BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, JULY 2, 1926

NUMBER 45

Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS

By the Secretary

First Monday, July 5th will be observed by Brownfield and its trade territory as a holiday instead of a Tradesday, and while the business houses will be closed from ten o'clock in the morning until afternoon, they will reopen early enough to allow people to secure their needed supplies.

Arrangements are being made to stage a parade, flag raisings and other forms of entertainment in the way of ball games and foot races, with an old fiddler's contest and band concert in the afternoon. Candidates will also be allowed to expound their views on the best way to save their country, and in fact a day full of entertainment will be provided.

Last week we visited the Johnson community and was greeted by a large crowd and a fine luncheon, and the people out there certainly did play their part, but our crowd fell down on the job to a large extent, which we hope will be avoided in the future.

We are to visit our neighbor city, Meadow this Thursday night, and have been assured of a good attendance, and hope that our crowd will arrange to make a good showing.

Our monthly luncheon was pulled off at the Baptist church this week, and it was certainly excellently served, and much enjoyed by those present, but was chiefly notable by the unexplained absence of a majority of our business men, and had it not been for the presence of a number of ladies the affair would have been a "joke," as not more than one fourth of the business firms of the town were represented.

These luncheons are staged for the purpose of getting better acquainted with each other, and discussing problems for the development of our section and they lose a large part of their value, when not attended by at least a majority of our people.

The next luncheon will be held on the 19th of July and all should arrange to attend it as it may be the last one of the year, and we are going to have something extra in the way of entertainment.

On July 8th, our community trip will be made to Pleasant Valley and advance information says that they will have a good crowd to meet us, and on the 15th we will visit Midway which is located in the southeast part of the county, and one of the most prosperous districts in our territory. Don't forget either of them. We have about twelve more districts to cover before fall months, and it may become necessary to make two trips each week in order to get over the county, but they must all be made.

Our Boy Scouts are attending the dedication ceremonies of the Scout Park recently acquired by gift of the C. W. Post heirs, but from all indications are not accompanied by many of our citizens.

These boys should be encouraged in this work as their lives are very largely influenced through its teachings.

The Police Commissioner of the city of Philadelphia has stated that out of 100,000 criminals persecuted and convicted, that were in the South age, not one of them had ever been a member of the organization and that no Boy Scout had ever been placed under arrest for violation of law in his city.

"As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."
Don't fail to attend the celebration July 5th.

CHRISTIAN MEETING UNDER WAY AT TABERNACLE

The Christian church meeting is now in progress. Evangelist Sam P. Jones and wife ask the co-operation of the town as well as the church people. The Junior choir under the direction of Mrs. Jones will be one of the features of the meeting. All singers and musicians are invited to help with the music of the meeting.

