Floyd jail renovation bid accepted

With bids ranging from a low of $45,697 to a high of $72,500, Floyd County Commissioners approved the renovation project on the county jail during a March 31 session.

Six bidders submitted plans for the renovation with estimated work time stated from 150 days to 200 days at the afternoon meeting. The bid was awarded to the low bidder, Hunter Construction Company of Lubbock, on a motion by Sam Spence, seconded by Thomas Warren. Remaining commissioners Kay Crabtree and Floyd Jackson joined the motion to make the award unanimous.

The low bid of $45,697 was nearly ten thousand dollars less than the anticipated $55,000 cost estimated by the architect, Ed Stiles of Stiles & Stiles, Architects of Lubbock.

Other bidders and their bids included All Texas Builders, Inc. ($58,689), Belk & Cook Contractors ($72,500), LDC Construction Co., Inc. ($56,344), M&S Construction ($53,759) and Wardroup & Associates, Inc. ($54,286).

Contracts will be signed at a later date and the start date for the project will be set at that time. Hunter estimates 150 days to completion.

INSURANCE BID ACCEPTED

After a week of discussion and recalculation, the court unanimously agreed to convert the current employee health coverage under Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas to a new plan under the same company. The Texas II Plan provided by Blue Cross/Blue Shield will save the county "about $1500" per month in insurance costs according to Judge Bill Hardin. The new plan will cost $121.07 per month for health insurance and $2.72 per month for life insurance.

Rainfall welcome

It was an April Fool prank, the traditional "Easter spell" and a blessing rolled into one.

Starting late Thursday, badly needed moisture measured "around an inch" — varying reports range from eight-tenths to 1½ inches. Farmers were all smiles about the wet fields.

Cold temperatures invaded the South Plains as five inches of snow fell in Amarillo and even more in the upper Panhandle.

Landmark house being relocated

A page is being torn from the Floydada history book with the moving of an early-day residence.

Constructed over 60 years ago, the house has been located immediately north of the Pay-n-Save food store. The lot will be utilized as parking space for the super market.

The Hesperian has talked with several persons concerning the house's history and hopes to gain sufficient information to publish a feature story in next week's issue.

The commissioners authorized a lease contract agreement for a Xerox copier for use in the probation department on the second floor of the courthouse. The agreement calls for payment of $69.10 per month from the equipment funds of the probation department. Total cost of the agreement is $2,487.60.

Also approved during the Thursday session were two farm work contracts for Jake Younger, #619, and Tri C Corp., #596. Two other contracts were voided, #592 for Lonnie Hinsley and #572 for Eddie Smith.

In addition to the four commissioners and Judge Hardin, Sheriff Fred Cardina, County Treasurer Glenna Orman, Margaret Herrera, representatives of several construction firms and the Hesperian reporter were present at the session.

Precinct One commissioner race to be decided in Tuesday run-off vote

Democratic residents of Precinct One will choose a commissioner next Tuesday, and Democrats in the other three precincts will stay away from the polls.

Since there are no state or district races in the Democratic run-off election, only the Precinct One commissioner race is to appear on the ballot.

Connie D. Bearden and Hulon Carthel, survivors of the five-man field contest for the nomination in the first primary, are pitted in the commissioner's race. The individual receiving the greatest number of votes next Tuesday will be elected to a four-year term, which begins next January.

There is no Republican candidate.

Democratic officials say that five precinct one polling sites will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. on April 12. The boxes and places include:

Southwest Floydada #1, Floydada High School auditorium
Allmon #3, Allmon Grain Co. office
Sandhill #4, Barwise Elevator
Harmony #16, Harmony Community Center
McCoy #22, McCoy Grocery.

ABSENTEE BALLOTING
Absentee balloting continues through 5 p.m. Friday in the county clerk's office.

Hale views TDC proposals

Incentives galore offered for prison locations

"It was a bidding war," Bill Hale, chairman of the Floydada Development Co. (FDC) said after viewing proposals of cities and towns which were successful in attracting Texas Department of Corrections facilities.

Hale made a trip to Huntsville to view proposals and to help Floydada become better prepared for future attempts to attract industry. Floydada was an also-ran in the TDC selection process.

The local community was at a distinct disadvantage because it had only 72 hours in which to prepare its proposal.

Initial stipulations stated that sites for TDC facilities would be located near metropolitan areas such as Houston and Dallas.

"We thought we were out of it," Hale explains. However, "thanks to politicians and others in Austin, they (TDC) put us back in the hunt." The only problem was that the local proposal was due in 72 hours.

Despite the time factor, a number of local persons "pitched in" and drafted the proposal which was "excellent in most respects."

The "big minus we had" was the fact that sewerage connections could not be delivered to the site at no cost to TDC. "Perhaps minor negatives" were the costs of water and solid waste disposal. "I feel that we could have improved in these areas if we had more time," Hale says in retrospect.

STRONG AG PROPOSAL

He adds with pride that "nobody was in the ballpark with us on our agricultural proposal." The Floydada offer was for 5,000 acres of farmland to be leased to the state penal system "at a reasonable price." This would have allowed TDC to have grown a portion of its own commodities.

"We were behind some of the communities on industrial training proposals," Hale admits.

Many of the proposals offered county government assistance in site preparations. However, this was unnecessary in Floydada's case because "our site was flat."

While electric and natural gas rates on the local proposal were "competitive," Hale says, "We could have been a little shy on paving."

Although Floydada's plan received compliments, the Floydada Development Co. head says, "I believe we could have done better if we would have had more time."

While larger communities were able to offer additional incentives, Hale adds that "I feel Floydada did about everything it was capable of" considering its size and economy.

Hale digested many of the other proposals on the prison locations during "four and a half hours of constant reading." He scanned the plans of the "eight or nine finalists and some of the others." He adds that "I probably read 15 of the 30-some proposals."

STRONG INCENTIVES

He was amazed that some cities could and would offer such concessions to the TDC to choose their sites. Amarillo "probably had the most elaborate proposal and it was maybe four-inches thick." This was prepared by an Austin law firm. Among the incentives offered by various cities and towns vying to become home to the minimum and/or maximum security facilities were: tracts of land up to 3,500 acres at no

GOP run-off Tuesday

Boulter-Gilbreath, Price-Milner races keys

Republican standard-bearers for four positions will be chosen Tuesday in the primary run-off election. One polling site will operate from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. in each of the county's four commissioner precincts.

Highlighting the election from a local standpoint will be the races between Beau Boulter of Amarillo and Wes Gilbreath for the right to face Democratic incumbent Lloyd Bentsen in the November general election for the U.S. Senate and the battle between Bob Price of Pampa and Larry S. Milner of Amarillo for congressman from District 13.

The Milner-Price victor goes against Democratic nominee Bill Sarpaluis in November to succeed Boulter as congressman from this area.

BOXES LISTED

The four Republican voting boxes are:

Lockney — Old cafeteria in Lockney Junior High School; election precincts #5 East Lockney, #7 Providence, #8 Lone Star and #18 West Lockney

Floydada — County Extension agent's office building, meeting room; election precincts #1 Southwest Floydada, #3 Allmon, #4 Sandhill, #16 Harmony, #22 McCoy, #23 Southeast Floydada and #24 Northeast Floydada

Dougherty — Carmel Eastham residence; election precincts #13 Baker and #20 Dougherty South Plains — South Plains School auditorium; election precincts #9 South Plains, #11 Cedar Hill and #17 Goodnight.

September 16 and 17 Homecoming '88 dates

All roads will lead "home" for Homecoming '88 on Sept. 16 and 17. The Whirlwinds are to play Lockney in the homecoming football game.

Officers for the event are: Larry Barbee, president; Tommy Ogden and Vickie Pitts, vice president; Anne Carthel, secretary; and Linda Matsler, treasurer.

An address committee has been "busy at work trying to update lists of ex-students." These lists currently are being returned, so that the total number of exes can be established. Postcards will be mailed in May, so that exes can begin to make plans to return.

"Many activities are being planned for both Friday and Saturday," according to organizers.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. Friday at the high school. A pep rally is to be held on Friday prior to the game, followed by a pre-game supper.

A teen dance will take place Friday night after the game.

Many class get-togethers will follow the game in the homes of various individuals. "If you would like to have something special for your class, please contact the secretary for information on how to include this with the letters going out to your classmates," officials say.

Saturday's agenda includes continued registration, business meeting, memorial service, lunch, class reunions at the school, teacher reception, band and athletics reunions and an exes dance that night followed by breakfast.

