Floyd County Commissioners

The Hon. Commissioners' Court of Floyd County, Texas:

We, the undersigned residents of Lockney, Floydada and surrounding rural communities, request that you consider every option available to keep the two canneries in Floyd County open. Preservation of food is one way people of all economic levels have to compete with the steadily increasing cost of living. We are depending on you to thoroughly investigate every possibility of keeping the two canneries in operation.

Guest Editorial on closing of the canneries

Residents of Floyd County are asking an important question this week. Will our county commissioners make every effort to keep the county-owned and operated canneries open?

It may be a simple question, but in all fairness to the commissioners, there are no simple answers. The cost of new equipment is said to be from $100-$150 thousand dollars. Liability insurance is a must. Operators must attend canning schools. The county is not in a good financial position.

The crux of the matter is whether the commissioners believe the canneries are necessary and whether they will diligently seek to overcome the problems.

In the past the commissioners court has wanted to close the canneries but bowed to public opinion.

We hope they are not using the current difficult problems as an easy way out.

Commissioners and Judge Smith, we challenge you to use every option in trying to solve these problems and keep the canneries open for county residents and taxpayers.

Use of the canneries is by all economic sectors of the county. And they are counting on the commissioners to keep available the preservation of food as one way to fight the high cost of living.

Foster Whaley met with constituents

State Representative Foster Whaley and his wife, Lois, were in Floydada Monday afternoon meeting and greeting constituents at the First National Bank Community Room.

Whaley is well known in the county not only because of his many visits during his political career, but because of his easy accessibility by phone when he is in Austin.

The most recent action of interest on a local level was the major role he played in reopening the TEC offices. Pat Joiner, TEC head, lauded Whaley's efforts on behalf of the program.

Whaley has served four years in the legislature and now has appointment on the important appropriations committee and is vice chairman of the constitutional amendments committee.

He is notable as one of only a handful of representatives who finances his campaign without donations from special interest groups outside his home district. He stated that he does not accept downstate political action committee money and has returned thousands of dollars to the P.A.C. Committee.

Lois Whaley works full time with the Representative giving team effort that has been described as "having two representatives for the price of one." Whaley said that he has no ambitions to move up on the political scale to the U.S. Senate or House. His goal is to "make the best Texas Representative they've ever had."

The couple live in Pampa where Whaley was in the farming and ranching before going into politics. They have since leased out their agricultural interests.

Attention

Attention, former Lockney High School students, FFA members, and young farmers:

In order to honor Elvin Lyon's 32-year teaching career at LHS, a scholarship fund for a deserving Ag student is being established in his name.

If you would like to contribute, or think your child would be interested in contribution please make your check payable to Elvin Lyon Scholarship Fund. Check can be taken to First National Bank of Lockney or mailed to the bank to the attention of Jinna Sue Turner.

Band to compete

The Floydada High School Band will travel to Dimmitt for the U.L.L. Region XIV Sight Reading and Concert Contest this Thursday, April 8. The band will leave at 1 p.m. and will perform for the judges at 3:45.

Selection that the band will present are: Sodermauland March by James Ployhan, Rhythm for the Winds by Frank Erickson and Sonus Ventorum by Claude Smith.

A policeman speaks out on DWI

BY SGT. RAYNARD MACHA
Floydada Police Department

On any given day of the year scores of people will die needlessly on our highways because of an intoxicated driver. Often whole families will be killed or injured. They will be victims of circumstances beyond their control.

None of them will leave their home or place of work expecting to die. Many will be anticipating getting home or seeing friends or relatives, but they will never get there. They will die for no cause or reason, and often they will be killed by someone who lives in their community that they might possibly know.

Driving while intoxicated has reached epidemic proportions across our country causing untold loss of life and property. There is no typical drunk driver who can be easily identified at a glance. He or she seldom intends to do anyone harm, and works and pays taxes like all the rest of us, normally never thought of as a dangerous person or with any criminal tendencies at all. Yet when they get behind a steering wheel in an intoxicated state they instantly turn into a very dangerous menace to society.

With their vision and reflexes impaired by alcohol or drugs they are not safe operating three thousand pounds of metal down a street or highway. They will drive in an erratic way or do sudden unpredictable turns etc.

In recent years victims of DWI's have begun to put pressure on our law enforcement officials across the nation in an effort to curb the problem. Most pressure has been directed however in our courts and state legislatures who set fines and punishments for drunk drivers.

The victims are steadily growing in numbers and are becoming more vocal about this issue. They certainly have a strong case for their cause. There are some staggering statistics on the problem. For instance if all the men who died fighting America's wars from the American revolution to the last conflict were tallied up the total would not exceed the people slaughtered on our highways by drunk drivers.

If all people arrested for DWI were fined a minimum of one thousand dollars it would not even begin to pay for the losses incurred by victims in property damage, insurance, hospital bills, work days lost and funeral bills. Also there is the expense of arresting and prosecuting the offender. The loss in lives and human pain, and grief of course, cannot be estimated in dollars. Unfortunately there are still many people who think drunk drivers are not a serious problem. Many citizens have a mental attitude that he is just a good ole boy out just trying to have a little fun, and if he didn't kill anyone or cause a wreck what harm is done.

Of course, these people don't spend much time in hospital emergency rooms or at funerals of innocent victims. They are seldom around to assist in pulling out mangled bodies out of wrecks.

The drunk driver seldom fits the stereotype of a hardened criminal so citizens are reluctant to report or push prosecution of such cases. Politicians are especially reluctant to aggressively confront the problem since there are people of all races and social status involved.

But the voices of the ever increasing victims and their survivors are not going to stop until something is done to stop this national disgrace. The attitude of the public is slowly changing and the police are beginning to see less opposition in prosecuting such cases.

Arresting drunk drivers is not a very popular thing for a police officer to do. It often causes harsh responses from family members or friends of the offender. They don't see their husband or young teenager as a dangerous criminal. It is difficult for them to see the danger that the individual placed on the community and themselves.

Personally I have never seen a way to tell a family of a wreck especially when it was caused by a drunk driver. I enjoyed pulling the innocent children out of cars and listening to the screams of injured people always seems that it's the survivor of the accident.

The problem of intoxicated driving in our country will not be solved until society begins to take more important influence against drunk driving. If you are arrested for DWI that the officer was probably removing you off the street to see less death and human

Letters to the Editor

Martha Faulkner (Mrs. Mark Smith of Ft. Worth, TX) might have been instrumental in the beginning of community canneries in Floyd Co., when she became Home Demonstration Agent in Floyd Co., after she graduated from Texas Woman's College at Ft. Worth, TX in 1931. When the government ordered slaughter of animals during the depression, she was here and helped organize the certain canning of the usable meat from such animals.

Botulism is found only in protein foods such as meat and protein vegetables (beans). Botulism cannot grow in acid foods such as tomatoes, vinegar, hot sauce and some fruits and vegetables.

Does Floyd County carry liability insurance?

Are the supervisors of the canneries paid minimum wages?

Doctors and patients have been known to have turned in false claims in order to collect insurance.

Mrs. Henry Bollman

Politics

Senator Lloyd Bentsen will be in Plainview on the 8th of April, 1982, and will meet supporters and the press at 10:00 a.m. at the Plainview Country Club. Senator Bentsen faces Joe Sullivan in the Democratic Primary, and is expected to meet Republican Jim Collins in the November general election.

Hambright "Outstanding OEA"

Treva Hambright was named "Outstanding OEA Student" at the annual banquet given by the Office Education Association (OEA) as a gesture of appreciation from the members to their employee.

Treva is president of the OEA chapter and was their representative at contest in Lubbock. Honorary Life Membership was presented to Dr. Jack Jordan for his years of support of the program. Members of the Association are Vocational Office Education students who supplement their high school curriculum with employment at various local businesses. The students receive credit for their hours of employment.

Guests at the banquet included spouses of the employer, school board members and faculty.

Tracy Harrison gave the welcome address and Shirley Morton gave the employer's response.

The employer's tribute was given by Norman Allen and the response given by Sue Hardy.

Treva was mistress of ceremonies; OEA recognition was given by Nina Campbell and the invocation was given by Brenda Hicks.

The Torch Ceremony was conducted by Stacy Graham and assisted by chapter members.

Former Floydadians in Paris tornado

As word began to reach residents of Floydada last Friday that a tornado had touched down in Paris, Texas most began to think of relatives or friends that they might have in that area. The Jerry Battey family was no exception. Jerry's parents, Wayne and Naomi Battey, were residents of Floydada many years, live south of Highway 82 on the west side of Paris.

