'AMERICA CAN DO ANYTHING IN MANNED SPACE THAT IT SO DESIRES'

Astros End 84-Day Orbital Journey

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Skylab 3's astronauts came safely home from man's longest space voyage today, splashing down with pinpoint precision in the Pacific Ocean after 84 days in orbit.

the space agency said proved "America can do anything in manned space flight that it so desires."

CIRCLE GLOBE
During nearly three months in space, the astronauts had circled the globe 1,214 times, traveled 34½ million miles and gathered a wealth of scientific and medical data on man, his earth and his solar system.

ters 176 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif., at 11:17 a.m. EDT after a journey of 84 days, 1 hour and 16 minutes, breaking the previous Skylab 2 record of 59½ days.

With visibility of 10 miles, hundreds of white-clad sailors on the deck of the New Orleans had a ringside view of the landing.

Helicopters were overhead almost immediately to drop frag-men into the ocean to secure the bobbing spacecraft with a floatation collar.

The recovery ship immediately steamed toward the Apollo, ready to hoist it aboard as quickly as possible so space agency doctors could begin extensive medical examinations to determine how well the astronauts withstood their long exposure to space weightlessness.

"What a beautiful sight," Commander Carr reported as the spacecraft descended toward touchdown.

On landing, the astronauts immediately took pulse readings on one another and through scratchy communications one crewman could be heard saying, "70 beats on me."

JET THRUSTER
The cone-shaped spacecraft turned over with its point down and floated upside down in the water. Inside, the astronauts pushed a lever to inflate three plastic balloons which forced the craft to right itself.

There was a small concern as re-entry approached when Mission Control detected a leak in one jet thruster system capable of guiding the Apollo through the atmosphere.

Not certain how serious the problem was, controllers instructed the astronauts to use a second thruster system that was operable. It worked perfectly.

Because of a slight possibility there might be propellant fumes in the cabin, the control center advised the spacemen to wear oxygen masks during the 30-minute re-entry period.

MAY HELP HEATH Britains's Coal Miners Reject Plea

LONDON (AP) — Britain's coal miners today rejected a last-minute plea from Prime Minister Edward Heath to put off their strike until after the Feb. 28 national elections.

Union leaders decided instead to call out the nation's 230,000 miners on schedule from midnight Saturday, raising the specter of widespread electricity cuts during the three-week election campaign and paralysis of British industry by spring.

The miners' walkout is now expected to strengthen the election prospects of Heath's Conservatives who plan a campaign on the issue of who runs Britain — the elected government or strike-prone trade unions.

Whatever the political advantage, leaders of all parties in Parliament had agreed that postponement of the strike would be in the national interest.

The decision to go ahead with the strike was made by the 27-man Executive of the National Union of Mineworkers.

Sid Vincent, Lancashire area secretary, told newsmen after the meeting that the vote was almost unanimous.

Vincent said that Joe Gormley, the union's relatively moderate president, had favored a strike postponement.

The Conservative prime minister, who has been standing firm against the miners' wage demands, coupled his announcement Thursday of the election with an appeal for postponement of the strike. The government hinted that if the strike was postponed, industries that have been on a three-day work week since Jan. 1 to save power will be permitted to operate four or five days a week.

Explosions At Refinery

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP) — A series of explosions followed by a major fire struck the Exxon refinery here today. It is one of the larger plants operated by the company. Nearby schools were evacuated.

Leroy Thompson, 34, of Hankamer, near Baytown, suffered burns on the face and hands, a Baytown hospital spokesman said. He was transferred to the burn center at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

Witnesses described the fire as spectacular with flames shooting hundreds of feet into the air and the smoke column visible for miles.

The cause of the explosions was not known.

The flames were confined to one unit of the multi-unit plant and by mid-morning were being contained. The explosions occurred about 8:30 a.m.

Eight hundred pupils in Baytown Junior High School were evacuated to Robert E. Lee High School. The junior high is across the street from the plant.

Youths Show True Meaning Of Love

A group of Sunday School boys at Berea Baptist were studying about "love" last week. John Wright is their teacher.

The seventh grade group each decided to give part of his allowance to the special account at State National Bank for Refeala Garcia.

This is for the family of Dimecio Garcia, who lost both his legs in a cotton gin accident at Brown several weeks ago. On Thursday, he underwent additional surgery on his legs.

Five Mary Jane 'Pushers' Jailed

MOUNT PLEASANT, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Larry Evans said Thursday night that widespread narcotics raids in Titus and Camp Counties netted 15 arrests and seizure of an unspecified quantity of marijuana and heroin.

He said five accused pushers were jailed in Titus County and three in Camp County.

Evans said the Titus County arrests included four for selling marijuana and one for selling barbiturates. Camp County officials nabbed two for marijuana sales and one for marijuana and heroin sale, he said.

Seven other persons were arrested for possession of narcotics.

TO KEEP ROADS OPEN Simon Says Will Not Use Federal Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal energy chief William Simon today strongly discounted the suggestion that regular federal troops might be used to keep highways open during the truckers' strike.

"There's been no conversation whatsoever about the use of federal troops," Simon said on CBS-TV.

Asked whether there was any indication the federal troops would be on the roads in any way, Simon replied,

NO, INDEED
"No, indeed. This is a function of the national guards in the various states."

Negotiators for striking independent truckers, meanwhile, turned from selling the government on the needs of the truckers to trying to sell the truckers on the sincerity of the government.

Simon, in effect, contradicted his chief deputy who said Thursday the government was considering using the military to keep the highways open, if need be.

The White House was optimistic that the tentative settlement reached Thursday would end the nine-day-old strike but said contingency plans had been developed in case the protests continued.

Coahoma Schools Closed; Flu Incidence Down Here

Coahoma schools finally conceded defeat to the flu bug today and closed down the schools, planning to re-open Monday.

Big Spring school officials believe that the flu epidemic peaked here Monday when there were 1320 students absent in all schools from a total of 6600 students.

"This is about 20 per cent and nearly that amount were absent all week," Supt. Sam Anderson stated. "We do not plan to close down unless that percentage greatly increases. Some think closing down would keep flu from spreading but if school is dismissed, students still are inclined to gather together somewhere else."

The high school, with a high of 373 out on Monday and Cedar Crest with a high of 55 out Thursday have been hard hit. On certain days, other schools have also experienced a large number of absentees.

"We have also had some teachers out with the flu and have been using lots of substitutes," Anderson added.

"We hope that the worst of the epidemic is over. However we expect to have a high rate of absence today and Monday because for some reason there are more sick students on the days adjacent to weekends," Anderson added.

Forsan schools reported that last week was worse for them with almost 43 per cent out but that this had improved. They did not close school.

SHE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND? Sissy Accuses Governor Of Violating Vote Law

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe said late Thursday that a suit filed against him by Frances Farenthold, his opponent in the next Democratic primary, showed she doesn't understand the new state election laws.

Mrs. Farenthold filed a $3.2 million suit against Briscoe earlier in the day alleging violation of a 1973 statute that requires appointment of a campaign treasurer before acceptance of contributions.

EARMARKED
The suit centers around an Oct. 30 fund-raising dinner for Briscoe in Austin.

"Every cent collected for the dinner prior to my designation of a campaign manager has been earmarked for either the expenses of the dinner or the retirement of my 1972 campaign deficit," Briscoe said.

A Briscoe spokesman said only funds received after the appointment of the campaign manager would be used for this year's campaign.

Calling the action "mud-slinging in the courts," Briscoe said Mrs. Farenthold "reached a new, low in Texas politics. I look forward to seeing her in court."

Briscoe reported Wednesday in a paper filed with the secretary of state's office that the dinner raised $640,393.

Mrs. Farenthold asked for double the amount of the challenged contribution for herself and for triple that amount for the people of Texas, both of which she claimed the new law authorized.

She also asked Atty. Gen. John Hill be made a party to the suit as a plaintiff to enforce the laws of Texas.

Of $455,000 netted by the dinner, $160,000 was given to the governor to retire 40 per cent of his debt for the 1972 campaign, in which Mrs. Farenthold was defeated during a runoff for the Democratic nomination.

'Army' Holding Hearst Heiress?

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An underground terrorist group which says it is holding kidnapped newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst may have abducted her as ransom for two of the group's "soldiers" who are charged with murder, police said today.

