

FOUNDATION BEING DUG AT HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

J. M. Morgan Construction Co. Has a Big Crew Digging Foundation and Basement This Week. Most of Crew Are Home Men. Work to Be Rushed Forward.

The site was staked off last week for the new $75,000 new high school building, but actual work of excavation was not started until this week. A great force of men are at work and they are throwing up a mountain of dirt there already. The basement part will not cover the entire floor plan by any means, as it will only be large enough to accommodate the heating plant. Mr. J. M. Morgan of the Morgan Construction Co., of Big Spring, who has the contract, has Geo. Snodgrass here in charge of construction. Mr. Snodgrass is almost considered a home boy, having married a Brownfield girl while here when this company built the courthouse some three years ago. We noted with pleasure that nearly all the men at work were Brownfield men.

We understand that the work of construction will be pushed with all rapidity. A local lumber company, Cicero-Smith, got the material bill, and it was ordered out Tuesday night. This included 145,000 feet of lumber which will come in car loads from the mills. When the fall term of school rolls around, Brownfield will have buildings and equipment second to none, size of town considered. Our understanding is that the present grammar school will be used only for the first five grades in the future, and that the 6th and 7th grades will be shifted to the present high school building, which will be known as the Junior High, and the new Senior High School building will house only the last four years of high school work.

The board of trustees are now working diligently on the erection of a first class gymnasium, which will be built from funds now on hand and from delinquent taxes they hope to collect in the next few weeks. If you are behind with your taxes, pay up and help out in this work, as it is very certain that in the very near future physical culture work will be required in all schools, and Brownfield wants to be ready to go. The board of trustees for the past several years have been men of great business ability, and have in that time paid out all due indebtedness against the district, and we understand have funds on hand to take care of or have paid yearly bond certificates several years in advance, and that the district is A-1 financially. Brownfield district is perhaps paying less per capita for education than any city in this section, thanks to the business ability to the trustees and the head of the school faculty.

Let us as citizens get behind them to a man and make the Brownfield school still greater.

Firemen Stage Another Banquet Wed. Night

The local firemen staged another of their periodical banquets last Wednesday night at the Hancock Cafe in the Hotel Brownfield, at which the editor was invited, but other business detained us so that we were unable to attend. It was a very successful affair, and we are sure that the firemen will continue to give us such enjoyable evenings.

Among other business taken up at the time was the coming state convention, and it was discussed whether or not the local firemen would make an effort to compete in the fire drills at the state convention. Of course other things also came up that apply to the local company and was thrashed out at the meeting. A little less banqueting and more economy was stressed in order to have money to make the state convention.

At this point, Bruce Hancock, proprietor of the cafe, who is himself an old time fireman made a nice talk of encouragement to the boys, and wound up by telling them not to worry about the finances of the feed, as he himself was taking care of that, and stood ready in every way possible to help put things over big at the state convention. Of course Bruce got a big hand from the boys, who told him how much they appreciated his big hearted help.

As stated some time since in these columns, the Herald also stands ready to assist the boys every way possible to make them more efficient of possible, or more convenient for them to get to and fight fires, and we believe there are dozens of other firms here who feel the same way about the matter when it comes to that.

Janet Gaynor Awarded Medal For Best Acting

From extra girl to one of Hollywood's leading screen actresses—in 4 brief years! That is the achievement of Janet Gaynor, co-featured with Charles Farrell in the original Fox Movietone comedy "Sunny Side Up," written especially for the audible screen by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, distinguished trio of librettist composers.

Miss Gaynor, innately modest and retiring, would be the last person in the world to advance a claim to cinematic fame. But the fact remains that just recently she was awarded the gold statue of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Scientists for the best performance of any screen actress during 1929. Her unforgettable performance in "7th Heaven" won the award.

Miss Gaynor turns her talent to musical comedy for the first time in "Sunny Side Up." Since the advent of talking pictures, the diminutive little actress has been preparing for her debut as a singing and dancing comedienne. Lacking actual stage experience, she really had to start all over again.

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor in the Fox Movietone Musical Comedy, "Sunny Side Up"

When DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, authors of eight highly successful Broadway musical comedies, and scores of popular song hits, prepared "Sunny Side Up" for Fox Movietone, they had Miss Gaynor in mind, and cleverly wove her personality into the highly interesting story which forms the background for the production.

No less than seven new song hits are played and sung in the course of the screen and musical comedy.

A thirty-five piece jazz orchestra, under the direction of Howard Jackson, a forty-two piece boys' band, a society charity show, water carnival, an East Side Fourth of July block party and a beauty dancing chorus of sixty are unusual features of "Sunny Side Up," which is the forth coming feature at the Rialto Theatre, next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 6, 7 and 8th.

Ladies Flower Exchange Big Success

We believe there was nothing stated in these columns the past week in regard to the flower exchange at the Holgate-Enderssen store the past Saturday week. We are glad to say that the exchange went over in a big way, and that the ladies are in every way pleased for it goes to show that people are surely waking up to more beautiful homes.

Not only were the town ladies interested in the show, but the ladies from the rural communities were in attendance all day, and helped in many ways to make the exchange a great success. In fact, many of them brought in seeds, cuttings and bulbs, and took some home with them that others brought. In the early hours of the forenoon, there was lots of such things on display, and the ladies thought surely that they would have all the flowers and shrubs and bulbs that anyone would want and to spare, but by the middle of the afternoon, they were gone—cleaned out, and Mrs. Wingerd and other ladies were out in town to get more, as some of the ladies had promised to furnish more if need be.

We are glad to see the ladies both in town and about town take an interest in their homes. This shows that they are preparing to make their homes permanent in Terry county, and that these homes will reflect the high quality of the owners. The home always tells its story of the occupants. Be it ever so humble, a few vines, shrubs and flowers tell you that the owners have a spark of pride and are not to indolent to try and make their premises beautiful.

Jersey Day, Tuesday, will be probably the most interesting day to people of this county and every farmer and business man would thoroughly enjoy watching the large rings of Jerseys judged by Mr. Fitch of Kansas. You would find it very interesting, and profitable to sit in the judging arena and see how close you can come to placing the different classes as the judge places them. See if you can't go and carry some one with you.

Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Starts Monday

The third annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show will be held in Plainview starting Monday, April 7th, and lasting through Thursday, April 10th.

The boys judging contests will be held Monday. The judging of Jerseys will be Tuesday. The Holsteins and Guernseys will be Wednesday afternoon.

Judging Team Practiced Saturday at Tech

The 4-H dairy judging boys practiced all day Saturday at the Tech College. These boys will represent this County in the dairy cattle judging contest to be held at Plainview next Monday: Ray Brownfield, J. B. Gillentine, Loyd Lee and Kenneth Purcell.

TERRY COUNTY SENDING TEN JERSEYS TO SHOW

Some of the Best Blood in England and America to Be Represented in the Herd From Terry County. However, They Are Not in Good Shape For Exhibiting.

Terry County for the first time will send a County herd consisting of ten head of pure bred Jerseys to the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show which begins Monday at Plainview and lasts through Thursday. While these cattle have not been fitted for showing yet they are of such type that they carry the blood of the best Jersey families of today.

The aged bull class will be filled in the County herd by Sweet Marie's B. Masterman, a bull owned by S. W. White of Meadow. This bull was grand champion the past two years at the Terry County fair; stood second in his class at the first Panhandle Plains dairy show being beaten by a bull that was made grand champion of the show. He was second at the South Plains Fair at Lubbock in 1927.

