Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

The hog campaign is still "Rolling Along" with present rate of progress showing that we will secure orders for a sufficient number to make up a car about this time in 1927, but maybe after the cotton rush is over a better showing will be made.

We don't get any County Agent this year as after petitions were in circulation for several months as many as 250 people had signed and the commissioners took the position that if any agent was employed that at least one half of the qualified voters should request his employment. It is really a fact that the majority of the farmers do not desire an agent as the writer was out with one of the petitions for a few hours and found that about eighteen out of every twenty approached were opposed to it, but in most every case where a man had moved from a county who had used the service, no difficulty was experienced in securing his signature. The majority of the commissioners expressed themselves as being favorable but felt that it was up to the people to say whether they wanted the service or not and for that reason acted adversely on it.

We are on the eve of securing a large custom hatchery as our fellow townsman R. M. Goodpasture is seriously considering the installation of a 12,000 egg incubator for the purpose of doing custom hatching for this county and its trade territory but before investing the amount that would be required to put this over, he has requested the Chamber of Commerce to ascertain if full cooperation of the people can be secured in the way of patronage and we would like to have everyone who is interested to see Mr. Goodpasture and talk over the matter with him in any event a 4,000 egg incubator of the Mammoth variety will be installed for his personal use as he has a flock of several hundred which he is adding to.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT LAST SUNDAY

While most of us were at our noon day meal Sunday, the fire alarm was turned in, and it was found that about three or four bales of cotton were on fire at the Smith-Williams gin. The fire hose was not used, we understand as it has been found that kerosene oil is the best thing found to fight fire on the inside of a bale of cotton.

Some are of the opinion that the fire was either carelessly or purposely started by smokers, but up to this time we have not learned whether it has been determined how or when the fire started. Fire has been known to smolder around in a bale of cotton for several days before breaking out on the surface.

A FURTHER AND GREATER USE FOR SURPLUS COTTON

The ladies of Ennis have gone on record—to wear cotton hose and other cotton garments, and I am proud of their good work.

Little however, has been said of the great amount of money we forward to India every year for tea sacking. The Department of Commerce states in 1925 we imported 635,815,936 pounds for which we paid over $85,000,000.00. The greater part of this vast amount can be kept at home, if our Southern Users and Merchants demand cotton sacks for feeds of all kinds, sugar, salt, fertilizer, etc.

The cotton sack can be bought for very nearly the price of a burlap sack. When empty it has a greater value as it can be used for numerous domestic purposes which they can't do with a rough toe sack.

Let's use up our surplus crop in sacks for feed, flour, sugar, salt, and a good many other purposes. The demand will enhance the price of cotton which will benefit not only the producer, but every man, woman and child in this great Southern Commonwealth.

SESQUI INDIANS SPURN THE AUTOMOBILE

Spurning automobiles as beneath the dignity of Indian braves, the several hundred Indian braves in camp at Sesqui International Exposition in Philadelphia, flatly refused the offer of exposition officials, recently to ride in motor cars in their numerous public appearances.

Led by Chief Crazy Horse, 101-year old survivor of Custer's last fight, the other chiefs and braves high in the councils of the Indian Congress held a pow-wow and turned down the suggestion that they ride through the streets of Philadelphia and the exposition in automobiles. The chiefs and bucks served notice that they would appear in all parades and other functions on horseback or they would appear on foot. Sesqui officials, who made the proposition chiefly as a move for greater comfort for the descendants of the one-time rulers of America, provided the mounts. The squaws and children, however, had no say in the matter, and they usually appear in automobiles.

We met T. C. Hogue in the street recently, and he handed us another dollar on subscription. He made out he had been dodging us for some time, but we have our serious doubts about that matter.

Up in the North Woods Country

HIGH GRASS PLUS FIRE MEANS DESTRUCTION

The time is near at hand when the luxuriant growth of grass produced by abundant fall and late summer rains will be killed either by frost or a freeze, and with a few days of dry wind and sunshine, it will burn like tinder. Therefore it behooves the ranchmen to be everlastingly on the lookout for fire. We are almost sure that a fire-guard has not been plowed on most Terry and Youakum county ranches in from six to twelve or more years, and if a fire should start in the tall grass, no human agency could keep it from burning every bit of grass on the entire ranch, should the wind be just right.

Those who are crossing or hunting one these ranches should be very sure that their matches are out before tossing them aside, or that the butts of their cigars and cigarettes are out before throwing them carelessly out in the high grass.

This caution is also intended for the farmer with considerable grass, and especially those who have built their homes in the edge of the pasture land, for they may not only suffer the loss of their grass, but their homes and barns as well.

Any smoke arising on any portion of your farm or ranch, or that of your neighbor should be immediately investigated, for an early start with fire sometimes means a battle won, but give fire just a few minutes the start in high grass, and it is just good bye little ones.

MARRIAGES

Mr. J. E. Taylor, of Clovis, N. M., and Miss Lois Eubank, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Eubank of this city, were married Wednesday morning about ten o'clock in the office of county judge. Judge H. R. Winston said the words that made them as one.

They left soon after the ceremony for Clovis where Mr. Taylor is owner of a big hotel.

Mr. David A. McCann of Lou and Miss Bertie Green also of Lou were united in marriage by Judge H. R. Winston on the 6th inst., about 2:30 p. m. Miss Bertie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Green.

Mr. James C. McCollough and Miss Willie B. Smith, popular young people of the Tokio community, drove in last Sunday, and after securing their license, were married about 3 p. m. Rev. C. E. Ball officiating.

We understand they will make their home in the Tokio community.

Mr. Ernest C. Brock and Miss Lela Belle Day, also of the Tokio community, took a notion to get married at about the same time, and arrived about two hours later and had Rev. Ball say the words that made them husband and wife.

They will also continue to call Tokio home, we understand.

The Herald extends congratulations to all the newlyweds.

G. W. Gartman, of Lampasses, was here last week prospecting.

HENRY INSTALLING MODERN CLEANING SYSTEM

We had occasion to be over at Henry's place this week, and our attention was attracted to a tile building in the rear, in which Mr. Alexander is installing at great expense one of the most modern cleaning systems on the Plains.

Mr. Alexander has built up a fine haberdashery and cleaning and repair business here in the past few years, and with the increase, he is constantly adding new and more modern machinery. In explaining the new machinery, Mr. Alexander said:

"In keeping with our policy of constantly improving the quality of our service we have installed at considerable expense the Glover equipment. Under this new arrangement a continuous flow of pure water, white solvent, enters our washers every minute of the day.

"Gloverized gasoline does not stop at the removal of the free dirt but actually digs out the grease, filth and germs which have gathered in the garment. It is because of this absolute cleanliness that Gloverized garments are so noticeably free from all cleaning odors."

"This improved method of dry cleaning with its underground safety tanks assures our patrons of the 'Last Word' in cleaning efficiency. The next time your clothes need cleaning have them Gloverized and note the difference."

SANTA FE REPORTS ON THE TEXAS CROPS

The disturbance in the cotton market has caused losses to growers, but the trouble is not so serious as it would have been a few years ago when many farmers raised cotton only. Now crop diversification is the rule. The single cropper has passed off the stage. Farmers are hard hit by the slump, but they have sources of income other than cotton, they will be able to weather the storm.