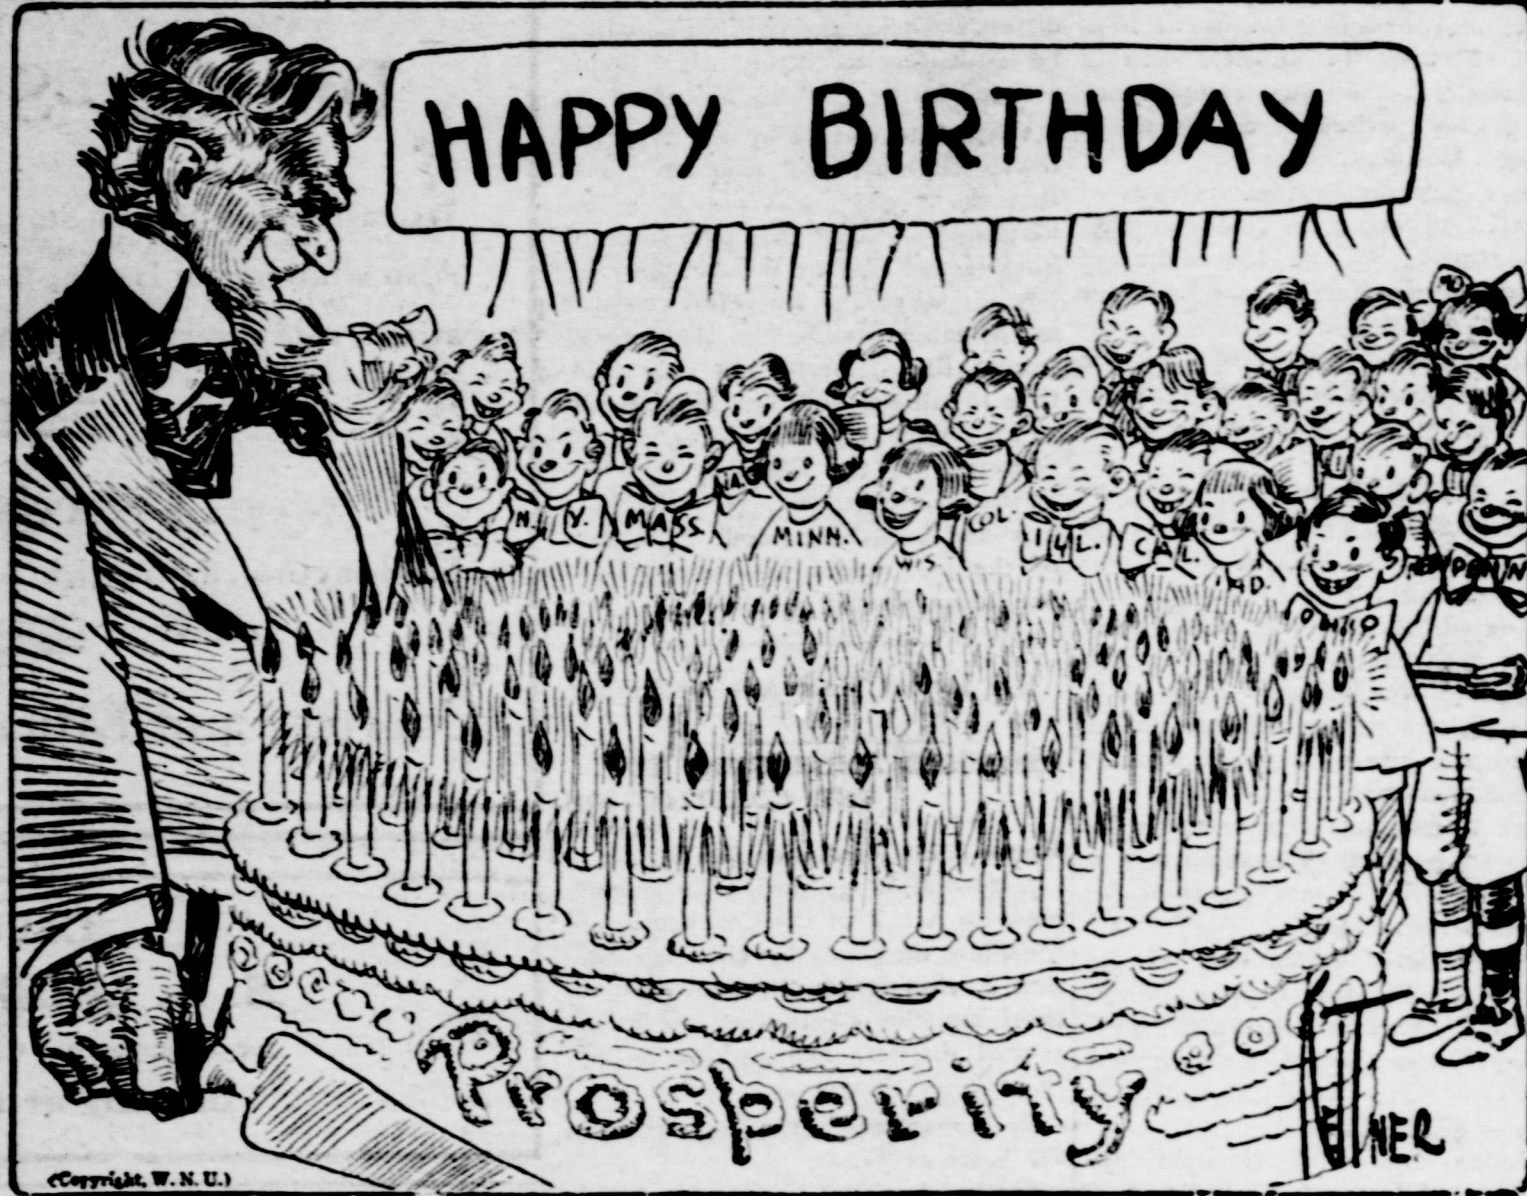

Services begin each day at 8:30 P. M. Everybody invited.

His Hundred and Fiftieth Birthday

JUDGE GEC. W. NEILL ASKS VOTERS FOR RE-ELECTION

To the voters:
While it has been known for several months among my many acquaintances that I would submit for re-election to the office of County Attorney, the fact that the other attorneys of the county had frequently stated that they would not run, led me to be in no hurry about a formal announcement, but as the election is drawing nigh, and I cannot hope to meet all the people personally, I herewith confirm my candidacy.

I invite inspection of my official acts, and the Court dockets and assert that I have accomplished more, with less expense to the county than any former incumbent, or than the average in other counties. I have tried to be fair and conservative in administration, and efficient in procedure, in carrying on the purposes of this office, and consider I have been reasonably successful in law enforcement. I do not make the promise that I will alone enforce all the laws, for this can only be done as the public so wills, but I do say that I am ready, willing and able to shove forward the mission of this office when occasion arises.

I have labored long and hard for the development of Terry county, endured the deprivation incident to its pioneering, worked and helped in the days when it needed help, have linked my life with it, and have deep interest in its welfare and progress, and in the civil and social life of its citizenry, and now that the county has reached a grown-up state, I would like to continue another term in its service.

Very Respt.,
Geo. W. Neill

M. C. HEROD ANNOUNCES FOR COM. PRECINCT NO. 1

The Herald is this week authorized to announce to the voters of Commissioners Precinct No. 1, the candidacy of Mr. M. C. Herod, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 24th.

Mr. Herod has been a resident of Terry county several years, during which time he has resided in the Union community, and is well known to most of the voters of No. 1. He has had some seven years experience in road building, and is otherwise qualified for the duties of county commissioner. We ask that you give his candidacy due consideration.

NOTICE TO AMERICAN LEON AND EX-SERVICE MEN

All American Legion and ex-service men are requested to report at the Legion Hall July 5th at 9:30 A.M. to take part in Independence Day Parade. The public is especially invited to join the parade. Let's make it as big as possible.

—J. D. Miller, Post Com.

SMALL CROWD TO ENJOY THE BANQUET MONDAY

As the Secretary of the C. of C. stated elsewhere in these columns the crowd at the banquet of the C. of C. Monday night at the Baptist church was slim, and would have been very much slimmer had the good ladies not come out in goodly numbers—bless them. But those who did attend certainly had a good time and a splendid feed well prepared and served. The affair was a two course service, consisting of chicken, dressing, salads, bread and tea, followed by ice cream and two kinds of cake, angel food and chocolate. The Brownfield Band dispensed sweet music both before and during the banquet.

After the refreshments, and during the time that the band boys were being served, Dr. W. N. Lemmon, of Lubbock, who with his son, Dr. J. R. Lemmon, also of Lubbock, were present, delivered an address on hospitals, the good of them, how to build them and how to manage them. This information was given from his own and the experience of others, and seemed to be well received by the audience.

Morgan L. Copeland followed and urged more business men to go with the band on the weekly "howdy" calls we are making in the several communities of the county. We hope this talk will have the desired effect.

The Secretary then introduced Mr. Victor Smith, an attorney of Henderson, Texas, who with his wife are visiting here. While not expecting to be called upon, Mr. Smith gave our people some splendid advice along the line of knowing your county by trade trips such as we are making, and he especially stressed good roads in order to make these communities more accessible to the trade center.

Hon. P. G. Stanford, of Plains, was then introduced and delivered on of his characteristic and optimistic addresses on the needs, yea the many needs of Terry, Yoakum and South Plains counties in general. He closed with a glowing tribute to the ladies.

NOTICE TO VOTERS

To the voters of Terry County:

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the office of Tax Assessor. As most of you know, I went through with quite an operation about ten months ago, and don't feel able physically to make a house to house canvas. But will try to see as many as I can between now and July 24th, and will appreciate anything you can do for me on that date, and I will try to fill the office the best I can. Thanking you in advance for what you may do for me in this campaign.

Respt. yours,
T. O. Hooker

LOCAL FARMER TO TRY CREAM SEPARATOR

W. B. Forbes was in Tuesday from the farm after supplies, and informed the Herald that he had recently obtained a cream separator from another farmer, and that a local hardware firm who handle this particular separator had put it in a good state of repair for him, and that he was going to give it a real trial, but it was the first one he had ever operated.

Mr. Forbes is milking seven cows on the farm and says he gets an average of about 25 gallons of milk per day, and he figures the cream from this milk will more than pay him for the trouble and expense of preparing to market cream. They have been marketing cream, but the weather is so hot now that the cream will not rise, and he needs a separator to do this work.

Mr. Forbes says he has a very good prospect for a crop, and thinks this hot weather is just what we are looking for. We have had so many cold rains this year that some of his stuff had not grown off fast, while some of it was looking mighty well. He had not hurt him but once this year, he said, but that time had stopped the growth for several days. This was partly caused he thought by bruising the plants and by cooling the ground. He said there was no wind with the hail or it might have hurt him much worse.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MET SATURDAY

The County Democratic Executive Committee met Saturday last with Chairman R. M. Kendrick presiding and the several candidates were assessed $20 each for county officers; we understand and a lesser amount for precinct officers. Anyway, we are satisfied they were assessed enough to satisfy the candidates, and we have heard none of them complain of being under charged, neither have we heard them ache about overcharges.

The names were also drawn for places on the ballot, but as we have not seen a copy of the official ballot we cannot at present inform the readers who's head or tails.

Republican County Chairman, E. O. Johnson informed us this week that the Republicans are to hold a primary election here on the 24th also, but would only vote on State and Congressional candidates. This is the first time in the history of Terry county that Republicans have ever held a primary election. And so old Texas may now claim to be a "sort" of two party state.

BIG FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION PLANNED MON.

A nice program of entertainment for the people of this section is in preparation for Monday, July 5th, and as the Fourth comes on Sunday this year, the 5th had to be the day celebrated. It is also the 150th anniversary of American Independence.