The dam of Sweet Marie's B. Masterman, Brampton's Sweet Marie B., was a half sister to Masterman of Oaklands which makes the Terry County entry 75% of the same blood as his noted sire who headed the famous Taft Ranch Jersey farms. Brampton's Sweet Marie was also imported from the Island of Jersey and had a test record of 287 lbs of butter in 92 days. During this short time when she was on test she produced almost an average of seven gallons of milk a day and a little more than three pounds of butter per day.

Sweet Marie's B. Masterman has only one daughter that has been put on register of merit test. She is owned by Mr. J. C. Newton of Idalou and has met the register of merit requirements when only half through her allotted time of ten months.

The aged Jersey cow class will be filled by Masterman's Pearl S., a cow belonging to Mr. T. L. Causseaux of Meadow. This cow is a granddaughter of the noted Masterman of Oaklands and also a granddaughter of Golden Polly's Prince a silver medal bull.

Masterman's Pearl S. has just finished a ten month record of 9091 lbs. of milk and 505 lbs. of fat. Although she was not acclimated to this country and was milked just twice a day yet she made an exceptional record and will qualify for a silver medal.

The two year old cow class will be filled by Princess Peggy Nell who is owned by Mr. R. H. Timmons of Meadow. This cow is a daughter of the silver medal bull, Golden Polly's Prince and has excellent Jersey type.

In the yearling class of heifers the two Terry County entries bid fair to holding their own. One heifer, Masterman's G's Ruth, owned by Herbert Chesshir is a daughter of Gamboge of Oaklands who was made grand Champion bull at the East Texas dairy show at Tyler last month. She is well fitted and will give a good account of herself in this show.

The other heifer, Tormentor's Fernette S. is the splendid show and producing animal belonging to T. L. Causseaux and is now milking almost four gallons a day. She will be entered in both the production contest and the show ring and promises to stand well towards first place. The dam of this heifer is owned by N. P. Tate of Loop and made a register of merit record of 426 lbs. of fat last year.

No better blood can be found in Jersey than possessed by the Terry

County entries in the heifer calf class. Here we have two heifers whose ancestors have made Jersey history. One entry, Sybil's Dream Girl, owned by R. H. Timmons was sired by Sybil's Gamboge 3rd, who sold for $13,000.00 when three years of age and whose sire, Sybil's Gamboge sold for $65,000.00. He sired 82 register of merit daughters, 18 of which won silver medals, 13 won gold medals, 4 produced more than 1000 lbs. of butter in a year and one was grandchampion 17 different times.

The dam of Sybil's Day Dream, Volunteer's Day Dream one of the greatest cows ever imported from the Jersey Isle. Her owner would not place her on test but she milked better than seven gallons a day.

The other heifer calf, Dairylike's Mytilda Belle, owned by S. W. White is also strong in the blood of champions. Her sire Mytilda's Bowline's Sultan, is a son of that great imported cow, Mytilda Belle who was grandchampion at the National Dairy in 1928. She is not only a great show cow but is a wonderful producer.

Unfortunately the dam of this calf died before Mr. White could get an official test on her but both of her grand dams have high records and she with such rich blood of high producers will certainly carry on for her owner.

In the young bull classes there are three animals who are as good as the best. In Fair Acres Sybil's Sultan, Mr. Timmons has the making of a great herd bull. He is a grandson of Sybil's Gamboge 3rd and a double grandson of Financial Raleigh of Leigh who was first over the Island of Jersey in both milk and butter in 1920. Mr. Timmons purchased this bull calf and the above heifer from the oldest Jersey breeders in the U. S. W. H. and H. L. Twaddell of Westtown, Penn.

Another young bull of note is Masterman's Golden Heart owned by S. W. White. He is sired by Sweet Marie's B. Masterman and out of Mon Plaisir's Golda, a cow that was formerly owned by J. Riley Green, who was one of Texas' greatest Jersey-men.

The third bull is one owned by J. C. Bohannon and he is one of the best individuals in Terry County as well as being exceedingly well bred. He was purchased by Mr. Bohannon when a small calf from the Flowerdale of Dallas and has developed into a real show and breeding bull.

Two grade cows belonging to H. S. Hawkins will be carried as a demonstration showing the difference in a high and a low producing cow. One cow, Maude, produced 785 lbs. milk and 51.8 lbs. fat, while Peeler gave only 442 lbs. milk and 20.3 lbs. of fat. Maude made a profit of $12.52 while Peeler made a profit of $2.05. Maude made a little more profit than six cows like Peeler would.

While this car of cattle from Terry County are not in the best of show shape yet they are good representatives of the Jersey breed and the owners are sending them and the business men of Brownfield and Meadow who are financing the project are showing their interest and faith in the milk cow as being the most important factor in farming successfully in this county.

The herd will be under the supervision of Mr. S. W. White, and will be assisted by R. B. Davis, who is Supt of Jerseys in the Show.

Gets Man Wanted For Car Theft, Lubbock

Sheriff Mon Telford picked up a man by the name of Dumas here Monday wanted in Lubbock for the theft of an almost new Chevrolet belonging to Rufus Rush of Lubbock, son-in-law of Pappy John Powell of this city. When Sheriff Telford found the man, he was preparing to depart for other sections, having the car loaded. He is in jail here awaiting the disposition of Lubbock county officers.

Mr. Telford informed the Herald that this was the second car that the fellow had stolen lately in Lubbock, and he could not understand why he had not been indicted by the Lubbock county grand jury. Anyway, their man is here and if they do not want to punish him there is nothing else for Mon to do but turn him loose again, but he says he will warn him that he had better let Terry county cars alone.

Sheriff Mon picked up a man here Tuesday afternoon that had used the east end of Main Street for hurdles. That part of the street is now blocked for paving, but the man, who by the way was an old timer of this section, had become just a bit too full of bug juice, and when he left town there was nothing, he thought, that he could not clear in his car. But somehow or other, the fellow's car went to the bad near the Methodist church when Mon overtook him. There was a little struggle, but our big sheriff led him off like a school boy to the county bastille.

A mighty good man, but he let John Barley Corn, or what have you, get the better of his usual good judgment.

Fine Snow Fell Here Last Wed. and Thurs.

A fine snow that would have probably measured four or five inches had it all remained on the ground, fell here beginning last Wednesday night, and continued until Thursday night with only brief let ups. It was about the wettest snow you ever saw too, and when a melting drop hit, it had some moisture in it. It looked at times as if the snow would turn into rain, but it never got quite warm enough. However, the leaves on the trees were not killed, showing that it did not get below the freezing point.

This snow will help in farming operations wonderfully, as well as to insure early grass in the pastures. There is a fine deep season in the ground, and this one on top has we understand made the moisture meet, and has put the ground in fine shape for breaking, and there is some early corn being planted on the harder grounds. The weather at this writing, (Wednesday noon) looks favorable for more falling weather, the sky being overcast with leaden clouds.

Red Hot City Election Pulled Here Tuesday

One of the hottest elections in the history of the city was staged here Tuesday, when interest is considered. We do not mean by hot that anyone got hot under the collar—not at all—but that the interest was to the boiling point from the time the polls opened until they closed. Personally, the Herald is glad that people are taking an interest in municipal affairs, for we have come to be quite a little city and the affairs of the city run into the tens of thousands of dollars, and it is to our interest that these things receive our close attention and that we elect what we consider the best men of the town to handle these affairs.