When Jerry was finally able to get through by telephone to his parents, he learned that they had watched the tornado do its devastating work from a grocery store a few blocks down the highway that goes to Bonham west of Paris, the Battey home is only a block off of this road. It traveled down the highway, raised up a short distance from the Battey home, then touched down 1/4 of a mile on the east side of the west loop that goes around the city of Paris.

As the tornado hit the ground about four blocks from the grocery store where the Battey's were, they could hear the explosions coming from homes as the tornado ripped them apart. Debris filled the air.

The Wayne Battey's know that they are very fortunate to have escaped from the destruction of the storm with their home and lives, they need only to look close by to see friends who have been less fortunate.

Church revival.....

Services, in addition to the Sunday services, will be at 7:30 Monday through Friday, and at 6:30 Tuesday through Friday. A meal served in Fellowship Hall during the noon services. Visitors welcome to all of the services. A will be provided.

Beginners cake decorating classes will be offered in the homemaking department of Della Plain School, according to Frances Easter, Home and Community Services teacher.

Five two-hour classes are scheduled to begin Monday, April 12 and will be held each Monday night from 6:30-8:30 until May 10. Charlene Langley will be the instructor.

Cost of the series of lessons will be $30 plus a small charge for supplies.

For further information and to register, contact Frances Easter at 983-5055 or Charlene Langley at 983-2068. Enrollment will be limited.

MRS. RICHARD WAYNE HRBRACEK

Cummings, Hrbacek repeat vows in Lockney

Renee Denise Cummings became the bride of Richard Wayne Hrbacek on Saturday, April 3, in the First Baptist Church of Hale Center. The Rev. Bill Sessom, pastor of First Baptist Church, Fort Sumner, New Mexico presided at the candlelight ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James Louis Cummings of Hale Center and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hrbacek of Lockney.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Don Maddin, organist, and Mrs. Eddie Turner, pianist. Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Willie Teeter sang "The Wedding Song", "Endless Love", "I Love You Truly" and "God Bless This Marriage".

Vows were pledged at an altar decorated with an arch holding 60 white tapers. It was flanked by a spiral candleabra and a 15-point candle arch. All were trimmed with palms and greenery. The unity stand was centered within the arch with white candles accented by English ivy placed in each window, completing the nuptial setting.

Guests were seated by Ray Bennett of Stephenville, Kevin Roberts of Clovis, New Mexico; Chris Cummings of Cotton Center, brother of the bride; and Barney Bill McCarter of Lockney, who also were the groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length wedding gown of white organza with a cape-type bodice trimmed in Chantilly lace with a modified high neckline sprinkled with pearls. She wore elbow-length lace mitts to complement her ensemble. She wore a walling length mantilla trimmed in lace appliques and caught up into a headpiece of matching Chantilly lace and pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of silk daisies, white roses, baby's breath, and yellow sweetheart roses atop a white Bible carried by her mother in her wedding.

For something old the bride wore her late great-great-grandmother Briggs' wedding band and handkerchief.

Something borrowed was a white Bible belonging to her mother. For something blue she wore the traditional blue garter and for good luck, she wore pennies minted in the years she and the groom were born. Something new was a pair of earrings which were a gift from the groom.

Donna Cummings, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridal attendants were Karrie Maddin, Holly Brown, Sheila Hrbacek of Lockney, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Ted Sneed of Guthrie, cousin of the bride. All were attired identically in yellow lusterlo dresses designed with a scoop neckline and a capelet over the bodice. The full skirt complemented the entire ensemble.

They carried white wicker baskets filled with white, yellow and apricot colored daisies and baby's breath. Yellow bows and streamers accented the arrangements. The flower girl was Sandie Cannon of Mansfield, cousin of the bride.

Dahlan Hancock of New Home was best man and Craig Cummings of Plainview, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Guests were registered by Melinda Cannon. The reception assistants were Mrs. Chris Cummings, sister-in-law of the bride; Angie Jones, Tiffany Duvall, cousin of the bride; Linda Smith, Tanya Tyer, Stacy Owens, Stacey Holley, Diane Carr and Kalyan Laney.

The brides table was draped with a floor length white cloth with a white lace overlay. It featured a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with daisies, yellow roses and rosebuds and topped with wedding bells. The table was centered with a candelabra holding three white candles which was trimmed with yellow and white daisies and roses. Guests were served from crystal and silver appointments.

A brown cloth with an ivory lace overlay covered the groom's table. Guests were served from brass appointments.

The bride is a graduate of Hale Center High School. The groom graduated from Lockney High School and attended Tarleton State University.

Following a wedding trip to Orlando, Florida the couple will be at home in the Sterley Community where the groom is engaged in farming and ranching.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner held at El Jardin's in Plainview. The tables were decorated with arrangements of white daisies and hurricane danters were presented at dinner.

Sandhill Handicraft Club holds luncheon

On Thursday, April 8, the Sandhill Handicraft Club held a luncheon at the Rev. D. Hobby Club. The Rev. P. Michael R.L. Bullock for a special service. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ray Walker of Childress, and the groom is the son of Mrs. William J. Odum, the gro-

Members and guests enjoyed a beautiful scenery of all the Elven members and guests.

FLOYD D. Cross and Mrs. Ethel Cross have returned home to Dallas where Mrs. Cross is at the Morton Cancer Research Center for two weeks. She will undergo surgery at Nichols Clinic on February 23 before going to Alabama.

Her son, Larry Jones, is some time with her before Alabama.

Calvary Baptist women hold April Bible Study

Calvary Baptist Church Baptist women met at the church for April Bible Study.

Theme "How Do I Plan For The Future" written by Monte McMahon Clendinning. After a brief business meeting held.

Mrs. Mildred Haile, Bible study director, presented the program with several ladies taking part. Most interesting topic was "Place Your Security in Heavenly Riches" Matthew 6:19-20.

Twelve ladies were present: Cathy Hill, Mildred Haile, Irene Wexler, Hazel Powell, Arlene Holmes, Edna Patton, Eula Meredith, June Van Cleve, Illa Bella McPeak, Decota Odum, Estelle Gilbreath and Linda Turner, director of Girls in Action and Aetecns.

Griffith, Myers repeat vows April 3rd.

Staci Fave Griffith became the bride of James Henry Myers in a 6 p.m. ceremony Saturday, April 3, in the First Christian Church Chapel, in Lubbock, with Dr. Klive Nall officiating. Staci was given in marriage by her father, Harold Deau Griffith of Lubbock. Her wedding attire was candlelight satin with a bouquet and headpiece of spring flowers.

Her matron of honor was Judy Hunter Henderson of Lubbock, who carried a spring flower bouquet to match the brides'. The bride groom's best man was Woody Halpore of Houston.

Wanda Kits of Amarillo sang "As Time Goes By", and "One Hand, One Heart", accompanied by piano and guitar music. Staci's brothers, Shawn and Shea Griffith of Lubbock were ushers.

All of the bridal party wore arrangements of spring flowers.

Staci is the daughter of Harold Dean and Margaret Griffith of Lubbock. She is a graduate from Texas Tech University with a B.A. degree. She is now employed by Metzendorf Advertising in Lubbock.

The bride groom is the son of John and Frances Myers of Carlsbad, New Mexico. He is a graduate of Texas Tech with a bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering and is employed as Senior Reservoir Engineer by Columbia Gas in Houston.

The couple flew to San Francisco. They spent some time at Lake Tahoe and Reno, Nevada. After their honeymoon, they will live in Houston, Texas.

Staci is the granddaughter of Mrs. Fave Penniger of Lubbock and Harold and Mary Griffith of Lockney.

Frizzell, Terrell to wed July 10th in Lockney

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Frizzell and Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Terrell, all of Lockney, take pleasure in announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their children Gay Yvonne and Jeff Don.

Miss Frizzell graduated from Lockney High School and will be a spring graduate of Amarillo Jr. College. She will receive an Associates Degree in Arts & Science in dental hygiene. After graduation she will be employed by Dr. J.I. Gaynor in Plainview.

Terrell also graduated from Lockney High School. He attended Amarillo Jr. College. Presently he is engaged in farming.

The couple plan a July 10 wedding in the First Baptist Church in Lockney.

Cindy Frizzell honored with bridal shower April 3rd

Cindy Renee Frizzell, bride-elect of William Phillip Cotham of Brownfield, was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Kelton Shaw on April 3, from 9:30 to 11:30.

