend $110,000 for waterworks and sewer improvements. That was the question. But boy oh boy, they had arguments on every street corner. Why so and so wasn't going to vote, and why a certain group wasn't included in the city limits, and why they got city water without paying city taxes, etc. Result was that they voted it down by a overwhelming margin. Maybe I should have taken a hint from a fellow over in Whiteface who committed suicide about that time. But somehow, I thought things would get better.

We had a wave of burglaries, and a couple of men got into an argument over a woman and shot one another, and pretty soon a real shot in the arm came. They opened up a new postal route to New Mexico. I just knew that was going to solve a lot of problems. Look at all the time we'd save on letters and all mail, for that matter, west of town. Then the squabble started again. Who was responsible, Morton or Portales. Where was the postal route going to originate. Which post office would get the credit. Which city would furnish the carrier. Enough to drive a man mad.

But these people, even with their natural human instinct to quarrel a little, had resourcefulness. They'd stop a bunch of this peddling from door to door by out of town merchants. They'd just drawn up an antipeppercorn ordinance. That'd stop 'em. And what do you know. They got it passed. Course I knew there were going to be a few innocent people hurt. Always is, no matter what you do. But it looked like they might solve a real problem. But that's where I got fooled again. First thing was, the city passed it and then decided they couldn't enforce it. All it did was get a bunch of people mad and the boys on the City Commission were sure glad it was time for new elections. I don't blame 'em. They got criticized from every corner. But after all, doesn't that happen to all men in office?

Well sir, we had the elections, city, school and county. And the people were determined to do something about things. They held two downtown meetings and aired all their grievances against the School Board and the City. They drew up lists of candidates and really turned out the vote.

But in the long run it came out about like you'd expect it to. The school election found about half the old members and half the new candidates being elected. And they've had their troubles since, just like all school boards always have. Some problems they've solved, others just get tougher to solve all the time.

In the city the new candidates were chosen and they stepped right in on a bunch of complaints. They've weathered the storm pretty well. They've been a really busy group. But I've a hunch, if you asked them, you'd find they'd just as soon someone else take over and make the next decision. A hurricane blew in here early this year. They called 'em Savings Stamps. The housewives, plenty of the men too, went wild about 'em. Why shouldn't they. It meant they were getting something extra. Some merchants jumped at the chance to start 'em. Others felt that they were forced into it. Others just stood and watched the fire works. First thing you know a bunch claimed they were upping prices to pay for the stamps. Others argued that so-and-so's stamps were worth more than somebody else's. But the stamps stayed on. And the merchants continued to pay thousands of dollars of potential profits for them, most of it going out of town. What could they do? They weren't close enough to all get together and just stop giving them. They felt like they had to have them to keep people trading at home.

Course they knew people were going out of town to cash in the stamps in most instances. But that was a necessary evil. In fact, I'd like to know how much Christmas buying through stamp books went out of Morton. A pretty penny, I'd bet.

Still groping for a solution they started a program they called We Thank You Day, or something like that. Guaranteed to bring people to town. They'd win money . . . money they could spend only in Morton. Then the hitch came. You couldn't mention a word about it in the paper. Couldn't even breathe a word about it in the mail. Illegal. Violates some postal regulation. Not illegal to have it, the Secretary General says, but illegal as far as postal regulations. Well, sir, that killed it before it got started. But the merchants were again left holding the well worn sack. They'd started it and people expected someone to hand them some free money every Saturday. Last time I checked it was struggling along . . . a good idea, but not worth a hoot if you couldn't advertise it.

You might think the farmers haven't had their problems, but they have. We just didn't get to that yet. Along about last spring they got a real moral booster when the government announced it had raised the cotton acreage allotment. Meant they could sow more cotton. Maybe make more bales and a little money. But the drought continued, money got harder to get, and they couldn't farm without money. A lot of them couldn't pay their bills but they had to live. Somebody had to extend the credit. They got a little rain, prospects began looking up, then, just like a sudden invasion, insects swooped down and before anyone knew it they'd eaten their way through 10,000 bales of cotton.

Even with all that, the general farm outlook is better. They don't seem to be in as bad shape as they were. Maybe it's because they were in such horrible shape when the year started. Anyway they've still got someone to tell them how much cotton they can grow. Some of 'em wouldn't grow anything but cotton, a bet. Cash crop. That's what a lot of them want. Couldn't convince them that the boys who sowed all those potatoes last spring, cleaned up. Too many of a gamble they say. I say, what is farming but a gamble anyway. Looks like it's just like any other business. If you work as hard as you can, you've a better than even chance of making it. But some are against drilling water wells, some won't plant anything but cotton, some want to get their cotton early, some will wait. And, as is always the case, some make money, some don't. Some trade in Morton, some don't.