There will be a parade, flag raising and races of all sorts in the forenoon with two baseball games in the afternoon. No effort will be made to feed anyone, but all are expected to either provide their own lunch and buy it. If therefore, will be more correctly a celebration than a picnic.

There will be no attempt to have a First Monday Trades Day this time on account of it being the National holiday, but Trades Day will be continued on August 2nd.

All those who love their country, and its great institutions and history, are invited to come in Monday and help us celebrate the 150th birthday of the greatest nation under the sun.

HUMBLE COMPANY LEASING MUCH YOAKUM LANDS

It makes one have more confidence in the oil developments in Terry and Yoakum counties when they know that the real big companies are taking every acre they can get at a fair price to the owners. In fact it is a well known fact that the Humble Co., the Texas subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company, are leasing thousands of acres in Yoakum county, for big bundles of lease papers are passing through Brownfield every day.

Now, if such old and experienced companies as the Humble people were not very sure that the liquid gold lay under the surface of Yoakum county they would not be paying out so much cash for these leases, for as much money as is behind the Humble and the parent company, the Standard they have never been accused of putting out dollars needlessly and carelessly. Of course they know it is somewhat of a gamble yet, but like any other fellow that takes a chance they are willing and ready to back their experience and judgment with pure dee American dollars.

SUPT FAGALA FEELS SURE OF AFFILIATION

A letter under date of June 25th has been received from Supt. O. W. Fagala, who is spending the summer at Brownwood with his wife, who is taking a special course in Howard Payne, preparatory to teaching her next term, stating that the mercury climbs to dizzy heights down there and they are yearning for the good cool days and nights of the good old South Plains. He also feels quite sure the local schools are to get affiliation, and enclosed a letter of recent date from the Department of Education at Austin, which we copy herewith:

My Dear Mr. Fagala:
According to our records, your college entrance package was acknowledged about June 1, and your affiliation package a few days later. We are working on your affiliation material now and will soon have your report ready. It will be sent out immediately upon completion of the examination of the papers.

Very truly yours,
Mary Jo Poppewell,
Chief Supervisor of High School P. S. We think the college entrance reports will be ready in about ten days or two weeks.

GULF REFINING OIL STATION NOW UNDER WAY

Readers will remember some time past that the Gulf Refining Company had a warehouse and storage tank station under way near the Rafter 4 warehouse, but that building was stopped by injunction of the Santa Fe railway, we understand, and since that time, the building has been marking time. However, a location has been secured a little further down the track and a building is now well under way, and no more trouble is anticipated, and work will be rushed to completion.

A. C. Whisenant & Son, who have recently completed a station for them—The Gulf Co.—at Seagraves, have the contract here also, and before long the Gulf Co. can have a permanent home in the industrial district of Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cruse were Lubbock visitors Sunday.

SOME 35 SCOUTS ATTEND THEIR PARK OPENING

It was a proud bunch of the future citizens and leaders of Terry county who, in their new uniforms, made ready Monday morning to go to Post Texas, near where their big 400 acre park was to be opened, including the old Curry Comb ranch headquarters, recently donated the Boy Scouts by the heirs of the C. W. Post estate. It is said that this can be made one of the most beautiful parks in Western Texas with the expenditure of some $5,000, which is now being raised on the South Plains.

In the absence of Scout Master, Rev. G. J. Thomas at Dallas, the boys were officially accompanied by Elder A. L. Burnett and a few other citizens of the town.

Some addresses were delivered by leading Scout men of the state and other prominent men of this section, and at noon a huge barbecue was enjoyed. The Post band made music for the occasion. The crowd in attendance was estimated at 4,000.

An effort will be made to have the dam across the draw finished, as well as the graveled roads and large mess hall by the later part of August when the boys will have the first encampment in the park.

E. H. KENDRICK TAKES OVER LOCAL PHONE EXCHANGE

Mr. E. H. Kendrick, of Crosbyton, who recently became owner of the local telephone exchange, can in his week and became acquainted with the Herald force. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kendrick, and also by Mrs. Blansengame and Miss Sparkman, both of Ralls, who will help him to get started off at this exchange.

Mr. Kendrick announced no improvements for the exchange here, nor anything of his future intentions. We believe however the town has become large enough for a drop system and we believe the people should ask the new owners for such a system.

NOTICE TO BAPTIST LADIES

Mrs. J. E. Leigh, corresponding secretary of Woman's Missionary Work, for Baptists in Texas, will speak at the Baptist church Saturday afternoon, July 3, at 3:30. All the ladies of the local church are urgently requested to be present on the hour named above.

We cordially invite the ladies of Gomez, Meadow, Union, Forrester and Harmony churches to come to this meeting. We shall be glad for any others who are interested to come.
—C. E. Ball, Pastor.

POST OFFICE OPENED YESTERDAY AT LAHEY

Lahey is the baby post office of Terry county, and one of the youngest in the United States. It is situated about six miles southwest of this city on the Seagraves branch of the Santa Fe.

Mr. E. J. Purcell, proprietor of the store at Lahey, has received his commission as post master at the new office, and obtained his supplies here Tuesday in order to be ready for the opening yesterday, July 1st.

LOCAL GROCERY STORE CHANGES HANDS

A deal was consummated Monday whereby Dewey Murphy became the owner of the Williams & Son grocery store at the stand one door east of the post office. Mr. Murphy has a host of friends and acquaintances all over the county, and will no doubt do a good grocery business.

We failed to learn just what Mr. Williams and son intend to do but we are sure he has no notion of leaving the town, as they have a fine farm just south of town.

BAPTIST MEETING TO BEGIN FIRST SUNDAY IN AUGUST

Rev. John G. Winsett, of Abilene, will begin a meeting for the First Baptist church here the first Sunday in August. Mr. E. D. Turner of Ennis, will have charge of the music.

The meeting will last two weeks, according to the pastor, Rev. C. E. Ball, and he and the members are expecting large crowds to be in attendance with great results.

COST OF CRIME IN THE UNITED STATES

"It is impossible to present the unholy statistics of crime without appearing sensational. Therefore I am going to set them forth in the most sensational form possible in the hopes of shocking the business men of the country out of their complacency into action," writes F. S. Tisdale in Nation's Business.

"There are no complete records of the cost of crime in this country," he continues. "Crime has surpassed legitimate pursuits and become our greatest industry.

"After a short pause to allow the reader to regain his breath, I submit the following as a basis for the statement:

"An official of the American Bankers' Association, whose business is to know what he is talking about, estimates the money loss from crime in the United States during 1924 at four billion dollars. Add to this the cost of police protection, courts and prisons, members of the National Crime Commission pile up a grand total of ten billion dollars.

Such tremendous figures mean little by themselves. The mind has to have something to measure them by. Consider the following:

The estimated crime cost of ten billion dollars is greater than the entire foreign trade of the United States for the same period. Our imports and exports for the fiscal year 1925 came to $7,865,422,008.

Farming attains the nearest approach to that ten billion; listed in government statistics as "Food and Kindred Products," the total value for 1923 was nine and one-half billions.

It is greater than the textile industry with its $9,487,000,000.

It far surpasses lumber and allied industries with their ignominious total of $3,633,000,000.

It is almost three times as much as the annual budget of the entire nation.

Crime costs us over $19,000 per minute night and day; over a million dollars per hour; about twenty-seven and a half millions a day.