Texas will lead in cotton production this year, as usual, with a yield above five million bales. The quality is excellent and picking conditions are ideal, although progress is slow. Many growers have refused to hire pickers, depending upon the family help until prices improve. If this policy continues, much cotton will be left in the fields.

Twelve to thirteen cents a pound, now paid, will no more than meet the cost of production, growers say; in some localities the price is below production cost. Strenuous efforts are being made by various interests to relieve the situation.

Practically all other crops made good yields, and money returns from them will be higher than the five year average. In the northwestern part of the state there will be a heavy increase in the wheat acreage. Fields are green, showing an exceptionally good stand. Pastures in most sections are good.

THEN HUSBY FAINTED

Friend wife had just been presented with a new check book a few days before. At breakfast she told John she wanted a new book—as she had lost the first one, but for him not to worry as she had signed every check and they would not be of any use to the one who found it.

Lester McPherson was in from the oil well on the Brownfield ranch one day last week and informed us that they were drilling right along again now and were down about 500 feet.

NEW VARIETY STORE TO OPEN SATURDAY 9 A. M.

On tomorrow, the 13th the Harris Variety Store will throw its doors open to the public of Brownfield and community. All Brownfield people and everyone in its trade territory are invited to attend the store's opening Saturday November 13th.

Mr. Harris announces that over five hundred feet of counter space has been provided in the new store on which are displayed over eleven hundred items of merchandise. This merchandise represents 250 varieties of goods in seventeen different departments. No stock of goods has ever been in Brownfield which has drawn upon the markets of the country so generally for things to satisfy the needs of local patrons.

Not only will all this merchandise be shown when the store opens Saturday, but prospective customers and friends of the store will be given an opportunity to see how modern stores prepare themselves to effectively and with dispatch serve the trade.

In opening his store Mr. Harris has been satisfied to accept only the most modern fixtures and accessories. These, he says, not only play a part in making the business up-to-date, modern and thoroughly progressive, but they also contribute their share toward making possible the handling of trade with a facility that is a convenience to purchasers.

Mr. Harris personally extends thru our columns his invitation to all the people of Brownfield and its surrounding districts to visit his store on Saturday November 13th.

SCREEN CLASSIC WELL REMEMBERED

Rex Ingram's well remembered screen classic, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," one of the greatest films ever produced by the industry, has returned in triumph in response to a flood of requests from exhibitors all over the country. This picture, unsurpassed as an artistic record of its time, is the film that brought the late Rudolph Valentino to fame. Valentino plays opposite Alice Terry in this picture, and he does some of the best work he ever contributed to the screen.

An enormous cast was employed by director Ingram with phenomenal success in translating the popular Ibanez novel to the screen. Its first showing aroused unprecedented enthusiasm in New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Los Angeles and other film centers, where it was characterized by the critics as one of the greatest pictures of all time.

June Mathis made the adaptation for this Rex Ingram production for Metro-Goldwyn. "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" will be shown at the Rialto Theatre, November 17th and 18th.

TERRY COUNTY HAS SOME COTTON PICKER ITSELF

Most all the surrounding counties are reporting champion cotton pickers, but so far we have not put forth any claims for local people, but now we are ready and proud to tell about one of our juvenile cotton gatherers.

Little Elizabeth Brazelton thinks she is about the champion six year old picker and so does the editor. This little 6 year old Miss pulled 306 pounds of cotton Nov. 9th in one day.

Now lead out your champions.

Earl Anthony Sr. and Jr. with the later's wife, left this week for a business trip to Vernon.

TERRY COUNTY FARMER MAKING MIGHTY GOOD 'LASSES

Ben Broughton of the Gomez community was in Saturday after supplies and brought a few gallons of his home made syrup made from the cane known generally as seeded ribbon cane. He called at the Herald office and presented us with a full gallon of as good licks as we ever whet our appetite on. They were as clear as any ribbon cane syrup we ever saw, and were much thicker. In fact there is not the least danger of them ever spoiling. There was not the least strong taste about them, and the flavor superb. We have helped to make and have eaten sorghum syrup all our lives, and we have never tasted any better than that made this year by Mr. Broughton.

The climate and soil of old Terry, assisted by an expert in the person of Mr. Broughton with the skimmer, seem to be an ideal combination for the production of home-made sorghum. We did not ask Mr. Broughton if he had any to sell, but are almost sure that he has, as he has made up already some 140 gallons from his own crop, and was making up a large crop for a friend down in the Wellman section when the mill broke, and repairs have not been made at this writing.

Those with syrup to sell, we believe will find no trouble in disposing of all they have, and the production per acre will beat cotton so bad that a comparison would be ridiculous. The real farmer of the future is going to be he who has something to sell the year around, and will never see the inside of a bank for funds to run the farm. Mark our words.

MARY WALKER MAKES GOOD RECORD AT TARLETON

John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville is a branch of the A. & M. and is a model of its kind. It is not only an ideal institution for the pursuit of an education, but it is a college which gives the students an opportunity to form friendships that will endure throughout life, and will foster a spirit of loyalty not only to the college and to each other but also to that spirit of Americanism which will ever be an incentive towards best efforts.

"The Spirit of Tarleton" is one of the biggest factors which has caused Tarleton's phenomenal growth. It is that dynamic magnetism—that unity of thought, ideals and purpose—which seems to pervade the very soul of every person who is connected with Tarleton, either as a faculty member or as a student. It is that motivating fervor which causes the entire student body and faculty to rise as one man and sing "On Ye Tarleton" or stand at rigid attention when Old Glory is lowered at sunset.

Brownfield is most capably represented at Tarleton by Mary Walker who is making an excellent record, and whose sweet personality has made her a host of friends among her fellow students.—Vera Jean McNew.

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION HAVE GREAT PROGRAM

Fort Worth, Tex. Nov. 8.—"Equalizing Educational Opportunity in Texas" is the general theme for the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers Association. The convention will be held in El Paso, November 25-26-27. Extremely low railroad rates have been granted by every railroad system, which is expected to make the attendance large.

In keeping with the convention theme, President J. M. Bledsoe of the association has selected several of America's greatest educational experts to tell the Texas teachers what they must do toward equalizing educational opportunities for the Texas school children. The program is essentially one that deals with the secondary public schools, which is commonly recognized as the weakest unit of the Texas public school system.

El Paso has arranged for attractive sight seeing trips into Old Mexico, down the Rio Grande Valley through the irrigated farms and up the Valley and through the beautiful mountain regions.

Some of the outstanding speakers for the convention are: Elwood P. Cubberly, of Stanford University, of California; Frank D. Boynton, Supt. of the Public Schools, Ithaca, N. Y.; Ernest Horn, Dean of the College of Education, University of Iowa; J. E. Grant, Rural School Expert for Arkansas; L. Thomas Hopkins, University of Colorado, Boulder; Dr. Geo. W. Frazier Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley.

Texas speakers on the general program include: President P. W. Horn, Texas Technological College; President S. H. Whitley, East Texas State Teachers College; Dean B. F. Pittenger, University of Texas, and J. F. Kimball, Southern Methodist University.

