

REVEALED FORMER PRESIDENT NIXON'S TAPING SYSTEM

Butterfield Reportedly CIA Contact In White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Alexander Butterfield, who revealed the existence of former President Nixon's taping system, was a contact officer for the Central Intelligence Agency while he served in the White House, a former CIA liaison officer for the Air Force said today.

Retired Col. L. Fletcher Prouty described Butterfield in a telephone interview as the person in the White House whom the CIA would have contacted if the agency needed White House assistance with sensitive operations. But Prouty said Butterfield would not have acted as a CIA spy in the White House.

An informed source said Prouty had given his information to the House intelligence committee in recent days. Prouty was called to appear before committee investigators again today.

In the interview, Prouty said top White House officials in the administration of former President Richard M. Nixon may have been aware of Butterfield's role as the person the CIA would contact "to get things done."

However, Prouty said he was not certain administration officials knew about this role.

Neither, Prouty said, did he know for certain whether Butterfield was on the CIA payroll at the time. "You never can tell," Prouty said, adding that Butterfield's salary could have been paid by the White House, the CIA or the Air Force. Butterfield, like Prouty, is a retired colonel.

"Unless somebody comes clean with the precise documents, nobody's going to know ...," Prouty said about the matter of pay. "That's the name of the game."

But Prouty declared: "He (Butterfield) was the agency contact officer."

Butterfield gained national prominence nearly two years ago when he disclosed to Senate Watergate investigators the existence of Nixon's White House tape recording system. Tapes from the system, which recorded Nixon's conversations with his top aides, were instrumental in forcing his resignation on Aug. 9, 1974.

Before the telephone interview, Prouty appeared on the CBS-TV "Morning News," where he told Correspondent Daniel Schorr he doubted that Nixon "or anyone else (at the White House) really knew" about Butterfield's CIA connections.

NBC News said it also had learned of the Butterfield connections.

A congressional source told The Associated Press that Prouty disclosed Butterfield's CIA role to investigators for the House intelligence committee. The committee is investigating the CIA and other intelligence agencies.

But the source said the investigators have no documentary evidence to support Prouty's assertion. Butterfield, who was named head of the Federal Aviation Administration after he left the White House, was not available for comment.

But his wife called Prouty's description of her husband's role "absolutely false ... (a) ludicrous allegation." She added: "It would be absolutely laughable."

Prouty's comments came just one day after CIA Director William E. Colby denied as "outrageous nonsense" earlier statements by Reps. Robert W. Kasten, R-Wis., and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., that there was evidence of CIA penetration of the White House, the Office of Management and Budget and the treasury and commerce departments.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chairman of the Senate intelligence committee, said Thursday his panel planned to investigate the allegations of CIA penetration in the White House and elsewhere.

White House press secretary Ron Nessen said there were CIA employees at the White House but that "they're here quite openly."

Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—CBS News reported that then-Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson was accompanied on a trade mission to Moscow by a CIA agent posing as his secretary in July 1972. It was unclear whether this was done with Peterson's knowledge. He was not available for comment.

—The Senate committee today continues its probe into alleged CIA assassination plots, particularly those against Cuban premier Fidel Castro. Witnesses included former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and retired CIA executive William K. Harvey.

—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., a member of the panel, urged that Castro be asked about what he knows of alleged CIA-plots to kill him.

—Chief Postal Inspector William J. Cotter said in an interview that the CIA in 1972 trained postal inspectors in surveillance techniques to be used against persons suspected of mail crimes.

—The widow of Frank Olson and their three children announced plans to sue the CIA for "several million dollars" because he committed suicide in 1953 after the agency laced his after-dinner drink with LSD and didn't tell him. At the time, Olson was a scientist with the Army at Ft. Detrick, Md., then a center for biological and chemical warfare research.

—The House Rules Committee recommended that the House abolish its stalemated intelligence committee and replace it with a new panel. The intelligence panel has been bogged down in internal strife after its five Democrats unsuccessfully demanded the resignation of Rep. Led for mail crimes.

—An article in Penthouse magazine asserts that the CIA provided technological support in 1957 and 1958 to help Israel manufacture the atomic bomb. The CIA flatly denied the report. The article by Tad Szulc said several nuclear scientists were secretly sent to Israel to assist in the program.

—Authoritative sources said Ashland Oil Inc. used some of the money it got from the CIA for admittedly illegal domestic political donations.

An Ashland spokesman conceded that about $50,000 which Ashland got from the CIA in cash in 1968, 1969 and 1971 was mingled with a secret cash fund used by Ashland to make illegal donations.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, heading off on his first trip since declaring his candidacy for 1976, has a three-day schedule of moving like a shuttlecock between Michigan and Illinois. The journey is considered nonpolitical and is being paid for out of official funds. Nevertheless, Ford will attend what is billed as an "informal Republican breakfast" Saturday in Chicago. And today he was to be guest of honor at an informal reception at the home of GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin near Traverse City, Mich., where it's possible he might find other fellow Republicans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. cargo ship Gateway City was hit by gunfire in the Gulf of Thailand this week in the first such incident since the Cambodian seizure of the freighter Mayaguez two months ago. U.S. officials minimized the incident, saying the gunfire came from small fishing-style vessels of unknown nationality. No attempt was made to board the Gateway City and none of its crew was wounded, they said.

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary James Callaghan says he made no concessions to Ugandan President Idi Amin to win freedom for Denis Hills. Returning from Africa with the 61-year-old British educator Amin had condemned to death, Callaghan thanked the Ugandan military dictator for his "magnanimity." Hills was sentenced in June to face a firing squad for calling Amin a "village tyrant" in an unpublished book manuscript.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's largest political party, the Socialists, quit the coalition cabinet today after the country's leftist military rulers took over publication of the party newspaper, Republica. The Popular Democrats, who with the Socialists took two-thirds of the votes in the April 25 constitutional assembly elections, were expected to follow the Socialists out of the government, ending the facade of public representation in the military-controlled government.

Rabin Rules Out Another 'Deal' With Egypt Soon

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin today ruled out another agreement with Egypt any time soon, telling a news conference "there are no magic deadlines."

"It's a process of negotiations. We are in the middle," Rabin said at a news conference in the West German capital.

Rabin warned against expectation that an accord can be settled in one meeting or by a certain date.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was arriving in Bonn late today for talks with Rabin on Saturday, and the prime minister said: "I expect many outcomes."

But he said the negotiations must be conducted "very carefully, very patiently."

Rabin met the press at the end of a three-day official visit to West Germany, the first by the head of an Israeli government while in office.

He said Egypt has rejected the electronic warning devices for both sides which Israel wanted established in the Sinai Desert if it withdrew from the Gidi and Mitla passes.

"We preferred that in the buffer zone there would be an Israeli warning station and an Egyptian warning station," he said. Following Egypt's rejection, he added, "it's too early to say" what alternative can be worked out.

Rabin said interim withdrawal agreements between Israel and Syria and Jordan are unlikely.

Battle Towering Inferno

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-alarm fire broke out in a midtown skyscraper today and the fire department said a number of persons were unable to get out of the building because of heavy smoke.

"Some persons are 'technically trapped.' We have men with them but we do not feel it would be advisable to try and walk them through the smoke on the stairwells," a fire department spokesman said.

He said it was an electrical fire that began on the 18th floor with very heavy smoke which was spread by the air conditioning and created "some panic among workers on upper floors."

The blaze erupted shortly before 11 a.m. in the 33-story building at 40 West 57th St., near Sixth Avenue about six blocks north of Rockefeller Center. At least three persons were rushed from the building and treated for smoke inhalation.

Two police helicopters flew above the building as thousands of spectators gathered around the busy location. One of the pilots reported seeing hundreds of persons on the roof.

Windows of the building were being broken to let smoke and heat out. Persons in the street below scurried to avoid the falling shards of glass.

"There was an increasing amount of smoke, then a lot of people began to scurry around and try to run. Thank goodness firemen arrived and calmed things down," said Janie Thrash, who worked on the 25th floor.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Activity quickened at launch sites half a world apart today as Russian technicians joined a Soyuz spaceship with its booster rocket and American astronauts continued rehearsals for the U.S. Soviet space mission set to start Tuesday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that the mating of the Soyuz and its rocket had been completed successfully and they will be moved to the launch pad at the Baikonur cosmodrome in central Russia on Saturday.

NASA also reported that the two Soviet cosmonauts who will fly the joint mission had successfully passed their final major physical exams, just as the three American astronauts did on Thursday.

In a telephone report to his American counterpart in Houston, Dr. Konstantin Bushuyev, Apollo-Soyuz technical director for the Soviet Union, said preparations were on schedule at Baikonur.

Bushuyev told Glenn S. Lunney that prospects for an on-time launch Tuesday were excellent.

The movement of the Soyuz to the launch pad just three days before launching underscores the Russian approach of conducting most of the prelaunch checkout in a hangar. Weather often is severe at Baikonur, with ice storms in the winter and heat waves in summer. The temperature there Thursday was 113 degrees.

Lunney told Bushuyev that launch preparations were going well at Cape Canaveral. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration prefers placing its rocket and spacecraft on the launch pad for much of the prelaunch checkout. The Apollo and Saturn booster for the upcoming mission have been on the pad since March 24.