Our crime loss is eight times on total annual fire loss.

Overpowering as these figures may appear, when you stop to consider the number of local crime stories that are dished up to us in every local paper and then multiply that by the number of metropolitan cities capable of supporting a good crime sheet it's easy to believe the national total is as large as has been estimated.

What are we going to do about it?—Exchange.

Mrs. Jack Stricklin and children accompanied by Miss Dollie Miller of Plainview, left Tuesday morning for an overland trip to Redlands and Los Angeles, Cal. At the former place resides her mother and the smaller children, while she has three brothers and a sister residing in Los Angeles, some of which she has not seen in seventeen years. Miss Miller also has friends in that section. Well this poor old editor is in for some six weeks bachelorhood, and if the good ladies of Brownfield don't take some pity on us with a bestowal of home cooked grub occasionally, we don't know whether we'll last that long or not. However, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Casey have promised to move in and care for us the best they can.

SEAGRAVES PASTOR NOW AN AGRICULTURIST

Pastor A. D. Jameson, of the local Methodist church, has recently entered the farming business, having secured a few acres of ground a short distance outside the city limits, which he is planting to cotton. He is being assisted in the work by his son.

When interviewed by the Signal in town, Tuesday, the minister stated that the crop he was putting in belonged to no other than Mr. Jameson himself, and that he was teaching his boy the whys and wherefores as well as the labor attached to the farming game. Bro. Jameson not only finds time to till the soil, but also attends to his duties as pastor and is also the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Seagraves. He is a busy man and is making good at all three of the jobs under his supervision.—Seagraves Signal.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

House Joint Resolution No. 9.

A resolution proposing an amendment to Art. 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas by changing Section 3, eliminating the provision authorizing the Legislature to create special districts and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution be so changed as to read as follows: (creating new Section.)

"Section 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State Occupation taxes and poll tax of one dollar on every inhabitant of the State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollar valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set aside a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this State; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient the deficit may be met by appropriation from the general funds of the State and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general laws; and all such school districts may embrace part of two or more counties, and the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such districts, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in part of two or more counties, and the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed or hereafter formed for the further maintenance of public free schools, and for the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such tax not to exceed in any one year one ($1.00) dollar on the hundred dollar valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized, shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts, nor to the independent or common school districts created by general or special law."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1926, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas eliminating the provision which authorizes the Legislature to create special school districts," and all those opposed shall write or have printed

Senate Joint Resolution No. 18.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for taxation of school lands owned by counties. Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Article 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas shall be amended by adding after Section 6 thereof (a), which shall read as follows:

Section 6a. All agriculture or grazing school lands mentioned in Section 6 of this Article owned by any county shall be subject to taxation except for State purposes to the same extent as lands privately owned.

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1926, at which time all ballots shall be printed thereon "For the Constitutional amendment providing for taxation of all agriculture or grazing school lands owned by any county, to the same extent as land privately owned" and "Against the Constitutional amendment providing for taxation of all agriculture or grazing land owned by any county to the same extent as land privately owned."

Section 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State. The expense of publication and election for such amendment shall be paid out of the proper appropriation made by law. Approved, April 4, 1925.

INCREASING DEMAND FOR ICE

A prominent cold storage expert, in discussing the subject of refrigeration in the home, says that the development of the small electric refrigerator, which was heralded as sealing the doom of the ice man, has simply forced better practices by ice companies, and stimulated the industry to adopt progressive methods.

He pointed out that when the electric light was developed, prophets said the day of gas was ended, but from that day to this, not only the use of gas, but of electricity has increased tremendously. The same thing took place with electric cars and automobiles. In spite of 20,000, 000 automobiles and motor busses in the country, the electric railways are hauling more people than ever.

And so it is with electric refrigeration. It will stimulate the use of ice, and there is no ground for assuming that it will destroy a well managed and progressive ice plant. As a matter of fact, such plants are going under a chain system management which can buy cheaper, deliver cheaper and render better service all around.—The Manufacturer.

J. W. Spear dropped in one day this week to renew and informed us that he made a motion that as they were getting old and unable to work that he and wife discontinue the Herald. But she vetoed the motion at once and thus ended the matter. We say hurrah for the better half.

PREPARATIONS FOR GREAT SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

Lubbock, June 30.—While the agricultural committees of the counties and communities of the Panhandle South Plains section are hard at work getting exhibits ready for the Panhandle South Plains fair, which will be held here Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1-2, individual exhibitors are not idle, according to directors of the fair association who are in close touch with the exhibitors over the section.

Stock raisers over the entire section are beginning to fix their live stock for the fall show and the live stock department of the fair is expected to be the best this fall it ever has been. Poultry raisers are watching their fowls closely and this department is expected to be filled to capacity, when the fair opens. Swine breeders are getting their pure blooded swine in shape and will show fair visitors many fine hogs. A number of dairy herds are being put in the very best trim for the fair.

Many Panhandle and South Plains farmers believing they are as good farmers as anyone else are watching their crops, gathering the best specimens to enter in the individual exhibits of the fair.

The live stock, swine, dairy cattle and poultry exhibitors will be here to show the Panhandle South Plains Fair that these products furnish the South Plains farmers a good income in addition to regular crops. The farmers showing crops in the individual exhibits will show a diversification of products which will convince the visitors at the fair that many crops can be grown on the South Plains.

Fireworks, football games, carnival attractions, rides, free attractions and other features of the fair will be the best ever, according to the directors and the biggest crowds that have ever thronged the fair park are expected here.

PENNIES IN THE FUSE BOX CAUSE ANOTHER FIRE

A fire that caused damage amounting to $5,000 in a large frame house in Dallas last month was caused by using pennies instead of fuses in the electric lighting fuse box, according to firemen. They found five blackened pennies in the fuse sockets after the fire was extinguished.

Copper pennies are conductors of electricity and are sometimes used where a fuse is burned out and no other fuse is at hand. The practice is not only hazardous but is sufficient cause for cancellation of fire insurance and is not followed by persons who know the danger that it causes.

A fuse will burn out when the current becomes a fire hazard through overloading or some other reason. That is what a fuse is for—to protect the property from burning out. When a penny is used instead of a fuse it will not burn out and fire frequently results.

John C. Scudday, of Tokio, dropped in one day last week and informed us that as his cattle and crops were looking good he decided it would be a mighty good time to renew again for the Herald. He seemed to be feeling very optimistic.

THE VOICE OF THE LIBERTY BELL

This is one of the two new official posters of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 to celebrate 150 years of American independence. The Exposition will continue to December 1. Dan Smith, the artist, has symbolized the epoch in history which the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, July 4, 1776, marked and has depicted the growth of the United States from the original thirteen states, represented by the thirteen stars which emerge from the mouth of the Liberty Bell.

Ancient Eastern City Shows for Desolation

With the annexation of Transjordan and Akaba, one of the strangest cities in existence comes under British mandate. This is the wonderful pink city of Petra.

In ancient times this flourishing center of eastern splendor stood near the point of intersection of the great caravan routes from Palmyra, Gaza, Egypt and the Persian gulf, four days' journey from the Mediterranean and five from the Red sea. Now it is miles from nowhere and can only be reached on horseback with a strong armed escort.