"Most importantly, we cannot have a successful homecoming without a strong attendance from the locals," homecoming officials say. "We ask all local exes to please make plans to attend. Out-of-town exes look forward to seeing ALL of you, and the officers would like to make you feel especially welcome. We do not send out letters or postcards to our local exes because of the expense, but we do want each of you to feel personally invited.

"Let's make Homecoming 1988 the very best yet!"

Ted and Toots, an Easter reunion

By Juanita Stepp

Springtime and the Easter season are universally accepted as a time for renewal and for new beginnings. A special example of this unique season was celebrated this past Easter by a family recently arrived on the Floyd County scene.

After searching nearly 34 years for a cousin, James Reynolds McCamant, who "sort of disappeared" into the U.S. Navy, Lottie Hall of Dougherty was able to spend Easter Sunday with him in his home in Lubbock.

The saga of this reunion began several months ago when Mrs. Hall and her second husband, Stanley, moved to Dougherty to be near her daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren. The Hall's set about the process of settling in, attending to mundane matters such as address changes and utility connections.

Both retirees, she from the U.S. Postal Service and he from the railroad, the Hall's are "fulltimers" in their motor home and intended "to travel a bit as the weather warms."

As daily routine began to form, the Halls set up the weaving projects they occupy their days with and started the never ending task of working on the family genealogy. The arrival of a new phone book this spring found the family ancestral names being checked in the listings on the off chance that a new source of information would be found.

After going through the Hall, Brown and Snodgrass listings, Hall looked through the McCamant listings on the off chance that there might be a familiar name which would lead to a contact with a cousin she had not seen in almost 34 years.

"I never really expected to find anything," says Hall, "but you could have knocked me over with a feather when I found his name in the directory."

"I knew it was our Ted as soon as he spoke when I called his number," said Hall.

"It wasn't until I asked a few questions of my own that I knew it was Toots," stated McCamant.

Explains Hall, "He was born James Alexander Reynolds in 1933. His mother, Sallie Mae, was my mother's sister. His father was a deputy sheriff in Lincoln County, New Mexico, who was killed during the pursuit and slaying of the outlaw Perchmouth Stanton in the early 1930's.

His mother remarried and she and her second husband were killed in an auto accident in 1939. My grandfather, A.S. McCamant, legally adopted my cousin and raised him in our family. That made him both my cousin and my uncle."

"I never knew her as Lottie, she was Toots to all of us," says McCamant. "Everyone called me Ted because of an old horse named Boulter is relinquishing his seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in his bid for the Senate. Although Gilbreath held a lead in the first primary, the two candidates who failed to make the run-off have endorsed Boulter.

Former state Rep. Ed Emmett is pitted against energy consultant P.S. (Sam) Ervin for a Railroad Commission seat. The fourth run-off, a state Supreme Court race, has Dallas appeals Court Judge Nathan Necht squaring off against Missouri City attorney Ronald S. Block to determine who will take on Justice Williams Kilgarlin in November.

The Emmett-Ervin winner goes against Democrat Jim Nugent in the general election.

Persons who voted in the Democratic primary in March are not eligible to vote in the Republican run-off.

Absentee voting continues through Friday in the county clerk's office.

SOS board discusses need for volunteers

The board of directors of Floydada Spirit of Sharing met last Thursday for their regular quarterly session. President Peggy Medley, presided over the business session. Elvis Warren brought prayer followed by Ardis Daniel, secretary, reading the minutes of the last meeting. Ed Wester gave the treasurer's report.

Pauline Pierce consented to resume chairmanship of clothing, to be assisted by Edith Marrs as co-chairman. Mrs. Pierce said she and Mrs. Marrs had plans to make the shifting of winter and summer clothing more suitable and that she also had plans of holding a workshop for workers as soon as possible. The board was highly pleased of Mrs. Pierce heading the clothing committee again. She started as chairman when SOS opened in January of 1984 and served diligently for over three years. The committee had been without a chairman for the past several months due to the resignation of Bonnie Palacios, who was unable to continue because of illness in the immediate family.

The president, who is also the volunteer coordinator for SOS, is urging anyone, man or woman, who has three hours per week, every two weeks or even three hours each month to donate for a good cause to contact Mrs. Medley at 983-3392. Summer months are coming up and that means vacation time, so SOS will be short of interviewers, receptionist, pantry workers and clothing workers. Also needed are men for "after hours on call."

SOS is an organization sponsored by you through Floydada churches, and would like for you to serve those in need even further by being one of their volunteers. Mrs. Medley and vice-president, Margie Sue, are planning a workshop for interviewers and receptionists in May with a definite date to be announced later. Your participation will be appreciated.

Before adjournment reports were heard from Elvis Warren, on-call chairman; Pauline Pierce, clothing; Helen Lipham, food pantry, co-chairman; Helen Martin, office coordinator, and Anne Willson, scrapbook chairman.

Hospital happenings

Events at Caprock Hospital

There was a buzz of excitement around the hospital last week as the helicopter from Methodist Hospital and Lubbock General Hospital flew in to our helipad. This service is called Care-Link and is a combined effort of these two hospitals. The team was flying to area hospitals to familiarize the staff with services they offer.

One of our home town girls, Jaine Guest Moore, is the RN Chief Flight Nurse. We enjoyed meeting the crew and will look forward to working with them in the future.

We have had the Flight For Life from St. Mary's Hospital coming to Floydada for several months. We are very fortunate to have both of these services available to our community. Several of our community residents have been or have had family members that have been transferred by air. Flight For Life moves at approximately 180 miles per hour. They can be at our hospital in 12 to 15 minutes flying time.

The people on these teams are carefully selected and trained. They have worked in conjunction with our staff, helping us to have the patients prepared for transport when the team arrives.

We contacted the two helicopter services for an estimate on transfer fees. The cost of transfer by helicopter runs between $700.00 and $775.00, plus supplies.

We will be starting an Emergency Medical Technician and Emergency Care Attendant course beginning at the hospital in late April. We encourage anyone interested in the special course to call the hospital and sign up. The class will meet twice weekly in the evening and some on Saturday. It will last until the end of June. Individuals who complete this course will be certified by the State after they pass the State exams. Scholarships will be awarded to those selected to work on our EMS service.

At the present time, we have 4 EMT's and 3 ECA's working on our Ambulance Service. Our ambulance coordinator is Mary Lee Padgett. Two certified attendants are on call 24 hours a day. These attendants carry papers and when a call comes into the hospital, these attendants are paged. They respond immediately from wherever they might be at the time. All of these folks have other jobs and must work this call into their schedule. Although, this is basically considered a volunteer job, the two attendants on call are paid $1.00 per hour. Many times they make two transfers and use their entire day, yet they receive only the $1.00 per hour. There are times when they are on call and they don't make any runs at all.

Last week, we omitted the name of Carol Scribner as being one of those taking the pre-ACLS class given by St. Mary's Flight For Life. Carol is our 11-7 RN shift supervisor. She lives in Olton cost to TDC, two sections of irrigated land leased at the rate of $1 annually, discount health plans, discount loans for employees to secure housing, inmate training at no cost, 10 hours of free air travel each month, free overhead water storage tanks, discounted rates on various utilities, free or discounted warehouse space, all utility connections available at the site, a 74,000 square foot building appraised at $1.2 million for $200,000, roads paved at no cost to TDC, a sewerage lift, a 75,864 square foot building free and various other concessions.

Enroute home from Huntsville, Hale visited the Texas Department of Commerce in Austin. He "did not receive any encouragement at all" concerning assistance in attracting added payrolls to Floydada. "We can follow their advice, all right, but we're going to have to get after it if we hope to secure industry," Hale believes.

However, the local bid for a minimum security penal facility was far from a waste of time and energy. The concerted effort increased the community's awareness of its need for more job opportunities, developed a strong bond and dedication on the part of many local residents and it afforded local leaders experience in attempting to locate industry.

Hale explained his findings and opinions during a Friday morning breakfast meeting at Nielson's Restaurant. In attendance were FDC board members, government officials and utility company representatives.

Brown attends course

Gary Brown, city manager for the City of Floydada, participated in the recent City Management Fundamentals course at Texas A&M University in College Station. The course, sponsored by the Texas City Management Association in cooperation with the Texas Engineering Extension Service, included presentations from Texas city managers and Texas A&M University faculty on enhancing skills essential to city administrators.

DR. BILL M. NORMAN

Dr. Bill Norman promoted to vice president of Continental Eagle

Bill M. Norman, D.Engr., has recently been promoted to the position of vice president of Engineering for Continental Eagle Corporation in Prattville, Alabama. The announcement was made by Joseph C. Fermon, chairman and chief executive officer of Continental Eagle.

