EFFICIENT FEEDING

AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Preparing Steers For Shipment To Market

Old-time cattlemen were very much concerned about "drift" or loss of weight in cattle being driven long distances to market. They would make sure of plenty of grass and water enroute, provide salt and permit the animals sufficient stops for chewing their cud. In other words they would, as much as possible, provide the comforts of home to keep the cattle contented in order to hold the weight losses low.

Dr. Bohstedt

Such loss of weight enroute to market is not eliminated by modern conditions where cattle are shipped by train or truck. The modern cattlemen are still concerned and careful to minimize the loss.

More nervous tension under the crowded and uncomfortable shipping conditions has a tendency to pull weight off the cattle. Depending on the distance to market, this weight may not be entirely "fill," but also actual tissue loss-weight. For the most part, however, it is the reduction of the contents of the digestive tract, and in recognition of that fact a buyer weighing steers right out of a feed lot customarily, by agreement, discounts the scale weight perhaps 4 per cent.

Where the steers are to be weighed at the stock yards or packing plant, the shrink enroute can be held down if you follow these pre-shipment management practices. On the evening before shipment and on the morning before loading, reduce both corn and silage, if any is fed, to one-half the customary level. Allow free access to the hay that has been fed all along, and to water all night long, so that the cattle feel reasonably full and comfortable. However, you should shut the steers away from water first thing in the morning so they won't be in a sloshing condition during transport.

The modern cattlemen's principle here is the same as that of the oldtimers—comfortable cattle suffer less weight loss than those whose comfort has not been considered.

Question: How much salt do horses need?

Answer: Studies at Michigan, Mississippi and other stations show that horses and mules differ greatly in their individual consumption of salt, and they consume different amounts at different seasons, also according to their activity. In one study, the salt intake of 12 horses ranged from a high of 3.26 ounces per day to a low of about 1/2 ounce per day. Because of the wide variation it is advisable for horses and mules to have constant access to loose salt. Use of iodized or trace mineralized salt for horses is becoming increasingly prevalent.

To the FARMERS of Texas' Last Frontier — From your local J. I. Case Dealer
 DID YOU KNOW that in the first six months of this year hundreds upon hundreds of farmers all over the country have traded in their "conventional drive" tractors for one or more of our revolutionary CASE-O-MATIC DRIVE models?
 DID YOU KNOW that because of farmers' widespread acceptance of CASE-O-MATIC DRIVE, J. I. Case Company sales have increased more this year than those of any other farm equipment manufacturer? (First six months sales are way up — more than 50 per cent over 1957!)
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE-O-MATIC DRIVE new-look tractor styling is way out in front and is being copied more and more?
 DID YOU KNOW that with the special low introductory price now in effect you can buy a CASE-O-MATIC DRIVE tractor for less money today than at anytime in the foreseeable future?
 DID YOU KNOW that a 1960 CASE-O-MATIC DRIVE tractor actually costs less than most so-called current model "conventional drive" tractors of similar plow-pulling capacity?
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE senses the load, doubles pull -power automatically without shifting or stalling... this greater operational efficiency gives more work output every minute, every hour, every day.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE permits you to stop and start without changing gears or using the clutch — justlike your 1959 - 1960 automobile.
 DID YOU KNOW that tests under actual field conditions show that a CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE tractor will use less fuel per acre of plowing than most other tractors you can buy? Farmers are proving this every day all over the country on their farms.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE enables most farmers to add another plow bottom, thereby reducing their plowing time by as much as 25 per cent to 33 per cent?
 DID YOU KNOW that only CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE gives you all 3: Torque converter drive for heavy loads; direct drive for lighter loads; and independent PTO with engine power priority for more efficient baling, chopping, combining.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE brings new efficiency to machinery whether new or old? New efficiency in plowing, disking, planting, cultivating, harvesting... a very real increase in operational efficiency to all farm machinery.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE absorbs shock loads, prolongs life of both tractor and implement? That is why all CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE torque converter units carry a double warranty, twice the warranty period on conventional tractor transmissions.
 DID YOU KNOW that the clutch in CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE factors is hydraulically actuated, requires no adjusting? There is no burning, no occasion for excessive wear and tear.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE reduces tire slippage to a measurable minimum, improves traction, adds mile - upon - mile to tire life? Power is applied smoothly... you start out evenly and surely in the field or on the highway.
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE can start heavy loads smoothly in road gear by merely pressing the accelerator... that you can come to a stop, and start out again without clutching or shifting, even on grades?
 DID YOU KNOW that CASE - O - MATIC DRIVE is easier and safer to operate than conventional tractors... keeps you fresher at the end of the day because you drive the tractor and control your implements with less effort?
 We are willing to stake our reputation on the fact that the statements and the features listed above can be proved or demonstrated to the satisfaction of any prospective customer.