Looking at the final statistics, son, I'd say your best place to start, if you want to be optimistic, is with the farmers. Plenty of 'em are still pessimistic, but there was quite a bit of cotton ginned this year.

You know what I think was the best thing that happened in Cochran County this year? The construction of a gasoline plant. Of course it came in over the objections of lots of folks who wouldn't have lifted a finger to get it here. I can't exactly tell you why, unless they just liked things the way they were. But here's something that could really change the picture of things in Cochran County. Could be, through the gas plant we could get a railroad. Don't think that wouldn't mean a lot to some of the local merchants. The plant could also bring a nice payroll to help a town sorely in need of cash. It could bring a few real nice homes, some permanent residents.

Yep, for my money that's the best thing that's happened here. But how many took the time to even say hello, and welcome, to the president of the company when he came to town? About a half dozen or so. Then they went out there to see what the place looked like, not to meet the man who was responsible.

Oh well, some more of that human nature you're going to get accustomed to. The same people got all worked up because the Whiteface girls edged out our local girls in Basketball. The same people spent all year long complaining about the drought, and the Republican administration, and the garbage service, and the phone service, and a jillion other things.

Speaking of these last two, the City caught heck on them. They passed a covered garbage can ordinance to stop polo but that ordinance seems to have been lost in the fog. Just last week the phone company put the heat on for increased phone rates and you can imagine what a holler the local folks put up. That's all the good it's going to do 'em, in the long run.

What were the organizations doing all this time? Well sir, about ten of 'em were meeting every night, but they came up with some good things. The Lions had a minstrel and two turkey shoots. They made some folks mad and some happy. But they also put some money to work for some good causes. The garden club had a flower show. It was a good one too. Some liked it, some didn't. The study clubs kept studying, the sewing clubs kept sewing and they all pitched in and helped on the various community projects. The Chamber of Commerce met every month and wrestled with a hundred or more ideas. They put some money to good use on the Fat Stock show, and the Christmas program, etc.

The Jaycees ran into a little trouble. They booked a fine singing quartet, had to cancel it when some of the members of the quartet were killed in a plane crash, and then brought the re-organized Blackwood Bros. to town for the biggest, best attended program ever held in the new auditorium. Course some of these soreheads we mentioned before didn't come because it was to be in the auditorium. And some didn't come because the Jaycees were sponsoring it. And some didn't want to hear quartet music.

And speaking of organizations, the Scouts, and the 4-Hers, the Campfires and the FHA probably did the most good of all. They all kept busy. These youngsters of ours accomplished a lot of good. But the folks here are mad because they didn't win football games, and they drove their family cars too fast, and they want to quit school and they want to get married before they grow up. Guess, at one and the same time, they're the hope of the future and the troublemakers of today. We got along with 'em alright. They're not so different from any other kids. Just want something to do, to keep them busy, to help them get some real enjoyment out of youth. Can't blame 'em for that. Folks here just haven't gotten together on how to provide these things.

We had a dandy rodeo. Everyone worked on it. It was a big success. We also had a fine color guard. Best in the state and 8th best in the nation. Didn't get the recognition they really deserved. Sheriff Posse did well again. Won lots of trophies.