Deputy Hijackers Are Caught In New Mexico

Harold (Deano) Cooksey, 50, and his brother James (Pinko) Cooksey, 46, were apprehended at a truck stop in Las Cruces, N.M., around 5:20 p.m. Thursday after a chase which led across West Texas, into Mexico and back into the neighboring state.

The two Midland men have waived extradition and were to be arraigned in Las Cruces this morning. They will be returned to Big Spring on charges of felony theft, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Further charges also await the duo here. The chase began Saturday night when it was reported that three men were apparently stealing gas on an oil lease on the Edwards Ranch near Coahoma.

When Deputy Buster McCartney went to the scene, the trio disarmed him and also tore up the deputy's car. An all-night chase followed, with lawmen circling an area on the O'Daniel Ranch where the pickup was abandoned with a flat tire.

In the pickup was oilfield equipment missing from the Turner lease. A third man, Carl Harding, Midland, was arrested around noon Sunday, hitchhiking on a road in the area. He was identified by the deputy as one of the three men who disarmed him Saturday night.

ACROSS THE LINE

The Cooksey brothers managed to get across the county line into Mitchell County, fleeing in a truck from Standard Oil Company. They also apparently took supplies, such as peanut butter and crackers from a doghouse on an oil lease in that area.

Sheriff Bill McGuire has filed charges on the Cooksey brothers in Mitchell County for auto theft.

Sheriff Standard said that cooperative efforts of four sheriff's departments, along with two different state agencies led to arrest of the Cookseys.

An Unholy Mix

Just before he was executed for the murder of his uncle, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Prince Faisal Ibn Misaed confessed that he killed his uncle to put an end to the rule of Islam in Saudi Arabia. The motive is far most important to the future of the Arab world than most Arabs would acknowledge.

In 1903 one of the most perceptive of Egyptian writers, Farah Antun, warned the Arab world that states controlled by religion are weak. To mix religion with politics weakens religion itself because it is brought down into the mire of the arena, and religious interference in government inevitably leads to war, he added.

Mohammedanism has been a cross that the governments on the Middle East especially have borne with fortitude, John Laffin wrote in his recent book, "The Arab Mind."

"The important point is that only in Islam has the religious sanction of political power continued into the late twentieth century," Laffin wrote. "To separate church and state as a principle has little appeal in Islam. . . . The Arabs need a Mustapha Kemal (Kemal Ataturk), whose greatest achievement was to separate state and religion. Through his foresight and drive, the lot of the Turkish people vastly improved in two generations. And they found they did not need to renounce Islam to achieve this."

The situation is especially acute in Saudi Arabia. King Faisal was the spiritual protector of almost 500 million Moslems in 60 countries. He was the protector and keeper of Islam's holiest shrines, Mecca and Medina, to which 300,000 pilgrims go each year. The church and the state are inseparable in Saudi Arabia, it seems.

Many Arab intellectuals, especially those who have been educated in Western universities, are well aware of the incompatibility of mixing religion with government. The late Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt recognized the need for separating religion and the state, but even he despaired of persuading Mohammedans of that need. Many Arabs are no longer strict Mohammedans, but they remain a part of the community of Islam, a powerful, enduring relationship.

The West learned long ago that church and state must not be the same. The Crusades, perhaps as much as any other experience, taught them the futility of waging Christian warfare against Islam. The framers of our Constitution had a lively fear, fortunately, of mixing government and religion and forbade the establishment of religion by the state. In retrospect we can see that the decision to separate the two gave a firm foundation to the United States of America.

Outrage Should Be No Less

Reports out of Southeast Asia tend to fortify reports of bloody reprisals by the Communist forces, particularly those in Cambodia. Because of rigid censorship, it is difficult to get at the truth, but too many refugees are telling many stories that are too much alike to doubt that there has been some sort of massive purge if not program.

Every effort should be made to get at the truth and to make it known to the world. Just because Communists instead of reactionary Rightists are conducting the wanton reprisals doesn't make it any less offensive or any less wrong in the sight of the world. Our sense of outrage and indignation should not be one whit less now than when we were defending or aiding the Vietnamese, and to a lesser extent, the Cambodians.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I gave my life to help others, but have had nothing but worry. I raised an orphan, but now I'm alone and she doesn't even speak to me. How could God let this happen?

M. R.

This column often reports the feeling people have that if God were who He's supposed to be, conditions wouldn't be as they are. That overlooks the fact that God started our world beautifully. It was man who elected to spoil it through disobedience.

Now in your case, I'm sure you raised that child not because there was some guarantee of reward, but because of your love. Likewise with God. His love was lavished on a race of free-willed people. He had no guarantee of response either. John 3:16 says Christ came as a love gift to all of us.

God is grieved as you are over an apparently thankless child. But be glad over the investment of compassion and care you made. God will honor it somehow — even if not in your lifetime.

Love unrequited is a favorite theme of novelists. But only the Bible presents love which can't be crushed, cancelled, curtailed or condemned. Read I Corinthians 13 each day, followed by prayer for this girl. That'll help you to cope with her rejection.

New Moscow Base

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Eyewitness detail of the thriving and menacing Soviet naval facility at the Somali port of Berbera now available here leaves little doubt of Moscow's intention to make the new base its ace in the contest for control over the Indian Ocean's oil waterways.

SECRET EYEWITNESS accounts of the $100 million Soviet naval base are replete with details gathered by crews of merchant ships. These include the U.S.-owned, Greek-flag ship "Lord Byron," recently back in Greece after being detained in Berbera by the Somali government for 10 months.

The clear message they convey: delete or no delete, the Soviet Union now is building naval and supporting shore installations in Somalia that leave the U.S. no choice but to do the same on the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia. That is because Berbera is the focus of Soviet efforts to dominate the Indian Ocean and with it approaches to the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf, the world's two most vital waterways for oil.

DESPITE TIGHTLY controlled and severely limited access, even official delegations from the U.S. Congress are reporting Soviet activity at Berbera. Moscow, say these official reports, appears to be building a facility capable of storing and handling the ship-to-surface Styx missile along with other requirements for its growing Indian Ocean fleet — fuel, water, supplies, rest and rehabilitation for crews.

Eyewitness reports of frenzied efforts to conceal the Soviet presence during a visit to Berbera last month by an Arab League delegation shows extreme Somali sensitivities about the connection with Moscow.

ALL SOVIET ships were suddenly moved out over the horizon, with the single exception of the "barracks" ship, on permanent station, which houses some Russian personnel, supplies water and food to visiting Soviet naval vessels and is the center of Soviet activity. Before the Arab delegation arrived, the standard Soviet flag was hauled down from the barracks ship and a very small Soviet pennant run up in its place.

WESTERN SEAMEN reported that Somalis in Berbera were overjoyed, thinking the Soviets were moving out for good. As soon as the Arab delegation left, however, the sham ended. American diplomats believe it did not dispel Arab fears that Moscow is gaining far too much influence over Somalia. Shortly thereafter, the Arab League postponed a summit meeting scheduled for late June in Somalia.

Even more disturbing to anti-Soviet Arab states is the fact that the Somali strongman, President Siad Barre, imported Soviet KGB secret police to help him build his own state security system. That gives Moscow an inside track of potentially enormous importance within Somalia.

THE UNOFFICIAL reports are more revealing than anything seen by Congressmen. The Soviet facility now includes 20 three-story apartment buildings for permanent housing of Soviet naval officers and enlisted men and their families. Russian women and children are clearly visible during the daytime within the large Soviet compound.

Capacity Suspicion

NEW YORK (AP) — When the economy begins moving up out of the recession you'll be hearing a lot about capacity. Is there enough physical and human capacity in our system to permit an expansion?

The question is now being debated in professional circles and soon could become a rather popular subject of discussion generally, if any such economic topic can be so described.

The consequences are huge. If, as most studies seem to indicate, the economy is now operating at 10 per cent to more than 20 per cent below its capacity, then there is room for improvement. There is excess capacity to be utilized.

But, if the nation's current production is near its capacity to produce, as some economists suspect, then the outlook could be quite dismal. The First National City Bank comments on this possibility:

"Under such a scenario, bottlenecks, shortages and a rekindling of inflation would not only retard the recovery but could well result in a 'double-dip' recession — that is, a short-lived recovery followed by another slump."

First City economists are among the majority who believe there is sufficient capacity in our factories, farms and offices to permit a recovery without extremely negative consequences. But nobody can ignore the other possibility.

The doubts arise because of questions concerning the reliability of the various capacity surveys, including those done by the Commerce Department, the Federal Reserve Board and private organizations.

Skeptics claim that some companies still are operating very close to their capacity, despite the fact that business is off. If an upturn begins, they maintain, these companies won't be able to expand quickly enough. Some critics claim the high cost of installing pollution-control equipment has delayed corporate expansion plans. And, they add, environmental requirements and regulatory costs make some operations economically unfeasible.

The suspicion exists that some of this idle industrial capacity somehow is still being counted as usable when it should be written off. In being counted as potential capacity, it distorts studies.