The mysterious Symbionese Liberation Army claimed responsibility for the abduction in a letter received Thursday and the Hearst family today awaited demands for her release. The militant group said she would be executed if anyone tries to rescue her.

'PRISONER OF WAR'
Both police and a family spokesman raised the possibility that the ransom demand, when it comes, might be the freedom of two men charged with murdering Oakland schools Supt. Marcus Foster Nov. 6.

"It's on everybody's mind," said Richard Berger, a Berkeley police spokesman. He said no demand for their freedom had been made.

In its communique, the SLA called the 19-year-old coed a "prisoner of war" and her father, newspaper executive Randolph Hearst, a "corporate enemy of the people."

Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, said, "If this is a political problem it may become very, very difficult."

In the letter Thursday to Berkeley radio station KPFA, the radical group claimed the girl was alive and unharmed. But it added:

"Should any attempt be made by authorities to rescue the prisoner, or to arrest or harm any S.L.A. elements, the prisoner is to be executed."

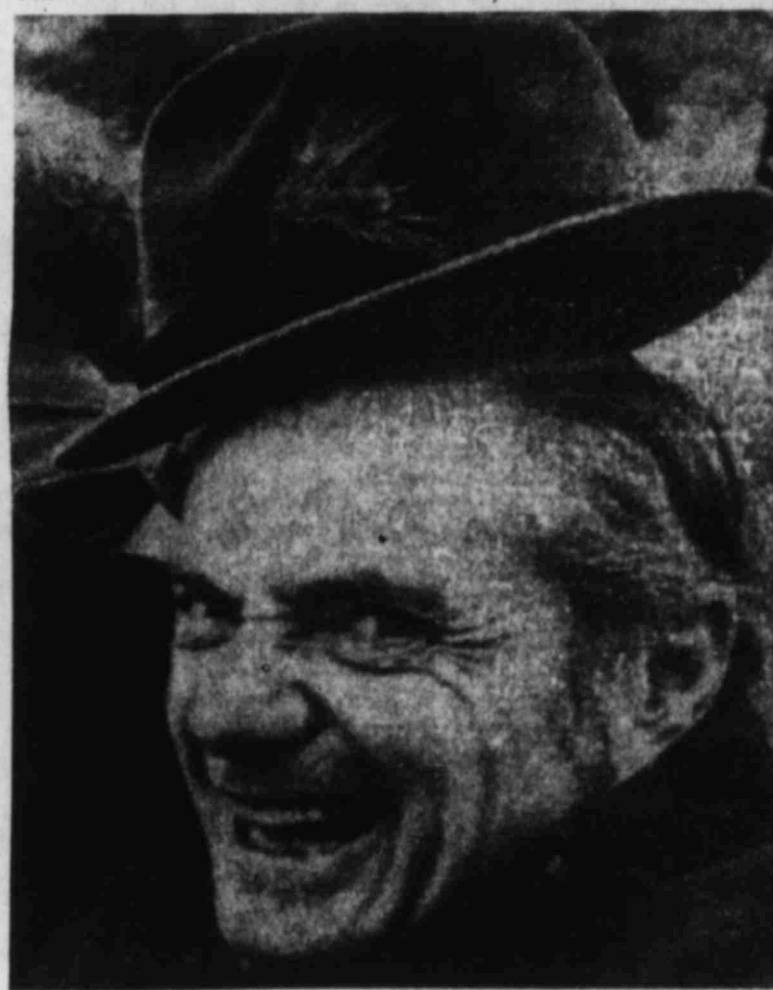

Hearst said he believed his daughter was alive.

Miss Hearst, a University of California student, was kidnapped Monday night from her Berkeley townhouse in a flurry of gunfire.

The same group has said it was responsible for the cyanide-bullet assassination last tented of the Oakland schools. Two alleged Symbionese Liberation Army members are being held in the murder of Marcus Foster Nov. 6. At that time, the group vowed vengeance on "the fascist state."

The group's only demand was that the letter be published in full.

HOLD YOUR HAT, GOVERNOR! — Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp grabs his hat in downdraft of a helicopter at Philadelphia today as he prepared to take off on a hedgehopping tour of truck stops on Interstate Route 80 in Pennsylvania on heels of his negotiations in the countrywide strike by independent truckers. Shutdown by many of the truckers continued today despite agreements reached in Washington Thursday.

The World At-A-Glance

NEW YORK (AP) — More trucks were reported moving on the nation's highways today, but resistance to the proposed settlement of the crippling nine-day shutdown by independent drivers was strong. Thousands of drivers vowed to keep their rigs parked until they get lower diesel fuel prices — the demand that started the strike. National Guardsmen, remained on duty in eight states to keep the peace and escort truck convoys of gasoline and food. State police in at least 10 states said truck traffic was up, but still far below normal levels. Violence was down considerably Thursday after the proposal was announced, but there were reports of tire slashings, hose cuttings and scattered shootings.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — First Sgt. Myron C. Pryor says he told a federal grand jury probing the 1970 Kent State killings that there was no conspiracy on the part of the National Guard to shoot students during the May 4 confrontation with demonstrators on the Kent campus.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 10's photos of dense clouds around Venus reveal a global circulation pattern which scientists say is far simpler than earth's. The clouds appear to warm up over the equator and then swirl evenly toward the poles, distributing the heat and helping to keep the surface temperature about the same over the entire planet, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has been told that the impact of the Arab oil embargo may be less severe than expected. A semi-official advisory group says the United States may face an 11 per cent oil shortage in the first quarter of 1974, instead of the 14 per cent predicted only last December. The Emergency Petroleum Committee, an oil industry advisory group with a government official as its chairman, said oil imports may increase in February and March.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief liaison with Congress says Watergate will not keep many of Nixon's legislative proposals from passage this year. William Timmons said, "I don't think there is a direct relationship between his (Nixon's) programs and his popularity rating." Timmons also said that "when it's necessary I'm confident the President will exercise a veto."

Masked Terrorists Free Jap Ambassador

KUWAIT (AP) — Five masked terrorists freed a trembling Japanese ambassador and 11 other hostages today, boarded a jetliner carrying four other guerrillas and took off, apparently for South Yemen.

The Japanese Foreign Ministry and the Iraqi news agency both said South Yemen's Marxist government agreed to let the plane land at Aden, 1,150 miles south of this Persian Gulf sheikdom.

NOT HARMED

The Japanese airliner brought the four other terrorists from Singapore, where they were holed up on a ferryboat for more than a week after an abortive attempt to blow up an oil refinery.

The terrorists in Kuwait seized the Japanese Embassy and demanded the Singapore guerrillas be flown here. The embassy hostages were not harmed.

The terrorists' faces were masked by red kaffiyehs, the traditional Arab headdress favored by Palestinian guerrillas. It was initially believed there were seven terrorists who left the embassy, but there were two policemen also wearing kaffiyehs.

The terrorists seized the embassy on Wednesday. They left the six-story building by a fire escape and were taken to the airport in a heavily guarded motorcade. Three of the terrorists left on stretchers, "suffering from exhaustion," said a fireman who helped carry them out.

The hostages, who included the Japanese ambassador to Kuwait and members of his staff, were taken to the foreign ministry. All were reported safe.

SHAKING TIRED

The Japanese airliner arrived in Kuwait early today with the four pro-Arab terrorists from Singapore. Ambassador Ryokoo Ishikawa was unshaven, tired and shaking with tension as he spoke to newsmen after a conference with Foreign Minister Sabah el Ahmed.

"As you see, I am in good health because of the efforts of Kuwaiti government officials," he said. "I thank the government and people of Kuwait and Japan for all they have done to secure our release."

The other 11 hostages included nine Japanese members of the embassy staff and businessmen and two Arab employees of the embassy. The terrorists released three other Muslim members of the staff Thursday. The gang invaded the embassy Wednesday, took 16 persons hostage and said they would kill all of them unless the Japanese government sent a plane for the four terrorists in Singapore and flew them to Kuwait. The gunmen released four of the hostages Thursday.

The Kuwait government for nearly 36 hours said it would not let the terrorists from Singapore land, apparently fearing that it would be unable to get rid of them. But Thursday night it said it had given the go-ahead in response to repeated appeals from the Japanese government.