The city is entered down a dark and narrow gorge, in places only ten feet wide, which is nothing more than a great split in the huge sandstone rocks. It is like wandering along some mysterious passage to Aladdin's cave, until the pass suddenly ends in a mass of temples, tombs and theaters of exquisite architecture.

There, right out in the "blue" and in the wildest aspect of nature, is a treasure house of the most delicate masterpieces of Greece and Rome. Perfect columns with Corinthian capitals, support the richly carved roofs. Facades and doorways of exquisite design stand desolate in the wilderness. The architecture of kings is used to provide shelter for a few wandering Bedouins.

But the most astonishing thing of all is that these tombs and temples were actually hewn out of the solid rock, which has the most peculiar deep pink coloring. Instead of being built up like ordinary buildings, they were hewn downwards from the ground level. Almost completely surrounding the city are rose-colored mountain walls, divided into groups by great gaping cracks and lined with rock-cut tombs in the form of towers.—E. W. Polson Newman, in the London Mail.

Reimbursed in Will

When Carrie Safford of Reading, Pa., had her will drawn she included a bequest of $10 to her niece, Mary Pousland of Portland, Maine, to pay for some dishes broken when she tripped and fell while helping with the housework while there on a visit. The niece would not allow her to pay for the dishes at the time, so the payment was made as a provision in her will.—Ohio State Journal.

All Alike

Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, was talking about certain Greenwich village Utopians.

"They despise money," he said, "and at the same time they're dreadful borrowers."

Mr. Dreiser shrugged his shoulders. "All Utopians," he ended, "are I-O-Utopians, I imagine."

First to Make Fiddles

Tradition has it that King Ravanaon of Ceylon was first of which there is any record to start the fiddle business. He is said to have invented the ravanastrom, 5,000 years ago, a cylinder of sycamore, open on one side across which strings were drawn taut. The instrument was played with a bamboo bow.—Grit.

The Patriot

Gen. Charles P. Summersall told a story about patriotism at a Washington reception.

"As soon as America entered the World war," he said, "a chap named Jethro Barker decided to volunteer. He was on fire with a patriotic wish to serve his country. So he applied at a recruiting office and was duly thumped and prodded, trotted up and down and jumped over chairs and tables.

"Then came question time. All sorts of questions were put to him, and his answers were very satisfactory. But the final question 'tagged him.'"

"Have you ever served a jail sentence?"

"No, gentlemen, I must confess I haven't," he answered, but he added with a gulp, "I'd be willing to serve a short one if it's necessary."

Mosquitoes Found Refuge

After a thorough cleanup of all mosquito-breeding places in Tanza, Tanganyika, Africa, European settlers continued to be bitten. An investigation showed that the mosquitoes were breeding in the hollows at the base of the leaves of coconut trees.

BOBBING AN INSURANCE COMPANY CHEATS PUBLIC

When the complaint is raised that insurance companies sometimes seek to minimize or avoid payment of policies, one needs to remember that there are thousands of fraudulent representations made by policy holders annually. The arson rings of America, the casualty and personal damage fakirs, the juggling of insurance facts to cover blame and make some one else pay for it, make a sorry page in human history.

No company can pay without fair questioning any claims for damages. To pay when responsibility is not shown, is to rob other policy holders, for rates are dependent on operation costs.

Hon. H. B. Terrell, candidate to succeed himself as Commissioner of Agriculture, was here last Friday in the interest of his re-election to that office. Mr. Terrell has to our notion made a good Commissioner, and we believe should be given the office another term.

Milt Good who escaped from the penitentiary about eleven months ago was captured again last Friday near Antlers, Okla., and was carried back to Huntsville. Milt claimed that he was getting sick and tired of dodging, and not being able to hear anything about the children, had decided to go back and give up, but was apprehended before he reached Texas.

Terry Redford, who has been attending Simmons University, Abilene, is home for the summer.

Bogard Dodd, U. S. Sailor, who visited here last summer, was here again the past week visiting friends.

Lee Elder and family, from Seagraves, were here Monday visiting Mrs. John Raymer.

CONSIDER BEFORE YOU VOTE

There are several candidates for office. In many instances some of these candidates are better qualified to fill these offices than others. This candidate may be less popular than any of his opponents. He may be a poor speechmaker. He may be a poor campaigner. He fails to attract attention because he hesitates to slander and abuse another citizen who aspires to the same position. Yet, he is the man to vote for, because of all the candidates, he is the best qualified to serve the people.

Why wouldn't it be good business for voters to give as careful consideration to the election of men to public office as they do to hiring men to work for them? Why is it that many Texas voters grow excited and enthusiastic over the candidacy of some man or woman because of some sensational event in their career, or because of their ability to inject venom into their campaign speeches? Why vote for candidates who talk about matters not at issue and immaterial to the campaign? In the contest for the office of governor, are we voting for some man or woman because of the existence of personal differences, or for a candidate who will, when elected, give us an efficient, honest business administration?

Why grow excited about the campaign for governor of Texas? Let the candidates rave and slander one another. The more they do it the more evidence there is for their unfitness for office. All the voters have to do is sit down and calmly consider each candidate's qualifications for the position, and then vote for the one who, in his or her opinion, is best qualified.—Farm and Ranch.

Remember that our section always delivers more than we expect, so discontinue the howling and get to backing.

We should grasp the opportunity of building our city as did the Jew in the following story: An Irishman went into business and put up this sign, "Bankrupt Sale." Two doors below a Dago went into business and put up this sign, "Closing out Sale." A Jew happened to be in business between the Irishman and Dago, and he placed this sign: "Main Entrance"

The business men should show their appreciation of the trade accorded them by more of them attending the community centers with the band each week. These people know who come to see them, and they may also visit those who come to see them, when they come in to trade. Most people believe in reciprocity, and the farmer not the least of them.

President Coolidge has signed the bill creating what is known as the Red Bluff irrigation district, which will irrigate some 40,000 acres of land in Ward and other counties of this section of Texas. Our president has made himself famous as an economist; but when the time comes that money will make money for the people and the government, he does not hesitate one minute to go forward.

Politics seem to be red hot at Lubbock, and promise to reach the white heat before election day, and maybe serious trouble with it. In the mean time the newspapers are reaping the coins. The Herald needs money it will have to admit, but it does not need it at the price of such a row as has brewed in Lubbock county, and we are quite sure the Lubbock paper feel the same way about the incident and would much prefer a peaceful campaign with less page ads.

While lots of cotton was destroyed by the high winds and sand here two weeks ago, there are yet lots of crop left, and plenty of time and moisture to replant in feed. Indeed some are replanting in cotton, or have been which if we have a reasonably late fall will make cotton, and generally late feed here does the best. Many of the farmers are already over-cropped, as it is, and that means it will be almost impossible for them to leave a clean field if the rains continue, and that means foul fields to start with next year. Better a small crop well tilled than a large one half cultivated in the long run.

To our mind, one of the greatest pieces of legislation put through our national congress in many years was consummated recently when the Senate and House concurred on what is known as the potash development bill, appropriating $100,000 per year to exploit the potash possibilities of West Texas and East New Mexico. We understand the bill has the approval of Mr. Coolidge, also. The effects of this bill and its appropriation may be much more far reaching than the most optimistic of us can now see. Indeed it may be the means of ridding this country of a great monopoly held over us by a foreign power of one of our most valuable agricultural necessities, fertilizer.