There's another side to that argument, however. During recession, manufacturers sometimes fail to count as effective capacity certain plants and equipment that are only marginally efficient. But if a boom comes they make use of them.

Such observations tend therefore to undermine the confidence of some forecasters in the capacity surveys. Others tend to rely on the surveys but with their fingers crossed.

Rheumatic Fever Caution

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any way you can tell me and my husband how we can be of help with his younger brother. He is 23 and has rheumatic fever. He came down with it at the age of 18. It still bothers him. His doctor has put him on penicillin. I thought people with this were born with it. Is this true?

He has a hard time maintaining a job that requires physical activity, and after such activity his arms will start swelling and he is worn out. Is there any way we can be of help so he can lead a normal, happy life and be able to participate in sports, for example?

Mrs. K.H. This is a difficult problem. Much more information is needed. But I can offer some general thoughts. Rheumatic fever is caused by the streptococcus germ. Patients are not born with it — it is an "acquired" disease.

Usually there is an initial attack followed in some cases by such things as St. Vitus dance (chorea) and heart involvement. The latter occurs in about half of the cases, stemming either from the initial attack or from a subsequent one. You don't say whether there has been any heart involvement, but I can assume from your letter that there has been some.

This can affect the heart muscle proper or the lining of the valves, the latter referred to as rheumatic valvular heart disease. This can have an obvious and often lasting effect on the efficiency of heart action, and thus alter a person's lifestyle. And this, I presume, is your main concern at the moment.

Recurrent attacks can follow up with subsequent strep infections — of the throat, tonsils, or perhaps following dental extraction. Hence, in the future, prompt treatment will be required for such infections and steps taken to guard against them as much as possible.

You say the doctor has prescribed penicillin. This is a treatment of choice. Recurrent attacks can be forestalled with monthly injections of benzathine penicillin G. This must be continued for from two to three years at least, for life in some cases.

There is not much more you can do to help the young man beyond making him understand his condition and the need for careful attention to it. I presume his doctor has discussed this with him, but it may take constant reminding.

He may have to resign himself to a life of relative inactivity, depending on the degree of heart damage, and in this you can play a supportive role. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can body lice be transferred through use of bathroom facilities? I have been told the only way they can be gotten is through sexual contact, from bedding or by wearing the clothing of someone who has them.

Body lice confine themselves to the hairy parts of the body, and the most common sites are the genital areas and the head. They cling to the hair shafts and are difficult to dislodge. However, they can rub off onto clothing, headgear and bedclothes and survive long enough to be transferred. The toilet seat notion is popular but not correct. The lice would not forsake the natural body environment for one so inhospitable.

Incidentally, the lice problem has increased roughly 800 per cent in the past ten years.

Gather At The River

Around 'The Rim

Troy Bryant

After the picture show burned down, there wasn't much for us kids to do back home, the most popular pastime was "making the drag."

THE DRAG was roughly a rectangle beginning at the local drive-in restaurant and making a big square around town. For variation, we could also just cruise up and down Main Street, turning around at the drive-in and making a U-turn under the sign that said, "No U-Turns."

Those were simpler days, gas cost a quarter a gallon and Cokes were a nickel or dime so the average budget wouldn't wind up too cramped from a night of just making the drag, unless you went in for some of the other variations.

THE OLD HOME town was dry, of course, but it was located only eight miles from the Oklahoma border and all the beer you could buy. Sitting 10 feet across the bridge over the Red River was a little old shack, built on a six foot pile of old beer cans and bottles. Inside the shack, anyone with the money could get the beer, no matter how old.

It was a popular spot. The local law knew it, too. Officers patrolled the road with regularity and usually got a few "minor in possession" arrests to keep them occupied.

BUT THE smarter kids (I got this second hand) always found a way to the river using the back roads, and avoiding those flashing red lights. Those who actually went to the river regularly were a minority, however. Most kids just held that old Coke cup like it contained liquid gold, take a good ol' sip on it every once in a while, rolled their eyes, and acted very happy so everybody would think they had been to the river.

FOLKS WOULD even sprinkle the red dirt on their car, providing "evidence" that they were one of the "smart" ones who knew a secret way to the river.

If they really wanted to impress someone with their worldliness, there was always the clincher, the song.

"Shall we gather at the river," was the favorite "spirits" song, sung mostly when the singer was full of cherry Coke, his make-believe beer.

NEXT DAY at school, everybody would gather in groups, whispering, "Did you see Chester last night?"

"He was drunk on his . . ." "O! Chester would slink into class, 10 minutes late, with red eyes and a sick look on his face. He usually stayed up and read the dictionary by candlelight to make his eyes water and red, and he was a good sick actor."

Less than an hour later, though, he would "snap out of it," ready to show that he could hold his cherry Coke — pardon, beer.

News, Only If

The main test of news is whether or not it is out of the ordinary. Unfortunately most of the stories being printed these days are no longer surprising to anyone. In the dog days of summer, people wonder why the papers spend so much time on multinational company corruption, CIA wrongdoing, government wiretapping and congressional foot-dragging, since none of these events is news any more.

These are the stories that would be news if they ever happened.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger said today that the Soviets were dismantling missiles and there was no longer any reason for the United States to build new weapons systems. "The Pentagon has enough money for everything it needs and we are asking Congress to withhold any supplemental funds as it would only be a waste of money."

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Northrop Aviation announced a new contract with Saudi Arabia for the delivery of 100 F-5 fighter planes. Company officials said the Saudi Arabian military chose Northrop because it was the only company who did not try to bribe them with under-the-table "commissions."

A Saudi Arabian minister said, "Accepting bribes is against the Koran . . ."

HOUSTON, Tex. — The American Institute turned down an offer by the U.S. government to deregulate petroleum and gas. A spokesman said, "Most of our members are making tremendous profits as it is, and it would be unfair to the American people to take advantage of the energy crisis at this time. We believe the economic health of the country comes first, and, while we appreciate the government's concern that oil prices are too low, we'd rather see that there is enough fuel for everybody at prices the average person can afford."

MOBILE, Ala. — Gov. George Wallace told a group of foreign newspapermen that in his opinion the United States did the right thing when they fought the Germans and Japanese in World War II. "We had no choice," the governor said, "and I would hate to think what the world would be like today if Hitler and Tojo had won. Of course, we couldn't have done it alone. Thank God, the Russians were on our side."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Teddy Kennedy said today that he is a candidate for President in 1976. "All this talk about me not running is pure foolishness. The Democratic Party has a lot of good men, but I can't see myself supporting any of them. I'm the best man for the job, and I wish the press would stop saying I'm not interested in the Presidency as it's hurting my fundraising campaign."

NEW YORK CITY — Mayor Abe Beame called a press conference today to announce that New York City has a surplus of $2 billion. "I intend to use the money to beef up the police force and fire department as well as add extra days for garbage collection. I also intend to pay off the city's debt. I want New York to become the model for the rest of the country. Thanks to understanding municipal unions, this city has a balanced budget."

Letter To The Editor

DEARSIR: On behalf of the Big Spring-Howard County Bicentennial Commission we want to extend our sincere appreciation to the HERALD for publishing the special Bicentennial supplement on July 4. To have this excellent edition waiting on our doorsteps to be read leisurely before the day's events began, set the mood for an interesting Independence Day celebration of activities which kicked off the Bicentennial year.

County's history to the advertisers' support of the Bicentennial, this supplement is a great boost for what should be an exciting year which, hopefully, will help us to reaffirm and renew our allegiance to our country.

We would like to recognize our debt of gratitude to each member of the HERALD staff for their interests and efforts in putting out this tremendous Bicentennial edition.

Bond Bid Date Set

Bids for the $1,500,000 PE-coliseum building bond issue of Howard College will be opened Aug. 19 at the regular noon board meeting.

The board, in called session Thursday evening, instructed Carter Johnston, representing Rauscher-Pierce Co. of San Antonio, the college's fiscal agent in the bond matter, to proceed with the sale.

He would not hazard a guess as to interest range, but did say he was hopeful that 6 1/2 per cent projections would be an outside figure. Currently the bond market is fluctuating uncertainly from day to day.

The board agreed on a table of maturity which will make the last bonds payable in 1995.

None of the principle will be retired until the end of the fiscal year in 1983 in order to leave present amortization tables undisturbed.

Then starting in 1990, the bonds would be redeemable at par. A limitation of an interest variance of 1.5 per cent between top and bottom rates on coupons was established.

Also, it was stipulated by the board that there could be no more than six rate changes on the coupon after the base rate.

Johnston said he would seek at once to obtain a rating from Moody's, and was confident of at least an A figure, perhaps better.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. grain harvest should be so huge this year that retail food prices through late 1976 will increase at a slower rate than they have in the past two years, government officials say.

Less clear, however, was how much impact a possible large-scale purchase of U.S. corn and wheat by the Soviet Union would have at the supermarket checkout counter.

In a report Thursday, the Agriculture Department estimated the 1975 corn harvest at a record six billion-plus bushels, or 153.6 million tons, up 30 per cent from last year's weather-plagued output.

The wheat harvest is anticipated at nearly 2.2 billion bushels, or 59.5 million tons, 22 per cent higher than the record 1974 production.

