Pvt. Perry Awarded The Purple Heart

The 156th General Hospital, England.—Private Emil D. Perry, 24, of Brownfield, Texas, a motor squad ammunition bearer, is a patient in this United States Army general hospital in the final phase of his recovery from shrapnel wounds of the shoulder and thigh. He is now in the rehabilitation section, hiking, doing calisthenics, and generally exercising his way back to physical fitness.

Pvt. Perry's unit had pushed the enemy off a hill and they were following through with an attack on a town at the base of the hill when he was wounded.

"Jerry started throwing a heavy barrage of 88s at us as we went toward the town. A medic was hit at the same time as I was, and we split first aid to each other," said Pvt. Perry.

Pvt. Perry's wife, Juanita F. Perry, lives in Brownfield.

Sgt. McCain Helps Keep the Italian Roads Passable

Sgt. Melvin G. McCain is a member of the 1338th Engineer Combat Group, which is maintaining 67 miles of vital highway feeding the Fifth Army front in Italy. Other current operations of the group include working a huge rock quarry, dispatching men to the front to mark off limits of minefields and maintenance of three 400-kilowatt generators.

The unit has drawn 123,194 cubic yards of rock from the quarry and employed an average of 1200 Italians a day using the rock in road maintenance. The 1338th has maintained a total of 143 miles of roads. This includes some of the outfit's most spectacular work, pushing through highway 937 to make contact with British forces on the right and maintenance of Highway 65, the main Florence-Bologna road, from Futa Pass to the neighborhood of Loiano.

Throughout the winter, the 1338th maintained 38 miles of road in snowbound, mountain snow removal station and five substations, all equipped with snow plows and emergency rations

High School Holds Roosevelt Memorial

Friday morning at the special assembly of the high school students a fitting memorial service honoring our late president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was held. Cameron Byler, Senior Class president, presided.

Rev. R. N. Huckabee, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the 13th chapter of First Corinthians. Miss Jayne Jobe ed the singing of "America," and "Home on the Range," Mr. Roosevelt's favorite song. Morgan Copeland Jr., gave the Memorial address.

Rev. Joe Murphy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, closed the service with an appropriate prayer.

The text of Morgan Copeland's address follows:

"It is useless to try to express in words the overpowering feeling of sadness, loss and despair which I have this morning. It is useless to try to express in words a fitting memorial to one of the greatest leaders the world has ever known. I sincerely feel that the death of our president at such a critical time is the worst tragedy the American nation, and the world as a whole, has suffered in the course of present war. On this very somber occasion we have not yet begun to grasp the full realization of this terrible thing that has happened to us, nor have we yet begun to feel the consequences. President Roosevelt was one of the great, if not the greatest, the nation has ever known. But I do not like to think of him as a great politician. To me and I believe to America, and to the world, he was symbolic of true democracy." For this reason he was four times the choice of his countrymen for the highest office within their gift. It is to be deeply regretted that he did not live to see the conclusion of this most terrible war of all times. He led our nation manfully and like a soldier. In doing this he placed us well on the road to victory before he died. It is true he made mistakes, but who doesn't? Even his bitterest political enemies are forced to admit that he was a better man than they. We shall miss him dearly in the Peace Conference and in the founding of a world security organization which was so near his heart. But let us look ever forward, with faith in our hearts and prayers on our lips, to the future of our beloved fatherland, the United States of America.

Perhaps I could better express the feeling of anxiety and of hope I have for our nation with a brief quotation from "The Building of a Ship," by Long-fellow:

"Thou, too, sail on, Oh Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—-are all with thee!"

State to Pave Lateral Roads in County

The State Highway Department has offered to build, pave and maintain about thirty miles of farm to market lateral roads in Terry county, if the commission will procure and pay for the right of way, which they have agreed to do, with the reserved proviso, that land owners, won't be too excessive in price demands.

This is not expected, as a paved road by their premises would be a welcomed benefit. The department has already designated the roads in four different sections of the county.

Mrs. Elco Evans called last week to renew for their Herald. They have moved to town from route one.

ing that nothing more serious than being captured by the Nazis during their Christmas drive in Belgium, has happened to him.

They have received two letters from Raymond, recently, one dated January 10th and the other Jan. 25th, from a German prison camp, which stated that he was well, and not wounded. He was captured Dec., 16th.