LEILA PETTY
4-H LEADERSHIP CAMP
The Snodgrass and Judy...
The group in which I attended was "People to People". In our discussions we learned how to understand and get along with people.

Here are a few thoughts that I would like to pass on to you: You must understand a person to know why he acts, feels and behaves as he does. To understand a person, you must first realize he is an individual, there is no other exactly like him, there are no others who like the same things he does, no others who want the same things out of life, no other who was brought up the same as he, nor has anyone experienced the same things as he has. He sees things a different way. His wants and needs are very important to him — very important in understanding him too.

Maybe before we try to understand the other person, we should understand ourselves. What do you think?

BY JUDY RORR
The District 4-H Leadership Camp was held on the 22, 23 and 24 of July. There were approximately 223 members that attended. The girls and boys from our county were Zada Bea Snodgrass, Paula Burnett, Linda Welch, Billy Ray Stevill, Dickey Walker, Lester Dupler, Earl Cox and myself.

When we arrived we were divided into eight groups. Each of us in a different one.

The group which I was in was "Planning 4-H Club Meetings and Special Events". In our first meeting we discussed what we needed in our clubs. In our second meeting we planned a 4-H club meeting.

And, in our third meeting, we held the meeting we had planned. In our fourth meeting we planned a party which we held in the same meeting with make believe food. We also told what we liked or disliked about the camp. We had General Assemblies after each of our group meetings in which all of the people came and we told what we had done in our group. In our last General Assembly we elected Chairmen and Council Members for next year's camp. The reporters from each group told what we had done in our last meetings and what we liked and disliked about the camp. There were a few complaints, but all in all we really enjoyed the Leadership Camp.

HOME DEMONSTRATION PICNIC
About forty adults and children attended the Home Demonstration Club picnic in the County Park Tuesday morning. Swimming was enjoyed during the morning. A picnic lunch was spread under the shade trees at the noon hour. It was a very pleasant outing for all who attended.

After the lunch a short training meeting for delegates to the state meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting was held. The meeting will be August 13-14-15 in Austin.

Delegates from Cochran County are Mmes. G. C. Keith of Whitewater; Mrs. Arvel Snodgrass of Lehman; and Mrs. L. Z. Scoggins, Friendly Circle. Alternates are Mrs. Owend Cliffo of POP and Mrs. C. C. Benham, County Line.

Delegates and visitors from this area will travel on chartered buses to Austin. They will leave Tuesday and return Friday, August 15.

QUITE A FEW area men were among the estimated 15,000 who were expected at Possum Kingdom, yesterday, as the government attempted to poison out the carp & other scavenger fish and requested as many anglers as possible, with nets and grappling hooks, to be on hand to catch the ill fish as they came to the surface.

not for our sake, and NOT FOR MRS WOOLAM'S sake, and not even for the pupiles' sake — but for the sake of the two Woolam youngsters, we hope there are some readers this week who even find a home for the puppies Mrs. Thomas Woolam has to give away. Don't know why, but there is little more tragic than a kid being forced to part with a pet and the only known "balm" is the realization that the pet will find a new home, rather than an early grave.