The department's director of economics, Don Paarberg, said such bumper crops would "tend to dampen food prices through the late months of 1976," when another harvest would be ready.

The lower cost for livestock feed also would trigger larger output of meat, poultry and dairy products and consequent lower costs to the consumer next winter and through 1976, Paarberg said.

But he cautioned that there could be a temporary shortening of the meat supply if producers decide to take advantage of a huge corn crop and have animals fattened at feedlots rather than sending them to slaughter directly from the pasture, as many have been doing in the past year or so.

Paarberg said that overall the new estimates for corn and wheat mean that retail food prices may be held to an average gain of 6 to 8 per cent over the course of 1975.

By comparison, they had soared by 14.5 per cent in both 1973 and 1974.

Another Agriculture Department official, Deputy Assistant Secretary Richard E. Bell, said Russia has held "continuous discussions" in the last several days with major U.S. grain-exporting firms about buying up to 10 million tons of the wheat and corn crop.

But he said production should be so plentiful that it will be possible to "supply them (the Soviets) and still meet the demands of other buyers and domestic users" while increasing the nation's stockpile.

Bell said, however, that a large-scale wheat deal with the Soviets "will prevent the price from going down."

"We think it's very important for our farmers to get acceptable prices if we ask them to go for full production, which they have done this year."

No Bond Fixed

Doris L. Moten, 41, 409 N. Bell, is being held in Howard County Jail without bond pending a probation revocation hearing.

She was charged with selling alcoholic beverages without a license. Previously, she had been arrested on shoplifting complaints.

Europe of 25 per cent a year, told the silent, packed House of Commons there would be no increases for those earning more than $18,700 a year.

He rejected as "not realistic" a request from the trade unions for a general price freeze to accompany the pay curbs.

But he said plans to phase out subsidies that reduce the cost of food would be delayed.

The prime minister said he would try to keep basic price increases down to 10 per cent over the next year.

Appealing for support "to save our country," Wilson said: "If we do not in the next 12 months achieve a drastic reduction in the present disastrous rate of inflation, the British people will be engulfed in a general economic catastrophe of incalculable proportions."

Britain's 25 per cent inflation rate for the 12 months through May compared with a 9.5 per cent rate for the same period in the United States.

The pound sterling, which fell steadily in recent weeks as Britain's economic gloom deepened, rose a full cent to $2.21 today as the government's anti-inflation package was announced.

Wilson said his plan would be backed by a "full battery of weapons" including legal powers, but he stopped short of introducing legislation to impose criminal sanctions immediately. Political sources said this was probably due to conflict in the cabinet, where left-wingers are opposed to statutory wage restraints.

Pair Held In Store Burglary

David Stanley Ward, 21, and Richard Keith Adair, 21, both listing 405 W. 7th as their address, are in Howard County Jail today after Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena set bond at $10,000 each. They are charged with burglary.

The two allegedly burglarized Vernon's Liquor Store by breaking a front window and taking several items. Bond was first set at $1,500 each by City Judge John Coffee, but was changed after the two became suspects in several other burglaries.

Two Sides Of Cher Noted In Revealing Occurrences

Later, McIntosh became ill and Cher said she urged Moss to call a doctor, but Moss refused, saying it was "no big deal."

Another Average White Band musician, Alan Gorrie, also became ill, and police said Cher took him to her home and provided treatment that saved his life.

Cher and her former husband and singing partner Sonny Bono, 40, were long known to be antidrug within the rock music environment where drugs often flow freely.

Cher cited "irreconcilable differences" in filing for divorce from Gregg Allman, rock music composer and performer, whom she married three days after her divorce from Bono was finalized.

For nearly 11 years, Cher's personal and financial activities were supervised by Bono. Court action on custody of their daughter, Chastity, 6, and division of community property is still pending.

"I am trying to make my own decisions now after years of having had them made for me," Cher said Wednesday after moving to dissolve her marriage to Allman. "I am bound to make wrong ones from time to time, and this was one of those times."

Allman, 27, had said the divorce action was a misunderstanding and that it would not be completed. But Cher said Thursday, "I have not changed my mind. I am proceeding with the divorce."

Currently reported to be in seclusion in Southern California, Cher has postponed for two weeks the taping of the first episode of her hit CBS-TV variety show for fall.

Impeachment Vote Next Week?

AUSTIN (AP) — The House committee on the possible impeachment of District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo is in recess until Tuesday, when six witnesses are under subpoena to testify.

Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, said there was a "bare possibility" the committee will get down to voting late next week on articles of impeachment.

The committee had planned to hold an open session to hear testimony Thursday but recessed after Carrillo's lawyer, Arthur Mitchell of Austin, sent word he was out of town and would not be back until Tuesday.

Hale responded with a letter granting the delay and renewing the committee's request that Carrillo testify in his own defense.

Hale said Thursday it would be at least a week before the committee takes a vote on possible impeachment charges against Carrillo.

The committee staff worked Thursday on language for about half a dozen proposed articles of impeachment against Carrillo, who is accused of using Duval County employees and equipment for private purposes. He also has been accused of conspiring with ringer-banker Clinton Manges for removal from office of four trustees of the Benavides Independent School District.

The 11-member committee will vote on the articles after they are written in suitable legal language, Hale said.

In Edinburg, South Texas District Court Judge J. R. Alamia said Carrillo has been asked to resign by judges in his administrative district.

Judge Alamia, however, noted that the judges' request has no force or authority under the law.

Seven And Three Quarter Million Budget Proposed

A tentative school 1975-76 budget of $7,774,242 was approved by the Big Spring Independent School District board when it met Thursday night in the school administration building. The date for the public hearing was set at 5:15 p.m., August 11.
The budget is up $812,027 from last year primarily due to salary increases under state schedules. The board made final decisions on some items in the budget at its meeting Thursday evening going over the budget in detail in nearly 12 hours of workshopsessions.
The $3,200 for a new scoreboard at the football field was put back into the budget, so that funds would not have to be solicited from outside sources for the project. Also placed in the budget were three leased autos — for the assistant superintendent of business, assistant superintendent of instruction and personnel director — to replace the three car allowances. There was an estimated difference in cost of $571.

The board also decided to hire four qualified elementary physical education teachers to replace 11 aides. The net increase for this project will be $5,554. A $2,500 sound system for the high school gymnasium was also included.
A compensatory education program with $64,000 added for programs for educationally handicapped will come from state-designated funds.

TRAVEL FUNDS
A travel policy was approved for school personnel which coincides with the state travel policy for vocational personnel in the system. It includes 16 cents per mile for use of own vehicle. Prices were also established for intrastate travel, and per diems for lodging and meals.

NEW SAFETY AWARD POSTED
Ben Hitt, Postmaster Frank Hardesty

Post Office Inaugurates New Safe Driver Program

The U.S. Post Office here has launched a new safety program with the presentation of Safe Driver of the Month. Ben Hitt captured the inaugural honor.
A driver who takes his National Safety Council membership seriously, Hitt has a record of 15 years of accident-free driving.

His exposure hasn't been on a fixed pattern, either, for as relief carrier he runs five different routes each week.

Ben and his wife, Delores, reside at 3724 Adams with children Mandy, 15, and Mark 11. He has been a resident of Big Spring since 1950, is a graduate of Big Spring High School, and attended Howard College. He is an active member of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church where he is a deacon and trustee.

Hitt has been employed with the post office for 16 years, after serving three years in the Army with the first organized U.S. Missile Battalion, based at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

One of his hobbies is woodworking, but it goes farther than that. In actuality he has also done extensive remodeling to their home. Hitt enjoys oil painting, is a fan of all sports, especially the Howard College Hawks, and works with the National Little League Association as coach or manager the past three years.

Board Gives Permission But No Support For Trip

A large delegation of Choir Boosters appeared Thursday requesting Big Spring School Board approval for a trip to Europe in 1976 by the Meistersingers.

Charles Beil and Jack Bowers, director, were the main spokesmen with Bruce Wright and Leon Pettit also speaking in behalf of the choir.

Bowers, in discussing the trip said that the total funds needed will be $79,900, but they asked for none from the school district. He said that in 1973 when the choir took the trip that the publicity was not handled in the manner that it should have been.

"It was never published in the paper as to how the funds were all received. I never did release them, but would be glad to release them now," he said.

Roy Watkins, board president, asked at one point, "Would we be breaking faith with the community when you said less than three years ago that this was a once-in-a-lifetime thing?" Choir boosters assured him that it would not be the case.

Delnor Poss asked if the group could go as a community choir, but they requested that they be allowed to attend as a school organization.

The board voted to allow the group to attempt to raise funds for the trip, urging its members to use discretion in their methods of fund-raising.

Exam Policy Tightened

An examination exemption policy for the school under the quarter system was approved by the Big Spring School Board Thursday.

Attendance figures showed that seniors, after they were excused from the final examination last spring, dropped off drastically in attendance compared to the two previous six weeks.

This year, senior examinations will be required unless they fall under the policy of exemptions for all students.