Dr. Norman has been employed by Continental Eagle for the past seven years, transferring to the Alabama headquarters from the corporation's Fresno, Calif., branch office in 1985.

Police investigate theft of money in bag from OK Tire Supply office

Police have checked one possible lead and are investigating others into the Wednesday, March 30, theft of money from the OK Tire Store at 308 South Main.

A sum of money, $400 plus, and a Matador bank bag in which it had been placed, were stolen from the firm's office. The bank bag was described as being white with green lettering.

Police Chief James Hale says his department also continues its investigation into a suspected burglary-arson on March 28. The house, located in the 200 block of West Georgia, was destroyed by flames during an early morning fire.

A "white male" entered Ince Fina #15 at 401 South First Street about 10:20 Saturday, took a quart of motor oil and "walked out without paying" for the oil.

Police were summoned at 8:26 p.m. Sunday to the 800 block of East Price. A man who had been "drinking with two subjects" walked to his residence and was followed by the pair. Both men walked inside the residence "trying to start a fight" with the husband.

The pair reportedly started shoving the man's wife, and officers were notified.

Juan Eleazar Vasquez was charged with DWI and disorderly conduct at 1:05 a.m. Saturday at the labor camp.

Two minor vehicle accidents were investigated by police during the week.

At 4:45 Saturday, a '67 Ford pickup reportedly was following a '79 Ford Mustang on the "Y". The pickup's driver glanced away and did not see the Mustang stop to yield to traffic. The pickup "bumped" the other vehicle.

There were no damage and no injuries, according to Chief Hale.

Another minor mishap occurred at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday, March 29. Reportedly, a 1979 Dodge van and a 1980 Chevrolet Luv pickup were westbound on Georgia. The van attempted to turn right (north) onto Second Street, then started backing up, hitting the pickup.

The van left the scene before an officer could arrive, according to police department information. There were no injuries.

'Quiet week' for sheriff's office

The sheriff's office had a "pretty quiet" week-end.

One DWI (driving while intoxicated) charge was filed Friday night in Floydada, and a PI (public intoxication) arrest was made Sunday in Lockney.

MOBILE HOME RIGHTS

Shopping for a mobile home?

Be careful. A large number of manufactured housing retailers are going out of business these days. If you buy a home from a dealer who later closes his doors, you will have a hard time getting your warranties honored.

Texas manufactured housing dealers are required by the Texas Department of Labor and Standards to post $50,000 bonds to protect consumers in case they go out of business. Manufacturers must put up bonds of a $100,000. Make sure who you deal with is bonded. And be aware that some dealers headquartered in neighboring states but who sell in Texas, or to Texans, are not bonded.

Before you buy a home, check with the Better Business Bureau or the AG's Consumer Protection Division to see whether there have been complaints against the dealer you are planning to patronize.

Lotteries illegal in State of Texas

Lotteries are popular in many states and in other countries like Canada. But they are illegal in Texas. This includes lotteries conducted for charitable purposes.

In addition, it is illegal to send lottery information into the United States from other countries.

Not only are organizations from other countries or other states in violation of federal laws by soliciting in Texas, so too are those who respond. And people who buy tickets for lotteries sponsored by local boys clubs, sport teams or churches are violating Texas law, even if the prize is just a color TV or a home cooked meal.

Either way, the law is the same: persons who run lotteries and people who buy the tickets are guilty of criminal acts.

Aiken Baptist revival begins April 13

Aiken Baptist Church spring revival begins April 13 and continues every night through Sunday, April 17. Guest pastor for the week of revival will be the Rev. Ronald Helms from Hoskins Avenue Baptist Church in Charlotte, N.C.

The Rev. Helms brings with him over 17 years of pastoral experience including six years with Indian Land Baptist Church, Fort Mill, S.C.; one year with Fairview Baptist Church, Albermarle, N.C.; and over 10 years with the First Baptist Church in Midland, N.C.

The Rev. Helms attended Wingate College in Wingate, N.C., and Winthrop College in Rock Hill, S.C., receiving degrees in religion and psychology and human services. His advance education was done in Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest, N.C.

Married to the former Patricia Knight of Waxhaw, N.C., the Rev. Helms has two children, Steven, age 24, and Jerry, 20.

The revival services will start Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Sunday services will be 11:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. A meal will follow the 11:00 a.m. service. The public is invited to attend any or all of the services.

Granddaughter of local residents recognized

United States Achievement Academy has announced that Crystal Powers has been named a United States National Award winner in history and government. This award is a prestigious honor few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American junior and senior high school students.

Miss Powers, who attends Ralls Middle School, was nominated for this award by Arnulfo R. Flores, a government/history teacher at the school. The honoree will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history," says Dr. George Stevens, executive director of the United States Achievement Academy. "Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement."

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Miss Powers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rogers. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hillery Polvadore of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Ely Rogers of Crosbyton.

Common headache causes examined

Nearly everyone has experienced a headache at one time or another. As common as they are, though, many people do not know what causes them or how to relieve them. According to the Texas Medical Association, there are two main types of headaches, tension and vascular.

Tension headaches, also called muscle contraction headaches, are caused by tension in the face, neck, and scalp muscles. But because the pain is felt in the forehead, temples, or eyesockets rather than the muscles, many people do not link the headaches to the muscle tension.

Stress is an underlying cause of tension headaches. Frowning, teeth clenching, and poor posture — things we do under stress and often are unaware of — are typical causes. Other factors include too little or too much sleep, and overeating or drinking.

You can relieve your tension headaches with over-the-counter pain relievers, by applying heat or ice on the back of the neck, massaging the tense muscles, and resting.

Vascular headaches are caused by narrowing and swelling blood vessels in the head. This type of headache is more commonly known as migraine.

The warning symptoms of migraine include nausea, vomiting, and disturbed vision, such as seeing spots or flashing lights, and are followed by severe headaches usually on one side of the head.

Unlike tension headaches, migraine tends to run in families. In fact, even young children can have migraine. An increase or decrease in stress level, various foods, alcohol, caffeine, and tobacco also cause these headaches in some people.

If you suffer from severe migraine, TMA suggests see your doctor. Although there is no cure for migraine, he or she may be able to prescribe medication to relieve your headaches.

Rent-to-own costs more

Rent-to-own agreements make buying a television or furniture seem affordable, but can cost more in the long-run, according to Bonnie L. Piernot, a consumer economics expert.

Rent-to-own programs vary, but an 18-month rental period is typical, she says.

Customers don't have to rent for that length of time, but those who do become owners of the product, explains the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

"Advertisements for rent-to-own programs often stress the possibility of ownership and low weekly or monthly payments," Piernot remarks. "But over the months these low payments add up to much more than the cost of the item."

For example, if you rent-to-own a 19-inch portable color television set for $15 per week, the total cost over 18 months adds up to $1,170. A rent-to-own agreement for payments of $54 per month adds up to $972 after 18 months.

Since a typical 19-inch color television sells for about $300 - $400 in a retail store, and sometimes less on sale, a rent-to-own customer can easily pay over twice the price, adds the specialist.

Piernot observes that some consumers use rental-purchase agreements as a substitute for conventional forms of credit, such as installment plans or credit card purchases. But she points out that credit card interest rates of 18%-21% can be less expensive than the added costs of rent-to-own.

Other people who sign up for these programs either don't qualify or think they won't qualify for conventional credit. If credit buying isn't possible, Piernot advises consumers to set aside the money that would go for weekly rental payments until enough has been saved to simply buy the item.

"Consumers should also be aware that rent-to-own programs are not credit and are not governed by the consumer protection laws regulating credit practices," Piernot says.

Renting household items for a short period may be useful in a temporary living situation, she concedes. But before renting for permanent ownership, the specialist suggests consumers figure the total cost and decide whether it will be worth it.

Area clubs tour jewelry factory

By Ruth Scott

Harmony and Homebuilders Extension Clubs went on a trip to Roaring Springs Monday, March 28. Lunch was eaten at Wagon Train Restaurant, then on to Thacker Jewelry factory, where we were divided into two groups, to go through the plant to see how jewelry is made, from casting the molds to the finished product.

An interesting fact is, that the dust from certain rooms, is never discarded, but sent off where gold dust, that may have escaped, while making jewelry, is separated and saved to make more jewelry.

Those going were Gladys Widener, Barbara Willis, Ruth Trapp, Helen Huffman, Elvira Stewart, her sister and brother-in-law from Wisconsin, Mary True, Maye Williams, Lucille Miller, Ruth Scott, Bess and Horace Carr, Bob and Anna Maude Hopper, Blanche Williams, Imelda Murry, Vivian Curtis and Juanita Pool.