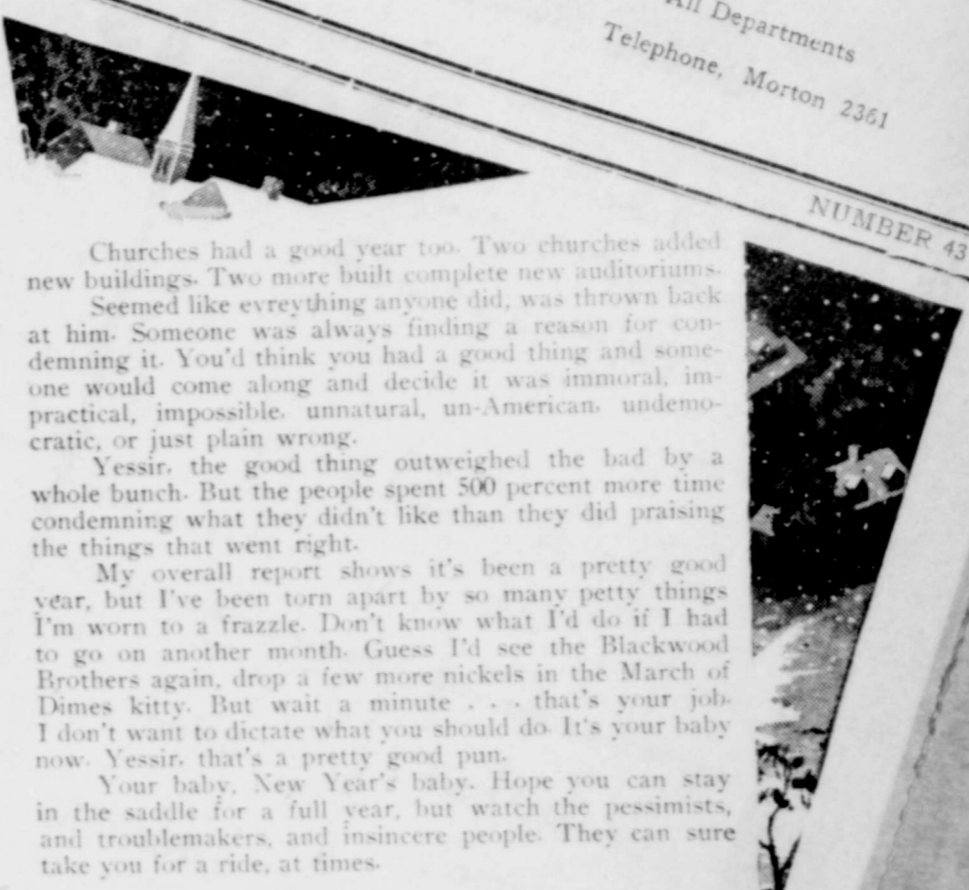

Let's see. What else did we have? A terrapin derby, lots of fun. Swance, a real good touring stage show. Most everyone liked it. Pretty good class plays. A band and choral concert. They're good too. Another hotly contested softball league. Built a Little League Park, too. You ought to see some real good kid baseball next summer. Now, when you add it up, we seem to be coming across a lot of good things. Kinda been taking them for granted, I guess. Merchants say they had a pretty good fall season. A little late but Christmas buying was fair. Breakins were stopped. Not many traffic accidents. Course one is too many, but the overall record is pretty good.

Oh yes, the County had its troubles too. I knew we'd think of some more things the people griped about. Some of the people wanted an audit, some of the Commissioners didn't seem to want one. Same thing came up in naming a tax evaluator. Some wanted this one, some wanted another.

And that County election created quite a stir. Got so many men involved in one race, some people didn't even want to vote. But someone had to win and the others had to lose. All in all, weren't many replacements. Reckon the people weren't so dissatisfied as some might think. State Legion Commander visited and told us Communists were skunks, anywhere you find 'em. Guess he was right.

Congressman came and told us the government's arm program was all wet, it was lousy. Another man came with him and seemed to think it was alright. Those two guys couldn't get together on anything.

Yes, there were sure a lot of things happened, when you look back on it. We've all been guilty, far too often too, of preaching one thing and practicing another. But me, I'm like those guys at the City Hall, and some of those old school Board members, and the former City Secretary and lots of others I know. I'm kinda glad my part of it is over.

Churches had a good year too. Two churches added new buildings. Two more built complete new auditoriums. Seemed like everything anyone did, was thrown back at him. Someone was always finding a reason for condemning what they didn't like than they did praising the things that went right.

My overall report shows it's been a pretty good year, but I've been torn apart by so many petty things I'm worn to a frazzle. Don't know what I'd do if I had to go on another month. Guess I'd see the Blackwood Brothers again, drop a few more nickels in the March of Dimes kitty. But wait a minute . . . that's your job. I don't want to dictate what you should do. It's your baby now. Yes, sir, that's a pretty good pun.

Your baby, New Year's baby. Hope you can stay in the saddle for a full year, but watch the pessimists, and troublemakers, and insincere people. They can sure take you for a ride, at times.

Happy New Year

With Your... COUNTY AGENT

4-H Cotton Contest

In 1954 35 4-H Club members entered the District 4-H cotton contest in Cochran County. Of this number, one member dropped out, only one lost his cotton during a sandstorm, and another failed to complete his record. No records have been completed to date, but 32 members are in the process of completion. All records due here in the county agent's office by Jan. 7.