Frank Norfleet of Hale Center, lectured at the courteous Saturday night under the auspices of the Phila-thea S. S. Class of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Snodgrass of Odessa, Texas, were up last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Walters. He has about completed his job in that city.

Mrs. Morgan Copeland and Mrs. Roy Wingard returned last week from Houston where they attended the grand lodge of the order of Eastern Stars, representing the Brownfield local. They made a side trip to Galveston while down there and report a very nice time.

SLIGHT FREEZE HIT OLD TERRY MONDAY

Last Thursday was rather cool following several days of rain and generally disagreeable weather. In fact when the earliest risers got out that morning, snow was falling, and continued to increase until it peppered down as it seldom does. About nine o'clock, however, the clouds broke up and the sun came out, but everyone predicted our first freeze of the season for that night, but it failed to materialize. Many were heard to remark that they had never before witnessed a snow before a freeze.

However, Monday night of this week our first freeze did arrive, belated though it is. Yet it was far from being a severe freeze, and only nipped the tenderest plants. Despite the fact that prognosticators are predicting a very severe winter, and no summer next year on account of the fact that our continent is supposed to be surrounded by cold water, so far we have had one of the mildest falls in the history of this section.

FOOTBALL BOYS SHOULD BE EXAMINED

AUSTIN TEXAS, Nov. 8.—Because it is often charged that too many coaches of high school football overwork the members of their teams Roy Henderson, athletic director of the Interscholastic League of the University of Texas, has called their attention to this matter.

"This proper training of a high school football squad is a science," Henderson stated. "It should not be entrusted to one incapable of dealing with the many problems that arise, or to one who will sacrifice the physical interests of the boys in his efforts to turn out a winner. It has been my observation that the most successful coaches are those who bring their boys along slowly, never forcing them through a daily grind that leaves them physically and mentally exhausted and less eager to play the game."

"The harm is not done," Henderson continued, "in playing a game once every seven days. In many cases the day of the game is the lightest day of the week from the standpoint of the workout. The damage is done by the coach, who, in his eagerness to win his district championship, puts his boys through a long, daily, grueling practice, losing sight entirely of the fact that he is doing the very thing that hurts his chances most."

"Undoubtedly the present tendency of too little rather than too much, high school boys when the best results can be secured through a policy of 'too little rather than too much.'"

"Some schools are allowing their teams to go on the field without ever having had the players examined by a physician. This is a dangerous practice and an unnecessary risk that no school man should be willing to take. In every town there is a physician who will be glad to give the boys a physical examination without charge. This is a 'safety first' measure that should not be overlooked."

GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS IN TERRY COUNTY

A total of 332 votes were cast in the general election, which was about one-fifth of the primary vote. The Democrats vote as usual was overwhelming. The Socialists and Independents failed to cast a vote.

All amendments carried by about three to one in Terry county.

The following is the vote polled in this county on a few of the state officers:

Congress, Marvin Jones, Dem. 312; S. E. Fish, Republican, 19.
Governor, Dan Moody, Dem., 303; H. H. Haines, Rep., 27.
Lt. Governor, Barry Miller, Dem., 308; W. H. Holmes, Rep., 19.
Atty. General, Claude Pollard, Dem., 314; Caswell K. McDowell, Rep., 18.

GOOD CROWDS ATTEND THE FIRST LYCEUM COURSE

Those who were so fortunately situated as to be privileged to attend the first number of our lyceum, were well paid for their time, it has been reported to us, and despite the inclemency of the weather, a nice audience was on hand to greet the New York Players.

The first number was Daddy Long Legs, which has proven such a popular hit on the legitimate stage for the past several years, not to mention the popularity of the novel from which the play was taken. Indeed, we understand that so popular has been the play that it is to be or has already been screened for the movies.

Those who attended inform us that the artists who presented the play in Brownfield last Thursday night were of the best, and everyone who attended were more than pleased.

One of the striking evidences of America's rapid rise toward commercial and industrial leadership of the world, is the Panama Canal, will almost certainly handle more freight in 1926 than will Suez. For several years the two canals have been in a neck and neck competition whose implications are the more interesting because the Panama ditch is owned by the American Government, and that at Suez by the British Government.

Of course both Canals are open to the ships of all nations; and the competition between them is not only between the United States and Britain, but in a larger and even more significant view it is competition between old world and new world.

When the Panama Canal was opened in 1915, Suez was already transiting about 25,000,000 tons of freight annually. Almost nobody believed Panama could ever attract anything approaching such a volume. But during the war fear of German submarines in the Mediterranean caused many vessels to take the Panama route between the far east and European or American ports. This gave Panama its introduction and it has not only held but greatly increased its business since the war. In 1923 Panama transited 5037 vessels against 4621 for Suez; Panama handled 25,160,000 cargo tons against 22,770,000 for Suez. This was the first year of Panama's lead.

A Close Race

The following year Suez barely exceeded Panama's tonnage; and in 1925 comfortably held its lead. But reports for 1926 to date indicate that Suez is losing, owing to Britain's industrial depression, while Panama is doing better and is pretty certain to resume the lead.

The present Suez Canal has been in operation nearly sixty years, Panama only eleven. Although few people except antiquarians know it, the first canal at Suez was built more than 3,000 years ago. It was in operation as early as B. C. 1380; how long before, is mere conjecture. Before the Christian era began the ditch had been built, destroyed, rebuilt, silted up and built up again, time after time. When Alexander the Great conquered Egypt the Canal was one of the oldest of engineering works.

Between 1904 and 1915 the present Panama Canal was constructed. It cost about $400,000,000, Suez about one-fourth that sum. But Suez is a simple, sea-level ditch across a sandy plain; while Panama is a lock canal, the greater part of its length lying 85 feet above sea level, so that most of the distance from ocean to ocean is through an artificial freshwater lake.

Early Profits Unexpected

When Roosevelt started building at Panama, neither he nor any other prophet of optimism would have dared suggest that within its first decade the Canal would earn a profit. Its chief justification concerned the national defense, and the establishment of competition with the trans-continental railroads.

Although both Canals are open to shipping of all nations, British vessels constitute the majority of those using Suez (55.3 per cent), while American vessels are 54.5 per cent of those using Panama.

For 1924, ships of 21 nations used the Suez route, while 24 nations were represented in the maritime caravan at Panama.

The World War was not the only unexpected factor in bringing Panama so quickly to equality with Suez, nor the most important. The enormous increase in Panama traffic in 1923 was represented almost entirely by petroleum and its products, moving from California to the east coast and Europe. In the year ended June 30, 1924, tolls aggregating $24,290,000 were collected, of which $9,071,000 was from tankers carrying petroleum. An even more striking statement of the matter is that for the same year exactly 50 per cent of all tonnage through the Canal was between the two ocean fronts of the United States; that is, 13,500,000 tons; and of this, considerably over 9,000,000 tons, or more than two-thirds was petroleum. It was of course chiefly from California, en route to eastern refineries. In the succeeding year this petroleum movement fell off heavily; but for 1926 it is again increasing and the increase is likely to continue for many years. But for the petroleum traffic, the Canal would have shown a deficit in every year of its operation.