A student to be exempt from final exams for any quarter (freshmen through senior) must have no more than three excused absences; must have no unexcused absences, must have no more than three tardies; must have a passing grade at exam time; and must be in good standing in the office of the principal.

Under these conditions, a student cutting assemblies, advisories and study hall periods would jeopardize his exemptions. Also, an exempt student getting into trouble, either on or off campus, would jeopardize his remaining exemptions.

A student whose serious illness results in his confinement in hospital or at home, for a period in excess of three consecutive days in any one quarter, may request administrative review of his eligibility.

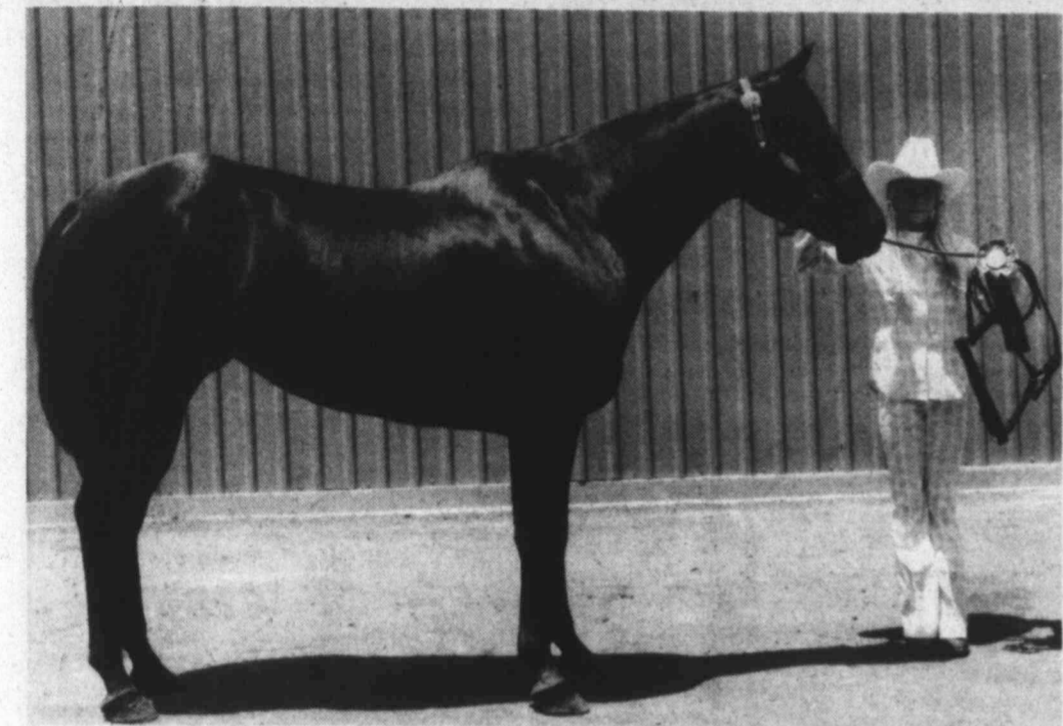

Attempt CAP Reorganization

Persons interested in the reorganization of the local chapter of the Civil Air Patrol are asked to attend a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Civil Defense Building.

According to Lt. David A. Bates, persons 13 and older who are interested are eligible to participate. Prospective members need not be pilots, because many other skills are needed according to Lt. Bates.

David Hall of Knott 4-H placed 11th in the registered gelding class. Dana Westbrook of Gayhill 4-H also participated in the district show.

Change In Vote Method Under Consideration

Big Spring Independent School District trustees Thursday evening began consideration of a proposal to elect trustees by pleads rather than at large.

The matter will be put on the agenda in January and discussed at that time.
Board members tabled action on using the Kate Morrison Building as a possible day care center until the next school year, since the facility will be used one more year for the Head Start program.

The board hired John Beasley from Abilene for the high school planetarium and science position, and Lee Dale Lowery of El Campo for high school distributive education.
Resignations approved included Mrs. Lena Davis, Boydston, retiring; Miss Susie Lynch, high school volleyball; Mrs. Sue Moore, Goliad, English, husband transferred; Miss Margie Newbrough, Airport; Robert Sadler, high school speech and drama; Mrs. Deborah Scofield, Goliad P.E., and David Verner, high school history, coach.

Four Spanish Air Force Jets Crash; Five Perish

MURCIA, Spain (AP) — Four Spanish air force jets collided today during a formation practice flight and plunged into the Mediterranean Sea, killing all five officers aboard, the Air Ministry announced.
The multiple collision occurred shortly after the Spanish-made Saeta type jets took off from the San Javier Air Academy on the outskirts of Murcia for the routine practice flight.

The victims included two majors, two captains and a lieutenant. One of the planes had a two-man crew.

The ministry said there was no immediate indication what caused the multiple collision, the worst ever in Spanish military aviation history.

MILK CONTRIBUTIONS: Trial 'Is Winding Down Of National Tragedy'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Stuart Russell's trial on charges he aided in illegal corporate contributions made by Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) "is the winding down of a national tragedy," Russell's lawyer says.

Wallace Duncan gave that summation in final arguments Thursday evening just before jurors began deliberations.

Russell, 58, is an Oklahoma City lawyer accused of making political contributions in federal elections or, advancing money to AMPI political operatives, then billing AMPI falsely to recoup his money.

Such contributions are against federal law. Assistant Special Watergate Prosecutor Thomas P. Ruane produced charts during arguments which detailed 21 transactions between AMPI and Russell's law firm which he said linked Russell to corporate contributions.

Ruane, a tall man with a topknot of red hair, said Russell knew money he gave went for political contributions and that Russell "was a major part of this conspiracy."

Duncan, the defense lawyer, pictured Russell as a minor figure "caught up in the great swath cut by the Special Watergate Prosecutor's Task Force."

Among the alleged violations was a $100,000 contribution given to Herbert Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal lawyer; three checks given to Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, during a 1970 reelection race; and a try at the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination; and a contribution to former Rep. Page Belcher, R-Okla.

Duncan said Russell admitted taking part in the AMPI advance-payback scheme but never knew the money went for illegal purposes.

The defense lawyer said Russell was told the money he gave would go to attorney's fees and expenses which AMPI management officials wanted to keep off internal company books.

Church Sets Anniversary

One year ago this week the congregations of the First United Pentecostal Church, 15th and Dixie Streets, and Calvary Tabernacle, 1010 West 4th, met in special business session to discuss possible merger.

By a unanimous vote the merger was approved with the Reverend M. J. Mullins being elected pastor and the consolidated effort retaining the name of the First United Pentecostal Church.

The Reverend Mullins came to Big Spring from the Youth Director position of Castle Hills Pentecostal Church in San Antonio. The past year has seen growth in both church roll and Sunday School with the church roll being doubled and the Sunday School being tripled in size.

The church is in the planning stages of building a new church building on the property owned on 16th street near the city water treatment facility.

Other notable accomplishments this past year were the purchase of parsonage property and building, the sale of two unused buildings for building fund capital, and street services held at the court house periodically.

THE PUPPETEERS — First Baptist Church in Midland will bring these puppeteers as part of the Children's Day program at First Baptist Church during the Sunday School hour. There will also be a children oriented program during the morning worship service. Children are the first emphasis in their "Seven Great Summer Sundays."

Movie Depicts Pre-War Days In Showing At Evangel Temple

"The Road to Armageddon," a dynamic full color movie depicting events foreshadowing the world war will be shown Sunday July 13 at 7 p.m. here in the Evangel Temple Assembly of God, located at 2205 Goliad in Big Spring.

David Wilkerson, author of the best selling book, "The Cross and the Switchblade," produced and directed this moving 45 minute narrative. David Wilkerson will personally appear in the film to describe five calamities coming to the world.

Wilkerson sees coming to the United States, "A terrible recession, a major earthquake, a flood of filth on TV, hatred against parents as the number one youth problem, and a persecution madness directed toward Christians."

This film will benefit the entire family regardless of church affiliation. Thousands have acclaimed this film to be the best prophetic film of our day. Don't miss this explosive new movie now in your area.

Pastor Terry Wilson gives the public a cordial invitation to attend. A nursery attendant will be on duty. Admission is free.

Anniversary Is Revival Event

July 15th through 20th will be the dates of the Anniversary Revival Services for the congregation of the First United Pentecostal Church.

The Reverend William H. Dean, prolific soul-winning pastor of Killeen's First United Pentecostal Church is scheduled to be the speaker. In his nine years as pastor in Killeen, the Reverend Dean has seen "hundreds of young, homesick, drug-scarred military men from nearby Fort Hood find a satisfying spiritual experience in his church."

Stressing evangelistic, soul-stirring preaching, Reverend Dean has built a spiritually strong, hard working church. Service time will be 7:30 p.m. each night except Sunday when service will begin at 7 p.m. A special Sunday School drive for Sunday morning, July 20, is planned with expectations of exceeding the church's record attendance.

Pastor M. J. Mullins extends a cordial invitation to all interested citizens of Big Spring to be in service each night. Information and rules may be obtained by calling 263-7714 or 263-0615.

confused? . . . stirred? . . . searching?

come see us . . . let it begin to happen in your life!