VA questions and answers

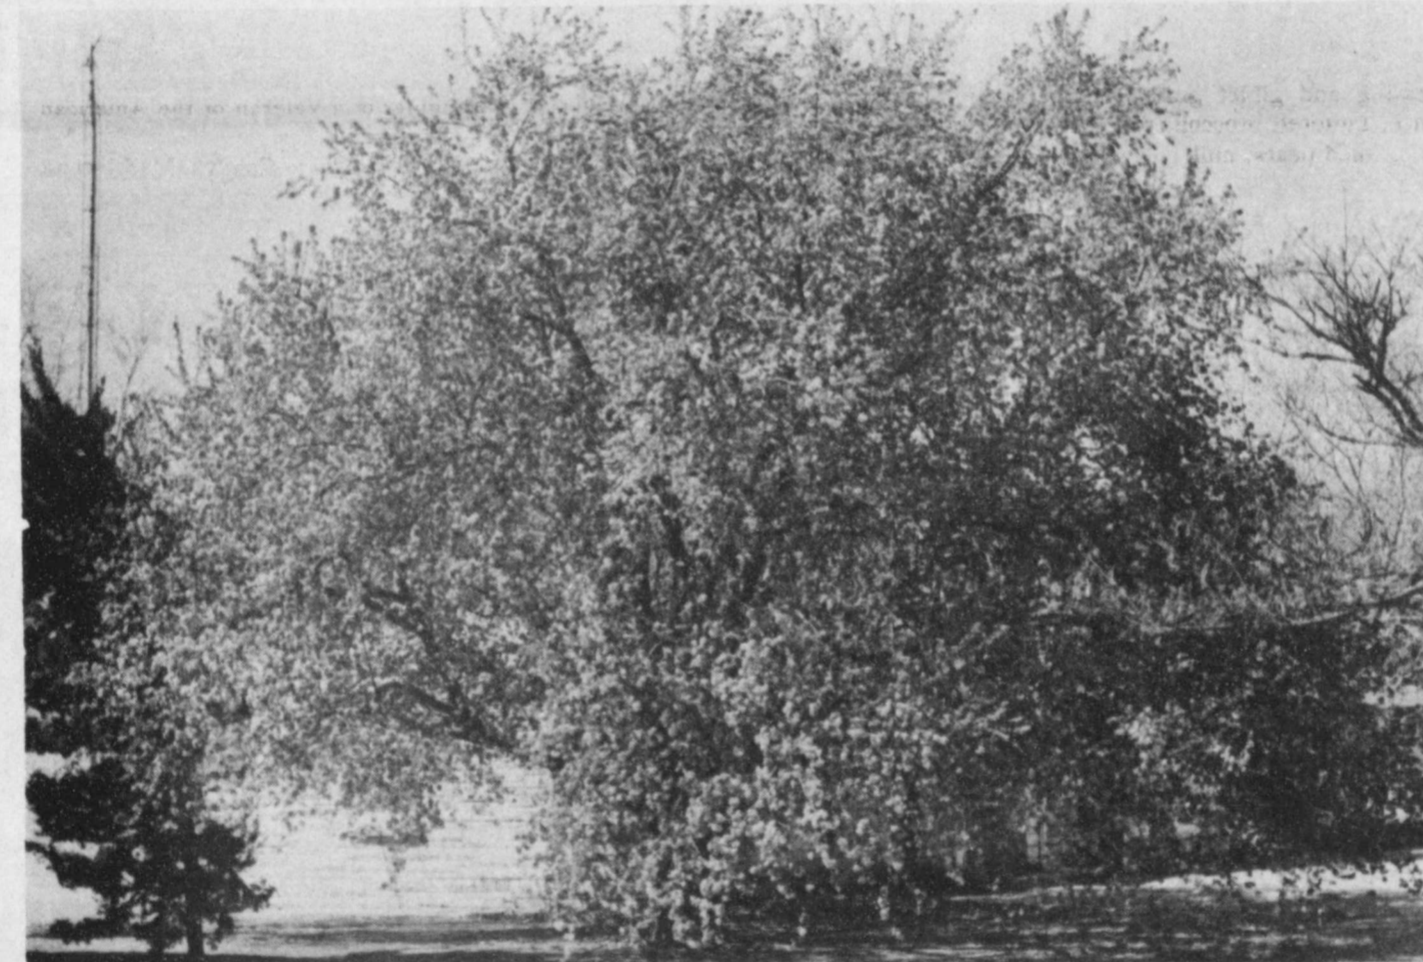

Q — Does the New GI Bill, which was started July 1, 1985, have an ending date for participation by active duty military personnel?

A — This program was made permanent on June 1, 1987. It was redesignated the Montgomery GI Bill with no termination date.

Q — My spouse and I are veterans of the armed forces and plan to use our GI Bill education benefits to attend school. May we claim each other as dependents?

A — Yes. Any veteran may claim his/her spouse as a dependent for education benefits, provided a certified copy of the marriage certificate appears in both VA files.

Rebekahs hear Easter program

By Kathy Green

Floydada Rebekah Lodge met on Tuesday night, March 29, for a regular meeting. Artie Webb, Noble Grand, and Kathy Green, Vice Grand, presided. Lodge was then opened for business.

The sick were reported on. Grace Grundy is recovering nicely from hip surgery. Loretta Burns is not feeling very good, the granddaughter and sister of Artie Webb, are home from the hospital doing fine.

After the business of the lodge was taken care of, an Easter program was given. Kathy Green read a story of the lowly Jesus, how He came into the world humbly working with the poor and sick, helpless people. And how He suffered on the cruel cross.

Artie Webb gave a reading "At Dawning." When He arose from the sepulchre.

Then Kathy Green finished the program by reading John 11:25-26, "That He is the resurrection and the life for those who believe in Him. Shall never die."

The lodge closed with wishes for a Happy Easter to everyone.

Have a good week!

Webster and Grunwald recite marriage promises

Cristie Jan Webster became the bride of Max Luther Grunwald in a double ring ceremony in the Shearer Hills Baptist Church of San Antonio. Officiating for the vows exchange was the Rev. Patrick McCurdy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Webster of San Antonio and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Baker of Floydada. She graduated in 1984 from Texas Tech and received her masters degree from the University of Texas at San Antonio.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Grunwald, also of San Antonio. He is a 1985 graduate of Southwest Texas University in San Marcos and is employed as an auditor for Bexar County.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She chose a formal length gown of antique ivory satin designed with a Sabrina neckline and fitted bodice. The long straight sleeves of embroidered lace and satin came to a point waistline was trimmed in lace. The full skirt flowed into a chapel length train bordered with embroidered lace.

To complete her attire, the bride wore a veil attached to a wreath fashioned of ivory silk flowers and seed pearl sprays. She carried a cascading bouquet of white silk roses and orchids accented with stephanotis and sprays of seed pearls.

Following tradition, the bride wore something old, a penny in her shoe minted in 1901, something new was her wedding attire, something borrowed, a pearl necklace belonging to her mother and something blue was her garter made by her grandmother, Mrs. Baker.

Julie Webster, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridal attendants were the groom's sister, Debbie Grunwald, and nieces of the groom, Kim Kenyon and Kelley Beebe. The bridesmaids wore pink satin floor length dresses fashioned with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with a satin ruffle that formed the short puffed sleeves. The full skirts were trimmed with wide full ruffles. Their cascade bouquets were designed with pink silk roses and white orchids.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails, ivory shirt, tie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was of white rosebuds.

Melvin Grunwald served his son as best man. Groomsman were Mike Clay, Ken Friar, Paul Pilerezyk. Serving as ushers were the groomsman and Tom Janowski. They were attired in black tuxedos, ivory shirts, black ties and cummerbunds and boutonnieres of pink rosebuds.

Jennifer Janowski, niece of the groom was the flower girl and Kenny Friar, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Jennifer's dress was pink satin fashioned after the bridesmaids dresses. Kenny wore a black tuxedo with tails, ivory shirt, tie and cummerbund.

Margie Kersey presided at the guest register.

Selected nuptial music was presented by Pat Wittig. Mario Espinoza was soloist. Selections for the ceremony included "To Me," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Econo Lodge. The three tiered white cake was sitting atop a champagne fountain and was topped with the Precious Moments bride and groom. The groom's cake, made by his mother, was German chocolate trimmed with red roses and chocolate shavings.

Serving were Sharon Barrios and Tina Janowski, sisters of the groom, and serving punch and various hors d'oeuvres was Connie Pilerezyk.

Providing music for dancing was Lou Barrios, brother-in-law of the groom. The bride and groom led the first dance which was the song "Could I Have This Dance For the Rest of My Life." Following the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon to Florida. They will reside in San Antonio.