Wade Speaker Here Feb. 21

Dr. David Wade, commissioner for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, will be the speaker for the awards luncheon at Big Spring State Hospital Feb. 21.

Dr. Wade, a former state hospital superintendent, and long active in Texas mental health administration as well in national associations, is planning to retire at the end of the fiscal year. Jim Baum, president of the Volunteer Council of BSSH, said "we feel extremely fortunate not only to have a man of Dr. Wade's stature accept our invitation, but especially to obtain him in view of his extremely crowded schedule."

The commissioner also will make the first annual BSSH Council award to the outstanding volunteer of the year, to be named in honor of Jack Y. Smith, founding president of the council and a past state volunteer president. The luncheon will be held in the Allred auditorium on the hospital campus.

'HE AIN'T NO KIN TO ME,' GIRL IN MOTEL INSISTS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "He ain't no kin to me and I wouldn't claim him either," a 12-year-old girl told police after they arrested a man with whom they found her at a motel.

Officers jailed him Thursday night for investigation of kidnapping, rape and car theft.

The girl described the man, 65, from Green Cover Springs, Fla., as "just a fellow that my Dad knows."

Juvenile authorities said she would be held in the county detention center while Florida police try to find her parents.

Officer L. A. Doporito said the motel manager asked police to check and the man claimed the girl was his niece. He said investigators then learned the man was driving a car stolen in Florida and he also was sought there on suspicion of kidnapping and rape.

Doporito said papers in the man's possession indicated he had used forged checks to open accounts at banks in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. After making deposits, he drew money from the accounts and left town, the officer said.

Police said the man and girl apparently left Florida Jan. 14.

Bonner Attends Meeting On CC

Dr. Wayne Bonner, director of guidance at Howard College, is in Austin for a conference, which began Thursday, on problems of admissions in community colleges.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, assistant director of admissions at the University of Texas-Austin, said the conference is significant in view of the growing number of transfer students coming to the University from the community colleges. The parley is designed to determine how the university and upper-level colleges can work with community colleges on transferability of credit courses, as well as in other areas of operation.

TEXAS HOUSE SPEAKER Cites Unresolved Legal Problems

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Price Daniel Jr. said today there are unresolved legal problems over when a new constitution can be submitted to the voters.

But so far, he said, Atty. Gen. John Hill has not been asked to resolve them with a formal legal opinion.

Daniel said he would like to have the constitution sent to the voters for a final decision as soon as possible after the constitutional convention ends, preferably at the party primary elections in May or June.

DIP IN INTEREST If done at the primaries, however, there are questions about where independents might vote, among other things, he said.

"I envision a very rapid and steep decline of public interest and awareness) the further you get from the convention," said Daniel, convention president.

He said the convention was progressing "right on or maybe a little ahead" of the 90-day schedule set for it by the delegates.

Floor action on major education and voting rights articles should start next Thursday or Friday, and "from that point forward we will be in deliberations on the floor," Daniel told a news conference.

Daniel said he was grieved by the threat of Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard to fight a new constitution if a so-called "right to work" provision is submitted, even as a separate issue.

He noted that some county judges have made similar threats if the constitution makes major changes in county government.

IT IS BAD

"I hate to see one little issue cause anybody, whether Harry Hubbard or the county judges, say, 'If I don't get my way on this, the whole thing is bad,'" Daniel said.

He added that he personally doesn't want "right to work" already a state law—in the constitution and would vote against it if he were called on to break a tie.

EX-CBS PRESIDENT SAYS: Press Freedom Still Under Subtle Assault

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — They don't shoot reporters anymore, at least not in this country, but press freedom remains under a more subtle kind of attack, former CBS President Frank Stanton said.

Stanton spoke at the 1974 Abe Lincoln awards dinner Thursday night sponsored by the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission.

The awards, and the winners, he said, represent proof that our "liberty remains real and vital" despite recent subtle encroachments on press freedom. Two men — one in radio and the other in television — were presented the Abe Lincoln awards. The awards go to broadcasters who have made "paramount contributions, both as a private citizen and as professional newsmen, to the quality of life in America."

COURAGEOUS POLICY

Winners this year—the first year two winners have been announced—were Charles K. Murdock of Cincinnati's WLW Radio and Leslie G. Arries Jr. of WBN AM-FM-TV in Buffalo, N.Y.

Murdock, vice president and general manager of WLW, was cited by Dr. Paul M. Stevens, president of the radio and television commission, for his station's "conscientious documentaries and a courageous editorial policy that have alerted and charged the citizenry with its proper responsibilities in solving the problems and in improving the conditions of its locale."

Arries, vice president and general manager of WBN, was cited for "an exciting collection of forceful public affairs programs."

Stanton, now president of the American National Red Cross, pointed out that American his-

Disc Artist Treated Here

'Little Joe' Valdez, a recording artist and performer of Spanish-style rock-and-roll blues music of the 50s, will be in Big Spring for a time before heading for cities like Phoenix, Ariz.

The 23 year old Valdez has performed in many night spots in Texas, Colorado and New Mexico. He has also cut records for RCA in California including "Last Kiss," "Angel Baby," "Donna" and the Spanish "Par Un Amar." He plans to travel to California March 1 for another recording session of 50's songs like "Hound Dog" and "Peppermint Twist." His records sold 1,000-1,500 copies apiece.

Little Joe was being spending time in the local VA hospital. He was once with a Marine detachment on a destroyer off the coast of North Vietnam. He said he hoped "to start performing again pretty soon, and I want to concentrate on rhythm and blues."

Little Joe also does impersonations, plays guitar, piano, base and organ and said he'd write songs free for anyone interested. He usually makes his home in San Antonio and performed in Fort Stockton before coming to Big Spring.

Group Eyes Road's Need

A series of informal public hearings has been scheduled as part of a feasibility study for possible extension of Interstate 27 south from Lubbock.

These will be held in Lubbock, Lamesa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Snyder, Abilene and possibly other points. The date set tentatively for the Big Spring hearing, which will be held at the Howard College auditorium, is March 20. The Lubbock hearing is 7 p.m. March 12 at the City Hall, the Lamesa hearing March 14 at the Community Center. Other dates and times are to be announced later.

Congress last year included in the highway bill a study to determine if there is a need for and feasible to construct an extension of Interstate 27 "in a southerly direction from Lubbock." The highway has been authorized, and first work is beginning, from Amarillo to Lubbock.

J. C. (Jake) Roberts, Abilene, district highway engineer, said that the hearings are not to determine a route, but the need. If that is established, then the matter of a precise routing would come later.

He suffered a single gunshot wound in the chest. According to Lamesa Police Detective William S. Shankles, Luera apparently drove up in front of the Ortiz home and shot him once in the chest with what was believed to be a .22 pistol. It was apparently the result of a long standing feud.

tory is filled with violent attempts to suppress journalism.

EDITORS SHOT "Editors have been shot, dragged through the streets, horsewhipped, their offices have been burned and their presses destroyed," Stanton said.

He said most people agree this sort of thing doesn't happen anymore, even though "there are today some who, while abhorring violence, insist nevertheless that a lot of journalists—with whom they happen to disagree—need to be taught a lesson."

Historically, Stanton said, "the effort of the editors and broadcasters to get the facts and bring them to the people... are confronted with a more subtle assault in our time."

"We have learned that freedom can be nibbled away," he said, "dictators, of course, do it by simple, abrupt seizure. Stanton said there are people in government today "who have done as much as they could to make the press an arm of government."

"Some of them, I am sure, would be horrified if they realized that this view of the press is foursquare with the one held by Lenin."

However, Stanton said he does not believe the government will end press freedom.

"What we need to be concerned about is a subtler movement to exert some kind of controls on the press, print as well as electronic."

Such pressures, he said, tend to go under code names "free press vs. fair trial," "responsible press" and equal access."

Use Of Energy Down At HC

Energy conservation efforts have proven successful at Howard College, according to Ralph Smith, School Business Manager.

He says that conservation suggestions made by the students, faculty and staff have been implemented by the administration and are working at significant levels.

"College electric requirements for January, 1973, were 123,600 kilowatt hours used, vs. 106,800 consumed in January, 1974," Smith explains. "Natural gas used in January of last year amounted to 3,650 million cubic feet, as contrasted with 3,129 used the first month of this year."