Raymond now 26 years of age, joined the army medical corps in 1940. He attended the local high school, and received his military training at El Paso, Illinois, and Washington state. He has been overseas 27 months.

CORPORAL STOCKTON IS SHIPPED ACROSS

After spending 15 days at home with his wife, relatives and friends, Cpl. Harold J. Stockton, reported back to Fort George Meade, Md. He was promoted to Corporal while there. Piggly Wiggly Store Makes Improvements

As stores go in any man's town the Piggly Wiggly would shine, but with the series of improvements that have taken place there in the past week, we believe you will admit that at least a 50 percent improvement has been made not only in looks, but in practical conveniences, as well.

In the first place, the "fences and swinging gates" have been eliminated, and no little toll will get his noodle bumped, playing with them. The office has been moved up front; all the windows have been cleared of hoppers and racks, so they may be kept clear of dead flies and dirt.

There is oodles of room between the long, nicely arranged tables and shelves of groceries, for the shoppers to wheel their collection wagons, in picking out what they wish.

But the most noticeable is the huge, 40 feet vegetable and fruit stand, with its shining mirrors, along the south wall, instead of in almost the middle front of the building, where the old and the very much smaller one stood. This department, now well filled with fresh vegetables and fruit, is highly attractive.

County Attorney Also Brownfield Co-Ops. Having Troubles

Our County Attorney, Geo. W. Neill, while versed in the older statutes, is somewhat perplexed at these modern changes. Knowing we keep a supply of printed legal forms, he asked, this week, if we had printed forms of indictments for the offense of stealing husbands.

It seems he has had a number of complaints the past few days by irate wives, wanting the law to "pull" some dame for taking their husbands, without their knowledge or consent, and with the intent then and there to appropriate the same to their own use and benefit, against the peace and dignity of said wife.

After looking through the index under "flirting with," and "running - around" and finding no penalty, and from the statements and viewpoints of the complainants, decided it must be theft. Then he was further stumped, because in theft, if the article is over $50 in value, it becomes a felony, and he would get nothing out of it. If under that sum it became a misdemeanor or in his province.

So, deeming that a husband is not worth $50, he takes jurisdiction, and in one or two cases, he would file it in justice court. He is further perplexed as to how to prove the value, whether the market or intrinsic value. Should he take the average of the kind in the community? The measure of the damages the difference in value before and after the act complained of—so what? We suggest he had better inquire into the ceiling price—if any.

He stated he knew that custom made the law, and the custom of the acts complained of has become so frequent and universal as to become a law, and thus he will proceed for the duration.

Vance Smith Slightly Wounded April 4th

Hugh Hulse was in from the farm Tuesday, and handed us a card written the 16th from his sister, Mrs. Lula Smith, which stated that she had been notified on the 15th by the War Department, that her son Vance, had been slightly wounded in Germany, the 4th.

Upon receiving many complaints of public roads and highways being damaged by persons with tractors, plowing into the right-of-ways, highway authorities and county officers have begun cracking down on the offenders.

Tuesday, a prominent land owner of the southwest part of the county, was assessed a fine and costs for such an act on the highway. Local officials stated that the State is contemplating also filing civil suits for damages, because of the increased cost of maintenance in having to clean out barrow ditches.

There is at this time a bill pending in congress that will make it mandatory for all weekly newspapers to have an audit bureau of circulation OK the circulation of their papers. While the Herald has never been very strong on force measures, this is one bill we are for. Dailies are already doing just that, and you do not have to take the publisher's word for their real circulation. The bill will really be a godsend to the papers who already give exactly or approximately the circulation. But it will hit circulation liars right betwixt the eyes.

Another thing that is coming under the band of the postoffice department is "Clipping Bureaus." Here of late these nefarious nuisances have flooded the country with offers to service men's families to furnish them a clipping about their son or husband at so much per clip. And when the clipping came in, probably it had been taken from the local paper a few weeks previous, and the folks had already seen the article. But it is hard to convict them for mail fraud, because they did not specify where they obtained the clipping, but left the impression that it came from some overseas service paper. Several years ago the Herald quit selling our paper to these people at any price.