The enormous petroleum business has been in other ways advantageous to Panama. A constantly increasing proportion of maritime shipping nowadays uses oil fuel. Oil-burning ships seek routes on which they can most cheaply buy oil; and because California oil can be put so cheaply into the bunkers of vessels passing through the Panama ditch, there is a substantial inducement to prefer this route. This will increasingly favor Panama and militate against Suez, as the number of oil burners increases. Moreover, Panama's advantage will still further increase as the enormous oil resources of Venezuela, Colombia, and other South American countries are developed.

Great Service of Panama

If cheap petroleum has thus served Panama so well, Panama in turn has equally served the American motorist, who consumes most of the world's petroleum products. For Panama has brought the Pacific Coast petroleum

ANOTHER WAY OF HANDLING THE TRAFFIC

A tourist in El Paso drove across a boulevard street without stopping. He did not see the sign. About two blocks further on a motorcycle officer drew alongside his car. The tourist stopped and awaited the usual proceedings. The policeman remarked that the driver seemed to be a stranger in the city. Let the tourist tell the story says the Texas Public Service Information Bureau:

"He pointed out to me the one-way streets, told me the speed limit and in what block I could park, and expressed the wish that my stay in El Paso would be most pleasant. He also advised me if there was any thing the police department could do for me not to hesitate to call on them."

"Lost Flower" Found

A species of flower which was discovered about the year 1750 and then lost for 175 years has been independently rediscovered by two scientists, Dr. E. T. Wherry of the United States bureau of chemistry and Dr. J. E. Benedict of the United States museum. This rare flower is known as the pink turtlehead. It was found near Marlboro, Md.

The pink turtlehead grows in wet ground, reaches a height of about three feet and has pink flowers resembling the neck of a turtle.

FIRE DESTROYS TWO-STORY BRICK AT LAMESA

The two-story brick building on North Second street, known as the George Hornbeck building, was destroyed by fire early Thursday morning. A vacant frame building adjoining the Hornbeck structure on the east was considerably damaged by the falling walls and the Lamesa feed and implement company building on the west of the burned building also suffered damage from the same source.

The alarm was turned in at one thirty Thursday morning and when the fire boys reached the place the flames had gained considerable headway. It was impossible to check the fire in the building, but the efficient work of the volunteer firemen confined the flames to the Hornbeck building and the loss was held down. Four automobiles were burned in the building. One of them was a large truck belonging to the Coca Cola bottling works, one a Ford touring car owned by O. D. Holloway and the other two were second hand cars belonging to Baker and Barron, agents for Star cars.

All the garage equipment belonging to George Hornbeck as well as a large stock of auto parts and supplies owned by Hornbeck and considerable stuff belonging to Baker and Barron was destroyed. The second floor of the building had been used as a meeting place for the Modern Woodmen and the Ku Klux Klan, but those organizations had not used the building recently.—Lamesa Journal.

Mrs. E. Brown left Sunday morning for Justiceburg where she met her mother, Mrs. Mary Zellner, of Alamogorda, N. M., who has been visiting relatives and friends at Lorraine and Abilene. Mr. Welton Winn, scientific and practical farmer of Lubbock county, and a special writer on the Avalanche came down last Saturday night and addressed a large crowd of Terry county farmers at the courthouse.

Travis Bynum was visiting his sister, Mrs. Floyd Stark at Seminole, last week.

The rice crop of Texas is in excess of five million bushels per year.

—WINKLER'S—

DRUNK IS COSTLY TO LUBBOCK MAN

One Lubbock drunk will remember Sunday, October 24, for many days. The drunk itself cost only three dollars, but by the time he gets through paying for the "trimmings" he will be bankrupt.

First he will have to pay the city a $25 fine for drunkenness. His conduct in jail was something fierce—he wanted to "cuss, climb and break up" everything he saw. He kicked out three windows, pulled down a screen and tore the wire into small strips. Well, he just bought the windows and wire, for he must pay for them. And that is not all.

He tried to drive his car, and the county has filed a felony charge against him, and if convicted he will get at least a 2-year job hoeing cane on a state prison farm. He admits that it is the trimmings that cost—Lubbock Avalanche.

Terry county had ginned 2567 bales of cotton up to October 25th as compared to 1797 at the same time last year.

Cleve Holden and family passed through Tuesday on their way to Sudan, where he has some rental property. He was accompanied as far as Brownfield by his brother, H. H. Holden, of Los Angeles, who is stopping a few days with his sister, Mrs. Stricklin. He is accompanied by his little son, Jack.

The Herald did not suspect that it had an operator on hand that was fast enough to run a hot box, but it has. At least we had one last week on the new machine that was not getting sufficient grease. Mr. W. C. Edwards, Linotype machinist of the Lubbock Avalanche was called down and help us out of the trouble.

Rev. J. M. P. Morrow, of Seminary Hill, Fort Worth, was here the past week and filled the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday night.

Shifting Gears on Lollipop

The great actress from her height was trying to be patronizing. When the little laundry boy entered her dressing room and laid down the package of laundry, she noticed the several of his teeth were out. But he had better have remained silent when she asked him, "And how did you lose your teeth, my little man?" or he replied, "Shiftin' gears on a lollipop"—Bindery Talk.

Woman's Courage

In active courage women are inferior to men. In the courage of endurance they are commonly their superiors; but their passive courage is not so much fortitude which bears and defies as resignation which bears and yields.—Locky.

Help to Success

You will succeed best when you put the restless, anxious side of affairs out of mind and allow the restful side to live in your thoughts.—Margaret Stone.

Evil of Prejudice

It is no exaggeration to say that the greatest obstacle to human progress along every line is to be found in human prejudices. It is our prejudices that blind us to the truth, and it is truth alone that can ever make men free.—John Herman Randall.

We have again had it demonstrated that one can never tell what the old weather man is going to do in this section. Last Thursday the ground was well covered in snow, but after the sun came out the vegetation had an expression as if it was saying, "Old Jack Frost didn't touch me."

It is reported that the turkey crop is much lighter this year than in either 1924 or 1925, and that little turkey meat is on cold storage. Therefore it is the general opinion that the householder will pay a much greater price than the past two years for his Thanksgiving bird. But there is one consolation in this. The producer, if he has his birds ready, will share in the higher price of turkeys, and that means something to the farmer already overloaded with low priced products.

The home newspaper as an institution, has survived many difficulties; the onslaught of opposition; the increase in cost of publication; the perennial of unpaid subscriptions; the uncertainty of advertising patronage; problems of competition, and the hazard of its own mistakes. The newspaper is a growth, a development made possible by the cooperative and receptive spirit of the people. It is the echo of the community's voice, a reflection of the community's vision, a champion of the community's rights—Exchange.

It is said that the United States imports some $85,000,000 worth of jute each year, most of which is used for cotton wrapping. Now it seems to us that a coarse cloth could be manufactured out of a cheap grade of cotton, and thus take care of the sale of an immense lot of cotton in this way. We believe if the farmers would only demand that their cotton be wrapped in cotton instead of jute, their demands would be met. We note that our Texas sugar refineries are now using cotton packing both inner and outside, and we see no good reason why cotton cannot be used for wrapping cotton bales.