"We have made a good start in responding to State and Federal requests to reduce energy consumption," Smith says, "but the cooperation of the entire college community is needed to keep our efforts successful."

Hospital Complex Gets New Building

GONZALES — The six-building complex of Texas Rehabilitation Hospital of Warm Springs Foundation will soon expand to a seven building rehabilitation hospital.

A plan for a new $1.4 million medical building was announced this week by Jack Borchers, president of the foundation executive board.

The new facility calls for construction of a 32,000 square foot building for medical care, physical therapy, emergency care and other related facilities. It will house 70 patients and will have 4-bed wards, 2-bed wards, and single rooms.

RAILS AND THE CRISIS

Commuter Lines 'If' Big One

By MARC CHARNEY
Associated Press Writer

In Chicago, in Philadelphia, in New York, the answer is the same as commuter railroads and transportation agencies plan for possible widespread gasoline shortages.

HOW MANY?
How many extra passengers could commuter railroads carry? Not many if current schedules remain the same. But the "if" is a big one. And it goes to the heart of the problem facing commuter railroads and harried riders.

"If you mean packing people in at rush hours, we could handle any increase up to 15 per cent," says William J. Ronan, chairman of New York's Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Ronan's answer can be heard in all commuter cities. If motorists flock to the railroads they'll find increased pressure for staggered work hours. The commuter lines, simply put, are at or near capacity now, and no added equipment is in sight for newcomers.

SCRAP HEAP
Some modern cars are on order. But they will replace equipment ready for the scrap heap.

Ronan's answer also illustrates a basic truth about American railroads: In 1974, public officials like him — not just railroad men — hold the key to the commuters' plight. They can coordinate all of a city's transit systems. They can use their offices to cajole or persuade business to change schedules. And they will do the money that runs the railroads.

In the late 1960s and early 1970s, Ronan's agency, which also runs New York's subways and buses, took on the financial burden of the Penn Central's commuter service and bought outright the ailing Long Island Rail Road, busiest commuter system in the country.

Penn Central now simply runs its lines for MTA under a service contract — an arrangement similar to that which the railroad has with Philadelphia's Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority — SEPTA.

MONEY TALKS
In both cities, taxpayer money buys new equipment and underwrites operating losses. In Chicago and surrounding counties, voters will decide March 19 whether they want a similar arrangement.

Officials in all three cities say commuter demand hasn't risen dramatically yet — but it might, especially if gasoline is rationed. In Philadelphia, SEPTA will speed up an improvement program and reschedule equipment-short lines to interconnect them. In New York, plans to retire between 94 and 100 twenty-year-old commuter cars have been shelved because the cars now may be needed.

The estimate on nearly all lines is that they could — with overcrowding — handle at most a 10-to-15 per cent increase on current schedules. Staggered hours, however, would be different.

"We are trying to encourage stores and plants to stagger starting and closing hours, so we can get out of the 7-to-9 morning and 4-to-6 evening syndrome," says James G. McConnon, SEPTA chairman.

"If we could stretch it in the morning from 6-to-10 and in the evening from 3-to-7 it would make one heck of a difference."

ROLLING STOCK
Now public agencies in the three cities have spent hundreds of millions on new rolling stock, but it is needed just to replace the old. It was ordered when commuter ridership was declining.

Today, Ronan says, if money were immediately available and a production line ready to roll, it would still take 12 to 16 months for a car building firm to begin turning out a new order. Ordinarily, lead time for a new design is three to four years. And most car builders' plants are busy.

So commuters in the three cities find conditions that run the gamut from laudable to abysmal.

In New York, where about 200,000 ride the MTA's lines, Penn Central commuters were plagued last year with a major tunnel fire that shut down Grand Central Terminal, and a fatal train collision in Mount Vernon, N.Y. The MTA has bought more than 1,000 new high-speed cars, new signals and track improvements. But older equipment still breaks down and late trains remain a source of chronic complaint.

59,000 COMMUTE
In Philadelphia, where 59,000 commute each day on Penn Central and Reading tracks, SEPTA hopes to place 48 new cars, each capable of seating 125, in service by September. Many of those commuters now stand on the basic Penn Central fleet of 281 cars, not air conditioned and seating 75 apiece, supplemented by 63 10-year-old cars of modern design.

Chicago, with 144,000 daily commuters using six private railroads, is the only city of the three where commuter lines are not yet run for a regional agency. It boasts that its largest commuter line, the Chicago and North Western, still makes a profit and runs its 280 modern double-deck cars on time.

Chicago's second largest commuter line, the Illinois Central Gulf, has 130 new double-deck cars supplemented by 32 50-year-olds. Henry Davenport, ICG's senior vice president, says "we are operating with standing room only now" — but it's difficult to tell if that stems from gasoline shortages or snowstorms.

NOT SO SURE
Milton Pikarsky, chairman of the Chicago Transit Authority, says "people are more aware" of the region's March 19 referendum because of the energy crisis. "Commuter railroads have little excess capacity," he says, and coordinated transit is needed.

But will the commuter agencies in Chicago and elsewhere lure many motorists from their cars, barring rationing?

"My guess would be very little," says Sheldon Pollack of the Regional Plan Association, a private group. "Most of the people who can use commuter lines are probably using them already."

Ronan says he's not so sure. Bus lines could coordinate with trains, making them more accessible.

BRIDGE PLAYER — Mike Wilson, 23, a stockbroker from Vancouver, B.C., was born without arms but has't let that keep him from playing a lot of bridge. He uses his toes. Wilson is taking part in regional tournament this week at Portland, Ore., sponsored by American Contract Bridge League.

Three Children Burn To Death
WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Three children burned to death when fire swept their small home at Milford near here Wednesday.

The victims were Carlos Perez, 9; Joe Perez Jr., 4; and Vralanda Perez, 1½.

The father, Joe Perez Sr., said he and his wife and their seven children were sleeping in one room of the house when he was awakened by intense heat.

He said he opened a door to another room but found it engulfed in flames. He said he smashed a window and got his wife outside and managed to hand her four of the children before he was overcome by heat and smoke.

The father was in a Waxahachie hospital suffering from shock and smoke inhalation. All other survivors were treated for smoke inhalation and shock.

Now They're Back In Jail
FLORESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two prisoners slipped out of the Wilson County jail during Tuesday night, and it was several hours before guards learned they were gone. Now they're back.

Officers identified the escapees as Ray Sobrano, 25, charged with burglary, and Robert Herrera, 26, held on an armed robbery charge, both from San Antonio. The two were trustees and were due to go on trial Friday.

Sheriff's deputies told it this way:

Sobrano and Herrera went to a farm house four miles north of Floresville and asked a man there to telephone Herrera's father and ask that he come for them.

The farmer complied. Herrera's father quickly told him, "My son can't be at your house—he's in jail." Then the elder Herrera hung up.

That prompted the farmer to telephone the sheriff's office. Deputies checked the jail cells and learned, sure enough, that Herrera wasn't there and neither was Sobrano.

Although the escapees apparently heard the call being made to the sheriff and ran away, they had returned to the farm house by the time officers arrived there. That ended their flight and started them back to jail.

HCA Reports Peak Income

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — "Another year of record revenues and earnings and orderly growth," was predicted recently for Hospital Corporation of America by President John C. Neff.

"Now that we have seen the new Phase IV regulations, we are more than ever confident of our ability to maintain our historic growth rate during the coming year and in the future," Neff said.

Hospital Corporation of America is the world's largest investor-owned hospital management company, with 57 hospitals and almost 9,000 beds in 13 states. HCA is building a new hospital in Big Spring, due to be opened in 1975.

Neff said that although final figures for 1973 are not yet available, "our revenues went well over the $200 million mark for the first time, and it appears that our earnings will be on target with general estimates of the investment community."

"We are virtually unaffected by the energy shortage based on guidelines we have received," Neff said, "and feel that our business is virtually recession-proof. Almost regardless of what happens to the general economy, we expect to have an excellent year, and we believe this is true of the health care industry as a whole."

Neff said that new Phase IV regulations represent a substantial improvement over both Phase III and the originally proposed Phase IV regulations. "They give us considerable more flexibility in our management efforts and enable us to more readily monitor our Economic Stabilization Program status."

"The new regulations remove profit margin restrictions and allow us to benefit from cost efficiencies within our hospitals. This was not possible under the old regulations."