More than one of our presidents have stood less gaff than President Roosevelt with fatal results. A constant grind for 12 years, and especially such as he has had for the past four years, would sap the vitality of any man without the iron constitution and will power of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Many of us who voted for him last fall did so with a mental reservation that he could never go through another term. That was one reason why southern and other conservatives fought so hard at Chicago last summer to eliminate Wallace and substitute a man they considered a bit more of a rightist. And, frankly the Herald believes that such a man is President Harry Truman. But we can hardly imagine a man or woman so prejudiced that they would not and could not heartily wish that Mr. Roosevelt could have lived to see victory crown his war efforts. But destiny did not so wish it, and another of our president's has gone to his untimely grave from overwork and worry.

NOTICE:

To All Consumers of Electricity Located in The Residential District of City of Brownfield

The City Council of the City of Brownfield in their last council meeting decided to put all residential consumers of electricity on a one meter system, which will help solve the present shortage of meters, and put every one on equal and uniform rate. And at same time will not raise your refrigeration rate. Under the present system the person who has no refrigerator is penalized. The Council feels that all charges should be just and uniform, and feel that the new rate is a very just schedule, and one that will compare favorably with any in the State.

The new rate will be as follows: The first 25 KW 10c, and balance 3c per KW, with a minimum charge of $1.50. This rate applies to residents only and does not effect any commercial consumers.

APPROVED THIS 13 DAY OF APRIL, 1945.

Tragedy Reported in Veterans' Hospitals

An appalling revelation of inhuman political management is being brought to light by a reporters investigation of government veterans' hospitals. There are nearly one hundred of these hospitals, built at a cost of over a quarter billion dollars, to provide the finest care in the world for our returned war veterans. Appropriations have been granted without stint to maintain these institutions—and yet veterans are dying needlessly in them!

The Cosmopolitan magazine has published an article on conditions in the veteran's hospitals, packed with figures and facts that make the blood run cold. Only one patient in six leaves these hospitals cured. The treatment received by tuberculosis patient is maddeningly negligent. Of all the veterans treated for tuberculosis, only 3.67% are discharged as "quiescent," "apparently arrested," or "arrested." Typical state hospitals such as New York, discharge 48.1% in these classifications—fourteen times as many! The death rate is equally as shocking. If a man completes treatment, the chances are nearly two to one that he will be carried out in a coffin. Sixty-percent of all the patients in the veterans' T. B. hospitals, "run away."

Here are a few of the things that one reporter observed during a half-year spent visiting these government hospitals: "I have found nurses so negligent that they did not even bother to wash their hands after examining one patient with a contagious disease and before turning to another."

"I have found many doctors who could hold no position in any well run hospital; cynical men who joked to me about their patients' 'miseries'; incompetent men who rejected, offhand, every modern advance in medicine."

"I have seen desperately sick veterans served food so cold that it would be indignantly rejected in the worst Bowery flophouse. And I have seen these same veterans charged unconsciously high prices by racketeering concessionaires, permitted to operate within the hospitals by complacent superintendents."

"I have seen men denied surgery they needed, denied modern treatments that could have cured them—and even sneered at by officials for presuming to ask for these things."

Is this a ghastly example of what the country could expect under a government-dominated medical system for civilians? Every mother's son of us should demand a clean-up in the veterans' hospitals—at once.—Industrial News Review.

I Give You Texas

"Seen is believing," is a favorite saying with those who pride themselves on being hard-headed practical men of the world.

Well, you have seen a magician produce a rabbit from a hat and pull coins out of thin air—but do you believe it?

Around Texas: L. D. Lowry, Mt. Vernon merchant, wants the men in service from that area to get the home town paper—so he has taken 600 subscriptions for Editor Olin Hardy's Optic Herald—Former Rep. Alvin Allison of Levelland says his town is the center of the second biggest oil field in the world (in area), that there is not a bridge in the county, that 98 per-cent of the land in the county is tillable. The other 2 per-cent? That consists of lakes.—R. Emmett Morse and Jan Anderson, of Austin, have published a book, "Texas in Pictures" which is very attractive, with 237 pictures portraying scenic spots, agriculture, livestock, education, sports and many other interesting things about Texas.

Did you hear about the unique rummage sale that one town had? Every woman was to bring something that had no value but still was too good to throw away. Well, the sale was a failure—every woman brought her husband.