Nurturing Faith Is Often Omitted In Today's Church

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of church scholars, analyzing why church membership and participation have slumped during the past decade, say it often is because churches have not concentrated on their prime task: nurturing faith.

They've tended to stress working for social betterment rather than on instilling religious premises for it, according to several of the experts. They say such efforts are fine, but don't basically energize church life.

The first essential to church vitality is the job of bolstering convictions, devotion and a steady perspective on reality, the theologians and sociologists say, with social action derived from that prior function.

If churches simply join secular forces in good causes, such as struggles for social justice, without fueling the religious roots of it, the church is "committing institutional suicide," says the Rev. John Neuhaus of Brooklyn, a Lutheran. He says the health of the churches requires that they be "distinctive enough to warrant real gut commitment" by deepening awareness of ultimate values and purpose. Without that, he says, churches lose their vitalizing core.

They also are "denying the world the distinctive perception and resources of the Christian community," he says.

He and the other church thinkers, participating in a recent conference sponsored here by the United Church of Christ on problems of church growth, all are advocates of applying religious principles in action to improve social conditions.

But they noted a balancing trend in mainline denominations — those which have been most active on social issues and whose membership has sagged to restore more emphasis on the rudimentary task of nourishing of basic concepts and principles.

Dr. Paul Harrison, a Baptist and professor of religious studies at Penn State University, says the "first purpose of the church is worship," which means developing a "relationship with the external" as a basis for viewing secondary issues.

However, he says the drama of worship has been "lost in the modern world," and with that "dramatic enactment of religion being lost, the heart of religion has been eclipsed."

"When the black folk walk into the white church they say, 'You don't have anything going here,'" he observed. "And I think they're right."

Local Trio To Island

The Rev. Steve Birdwell, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, his wife, Etienne, and Ann Caton will leave Monday to participate in a two-week mission project on the island of Barbados.

Rev. Birdwell will be second in command of a group of 12 young people from the Louisiana, North Texas and West Texas dioceses. They will be organizing and conducting Vacation Bible Schools on the former British protectorate, which is one of the most densely populated countries in the world.

Young people and staff members will be domiciled with native families. Next year Rev. Birdwell will be in charge of the project in which the Northwest Texas diocese has been active for the past three years and others before that. The party will spend two days in training at New Orleans and they fly to Barbados.

Gospel Musical Slated

The first annual Gospel Musical will be held in the City Auditorium on July 26.

It will be sponsored locally by the Youth Department of the Church of God in Christ.

Around 200 individuals in gospel singing groups from around the area will take part in the program, according to Joe Baucham, local chairman.

The group will arrive on July 25 for a mass rehearsal at the auditorium, according to Baucham.

The public will be invited to attend the event. Names of some of the participating groups will be announced in the near future.

Groups Heard

Three church groups were popular attractions at the Gospel Sing float in Comanche Trail Park on July 4th. Included were Crestview Baptist, Evangel Temple, and East Fourth Baptist. In all, some three dozen singers and musicians took part. The float was provided and decorated by Sig Rogers, who devoted two days to preparing for the Independence Day feature. The float also served as headquarters for announcing the bike races.

Crestview Hosts Event

Crestview Baptist Church had a large crowd at their God and Country weekend revival with the Rev. Pat Bullock from Alpine doing the preaching.

In keeping with the Fourth of July, the church stressed freedom of religion and "how God has sustained us the last 199 years." They held an old fashioned Sunday and wore old fashioned clothes and had dinner on the ground in the old tradition.

Many of us grew up with pictures of caravans crossing the sands of the Sahara. Those in the West know that the desert has many faces. One of our common mistakes in life is to assume that trees make a forest, flowers a garden, clothes a man... that appearances promise reality. One of the invaluable influences of Christianity upon society has been its distinction between the facade and the truth. Christ taught that men must be known by their faith. Lack of spiritual concern is the surest way to make the world a desert of trees... a society of people without a sense of responsibility. Wastelands cry out for reclamation. The Church Christ founded is reclaiming our society for Him. You need its Message.

Dear Abby

Wife Rations To Hubby; He's Starved For Love

DEAR ABBY: After 26 years of a fairly good marriage with three self-sufficient children and a paid-for home, my wife and I sleep back to back — like two fireplug logs.

She rations her love as a "reward" for favors and withholds it as "punishment." And when it's given, which is seldom, it with very little enthusiasm (an understatement).

After nearly a year of this treatment, I'm considering breaking my flawless record of a faithful marriage to seek attention elsewhere.

I don't see much difference between a wife who trades her love for personal gain and a lady of the evening who sells her favors for money. I consider myself a darn good husband. Time is running out.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: You're confusing sex with love. Love is a gift, not an obligation. Sex can be obtained at a price. Love cannot.

If you haven't discussed the state of your marriage with your wife, it's time you did. If you both want a better marriage, I recommend counseling. But if you're asking me for the green light to pursue the red light, I'm negative.

DEAR ABBY: I have written a letter to a very dear friend of mine, and my problem is I haven't the courage to send it. If you publish it, I am sure my friend will see it.

Here it is: My dear, dear friend: How else can I say it? You make me sick! No matter how I try to avoid the smoke of your cigarette, it's there, irritating my eyes, my sinuses, and getting into my lungs.

After a few hours with you, I'm literally ill. Sometimes when you blow your smoke directly at me, I turn my head or try to "fan" it away with my hand. You offer a small apology and move your cigarette — but you never put it out!

Of course, my problem is that I am a coward. I like you too much to tell you to your face that you are selfish. I don't want to hurt your feelings, yet you go on hurting mine.

Do you know that your breath is always bad? And no amount of perfume can mask the smell of stale smoke that's constantly on your hands, clothing and hair.

I love your company. Your sense of humor is priceless, and you've demonstrated your friendship to me many times. Yet, my doctor has told me I must avoid you. Can you believe it? Your smoking is making me ill. I miss you.

"SMOKED OUT" DEAR ABBY: I recently received an invitation to a golden wedding celebration. At the bottom was printed: "Your presence — not presents — is requested." Wasn't that a lovely way to say, "No gifts, please"?

MRS. J.G. DEAR MRS. G.: Yes. Thanks for sharing.

Craig A. Peerys Will Make Home In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. Craig A. Peery are honeymooning in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, following their wedding July 5 in the First Baptist Church, Carrollton. Upon returning, the couple will reside in Dallas where he is employed by Southwest Airlines, and she works for Vinson Supply Company. Both are graduates of R. L. Turner High School, and Peery will be a third-year student at the University of Texas in the fall.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Messenger of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Peery, 3606 Calvin. Prior to the wedding, the Peerys hosted a rehearsal dinner in the Holiday Inn at Carrollton.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wayne Allen, with music by Miss Debbie Thompson, organist, and Dick Davis, the latter of Corsicana, vocalist. The altar setting was enhanced with candelabra and baskets of green spider mums, yellow gladioli and white daisies.

Carrying a bouquet of ivory roses, carnations and daisy mums, the bride was attired in an ivory satin empire gown trimmed with reemphasized Alencon lace and sprinkled with pearls. The bodice was designed with pleated yoke, and a ruffle of Brussels embroidery encircled the high neckline. The bishop sleeves were trimmed with matching lace, and buttoned cuffs ended with a ruffle. A caplet of lace and pearls held her cathedral-length veil of illusion.

ATTENDANTS Miss Dee Ann Messenger, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Peery, Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Linda Greenwood, Del City, Okla.; Miss Carol Franklin, Amarillo; and Miss Kay Newman, Miss Messenger's gown of maize yellow featured a deep yoke of ivory lace finished with a lace ruffle. The other attendants wore identically-styled dresses in mint green.

Kent Fortner, San Antonio, was best man, and groomsmen were Mark Chavez and Leslie Cunningham, both of Del City; Mike Kelly, Dallas; and Kent Peyton, Bob Vail of Plano and Stephen Matthews, Arlington, were the ushers, while Craig Matthews, Ada, Okla.; was the ring bearer.

The two flower girls, Xan James and Nikki Orr, the latter of Dallas, wore yellow dotted Swiss dresses.

RECEPTION The bridegroom's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vail, 6910 Gateridge, held the reception in their home, with Mrs. Steve Matthews, Arlington, registering the guests.

Refreshments were served by Miss Linda Rhome, Miss Grisel Infante and Miss Mary Cantrell from tables covered with yellow satin. Centerpieces were of greer carnations, yellow spider mums, daisy mums and gypsophila.

Out-of-town relatives attending included the bride's grandparents, Mrs. George Messenger, Canyon, and Mr. and Mrs. George Sumner of Dallas; and the bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Agnes Peery, Lindale, and Mrs. Lennie Matthews, Ada.

Board Told Funds Not Available

Hopes for the establishment of a day care center on the north side of Big Spring were dashed when Fields Jackson of the Department of Public Welfare, Austin, met Tuesday evening with the Westside Community Center board and other interested persons.

According to Mrs. John Hogan, board member, Jackson informed the group that such a day care center cannot be financed by state welfare funds at this time. He added that with the present financial situation, the policy is to maintain all welfare programs that are established but to curtail new ones.