Commenting on Phase IV regulations, Neff said he felt the Cost of Living Council had done a really creditable job of combining regulations which assure high quality patient care while increasing the incentive of hospitals to contain operating costs.

Homemakers Social Security Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two purposes, as self-employed women members of Congress who say the cash value of women's work in maintaining households has been neglected too long have introduced legislation for Social Security coverage of homemakers.

Reps. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., and Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., said in interviews the bill has little chance of early enactment. But they said it will start talk and ultimately should lead to recognition of the idea that women who cook, clean house, wash clothes, tend — and transport — children are just as truly economic producers as those who go to an office.

Their bill would treat homemakers, for Social Security purposes, as self-employed workers, if they chose to take advantage of it.

They would have to pay Social Security taxes in addition to what their spouses contribute, but they would pick up additional rights.

"A wife who becomes severely ill would be able to qualify for disability benefits," Mrs. Jordan said. "A husband who becomes a widower would also be eligible to apply for survivor benefits in order to assist in paying for substitute homemaker services."

"Remember, there are some male homemakers too," she added, saying the measure would help the non-working husband of working wives.

Some modern cars are on order. But they will replace equipment ready for the scrap heap.

Ronan's answer also illustrates a basic truth about American railroads: In 1974, public officials like him — not just railroad men — hold the key to the commuters' plight. They can coordinate all of a city's transit systems. They can use their offices to cajole or

Jurors Weigh Verdict In Trial Of Two Officials

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Jurors resumed deliberations today in the murder conspiracy trial of two Cameron County officials.

Cameron County Judge Ray Ramon, the county's highest elected official, and County Civil Defense Director Carlos Carrasco are being tried on a charge of conspiring to murder County Commissioner Adolph Thoma Jr. of San Benito.

HIT MAN
The jury deliberated for about two hours Thursday before District Court Judge Darrell Hester sent them to a motel for the night.

Testimony concerning a telephone call between Carrasco, a Brownsville grocer and Carlos Valverde, a federal agent from Laredo who was posing as a "hit man," was to be read to the jury today.

The jurors had sent Judge Hester a note requesting to rehear the testimony.

Lawyers for both sides spent a great deal of the four hours of closing arguments Thursday on Noe Alaniz Trevino, a heroin smuggler from Matamoros, Mexico.

Alaniz Trevino, a defendant in the conspiracy case until he agreed to testify in return for immunity from prosecution, testified that Ramon offered him $5,000 to kill Thoma, a longtime political foe of the judge.

Alaniz Trevino, 44, is awaiting sentencing in federal court at Brownsville after pleading guilty to a federal charge of smuggling a kilo about 2.2 pounds of heroin.

The man was negotiating to sell the heroin valued at $5 million to Valverde at the same time he was negotiating for Valverde to take the "contract" on Thoma, testimony indicated.

Special prosecutor Tom Hanna of Beaumont closed lengthy arguments Thursday with an emotional appeal for a guilty verdict. "Confidence in public officials is at an all time low. People cry out 'Why don't they do something?' You are now the 'they' people," Hanna said.

Defense lawyers Joe Walsh of Brownsville and Roy Barrera of San Antonio criticized the character of Alaniz Trevino. Ramon had testified he knew

Candidate Wants To Close Office
 COLORADO CITY — Olson Sweat, retired teacher and school administrator, has announced his candidacy for county school superintendent with the intention of closing the office.

Sweat said that his candidacy will mean a financial loss because he has already paid $150 filing fee. The office is presently held by Roy Davis Cole who did not file for re-election. He has held the office 42 years.

Sweat said the money paid to the county superintendent and his secretary could go to the school children of Texas.

JURORS INDICT FOUR TEXANS Probing HUD 'Deals'

DALLAS (AP) — Federal grand jurors have indicted four men after probing at length into North Texas operations of the Housing and Urban Development agency.

Contracts of sale and applications to obtain HUD insurance on loans. These properties were in Dallas and suburban Garland.

The grand jury billed Hendricks on charges of making a false statement on a HUD application for home ownership assistance. It alleged that Hendricks stated the buyer had no income while she actually was employed as a hospital nurse.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Internal Revenue Service began investigating activities under HUD programs in 1972.

A Justice Department lawyer, Jim Graham, said Thursday the probe is still going on. He declined to say whether more indictments might be in prospect.

$9-Billion-Cheaper Alternative Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate House subcommittee on economy in government today proposed a $9-billion-cheaper alternative to President Nixon's budget for fiscal 1975.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who also is vice chairman of the Congressional Economic Committee, said Nixon's 11-percent budget increase is unconscionable.

"The rampaging inflationary condition as well as the need for fiscal discipline cries out for a major cut in the President's proposal," Proxmire said.

"In this year of both inflation and unemployment we should cut spending which promotes inflation and emphasize that which increases jobs and increases productivity," he added.

Proxmire would cut spending for defense, space, highways, public works and foreign aid by a total of $12 billion, and increase by $3 billion the funds for housing, public-service employment, consumer protection, health and education.

A Better Way

President Nixon has asked Congress to boost veterans' education benefits 8 per cent. That is not much help.

The rate of inflation is greater than the increase proposed, for one thing. That means the GI bill benefits would only tread water, not improve. And the present program is inadequate.

Presently, a single veteran receives $220 a month while in school full-time. From that he must pay his living expenses, and his school expenses — including tuition, — as well. So in practice, only those veterans who happen to live where a state-supported, low-tuition school is located can even take advantage of the program — unless they have private means which would have allowed them to go to college anyway.

Tuition aid fees for most private colleges run from a minimum of about $3,000 a year up for full-time students. Thus the benefit now paid won't even cover tuition to such schools. Boosting the levy 8 per cent will make no real difference; the gap is too great.

What makes most sense is to return to the post-World War II education aid program. At that time, the government paid the tuition of a veteran directly to the college of his choice — public or private — then granted the veteran a living allowance in addition to that sum. To provide veterans of Vietnam the same level of assistance as World War II veterans got, similar tuition payments should be made — and the living allowance in addition to that sum. To provide

Not So Funny

Vladimir S. Alkhimov, deputy minister for foreign trade for the Soviet Union, has a sense of humor. But it will not appeal to most Americans.

Visiting in New York, Alkhimov offered to sell wheat to the United States to help replenish our dwindling stocks. He did not mention prices, but was reminded that massive purchases of U.S. wheat by the Soviet Union at bargain prices during the past two years account for the present U.S. shortage.

"Look at Alaska," Alkhimov retorted. "Which we sold you for $7 million back in 1867. That was cheap, too, but you don't hear us complaining." The Russians bought U.S. wheat at about $3.70 a bushel. Wheat futures for the next four to five months are currently quoted at about $5.95 a bushel. Even July wheat, after the harvesting of this year's crop has begun, is being quoted at $5 a bushel.

We may reach the end of our dwindling wheat stocks before June. The prospect of bread at $1 a loaf is already being discussed, although U.S. Department of Agriculture officials characterize such talk as "irrational."

Alkhimov is a funny man. But his humor is probably lost on the American people as they contemplate buying back U.S. wheat from Russia for $2.25 a bushel more than we sold it. That makes Alkhimov not so funny.

In Perspective

Around The Rim

Elayne Rexroat

First of all, I'd like to tell those "dear hearts" at the new hospital site that back in December my spirits were lifted by the Christmas tree mounted center the top I-beam, not to mention the elated feeling I had when I saw 'Old Glory' waving her colors at me as I passed by.

I THINK THAT both ideas were fantastic and would be so proud if more people upheld this kind of patriotism which brings something to mind.

For a long time, I didn't understand the youth of today. I felt lost when it came to comprehending their ways. Then, things seemed to fall into proper perspective (or at least began to).

Suddenly, it was a mystery to me how parents can sit back and candidly ask "what's happened to these young people?" when they themselves never gave them anything to let it happen with.

As you've heard me say before, my parents taught me a good sound basic love of home, God and country. As I grow older, I understand how difficult it was for them.

They taught me something else that isn't easily understood and that was — with love comes respect. In turn, they instilled a respect of home, God and country in all their children.

WHY HOME, God and country? I guess it is somehow connected with the line of thinking that everyone has to have something to believe in. And, with this basic belief in something or somebody, a child or young person has something positive to relate with.