A rehearsal dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grunwald on March 18.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

On Monday at 10:30 Elvis Warren came and gave the devotion on Rev. 20, "Christ will reign for a 1,000 years." Irene came also and played the piano for us and we sang some songs. At 2:00 p.m. the residents painted a pretty white duck.

On Tuesday we had the morning coffee and juice break as usual. Bro. Richard Neeley didn't get to make it for the devotional so we shared a word from Matt. about "Jesus praying in the garden." His telling us to watch and pray and stay by his side at all times. At 2 p.m. the residents had arts and crafts. They made an Easter basket from a butter dish and they decorated it with pipe cleaners, ribbons and small eggs. They had fun.

Wednesday Helen Lipham came and played the banjo and sang some songs. The residents enjoyed the banjo playing. At 2:00 the residents played bingo. Mrs. Galloway had the first Bingo. Bananas and bugles were the prizes. Julie Elderidge came and helped us play Bingo. Those playing were: Thelma Hoffman, Maude Galloway, Della Halencak, Myra Hall, Iva Wells, Charles Breeding, Otto Johnson, Brooks Calloway, Ruth Benson, Ruth Smitherman and Oda Birchfield.

Thursday, they had juice and coffee as usual. At 10:30, Helen Lipham came and played the banjo again and sang some songs. At 2:00 the residents colored eggs for the hunt, for the children. They really enjoyed coloring the eggs. They turned out real pretty.

On Friday, the ladies of the First Baptist Church came and gave the morning devotion. Mrs. Nettie Adams gave the devotional on the Crucifixion, death, and the Resurrection of Jesus. She told it from memory, thanks Nettie we always enjoy hearing what you have to say. Evelyn Latta played the piano, and Letha Mulder led the singing. In the evening it was too cold and windy, so the residents stayed in and we shared some more about Easter, and how they shared and celebrated Easter when they were children or younger, or in the early years of their marriage. They enjoyed eating the popcorn.

Saturday was the Easter egg hunt, the sun came out and dried out the grass enough to hide the eggs. It was fun, as the residents watched the children hunt the eggs from the windows. Prizes were given to the children, three nice stuffed rabbits were donated from Perry Bros. Thanks! Also there were three other money prizes. About 25 children came for the hunt. The residents were served cookies and punch by the Friendship Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, that was a nice treat. Thanks ladies.

This week's visitors were: Peggy Medley, Pat Rucker, Jettie Moss, Bessie Wilson, John and Christine Lyles, H.C. and Marjorie McElyea, Wayne Holcomb, Buffalo, Missouri; Mandy Hodge, Lillian Ross, Gladys Gray, Artie Webb, Myra Dade and Mel and Marjorie Holcomb.

Glenn Lyles art display on exhibit at bank during April

The First National Bank of Floydada is pleased to be able to present the premiere exhibit of area artist Glenn Lyles. His works will be on display throughout the month of April during regular business hours of the financial institution.

Lyles, son of John and Christine Lyles, was born and raised in the Hale Center/Plainview area. He is the grandson of Ruth Lyles, a resident of the Floydada Nursing Home. Lyles has several other local family connections.

Graduated from West Texas State University as an ag major, Lyles is engaged in farming land he was raised on and paints "when the weather is bad." He says that works out great for him as it keeps him busy when he would otherwise be fretting about not being able to work on his farm.

"I paint a little bit of everything, but my paintings all have an outdoor theme and I prefer western themes although I do paint wild fowl and am particularly proud of a painting I did of a church in Italy," says Lyles.

Most of his works are a study of shadows and light contrasts. "I am really fascinated by the play of shadows and light and I will paint anything that catches my eye with interesting combinations of shade and light," states Lyles. "The subject matter isn't really important if I like the contrast."

The only formal training Lyles has had was lessons with Ruth Barnett when he was in junior high and high school. He has developed his own unique technique and style predominately using a very small brush. "I have infinite patience and form my canvasses with single strokes in most areas," said Lyles. "I paint what I like and I enjoy painting for myself. Most of the works I am displaying are borrowed back from people I have given them to. I have not sold any paintings because I usually give them as gifts."

A bachelor, Lyles comes from a talented family. His brother and sister also paint and he has two aunts who are also talented artists in this area.

Everyone is invited to stop in at the bank during April and see the works of this talented young man.

ERMAN GRAY

Erman Gray, a well-known musician and entertainer, was buried Saturday in Floyd County Memorial Park following 2 p.m. memorial services in First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Earl Blair, pastor, officiated.

Moore-Rose Funeral Home directed arrangements.

Pallbearers were Adrain Helms and former Floydada High School band students of Mr. Gray: Corkey Guffee, Harold Bertrand, Thomas Warren, Leroy Chowning and Dale Goen.

Mr. Gray, 85, was claimed by death at 4 p.m. Thursday, March 31, in Caprock Hospital following a prolonged illness.

He resided at 527 West Lee in Floydada.

He was a former band director at Floydada, Canadian and Hale Center, Tex., and Eunice, N.M., and Hartville, Mo., and Denver City schools. In addition, he was operator of Gray's Coronado Assemblies throughout the Southwest.

During the Bicentennial celebration of 1976, he was a technical advisor for recreation of the "Harley Sadler Tent Show" presented at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

He was a member of Local #618 of American Federation of Musicians headquartered at Albuquerque, N.M., and held membership in the International Platform Association and was a member of the advisory board of the National Society for the Preservation of Tent, Folk and Repertoire Theatre, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. He was a charter member of "Toby Hall of Fame."

He was a member of the United Methodist Church.

Harold Erman Gray was born Aug. 6, 1902, in Lamont, Okla. (Indian Territory). He was married in 1936 to Thelma Collins, who preceded him in death in 1940.

Mr. Gray and Goldie Svatopsky were married Aug. 27, 1948, in Deming, N.M. The couple moved to Floydada in April 1985 from Corpus Christi.

The family requests that memorials be forwarded to: The Scottish Rite Learning Center of West Texas, P.O. Box 10135, Lubbock, Tex. 79408.

Surviving Mr. Gray are his wife, Goldie; two sons, William E. (Bill) Gray of Floydada and Eugene N. Gray of Frisco; three sisters, Mrs. Thelma Inman of Deming, N.M., Mrs. Phyllis Burns of El Paso and Mrs. Rita Nicklas of Hemphill; 11 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

PAULA DIANNE PORTER

A courageous battle against cystic fibrosis ended at 5:55 p.m. Friday for Paula Dianne Porter, who was claimed by death at her home, 620 West Lee in Floydada. She lived 20 days shy of her 16th birthday.

"In her short life, Paula showed courage, patience, love and compassion to everyone she met," family members and friends say. "God truly shined in her life, a true portrait of courage."

Memorial services were at 3 p.m. Monday, April 4, in the City Park Church of Christ. Officiating were Tom Pauley, former minister, and J.C. Bailey, minister.

Interment was made in Floydada Cemetery, under direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

Serving as active pallbearers were Herbert Smith, Randy Pernell, Sammy Bradley, Edwin Nutt, Danny Nutt and Joel Evans. Honorary pallbearers were Zach Nutt, Sam Baker, Jon LaBaume, Mark Nutt, Kary Helms, Adrain Helms and J.D. Sims.

Miss Porter was born April 21, 1972 in Lubbock.

She was a member of the Church of Christ and the Floyd County 4-H Club.

Impact of business taxes presents tax problems

It's a truism that individuals eventually pay all taxes. However, many taxes have their initial impact on businesses and that, in turn, may affect the economic well-being of those individuals.

Research by the staff of the Select Committee on Tax Equity suggests that many of Texas' state and local taxes have their initial impact on business. According to the report, 63 percent of all Texas state and local taxes fall initially on business, a figure higher than in most states.

The state sales tax falls about equally on businesses and individuals (46 percent and 54 percent, respectively), while other taxes have a 100 percent initial impact on one group or the other — such as the cigarette and tobacco tax on individual and the corporate franchise tax on businesses.

The committee has also gathered evidence that some industries — oil, gas, manufacturing and utilities in particular — pay a relatively larger share of state taxes. The state's franchise tax, for example, which is based on capital assets, falls heavily on industries with large investments in machinery and equipment.

The issues of which industries bear the burden of Texas' taxes is likely to be important in the committee's deliberations. Committee research shows that whether businesses pay taxes or not, state tax policy can affect their decision-making. Experts have testified that this can affect the state's overall economic development.

The committee will be focusing on business tax policy at its March meeting in Austin and will be seeking the best structure for business taxes in Texas.