Listen, Mr. Voter and Mrs. Voter: If you should organize a million dollar business here in Brownfield, say, who would you put at the head of that concern to manage it? Would you look out some fellow that had either been tried and found wanting or some one with no experience, who had not proved his worth, or made a place for himself in the financial world? Or would you look out a man of wide experience, who had risen in the ranks of business to a place of prominence, and had the confidence

FOLLOWS EMANCIPATOR

Milton R. Moskow, twelve-year-old San Francisco schoolboy who since the age of five has patterned his life after that of Abraham Lincoln, aspires to occupy the White House some day as his hero did. He has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Under the plan of the American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award, each state will select a boy and a girl and a woman teacher who best represent American ideals, and they will be given trips to Philadelphia and to Washington, where they will receive medals from President Coolidge.

DAVIDSON EXPLAINS SENATE BILL NO 180

The author of Senate Bill 180, State Senator Charles Murphy, of Houston, published a statement in Texas newspapers attempting to explain the joker in the bill. Senator Murphy naturally contends that the proviso "subject to the anti-trust laws" of Texas means something, as it is his bill. No first class lawyer of Texas has yet supported this contention of Senator Murphy's, or answered the analysis of the bill as made by Hon. N. B. Williams of Waco, an outstanding legal authority. Mr. Williams showed that the bill completely repeals our anti-trust laws with reference to monopoly, and his analysis has been furnished to the Standard Oil controlled newspapers of the state, which are attempting to defend the bill. They have refused to print it, in whole or in part, which is final evidence of weakness of their case. They will not allow the people to consider the evidence, except such as is favorable to their own contention.

Senator Murphy asserts that the capitalization of foreign corporations entering Texas in 1925 since the passage of Senate Bill No. 180 was greater than in the preceding 50 years. I would advise the Senator that this very fact is evidence of the justice of the fight I am making on the bill. The foreign corporations that he speaks of are outside the reach of Texas law. A billion dollar concern can charter a branch company in Texas for a thousand dollars, since the passage of Senate Bill 180, and the Texas law has no recourse on the big concern. It can only touch the figurehead in Texas. I would encourage those outside corporations to come to Texas, but I would not put them beyond the reach of the law. The boldness with which they are of the business world behind him? You know very well you would not hesitate to choose the latter man. Texas is a billion dollar state, and no peanut politician should be placed in management of its affairs. Think, and think seriously before you vote.

Pains disappeared

"SEVERAL years ago I was badly run-down," says Mrs. John Bunch, R. F. D. 3, Columbia, S. C. "I could not do any of my work. I was so weak I could not wash a dish. My back and sides hurt me at times dreadfully. I dragged around until I finally got down in bed." Then, explains Mrs. Bunch, she happened to read about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and decided to give it a thorough trial, the results of which she describes below:

"It seemed to reach the cause of my trouble at once. I did not take it long before my appetite began to improve. I gained in weight from 114 pounds until now I weigh 125 pounds. I soon was able to be up around the house. I took up my household duties and was delighted with my returning strength."

"I now do all my own work. The pains in my sides and back have disappeared and I feel like a different person." Cardui has been helping suffering women for nearly 50 years. Sold by all druggists.

taking advantage of the situation is shown in the fact that the Standard Oil Company has advanced the price of gasoline six or seven cents a gallon since the passage of Senate Bill 180, taking $35,000,000 a year out of the pockets of Texas automobile owners to swell the profits of the Standard, which last year amounted to 120 per cent on the capital stock.

WANING INFLUENCE OF THE DAILY PRESS

It has been charged that the daily press has been so commercialized that editorial writers are now employed, in many instances, merely as a matter of form. Every newspaper is supposed to have an editorial page, therefore an editorial writer, but too often his efforts are restricted by a policy formulated and enforced by the ruling power in the business office. Occasionally write with force and snap, evidence that there is no lacking in ability to express themselves when unrestrained, but upon investigation one generally finds that the subject chosen is a pet hobby of the big boss, or is far removed from anything that may be of direct interest to readers, that no possible reaction may be expected.

Although there are live issues before the people; reforms that should be fostered and developments in our educational, religious and industrial life in which our great dailies should lead, many editors find it much easier and much safer to dish out a column on "The Threatened Revolution in the Balkans," another on "Conditions in China," and perhaps a half column on "Mussolini." To lighten up the page, we may find another editorial on "The Dangers of Picking a Pimple."

Under these circumstances and under the restraint imposed upon editorial writers, whose fault is it that the daily press, once a power in shaping the destinies of the State and Nation, has less influence than weekly papers and monthly magazines.

The demand for quick service and news from every quarter of the globe makes necessary an expensive plant and a large staff and this calls for large sums of money which must come from advertisers. The same, however, is true in every publication in proportion to its size and output. Therefore, newspapers, daily, weekly, or monthly, are of necessity, commercial institutions. It takes money to publish any kind of a paper, and the more pretentious the news service the more it costs. This should not prevent the formulation of a constructive policy and an understanding between the editorial and business departments which would remove the handicap which editors now labor under, even though it did not bring about an absolute divorce. One department is essential to the other, if both are properly conducted, and the spirit of cooperation should prevail. No publication, however, has ever suffered any length of time by being courageous in its efforts to supply the leadership needed in every community and in every State. Fortunately there are yet a few daily papers that continue in their efforts to maintain, editorially, the high standard of journalism set by leading publications in the days of Horace Greeley. Such papers become an open forum of the people; they become leader in shaping the trend of thought on all questions of public interest. The service thus rendered far exceeds in value the mere presentation of sensational news of the day.

The first duty of any publication is to serve its readers. Without this service it soon loses its value to its advertisers. The readers are served best when the editorial policy is not dictated by men whose training has taught them that the dollar is almighty. Fortunate indeed are those readers and the editors who serve them. Fortunate, also, are the advertisers, for the advertising pays best in papers that have and hold the reader interest.—Farm and Ranch.

THE STAND FOR STATE RIGHTS

"Amid the contentions of the present day, nothing is more important to secure the continuation of what they (the founders of the republic) wrought than a constant and vigilant resistance to the domination of selfish and private interests in the affairs of government, in order that liberty and justice may still be secure and public welfare may still be supreme." —President Coolidge, in his Williamsburg address.

Commenting on the preceding statement, the Kansas City Times says:

"President Coolidge has been a consistent advocate of decentralization in government. He has urged upon states to cherish their sovereign rights and assume their sovereign obligations. He has urged upon congress to respect those rights and not to disregard those obligations. But the most emphatic utterance he has made on this subject was that embodied in his address at Williamsburg, Va. He warned the people, the state officials and Congress against the increasing power and activity of minorities, both sectional and class, and against the dangers of increasing bureaucracy resulting from minority coercion."

TWO INSECTS TO BE ON LOOKOUT FOR

Local infestations of grasshoppers are being reported in the north and west portions of the State, and damage may be severe in regions that did not experience heavy rainfalls during the past winter and spring.

Farmers are urged to fight these insects early, if they threaten to migrate from pasture lands or fence rows to the cultivated crops, by the use of poison bran mash. This is made up of the following ingredients:

- Coarse wheat bran 25 lbs
- Paris green or white arsenate 1 lb.
- High grade amyl acetate (avoid cheap grade of banana oil or bronzing liquids).
- Cane or sorghum molasses (avoid corn syrup) 2 qts

Water sufficient to make moist brand as explained below:

Mix the bran and poison together thoroughly. Dilute the amyl acetate and molasses in about two gallons of water. Pour this liquid over the mixture of poison and bran until every particle is moist. Then make further additions of water and mix thoroughly until a mash is obtained that is quite moist, yet so it will fall apart after being tightly squeezed, and so may be readily sown broadcast.