Along with Mrs. Shaw, the mothers of the couple, Mrs. David Frizzell and Mrs. Bud Cotham of Brownfield, and Mrs. Jack Frizzell, the bride's grandmother, received guests as they entered. Their corsages were made of daisies tied with blue ribbon.

The registration table was centered with a blue silk flower candle ring and the bride and groom's picture.

Beverly Barker, Rise Taylor, Karla McCarter, Connie Coffman, Amy Shav, all of Lockney, Janie Guest of Floydada, and Stephanie Parker of Canyon did the hospitalities at the serving table.

The table was laid with a white eyelet cloth over a white floor length skirt caught up with blue eyelet nosegavs of blue and yellow silk flowers. A 5-candle-labra of blue candles was used for the centerpiece. Each candle was encircled with blue and white eyelet and blue and yellow silk flowers. Silver appointments finished off the setting.

Guests were served punch, coffee, assorted fruit kabobs, sweet rolls, apricot pastries, and sausage and ham appetizers.

The hostesses were: Mmes. Bill Turner, Paul Hrbacek, Bill McCarter, Gene Collins, Donice Casey, Rita Burleson, Larnce McCain, Joe Cunyus, Barry Barker, Audry McCormick, Ronnie Thornton, Eddie Teeter, Delvin Bybee, Joe Nance, W.H. Hallmark, Claude Brown, Bill Sherman, R.V. Webster, G.B. Johnston, W.H. Kellison, W.J. Lee, Jerry Cawley, Jerry Mickey, of Plainview, Joe Taylor of Tulia and Kelton Shaw.

The hostess gift was a vacuum cleaner.

Star Baptist Church enjoy fish fry Thursday

MRS. APPLEWHITE

Mrs. M.W. Hartman entertained Thursday night with a fish fry at Star Baptist Church.

Guests have come to expect this fish fry do not hesitate to ask the details on their return from a trip as the fry will take place. Since the church has been going fishing for five years, a fry has been held each of the four or five years. This year's fishing trip four weeks was at San Ygnacio with little last week stay at Port Mansfield and an impressive catch of three big fish weighing 30 lbs., one weighing 22 lbs.

Conditions allowed them to fish out on two days only. No argument between the anglers when she says she was the one who caught the big ones.

Fire destroys Tommy McHam home

The McHams got their dog and rabbits to a safe place. The family is temporarily staying with the Wayne McHams.

Rex Harrison and son, Brandon, took their motorcycles to Calgary last Friday night. They camped out with the Lubbock Tr-riders group. Jim Nichols and son, Cody, also attended the races. Brandon entered the Enduro race and won a trophy. Cody's motorcycle had a flat tire and he was unable to participate as a contestant. Jim entered the fifty mile race.

Mrs. Dee Adams visited her father, Walter Craft, in the Lockney rest home last week. Mr. Craft is doing fine at this time.

Mrs. James Williams of Lawton, Oklahoma left her children, Ashleigh and Austin, with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O.D. Williams, while she was in Wolforth visiting her sister, Mrs. Jill Branson and new baby daughter on Thursday. They returned to Lawton on Friday. Austin and Ashleigh rode horses and helped feed the cattle on the ranch.

Mrs. Viola Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Dorsey in Floydada on Wednesday and ate lunch with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Breed visited last week in Portland, Texas with their son Mike and his family. Odell and Mike went fishing, but the weather was so cold and rainy they called it off. The grandchildren, Ryan and Linda, had planned a beach outing but substituted a trip to a museum in Corpus Christi and all enjoyed the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison visited Mr. and Mrs. Max Harrison and daughter in Floydada Saturday.

Mrs. William Bertrand, Mrs. Orville Newberry and Mrs. O.D. Williams attended the Ladies Chamber of Commerce Spring Fashion Show in Floydada Monday evening. Faye and her sister, Lorene, both won door prizes.

Miss Patsy Carisales, accompanied by her father Jose, and Mr. Howard Bishop, enrolled at Girlstown at Whiteface, Monday. Her teachers and neighbors showered her with pretty and useful clothing to start off in her new school.

Assembly of God barbeque held

BY GRACE LEMONS

We have had strong winds and much blowing dust this week. We had temperatures below freezing several nights and there may not be much fruit this year.

There was a large crowd at the Fellowship meeting at the Assembly of God Church Friday night who enjoyed the barbeque goat and ribs with salads and desserts. Durrel Fortenberry did an excellent job in cooking the meat on his grill. Bryan and Karla Fortenberry of Plainview and Donnie and Carla Fortenberry and Chad of Amarillo were also present.

Junior and Martha Taylor went to Dallas to attend the birthday celebration of their grandson, Nick Jordan and visit the daughter and her husband Shelia and Charles Jordan. They brought Nick home with them for a week and Martha

O.W. Denning honored with birthday celebration

O.W. Denning was honored on his 95th birthday with a reception given by officials and staff of the county courthouse.

Denning worked with the county surveyor, W.D. Newell, for 18 years, retiring in 1972.

"We worked together for 18 years," Denning said, "and never had a harsh word."

Born in Jack County, Denning moved to Floydada in 1958. He had farmed prior to accepting the position with the county surveyor.

His two daughters, Doris Hillin, Floydada, and Teresa Lewis, Lone Star, were among the guests; as were Teresa's husband, Sam and Corine Lewis.

Reception was held at the Ag Building Meeting Room Friday afternoon.

WASN'T that some sandstorm last Friday? Roofing companies will do a big business again this spring, no doubt.

Mrs. Howard Bishop and her sister, Mrs. Pete Callaway were in Plainview Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison were hosts to Brother Kenneth Averret of Benton, Arkansas, for Sunday dinner. Brother Averret is holding a revival at the West Side Church of Christ in Floydada.

Miss Jodie Smith attended the Junior-Senior banquet at Duncan school Saturday night. She is a member of the junior class.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Womack were hosts for Sunday dinner for her parents, also Mrs. Vicky Webster and children, Chris, Jon, and Enock of McAdoo, her grandmother, Mrs. Gertie Rathaal, and Leroy Rathaal of McAdoo.

Hunter and Dean Smith, sons of Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith, have been meeting after school at the livestock barn in Floydada with other 4-H members for rifle team practice. Instructor is assistant county agent Benny Butler.

Jody Smith is practicing with the soil judging team in 4-H.

Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Hart visited in Haskell from Saturday to Monday with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Hart, Salinda, Sara Jane, and Sandy. They enjoyed making homemade ice cream Sunday afternoon after church.

Mrs. Viola Brown ate dinner with the Crosbyton Senior Citizens Friday and all enjoyed the day in spite of the sandstorm.

Delegates attend SPAG dinner

Judge Bill Young, President of South Plains Association of Governments, has announced the semi-annual meeting of the General Assembly at the Southern Seas restaurant in Lubbock on April 13, 1982. Mr. Ross Newby, executive director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism will speak at the luncheon meeting of delegates.

The SPAG General Assembly is composed of delegates from each city, county, and special purpose district member within the 15 county region. The following is a list of delegates: Mayor Parnell Powell, Floydada; Mayor J.D. Copeland, Lockney; Sam Spence, Floyd County; and Gilbert Fawver, Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Mr. and Mrs. True Kirk (Marjorie) and children, Allen, Lori, Marlon and Lance of Durango, Colorado are visiting this week with Marjorie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dunavant for the Easter holidays.

The Kirk's stayed Monday night with their other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kirk in Canyon.

Mrs. S.G. Appling visited her neighbor, Mrs. Viola Brown, Sunday afternoon.

Howard and Greg Bishop took a mare and colt to the horse sale in Clovis, New Mexico Saturday and Sunday. Norman Muncy and O.D. Williams attended Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Brown of Truscott and son, Billy of Texas Tech, visited the O.D. Williams Sunday. They left a mare at the ranch. The two sisters, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Williams, wrote for the Truscott history book during the afternoon. Mrs. Brown an English teacher is editing manuscripts before they go to press this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kendrick were in Collinsville over the week-end. They have bought a house there and plan to move May 1, to enroll the girls in school so they can get acquainted before summer. Byron has a job with a welding supply company, and stayed to begin his new job. They are located about seventy miles north of Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Daniels and children live about ten miles away in a different school district, but near enough for the little cousins to visit back and forth on week-ends.