The list of members completing no. of acres, and variety of cotton planted are listed.

The Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Lubbock, Texas is giving $1000.00 to the District 4-H cotton contest. The top six growing irrigated cotton will receive $500 total cash awards and the top six growing dry land cotton will also receive $500.00 total cash award. Only the winner in each division will be selected from county to compete in District contest. If there are any other cash awards for the county, it will come from the local ginners. Some ginners have talked favorably about giving a county cash award.

To date there have been no contributions made by ginners but likely there will be some contributions made before the contest is completed. An achievement program will be held in February for all county contestants in Cochran County. The 4-H cotton program is fitting to this county as cotton makes up about 40% of our total cash income to farmers. If anyone wishes to contribute to this program, please contact Earl Crum or W. M. Butler, who are two members of the county 4-H Cotton measuring committee.

Records in this contest will be due in the county agent's office by Jan. 7. Records include the following: 1. 4-H Cotton record book (available at county agent's office); 2. Certificate by measuring committee, parents and county agent; 3. Gin tickets—attached to record book; 4. Narrative—based on your experience in growing cotton in 1954.

1954 COTTON CROP

This year many farmers have been disappointed in their cotton yields. Some are blaming the variety planted, some blaming the cotton fleahoppers on irrigated cotton and other factors such as no money to buy insecticides, cool weather in May too much early watering when stalks are not loaded, etc.

Many farmers are turning away from Macha, but all are not agreed on one variety. Reports to date by local farmers show these varieties coming to the front: Lankart, Empire, Northern Star, Dunn 7, Hybrid, and Storm Master. Storm Master is stormproof — Lankart, Northern Star, and Dunn 7 — are storm resistant, and Empire and Hybrid are open boll cotton.

Mr. Andy Dunlap reports a yield of over 170 bales Hybrid on 155 acres. He used Nationals to gather 160 bales early and stripped the remainder.

Raymond Milligan gathered 194 bales of Empire on 143 acres. He poisoned early and took care of the fleahoppers. His cotton was loaded when he irrigated it.

David Alton Cates, 4-H boy, reports verily that 10 bales of Northern Star was harvested on 4 1/2 acres. This is over 2 bales to the acre. The cotton was grown where perennial pasture was grown in preceding years. I'll get the information collected and pass it on to you in later reports as records are completed.

4-H Meetings

During December 1954, six 4-H meetings were held by the county agent with 201 4-H members attending. Films were shown in each of these meetings on "Bountiful Harvest" and "Flye Bandits on Cotton". These pictures gave a good history on insects both harmful and beneficial on field crops grown in this area. The films were sound and in technicolor. The 4-H boys got a good lesson in control measures and insect identification. The Bledsoe 4-H Club boys and girls teamed up to have Christmas party together. With 4-H club leadership programs in games and recreation with such leaders as Jerry

By Eddie Irwin
FOR THE FIRST time in our lives that we can remember, we missed old man weather this week. Not that we didn't have plenty of help. And right here and there, before we forget, let us offer our thanks to weathermen all over the country and radiomen who use their forecasts.

we had...
DRIVEN TO INDIANA for Christmas. The trip up was uneventful. About 24 hours driving time, no rain, no snow, no accidents along the way.
then...
WE STARTED BACK Sunday afternoon knowing we had to get back sometime Tuesday in order to help get out the paper. We'd seriously considered stopping over at a motel somewhere around St. Louis. We'd still have plenty of time to make it and the drive would be easier.

somewhere...
AROUND SPRINGFIELD, Ill., we started hearing the weather predictions on the car radio. Already we were in a driving down-pour of rain. The weather forecasts said it would continue and the next day (Monday evening) it would turn into ice sleet and snow. We got past St. Louis, tempted to stop-over but the rain continued to come down in torrents. It'd let up for a few minutes, then began anew. Still the temperature was high but each radio forecast said it was getting colder up in Minnesota, then it crept into upper Iowa and Illinois and headed for Missouri. So we kept going, deciding driving in the downpour of rain was better than waiting and getting snowed in.

thankful for what benefits it will bring, at least for a little while, instead of griping because we didn't get more.
swinging into...
THE NEW YEAR, we're certainly off to a much better start than we had last year, that is, as far as the weather is concerned. Last January saw very little moisture in these parts and farmers hopes for a good winter season had dimmed considerably by February 1st.

judging from...
THE RAIN WE ran into in Oklahoma, they too are going to be off to a good start. And all along the way we heard nothing but cheery things and saw little but smiling faces. Oklahoma, like the Texas South Plains has been in the midst of a serious drought for a long, long time.

for those...