Joe Dawes, board president, led discussions concerning summer activities at the Westside Center. Richard Acuna, Boy Scout leader for the center, reported on the troop's recent trip to Fort Davis, and Julian Patterson, day care chairman announced that two small evaporative coolers were purchased and have been installed at that facility. The Westside Center's float in the rodeo parade took first place and a prize of $100. The float construction was supervised by Miss Jamie Chavez.

The next regular board meeting will be held Aug. 12.

Miss Madry Is Honored

Miss Vonda Madry, who will be married to Steven Lockhart Aug. 1, was the honoree at a pre-nuptial gift shower Monday evening in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. She was presented a floral corsage in deep pink, and lighter pink corsages went to her mother, Mrs. Gene Madry, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Tom Lockhart.

Guests were served refreshments from a table covered with white lace over pink linen and appointed with crystal and silver. A decorated cake served as the centerpiece.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. Ireland McCormick, Mrs. Steve Ray, Mrs. Chuck Ogle, Mrs. Don Cunningham, Mrs. Don Templeton, Miss Kathy Fryar, Mrs. Donald Webb and Mrs. Bonnie Fleener.

Miss Madry and Lockhart will exchange vows in a ceremony held in the home of her parents.

Fried Rice

Home economists suggest serving fried rice with meat as a side dish instead of yet more potatoes.

SECTION B: BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1975

Rains Hard On Water Demands

Those late Spring and early Summer rains are great on lawns but rough on the demand curve for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Deliveries of water during June fell off 27.27 per cent for the cities, and even with oil company demands figured in, the loss was still 20.90 per cent.

For the first half of 1975, the district is running 16.68 per cent behind the comparable period of last year, when new records were set. The total for the six months was 8,928,342,684 gallons, about 1.787 billion gallons under last year.

The municipal demand for June was 1,353,370,000 compared with 1,860,722,000 for the same month last year. For the first half cities have required 5,656,792,000 gallons, whereas the first half of 1974 accounted for 6,948,474,000 gallons.

Total mining (oil) and industrial use for June was 552,149,384 gallons up slightly from the 548,327,060 in June 1974. For the year to date these users have taken 3,271,550,684 gallons compared with 3,767,398,062 last year.

June delivery to the cities showed:

- Odessa 579,167,000, down 7.70 per cent; Big Spring 291,487,000, down 27.21; Snyder 94,962,000, down 13.74; Stanton 13,337,000, down 2.49; Midland 374,427,000, down 12.84 San Angelo, which used 267,427,000 gallons in June last year and Robert Lee which used 12,053,000 gallons did not take any this June.

To Sign $10.3 Million Magnet Plan For Schools

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Independent School District attorneys say U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel will sign the school district's $10.3 million magnet plan for desegregation of public schools today.

After almost five hours of discussion on the controversial plan Thursday, Noel ordered the attorneys to re-draft their proposal and present it to him when today's hearing continued.

William Wilde, chief school attorney, said Noel's order to re-draft the original proposal is clear indication of his intent to sign the order.

The magnet school plan calls for unusual academic offerings to be placed in 31 schools this fall and 11 next year. The plan will replace the pairing at 22 elementary schools.

Wilde said the HISD plan will place unique emphasis on education.

"The emphasis is on education and the process is to increase integration and decrease the number of one-race schools," Wilde said.

Wilde said the HISD is one of the few school districts to come forward with initiative to present a plan. "There are no models of experience to go by," Wilde said. "There's not another one like this."

School officials already have started a program to recruit students for the special programs in the magnet plan.

As many as 75,000 students are expected to participate in programs from special art academies, literary centers and from entire schools that will be re-directed to fundamental schools.

The goal is to encourage students to cross neighborhood lines and increase integration.

School attorneys made two major concessions in presenting the plan to Noel. They include an open enrollment period to continue through the entire fall semester and no deadline on free transportation provided through the first semester.

Deadlines were originally established.

City Hall Straw Vote Is Planned

STANTON — Residents here will have a chance to voice their opinion on whether to build a new city hall or remodel the present structure.

A public opinion poll is being conducted at the request of the city council. The council was presented a plan for building a new city hall last week by John Gary, Big Spring architect.

An estimated remodeling cost was set at between $28,000 and $30,000 with $34,000 set as a possible cost of a new structure.

'WE'RE ASKING FOR AID' Water Shortage On One Side Of Town

COLLEYVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Colleyville has a water shortage, but only one side of the town knows it, the mayor says.

The water system, acquired March 1, does not effectively pump water uphill from the town's south side to its north, said Mayor Johnny Andrews.

"So we've got people on one side of town who don't even know there's a water shortage," he said. Colleyville buys water from a neighboring community for the south side.

The water shortage, a six-year-old problem aggravated by the town's steady growth and lack of a water system until recently, worsened this summer when 1 1/2 billion gallons of water were drained from the principal storage tank.

Andrews said the tank needed repairs.

This community northeast of Fort Worth is limiting water to domestic use, probably for the entire summer. Uncooperative residents face fines up to $100 a day.

"So far they've cooperated, and turned it off. But they call and fuss about it. And others call and fuss about the shortage, so it balances out," Andrews said.

A water shortage was expected in September, but draining the storage tank and increased lawn watering after recent rains hastened the shortage, he said.

The city began filling up the principal tank Monday, trying to establish a reserve. The city is also replacing old equipment, installing new pumps and rerouting an undersized water main to improve the water system's efficiency.

"We're asking for aid. We want all our friends and neighbors to bring water whenever they visit," Andrews added.

The Concho Cycle Club of San Angelo will host a cross-country race Sunday at the O.C. Fisher reservoir, formerly North Concho Lake, north of the city.

Registration is set for 10:30 a.m. at the spillway, according to Keith Wiggins, chairman. Riders are to meet at 1:30 p.m., with races starting at 2 p.m.

Entries will be divided into four classes: 0-12cc; 126-249cc; 250-349cc; and 350 and over. Three trophies will be awarded to the top finishers of each class. Entry fee is $4.

BOSTON'S LEAD WIDENS Rangers Fall In Ninth, 8-7

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Tigers have certainly had their ups and downs this season. Right now, they're up.
The Tigers, who couldn't win a game for the longest time, now can't lose and Thursday night defeated the Kansas City Royals 3-2 for their ninth straight victory.

Richardson Is Selected

The Stanton Independent School District board of trustees voted unanimously Thursday night as recommended by Russell McMeans, superintendent, to elevate Bob Richardson to head high school football coach and athletic director.

Richardson, Buffalo head track coach and varsity assistant football coordinator, replaces Bill Young who resigned to become junior high principal.

The board also approved two other high school athletic appointments. Bill Sears of Midland was named Stanton High's head basketball coach and Floresville's Bob Denison to fill Richardson's past role.

Sears takes over for Jim Williams, who resigned. The high school girls basketball position is yet to be filled. Linda Dudley who held that capacity has resigned.

But in the bottom of the ninth, Denny Doyle drilled a two-out single to left off Gaylor Perry, 7-14. Doyle took second on a passed ball by Ron Pruitt and scored when Cooper singled to left.

Spec Fired

HOUSTON (AP) — Spec Richardson, general manager of the Houston Astros for the past eight years, has been swallowed up by one of a series of tremors rumbling through the Astros organization that Judge Roy Hofheinz built.

Sidney L. Shlenker, appointed Wednesday night as president of the Houston Sports Association (HSA) which owns the Astros, called a news conference Thursday afternoon to fire Richardson, a focal point of fan criticism this season.

Shlenker told the hastily called news conference that firing Richardson was a difficult decision "but recent poor team results caused such action to be necessary."

The decision to fire Richardson was another move in the HSA's reorganizational plans in recent weeks.

A recent reorganization of HSA's board of directors reduced the number of board members from nine to three, including Hofheinz, Shlenker and T. H. Neyland, who is president of Astrodomain, HSA's parent company.

Hofheinz remains as president of the board of directors but has only one vote in policy decisions.

Richardson, a strong ally of Hofheinz throughout his years with the Astros, carefully thanked Hofheinz and everyone in the organization for their help during his tenure as general manager.

"I think the Judge has done so much for the city and I don't think he's received the credit he deserves and I hope that he will receive it soon," Richardson said in an emotional statement.

Richardson was criticized mainly for his handling of trades that failed to help the Astros during his years as general manager.

One of Richardson's most criticized trades came in 1972 when he traded second baseman Joe Morgan, pitcher Jack Billingham, outfielder Cesar Geronimo, infielder Denis Menke and outfielder Ed Armbrister to Cincinnati for first baseman Lee May, second baseman Tommy Helms and outfielder Jimmy Stewart.

Open Meet Finals Set

DALLAS (AP) — Carol Bragdon of Richardson and Sandy Yount of Plano meet today in the finals of open division of the Texas State Junior Girls Championship at Forest Oaks Country Club.

Miss Bragdon, the 17-year-old medalist advanced to the finals Thursday with a victory over Leilani Smith of Laredo 4 and 3. Miss Yount gained her berth beating Peggy Gustafson of Brenham one up.