This quantity of mash should be broadcast so as to cover about five acres. A good practice is to mix at night and sow early next morning before nine o'clock since the hoppers do not actively feed until the dew dries up. If it is desired to kill hoppers in grass land, sow over the entire acreage to be protected. Where they are migrating from fence rows or pastures into cultivated crops, sow the fence row or a fairly broad margin of the pastures, and also a broad margin of the cultivated crops with the mixture.

Amyl acetate is preferable in the formula but if it cannot be obtained, substitute six lemons for one ounce of the amyl acetate. This should be diluted with the water as with the other substance, but one should use both juice and rinds, grinding the latter in a fine food chopper.

Do not place the mash in piles.

Do not use lead arsenate—use Paris green or white arsenate.

DESECRATING THE AMERICAN NATIONAL BIRD

Several months ago a splendid specimen of the golden eagle, the emblem of American freedom and liberty, was caught in a steel trap in one of our Western States and is today kept caged, to attract tourists at a roadside hot-dog counter.

Under the sign that reads, "Hear the Eagle scream and buy Tacoma Brew," on a great national highway, thousands of citizens behold the insignia of the world's greatest republic used, to boom the sandwich trade and lure nickels from the traveling public—licensed for this purpose by a state game commission.

The great bird of freedom, with claws and beak of gold and ebony, with wings spreading seven feet from tip to tip, is robbed of its freedom and deprived of God's sunlight, divorced from his mate and home in the high Cascades, to be fed on butcher's offal and stared at by indifferent Americans.

THE FITTEST SURVIVE

Significant changes have taken place in the community weekly newspaper field during the past 35 years. From 1890 to 1915 weekly newspapers in the United States increased in number from 11,673 to 14,507. Since 1915 there has been a rapid decrease. In 1924 the total number had dropped back to 11,707, approximately the same total as 1890.

A shrinkage of 2,800 papers in a period of nine years seems appalling but a mortality rate of 300 a year will not prevail over a long period. The extremely rapid rise in the cost of production of newspapers brought about by the disturbance in economic conditions caused by the World War was responsible for most of the suspensions. As in other fields of business it is a case of the survival of the fittest.

The community weekly will never be displaced by any outside publication. Outside daily newspapers will be read more and more by people of the country communities and their circulation will increase correspondingly, but the paper that will retain the affection of its readers is the country weekly with its budget of home news about neighbors and friends whose daily lives touch each other.—Northfield (Minn.) HARMONY ENJOYS HAVING CANDIDATES WITH THEM

Monday night, June 28th, Harmony school house was the scene of an eager crowd of people who gathered to hear the candidates for the various county and precinct office make their campaign speeches. The Hon. L. T. Price, candidate for District Attorney was present and delivered the opening address of the evening. He was followed by the candidates for county offices in their respective order. The people all seemed to enjoy very much the various addresses and each speaker was given more or less applause.

The plan of having all the local candidates assemble in mutual friendship with the people upon a set date in each community seems to be a very popular one with the voters, and the men, women and children alike, turn out for the affair.

The regrettable element habitual in politics and electioneering commonly called "mud-slinging" has rarely entered Terry county politics, even in the mildest form, and the writer believes these pre-election assemblies tend more than anything else to keep politics in Terry County free from this undesirable element.—Reporter.

VALUABLE SHADE TREE BECOMES AVAILABLE

The Chinese elm at present gives promise of being one of the best trees for shade and windbreak planting in west Texas, according to R. E. Karper, Assistant Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. This is a new tree first introduced a few years ago from China by the office of Seed and Plant Introduction and which has been tested out for the past seven years by the Experiment Station at Lubbock. Recognizing the merits of this tree and its adaptability to the western part of his State, the Station has during the past five years propagated and distributed some ten thousand trees of this variety in widely scattered areas. Only favorable reports have been made on the performances of this elm from the various places it has been tried out throughout the State.

The people are fast becoming informed as to the desirability of this elm and there is a big demand for it. The supply within the State up to this time has largely been propagated through the Experiment Station for trial and distribution. The Chinese elm is propagated readily from fresh seed and in the absence of a supply of seed fair success has been made from roots and hardwood cuttings. Many nurserymen in the state are becoming interested in the possibilities and in the sale of this tree for planting in Texas. A few of the nurserymen now have a limited supply of trees of this variety available, and many others are now planning to propagate it in considerable numbers.

A recent letter to the experiment station from the University of Nanking indicates that a large supply of seed of the Chinese elm will soon be received in the United States. The letter states:

"We have orders for about 300 lbs. of Chinese Elm seed for this spring's delivery and are now collecting the seed at three different places. At least we hope that conditions are sufficiently peaceful where we sent the men so that there will be no difficulty in making the collection and that we will be able to forward the seed to the various people of the United States. From what you say I imagine that there will be considerable demand for this for some time to come and if it continues to do as well as it has done, will undoubtedly result in large plantings throughout the semi-arid west."

THE CREATIVE SPIRIT IN AMERICA

The United States has been "accused" of being the richest nation on earth. Some foreign comment has been to the effect that money is all we care for. This is a mistaken viewpoint. The reason this nation is not only rich, but great, is simple—we all work over here. Not only do we work, but we make everything else work for us. We enjoy producing something useful.

Here in the United States we use forty times as much mechanical power as human power. In China, Russia and India, they use from two to four times as much human power as mechanical. That is the reason America is rich and that is the reason wages are high and opportunity great in this nation. High production per man tells the story of our high wages, short hours and modern conveniences for every home. If the rest of the world would try to follow our example there would be more happiness and less cause for wars and discord.—Exchange.

JOHN WITHERSPOON SIGNER

To a member of Congress who said, "We are not yet ripe for a declaration of independence." John Witherspoon, New Jersey signer of the Declaration of Independence, replied, "In my judgement sir, we are not only ripe, but rotting." The 150th anniversary of the signing of that celebrated document will be commemorated by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which opened in Philadelphia on May 31, to December 1.

Witherspoon was of Scotch birth, received his education at the University of Edinburgh, and was licensed to preach at the age of 21. When the young Pretender landed in England, Witherspoon marched at the head of a corps of militia to join him. He was taken prisoner at Falkirk, and remained in Donne Castle until the battle of Culloden.

The fame of his literary tastes and accomplishments, and his reputation for honor, industry and ability spread abroad, and he was called to the presidency of the College of New Jersey at Princeton. He arrived in America in August, 1768, and was formerly installed in his responsible position which he held until the Revolutionary war called him to the service of his country.

There was no hesitation on the part of John Witherspoon in the declaration of his opinions as to the justice of the Colonies in their stand for freedom. He was elected in June, 1776, as a delegate from New Jersey to the Continental Congress, under instructions to declare for independence should such a measure be considered necessary.

The political wisdom with which Dr. Witherspoon enriched the national councils secured the confidence and admiration of his colleagues and elevated him to the first rank among the assembled statesmen of America. His public writings, pamphlets on public questions, his addresses and sermons aroused men to action possibly more than any other man of his time.