There was a wonderfully close race in the mayoralty election, the old mayor getting in by a scratch, there being only 6 votes between Mr. McGowan and Mr. Bell. In the marshmallow race Mr. E. Brown led the field by a wide margin. In fact, he only lacked a few votes of getting as many as his four opponents. In the aldermanic race, they ran more like the mayors as there were several high men. However, there were no announced candidates for this office, and there were no names on the ticket for these places. We hope by the time the next election arrives, there will also be avowed candidates for these places, not that we want the small sum the announcement costs, but that the people might know better what they are doing.

As it is, we believe that all will agree that four good men were elected Tuesday, and that they will serve the people to the very best of their ability. There were 447 votes cast, which is the largest poll in the history of the city, and is self evidence that there was a big interest in the election. Below we give the vote of the candidates, and remember that the two high men, A. M. Brownfield and Ben Hurst were declared elected as the two aldermen:

For Mayor
Joe J. McGowan	223
W. A. Bell	217
For City Marshall
E. Brown	207
Geo. E. Tiernan	81
A. M. McBurnett	75
Jim Burnett	46
Bob Simmons	38
For Alderman
A. M. Brownfield	170
Ben Hurst	165
Bruce Knight	145
W. B. Tudor	141
Claude Hudgens	34
J. L. Cruce	29
Glen Harris	28
L. C. Wines	21
Loyd Bennett	17

Mr. Stinson who travels for the Goodyear Rubber Co., was in this week and informed us that business seemed to be gradually picking up over this territory, but seemed to be better in this section than elsewhere.

Methodist Revival Continues in Interest

Since the first conversion last Thursday there have been conversions and reclamations every day and many additions to the church. Brother C. A. Bickley has drawn large congregations with his earnest messages full of Gospel truth and illustrations from his wide experience. There has been good interest on the part of Christian and their interest in the unsaved has been greatly manifest as well as a fine spirit of prayer.

Friday Brother Bickley will bring a message on Heaven. Sermon topics Sunday will be "The Greatest Thing In The World" and "The Holy Spirit." Those coming into church membership are urged to present themselves Sunday morning. Two hundred is our goal for Sunday School as we beat our goal of 175. Be a Doubler. Let every loyal Methodist be present with Thanksgiving, Sunday.

HARSURFACED HIGHWAYS

In our opening article of last week, we stated that the next one would deal with the value of tourist travel and the average cost to each property owner covering an issue of the size needed, provided that no change was made in the highway laws, together with the probable miles that would receive state aid.

We will not be able to estimate amount of property tax cost at this time, for the reason that we have not yet received information from the highway department concerning the type of highway that will be acceptable to them, but this will be dealt with as soon as available to us. We are in a position to say however, that they have agreed to designate the highway from Brownfield to Seagraves as soon as we have voted bonds and will pay one half of the cost of it and it is also stated upon good authority that the Lamesa highway will be handled in the same manner and if the latter statement proves to be reliable we would have about ninety miles of state designated highways upon which aid would be given and would thus release them from our county commissioners and allow them more money with which to maintain lateral roads. We are also in line for Federal designation from the Hockley county line to the East line of Yoakum county and this is likely to be granted in June but will NOT be permanent unless we do our part, but otherwise allow us at least TWO for ONE aid on about thirty-five miles.

It might be well to state that the highway department is rejecting requests for additional designations unless bonds are voted and they also inform the public that they expect to cancel at least 2,500 miles of previous designations, for the reason that they parallel other improved routes. And we might easily be placed in this class, as active efforts are being directed toward interesting Hockley county in an improved road campaign, as the chairman of the highway department of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was over here last week, by invitation, to confer with citizens concerning a hard surfacing program. Now everything considered, we just simply cannot afford to lose our state roads as there is already more miles of county roads than can be constructed with available funds and if we should have fifty miles returned to us, our commissioners would not be able to maintain them in an adequate manner unless other sources of revenue could be produced.

Of course any program that we might decide upon, would be put over under the belief that we would only have to pay interest upon them for a few years before the state would take them over, either under the surplus gasoline tax or a state bond issue but at the same time it would be an obligation of our citizens until that occurred.

Value of Tourist Travel

Now as to the value of tourist travel. It has been discovered by highway associations, after years of checking, that an average of $2.25 is left by each car of tourists, in the town through which they pass. It might be that several cars would pass through without spending a dime, but the next one would spend several dollars, which would make the average. And contrary to the general belief, it does not all go to the filling stations and repair shops as the drug, grocery stores and hotels receive part of it and through them the hardware and dry goods stores are benefited and the farmer comes in for his share upon account of having a better market for his products with prices for his stuff maintained at a higher level upon account of a greater demand, and even the postal employees share in the distribution upon account of increased sales with consequent salary raises.

SO KEEP IN MIND, that if the counties north and south of us, develop a harsurfaced program before we do, we will probably lose our designations, as there is not any need of three parallel highways serving practically the same territory.

Our article next week will deal with gasoline consumption and wear and tear of machinery as between paved and unpaved highways. And also the type of road that will be approved by the highway commission provided that the information is available at that time.

THE QUALITIES OF LEADERSHIP

By JOHN G. LONSLADE
President American Bankers Association

Leadership and success, in a general way, are synonymous. They are both founded upon simple codes of thought and action, upon the realization that he who wins the laurels must be a doer, not a waiter, that application of energy, not time or luck, is what counts most. A rabbit's foot is a poor substitute for horse sense.

Both success and leadership, if they be of the highest quality, are the result of service to humanity. Service has been aptly described as "the supreme commitment of life." Analyze the lives and times of all great leaders of history and you will find that those whose names are enshrined in the hearts of their countrymen are those who sought to render a needed service to the populace.

Leadership, like success, need not, however, be international or national to achieve great results. There is room for each of us to be a leader in his community, in his work, in his church, and in various organizations. One of the indispensable qualities of leadership is the ability to persist steadily in the face of discouragements. If George Washington had not possessed the quality of persistence, he and his soldiers would never have survived the hunger and privations which were theirs at Valley Forge.

We have too many young men and young women these days saying a job cannot be done. Too many spend their time explaining why a thing cannot be done, instead of saying, with firm resolve, that it can be done, and then going out and doing it. Anything that ought to be done is capable of being done. And anything worth doing at all is worth doing well. The fellow who handles a little job in a big way is always on the road to greater fields.

BANKERS STUDY CHAIN BANKING

The Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has been specifically instructed by the general convention of the association to study and report on chain and group banking developments, and also on the proposal of the Comptroller of the Currency for an extension of branch banking in the national banking system, to permit those banks to conduct branches in the trade areas surrounding their locations.

R. S. Hecht, President Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans, Louisiana, is chairman of the commission. The members are: George E. Roberts, Vice President National City Bank, New York, N. Y., vice chairman; Nathan Adams, President American Exchange National Bank, Dallas, Texas; Leonard P. Ayres, Vice President Cleveland Trust Co., Cleveland, Ohio; Frank W. Blair, Chairman of Board Union Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan; Walter W. Head, President Foreman-State National Bank, Chicago; W. D. Longyear, Vice President Security-First National Bank, Los Angeles, California; Walter S. McLucas, Chairman of Board Commerce Trust Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Max B. Nahn, Vice President Citizens National Bank, Bowling Green Kentucky; Melvin A. Traylor, President First National Bank, Chicago; Paul M. Warburg, Chairman of Board International Acceptance Bank, New York, N. Y.; O. Howard White, Cashier Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Gardner Edwards, American Bankers Association, New York City, secretary.