Let's all extend a neighborly hand to the Tommy McHam family the next few weeks, and help them after their fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Lupe Luna of South Plains met their son, Ricky, for dinner at Tulsa Thursday. Ricky, of Amarillo, brought his nephew, Michael Creek, so that he could come stay at South Plains with his grandparents.

Music students perform

Twenty-two students of Elaine Hardy, Lockney, entered the Baptist General Convention sponsored Hymn Festival at Idalou recently. Their certificates were received from Dallas where their scores had been recorded and many of the students were recognized in their church services.

Twenty-one of the number made 92 and above that constituted a grade of Superior. The other grade was 91 that equaled out to an Excellent plus. Stephanie Bybee and Amy Shaw, high school students, entered the highest classification and because of the Superior rating, qualified them to play in the State Hymn Festival. After the group played in Idalou, several went on to Lubbock and ate at Red Lobster and went skating.

The students entering from Lockney were Amy Ansley, Jody Ansley, Cherie Parrick, Shandra Bybee, Stephanie Bybee, Dee Casey, Karen Ford, Rachelle Ford, Amy Kring, Tricia Steele and Amy Shaw.

From Floydada were students Andrea Bonner, Laron Cheek, Bryan Jarnigan, Cathy Langley, Mike Leatherman, Tammy Leatherman, Anita McCormick, Amy McCormick, Cindy Burk, Jamie Thayer and Amy Ogle.

Parents attending with the group were Nancy Jarnigan, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Leatherman, Pauline McCormick, Katy Ansley, Judy Ogle, Mary Ruth Fewell, Sheryl Bybee, Charline Langley and teacher Elaine Hardy.

Mrs. Hardy also participated as one of the judges, where she adjudicated students from Idalou and Spur.

Also, Laron Cheek, played in the West Texas State University Piano Festival in Canyon. He received a Division I for his performance.

MR. AND MRS. FRED CARTHEL

40th Wedding Anniversary to be enjoyed by Carthels

Mrs. Fred Carthel will celebrate her fortieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 11, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall of the Church of the Holy Spirit, West College and Third Streets.

Members of the couple are invited to attend. No invitations are being mailed locally.

Carthel and the former Jo Sien were married on April 5, 1942 in Portales, New Mexico.

Children of the couple are Robert Carthel of Clovis, New Mexico, Mike Carthel and Linda Lemons both of Lockney.

Happy days & high winds at Center Community

It was a bright sunny day, but the wind was blowing. People were happy to see Bro. Payne as he was in the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Neal Wright of Sweetwater spent the weekend with her husband, Ava Jackson.

Mrs. Meredith arrived home after spending several days in Dallas.

Mrs. Thomas Warren spent the weekend in Muleshoe with her husband and family. Mr. and Mrs. Stout and girls. They enjoyed revival services when their husbands sang.

Mrs. Hal Thomas were in Plainview, Friday where their grandson was having his tonsils out.

It was a great day at the activity center. Mrs. Frank Carthel party. It was like a reunion with around 100 guests.

All Mrs. Dunn's children and grandchildren attended with many from Lubbock, Plainview, Dallas and Floyd County.

Mr. and Mrs. Weiborn's children were in the weekend. They attended a party for Mrs. Dunn.

Many people, especially seniors, are staying in out of these parts.

St. Anthony's Hospital is the best sister from Hereford, Mrs.

Atkins to celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Atkins of Lockney will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 11, 1982.

A reception will be given in their honor by their children, at the Garden Room of the First Baptist Church of Lockney, from three until five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkins were married in Clovis, New Mexico on April 10, 1932.

Mrs. Atkins was the former Melba Park and she and Mr. Atkins lived for forty-two years in Plainview before moving to Lockney in 1974.

Mr. Atkins has been employed by the Harvest Queen Mill & Elevators for fifty years. Mrs. Atkins was also employed by the Harvest Queen Mill for a number of years until her retirement.

They now reside on a farm west of Lockney. Mr. and Mrs. Atkins are active members of the First Baptist Church in Lockney.

They have four children, Mrs. Bob (Peggy) McWhorter of Plainview; James J. (Jim) Atkins of Irving; Mrs. Don (Dorothy) Hall, of Odessa; and Charlie D. Atkins, Jr. of Lockney.

The children and their spouses will host the reception. There are nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Friends are urged to attend.

Lockney Eastern Star hosts annual meeting March 27th

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star, Lockney Chapter 437 were hosts for their annual Friendship and Masonic night on Saturday, March 27, with 45 in attendance.

Those enjoying the meal prepared by Lockney members included Mrs. Osce Parson, Deputy Grand Matron, and her husband, Jack, from Canyon.

Also recognized were Harley Workman Worshipful Master of the local Masonic Lodge and his wife Edna. Floydada's Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, Jean and Bob Kendrick and other members of their chapter.

Versie Perry acted as emcee for a program following the meal, by asking questions concerning Texas. She was assisted by a rather strange looking person named Loni Star.

Easter baskets were prizes given to Ewald Quebe, R.C. Mitchell and Kelvin Cummings for knowing their Texas History.

The meeting was closed with those attending joining hands and singing "Bless Be the Tie That Binds." Peggy and Richard Wiley are Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of the Lockney O.E.S. Chapter.

offering complete travel consulting services.

Complete Travel Planning. The service we offer. We arrange everything. In addition to domestic and international ticketing for airlines and cruise lines, we arrange hotel reservations, car rentals, etc. — you need it, we do it.

Our Cost to Client. All our services to you are absolutely free of charge. We work to save you money wherever and whenever possible. You always get the lowest fare available.

Repeat Business. Something we must get from you to be successful. We are paid placement commissions by travel and lodging merchants, but no additional charge is ever made to you. Obviously, the commissions are not extremely large. We need a high volume of repeat business. We need to make you happy.

Travel Portfolio. A package we supply you which includes all tickets as well as a typed itinerary with all information pertinent to your trip (a logical listing of flight times, reservations and accommodations, rental arrangements — anything and everything you'll need to know). We can supply a second copy for your secretary or family if you wish.

One Call Service. Tell us what you need — then relax. We'll handle everything for you, freeing you from cumbersome details.

Other Services. While no travel agency is allowed to issue passports or visas, we can help you complete your applications and forward them to the proper authorities for fastest processing.

We plan and arrange vacations and group tours. We can tell you all you need to know about customs, tariffs or duties, or about food, dress and ways in foreign lands. Have questions about baggage, trip insurance, tipping . . . anything related to travel? Just ask us. That's why we're here.

Experienced and Conscientious Travel Counselors. Description of our staff.

Free. The cost of our services. (Just a reminder.)

One Big Advantage. Our Company. Ours is a multi-state organization, so we can use volume buying power to provide constantly-improved services to our clients. Our size also enables us to keep up with new trends in the travel industry.

Your Acquaintance. Something we need to make before we can begin to help. Please call us today — or whenever we can be of service.

Morris, guest speaker at South Plains Baptist Church, Palm Sunday

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN
South Plains, Monday, April 6:
Palm Sunday was a fine, clear day and this Monday dawns bright and calm. Mark Morris, senior student from Wayland University at Plainview was at the South Plains Baptist Church to preach night and morning services. At both services his wife, Dena, was present and they were guests at the Baptist Parsonage for the day, with other guests there Mr. and Mrs. Darla and Jerry Chappell.
Easter Sunday, Rev. Cecil Osborne will be in the pulpit for the preaching services morning and night, and we are so glad to have him able to be out, after major surgery three weeks ago. We are hoping for a large congregation to be present for Easter Sunday.
"The World is Here!" is the theme for the Week of Prayer for Home Missions for the Annie Armstrong offering for Easter. Financial aid is needed to carry the gospel to around 100 ethnic groups in America.

Vacation Bible School workers met at the Baptist Church Tuesday morning to prepare plans for the Vacation Bible School coming up soon in our area. Those meeting to work were Mmes. Annelda Staples, Nathan Johnson, Janis Julian and Diane Johnson.
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest and Ruth Smitherman left Friday for Austin where they planned to spend the week end with their son and family, the Larry Smithermans. Ernest was scheduled to play in a golf tournament with the Austin Macs Saturday and Sunday, as they played against the Dallas Cowboys.
Four beautiful new fans were recently installed in the South Plains Baptist Church with their installation hopefully cutting down heating and cooling costs.
A new building seen around South Plains is the beautiful new garage or born on the Sanders place on Silverton highway. The new structure is huge, and built of galvanized tin.