WHO WONDER why the Nativity Scene vanished so quickly after Christmas, it was from necessity rather than by choice. Monday night a strong wind caused a short circuit in the wiring and also tipped over the stable. So the figures were rescued by a couple of Jaycees and put away for safe keeping. this kind...

OF WEATHER makes news. In fact, it makes so much news you can't get it all in the paper. So many people got stuck in the snow Monday, or had minor collisions (Continued on Page 8)

CONTINUED TO dog our path, all night long through Springfield, Missouri, to Joplin, and then into Oklahoma. Tulsa, at daybreak and it was still pouring down rain. We kept on through Oklahoma City and got clear to the Texas line around Shamrock where the rains stopped. But weather forecasts behind us said that St. Louis already had icy streets.
when we...
GOT TO AMARILLO there were a few traces of light snow. By the time we reached Dimmitt we were headed into high winds and sand. At Littlefield the snow began to fall very lightly. By the time we got to Enochs it was snowing pretty hard and into Morton.
just as...
TYPICAL we were as thousands of people we've talked to the last year. We moaned and groaned about driving in the rain. Made caustic remarks about how it would probably stop before we got to Texas, and even griped like the dickens when we ran into the sand.
so now...
BEFORE WE forget to total up all we had to be thankful for, let us say we were extremely fortunate to get home before the ice and snow came, extremely lucky to decide to drive on through the rain, extremely lucky that not only we had no accidents but saw only one, that in the corner of Texas on the way back, and extremely lucky to have had a wonderful Christmas holiday at home.
we hope...
YOU, TOO, had a happy holiday. Now that we have had some snow, what do you say we try to be

Two local residents and one akeview man were responsible Christmas day for the rescue of two unidentifed Lubbock fishermen whose small boat captized on Lake Kemp.

The Lubbock men had been using a small home-made boat for fishing when their motor ran out of gas. The boat turned sideways to the wind and was rolled over by the oncoming waves.

They had cut loose the motor and were attempting to tie themselves to the partly submerged boat when W. W. Williamson and Carl Ray, both of Morton, and Lyman Davenport of Lakeview, saw their plight and made rescue.

bickering. Little things assume far too much importance. And, in actuality, the mistakes that you and I make, honestly as we go through the year, are seized upon by others to judge us by.

instead of . . .

WISHING FOR less mistakes, as our one all-important New Year's wish, we are going to wish that the mistakes we do make are not considered too harshly. We'll go on making the mistakes. To err, is human. We don't have to go on holding these small mistakes against the man who makes them.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

A CIO blast at Governor Allan Shivers and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has been answered by the latter.

Shepperd said "certain fanatics in CIO have never yet admitted that they made a mistake in bringing the Communist DPOWA into Port Arthur in 1953".

At a CIO convention here, John V. Rifle, executive vice president of the national CIO, called for an immediate settlement of the Port Arthur strike. He sent a telegram to 11 Port Arthur businessmen asking for a "peace conference". Port Arthur people declined to meet with the CIO.

Rifle said he hoped to find an end to the long dispute while he was in Texas. At the same time he asked Shepperd "to use his good influence" to bring about a settlement.

Shepperd stated that he and Governor Shivers were willing to meet anywhere at any time with labor and management representatives to seek a settlement of the strike.

Meanwhile the CIO set aside $200,000 to finance continuation of the 13-month-old labor dispute.

Labor Board

A decision on what to do about $1,167,758 of outh Texas land deals said to be fraudulent was delayed by the State Veterans Land Board.

Three South Texas land companies had offered to assume liability on that amount of land transactions which the firms promoted during the last four years.

Attorney General John B. Shepperd, who said the land sales showed evidence of fraudulent misrepresentation, told the Land Board that acceptance of the offer would violate the State Constitution.

The Board agreed to a one-week investigation period before announcing its decision.

Mental, TB Patents

An increase of 1,100 beds for Texas TB patients and better treatment of mental cases has been urged by Governor Shivers.

Two other steps advocated to a state hospital advisory committee by Shivers included:

1. Making provisions for at least 50 beds for children under six suffering from tuberculosis.
2. Abolishing procedure of trial by jury to determine a person's sanity, with admission to mental hospitals based instead on medical examination.