A survey showing the extent to which chain and group banking has developed in the United States has been made and issued in booklet form by the American Bankers Association of New York City.

SECTIONS WHERE SAVINGS DECREASED

A regional analysis of the drop in the nation's savings deposits in banks, as recently reported by the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division in its annual compilation for 1929 showing the first recession in national savings in the twenty years during which it has published this data, reveals that all sections except the New England and the Pacific States groups recorded losses.

The published figures showed that on June 29, 1929, the total savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States stood at $28,217,556,000, which was $195,395,000 below the similar total for 1928, when there was an increase of $2,300,000,000.

The regional analysis by state groups discloses, however, that the six New England states as a group gained more than $88,500,000 in savings and 152,984 in savings depositors, while the seven Pacific states as a group gained over $79,000,000 in deposits and nearly 278,000 in number of depositors. The gains in these two sections, however, were smaller than the gains recorded there for 1928. The sections which showed losses are the Middle Atlantic States, Southern States, East Central States, and the West Central States.

We met Earl Allen, formerly of Jones county on the streets Saturday, and he informed us that he was at present located here. We have roasted many a chicken together in our younger days. But we agreed not to tell too much.

Little Billie Hudgens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hudgens, also the small son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore, were carried to Lubbock this week to have their tonsils removed.

Poultry Association

To Meet Here Saturday

The monthly meeting of the Terry County Poultry Ass'n will be held in the district court room at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Such matters of interest to poultrymen as individual dosing of birds, how the flock can be accredited and other topics of local interest will be discussed. Premiums for the last poultry show will be available. All poultrymen are urged to attend this meeting.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS
County of Terry.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. R. Tunnell, by publication of this Citation, in the Terry County Herald, a newspaper of general circulation as required by law, to be and appear before me, at a regular term of the Justice Court for Precinct No. 1 in the County of Terry to be held in my office in the town of Brownfield, Texas in the County and State aforesaid, on the 28 day of March, A. D. 1930 to answer in the suit of C. D. Shamburger Lumber Co. Inc., plaintiff, against J. R. ACCELERATING BUSINESS IN USED CARS PURCHASED

DETROIT, March 31.—A marked indication of increasing business activity and excellent proof of the purchasing power of the country at the moment, is seen in the announcement by the Chevrolet Motor Company today that sales of used cars alone by its nation-wide dealer organization are proceeding at the rate of a million dollars a day.

Used car sales by the Chevrolet retail organization during the first 20 days of the month totaled 105,907 cars, representing an investment of more than $21,000,000.

This showing exceeds by a wide margin the best previous 20 day used car record in the history of the company and at the same time is the greatest 20 day volume of used cars ever sold by any automobile manufacturer.

Factory officials predict that the total for the month will exceed 150,000 used cars, which would compare with 130,000 for May 1929 the best previous month in Chevrolet history.

At the same time used car stocks in the hands of dealers are being reduced to a minimum, placing the dealers generally in excellent position to handle a large volume of new car business this spring.

Hobbs Prepares To Celebrate Rail Event

HOBBS, N. M., March 28. — The Chamber of Commerce at Hobbs is preparing to give to the people here, on the 19th and 20th of April, two jolly good days in the celebration of the railroad advent into town. Many committees have been appointed and at a meeting Tuesday night all committees reported very favorable progress.

The biggest feature of the two days will be the dog-wolf rodeo, something new in the way of rodeos, but which has been very successful wherever it has been shown. Mr. Roy Moreman, of Brownfield, Texas, is in charge of this part of the program. He has already caught over 50 wolves for the occasion and expects to have many more on the appointed days. The dogs will run in pairs and prizes are being offered.

Dillon To Speak

Plans have been made to have speaking each day, and Gov. Dick Dillon will be the main speaker. There will be several bands with good music going all the time.

A large carnival is being booked and many concessions granted. The city council has turned the concession business over to the chamber of commerce for the occasion.

Preparations are being made to handle a crowd between 8,000 and 10,000 people during the two days.

THE BIGGEST BANK YET.

(The Dallas Morning News.)

A single national bank now has 4 per cent of the total resources of the 25,000 national and state banks of the United States. When it took over the Equitable Trust and the Interstate Trust of New York, and became the world's largest financial institution with resources of more than $2,800,000,000, the Chase National Bank gave the people of this country something else to think about. Four per cent represents something like a lion's share in this country, which for many decades has held steadfastly to a policy of individual banking.

If the resources of the National City Bank of New York, amounting to more than $2,200,000,000 are added to the resources of the Chase National, one arrives at the fact that two banks combined hold 7 per cent of the entire banking resources of the country, and a little more adding will show that the big banks of New York have about 15 per cent. In other words, a few New York banks have resources equal to almost 80 per cent of the total number of national and state banks, if the smaller banks are selected for purposes of comparison.

Discussion of branch banking is generally attended by the thought that its adoption as a policy will open the way to centralization of banking resources, but if expansion by merger and holding company operation is to be renewed and effected as rapidly as in 1929, the end of the current year will find the banking business revolutionized in the direction of concentration, regardless of disposal of the branch banking issue.

Well, folks, the Herald isn't much this week, for we as usual owed everybody in town the first, and we spent the most of the first part of the week dodging bill collectors. May-be you was too.

The Last Week For Veterans to File Claim

Washington, D. C.—The National Rehabilitation Committee of The American Legion, in a special bulletin to all Dept. officials of the Legion, calls attention to the fact that April 6, 1936 is the final time limit for filing claims for compensation for disability incurred during World War service. It is also the final date for the submission of evidence to support claims on disabilities other than nervous and mental diseases, spinal meningitis, active tuberculosis, paralysis agitans, encephalitis lethargica and amebic dysentery, unless there is an official record of the injury during service or at the time of discharge.

These limitations are provided in the World War Veterans Act as it now stands. The Johnson Bill, sponsored by the Legion, now pending in Congress, for amending the World War Veterans' Act, provides for striking out these limitations. The passage of this bill at the present session of Congress, however, is not yet a certainty, and the Legion is therefore urging all World War veterans who believe they are entitled to compensation for service connected disabilities to get their claims on file with the United States Veterans' Bureau. Doing so now will protect their rights under existing laws should Congress fail to strike out the limitations now imposed.

'SHEEP DIP COCKTAIL' GIVEN CREDIT FOR PARALYSIS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28 (AP).—Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced Friday that bootleggers who sold a concoction of creosote or crude carbolic acid flavored with ginger were responsible for the several hundred cases of paralysis in the South and Southwest sections of the country.

The Commissioner said the concoction, which he termed "sheep dip," had been tested and found to be poisonous. Hundreds of samples, he continued, had been examined and were discovered to be either creosote or crude carbolic acid flavored with ginger.

From three-fourths to seven-eighths of the solids in the mixture was creosote or crude carbolic acid, Mr. Doran asserted.

Drinking the "sheep dip cocktail," the Commissioner said, would seriously affect anyone, and samples analyzed indicated that it had been responsible for many cases of partial paralysis.