The committee expects to formulate findings and recommendations for the Legislature and the Governor before the 71st Legislature convenes in January.

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

People who earn extra income in self-employment should make sure the income is reported for Social Security purposes when required. The income can make even more of a difference later than it does now.

That's because eligibility for Social Security retirement, survivors, or disability benefits and the amount of the benefit are based on a worker's annual earnings reported to Social Security. In general, the higher the earnings reported, the higher the benefit check.

Self-employment income earned in 1987 is reported on income tax returns due by April 15, 1988. In general, you receive credit for self-employment income only if net earnings from self-employment total at least $400 during a year. The net earnings figure is the result of deducting all business expenses connected with the self-employment activity from gross income from that activity.

If you have $400 in self-employment income, you must file a Federal income tax return and pay any Federal taxes due and the Social Security tax. The tax is reported on Schedule C (Profit or Loss from Business or Profession) or, where appropriate, Schedule F (Farm Income and Expenses) and Schedule SE (Computation of Social Security Self-Employment Tax).

People who have both wages and self-employment income should first figure the amount of wages on which they have paid Social Security taxes and then add their self-employment earnings up to the maximum subject to the Social Security tax. In 1987, the maximum was $43,800. In 1988, the maximum is $45,000.

If you paid Social Security taxes on the maximum wages as an employee, do not pay Social Security tax on the additional income earned in self-employment.

4-H Chemicals Auction a success

By Mary True
CEA-HE

The annual 4-H Chemicals Auction was held Thursday, March 31, at the Lockney Community Center. A free fish and chicken dinner was fed to 102 by Danny's Fins and Hens. After the dinner, the auction got underway.

Tim Assiter of Assiter and Associates gave of his time to serve as auctioneer.

He did an outstanding job because Floyd County 4-H grossed $4,300 for the evening.

Chemicals, seed, feed, fertilizer and garden supplies were donated by: Lockney Cooperatives, Producers Cooperative Elevator, Davis Farm Supply, Riverside Chemical, Asgrow Seed Company, Kellison Fertilizer, Plains Co-op Oil Mill, Hoechst-Roussell, R&F Tack, ICI, Rhone Poulenc, Dow, Monsanto, Ortho, FMC, Elanco and Sandoz.

The buyers who bought items to help the 4-H'ers raise money were: Larry Adrian, Barwise Gin, Randy Bertrand, Virgil Brasher, Earl Broseh, Richie Crow, Robert Delgado, Chad Edwards, Craig Edwards, Eddie Joe Foster, Foster Brothers Farms, Charlie Henderson, Ira and Gail Henderson, Kim Hinsley, Mike Hinsley, Ricky and Renee Hrbacek, Jon LaBaume, Lambert Spraying, Mike Mathis, Warren Mitchell, Muncy Elevator, Terry Nelson, Albert Scheele, Buster Terrell, Eddie Teeter, Mary True, John David Turner and Ethelyn Vernon.

The money raised will go to support all aspects of the 4-H program in Floyd County. A few of the projects the money will go to support is an exchange trip to Washington, D.C., summer camps, the "Gold Star" scholarship fund and many projects like rifle, foods and nutrition and public speaking.

Paula Porter Scholarship Fund will preserve memory

Contributed by a friend

"It's not fair," she used to say to her grandmother, retired teacher Mrs. Tom Porter.

"I want to go to school and study and learn and make something of myself," said Paula Porter on many occasions when the cystic fibrosis prevented her from going to school.

Paula died at her home Friday, April 1, after a 12-year battle with the disease. The 15-year-old girl was a student at Floydada High School, where she longed to be a regular student.

In order to help others pursue education, friends and classmates of Paula may contribute to the Paula Porter Scholarship Fund, which has been opened at the First National Bank in Floydada in Paula's memory.

"You may contribute to the scholarship fund through your church, the school or directly to the bank," says one of the organizers.

Even though the valiant Christian girl was unable to live and complete her education, the inspiration of her courage can enable other young people to "study and learn and make something of themselves" with the scholarship in her memory.

DENTAL MONTH AT DUNCAN—March 1 - April 8 has been Dental Month for Duncan Elementary. The dental team in the Floydada school were Dr. James Walston, D.D.S.; Kristi Heathington, dental hygienist; Jana Rubac, dental assistant; and Yolanda Rose, community service aide. The team was from the Texas Department of Health, Region I and II in Lubbock and was in the school seeing needy kids who were eligible for the program. "We are here everyday," said Dr. Walston. "The kids are easier to work with than adults. They have been very cooperative." Along with the dental work for eligible kids, all students were provided with toothbrushes and oral hygiene education. To help with the education a Tattle Tooth Oral Hygiene program was developed by the Texas Department of Health. Showing off the Tattle Tooth characters are: [middle row, left-right] Teresa Juarez, Twinkle Tooth; Sherri Williams, Major Tooth; Lakindra Runnels, Tiger Tooth; George Guzman, Kung Tooth; [front row, left-right] Rosantina Cervera, Fairy Toothmother; Juan DeLaCruz, Dr. Tooth; and Dane Nichols, Monster Tooth. Lake report

Five large-mouth bass, weighing two to three pounds each, were caught Saturday in the "main part" of Lake Mackenzie. Bait used by Dave Dykstra of Amarillo was grape and motor oil colored worms.

Channel catfish are beginning to bite well, with several being caught in recent days, according to a spokesperson from the marina.

Water depth early this week was 109 feet at the dam. Water temperature was 50 degrees.

YOUNG ARTIST—James Rogers, an eight-year-old elementary school student at Ralls continues to impress faculty members and others with his exceptional artistic ability. He is shown with Rozanne Bishop, secondary level art instructor in the Ralls ISD, who works with him to develop and expand his native talents. The young artist is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Hillery Polvadore of Floydada.

LARRY CAN WIN IN NOVEMBER

IF WE WANT A CONSERVATIVE TO REPRESENT US IN WASHINGTON, WE MUST NOMINATE THE REPUBLICAN WHO CAN BEAT THE DEMOCRAT IN NOVEMBER. THAT IS LARRY MILNER.

LARRY IS A WINNER.

Larry has always been a winner. Larry wins because he deserves to win. He is honest, hardworking, smart, sincere, experienced and educated. Those are the qualities that make him a winner as a manager, an industrial developer, a corporate executive and a leader in everything he undertakes. They will make him a winner in November and in Congress.

LARRY IS A WINNER WITH A PLAN.

Larry's 20 years as an industrial developer have enabled him to develop a solid plan to do something in Washington to get the economy of the 13th District back on track. He's already published his 5-point plan. These are the things it covers:

- 1 A Fight to Aid Oil and Gas and Agriculture
- 2 Help Our Businesses Compete in the World Market
- 3 Work for New Investment Capital
- 4 Bring Our Tax Dollars Home
- 5 Create a Jobs Agenda for This District.

Of course the economic development of our area must be a team effort. Larry will be a hardworking leader of the team.

THE RECORD SHOWS THAT BOB PRICE WON'T WIN.

Bob Price has already been beaten soundly by the same guy he would be running against in November. In 1980 Bob had everything going for him. He was the incumbent and President Reagan was carrying most Republican candidates into office with him. (The President carried the 31st State Senate District 2 to 1.) What did Bob do? He lost 2 to 1 to Bill Sarpalus. We don't have to guess about the outcome in November if Price should be nominated on Tuesday, April 12.

TUESDAY, APRIL 12, IS THE DAY.

It's the day we can choose to continue the solid, conservative representation our part of Texas — and the nation — needs. Everyone who knows Larry admires and respects him. But we must not take his nomination for granted. We must go vote. And remind other Republicans to do the same.

LARRY MILNER IN CONGRESS
THE ISSUE IS JOBS

Bargain hunters emerge as buyers of Texas rural land

A new breed of hunters can now be found in rural Texas. They are not stalking deer, turkey or other wild game. Instead, they are tracking land bargains.

"Bargain hunters have joined the traditional producers, investors and consumers as significant buyers of Texas rural properties," says Dr. Charles Gilliland, assistant research economist with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. "Bargain hunters are interested in investment regardless of the ultimate use of the property," says Gilliland, who recently completed a study of rural land buyer motivations. "They presumably anticipate land value increases or at least price stability. This is true even if the bargain hunter is a farmer who uses the land in production or a deer hunter who finds land attractive at lowered prices."

When the local land market attracts a large group of bargain hunters, it is an indication that some buyers believe prices have stabilized or soon will.

Land prices in areas with few bargain hunters and few producers depend heavily on a healthy non-agricultural economy. Such markets have a concentration of consumers and investors. A dearth of bargain hunters indicates land values have not declined much, that current asking prices exceed values or that such value declines may yet materialize.