What! A year without a summer? Well, 110 years ago that very thing happened. Herbert Janvrin Browne, a weather expert, says: "The same oceanic changes that prevailed in 1816 are now in evidence. We have the severest winter in 1924-27 ever known in the North America continent. America is practically surrounded by cold water and will be by next year."—Farm and Ranch.

We have been hearing this story for the past two or three years until we have become rather skeptical of this frozen temperate zone business. The Editor experienced a very eventful week-end. Arriving at Ells-kell Saturday night in time to be near a very gruesome murder in which a nightwatchman was murdered in cold blood. Returning to O'Donnell in time to learn of a stolen automobile belonging to the foreman of the office, leaving fifteen minutes later to recover same, making a 200 mile drive after supper almost wrecking our own car at a detour in the wee small hours of the morning; later passing the scene of a burning cotton gin, finally reaching home and bed at 4 a.m.—What is the world coming too?—O'Donnell Index.

In this case it may be truly said that "troubles never come singly."

Why should we be discouraged because of the slump in the price of cotton. The depression is only temporary. Farmers will decrease the acreage next year and plant other things besides cotton. This is one of the best farming countries in Texas. In fact it is going to be the richest agricultural section in the state. In five years there will be many new farms, and many substantial farm homes will replace the shacks and modest residences that may now be seen throughout the country. We believe in the future of Lynn county. —Lynn County News.

This section is already the richest farming section in Texas population considered, and with the advent of more diversified farming, it will very easily outclass anything in the United States for the reason of our mild and wholesome climate.

Football may be a great game for many people are "wild" about it, but from what we can gather from the game at a safe distance, it seems to be designed to cripple and maim the sturdiest youths of our land. We noticed several of our boys limping around town after the recent "game" at Post. The Herald is for all kind of games that are reasonably safe, and is especially struck on the track meets and such like, but being a cripple himself, the editor has no desire to see others go through life the same way, and with perhaps other vital organs of the body weakened. If the game could be reformed, like for instance it is played in England, we could have no great objection to it. A lot of us throw up our hands in horror when a prize fight is mentioned, but they are no worse than the present system of football, for a man or boy has some chance of defending themselves in a prize fight, but what can he do when some nine big huskies pile on top of him, mashing his face and wrenching his limbs?

ARE MODERN GIRLS VERY DIFFERENT FROM GRANDMA?

Much is being said and written these days about our American girls and whither they are going. If we would believe all that appears in public print it might readily be supposed that the female of the race had lost her attractiveness as well as her right to be known as the "better-half" of humanity and was "hell bent" for final destruction. Some clergymen, as well as laymen have placed the American girl under a sort of microscope and are trying to dissect her trait by trait, and act by act. They have pointed to her short skirts, her paints and powders, her bobbed hair, her insistence upon freedom, and pictured all of them as direct evidence of the decadent youth. Here and there more confident voices have cut through these criticisms and declared that there was no essential difference between the girls of yesterday and those of today.

A perusal of the Saturday Review, published away back in 1868, reveals that the same problem occupied pious minds in that era and yet these same girls have since become the honored and respected grand-mothers of the present day generation. One would almost think that he was reading a publication today, when he glances over the following lines which ap-

A good bank possesses strength over and above the satisfying figures of a financial statement. Our resources, banking affiliations, or our strong vaults do not contain all that makes this bank a constructive power in the community.
The officers and staff of this bank who give daily their best efforts to express our ideals of courteous service and in their acts express appreciation of our customers; the friends we have and the friends we make; these are human assets of incalculable worth. peared in the Saturday Review of the long ago:
"The modern girl is a creature who dies her hair and paints her face as the first article of religion."
"Whose sole purpose in life is plenty of fun and luxury and whose dress is the object of such thought and intellect as she possesses. Her main endeavor in this is to outvie her neighbor in extravagance."
"With purity of taste she has lost also that far more precious purity and delicacy of perception which sometimes more than appears on the surface."
The modern girl has done away with such moral muffishness as consideration for others, or regard for counsel or rebuke.
"It was very well in the old-fashioned times when fathers and mothers had some authority and were treated with some respect, to be tutored and made to obey, but she is too fast and flourishing to be stopped in midcareer by those slow old morals."
"It leads to slang, bold talk and fastness, uselessness at home, dissatisfaction with the monotony of ordinary life, and horror of all useful work."
Probably it would be wiser for the older ones to seek to make our homes more attractive for the young girls than to be everlastingly criticizing them for following in the footsteps of their grandmothers, who have long since clearly proven that virtue is not always wrapped up in sack cloth and ashes.—National Farm News.

TECH TALKS
By a Student.
Friday of last week the Matadors battled the Daniel Baker Hill Billies to a scoreless tie at Brownwood. A week earlier the Hill Billies won an overwhelming victory of 27 to 7 from the Simmons Cowboys.
Thursday November 4th the Tech band met Will Rogers at the depot to welcome him to Lubbock. That evening the famous humorist and the DeRizise Quartet entertained at the High School auditorium. Will Rogers won the undying gratitude of Tech through his interest in the institution shown by the unsolicited donation of a liberal sum toward paying the band's expenses on the trip to Fort Worth.
A contract has been let to a construction company for a $30,000 gymnasium. Construction will begin immediately. It is hoped that the building will be ready for use by the latter part of the basketball season.
Tech's newest publication, a magazine of college humor, made its first appearance in the November issue. It is to be a monthly publication written by Tech students featuring the humorous side of college life. The magazine has not yet been named and a prize is being offered students for the best title suggested.

Run-Down

"MY health wasn't any account at all," says Mrs. H. L. Cayton, of Washington, N. C. "I would start to do my housework and I would give out before I had done anything at all. I did not have any strength, and if I did the least thing it seemed to tax me so I could not finish. I was run-down sure enough."
"Several of my friends had taken Cardui and they said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' I knew I needed something to build up my general health and to increase my strength."
"Finally one day when I was recovering from a spell of sickness, I decided to try Cardui. I got a bottle and began to take it. I could notice that I was improving as my appetite got better and I did not give out nearly so quick. I took several bottles and I felt lots better."
"Two years ago I decided to take it again. It built me up and made me feel like a different person. It is the grandest medicine for women that I know anything about."

TEXAS 1926 FARM INCOME TO EXCEED THAT FOR 1925

Figures released by the Department of Agriculture indicate that regardless of the present low price of cotton the outlook for agriculture in Texas and the Southwest is even brighter this year than last, when $799,330,000 was produced in Texas from crops alone. As shown by the following figures, the crop production in Texas and the Southwest this year will exceed that of last year.

The accompanying crop figures, the latest available for 1925 as compared with last year, cannot be read without a feeling of pride in what Texas will do this year. The figures speak for themselves. They show such a variety of crops grown on a commercial scale that failure of either a single crop, or in the price of one crop, does not materially effect general economic conditions. These farmers who did not put all of their capital, time and labor on a single crop—those who consider the farm as a place to live and make a living, and their numbers are in excess of what has ever been the case in Texas and the Southwest heretofore, are not materially discouraged by the unfavorable price of cotton at the present time.

These crops statistics do not include livestock or livestock products. In Texas, livestock and livestock products add approximately $275,000,000 to the income this year, and poultry about $75,000,000. Thus, Texas will this year stack up a total agricultural income of more than a billion dollars. Oils and minerals in Texas will add another $160,000,000 to this year's income.