Mrs. Raymond Upton was taken back to the Central Plains Hospital last Tuesday, and is there at this time. We sincerely hope she can soon be home.
Mr. and Mrs. Dick and Goldean Dickson of Fort Pierce, Florida will be visiting the Terry Julians earlier this week in Roscoe, and on Thursday will arrive here to be at the home of her aunt, Mrs. M.M. Julian until Monday and they will visit with the Kendis Julians and the Bruce Julians, as they will be together here over the Easter holidays. The Dicksons plan to worship Easter Sunday here at the South Plains Baptist Church.
Visitors at the Baptist church Sunday morning were Mr. and Mrs. Bernie and Cindy Ford of Lockney. They are the brother and wife of Mrs. Carlton Johnson of South Plains.

Mrs. Letha Mulder will be spending her Easter up at Amarillo with her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jerry and Kathy Taylor and children, Richard, Ronnie, Candy and Ronda.
Everyone wants to soon forget the terrible dust storm which hit here Friday, doing damage here and there around the neighborhood, but nothing like the terrible tornado which hit Paris, and other places over the nation. Even Littleton in Denver had terribly high winds, as reports from there have given us. Friday, April 2nd, 1982, will be a date long remembered around our area. It has been many a long year since we saw such winds and dust.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Johnson, Carson and Tanner were hosts Sunday at dinner with ten family members present for the day, including her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie and Cindy Ford, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Ford and several other family guests.
The South Plains Baptist Church will meet Wednesday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. with special guest from the meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Floydada Chapter No. 31 hosts salad supper

On Saturday evening, April 3, the members of Floydada Chapter No. 31 hosted a salad supper in the dining room, honoring the Masons and their families. Also included for the occasion was the annual Friendship Night.
Guests were present representing seven Eastern Star Chapters from over the district.
The dining area and tables carried out the Eastern theme, with garden flower arrangements and a festive look of miniature baskets of Easter eggs and rabbits.
After an hour of fellowship and a bountiful meal, the group met in the Masonic Hall with Jean Kendrick, Worthy Matron, extending a welcome to all present. A special appreciation was expressed to the Masonic members for their support to the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Grand officers were introduced and welcomed. Special recognition was given to Ann Willson, wife of Jimmy Willson, who is now serving as Most Worshipful Grand Master, of the Grand Lodge of Texas A.F. and A.M.
Highlighting the evening was a program of beautiful and inspirational selections of songs rendered by the Methodist Trio, Lee Battey, Bobby Rainer and Britt Gregory, with Dell Gray at the piano and Bill Gray playing the drums.
The next regular meeting will be Thursday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. for the election of officers for the year of 1982-1983.

Cards of Thanks
My family and I would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude for all the kindness and expressions of love during my recent stay at Caprock Hospital.
We want to thank each one for all the prayers, visits, cards, and phone calls that came, not to mention the flowers.
A special thanks to Bro. Bradley for his visits and Bro. Seay who filled in while Bro. Bradley was gone. And a very special thanks to all the nurses and staff at Caprock Hospital for their excellent care, and extra time spent and most of all to Dr. Acar for his kindness, attention, and wonderful medical care and concern. May the Lord bless you all.
Mrs. C.M. (Vada) Meredith and family
All of us would like to say thank you to the firemen and everyone else that helped us put out the fire in our pastures. We really appreciated your efforts and concern.
The Larry Golden Family
The Oscar Golden Family
I would like to thank my friends and neighbors for their cards, letters, and well wishes during my recent visit and hospital stay in South Africa.
Each one of you are very special to me.
God bless you.

Davis elected president of Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation

Mrs. Lon Davis, Jr., was re-elected for a two year term as an area board member of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation during the 20th Annual Meeting at a luncheon at the Amarillo Country Club on Friday, April 2, 1982.

The speaker, was Harold Graham of Washington, D.C., the senior vice-president of the Travel Industry Association of America who had been active in the development of the travel policy for the USA recently passed by the U.S. Congress after years of meetings and discussions with the parts of the travel industry: food, lodging, transportation, travel brokers and agents, and entertainment, and U.S. Congressmen, Senators and Government Officials.

Recognizing that this industry is one of the largest in the world, and is also one of the great forces in bringing people and money into a country, the policy realizes that to draw travelers in, the government needs to advertise abroad, drawing attention to the attraction of the nation as a whole. After a foreign traveler decides that a trip here is attractive, then the private advertising of air lines, destinations, etc., takes over to help him decide where and how he shall spend his time in the states.

Using this technic, other countries have discovered that every dollar invested in this kind of advertising brings $17 of direct revenue, not including purchases which travelers make while they are here.

Now that the policy has been set, however, it has not been adequately funded, making the USA the 25th among the nations which advertise, somewhat below Ireland and Luxembourg.

He closed his remarks with some suggestion about the ways we can arrange and market our attractions here.

The business of the meeting included election of the Board members and officers, introduction of the new director of publicity, Sally Nester Brantley, reports on the year's activities by the Executive Vice-President, Raymond Raillard, and a vote to name the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum as the depository for the artifacts of "TEXAS".

Mrs. Brantley announced that the honorees for the Gala Opening on June 16th, first night of "TEXAS", will be the early farmers in the area. She asked that anyone knowing the descendents of people farming here in the Panhandle before 1900, or of the first farmer in any county, send their names to the office, Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Crump was one of 3 top salesmen honored at the Dallas Salesstars Banquet March 2. He was also named to the 1982 International Salestar council [consisting of top salesman in the nation.] Crump is shown here with a Quarterly Star plaque and annual regional trophy.

Crosbyton Closing City Electric Plant by June

ALAN FOGG
City Journal Staff
City Officials here have approved the 44-year-old city electric plant and purchase of a Flovdada co-op.

City officials here have approved the 44-year-old city electric plant and purchase of a Flovdada co-op. The plant should be dark by June, according to City Secretary Barrett.

The plant actually signed a contract yet, but it should be done, Barrett said.

The co-op purchases its power from Southwestern Public Service Co.

Purchase of electricity from the co-op will not affect service to CP&L customers or current billing procedures, Barrett noted. "All we're doing is purchasing our power instead of making it. We'll keep our distribution system," he said.

City officials have studied shutting the plant for several years, he said. "With increases in natural gas, we saw we couldn't be competitive with other plants" that are powered by coal.

The Crosbyton facility uses natural gas and diesel fuel to produce electricity. SPS primarily uses coal.

The move should result in smaller electric bills for CP&L customers because of the reduced dependency on natural gas, Barrett said.

Crosbyton residents currently can choose between CP&L and SPS for electrical service. The municipal utility has about 80 percent of the customers in the city, Barrett speculated.

The city employs seven people at the plant, according to Barrett. He said it is not certain whether the city will be able to find work in other departments for them. "We hope to transfer them to something else, but we don't know yet if we'll be able to," he said.

Schwertner and companion tour New Orleans, Louisiana

David Schwertner, formerly of Flovdada and now of Lubbock recently enjoyed a vacation to New Orleans, Louisiana. Accompanying him was Ronda Hartman, also of Lubbock.

The couple enjoyed sightseeing and touring the Famous French Quarter, Battle of New Orleans, at Chalmette, Super Dome, Fort Pike, Lake Pontchartrain, Mississippi River, and dining for a champagne brunch at the internationally known New Orleans Hilton Motel.

They later flew to Houston, Texas to visit Ronda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hartman.

While in Houston the couple visited Shell Oil Refinery, where Ronda's father is plant supervisor, and then to Galveston Beach for a day's activity.

The couple then flew to Lubbock where David is a teacher at Coronado High School and Ronda is employed as a Registered Nurse for Visting Nurse Services Inc.

David, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August E. Schwertner of the Sandhill Community.

Erman visit Corpus Christi

San Antonio

Erman Grav of Flovdada, and his wife, Jeanine Grav and Trina Grav with granddaughter, spent several days in Corpus Christi during their spring break.

Erman in Corpus Christi, Bill Erman, who survived the Winters tornado, which struck the K.O.A. in San Antonio, spending all those years in a Tent Show, storms like other me...had I known I would have headed back for Corpus Christi, the family of Mrs. Erman Grav, Bill's parents. Erman was the band director at Flovdada High School in the early 1940's and is still remembered by many friends and former students in the Flovdada area. Bill and Dell and the family stayed at "North Beach" in Corpus Christi and made a side trip to Padre Island (during the spring break crowds.)