Mr. Doran said apparently some shrewd bootlegger had devised a scheme to "get rich quick" and had distributed large amounts of the concoction. He said it was put up in the same sort of bottles as Jamaica ginger and that the first taste was like Jamaica ginger, but, after one or two, the flavor would be of carbolic acid or creosote. He said there was just enough ginger in it to give it a predominant ginger flavor.

The Commissioner said there were three focal points of distribution for the concoction and that two of them centered in St. Louis and Cincinnati. A liking for a "hot, biting drink," Mr. Doran said, made the "sheep dip cocktail" a favorite in some Southern and Southwestern States. He said that the tests of the samples indicated there was as much as 80 or 90 per cent alcohol in some of the lots.

Little Cecil Ross Smith fell on a concrete walk a few days ago, and while a large bump was raised on his head, nothing much was thought of the matter, as this is often seen in children, but as the place gave trouble, he was carried to Lubbock and a big blood clot removed, which surgeons say is even more dangerous than skull fracture. We hope the little fellow will soon show signs of improvement.

A few months ago the comment was "this pavement is going to cost the people a sight of money." Now it's "I don't see how we did without it so long." "Doesn't it improve the looks of the city?" "It sure is worth the money." All of which is true, and it is causing visitors in our midst to sit up and take notice, and people are investing and investigating with the probability of locating here that paid us slight attention heretofore, and invariably they are worth while people; people we need to help us build.

Nearly every daily or weekly paper as well as some magazines that came to our exchange table the past week had some comment anent the verdict of the Doheny jury at Washington, and each, while in different words and different lengths, told the same tale. All of them compared the verdict given Fall and the one given Doheny both resting on the same evidence, although one went scot free and the other was found guilty. The press being the voice of the people, we have an almost unanimous verdict from the people that the jury system is rotten and should be discontinued.

In the last issue of his Forum, Jim Ferguson takes a pot shot at all his opponents after saying he was going to carry on with a nice clean campaign. He especially gets ugly with Lynch Davidson and Jim Young because the business element and backbone of the state seems to be for them. If Lynch Davidson, or some other real business man does enter the race, the age old question of "ill gotten gains" will be cried from the housetop by the demagogues from one end of the state to the other, and the dear people will probably see a hobgoblin in the air as usual, and vote for the "poor but honest politician" as usual.

From April 10th to December 29th has been declared Covered Wagon Centennial celebration, and while the covered wagon era is still fresh in the memory of our older citizens, little is now actually known of it by the present school children. Teachers should at some time during this period take it upon themselves to discuss and have the pupils to take part in how our country which originally consisted of 13 small states along the Atlantic seaboard, spread across a continent in these prairie schooners, and became the greatest nation of ancient or modern times. A great theme could be made of the subject that would be both interesting and instructive, and learn the pupils American history that would remain in their memory. Our own county was settled by covered wagons as no longer than 20 years ago we were 100 miles from any railroad.

Today seems to be the day of mergers. Big oil companies are merging, as well as gas companies. Railroads and banks are doing it as well as other industries. Of late the biggest bank in Texas was created in Dallas by two large ones merging. The same same is true of the nation by the consolidation of three in New York, which now leads the National City Bank of that city. Just where this merging will lead and whether or not it will be a liability or an asset to the people as a whole is hard to figure out even by our statesmen. But the general opinion seems to be that the larger and scarcer the banks the harder it will become for the citizen of small means to get accommodations for his needs, and that it will probably take the cooperation of any number of farmers and small business men to jointly obtain loans from these banks. On the other hand, the larger most utilities have become, the cheaper has become that which they sell to the consumer. In fact, it is the big companies that have usually cut rates, whether to put out the little fellow, or to accommodate the public, we know not.

Of the Terry County Herald, published weekly at Brownfield, Texas for April, 1930. That the owner, manager, business manager and managing editor is A. J. Stricklin, Brownfield.

IMPORTS OF FATS AND OILS

For the quarter ending December 1, 1929, the United States imported the following oils which come into competition with cottonseed and other farm produced oils in this country in pounds:

Table with 2 columns: Oil type and quantity in pounds. Includes Coconut oil, Palm oil, Palm-kernel oil, Soy bean oil, Linseed oil, Peanut oil.

Total 154,082,885. At the same rate for the fiscal year the importations will amount to 516,331,540 pounds.

Much of the coconut oil, palm and palm-kernel oil comes to us from our wards, the Philippine Islands. While we understand that there is no law prohibiting the charging of duty on products from these islands, our Congressmen are adverse to taxing people whose independence is withheld by our country. Therefore, until the Philippine Islands are given independence we may expect an ever-increasing importation of oils which are produced at small cost, but which are used in place of oils produced from the products of American farms. Every pound imported is a tax on American farmers because it makes their own product unsalable except at a price far below its production cost.

Farm and Ranch understands, of course, that this country has a duty to perform in the Philippines. We are not informed as to the status of the Islanders regarding their ability for self-government. A strong party is urging independence under an American protectorate, and if this can be brought about, there will be an opportunity to protect the American farmer without hurting the sensitive feelings of Congressmen who now claim that taxing the Philippines would be the same as taxing an individual State. Something is generally in the way of providing any form of tariff that will give protection to the American farmer.—Farm and Ranch.

THE MARVELS OF SCIENCE

Dr. Robert A. Milliken, discoverer of the cosmic ray, to whom the Holland society medal has been awarded, told a story at a luncheon in Pasadena. "A scientific expedition from the University of Chicago" he said, "was sent to one of the southern states to study an eclipse of the sun, and the day before the eclipse the expedition's leader said to the old colored man who cooked for him: 'Hannibal, if you watch your chickens tomorrow morning, you'll find that they'll all go to roost at 10 o'clock.' 'Hannibal' you know, he said, 'he was being kidded; but at 10 the next morning sure enough, day turned to night, and the chickens all roosted.' 'Hannibal, in great awe, looked up the professor. 'Perfessor,' he said, 'How long ago you know dem chickens go to roost?' ' 'About a year ago. Why?' ' 'If dat don't beat all!' said Hannibal. 'Perfessor, a year ago dem chickens wasn't even hatched.' "

He Volunteered for the Errand . . . and it cost those who trusted him many thousand dollars. Not long ago, in a nearby town, a group of executives and attorneys of two corporations sat at a conference table. A document had been drawn, signed and approved by the lawyers, whereby one company decided to the other a suburban sub-division of a good many acres. "Well gentlemen," said the President of the Corporation which had sold the land, "so far as I can see this business is completed—except for the detail of filing the deed at the Court House. With your approval, I shall be glad to attend to that matter." Approval came forthwith. The president filed the deed. But first he added to that document a paragraph stating that his company would keep title to certain building lots. When the deed was recorded our friend mortgaged these lots. WHEN POSTAGE STAMPS ARE WORTH MUCH MONEY

FORT WORTH, March 31.—When you buy a 2-cent stamp at the post-office, it may be worth $6!

According to Dr. J. Laurence Whitman, professor of chemistry at Texas Christian University, who has a hobby of collecting stamps, Uncle Sam has issued no less than eight varieties of 2-cent stamps of the current issue.

"A specimen of one variety is worth $6," Dr. Whitman says.

Dr. Whitman began collecting American stamps when he was 8 years old. He collects foreign stamps also, but his chief interest is in his United States collection. He has a specimen of every stamp issued by the government since 1800, and some of his stamps date back to 1851, the year Uncle Sam began using stamps. He values his collection at $1000.