The figures given herewith eliminate all pessimistic theories. The crop income in Texas largely controls the economic situation of the state and these figures showing the 1926 production compared to 1925 remove beyond a doubt the possibility of a lower agricultural income in Texas this year than last.

THE ROMANCE OF OUR ELECTRIC LIGHT SYSTEMS

What would happen if a giant switch could shut off electric current from world wide today? E. B. Cridle of the Southern Sierras Power Company, Riverside, Calif., shows the dependence of humanity on electricity. He says: "We are living today in what may well be termed the 'electric age,' the age of all others most replete with opportunity, action and romance. It has been called by some, and I think miscalled, the 'jazz age,' and is not this very jazzy a feeble effort to perchance misdirected effort to get into step, shall we say, into synchronism, with the spirit of the times; to keep up with the inevitably swift pace of this age of electricity which has linked together in intimate and immediate contact the uttermost ends of the earth.

E—Embodiment of mystery.
E—Energy, light, heat, power.
C—Carrier of winged messages.
T—Towering above all other forces.
R—Revolutionizing other industry.
I—Irresistible, incomprehensible.
C—Chained lightning.
I—Incomparable, unring servant.
T—The unknown and unknowable.
Y—Yielding prosperity, happiness.
—Without electricity today the wheels of progress, and almost of existence, would be stilled until men could readjust themselves to the changed conditions, and revert to the candle, oil lamps and gas for lights; to fuel of some kind for all heat; to steam and horses for power and for transportation, and to the bicycle and small boy for carrying messages. Many conveniences now deemed necessities, would be gone forever.

"America leads the world in electric development. In 50 years we have seen the fantasy of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp surpassed a thousandfold. Can we, in our wildest of dreams, imagine what the next half century has in store?"

We are authorized to announce that Rev. C. O. Davis, who has been called by the local Christian church for part time, will fill his pulpit here Sunday morning and evening.

BOSTON GETS LARGEST GENERATING MACHINE

A steam turbine rated at 63,000 kilowatts or 84,000 horsepower, which when completed will be the world's largest single cylinder turbine machine, has been purchased by the Edison Illuminating Company of Boston from the General Electric Company. It will be installed in the new Edgar generating station of the Edison system at Weymouth, Mass.

The largest single cylinder turbines in use today are rated at 50,000 kilowatts, 1,800 revolutions per minute, and 60,000 kilowatts, at 1500 revolutions per minute. The new Boston turbine, rated at 3,000 kilowatts more than the present record size, will operate at 1800 revolutions per minute. Current will be generated at 14,000 volts.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Yoakum county, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. F. Merritt, Ella Merritt and M. Whitley, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper published to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Yoakum county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Plains on the fourth Monday in December, A.D. 1926, the same being the 27th day of December A.D. 1926, then and there to answer a petition in intervention filed in said court by H. E. Byrne on the 3rd day of November A.D. 1926, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 154, wherein J. F. Merritt and wife Ella Merritt are plaintiffs and M. Whitley and C. O. Austin, Commissioner of the Department of Banking are defendants, and said H. E. Byrne is intervenor alleging in said petition that he is interested in the subject matter of this suit, and has a cause of action against the plaintiff J. F. Merritt and wife Ella Merritt, and against the defendant M. Whitley and against C. O. Austin, Commissioner of the Department of Banking of the State of Texas.

That this suit was filed in the court on the 13th day of November A. D. 1920, by plaintiff J. F. Merritt and wife Ella Merritt against the defendant M. Whitley, in which suit the plaintiffs sought to recover off and from the defendant 160 acres of land situated in Yoakum county, Texas, and being the Southwest one-fourth Section 634, Block D, John H. Gibson original grantee, alleging that the defendant M. Whitley had secured a deed to said land by certain false and fraudulent representations seeking to have said deed cancelled and set aside, and that all contracts pertaining to same be rescinded.

That on or about the 28th day of March 1921, the Security State Bank of Fort Worth, Texas, filed in this cause its plea in intervention in which said bank alleged among other things that before the commencement of this suit, to-wit on the 5th day of June A. D. 1920, the defendant M. Whitley was, and now is justly indebted to said bank in the sum of $4,000.00, as evidenced by his on certain promissory note for said sum of money executed by the defendant M. Whitley and payable to the order of R. A. Cox, due on or before two years after date, and at the same time of the execution and delivery of said note, the said M. Whitley also made, executed and delivered a certain deed of trust against the above described land and premises to secure the payment of said note, and the Security State Bank also alleged that said note and deed of trust had been thereafter transferred to it for a valuable consideration and that it had no actual or constructive notice of the fraud as alleged by the plaintiffs in their petition.

The intervenor, H. E. Byrne, also alleges that after the note and deed of trust referred to in the plea filed by the Security State Bank, was transferred and assigned to said bank that it became necessary for the intervenor H. E. Byrne, to take said note out of said bank and pay said bank a sum of money equal to said note, that the intervenor H. E. Byrne was at that time president of said bank, and that he took said note out of said bank and paid in lieu thereof a sum of money to said bank equal in value to said note, and that by reason thereof the intervenor H. E. Byrne became and has been at all times since, the legal owner and holder of said note, and is entitled to a judgment on said note and a foreclosure of his lien against defendant M. Austin, Commissioner of Banking of the State of Texas, and the intervenor prays for judgement, that the plaintiffs take nothing by reason of their suit and that he have judgement against M. Whitley for the principal interest and attorney's fees due on said note and for foreclosure of his deed of trust lien against the above described land and premises as against the plaintiffs and the defendants in this suit, and for the cost of suit and general and special relief.

DON'T SHOUT WHEN USING THE TELEPHONE

You've talked with him by telephone and you've noticed the tone of surprise in his voice when you say "speak louder." Sometimes he may think you are hard of hearing, or else the connection is poor.

The telephone is a wonder worker, but it cannot overcome failure to use it properly.

It works best when you talk straight into the mouthpiece, with your lips not more than an inch away.

Another suggestion: If you are told to speak louder get closer to the mouthpiece, use a full natural tone and take extra care to pronounce all words distinctly.

The better you use the telephone the more valuable its service becomes.

BARTON TO HEAD BAPTIST PROGRAM

Missourian Will Lead Effort to Increase Mission and Benevolent Budget

CHURCHES GIVE TOO LITTLE

Survey Reveals Low Standards Maintained by Many—Plans Are Laid For Improvement in 1927

To lead Southern Baptists in greatly increasing their budget for the support of missions, Christian education and benevolences, Dr. A. J. Barton of Kansas City, superintendent of Baptist work in Missouri for the past three years, and one of the most prominent men in the denomination, has accepted the position of general director of the Baptist Co-operative Program, and will move to Nashville, Tenn., to assume his new duties at once.

Southern Baptists are seeking to raise $9,000,000 for the Co-operative Program during this convention year and Dr. Barton will seek to enlist the aid of every agency and church of the Southern Baptist Convention in the accomplishment of this task.