A tour of the Alamo was a "must" in San Antonio, as was a visit to the San Antonio Zoo. A most enjoyable evening was spent on San Antonio's "River Walk," which is now virtually completed. The restoration of many historic downtown buildings was also noted. Even though the trip was fun and exciting, all were happy to return to Flovdada on March 19.

An air conditioner can improve the performance of your furnace.

An air conditioner?

A very special air conditioner called the add-on heat pump. It cools in summer and heats in winter. The add-on heat pump will improve the performance of your furnace by keeping it off completely during a good portion of the winter. The add-on heat pump can satisfy your home's heating requirements more economically when temperatures are above 30° or so. That's about 80% of our area's normal heating season. Then, when summer comes, the heat pump becomes a cool pump, efficiently air conditioning the home. So, when you're in the market for air conditioning, look into the add-on heat pump.

Summer employment with the Girl Scouts

Looking for summer employment in the out-of-door setting? Caprock Girl Scout Council is taking applications for staff position for its resident Camp Rio Blanco, open May 31 through July 31, 1982.

Located in the canyon land on the White River, the 118 acres lends itself easily to programs in conservation, ecology, nature study, hiking, primitive camping, historical study, archery, swimming, the performing arts, rock and clay craft.

Tents, cabins, wagons, as well as full-basement storm shelters, provide housing. Hot meals including homemade breads, pies and cakes, fresh vegetables and meat are served daily in the spacious dining hall in Bridwell Lodge.

Positions are open for water safety people, unit counselors and program personnel with special skills.

For further information, contact Sharon Washburn at 2567 74th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79423 or phone 806-745-2855.

Host families sought

Host families are being sought for sixty students from France who will arrive in New Orleans on July 13 for a four-week visit.

The program is sponsored by the North Atlantic Cultural Exchange League, a non-profit organization which has the official approval of the French government and is widely supported by French teachers in the United States and English teachers in France.

Participation in the program involves sharing your home with a French teenager from July 13 to August 14. The responsibility of host families is to warmly accept the French student as a member of the family and share everyday activities. The program provides comprehensive medical, accident and liability insurance, and the individual participants bring their own spending money.

Teenagers of Texas and Arkansas host families will have the opportunity to live in a family in France the following summer if they wish.

As the value of international understanding is becoming more and more evident, the NACEL program offers opportunities for building better international understanding. It provides the opportunity for French students to experience the American lifestyle, develop greater skill in speaking English, and establish lasting American friendships. It provides the American families an extraordinary opportunity to broaden their horizons and learn first-hand about the French way of life.

Students are individually matched to families according to interests, activities, and special requests (such as living on a ranch). Families are needed to host boys ages 13 to 19 and a few girls ages 15 to 18.

If you are interested in participating in the program, write to the NACEL coordinator for Arkansas and northern Texas: Mrs. Sue Kimbro, 2105 Wood Street, Texarkana, TX 75501, phone (214) 794-8273.

Scrap is energy saver

When it comes to energy conservation, most Americans think first of automobile usage and home heating and cooling.

But that's only a part of saving the nation's energy, as many businesses are learning. Getting more mileage from scrap materials is increasingly important.

One company that began recycling years before the term became a household word is Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System. It has long reclaimed the petroleum-based plastic used in making telephone sets.

This recovery system takes on added significance considering that the price of Acrylonitril Butadiene Styrene (ABS) plastic has doubled in the past two years from 50 cents a pound to $1 a pound.

Western's manufacturing plant in Indianapolis, Indiana uses an average of 7,000 tons of ABS a year. About 40 percent overflows in the molding process or forms imperfect parts. This recycling effort costs 10 cents a pound—a savings of at least 90 cents a pound at today's market price.

Western Electric was able to save approximately $3.4 million in 1981 using the recovery system. Cost savings result in lower prices for Southwestern Bell and other companies that purchase materials from Western Electric.

"We have used ABS to make the handset and base of telephone sets for 20 years because its durable, impact-resistant, stainproof and impervious to most household chemicals," said Jim West, manager for Southwestern Bell.

Excess ABS and rejects from the molding operation drop through chutes into a lower level, where the material is collected according to color. Then it's fed into five granulators where it is chopped into smaller pieces.

The course-ground plastic is melted down and pulled into thin strands like spaghetti. These are diced into uniform bits for reuse in the molding machines.

"The only colors that can't be recycled by this method are white and aqua blue because the plastic doesn't keep its true color," said West. "These colors are reused for component parts inside the sets."

Jill Arney is winning Twirler at contest

Jill Arney, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Arney of Floydada, participated in the Southwest Regional Twirling Contest in Lubbock Saturday, March 20. She received awards in three areas of competition.

She earned a divisional rating of one and a trophy in Beginners Solo and Sweetheart (modeling). In Beginners Basic strut Jill was awarded a rating of two and received a gold medal.

Jill's teacher is Jeannie Baer of the Barnyard Academy of Plainview. Jill is also in her fourth year of gymnastics at the Barnyard under the instruction of Kathy Rice.

Students to be served by new loan fund

Come April 8, 1,000 high school students in Texas, the remaining 49 states, and the world will have had their applications to attend Rice University as freshman in 1982-83 acted upon in the affirmative.

The selections by Rice Director of Admissions Richard Stabell and colleagues will have been made from a record 3,000 applicants to the university, and are expected to result in a freshman class of 650, approximately half from the state of Texas.

One in five of the entering freshman class will likely be a National Merit Scholar. And while average Scholastic Achievement Test (SAT) scores in math and verbal areas will total almost 1,300 among incoming freshmen — at or near the top in the nation, Rice's 71st class will probably include a third or so whose SAT achievements are a more modest 1,100 or less — youngsters whose potential is better measured in such area as class rank, leadership, character, and single-minded achievement than in test scores.

Aside from its academic reputation, Rice has always been attractive to many because of its policy of "meeting the demonstrated financial need of every admitted student." This means that for Texans needing financial assistance, the combination of Texas Equalization Grants (TEGs) and Rice scholarship funds makes Rice competitive with public universities from a cost standpoint. Public and private schools (and students of each) compete on even terms for federal moneys.

In addition, Rice, anticipating a shortage of federal and state funds for upper middle income families with children in college, has established a Parent Loan Fund. Effective in 1982-83, it will make available up to $3,000 a year to a maximum of $15,000 to "Rice parents" without regard to need. The loans are subject to repayment by installments of at least $100 per month within 45 days of receipt and must be fully repaid in 10 years. There will be an annual interest rate of 10 percent according to financial aid regulations.

While the tuition for Rice increased $300 for the 1982-83 academic year to $8,220 for 1982-83, about half the cost is covered by comparable private universities. Waco State University has a peak year of 100,000 persons who attend Rice's $3,200 program.

Princeton University has 100,000 persons who attend Rice's $3,200 program. Dartmouth, $7,000; Harvard, $6,000; Stanford, $5,250; Caltech, $5,000; Cornell, $4,500; and Duke, $5,400.

Though a private university, Rice's highest selectivity is twenty most difficult to get into. Rice's students are from the state of Texas, with 40 percent from the other 49 states. The teacher ratio of the college system that became integral to Rice (250 students) has a graduate campus attraction to students to be swallowed up by a large school.

V.A. Report

report by the Veterans Administration reveals that by last year more than one million trained while still on active duty.

Korean GI Bill was the first educational opportunity for military personnel as well as veterans. Waco VA Regional Office reported that 1976 was the peak year for training by personnel trained part-time, 20 for 1982-83. 10 persons used the popular GI Bill.

Princeton, N.J., reported that 31 percent of the service personnel who trained while on active duty, more than 577,000—went on to 5,250; California, 5,624; and Texas, 6,000; Johns Hopkins, 5,400.

Princeton, N.J., reported that 31 percent of the service personnel who trained while on active duty, more than 577,000—went on to 5,250; California, 5,624; and Texas, 6,000; Johns Hopkins, 5,400.

percent of the service personnel were considered educationally "disadvantaged" when they applied for training, and, since 1978, the most popular form of training has been at the college level.

The number of military personnel using the GI Bill has declined considerably since 1976. Persons initially entering on active duty after December 31, 1976, no longer were eligible for the educational benefits.

The post-Korean GI Bill still permits a veteran to use education benefits within 10 years following discharge or by December 31, 1989, whichever is earlier. Recent legislation has extended that deadline for 1982 and 1983 to educationally disadvantaged or unskilled Vietnam-era veterans who allowed their 10-year delimiting date to expire before using all their entitlement for educational training.