"Those who are not stamp collectors always ask what makes an old stamp valuable," he says. "The value of a stamp depends upon supply and demand. The rarer the stamp, the more it is worth. For instance, when the first air-mail stamps were issued, in 1918, the bureau of engraving, by mistake, printed several hundred of them with the airplane plate upside down. One of these misprinted stamps recently sold for $2300.

HELPING TECH STUDENTS WITH SMALL LOAN FUNDS

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 31.—A check for five hundred dollars has just been given to President Paul W. Horn of Texas Technological College to be used as a loan fund for worthy students. The fund will be known as the Carter-Houston Loan Fund, the money being donated by the Lubbock store of that name. It is understood that this amount is to be added to in various ways.

According to President Horn there is very great need for small loans at this time to enable worthy students to complete the school year. He and Dean J. M. Gordon are to administer this latest addition to the loan funds of the institution which now number about twelve.

At the last meeting of the Lubbock Rotary club about one thousand dollars was subscribed to be added to the Rotary Loan Fund bringing the total to $7,000. According to a report made by Dean J. M. Gordon, chairman of this committee, there are now 88 loans outstanding, and 140 students have been helped since the fund was started several years ago.

A PRACTICAL ANSWER

"If I cut a beefsteak in two" asked the teacher, "then cut the halves in two, what do I get?"
"Quarters," returned the boy.
"Good. And then again?"
"Eights."
"Correct. Again?"
"Sixteenths."
"Exactly. And what then?"
"Thirty-seconds."
"And once more?"
"Hamburger," cried the boy, impatiently.

A rural judge, listening to the testimony of the witness, interrupted him, saying: "You said that you made a personal examination of the premises. What did you find?"
"Oh, nothing of consequence," replied the witness; "a beggerly account of empty boxes," as Shakespeare says.
"Never mind what Shakespeare said about it," said the judge; "he will be summoned to testify for himself if he knows anything about the case."

PROPOSING

A very shy young man experienced considerable difficulty in summoning up sufficient courage to propose to the girl of his heart.
One day he took her for a walk in the cemetery and stood awkward and tongue-tied in front of the family tomb.
At last he blurted out: "Irma, darling, would you like to sleep here some day?"

A DRY TOWN

Arriving at a small western town, an easterner was attempting to start up a conversation with a native.
"Tell me," he said, "what is the status of the liquor supply around here?"
"Status?" mumbled the native. "I dunno what you mean."
"I mean is it easy to obtain liquor and is there much of it around here?"
"Wal, mister," said the villager, "all I can tell you is a little while back they turned off the water supply for a week and nobody knew it until the town caught fire."

By the way, Mr. Harlan says he has trace of his log chain advertised in these columns some time back, which shows again that advertising pays, and we are glad of it, but what he wants with a log chain in this settlement is beyond us.

Local Man Gets Contract to Build School

We are pleased to announce that B. L. (Lee) Thompson of this city received the contract to build the new school building at Gilliland, Knox county, Texas. Work will start in the immediate future, and several of his regular crew from here will go down there with him until the job is complete.

Mr. Thompson informed us that this school was spending in the neighborhood of $20,000 on their building, which would be thoroughly modern in every detail. Mr. Thompson has built school buildings all over this section, and we know they will be pleased with the job when it is completed.

A DEFINITION OF COTTON

Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fibre varies in color and weight, and the man who can guess nearest the length of a fibre is called a cotton man by the public, a fool by the farmer, and a poor business man by his creditors. The price of cotton is fixed in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills in the South was sent to New York to watch the cotton market; and after a few days deliberation, wired his firm as follows: "Some think it will go up, some think it will go down; I do too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once." Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer, and left in the field in the winter.—Ex.

A TRAGEDY AVERTED

Thursday in Fort Worth there was given an impressive demonstration of the effectiveness of fire emergency methods of modern school administrations. Although fire in the M. G. Ellis School had obtained sufficient headway before discovery to prevent the use of the stairways, the building was emptied so expeditiously that not one of the 475 children received any injury whatever.

The performance illustrates the effectiveness of the school fire drill. Teachers report that at the sound of the gong, the youngsters, all of grammar school grade, formed quickly and quietly into lines as they had done many times before when the drill was but practice and the emergency only simulated. The lines moved smartly to the fire chutes and slid hilariously down these to the ground and safety. And, it may be added, the performance illustrates the superiority of the chute arrangement for school fire escapes over the stairway kind. Tests have shown that chutes can empty a building more quickly than any other fire escape device, and in addition the play nature of the escape seems to appeal to children in a manner that helps to allay any feeling of panic that might arise.

School children in the face of fire danger are much more sensible than grown-ups, anyway, if sensibleness means refusing to become panicky. In nearly all fire disasters in which children have been killed it has been the grown-ups who became panicky and caused most of the trouble, although the children, because of their physical weakness, may have been the chief victims.

Fort Worth has reason to congratulate itself upon the happy avoidance of what might have been a tremendous tragedy at the M. G. Ellis School Thursday. Needless to say, the teachers of the school deserve the respectful acclaim of the city. They acted true to the traditions of their exalted profession.—Star Telegram.

L. L. Blackstock was noticed entertaining or rather being entertained while seated on the bumpers of a Ford Saturday afternoon. K. W. Howell said L. L. was being entertained.

Bill Fitzgerald was around with a bill Tuesday and we persuaded him that he was due a dollar on subscription. He cracked down.

AMOS 'N' ANDY

Gosden and Correl, known to radio fans as Amos 'n' Andy recently were received by President Hoover. But no racial question was raised, as was the case when Mrs. DePriest, wife of the Negro Congressman, attended a White House tea.

Although Freeman Gosden and Charles J. Correl have the negro dialect down so pat that thousands of their listeners think they are colored men, they are not. They are both white, the former a Virginian and the latter a native of Illinois.

In their radio broadcasts only these two are present in the studio. Gosden, 31, takes his star role as Amos, and also those of the King Fish, Lightning and others by suitably changing his voice. Correl, 40, is the deep-voiced Andy.

Beginning as radio amateurs in 1925, after several years of theatrical experiences, these two comedians has risen to be the highest-paid entertainers on the air. Millions of listeners follow the varying fortunes of Amos, Andy, the King Fish, Madam Queen, Ruby Taylor and the rest with keen interest.

In fact, it is speculated that their doings are of more popular interest than the antics of some of the star performers in the United States Senate.—O'Donnell Index.

GRANT CHANGES NAME

General Grant's boyhood name was Hiram Ulysses Grant. Fear that the initials H. U. G., spelling, "hug," would make him the subject of jokes among his fellow cadets at West Point caused him to change his name.

When ready to start on his journey to the military academy he transposed the initials on his trunk to U. H. G.

Luckily the congressman who had secured his appointment made a mistake in his name so the young farmer boy was enrolled at West Point as Ulysses S. Grant, a name that he retained to the end of his days.

Deadly Poison Found in Plant of Castor Bean

The castor bean, source of one of the most useful of medicinal oils, contains also the most deadly of all known vegetable poisons, writes Dr. Frank Thone in the Providence Journal.