It's like being more confident about yourself and having the courage to keep on moving when the going gets rough.

The taught me — to be constructive, not destructive, especially where life was concerned — that my time was too valuable to waste tearing something, or more important, someone down.

Instead, they challenged their children to build.

ALSO, THEY taught me that you can always discover what a good job somebody else is doing by giving it a try yourself.

Now, I'm not saying that these considerations create a miracle formula that will prevent the human elements from affecting one's life; but, I do think that with the encouragement that can be mustered up from that feeling of "having someone who cares" or "that indestructible something to fall back on" is worth its weight in gold.

I'm betting on it!

Simon On Skillet

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — A sure sign that the brief, frantic honeymoon is over for federal energy czar William Simon came last Friday when Ronald Ziegler, President Nixon's press secretary and most intimate advisor, telephoned Simon's office sizzling with anger.

ZIEGLER DEMANDED a transcript of the press conference held that day by John Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office (FEO), warning that the country cannot "break the back of the energy crisis" this year — contradicting Mr. Nixon's State of the Union hyperbole two days earlier. To the White House praetorian guard, this symbolized an independence at FEO intolerable to their demands for team-effort conformity.

There are other signs the bloom is off Simon's rose: flagging morale at FEO reflected by the departure of two key aides; Simon's power struggle against both the White House and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB); and — most important — those long lines of angry motorists at gasoline stations.

ALTHOUGH NO one claims anybody else could have done as well as the supercharged Simon, it is now clear he is only human — a czar, perhaps, but certainly no wizard. He is entangled in Byzantine mysteries of the oil industry and palace politics of the Nixon White House. Even in the fallen, post-Watergate Nixon administration, the same animus that forced out competent but independent officials such as Secretary of Commerce Peter Peterson and White House aide Robert Ellsworth may be near the point of consuming Simon.

ACTUALLY, Simon's biggest problem is more substantive than political. He and his staff are baffled about how to shift gasoline supplies from parts of the South and Great Plains to the big cities, particularly in the Northeast, where long lines at service stations make for short tempers. Although Simon once vowed such lines would bring coupon rationing, that is now unlikely, thanks to grass roots anti-rationing sentiment.

The one easy corrective — switch refineries to more gasoline and less fuel oil — is under consideration. But even Simon's allies on Capitol Hill think he is being too cautious about possible cold weather and should have moved last week, since the lead time for the switch is around one month. Even if he had, the predictable rise in gasoline demand in April would still have left supplies short.

THAT SENSE of utility contributes to the declining esprit de corps at FEO which was so high Dec. 4 when Simon replaced slow-moving former Gov. John Love of Colorado. His exhausted aides have soured on seven-day weeks, 7 a.m. staff meetings and endless night-time conferences.

SINCE THEY now question whether all this work is accomplishing much, middle-level officials are starting to quit. So are some top officials, including assistant administrator John Hill, who has returned to OMB. Frank Zarb, head of FEO's allocations office, has returned to OMB as originally scheduled, but bureaucrats feel he would have stayed had all gone well. On the other hand, Simon incurred wrath when he failed to get White House clearance on John Harper, Georgia Democrat, to be the FEO lobbyist. Now there is grumbling at the White House that Simon is getting too big for his britches.

"Quick! Gimme another full-page ad... I'm afraid they can still see me!"

Collection For Baby

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — You never really know what the human herd is like until you take up an office collection.

Suppose, for example, that Millicent, the plump little girl in the stenographic pool, has just had a baby and you have been drafted into trying to pry a buck apiece out of the other hired hands in the office to buy the kid a present.

Here is a typical sampling of the remarks that greet you:

"See me payday."

"Count me out on moral principles. I'm against the birth explosion. If we start rewarding babies for being born, we'll be up to our armpits in them."

"I'll give the baby a buck when the father gives me a cigar — and not until then."

"Nobody gave me money for being born. They just stole the pewter spoon out of my mouth."

"See me payday after next."

"When I first came here 40 years ago, the only thing they took up office collections for was the widow when one of the old-timers died. Today they take up a collection to buy flowers for a guy if he stays home from work two days because his sinuses are clogged."

"Pass me on this one. I've got six children of my own at home to buy presents for every other Christmas if I can make it."

"Here's my buck. Any kid crazy enough to be born in these times needs all the help he can get."

"When are you going to take up a collection for me? I've been working for this sweatshop 18 years, and I have yet to see my first-merit raise."

"Sure, here's a buck for the little tyke — and here's another in case he wants to go to college later."

"A dollar is too much, but I'll gladly contribute 50 cents if you assure me I can deduct it from my income tax as a business charity."

"I've only got one buck left, and I plan to buy a Martini for lunch with it. Who do you think needs that Martini most — me or the baby?"

No Recession?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon has an excellent chance of fulfilling his State of the Union pledge that "there will be no recession in the United States of America."

A few months ago his chances would have been considered lower, mainly because of a huge shortfall in oil stocks was anticipated by most authorities. Inevitably, they said, it would reduce industrial activity.

Because of the cooperation of man, who cut down sharply on wasteful practices, and nature, which provided a mild winter, that prospect is diminished.

Before the Mideast oil cutback many economists rated the chance of a recession at 50-50. That ratio probably rose to 60-40 last fall. Now it is probably back to 50-50.

But the economy doesn't respond to commands or wishes. The President's statement that "we shall win our fight to hold down the cost of living" may be much harder to fulfill.

The truth is that inflation is an international problem that eludes control by domestic policy. The world's growing demand for goods places a premium on items once thought inexpensive.

If the Arabs raise the price of oil, for example, it is inevitable that oil buyers will be importing a degree of inflation. If the price of Brazilian coffee beans rises, so also will raise the price here.

This lessening of control over inflation may indeed accelerate in years to come if the world's industrial communities grow together into one vast market place, with each nation's economy highly dependent upon others.

The difficulty and sometimes futility of the inflation fight is shown in many ways:

—In promises by Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, that prices would soon stabilize, until after two years of such promises he was forced to concede that prices will continue to rise in 1974.

—In the fact that Nixon, while proclaiming his philosophical bias for free markets, was forced to impose wage and price restraints.

—In the realization that stability of domestic prices could inadvertently be disturbed by the activities of a few private companies selling grain to the Soviet Union.

It is demonstrated in an even more important way. The President in his message made it clear that, given the choice of two evils — inflation or recession — he prefers inflation.

It may sound incredible to younger Americans, but there was once a day when it was considered proper to reduce inflation by sacrificing jobs, purchasing power and production. It lessened demand, but at an awful price.

Nixon, as do most Americans, considers that option too primitive.

More About Infection

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 22 and have been doctoring for vaginal infections for almost a year — I have itching and a heavy discharge.

I have used several types of suppositories and my husband also has taken some medication.

My doctor has said I had three types of infections — yeast, monilia and trichomonas.

I seem to get one cleared up and then get another. He said some women are prone to these infections but I'm getting so discouraged. Could this be caused by birth control pills? — Mrs. D. M.

Let's start by admitting that some women have much more of this trouble than others, and that some cases can be stubborn. Having three types makes it even more difficult (although it is not unusual for more than one type to be present).

Still, if you pursue the proper course of treatment for each form if vaginitis, you usually will be successful in clearing it up.

The trichomonas was the type for which your husband also had treatment. That is caused by a micro-organism called a protozoan, which often bothers women but rarely has any symptoms in men even though it is present.

The husband should take treatment for from 10 to 20 days, and at the same time the wife is being treated, so he will not pass the infection back to her once she is cured.

Monilia is a different organism, and your question, frequently proves beneficial.

Billy Graham

MY ANSWER

I was reared in a Christian home, and was active in church until about three years ago. For some reason, then we started to drift away. To make matters worse, I have started stepping out on my wife. I know it's wrong, but it's become an obsession with me. Please say something to help me.

Your drifting away from church was merely a symptom of a prior drifting away from Christ. Unless there is a real personal faith prompting church attendance and service, no motivation is enough to hold against the stresses of modern life.

The phrase you used "I know it's wrong, but..." is one I have heard many times. It's the give-away for someone who has faced a temptation and has decided to yield to it, but wants to keep up moral appearances. There's nothing I can say to help you unless you desperately want to be helped.