Senator Farabee fears economic problems may cause rise in crime

State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls expressed concern that the serious economic problems of the country may cause a rise in crime in Texas.

Speaking recently to the state convention of the Texas Police Association, Farabee pointed out that the 16-24 year old age group has always been responsible for the greatest proportion of crime. "This is the group hardest hit by unemployment," Farabee said.

Farabee observed that crime rates have risen significantly over the last decade. "We can expect further demands on law enforcement in the coming years, and we can expect to have to meet these demands with fewer dollars," said Farabee.

Federal grants to law enforcement through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration were discontinued in 1981. Texas was receiving $20 million dollars yearly in federal money and matching that with $9 million in state money. Farabee noted that the state had doubled its share of funding to this program when the federal government pulled out, but local law enforcement funds were still cut 30%.

"If we try to improve the certainty of detection, apprehension, and punishment by focusing on just one aspect of the criminal justice system, we are operating with blinders on. We risk duplication and the problem of having one part of the system working against another. We need a way to predict the effect of any proposed change on the entire system before we spend millions putting it in place."

Farabee called for a long term plan for criminal justice. He expressed hope that the newly created Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, of which he is a member, would come up with that plan.

PAUL BUTLER

It is an unfortunate thing about boating that it must be accomplished in a hurry. If one could boat down a bay or cruise leisurely along a wooded country lane, there would be no boating problems indeed. In fact, however, a boat must be launched and then ultimately retrieved from the boater's favorite lake and the rub.

Do not claim to be the most expert person at detrailling a boat. It only came to the conclusion that the head and shoulders above the masses.

A couple of weeks ago I was making a honest effort to dunk my trailer in the "season opener" of a very slack time of day.

Since there was no one in sight I hoped to get the trailer while still on the trailer. I planned simply to retreat to the water without having to unload.

I began the ritual: grind the trailer up the ramp and grind it down the ramp and grind it up the ramp and grind it down the ramp and do it again.

Several anxious boaters appeared and I, in an effort to protect my reputation as a gentleman, pulled out of the trailer the ramp, to allow them to know that it would take 15 minutes for their access to the water.

The ramp, which would have been rendered ineffective when the first pair of boaters (or mismanaged) boaters commenced to haul food, fishing gear, skis, and other paraphernalia from their cars.

One captain was just about to putting the plug in his trailer when he was pulling out life preservers. He was still in the water since their trip last year.

They put one of the boats in the water without unfastening the trailer and had to pull in again. The trailer was not repeated, however, the other boat was effectively launched by slamming on the van.

Separating trailer and load is a fatal missile leaves a launching pad. This is not a totally unsatisfactory method except that, in this case, the lady holding the short rope was launched along with the boat.

After that incident, those within earshot had a much better grasp of the expression "cuss like a sailer."

By this time other "would be" boaters were waiting for their turn at the ramp and becoming quite impatient. Since patience is a virtue of mine I did my best to calm the others, but to no avail. Several were beginning to shout obscenities like "Yer mother wears G.I. tennis shoes" or "You don't know your stern from a hole in the ground."

Eventually, after almost a half hour, the duo launched their boats, cleared the ramp, and sped away at full throttle through a "no wake" zone. It occurred to me, however, that such incidents are not particularly uncommon and that almost all of us are guilty of some infraction of the rules of launching courtesy. The rules are quite simple and if listed, might read something like this.

1. Learn to back a boat and trailer, even if it means practicing on a vacant lot. Anyone can learn to back a trailer except possibly my wife.

2. Have your boat thoroughly prepared to launch before backing down to the water. This includes loading gear, checking plugs, gauges, gas, and removing tie-downs except on extremely steep ramps.

3. Learn how to load and unload. Often this can only be done during the actual operation, but beginners should pick a time of day (and a day of the week when traffic is light. It is surprising how many people have trouble at the ramp simply because they have the boat too far, or not far enough, into the water.

4. If your boat does not start immediately, move it to the side and pull the trailer to the parking area. Do not block the ramp while trying to start your motor.

5. When possible, use two or more individuals to launch a boat. For those who fish or boat alone, try to pick a time when business is slow. (Strangely, most loners can load or unload a craft faster than many others, probably due to long practice.)

6. Treat other boaters like you would like to be treated. Use this rule and you can forget the others.

'RETIREMENT' DEPRESSION

So you're feeling down...you've been retired for six months and the honeymoon is over.

You read everything on your "list" the first month. The second month you did all the little household tasks you'd put off for years.

Then you took your trip "around the world" or "across the states" in the next three months. Now you are at a record "low." You're feeling depressed and you're thinking of asking your doctor for "something" to give you a lift. Stop there.

What you do now about depression can help you.

You may find that those "down in the dumps" feelings can be helped by talking to a friend. Of course, on the other hand, you may need medical advice if the depression is severe or continuing.

First, you are not alone. Depression is a universal human ailment.

All cultures and races are affected by depression. And it is not just a 19th or 20th century phenomenon. Feelings of helplessness and hopelessness have been written about since Biblical times.

Second, feelings of depression are not confined to any one age. They occur throughout the lifespan.

Once you have had a bout of depression, you do have a greater chance of being depressed again. On the positive side, however: when you get out of a depression one time, you will most likely get out of it another.

Think of depression as a continuum — or long line — of feelings. On one end there is sadness and grief. These feelings are normal part of life. They occur with such losses as retirement from a lifelong career or the death of a spouse. On this end, depression is a way of coping with stress. In most instances, having someone to listen to your concerns is a key to sorting things out. Once individuals come to terms with their losses, they can reestablish their lives.

On the other end of the continuum is severe depression. This type of depression is an illness. Such body functions as sleep, appetite, elimination and sexual activity may be continually disturbed over several weeks.

Medical help is necessary for this type of depression.

Where does your "depression" lie on the continuum? Feeling "down in the dumps" following a major life change is probably a normal reaction. But take note when the feelings are strong and persistent. Be aware of changes in your regular body functions. Seek help sensibly after evaluating your "depression."

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agriculture Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion and national origin.

CEILING FANS PROMISE BIG SPRING — SUMMER SAVINGS

This year, many people will buy more ceiling fans for homes and businesses, and from all expectations, they'll make a big difference in energy savings for spring and summer. Families will be setting thermostats from 76-80 and turning on the fans — to find they're still comfortable AND have air-conditioning savings of from 18-25 percent.

Houston Lighting and Power Company says the best reason for a fan is money. They say a one-ton air conditioner costs about 10 cents per hour to operate. A fan costs less than a penny per hour to operate. You don't have to be a whiz in math to figure the difference — 10 hours of one or the other can add up to either a dollar or a dime.

Of course, fans don't actually lower room temperature, but the constant breeze makes you feel cooler.

For greatest savings, check on installation costs. Cost of having a ceiling fan installed can sometimes run as much as the actual cost of the fan, so be sure to consider this before buying.

Some fans have only a few instructions on installation, but others are complete with pictures, so it's possible to install the fan yourself. Be sure to pick up instructions when you buy the fans, and read them carefully.

Manufacturers will tell you if fans can be installed on ceilings as low as eight feet. They usually say mount the fan to a standard three- or four-inch junction box securely anchored to support 45 pounds.

A ceiling fixture already in place is the easiest place to hang a ceiling fan. This gives you ready access to electricity and puts you near a ceiling joist, since the ceiling box (the metal box up in the ceiling that contains the electrical wiring) is attached to a joist.

Another way to hang the fan simply involves placing a new ceiling box to the underside of a joist and running power to it. In most cities, however, residents should know that a permit is necessary (and these are issued only to licensed electricians) for all but very simple home wiring. So have a professional do the electrical part and save yourself a possible injurious shock and/or a fine.

A third way to get power to the fan is to hang the fan as if it were a swag lamp, draping the power cord through a chain to the nearest wall, then down the wall to a plug. There are swag kits available for this purpose.

In deciding which way to go, remember that the first method mentioned really is the easiest way — using an existing ceiling fixture. With this method, the competent do-it-yourselfer can easily install a ceiling fan in a hour or two.

Turpen honored outstanding agent

Jo Della Turpen of Plainview has been honored as one of the outstanding agents of National Farmers Union Insurance Companies, according to company President Raymond F. Novak of Denver.

Mrs. Turpen has an office at 319 S. 2nd, Floydada.

Mrs. Turpen placed 12th in the company for sales, which qualified her for the President's Council, the company's highest sales honor. It is the first time she has qualified for the Council. She also qualified for the company's Mile High Club for the first time.