Has Served Denomination
To his new position Dr. Barton brings a wide denominational and public experience. He has held prominent pastorates in the South and has served as associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, field secretary of the Home Mission Board, general secretary of the Arkansas State Mission Board, and secretary of the Texas Baptist Education Commission prior to taking up his work in Missouri. He has also long been prominent in the cause of temperance. For sixteen years he has been a member of the executive and legislative committees of the Anti-saloon League of America, and during his incumbency as superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of Texas he saw prohibition written into the constitution of that state.

DR. A. J. BARTON
New General Director Baptist Co-operative Program

Bringing the Baptist churches of the South to a higher standard in giving to the missionary, educational and benevolent program of the denomination, known as the Co-operative Program, will be the first and chief task to which the new general director will address himself.

According to a recent survey of the record of the Baptist churches of the South, compiled from the letters of the individual churches to their district associations for 1925, made by Dr. E. P. Alldredge, statistical secretary of Southern Baptists, 5,927 churches listed as co-operating with the Southern Baptist Convention, gave nothing to missions and benevolences last year. Other interesting information gleaned from this survey reveals that 12,319 other churches, or slightly more than one-half of the total number of churches, retained from 76 to 99 cents out of every dollar coming into their treasuries for purely local work; 1,665 churches apportioned from 67 to 75 cents, and 1,555 churches from 51 to 66 cents out of every dollar contributed to their own local work; whereas, only 501 churches in all the South gave 50 cents or more out of every dollar coming into their treasuries to missions and benevolences beyond the borders of their own communities.

The Southern Baptist Convention has established an ideal of a fifty-fifty distribution in that it is recommending to the churches that they endeavor to give half of all the money raised by them to the general work of the denomination, retaining the other half for their own local expenses.

Included in the plans of the Co-operative Program is an every-member canvass this fall in every Baptist church with a view to enlisting every member in making a subscription to missions and benevolences.

Another effort is that of enlisting at least 500,000 Southern Baptists as tithers, or giving one-tenth of their incomes to religious work through their churches. In this connection the number of tithers which each state in the Southern Baptist Convention will undertake to enlist is given as follows: Alabama, 37,850; Arkansas, 21,250; District of Columbia, 2,000; Florida, 13,650; Georgia, 55,950; Illinois, 8,700; Kentucky, 42,950; Louisiana, 14,800; Maryland, 2,450; Mississippi, 30,000; Missouri, 31,400; New Mexico, 1,500; North Carolina, 50,000; Oklahoma, 17,000; South Carolina, 29,500; Tennessee, 37,500; Texas, 71,500; and Virginia, 20,000.

Adventuring to Top of Nation's Capitol

Capitol guides don't take tourists to the dome of that great white building. If you want to go up to that aerial and overlook the city, you have got to make the adventure alone.

The ascent is long and tedious, but it is well worth the climb when you come out at last on the tiny balcony atop the great iron dome. First you take your departure from an alcove off the Supreme court corridor, winding up a set of narrow spiral stairs and emerging at the first landing in a maze of iron girders and rafters. Then you start up an even more tortuous set of steps between the outer crust of the dome and its inner ceiling. It all looks like some vast modernistic stage setting in the gray light.

Finally you come out on a balcony circling the rotunda. Overhead is the gorgeous Brunild mural, which forms the topmost decoration of this huge central room of the capitol. You are close enough almost to touch its edges. The drop from this painted canopy to the stone floor of the rotunda is 180 feet.

Then you start up once more, up through the very attic of the capitol. The air is heavy and hot and dusty. On all sides are the great metal girders which support the dome. Four thousand tons of cast iron all about you. Your staircase weaves upward through this gloomy maze, suddenly emerging by an iron door upon the small balcony, 50 feet below the top of the bronze statue of freedom that crowns the structure. You are just under the sky.

Names—names—names—hundreds and thousands of names. Tourists have scribbled their names all over the stonework of the dome. It is a horrible sight. The walls, the balcony, the metal door have all been defaced in this barbaric fashion. Nothing is sacred to these people who blot themselves in crude scrawls over everything. Probably they go home and brag that their names are thus written above the dome of the nation's chief building.—Beattie Foster

Prehistoric Workshop

A complete prehistoric workshop containing 17 heaps of flint tools and weapons numbering altogether 4,000 pieces was recently discovered by geologists at Frindsbury, Rochester, in the Valley of Medway, England.

The tools, according to reports of the find, include hand axes of large flint flakes, hammer stones of quartz and large rounded pieces of flint.

The discovery was made in a queer saucer-shaped depression in a chalk cliff, and the relics are believed to date from the mid-pleistocene times—the age supposed to precede immediately that of man.

Modern Fable

Four animals went to a circus—a duck, a pig, a frog and a skunk. All of them got in except one. The duck had a bill, the pig had four quarters and the frog had a greenback, but the skunk had only a "cent."—Exchange.

OUTLOOK FOR COMPETITION IN COTTON GROWING

The United States of North America has been, since 1793 when the cotton gin was invented, in the lead of all other countries in cotton production and with diligence may hold this lead indefinitely, notwithstanding the fact that there are influences at work in promotion of cotton production in other countries having soils and climate fully as well adapted to cotton growing as our own; but American cotton growers cannot afford to ignore the possibilities of competition and should proceed intelligently so as to produce neither so little cotton as to induce increased acreages in foreign countries nor so much as to impoverish not only themselves, but the growers of every land, and above all, if American supremacy is to be maintained, our cotton must be produced efficiently. This is perhaps a stern view of the outlook for cotton production in the United States, but it is nevertheless heartening when considered in the light of an intimate discussion of the subject by Dr. B. Youngblood, Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Bulletin No. 345 which has just come from the press and is entitled, "The Possibilities of Brazil as a Competitor of the United States in Cotton Growing."

Doctor Youngblood has for some time been directing his thoughts to the economic phases of the cotton industry and during his visit to Brazil in 1922 he made copious notes upon the geography of that wonderful country and upon the stages of agricultural development and the general possibilities of the population. He reports fully in his bulletin many interesting features which he found in Brazil that have important bearing upon the future of the American Cotton industry and which cotton producers of the United States will read with profit.

P. E. Pope, of Alvarado, came in Monday from his home which he left Sunday, spending the night at Snyder with some old friends. Mr. Pope has some good property in Terry he came out to see about. He reports fine crops in the Alvarado section of the state. In fact he said they had made too much crops for their own good.

J. A. Roberts and wife, of Coahoma, came up Sunday to visit a few days with Mrs. Roberts' sister, Mrs. Stricklin, and see Miss Sallie Truman who had been ordered to bed for two months following an operation for removal of her tonsils and adenoids.

Brown & Benton have formerly opened their filling station at the new Chevrolet Garage, and have one of the prettiest and neatest places in town. Mr. Carter has also moved into his splendid new brick home in the same building with his Chevrolet business.

No Secrets to Making Perfect Cup of Coffee

Can Be Achieved By Following A Few Simple Rules Says Famous Cooking Expert

By Mildred Maddocks Bentley
Formerly Director of Good Housekeeping Institute

What is the secret of first-rate coffee—the kind that starts the day right—that makes you feel "like a million dollars"?

Literally hundreds of women—and a surprising number of men—have asked me this question in one form or another. And it's an important one—for what can be more blighting to domestic happiness than a cup of muddy coffee or coffee improperly "creamed"? And, on the contrary, what can be more exhilarating than a good cup—fragrant, golden, delicious?