The new Real Estate Center study shows most buyers of Texas rural land are motivated by a reduced land prices. Recreational motivation is a close second. Investment is the third most cited motivation.

"While consumers were the largest group of buyers (nearly 40 percent) in the study sample," says Gilliland, "bargain hunters made a strong showing with nearly 27 percent. Investors comprised 22 percent, and slightly more than 11 percent were producers."

Purchases by non-farm buyers may explain why Texas rural land prices continued upward from 1981 to 1985 while rural land values withered elsewhere in the United States.

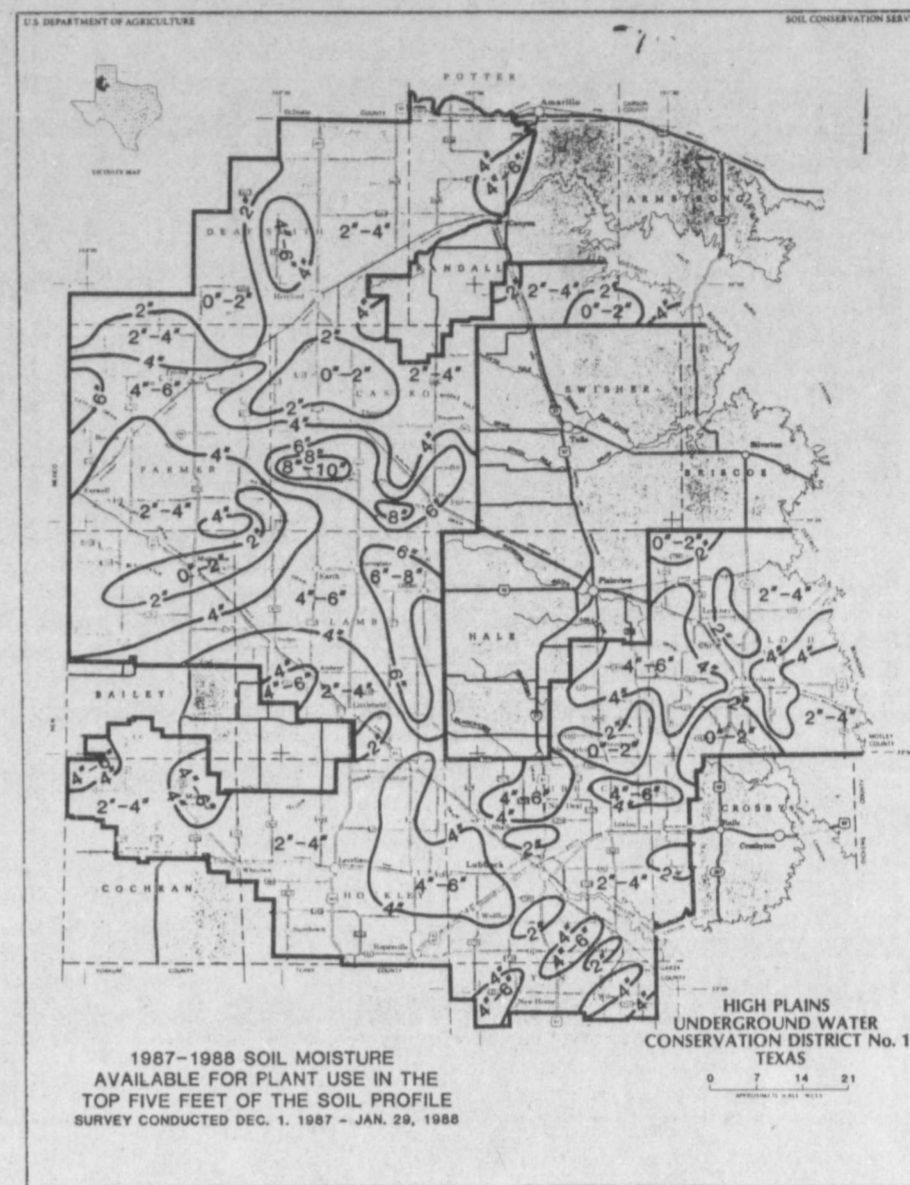

Seller motivations also were analyzed in the Real Estate Center study. Ninety-five percent of all sales studied were classified as liquidations.

"Liquidation at this extremely high percentage indicates the distress that permeated the entire Texas market in 1986-87," says Gilliland. "Buyers throughout Texas apparently faced a market of sellers who were forced to liquidate holdings."

Given these conditions, buyers would seem to have a distinct advantage. But Gilliland says potential sellers who are free of financial difficulties may withhold their property from the market, hoping for more attractive future prices.

Gilliland's complete study, Motives of Texas Rural Land Buyers is available for $1 from the Real Estate Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115. Ask for technical report number 621.

The Real Estate Center was created in 1971 by the Texas Legislature to meet the needs of many audiences, including the real estate industry, instructors, researchers and the general public.

New virus discovered in Texas poses potential threat in crops

By Robert L. Haney, TAES Science Writer

A new virus that causes disease in a number of cereal crops has been identified in Texas and named sorghum yellow banding virus (SYBV) by scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, according to Dr. Robert W. Toler, plant pathologist.

In the laboratory, the SYBV has been proven able to infect sudangrass, grain sorghum, corn and johnsongrass.

These scientists say that while the new virus must be recognized as a potential threat to corn and sorghum crops, there is no cause for undue concern. We are fortunate to have recognized and identified the new virus before it might become widespread, giving researchers a chance to develop countermeasures.

The virus, first collected in a sorghum x sudan hybrid in 1985, has now been identified in four counties in Texas (Wilson, Bexar, Guadalupe, and Burleson). The crops infected in the field were grain sorghum and sorghum x sudan hybrids. Disease incidence in infected fields ranged from 17 to 35 percent.

The new sorghum disease caused by the SYBV, sorghum yellow banding virus, was first observed at Poth, Texas, on a sorghum x sudan hybrid. Disease symptoms developed 20 to 25 days after virus inoculation of Sudax' (sorghum x sudangrass hybrid) with infectious material removed from field infected plants.

Symptoms included yellow streaks and bands in half the leaf, followed by chlorosis (yellowing or blanching), necrosis (death of tissue), and death of plant.

The virus was purified and identified in 1987, Toler said, and efforts expanded in testing it on other plants. The SYBV was again identified on grain sorghum and sorghum x sudan hybrids in 1987. Research on SYBV used an air gun inoculation technique, under controlled conditions, to check out the susceptible species and learn more about the virus.

Plants now known to be susceptible to this disease, include Setaria italica (millet), ten cultivars of Sorghum bicolor (grain sorghum), six of S. sudanese (sudangrass), and four of Zea mays (corn). Local lesions were observed on johnsongrass, sudan, Cumberland' and grain sorghum BTx623.

Immunity to other viruses doesn't necessarily mean a cultivar is immune to this virus; therefore, tests are being made on a wide range of commercial and experimental varieties. The sorghum cultivar QL3-India, for example, is immune to all strains of SCMV (sugar cane mosaic virus) and MDMV (maize dwarf mosaic virus). But QL3-India was susceptible to the new virus, displaying chlorotic streaking, bands, and severe necrosis (death of plant tissue).

After making a presentation at the 1987 American Phytopathological Society meeting, Toler received requests for antisera (SYBV virus) for testing, from scientists in California and Venezuela, who have since confirmed the presence of the virus in both California and Venezuela. The Texas research team is working on this and other viruses in cooperation with a number of experiment stations.

Experiment Station scientists are seeking to determine what plants are susceptible to this new disease-causing virus, what insect vectors (if any) transmit the virus between plants, and what varieties of crops and cultivars have resistance or tolerance to the disease. Determining the crops that are susceptible to the disease will help define the scope of the problem.

Determining the vectors will offer some control opportunities; control of insects that spread the virus that causes the disease, will help control the disease. Resistant or tolerant plant varieties may offer other control opportunities; if such resistance can be transferred to presently susceptible varieties, economical control should continue into the future.

Research for 1988 includes breeding for resistance to viruses and mycoplasma causing diseases. Mechanical inoculation of the virus in field trials will continue in order to evaluate commercial hybrids and breeding materials. A search for resistance to the SYBV will proceed in the corn, sorghum, and sudan genomes (the genetic blueprint).

Pesticide application workshop

By C. Mark Brown Extension Agent-Entomology [PM] Crosby/Floyd Counties

Proper application of farm chemicals is a must for producers, from the standpoint of economics and personal safety.