Right Feed Produces More Milk

The pressure to grow more food this year brings the dairy cows to the front. She is second to none in changing raw materials like roughage and grain into human food, says A. L. Hartzog, County Agent.

The dairy cow responds to the right kind of feeding and management with an immediate increase in milk production. With in the full flush of milking and sudan pastures soon to come, Hartzog believes that dairymen have a good opportunity to build their herds to peak production in order to increase the nations food stocks.

The Agent says that the Texas Extension Service eight-point dairy program is designed to help do this now and in the months ahead. Under the program dairymen are encouraged to grow an abundance of high quality roughage; balance herds with feed supplies; keep production records on each cow in the herd; practice disease control; produce milk and cream of high quality; adopt labor-saving methods; take care of their land, and develop a sound breeding program.

With the cost of producing milk at a high level Hartzog emphasizes that it is most important that only good cows be kept for milking. Culling low producers and giving the cows with the productive capacity proper feed and care will pay off in a large volume of milk at lower production cost.

HAROLD AUSTIN A SECOND LIEUTENANT

Marfa, Texas, Apr. 15.—Harold R. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Austin of Hurly, N. County Line HD Club Report

There are 2,500,000 home accidents in the U.S. annually, with 35,000 proving fatal. Also 1000 automobile accidents daily with 34 out of 100 fatalities, Miss McCarty told the County Line Club at the home of Mrs. Alton Elmore on Friday April 6th.

These figures brought home clearly the need for some first aid knowledge. Miss McCarty gave us some good pointers in the prevention of these accidents, the purpose of first aid and the practices of first aid in fainting, sprains, burns, bruises and cuts. Showing us the most important pressure points, where tourniquets should be applied to stop bleeding. She demonstrated, also, artificial respiration, the all-purpose cravat bandage and other bandages. It was very instructive and could prove to be the means of saving a life.

Our HD Agent, Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips, brought Miss McCarty, who is science teacher in the Plains High School, to give us these demonstrations. We extend our thanks to both of them for a very interesting meeting.

Mrs. Alton Elmore gave a timely talk on fly control. She gave some interesting facts concerning the habits and life history of the fly, and some good control measures.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Barker, Bailey, Carson, Elmore, Hunter, Millington, Meeks, Suddeth, and Alexander also one visitor, Mrs. Goulding.

Club adjourned to meet in the home of Mrs. Bailey, next first Friday, May 4. See you then.

Profits and Wages

British educator from Oxford, L. P. Jacks, asks why the profit motive should be treated differently from the wage motive, in the exhortations of social reformers. If private profits are anti-social, because private and not communal, are high wages less anti-social or less private? Why condemn one and praise the other?

If an investor, in risking his savings, tries to increase his profits from four to five per cent, how is this different from a workman who tries to increase his wages from $40 a week to $50 a week? Each has the same motive and aim.

The wage earner should remember that when government takes over business, the worker is no longer free to charge all the traffic will bear. He takes what government gives him. If you doubt this, just look at the conditions of citizens and workmen in countries where state socialism became supreme. Government does not take over industry and leave the workman free. It's time for workers in the United States to think about this.

Fixed Laws

Economic laws are laws of nature, rigid. They are divine laws in the same sense that the law of gravity is a law of God. Such laws were in force long before the first man-made statute was ever written, and no natural law was ever repealed by act of parliament. Natural laws can be broken but they all carry within themselves suitable penalties for violation; hard to escape.

Under natural law, every producer earns a profit when he serves the public well; takes a loss when he serves the public poorly. When manipulators, government planners or any other kind, use artificial price controls, they violate natural law. It makes no difference whether the aim is greed or to protect "lame ducks" from loss. Price controls encourage incompetence.

Wheat Price Parity

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, recently told an audience of wheat growers in St. Paul that U. S. production last year was 1100 million bushels compared to 800 million in a typical prewar year. This is deemed to forecast a post-war over-production of 160 million bushels or more a year. There is a law compelling government to hold up wheat prices for two years after the war.

Taxpayers may as well brace themselves. It is time to start wondering what it's going to cost per bushel to prop up the wheat price and hold it at parity; or what bonus per acre must be paid to non-growers of wheat for not growing wheat. Another wonder: Can the price support be removed after two years or must the taxpayers continue guaranteeing a wheat price indefinitely?