In that case, the secret is the same for all who seek God's forgiveness and strength. Acts 26:20 says it is simply repentance and faith in Jesus Christ. Plenty of men have faced the same temptation you have — to explore extra marital relationships. But with the help of God, they've decided it's not worth damaging the marriage, destroying the home, dooming yourself and deserting the children.

While there is still time, throw yourself on the mercy of God. He will help you to stop immediately all those contacts which are ruining your life.

A Devotion For Today

Let none that wait for thee be put to shame. (Psalm 25:3)
PRAYER: Praises to Thee, Lord, for fulfilling Thy promises to those who believe in Thee. May our gratitude show in obedience to Thee and service in Thy name. In Thy spirit we pray as Thou hast taught us. Amen.

Bell Research Explained By Roy Wickerham Here

Harnessing sound for use by man was the theme of a program presented by Southwestern Bell Science demonstrator Roy Wickerham to the Kiwanis Club Thursday and the students of Big Spring High School Today.

The program, entitled "The Science of Sound," traced the development of telecommunications industry from Alexander Graham Bell's early telephone to modern-day computers that talk.

Wickerham outlined the basic principles of human hearing and illustrated how these were applied to the development of the telephone.

"The quality of telephone transmission and reproduction has improved tremendously through the years," he said. "But the basic concept behind electrical sound reproduction is essentially the same today as it was when Bell used these principles in inventing the telephone in 1876... almost 100 years ago."

Wickerham discussed Bell Laboratories research in the recording industry, pointing out such Bell inventions as the transistor and "talking" motion pictures. One of the latest advances he mentioned is an invention called a harmonic compressor. The compressor allows blind people to "speed hear" at 400 words per minute.

"The harmonic compressor doubles the recorded speed, while retaining normal voice pitch," he said.

Wickerham told the group that sound research is being applied to making computers "talk". He noted that such computers are being used in some locations to give callers the correct phone numbers when they dial a disconnected phone number.

"We promise to do our best to serve you, and to try to meet — and anticipate — all your communications needs, on an individual, person-to-person basis," Wickerham said.

Harry Sawyer, Southwestern Bell manager for Big Spring, explained that Wickerham is uniquely qualified to discuss what's happening in Bell System technology today.

"He has 15 years of technical experience and makes periodic visits to Bell Laboratories," Sawyer said.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl. I don't mean to brag, but people have told me I am very pretty and have a good personality.

I have never had sex with anybody. I am saving myself for marriage. Some fellows have tried to talk me out of it, but so far I've managed to stay pure.

I recently met a fellow (24) who told me that I am the kind of girl he would like to marry, but before he gets serious with me I will have to have sex with him because sex is important to him, and he wants to be sure I can satisfy his sexual demands.

I like this fellow more than any I've ever dated, but I don't want to give in. On the other hand, I'm afraid if I don't, he'll drop me. What should I do?

SAVING MYSELF
DEAR ABBY: Tell him you have a few demands that have to be satisfied, too. One of them is your own self-respect. And feeling as you do about saving yourself for marriage, if he doesn't want to accept it, he's not for you. I have an idea he may not drop you. But if he does, you could be lucky.

DEAR ABBY: I run an apartment building. One of my tenants is a retired school teacher. He is a proper gentleman and if anyone says "hell" in front of him he raises his eyebrows and says, "Please, I do not tolerate profanity."

Well, a young newlywed couple has the apartment next to this old gentleman, and they use a lot of four-letter words in their conversations. Naturally, it's a source of great annoyance to this gentleman, and he complains to me daily about it.

I have told the newlyweds not to talk so loud, and to cut out the four-letter words, but it hasn't done any good. The newlyweds claim this old man must have his ear to the wall because they talk in normal voices and do not shout.

So what should I do?
LANDLORD
DEAR LANDLORD: You be the judge. Ask the complainer if you may visit his apartment and learn for yourself whether the neighbors are out of line — or if HE is.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died suddenly three months ago. Last month was our 36th wedding anniversary. I didn't receive one gift or anniversary card from any of our friends who always used to remember us on that occasion. I felt terribly let down and hurt.

I have been told that when your mate dies, you no longer have a wedding anniversary. Is that true?

It seems you are treated entirely different after you lose your mate. You suddenly become a third wheel — unwanted and unnecessary.

ALONE AND LONELY
DEAR ABBY: When one's mate dies, the wedding anniversaries cease. Your friends probably felt that sending gifts or cards would have revived memories of past anniversaries, which could conceivably sadden you, since you are now alone.

However, instead of ignoring the occasion, it would have been a kindness for some friends to have invited you out on that day.

Revival, Special Messages, Overseas Trip Highlight Week

By MARJ CARPENTER
A revival at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, a special series of messages at First Baptist, and a trip to the Philippines for two other Baptist ministers highlight the church week in Big Spring.

EVANGELIST Leon Thomas of Desoto, Texas, will conduct revival services at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad, Big Spring, February 8-10 (Fri-Sun) at 7 p.m.

The Reverend Thomas is a veteran evangelist, having preached in almost all states of the U.S., and some foreign countries.

"This evangelist is best known for his knowledge of the Bible, especially that of quoting scriptures from memory," commented Pastor Calvin, Evangel Temple pastor.

According to Pastor Calvin, Evangelist Thomas is also known for a fervent prayer life, with great emphasis upon fasting along with his praying.

A fellowship dinner will take place after the Sunday morning worship hour, during the revival, on February 10.

THE WORLD FAMOUS singing group, "The Gallileans," will sing at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad, Big Spring, at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15. Admission is free.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH congregation has the opportunity to hear a series of talks on the Holy Spirit by Dr. Kenneth Patrick. Since the Lord's Supper will be observed Sunday morning, the second in the series will be held Sunday evening on the topic, "Infilling of the Holy Spirit."

The following Sunday morning will be "Doctrine and Unity With Christ" followed on successive Sunday mornings with "Who Is Affected by the Holy Spirit" and "Spiritual Gifts of the Holy Spirit in the Church."

TWO BAPTIST CHURCHES, Hillcrest Baptist and College Baptist will send the Rev. Collins Moore and Mrs. Jimmy Moore to an evangelism crusade in the Philippines. They will join six other persons and fly from Midland to the Philippines Sunday night, returning around March 4.

The last time the Baptists held such a crusade in 1970, the number of students in the seminary there doubled.

"MEET THE MORMONS" is a 35-minute color film presentation to be shown on Feb. 14, at the Big Spring Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Chapel at 1803 Wasson. The film is very informative about the beliefs, programs, and activities offered in the Latter-Day Saint Church and practiced today by its some three million members.

Displays by each of the auxiliaries in the Big Spring Ward will be shown and refreshments members' homes and are very informal. The church nursery is open at 6:45 for small children.

"LITURGY IN SANTE FE" under the direction of Fathers Blase Schauer and Clifford Stevens will be held in San Angelo on Feb. 11 and 12. Beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11 at Sacred Heart Cathedral School gymnasium in San Angelo, a multi-media presentation by the liturgy team for Sante Fe, New Mexico will demonstrate the creativeness of priest and parishioners seeking an approach to God that is fresh, creative and joyous in the total involvement of people in worship. This presentation has been made not only within the United States, but has been presented to 10 European universities, to the World Council of Churches in Geneva, and for the Secretary of the Vatican Liturgical Commission in Rome.

All are invited and encouraged to attend the Monday evening presentation. Registration fee for that evening is $1.00.

On Tuesday, Feb. 12 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. the liturgy team will be at St. Joseph Church, 301 W. 17th Street, San Angelo where they will conduct a day-long workshop which is open to all interested people, but is of particular interest to priests, sisters, religious educators and those concerned with liturgy, both Catholics and Non-Catholics. Registration fee for Tuesday is $2.00. Lunch will not be served.

Baptist Men, Boys Set Big Game Feast

The annual man and boy wild game dinner of the Big Spring Baptist Association is set for Saturday at the Howard County Fair Barns.

Jess Stiles, freshman head coach Texas Tech, will be speaker for the occasion, and he will be accompanied by Gary Bartel, a defensive back.

The affair, open to all men and boys, will get underway with recreation at 4 p.m. There will be contests for the boys in volleyball, B-B marksmanship, goat tying, three-legged race, horseshoe and washer pitching.