ARE IN ORDER for the Cochran County Hospital on the installation of their brand new X-Ray machine. You ought to run by, not during the busy part of the day, but at an off hour and let Ernest Seale show you the new machine. He's plenty proud of it, as what hospital manager wouldn't be.

few more confused, but certainly all went away with a little better knowledge of how the political game is played and all who attended had a healthy interest generated within them. Why is this so important? Simply because democracy is the most powerful weapon of the demagogues. If people continue to show an interest, it's pretty hard to spirit away the freedoms to which we are entitled.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Hogs On Pasture And Dry Lot

Until recently, pasture was considered indispensable to successful swine management. Pasture is still desirable, but in a more restricted sense.

After a normal weaning age pigs that are to go to market can be grown and fattened on concrete just as well as on pasture. Successful swine production in the dry lot is made possible by modern research which has developed pastures, substitutes and efficient nutritional aids. Alfalfa meal, Vitamin A and D, speciality mixes, antibiotics and fortified protein concentrates provide so well that a growing pig in dry lot hardly misses pasture while fed such modern rations. Trace mineral salt and mineral mixes complete the rations and guard against mineral deficiency losses.

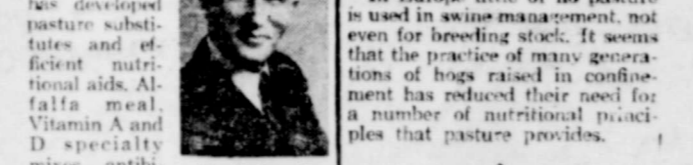

Even so, we still like to have sows or breeding stock in general and suckling pigs on pasture. Somehow the green feed and other environmental factors, and exposure to sun-hits, make for conditions that better serve the different phases of reproduction and early growth.

With a good pasture start, newly weaned thirty pigs, fed modern rations, stand a good chance of making rapid and economical gains while confined in clean and comfortable quarters. They need not see a single speck of grass, for the modern rations provide all their nutrient needs. One factor making for more efficient gains is that, with a confinement diet, a lot of fat is deposited on the pig's body when on pasture.

Sanitation is essential, of course, whether on pasture or in dry lot and any concrete feeding floor should be equipped for ready flushing with plenty of water.

In Europe little or no pasture is used in swine management, not even for breeding stock. It seems that the practice of many generations of hogs raised in confinement has reduced their need for a number of nutritional principles that pasture provides.

Question: What success have the new blood controls had so far?
Answer: There are several controls to report on. Penicillin-salt mix, tested at Mississippi State College, and now on the market, has been very effective when fed on a free-choice basis. One herd of steers that were bled 99 per cent of the time while grazing ladino clover went down to 20 per cent, and that 20 per cent had only mild cases. Penicillin in feed, tested at Michigan State University, eliminated 93 per cent of the blood cases in a test group of 300 cows. At Iowa State College blood was greatly reduced when dairymen sprinkled crude soybean oil over the green clover fed to cattle in dry lot. Each animal should get about 44 pound of oil per day.

BE NEVER IN DOUBT

"Be never in doubt, always wash it out with plain water immediately." This is the prime rule to follow in treating chemical burns of the eye which may result in loss of sight. Dr. Charles Settembrini reported in the New York State Journal of Medicine. Although Dr. Settembrini was referring to industrial accidents, his advice is also applicable in home accidents involving cleaning solutions, lye, caustic soda or chemicals such as cyanide, used in gardening. Careful use of these chemicals could prevent most accidents. However, should dangerous chemicals splash into the eyes, Dr. Settembrini says, "Washing out the eye with liberal amounts of water for ten to fifteen minutes may preserve vision if done immediately. The longer the chemical is in the eye, the more damage that is done."

COUNTY AGENT

By HOMER E. THOMPSON
The Hubert Taylor family of Whiteface Community is a Farm and Home Development family working closely with the County Extension Agents of Cochran County.

The Taylors own a labor of land one and one-half mile south of Whiteface, Texas. Hubert has not farmed in many years because he has been renting his farm, and he had worked for the Forrest Lumber Co. in Whiteface.