A pesticide application workshop has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 12, at 9 a.m. at the Crosby County Showbarn in Crosbyton. Topics to be addressed at this workshop include pesticide safety, calibration, Russian wheat aphid biology and control, cotton thrips control strategies, and an introduction to the Hazard Communication Law which became effective Jan. 1.

Speakers at the workshop will include Andy Vestal, Crosby County agricultural agent; Mark Brown, Crosby-Floyd pest management agent; and Dr. W. Pat Morrison, Extension entomologist-District 2.

Dr. Morrison is credited for his role in the identification of the Russian wheat aphid in Texas, and for the quick action taken by him and other Extension personnel to gather existing information, and to implement educational programs for High Plains wheat producers. Morrison will speak about experiences with this introduced pest and will discuss control strategies.

The workshop is expected to be about 2½ hours in length. Refreshments will be provided by Caprock Chemical and Crosby County Fuel Association.

In conjunction with this workshop, a private applicator certification course will be offered. Anyone in need of a private pesticide applicator's license may come to this training which will begin at 1:00 p.m. at the showbarn. For more information concerning this workshop, call your local county Extension office (675-2003 or 675-2426).

The 300,000 square foot Lubbock Memorial Civic Center April 7, 8 and 9 will literally teem with cotton ginners, producers, oil millers, warehousemen, agricultural suppliers of all descriptions and wives and families.

By far the largest gathering of cotton people in Texas, the TCGA multi-purpose event annually draws in excess of 6,000, most from Texas but some from virtually every section of the Cotton Belt.

The cotton trade show, consisting of over 125 exhibits supplied by gin machinery manufacturers, seedsmen, chemical dealers and other ag support industries will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and until noon on Saturday.

Exhibit visitors Thursday will be treated to a welcome party with free food, refreshments and entertainment at 4:30 p.m. Highlights on Friday include a 9:30 a.m. complimentary continental breakfast, a "Ginners on the Go" fashion show, and a workshop to demonstrate the National Cotton Council's Telecommunications Network from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., room 103.

Concluding Saturday activities will be the ginners' annual business meeting and luncheon, with 19th District Congressman Larry Combest of Lubbock and National Cotton Council President William B. Dunavant Jr. of Memphis, Tennessee, as speakers.

Adding to the excitement all three days will be periodic drawings for cash, trips to the Bahamas and Las Vegas and VIP weekends in Lubbock.

Congressman Combest is also a speaker at the PCG annual meeting, along with Wes Oneth, state conservationist with USDA's Soil Conservation Service. Reports are scheduled from PCG President Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenora, Bol Weevil Steering Committee Chairman Jarrell Edwards of O'Donnell, Plains Cotton Improvement Committee Chairman Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka and PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, Lubbock.

Attendants at the PCG affair will be given a ticket for a free catfish and chicken buffet luncheon in the east end of the Banquet Hall.

The PCG Board of Directors will convene after the luncheon at 1:30 p.m. in rooms 108-109 for the election of 1988-89 officers. In addition to Mitchell, current officers are Vice President Steve Verett of Ralls and Secretary-Treasurer Larry Nelson of Tulia.

CARD OF THANKS
 The family of Erman Gray wishes to express sincere appreciation to those "who were there when we needed them." The care and concern of Dr. Andy Hale and the entire staff of Caprock Hospital was especially appreciated during our loved one's lengthy illness. Special gratitude is conveyed to the Rev. Earl Blair for the beautiful and appropriate service, and to Floydada Chapter #31 O.E.S. and the Whirlwind Sams. It's times like this that a family realizes how lucky they are to live in a loving and caring community such as Floydada.
 Sincerely,
 Goldie Gray

"Thank you" - two simple words which in no way can express our appreciation to the people of Lockney and Floydada who helped to ease our hearts as we watched our loved one, the Rev. Russell McAnally, slip away from this world to go to his eternal home. We appreciate the emotional support and caring, and also the practical ways (calls, visits, cards, flowers, food and memorials) which you gave us to express your concern and love.
 And a special word of gratitude to Otero Scheele, LVN and neighbor, who came to us from Hospice of the Plains to take care of the needs of both Russell and ourselves in those last days.

APRIL FOOL'S—Another year down for Fred Thayer. April Fool's Day is traditionally a day of pranks in Thayer's office. Every year his staff worries about what joke to play on him. A lot of thought goes into this and this year Thayer contemplated not showing up for work for fear of what might happen. "One year nobody showed up for work. It was tax time and people were coming into the office wanting their returns and no one was here - just me. Another year they took the toilet out of my office bathroom and put it in my boat stored in the back," said Thayer. This year's prank involved the Thayer staff, City Auto, and the Sheriff's office and this newspaper. After advertising Thayer's car for sale in the newspaper, on April Fool's Thayer's staff sneaked his car to the show room floor of City Auto, and then had the Sheriff's office pick him up at his office to join in the hot pursuit of the individual that must have stolen his car. The pursuit ended at City Auto in the show room. Shown here: (left-right) Lin Tipton, Betty Goen, Diane Washington, Judy Allen, Fred Thayer, and Linda Matsler.

AIDS program will address contraction and prevention

Dr. Arnold Isaacson of Lubbock will present a program on AIDS on Monday for students of both Floydada High School and Floydada Junior High School.

"Parents and the public are invited to attend either session," says school counselor Sheree Cannon.

The presentation in the high school auditorium is scheduled for 10:15 a.m. on April 11. The program in the junior high auditorium will begin "at approximately 11:15."

Dr. Isaacson, M.D., M.P.H., is regional director of Texas Department of Health, Region II.

He is to present "factual and updated information concerning the contraction and prevention of AIDS."

VA questions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q — I receive VA compensation and would like to know why the VA did not send me a W-2 form?

A — VA compensation payments are not taxable. The W-2 forms are sent only to record taxable income.

Ted and Toots

Ted we had on the family ranch. As a child I would always call for Ted and that soon became my nickname."

"We were very close, I even lived with Toots and her first husband for a time before the birth of her daughter and the death of her husband," continues McCamant. "I joined the Navy in 1950, then left the service to attend Eastern New Mexico University. In 1954 I returned to the Navy."

McCamant admits, "I just lost touch. I last saw Toots and her second husband at their home in Vaughn, New Mexico, in 1954 on my way to San Diego, California. The next time I got back to Vaughn, they had moved to El Paso, Texas, but I couldn't remember the given name of her husband so I had no luck finding her. I had really given up all hope of finding any of my family years ago."

In the years following 1954,

McCamant served in the submarine service, journeying under the polar icecap, to Southeast Asia and working as a recruiter in West Virginia and Kentucky. He retired in 1970 and entered the field of safety engineering, working nationwide and arriving in Lubbock a year and a half ago.

He was married for 25 years and has two married sons living in Louisville, Kentucky, as well as one grandchild. Always active, he remains a member of Abraham Lodge #8, Louisville, and Lodge 1392, Lubbock, of the Masons. He serves the H.J. McClellan Chapter and council as well as being a member of the Lubbock Commandry #60 of the Knights Templar, belongs to the Scottish Rite in both Louisville and Lubbock and is a member of the Khiva, Korsair and Sabar Shrine organizations.

Over the years, the Halls have reared their daughter and two adopted sons. Their daughter, Juanita and son-in-law, Joe Stepp now reside in Dougherty. The Stepp's have two daughters, Sabrina, a student at Texas Tech, and Marti, a senior at Floydada High School. One son, William Hall, lives in Florida and the other, John Hall lives in the Pacific Northwest and has a son of his own.

The Hall's are active in their church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The Stepp's, Lottie and Stanley Hall and McCamant shared the Easter holiday this year as a family.

McCamant expressed his joy and wonder at the "Easter Miracle" he had become a part of this spring saying, "It was really miraculous to me. For the first time in 34 years, I feel like I really have a family and I feel truly blessed at being together with them again."

Mrs. Hall was equally delighted, adding, "We are so fortunate to have found each other again and we are going to be very careful not to lose touch again. Family is much too important to take for granted and we have missed so many important events in each other's life. We have a lot of catching up to do."

Dear Voter, Precinct 1

I would like your vote in the April 12 run off. I want to represent Floyd County and help keep it a healthy, efficient, and prosperous county for all of us.

I feel a public official should always remember he represents the people. He should base his decisions on what the people want and not necessarily on his own personal views.

The taxpayer is the backbone of all government and should be foremost in all considerations, for without him we have no government at all.

A good representative of the county should be available to the public that he represents. I have made my phone number and address known on all my ads and campaign cards, and I would continue to be accessible to you if elected.

No matter what happens in the runoff, I will always continue to work toward the good of the community and the county. I ask for your vote in the April 12 runoff.