For more than two years before his death he was afflicted with blindness, during which he was often led into the pulpit both at home and abroad. He died on November 15th, 1794, in the 73rd year of his age.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapius.

The wind and sand continues to be of more interest to our people than commercial club activities or the lugubrious intonations of political prophets or place seekers.

We also hear on every hand complaints of the inability of the farmers to get money from the banks for absolute needs, and not all of them are the "I wont work" kind. I don't know why this should be so. The outlook is good in spite of the fact that injury has been done by wind and sand. There is the best crop and more of it than has ever been here.

However, the demand may be greater than our financial institutions can possibly supply. Most of the farmers are over cropped and find it necessary to find help, hence the increased need of more funds.

Darrell, the little son of Roscoe Moorhead, was seriously burned the past week while kindling a fire with gasoline. Yes, that is what I said, and what makes matters worse his father told him to get the gasoline—comment unnecessary.

His arm was badly burned from the elbow down, including most of the hand.

Mrs. Will Stockton, living on the Carruth ranch, had one of his fingers badly crushed by a falling pipe, which severed the bone, leaving a small amount of tissue to hold the finger in place. She is getting along fairly well with good prospects of saving the finger.

W. R. Carruth and family, who have been visiting here the past two weeks, folded their tent, cranked their flivver and left for Stephenville. I don't see why they should not move up and be done with it. They either can't or won't stay away. Jim speaks at Stephenville soon and Dick was bound to hear him skin Dan. It is a pity that Dick has been on the wrong side the most of his life.

Our old friend Riley, who has been here with the Handley gin since its erection, came in Saturday to help put things in order. We feel like the Widow Bedot that Wiggle Town has not been Wiggle Town since he has been gone. Some of the girls look a little more cheerful since he put in his appearance.

Several ladies went to Brownfield, Tuesday, to meet the State Demonstrator, and were disappointed in not hearing matters discussed in which they were particularly interested. They expected to hear and see a demonstration on canning methods and cooking. Strange isn't it? But as a matter of fact our women and girls are intensely in home economics, and the men are equally interested in better methods of farming.

If we had a home demonstrator, clubs could be formed as rapidly as the demonstrator could reach them. The women are interested. Why shouldn't they be? There are very few of them that understand the proper methods of successful canning and preserving meats and many of the vegetables and fruits. They are anxious to learn. The time is also at hand when fruits and vegetables will be ready. Most of them have gardens and they would be glad to save the surplus.

The girls need to learn to cook and properly prepare the various classes of food, so as to maintain the food values as well as to keep them from spoiling. Very few of them under 18 years of age know how to prepare a meal that wouldn't give a fellow indigestion, if he were forced to eat it continually.

When there is a picnic on or a lunch to be served on the road or elsewhere, we are generally served with spongy light bread sliced and hamburger meat between, or one of the delightful canned meats spread over it, and I am told that some of it is made from the udders of defunct cows or baby calves. It may be very wholesome and of high food value—but not for me. No, thank you. At last they serve us with various kinds of salads and mixtures of all the sour stuff that can be mixed up and we wash it down with punch. Did you ever try any of it even on a hungry hog? And such punch! Did you ever try the punch of Pre-Volstead days? If you have you could never drink modern punch, except as a compliment to the hostess. So on thru the list, cold storage ham and eggs whose age and antecedents no one knows.

Our girls are anxious to know how to sew. Most of them know little of how to cut and fit a common dress. They either buy it ready made or hire some one to do the job.

Wouldn't it be better first to learn them how to sew, cook, can fruits and meats, before providing someone to teach them how to care for a baby? Some of them are going to be wives; all can't get into the movies, be teachers, sales ladies, stenographers or trained nurses or governor of the great State of Texas.

What has been said above is equally true of the men and boys on the farms in raising stock, poultry and crops. We have very few practical farmers, and even that few can be bettered by the coaching and teaching of a well informed, trained agricultural agent.

Teachers, doctors, and those engaged in many industrial pursuits, are constantly going where they can learn better methods and new ways of doing things, which they propose to practice or teach. Even the athletic sports of every kind, a good coach is indispensable.

Our Commissioners are running for office just now and neither of them would perhaps jeopardize a vote by giving us a demonstrator of any kind. We don't need to petition each of them, as by a little inquiry in his precinct, he can find out the wishes of his constituents. I have personally asked the candidates running in this precinct. I shall vote for that one who favors a demonstrator and there may be many others that will do likewise.

If commissioners can furnish nurses without a vote of the people they can furnish demonstrators. In both cases the government shares in the expense.

Our ladies here who wish to see a steam pressure canner in operation, and will try to use one in the neighborhood shall not be disappointed. I will bear the expense of a canner, if others do not care to help, and will try and get outside help for purposes of demonstration. God helps those who help themselves. Learn the fundamentals and the superstructure can be built easily. There is no greater art than the ability to cook good, wholesome food, and a club of home economics is much more important than either a Shakespeare or other literary club, and I do not wish to disparage the usefulness of either

WHO SHOULD END THE TALK BY TELEPHONE

There is an element of good form in practically every contact between persons. For instance it has been asked who should end a telephone conversation. As a general rule, says the Public Service Information Bureau, the person who calls should end the conversation. It is like where a call is made in person.

However, the rule may have some exceptions. When a woman is conversing over the telephone with a man, it matter not whether the man or woman did the calling up, it is the woman who should bring the conversation to an end. That is her privilege, and the man should never place himself in the position of ending the conversation. On the other hand, especially if a woman is calling up a man during business hours, she should be careful not to continue the conversation too long, lest the man might find it necessary to excuse himself. This is a difficult thing to do, no matter how tactfully he may be able to accomplish it.

If a woman calls up another woman it should always be the woman who calls up to bring the conversation to a close.

Long distance conversations are had from. While the person who does the calling may have lots of time to engage in such a conversation, the party at the other end of the line may be engaged in some very important occupation, but would be too polite to make this known.

Christ had fundamentals in mind when He said: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Matt. 6: 33. Let's get busy.

MASONIC EDUCATIONAL LECTURE COURSE

Austin, Texas, June 30.—Judge Jas. W. McClendon, of this city, chairman of the Grand Lodge Committee on Masonic Service and Education has announced a list of visitations by the speakers representing that committee for July, August and September. The purpose of the visits is to advocate and present before the Masons of the jurisdiction of Texas a higher standard of citizenship, education among Masons, explaining them by lecture and motion pictures the achievements of the Masonic fraternity in Texas, and point out the need for further relief measures in the name of Masonry. The pictures will feature the Home and School at Fort Worth, the Home for Aged at Arlington, the Eastern Star Home at Arlington, and the Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas.

In connection with the three month itinerary the Committee on Masonic Service and Education will hold its mid-summer meeting at The Gavel Club at Legion, near Kerville, on Aug. 2-3. The Gavel Club is a Masonic relief and welfare organization located near the United States Hospital for ex-service men. The other members of the Committee on Masonic Service and Education of which Judge McClendon is chairman, are James D. Avis, vice-chairman, Wichita Falls; Judge Hiram F. Lively, secretary-treasurer, Dallas; William Wyatt Evans, El Paso, and Gus A. Brandt, Houston. The visitation includes the Brownfield lodge on Friday, July 16.