Hubert decided to farm in 1958; and he came to talk over his situation with the County Agent. Much planning went into his 1958 farm operations. All crops to be planted began with the varieties and amount of seed to plant per acre. Before this, however, land preparation problems were ironed out, and carried out, according to plan.

On this labor is a good 8 inch well with underground tile and outlets spaced to eliminate much labor and expense. Hubert says I just change the water when the time comes. It's easy, because of a well planned irrigation system. Hubert has hired very little help. That included a little hoeing and spraying of a few spots of Johnsongrass with Dalapon in the cotton and feed.

The Taylors have planted 601 Texas hybrid on 88 acres of cropland and planted 46 acres of Lankart cotton. In addition there is a big garden area with about one acre to peaches. He has had irrigated only one time this year and that was in July.

The Taylors have a record of all the expenses on the farm and when the crops are harvested and sold, he can establish the net earnings. He thinks this will be more profitable than working at the lumber yard. He has put all his time and labor into farming his farm in 1958.

Mr. Taylor appreciates the advice and counseling received with the County Extension Agents, and is well satisfied with all the plans he has executed this far.

JOHNSON GRASS CONTROL

Spot treatment with oils or dalapon is the most effective and cheapest method of dealing with Johnson grass in row crops. It is also the easiest method where chemicals are used.

Research at the Experiment Station at College Station in 1957 where light infestations of Johnson grass in cotton were eradicated at a cost of $5.00 to $12.00 per acre as compared to hand hoeing at a cost of $17.00 to $21.00. Hand hoeing did not eradicate the Johnson grass but the spot treatment did a good job. Mr. Elliott, Extension Agronomist pointed out.

In hot weather a 50 - 50 mixture of naphtha with either kerosene or diesel oil is excellent, or 5 pounds of Dalapon in 25 Gallons of water, or one hundred gallons of kerosene with one gallon of C-56 as an additive is also effective for killing Johnson grass. These oils must be applied directly to the stem at ground line to 2 inches above ground line. A small amount of oil is all that is necessary. Don't plow or hoe the grass for 30 or more days after treatment. Apply at three week interval to ground root stock missed in first application.

Dalapon can be sprayed lightly to the Johnson grass on stem and leaves and try to get 1 teaspoonful of the spray in the twirl of the grass. This can best be done with a jet hand sprayer.

Now is a good time to start since most crops are laid by and before the grass seed dries out. It works better when the grass is green and growing, advises the County Agent.

BEEF CATTLE

last year will offset to some extent the poor range feed supplies. Replacement cattle will continue in strong demand this fall as rebuilding of basic beef herds continues. The less favorable range feed situation will have the greatest effect on the fall marketing program. This year the cattle will likely not be held on ranges as late as last year. This fall you may expect the marketing of cattle to follow closely the normal marketing pattern. This means that the bulk of grass - feeder animals, as well as let from the end of August to the middle of November. Peak movement is likely to occur during the last of September and first part of October.

STOCKER FEEDER PRICES

With ranges and pastures generally in good condition, salable cattle are hard to find. Cheap gains on grass are being made. Heavier cattle continue to move in feed lots. This year most classes of beef cattle reach their high point in May. Current prices generally are $5.00 to $6.00 per hundred above a year earlier for good and choice steers and heifers. Calf prices continue to exceed 1957 levels by about $10.00 per hundred weight. Considerable contracting for fall delivery has occurred in several areas.

Prices for good yearling steers generally bring about $25.00 at the ranch.

Good and choice calves are priced from 30 cents up. However, lower prices should be expected in the fall when movements reach their seasonal peak. Slaughter prices have shown a slow but steady decline since the first part of April, but choice steers are still selling about $5.00 more than they were at this time last year.

Cattle on feed in Texas, Colorado, Arizona and California are up 19 percent from a year earlier. Cattle feeders in 13 states on July 1, indicated that 68 percent of those on feed are expected to be marketed in the next 3 months. A little decline in feeder cattle prices can be expected though they are likely to be well above a year earlier this fall.

The above information is given by the Extension Service Economist, Alvin B. Wooten, for what it may be worth to the beef cattle producers.