A meal with wild game animals and birds, plus all the trimming, will be served free by men of the association. During the dinner hour starting at 6 p.m., a trophy will be given to the winning volleyball team and ribbons to all the event winners.

The program, under sponsorship of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, will begin at 7 p.m. Stiles, who coached the Tech freshman to an unbeaten season last year, formerly coach at Borger where he had a 39-23-2 mark and was a state finalist in 1964. He is an active Christian layman. Gary Bartel, former all-district player at Grand Prairie, is one of the top cornerbacks for Tech, Southwest conference runner-up, and is rated one of the most intelligent players, plus being a top punt and kickoff return man.

'The Exorcist' Condemned By Many Church Leaders

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's only a movie. It's only a movie. It's only a movie.

Well, it IS only a movie. The Devil's bile is just so much pea soup. The Devil's profanity is really the voice of actress Mercedes McCambridge. The Devil's chill is a scene shot in a refrigerator built for the occasion.

Only a movie, but "The Exorcist" is terrifying, fascinating and in some cases nauseating record numbers of filmgoers who are paying record amounts for the opportunity. By the time the Devil is paid his due, the movie may become the biggest moneymaker of all time.

Hailed by some critics as one of the 10 best movies of the year and dismissed by others with such phrases as "elegant occultist claptrap" and "a costly carnival of nausea," the Warner Brothers production broke the house record in every theater it played during the first week of release.

Not bad for a film based on a novel rejected by two publishers before finding its way into print. Budgeted at $4.5 million, the film cost about $10 million before shooting was over. Now in its seventh week Warner's says the gross already has exceeded the cost.

It all began in 1949 in Washington when a student in a theology class at Georgetown University became intrigued with a priest's account of a recent exorcism performed on a 14-year-old boy.

The idea for a novel on possession rattled around in William Peter Blatty's mind during the two decades that he went from university publicist to novelist.

The book lasted 55 weeks on the best-seller list, sold six million copies in this country and was translated into 15 languages.

Blatty maintained control of the screen version, with himself as scenarist and producer. Ted Ashley of Warner Brothers gave Blatty $641,000 plus an interest reportedly "in excess of one-third."

After Blatty saw "The French Connection," he was determined that its director, William Friedkin, would direct "The Exorcist."

Blatty and Friedkin selected a wholesome Connecticut girl, Linda Blair, to play the possessed girl and surrounded her with accomplished actors — Max Von Sydow, Ellen Burstyn, Lee J. Cobb and Jason Miller, prize-winning playwright of "That Championship Season." Locations were scheduled for Washington, with interiors at a Manhattan studio.

But the production ran into difficulties, and studio publicists have done nothing to discourage the thought that the problems were somehow related to the subject.

"Virtually the whole set in New York was destroyed by fire," reports executive producer Noel Marshall. "I'm not saying that our difficulties in making the film were from supernatural causes, but there were some unexplainable phenomena."

The abundance of explicitness led the U.S. Catholic conference to blast the Motion Picture Association for giving "The Exorcist" an 'R' rating under 17 must be with adult instead of an 'X' banned for under 17.

The worth of the film, or lack of, is open to debate in other quarters as well.

Anton LaVey, who describes himself in all seriousness as High Priest of the Church of Satan and Exarch of Hell, says the movie is providing a new lease on life for publicity seekers and failing priests. But even LaVey whose church claims 10,000 members, says:

"The Exorcist" has become America's No. 1 cocktail party conversation opener. It's even passing astrology. Soon, comparing possessions will become the main topic of conversation at block parties."

Blatty, 45, sees the movie's popularity as something deeper. "I knew the film would succeed, just as I knew the book would, because of people's interest in the occult and the paranormal. That interest is rooted in the hope that we do live forever, that there is an afterlife."

HOROSCOPE
CARROL RIGHTER
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1974
GENERAL TENDENCIES: An adverse day in which you should be wise to take no chances whatever and accept your own obstacles philosophically.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Instead of engaging in some new outlet of this kind, stop at their accustomed tasks. Show generosity to those less fortunate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't expect any help from others now since they are busy with own affairs. Make plans to increase income. Postpone recreation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you do nothing that could incur your fine reputation. Being above reproach is wise. Work on career matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Attend to duties that will build your faith in whatever you are doing. Find the information you need during spare time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you keep steady and do more than you are required to do, you will be rewarded. Show that you are an understanding person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't blame partner because you don't understand the purpose of certain actions. Keep your making changes that are important.

NO NEST ROBBER — Trimming a tree demands some skill and no little ability to remain in a state of suspended animation for long periods of time. Here Clinton Osburn attacks a few unsightly limbs of a tree on the Howard County courthouse lawn.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Two of ♠
If you were traveling from New York to Chicago, you wouldn't normally choose to go via San Francisco. In Bridge, however, the roundabout way can be the strest.

Once North supported his suit, South's hand revalued to 17 points. Since his partner had bid voluntarily at the two-level, there was no question that the combined resources were sufficient to warrant venturing to four spades.

West led the deuce of hearts, East won the king and ace and continued with a third round of hearts, which declarer ruffed. There was no problem if trumps divided evenly, for declarer could then draw trumps and play on diamonds, and he would be assured of the contract no matter how the remaining cards lay. So declarer, a pessimist by nature, considered his chances if the trumps broke 3-1.

Even if he had to lose a trump trick, South saw that he still could make the contract if the diamonds were 3-3. After cashing the ace-king of trumps, he could play three rounds of diamonds, discarding a low club. On the fourth diamond he would discard his remaining low club as the defender with the high trump ruffed, and the only losers would be two hearts and a trump.

But those odds were still not good enough for declarer. After some thought, he developed a line that would succeed against a 3-1 trump break and a 4-2 diamond division. The method involved conceding a trump trick after establishing dummy's diamonds.

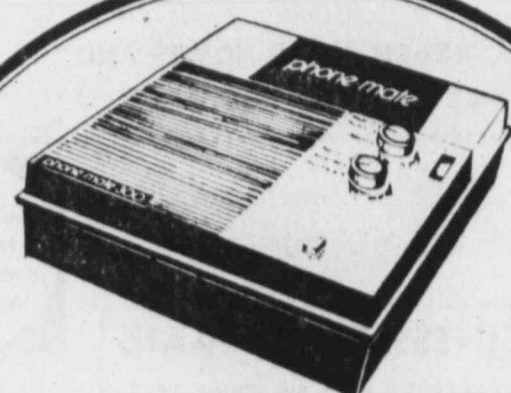

After cashing the ace of spades, declarer took dummy's king and queen of diamonds. He led a low diamond from dummy and ruffed with the king of spades. West's discard was immaterial—dummy's diamond suit was now set up, and the ten-eight of trumps served as an entry to the table. Declarer led a low trump and the defenders were without recourse. West could win the queen, but declarer would win any return, enter dummy with the ten of trumps, in the process drawing West's remaining trump, and take two club discards on the ace and the low diamond.

Charge Parolee With Murder

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities formally charged Jessie Ray Jones, 30, a Dallas parolee, with murder Thursday in the Jan. 15 slaying of a driven food store manager.

Detectives said Jones also told them he and a companion, because of his desperate need for $40 rent money, staged a Jan. 25 stickup in which storekeeper Forrest Fuller suffered a critical head wound.

Police said they turned from lengthy questioning of Jones to interrogation of a companion, 34, in efforts to clear up other cases in a wave of robbery-shootings that have claimed 13 lives since November.

Jones was arrested Wednesday on a warrant charging him in a Jan. 21 holdup during which food store owner Albert L. Binley, 52, was shot in the head but survived. A justice of the peace set his bond at $300,000 in that case.

Officers raided an apartment house and took him into custody while Jones was taking a bath with a loaded pistol on a shelf within ready reach.

Police said Jones went with four detectives to show where a cash register from Fuller's store was hidden, and it was found in a ditch about four miles from the store.

Questioners said the companion was implicated by Jones. He is one of five other persons jailed for questioning after the bath tub arrest.

Officers said a witness signaled Jones out in a police station lineup Thursday night as one of two bandits who beat and robbed Ella Hensley at her driven store last Nov. 8.

Investigators said a fingerprint Jones left on a beer can at Binley's store led to his arrest, but a tedious check to identify it was futile until the state police computer identification system supplied his name and address.