Rae Rothfelder of Fort Worth got past Mary Ann Crow of Dallas 3 and 2, and Lori Brock of Dallas won over Nikki Murphy of Bedford 2 and 1 in semifinals matches in the sub-junior division.

In the intermediate division, medalist Sheila Oldfield of Bastrop beat Jennifer O'Neill of Conroe 4 and 2, and Marci Bozarth of Lampasas defeated Cindy Phillips of Sugar Land 3 and 2.

Amy Norman of Conroe will play Elizabeth Ornelas of Austin for the championship in the midjet division.

GREEN STUDY — David Huish of Scotland studies the green during the second round of the British Open Golf championship at Carnoustie, Scotland, Thursday. Huish shot a five-under-par 67 for a two-stroke lead at 136.

BRITISH OPEN Unknown Scot Leads By Two

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — There are more than a few differences between a weekend golfer and a top tournament professional. One of them is that the pro likes a course to be tough enough to challenge him.

And that is what Carnoustie, the sprawling 7,065-yard, par-72 course on the edge of the North Sea has not done to the 1975 British Open players.

After the first two rounds, the field of 153 is led by David Huish, a tough, dour, unknown Scot who followed his first-round 69 with what would have been a course-record 67 in Thursday's second round.

That put him at 136, eight under par and two strokes ahead of Tom Watson of Kansas City, Mo., Britain's Peter Oosterhuis — the first-round leader — and South Africans Andries Oosthuizen and Bobby Cole.

Carnoustie, described by former U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin as a "sleeping giant," was still sleeping as the second round finished, and after rain had broken a five-week drought it was playing quietly. In fact, Ben Hogan's 22-year-old course record of 68 was broken by five players.

Cole's 66 is the new course record and it put him into strong contention. But he is two strokes back of Huish, 31, a teaching Scottish pro who delighted his countrymen in the gallery of 16,000. The last Scottish-born player to win this crowd was Tommy Armour in 1931, and by then he was a U.S. citizen.

Rookie Shines

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Rookie Howard Twitty Jr., his surprising one-stroke lead today in the second round of the $75,000 Quad Cities Open.

Twitty today in the second round of the $75,000 Quad Cities Open. "It was just one of those things," said Twitty of his gritty five-under-par 66 Thursday.

His unexpected finish took some of the luster away from tour veterans Terry Dill, Dave Eichelberger, Frank Beard, Sam Snead and defending champion Dave Stockton.

Dill and Eichelberger were tied for second with a pair of 67s, one stroke more than Twitty.

Beard was alone at 68, while Stockton and the 63-year-old Snead were among four at 69.

"I plan to play as well as I can," the 6-foot-5 Twitty promised. "If that isn't good enough, then I'll just try again next time."

The 72-hole tournament is the first Professional Golfers Association competition for the mustachioed Twitty, 26, who joined the tour after getting his pro card in the 1975 spring qualifying school. He covered the 6,305-yard par 71 Oakwood Country Club course in 34-32. His back-nine finish was the second best of the day, topped only by Stockton's 31. Twitty fashioned a 73 in Monday's qualifying round.

WHEN CRAIG PUTS HIS MIND TO IT Strolls Over Bed Of Hot Coals Without Wince

DALLAS (AP) — When Vernon Craig puts his mind to it, he can stroll barefooted and serenely across a bed of red hot coals without a blister or a wince to show for it.

"But under normal circumstances," he confesses, "I can burn my fingers on a hot pan as quickly as anybody."

Craig, who spends most of his time as the happily married father of three teenagers and assistant manager of a Wilmot, Ohio, cheese factory, holds the world's record for the hottest fire walk. As "Komar," he has subjected his feet to temperatures as hot as 1,440 degrees.

In town to participate in the Fourth International Festival of Yoga and Esoteric Science, Craig attributes his endurance to deep concentration and a certain inexplicable "feeling I get in my head."

"I really can't describe it," he said. "My daughter puts it best. Whenever anyone asks her about what I do, she just shakes her head and says 'Weird. Really weird." The festival was organized by Dr. Douglas Baker, a London physician, who said he grew up among Hindus and Zulus in Africa who performed firewalks.

"I became a doctor to understand these things. And after working in the field for 25 years, I've found there are scientific explanations."

Craig recalled he began to develop his mysterious ability as a youngster after reading a book about Hindu and yoga sciences. Twenty years later, when called on to talk about his experiences with the mentally retarded through the Kennedy Special Olympics, Craig said he could tell his audience was "listening, but not really hearing a word I said."

That's when Craig laid down on a bed of nails to make his point.

"I did it cold turkey. I don't know how, but I knew I could do it."

In addition to projecting himself into a "delta" (or almost comatose) state of consciousness so he can bear the excruciating pain, Craig said he can heal whatever wounds he might suffer "almost immediately."

"At Carnegie Hall, I had 1,200 pounds of bar bells placed on top of me while I was on a bed of nails. There were punctures, but they healed within about 15 minutes."

Craig has been studied by some of this country's scientists, most notably those at Kent State University, who are trying to discover his secret.

"They had me in the physics lab at Kent State trying to bend laser beams with my mind."

Did it work? "Well, the results were kind of negative, but they want me to come back for some more tests."

And Craig says he enjoys working with the scientists, because he really has no explanation for what he does, either.

"I'm a scientist at heart, so the scientists love me because I don't talk like I have my head in the clouds. I'm interested in trying to understand man, just as they are."

Occasionally, his concentration breaks, as it did

Wednesday night while he was taking a 20-foot hike over coals.

"Somebody popped a flash bulb when I was within three feet of the finish. I could sense I was losing concentration, so I just stepped out of the coals. I got a blister the size of a pinhead, but it's gone now."

But when he lies on nails, Craig says, "People can talk to me, I can talk to them, joke with them, laugh, anything. I'm a regular comedian."

Dr. Baker's esoteric sciences festival includes sections on Kirlean photography (a picture of an aura or halo around objects as measures of their life forces); the influence of humans on plants; reincarnation; and acupuncture. But so far, Dr. Baker said, despite the scientific approach to these phenomena, area scientists and physicians have demonstrated little interest.

Two Sons Of H. L. Hunt To Contest Wiretap Raps

LUBBOCK (AP) — Attorneys for Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt go to federal court again today to contest federal wiretapping charges against the two sons of the late Dallas billionaire H. L. Hunt.

The charges against the Hunts stem from a lengthy, five-year investigation involving the alleged wiretapping by the two Hunt brothers of the telephones of H. L. Hunt aides.

The two brothers are charged with hiring private investigators to tap the phones of several former Hunt aides and the elder Hunt's secretary and nephew. Their trial is set for Sept. 15 in Lubbock.

The Hunt attorneys were expected to file motions to overthrow the wiretapping charges.

The Hunts contend that illegal wiretap evidence was presented to the federal grand jury which indicted them in 1973. The evidence includes two taped conversations between the Hunts and investigators they hired.

In addition, they claim the government has selectively prosecuted them while not charging others.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward will hear an assortment of defense motions in preparation for a Sept. 15 trial.

The Hunts have contended they hired investigators to conduct a legal investigation to discover the source and reasons for large losses of money at one of their father's companies.

The elder Hunt died Nov. 24, 1974 and the tapes were discovered when neighbors of Hunt aide Paul M. Rothermel Jr. in Richardson became suspicious of a number of strange cars parked for long periods of time near their homes.

Police made arrests after a brief investigation.

Two private investigators were convicted and served prison terms for tapping the phones.

One motion Woodward is to hear Friday asks the court to order the government to disclose any Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) activity surrounding the wiretap case and the Hunt family.

Aside from its CIA motion the defense has also filed a motion to have the government make a full and proper search to determine if any of 22 federal agencies conducted any wiretap activity against the Hunts.

Fate Of 'Blue Boxes' Pro In Hands Of Jury

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Houston electronics expert J.L. Patterson manufactured a device which was "the key to the long distance toll system" of the telephone company, Asst. U.S. Atty. Wayne Speck says.

Speck gave that final argument Thursday afternoon shortly before Patterson's fate was put in the hands of an eight-man, four-woman federal court jury. After deliberating an hour they recessed until this morning.

Patterson, 42, is accused of possessing blue boxes with intent to defraud the telephone company. Blue boxes are electronic devices which emit tone signals to let phone calls circumvent long distance telephone billing computers.

Patterson was arrested in downtown San Antonio last November after meeting with a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. security agent working under cover.

The agent said Patterson wanted to sell one of the blue boxes for $3,000.

Defense lawyer Joe

Doucette of Houston said that Patterson built the devices for legal purposes such as opening garage doors, turning on and off electrical appliances and security applications.

Prosecutor Speck said the first question Patterson asked when he met the undercover phone company agent was "how much is your phone bill?"

Speck added that it would be silly to charge $3,000 for a device designed to open doors and turn on appliances. "The value to the customer, ladies and gentlemen, is to make telephone calls."

He noted also that Patterson's device could perform all the functions of a blue box.

"If it looks like a duck; if it waddles like a duck; if it quacks like a duck, you can pretty well figure it is a duck," Speck said.

However, Patterson's lawyers called two defense witnesses Wednesday, both of whom testified that Patterson built the device with no intent to defraud the telephone company.