BEEF GRADE CHANGES OUTLINED

Proposed changes in the official U.S. standards of carcass beef and for slaughter cattle are getting a lot of attention from both consumers and cattlemen.

Changes as proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture are as follows:

—That minimum marbling requirements for Prime, Choice and Good grades in A maturity (cattle up to about 30 months of age) would be reduced to "minimum moderate," "typical slight" and "minimum traces," respectively.

—That all young beef not meeting minimum marbling requirements for the Good grade would be graded Utility.

—That the Standard grade would be eliminated.

—That the rate of increase in marbling requirements in B maturity (cattle from about 30 to 42 months of age) would be doubled and that the marbling to maturity relationship be increased from 1:1 to 2:1.

—That quality grade requirements for bullock beef also would be changed so they would still be the same as those for steer, heifer and cow beef in A maturity; bullock beef would still be identified for class.

—That related standards for grades of slaughter cattle would be changed to reflect changes made for grades of carcass beef.

—That no changes be made in yield grade standards.

The marbling referred to in the standards is the amount of fat dispersed through a piece of meat and is one of the factors considered to contribute to the tenderness, juiciness and flavor of beef.

Anyone interested in voicing his opinions about the proposed changes may submit written comments and supporting data by March 31 to the Livestock, Meat, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, USDA, 2M-Annex, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Egg coloring tradition traces back to Persians and Egyptians

Traditions of egg decorating have enriched the myths and legends of many cultures, and have delighted people of all ages around Eastertime for centuries.

Popular beliefs, imagination and craftsmanship have turned egg decorating into a highly developed and diversified folk art. The egg itself possesses the secret of life; it symbolizes a "rebirth" and is often associated with Easter, Spring, dawn and creation. All involve a beginning, and in one form or another, almost every living thing comes from or can be traced back to an egg of some sort.

Many years before the birth of Christ, the Persians and Egyptians were coloring eggs. And while the Jews do not celebrate Easter, they too colored eggs at approximately the same time of the year, during their Passover season. In some parts of the world, Jews still use colored eggs for Passover and other religious celebrations. Because of the coincidental nearness of Passover and Easter, Christians may have gotten the idea for colored eggs from the Jews and incorporated it into their Easter celebration.

In many European countries, it was the custom on Easter day to have a "tapping" contest where children would knock the ends of eggs together to see who could keep his egg unbroken the longest. Egg-tossing and egg-rolling games were brought to the United States by German settlers, as was the concept of the "Easter Bunny." Because rabbits multiply quickly and are a symbol of fertility, they became associated with the celebration of Easter. According to legend, the Pagan goddess of Spring, Eostre, turned a bird into a rabbit. They may explain why, in some areas, the Easter Bunny delivers baskets full of colored eggs to children on Easter morning.

Some of the early German and Pennsylvania Dutch traditions and customs are still in existence today. The most common tradition is hiding eggs for children on Easter morning. Both children color the eggs during the week leading to one official gift to a special friend.

The various methods of egg coloring have also become a few people still color eggs in natural dyes over the past 1 as onion skins or flowers. A universal method of applying commercial dyes and a lot of for that purpose. With high stocking rate cotton swabs or brushes, range cond virtually any original design. The points out, and dot patterns are most common. Choice of fe coloring the egg and combined with portions of the color to create a "reverse" effect. Probably the most sophisticated craft which produces intricate designs in late w ing can bring an in range plants. USDA revises system for collecting regional animal disease data

Four Americans left for the People's Republic of China April 8 to help the Chinese set up a 4-H youth program similar to the one in this country.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture updated its system for collecting data on livestock diseases to get a better picture of the geographic distribution of livestock diseases, according to Donald L. Houston, administrator of USDA's Food Inspection Service.

Survey shows moisture needed

The annual pre-plant soil moisture survey over the Southern High Plains area is now complete. The soil moisture deficit, a measure of how much water is still needed to wet the soil in the crop root zone to field capacity, ranges from less than two inches of moisture needed in some areas to more than eight inches needed in other areas.

The wide range of moisture deficits over the 18 county area surveyed is generally due to differences in each soil's capacity to store moisture and to local rainfall patterns.

Other factors also affect the amounts of deficit recorded. In addition to precipitation and soil types, moisture deficits may be different due to individual farm management practices, the type of crops grown in an area, and the amount of water a particular farmer applied late last growing season.

The soil moisture deficit was determined at 135 observation points, including over 50 new sites installed last fall, with the cooperation of the local landowners. Site selection was based on soil type and variation in the saturated thickness of the Ogallala aquifer.

Crews used a soil auger mounted on a small trailer to core the seven foot holes at the new sites. At each site a neutron soil moisture probe was lowered down a two inch diameter, thin-walled aluminum tube set to a depth of seven feet below land surface. Readings were taken at one foot intervals at each site. Soil core samples were also taken at one foot intervals at each of the newly installed sites and tested at the soil physics laboratory at Texas Tech University, to determine their soil moisture content and bulk density. This information was correlated with data from the neutron probe readings at each site.

The survey is a cooperative effort by the Soil Conservation Service and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District with support from the Texas Department of Water Resources. The SCS and Water District assumed responsibility for the program last year and developed a cooperative agreement to expand its data base. Oliver Newton, an agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service at Lubbock, developed the original survey and maintained it for 15 years with technical assistance from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, until Oliver recently retired.

The survey is an important tool for giving us a better picture of our soil moisture reserves over the entire area. It can help the farmer make more informed pre-plant irrigation decisions and help him avoid both over and under irrigating in the spring. It can also give an indication of potential dryland production.

The sample indicates general trends over the area, but does not predict exact soil moisture conditions on any given farm. Each landowner needs to check his individual farm soil moisture to determine his pre-plant moisture needs.

DAN SEALE and 'Shorty' Lancaster pull a soil core sample at a moisture survey site while Mike Risinger removes an aluminum tube from the truck to ease the seven foot hole.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMENT
CHARLES W. STENHOLM

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Fifty years ago, this country was held in the grips of an economic crisis that still has the ability to make its survivors shudder—the Great Depression.

Today, facing a similar—although not nearly as severe—economic problem, many are quick to make comparisons between these two eras in our country's history and legislative actions to correct the situations.

In the 30s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt set in motion a package of federal programs, The New Deal, to counter the economic chaos. The core of many of those programs remains in place today, but the programs themselves are far, far removed from the original FDR concept. I contend that FDR never envisioned nor intended the dependence on federal government by individuals that is commonplace in this country today.

I cannot claim to be a survivor of the Great Depression, but I am a product of that period and like many Texans, was raised in the shadow of that destructive period. As many times as I have heard those years described as "hard times," I cannot recall ever hearing any of my elders say it was their "right" that government take care of their problems. Work was the solution and pride came with being able to make it through without government help.

There are countless examples of New Deal programs that remain throughout the 17th District. Through the Works Progress Administration (WPA), parks were built...roads were built...public buildings were built. There were no "welfare programs"; there were "work programs". WPA work was the salvation of many a West Texas family, but as soon as other work was available, participants were quick to return to work in the private sector.

Let's look at just one federal program that, although not one of the New Deal programs, is a good example of a concept that has gone far afield from its original conception: Food Stamps.

The Food Stamp program was originally a "surplus commodities" program, designed to implement the distribution of surplus farm products among the needy. After recognition of the need for a nutritionally superior program, "food stamps" could be purchased from the government by those meeting requirements. The 1977 Food Stamp Act eliminated the purchase requirement, making food stamps available to any and all who met somewhat more stringent requirements.

Food stamp costs have doubled in the past three years and one out of 10 Americans (22 million people) now participates in the program. The value of food stamp benefits grew from $5.2 billion in 1979 to more than $10.3 billion in 1981 and over 6 million people were added to food stamp rolls over that period. I believe FDR, if alive today, would point out that more emphasis needs to be given to pilot "workfare" programs that require participants to contribute some form of unpaid labor in exchange for food stamps.

I know that there are those who will argue that many of those unemployed would welcome the opportunity to work if "suitable, dignified work was available." WPA workers in Texas built outdoor toilets and I doubt if they questioned whether their labor was "suitable or dignified". Their pay, however, fed their families.

There is no such thing as "undignified" work, in my opinion. The work ethic evident in the 30s was one of the basic ingredients of this country's success and should be instilled in each and every American citizen today.