Turnpike Funds

Texas Turnpike Authority members have authorized the issuance of $58,500,000 in revenue bonds to finance the Dallas-Fort Worth toll road.

Members voted to make an offer to the Republic National Bank of Dallas to be one of the three trustees for the bonds.

After approval by the Attorney General, the bond issue is expected to undergo a Texas Supreme Court test to determine its legal validity.

Oil Money

Financial problems facing the Texas legislature have been slightly eased by oil production boosts.

A 297,307 barrel increase permitted ted for January in oil allowables brings to about 400,000 barrels the total boosts allowed since October. As a result, state tax revenue will be $1,500,000 a month higher.

Oil Outlook

Prospects have never been brighter for the state's oil industry than in 1955, says Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson.

Thompson said that heavy demands for gasoline and distillate fuels were responsible for the optimistic outlook.

Marriage Ban

Abolishment of Common Law marriages in Texas has been asked by a State Bar committee meeting in Austin.

Judges on the executive committee of the Bar's judicial section said the law would reduce the problem of illegit money and would help save welfare funds.

Insane People

"Not all the insane people are in the asylums" says Mrs. Richard Bergen, coordinator of volunteer activities for the Austin State Hospital.

As proof, Mrs. Bergen submits evidence of some of the gifts sent mental patients for Christmas. They include unwashed underclothing, dirty neckties, ripped dresses, shattered plaster plaques, cigar butts used facial tissue, worn out gloves that don't match, soleless shoes covered with paint, lots and lots of junk costume jewelry and some lewd articles . . . all of which came wrapped as Christmas gifts.

More than one-third of the 6,000 gifts sent the patients were of this nature.

"Some people apparently think the hospital is full of nothing but raving maniacs who don't know the difference between a decent gift and a piece of junk," says Mrs. Berger. "They couldn't be more wrong."

YOUNG MATRONS MET

WITH MRS. DON HOFFMAN

The Y. M. Jr. Study Club held a meeting December 9 at the home of Mrs. Don Hoffman. Mrs. Jug Hill had the program, which was titled "Christmas Ideas." Mrs. Charles Jones was guest speaker. She wrapped some beautiful packages to show how to wrap properly. Mrs. Hill showed many clever arrangements and decorations. Fifteen members attended.

TO NAME STATES

TOP YOUNG MEN

GRAND PRAIRIE, Dec. 22, (Spl.)—Rocky Ford, Midland, president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today the names of seven prominent Texas leaders, who will comprise the judging panel to determine the Five Outstanding Young Texans of 1954, a program which is sponsored annually by the Texas Jaycees.

The judging panel includes: Mr. Charles E. Beard, of Dallas, president of Braniff International Airways; Mr. J. Harold Dunn of Amarillo, president of Shamrock Oil & Gas Corporation; Mr. G. L. Farned of Baytown, plants manager of Humble Oil & Refining Company; Mr. Houston Harte, publisher, San Angelo, Texas; Mr. Charles P. McGaha, president of City National Bank of Wichita Falls; Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, Dallas; and Mr. James E. Taylor of Austin, Executive Director, Texas Motor Transportation Association.

Public announcement of the Five Outstanding Young Texans of 1954 will be made Sunday, December 26th. A state-wide banquet will be held in Midland, Texas, on the night of January 15th, 1955, honoring the recipients.

The special ceremonies will climax the state observance of National Jaycee Week, January 14th through the 21st. Ford said: "The prime purpose of the program is to honor the five young men in Texas who, because of extraordinary talent and initiative, have made during their lifetime what is considered to be the most important contributions to their profession and to the general welfare of the people; to present to the State of Texas concrete evidence that success in our free enterprise system is still available to those young men who strive to achieve."

The Honorable John Ben Shepperd, Attorney General of Texas, will deliver the main address at the Midland banquet and Rocky Ford, Texas Jaycee president, will present gold key awards and certificates to the Five Outstanding Young Texans.

John I. M. McDonald of Midland, chairman for the F. O. Y. T. Program, said: "The Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce is honored to serve as hosts for the state-wide event which is expected to attract over 500 Jaycees and visitors from all parts of the state."

It would appear that the family tree of some confidence men must be a slippery elm.

Action speaks louder than words—but many people attempt to shout actions down.

The man who has talent for criticism will be unwise if he fails to use it on himself.