Luckily there's no hidden secret about making and serving the perfect coffee—it's just a matter of minding your p's and q's and following a few simple directions.

Selection of Coffee

There are many excellent brands of coffee in the market—the choice of one of these is largely a matter of individual taste. But I do want to say that usually coffee in the bean retains its flavor longer than in the ground form—so, if possible, buy the whole beans and grind your coffee fresh for each meal. If, however, the breakfast hour—or fifteen minutes—is too hectic to admit of this extra step, at least keep your ground coffee in an air tight container—a glass fruit jar for instance. And it's well to remember that the more finely the coffee is ground, the easier it is to extract its full strength and flavor—consequently finely-ground coffee is economical and time-saving.

The Coffee Pot

Connoisseurs maintain that coffee brewed in a metal pot has a less delicate flavor than in a container of glass, stone-ware or agate. Whatever kind of coffee pot you prefer—it should be scoured frequently and occasionally "boiled out" with water to which a pinch of baking soda has been added—then rinsed, dried, and left uncovered.

If a percolator is used, the pipe should be carefully washed every day with a brush to remove all scum from the preceding brew.

For drip coffee, if you do not have a special drip coffee pot, an ordinary one equipped with a double cheesecloth bag will serve the purpose. The cheesecloth should be washed in cold water after using and renewed at least once a week. Keep the bag always moist.

The "Creaming"

This I consider quite as important as the actual brewing. Good coffee can so easily be spoiled by using cream of inferior quality or the "top of the bottle" if carelessly poured off. In my study of food habits, I am finding that every year more and more people prefer sweetened condensed milk in their coffee. You see this kind is twice as rich and creamy as ordinary milk and furthermore already contains sugar, thus serving the additional purpose of sweetening the coffee. Try it for a few days, and I think you will agree that the condensed milk gives a delightfully rich, smoothly blended drink, bringing out the real coffee flavor. And of course it is very convenient, as it keeps fresh without ice even after the can is opened—and the cost is extremely moderate.

Now as to the actual methods of brewing. There are several and your choice is entirely a matter of individual taste. If the directions are carefully followed, any of the methods will yield the "perfect cup of coffee"—mellow in flavor, with a delicate, fragrant aroma, free from sediment and of a dark golden hue.

Boiled Coffee

Rinse the pot with hot water, put the coffee in the pot—one rounded tablespoon of medium-ground coffee to each cup of boiling water, with an additional spoon "for the pot." Add a little pinch of salt, or crushed egg shell and about one-fourth cup of cold water, stirring lightly. Add the boiling water, place the coffee pot over heat, and bring to a full boil. Place on back of the stove or over low heat for about ten minutes to settle, before serving. Do not allow the coffee to become uncracked by careless pouring.

Percolated Coffee

Put one cup of finely-ground coffee to six cups of boiling water. Place the coffee in the upper part of the pot and let the water bubble up through the tube, percolating through the coffee into the lower part, until the coffee is of the desired strength, five minutes being the usual time required. Serve at once. Coffee made in a percolator is not good if allowed to stand after the required strength is reached.

Drip Coffee

Heat the pot by placing in hot water, and set the strainer. Measure carefully the coffee (finely-ground) allowing one rounded tablespoon to each cup of water. Place in the drip-medium and pour boiling water through the coffee very slowly. Cover and let stand to drip through and serve immediately. Do not allow the brew to cool. If service is delayed, place the pot in or over hot water. Never return by placing over the fire.

Steeped Coffee

In making steeped coffee use one rounded tablespoon of coffee to each cup of water used, with an additional spoon for the pot. Add cold water. Place over the fire and bring quickly to the boiling point. Either let it stand for a moment to settle or add a little cold water.

Remember—the best coffee will lose its flavor if allowed to stand. Coffee should always be freshly made and served piping hot, as soon as it is brewed. If necessary to let stand, the pot should be tightly covered and the spout closed by stuffing with soft cloth or paper, so that none of the aroma and flavor may be lost.

GOSPEL ACCORDING TO ST. HENRY

At that time there appeared in the heavens a certain star and the three wise men knew that the time was come for the journey unto Bethlehem of Judea.

And they, gathering unto themselves goods and chattels, set forth in their Lizzies and the same were made of tin. And they brought rich gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh also divers cartons of Camels and Chesterfields.

And as their guide they followed the star which appeared in the East and a certain road map provided by the Patriarchs Rand and McNally Scribes and Pharisees Incorporated.

Coming, therefore, to a crossing on the way they saw by the signboard of the Prophet Isaiah. This road leadeth to Damascus, Jerusalem, Bethlehem and all points North and West.

And the wise men taking counsel among themselves, said the one to the other, O, O, let us go; for lo, here it is written in the words of the Prophet.

And it came to pass that they arrived at another sign which blocked up the width of the road, saying De-tour ye three days' journey to Damascus and continue not by this road. They, therefore, being passing wrath swore round oaths and plucked their beards.

And they saw that it was written in the book to turn to the right at a certain olive tree. And they came to a place where they saw a multitude of olive trees, and being bewildered they wot not the whereof that they wouldst. Neither did they know third base from Shinola.

And having wandered according to the book many years in the wilderness, they came to a place which was called Bethlehem.

And there they were told by the Cretors of the law that the Savior was born and ascended unto heaven for lo these many years.

And they went forth from that place to east sackcloth and ashes upon the Patriarchs Rand and McNally, Scribes and Pharisees Incorporated.

INSECT ENEMIES OF FLOWER GARDENS; THEIR CONTROL

The manner in which an insect feeds upon plants largely determines the insecticide that should be used, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Insects are provided either with chewing or sucking mouth parts. When plants are attacked by insects of the chewing type, such as leaf-eating beetles, grasshoppers, and caterpillars, some stomach poison such as arsenate of lead spray is suitable, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1495-F, "Insect Enemies of the Flower Garden."

Since sucking insects, such as thrips, aphids, scale insects, and mealy-bugs, are not affected by stomach poisons because of the fact that they draw their food from within the plant, insecticides for them must kill by their burning action, by poisoning through the breathing apparatus, or by suffocation. One of the best sprays for this purpose is nicotine or tobacco solution.

A satisfactory spray for use against both chewing and sucking insects, combining as it does the properties of the stomach poison and the contact insecticide, may be made by adding to each gallon of arsenate of lead solution one-half ounce of soap and one teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate.

A copy of the bulletin, which gives considerable information concerning numerous insect enemies of plants, particularly those attacking flowers, may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, by writing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

OBEY THE FLAG

Flagmen or gatemen are on duty at certain crossings during such hours as conditions warrant.

Their duties are few but important. As a rule they are staunch, reliable, and faithful railroad employees, deserving your respect. When they bid you to STOP it is for your safety.

They are not targets for attack by car or tongue, as some drivers seem to think. Give them a square deal. Even though a crossing is supposed to be protected by gates, flagmen, or other means, do not lessen your own vigilance at such a crossing.

Figs are among the oldest Texas fruits produced. Texas fig orchards will produce in excess of four thousand pounds of fruit to the acre the third year after planting.