In stem, leaves and fruit—in all parts of the plant—there are minute amounts of an exceedingly toxic substance. Many pounds of castor bean tissue, after long and elaborate chemical extraction, will yield a few crystals of this stuff, innocent as salt to look at, but so powerful that a speck no bigger than a needle-point can kill a cat or a rabbit as quickly as a thousand-volt live wire. The substance has been called ricin, from the Latin name of the castor bean plant, Ricinus.

Ricin has its fullest and quickest effects when it is injected directly into the blood stream, but it can cause severe sickness and even death when it is swallowed.

Yet though there is rather more ricin in the seeds of the castor oil plant than there is in its other tissues, the oil pressed from the bean contains none of it. The reason is that the ricin is held by the non-oil-bearing tissues, and at the temperatures of "cold pressing" it does not come free. "Hot pressing" would yield more oil, though of a poorer quality, and it might also liberate some of the ricin.

Few Insects Absolutely Enemies of Human Race

Some insects, says a writer in John of London's Weekly, are beneficial, such as bees and silkworms; some are altogether injurious, such as those mosquitoes that carry the malaria organism, and the tse-tse flies that carry the cause of sleeping sickness. But most insects are half and half, partly helpful to man and his interests, and partly prejudicial. Thus, if we consider wasps in a broad way, we must admit that while they spoil a lot of fruit, they destroy many insects that are pests of plants. While the world of life is on the whole "friendly" to man, we need not expect it to be always on our side. And as regards particular insects, such as earwigs, it is often impossible to get a true bill, for there is a "good" to every "evil." So we turn with mental satisfaction to clothes moths, for they are altogether on the black list, except to the naturalist, who finds them very interesting.

Community of Silence

This is the secret of our intercourse with those persons of whom our friends will say, or think, what can you find to talk about? Talk about? Why, nothing; the enigmatic person remains, with us as with all the rest of the world, silent, inarticulate, incapable, sometimes, of any nice making of formula. But we know that our companion is seeing, feeling, the same lines of the hills and washes of colors; the same scudding or feathering out of clouds; is living, in the complete sense, in that particular scene and hour; and knowing this, it matters nothing how long we trudge along the road or saunter across the grass without uttering—Violet Paget, in "Hortus Vita."

Matter of Spelling

Joe, although in the fourth grade, had not yet mastered the art of spelling. Recently, while visiting his aunt, he made a tour of her extensive library. Joe passed before several books bearing the inscription: "The Sacred Writings of John X." He studied them seriously for a few minutes, then asked abruptly, "Aunt Jane, was this man frightened when he wrote these books?"

"Not that I know of. Why?" she asked, puzzled.

"Well," he answered slowly, "these books say 'The Sacred Writings of John X.'"

Adulterating With Water

Adding unnecessary water to canned goods manufactured for shipment and sale in interstate commerce is in violation of the federal food and drug act. Inspectors of the food, drug and interstate administration, United States Department of Agriculture, are constantly on the alert to detect and punish violators. Such adulterated food, if otherwise properly prepared, would not be harmful to the health of the consumer, but to his pocket-book. He would be buying water at food prices.

Bearded Ladies

Hokkaido, on the island of Hondo, off the coast of Japan, is considered the original home of the "bearded lady." The women are really not bearded, but they wear on their upper lip a tattooed mustache that reaches almost to the ears. The men do not shave or cut their hair after a certain age, hence their beards and bushy heads are conspicuous. The women allow their hair to grow to their shoulders in a fuzzy bob.

Perfect Proportions

The Society of Directors of Physical Education set forth the following standard for the perfect man: Height, 69 1/2 inches; breadth of neck, 3.8; girth of neck, 12.1 inches; breadth of shoulders, 14.7 inches; breadth of waist, 20 inches; girth of waist, 24.6 inches; breadth of hips, 13.1 inches; girth of hips, 35.4 inches; girth of calf, 12.3 inches; girth of upper arm, 10.1 inches; girth of thigh, 21.4 inches, and forearm, 9.2 inches.

FOR BUSINESS REASONS?

A southern woman stopped a dark-eyed man on the street the other day and said: "Mose, I'm sorry to hear your wife got a divorce and has left you."

Mose—"Yessum, she's done gone back to Alabama."

Southern Woman—"Who's going to do my washing now?"

Signs Say South Plains Will Have Good Crop

If we are to believe in signs we will have an average crop for this year. At least this is the opinion of J. I. Wilson, Garza county pioneer, as reported by the Lubbock Avalanche in the Sunday edition.

For nearly half a century, the story runs, Mr. Wilson has been a citizen of what is now Garza county residing ten miles southwest of Post. Back in the early days he learned from an Indian neighbor that the direction of the wind at sunrise on the morning of March 22 indicates the type of crop year approaching and if you'll take council of W. O. Stevens, local banker, Mr. Wilson never fails to "call the turn."

It was said that on that particular Saturday morning of March 22, Mr. Wilson was on hand to greet the sun and test the wind's direction. Saturday morning the wind blew from the northwest, which according to the pioneer's statement to Ira Duckworth, president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, means that 1930 will be like 1924—a year of average crop success.

It continues that if the wind had been from the southwest, southeast, or west, "the South Plains would have been a 'blowed-up sucker.'" Had it come from the east or northeast, the territory would have enjoyed a bumper crop, Mr. Wilson said.

It was pointed out that the predictions do not cover rainfall or the amount of rain, they only cover the year as a whole. If we can be assured of a crop like 1924, the South Plains should be satisfied.

It is reported that many more fiddlers from these and other places will enter but we have been unable to learn their names.

In addition to the main program of old time fiddling, there will be a very interesting talk by either Judge Mulligan of Lubbock or L. L. Martin of Meadow on "the American Legion and its purpose" both of these men are well known orators and prominent Legionaires, and the short snappy talk made by either of them will be appreciated by others of the audience as well as Legionnaires.

The prizes to be offered by the Legion will be worth playing hard to win, and the admission prices for the spectators will be reasonable. The contest is open to all fiddlers who play the old time tunes and everyone who enjoys this kind of real entertainment is urged to come and applaud for your favorite fiddler.—Seagraves Signal.

HOME, SWEET HOME

The burglar entered the house as quietly as possible, but his shoes were not padded and they made some noise. He had just reached the door of the bedroom when he heard someone moving around in bed, as if about to get up. The sound of a woman's voice floated out from behind the closed door.

"If you don't take off your boots when you come into the house," she called, "there's going to be trouble, and a lot of it."

"Here it's been raining for more than three hours and you dare to tramp around all over the carpets with your muddy boots on. Go downstairs and take them off this minute!"

The burglar went quietly out into the night again. His pal, who was waiting for him, saw a tear glistening in his eye as he approached.

"I just can't rob that house," the disappointed burglar said, "it reminds me so much of home."

"Imagine my embarrassment," said Dumb Dora, "when, according to my usual custom, I looked under the bed before retiring, and I had forgotten that I was in an upper berth."

Extra Valuable Share of "Catch" Not Wanted

Fishing activities in the islands of Tuse and Skye are operated on the communal principle, and the catch is equally divided among fishers at the close of the day. This custom is to be found all over the West Highlands; in fact, short of direct marketing, it is the only feasible way in which fishing can be carried on. In some districts an extra share is awarded to the owner of the boat, whether or not he happens to be actually one of the crew engaged on a particular day. In Skye and the neighboring islands this share is called "cuid Chulla." An interesting superstitious idea regarding the casting of the lots at the divide survives in some districts. While the shares are always as near equality as it is possible to make them, it occasionally happens that one particularly good or rare fish gives the share on which it is placed a special value. The superstitious fisherman, however, would rather not have that particular share fall to his lot. The most covetous member of the crew, or one who is doomed to die young, will, according to popular belief, be sure to have his "mark" fall on that share.

Poland Offers Much to Attract the Traveler

Poland to many travelers is a country unknown. Yet to the tourist it offers much in the way of a brilliant contrast. The richness and color of its native peasantry, and the charm and beauty of its myriad churches and ancient ruins, its art treasures, its architecture, its numerous museums, compare favorably with those of other European countries.

Warsaw, the capital and largest city, has a population of over 1,000,000 persons and a history which dates back to the Thirteenth century. Since that time it has seen many changes and events which have helped to make the history of Europe. During the latter part of the Eighteenth century the city experienced a period of great splendor. It was then one of the largest cities of Europe and it became the very center of artistic, literary and scientific activity, and had also a brilliant court of life. Great, only a few hours' ride from the capital, is really the heart of Poland, although Warsaw is the seat of government.

Blooms of the Desert

Many floral dwellers of the desert are worthy of the highest praise, says Nature Magazine. Among them are several shrubs and trees, which in their seasons, are bewitching bowers of bloom—the palo verde, with its cloud of yellow; the smoke tree, a solid mass of dark-blue; the mesquite, hazy with fringed catkins of yellow-green; the desert willow, charming and attractive in a dress of pink-and-lavender; the scarlet chuparosa, and the white-leaved, yellow-flowered brittle-bush, or golden hills. There are others aplenty—the ocotillo, "candlebush" of the natives, most striking and unique of the Colorado desert flora, and the yuccas, with the Spanish bayonet, glorious in bloom, and the Joshua tree, that grotesque plant creation which the Mojave desert claims as its most distinctive feature, acting as the leading representative.

Hawaiian History

The Hawaiian Islands formed an independent kingdom until 1893 when the queen was deposed. In 1894 a republic was proclaimed. The legislature of the islands petitioned for annexation to the United States and by a congressional resolution of July 6, 1898, they were formally annexed on August 12, 1898. On June 14, 1909, they were constituted as the territory of Hawaii.

Laziness Just Hunger

Laziness among farm workers in the Philippines led to an investigation of this supposed moral disorder, which turned out to be purely physical in many cases. It was found that a daily diet thought to be sufficient was resulting in undernourishment. An improved diet quickly stimulated the vitality of the toilers and their working capacity was greatly increased.

Dallas Lady Glad to Praise Famed Konjola

Neuritis and Stomach Troubles Soon Banished By Power Of New Medicine.

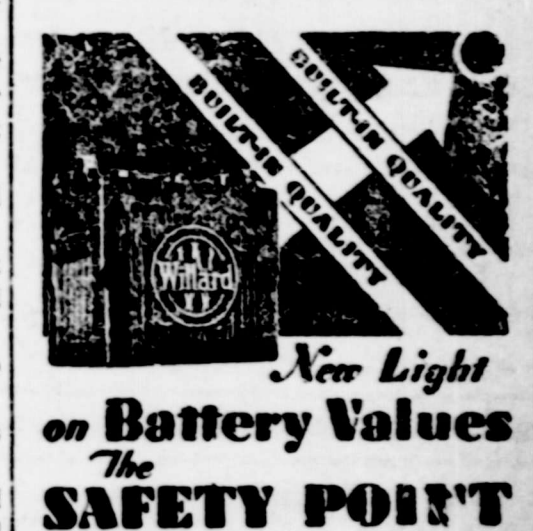

MRS. E. M. FITZGERALD

"I never had the least idea Konjola would help me as it did," said Mrs. E. M. Fitzgerald, 4533 Worth street, Dallas. "My stomach gave me a great deal of pain and trouble. Gas accumulated in my stomach after meals and the pressure against the heart cavity caused that organ to beat wildly. Neuritis attacked my side and my right arm and shoulder. These pains were often so severe that I could not do my housework. I did not sleep at night and became very nervous.

"Konjola is fast bringing me back to health again. My stomach is in excellent shape and I can eat almost anything without distress. The neuritis pains are gone, my sleep is normal once again, and my nervous condition has greatly improved. I shall always recommend Konjola to anyone suffering as I did."

Konjola works with the important functional organs of the body, drives the poisons from the system and regulates the organs of digestion and elimination. In this way glorious and abundant relief is brought about. It is recommended that Konjola be taken from six to eight weeks for the best results.

Konjola is sold in Brownfield at Alexander Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"THE COURTSHIP OF HIAWATHA" OVER RADIO

One of the most unique and beautiful radio productions yet contributed to the American aerial theatre is the description given "The Courtship of Hiawatha," the Conoco Adventurers' radio play on the NBC network Thursday, April 10, at 10 p. m. CST.

The dialog of the drama, an original composition which retells the poignant beautiful love story of Hiawatha and Minnehaha, made immortal by Longfellow, is written entirely in blank verse, following the meter and rhythm of Longfellow's masterpiece.

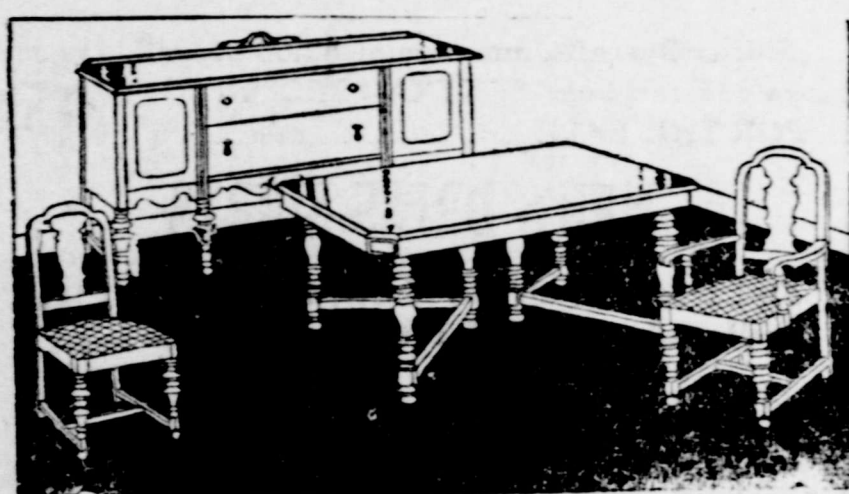

The locale, as is known to every American school child, is in the North Woods country of what is now Minnesota, at the Falls of Minnehaha, near Minneapolis and St. Paul where the Indian maiden waited with steadfast faith for the return of her Ojibwa lover, who claimed her only after the Great Spirit had intervened to protect him from the treachery of Minnehaha's Dacotah suitor, Oregta.

Radio officials and other authorities who have heard advance rehearsals have evidenced tremendous enthusiasm over this innovation of the use of free verse dialog, indicating their conviction that it is perhaps better adapted to radio presentation usage than any other literary form. It is expected that widespread adoption, following this Conoco premiere, will soon make free verse drama one of the most common and frequently heard literary forms on the air. Special musical effects, which offer a charming background for the musical dialog of the Conoco Adventurers' playlet, have been arranged for the presentation.

Conoco Adventurers may be heard each Thursday at 10 p. m. CST over the NBC network including WFAA Dallas.

The rainbow is a beam of sunlight.