Observe Natural Law

There is an honorable way: Leave each industry's problem for men of that industry to solve. Using wheat as an example, permit the Department of Agriculture to prepare such data as Mr. Wickard gave the farmers and make the figures available to the whole industry. Let the farmers use their own judgment in the light of the facts. They will do a better job than government men, and it will not cost the taxpayers anything.

One advantage is obvious: Men of an industry can consider an industrial problem unblinded by a dust storm of political considerations. Government's proper function is to serve the citizens. Government can get statistics more conveniently than an organization of business men, and government experts undoubtedly can offer valuable interpretations, but interference is not help.

Men Can Think

Business men can understand government figures, interpret them and apply what they have learned. Figures from the Department of Commerce and the Census Bureau have benefited many industries in the past, interpreted by statisticians in the employ of trade associations. If wheat is over-produced one year, bread will be cheap. The next year, wheat men can plan more cautiously.

What did the cotton subsidy do but open the gate for rayon to storm the cotton planter's market? A fictitious wheat price can only bring that industry some similar calamity. It is bad enough to have loyal citizens taxed without mercy to build a false price structure; worse when you know that the result will be to lift a big essential industry off its economic foundation and permanently cripple it.

LIFE AFTER FORTY MORE COMPLICATED

Austin, Texas, April 17.— From the health standpoint, life after forty begins to be more complicated for the average individual. According to information from the State Department of health, the principal health foes confronting people in middle life are heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, diabetes, and arthritis.

Middle aged people of today are healthier than those of preceding generations, and the present generation, when they reach middle age, should enjoy better health than their parents of today.

Medical care in middle life has two important phases. The first is going to the doctor at regular intervals for a complete physical checkup, whether or not there have been symptoms that suggest the need for medical attention. The second is prompt attention to any illness which may mean the difference between prompt recovery and continued good health and prolonged invalidism. It is difficult to say which one of these phases is the more important.

It has been found that men and women who faithfully pursue the habit of regular health examinations and who follow the advice arising from them tend to live longer, more satisfactorily, and freer from disease than those who simply take a chance and go to the doctor only when pain or disability forces them to give up their normal activities.

It is also a fact that many diseases of middle age respond to treatment in early stages whereas if neglected until later stages they often cause permanent invalidism and even death.

Good advice for persons over forty is that they have regular and prompt medical attention for any and all illnesses.

RE-CAP OR ELSE—Apparently we haven't yet "turned the corner" on the rubber crisis, in spite of the miracle of synthetic rubber production—scheduled to reach a million tons this year. The problem of keeping essential traffic rolling will actually be tougher this summer than ever. The reason is that military demands are still soaring, and shortages of carbon black and other materials used in tire manufacture further complicates the situation. Joseph A. Hoban, tire division merchandise manager of the B. F. Goodrich company, in a talk in Cleveland the other day cited estimates that 46 million passenger car tires need replacement or re-capping, but that the total of all new and re-capped passenger car tires that can be made available this year will probably be less than 35 million—only three-fourths of the tires needed right now! The 46 million estimate was based on an examination of autos in war-plant parking areas. Four-fifths of all war workers go to and from work in private autos.

Gardening for Victory

along the Santa Fe

Soon travelers will be seeing plots of beets, beans, tomatoes, corn and other needed vegetables "coming along" on both sides of our tracks.

For once again Santa Fe has made its right-of-way available to its employees for Victory Gardens.

We are also offering $2720.00 in War Bonds to our best Victory Gardeners as an added incentive toward helping "Food Fight for Freedom."

Located as we are "Along the Route to Tokyo," Santa Fe people throughout our 13,093 miles of track can "feel" this war. They are working full hours to move along the never-ending loads of guns, tanks, men and munitions.

Perhaps that's another reason why they're not only working harder on their railroad jobs, but are pretty fine War Bond buyers and Victory Gardeners as well.

It's Santa Fe all the way for the U.S.A.!

Waste Fat Collections Falling off Some

While the collection of that highly vital war material, waste fat, fell off somewhat in March, from that of a year ago, January and February showed gains. Is this caused from better war news? If so, perish the thought, as more guns must be fired, and many more of our men will be seriously wounded.

From waste fat, both explosives and medicine are made. Terry county must not let up on its help to our fighting men. According to the waste fat figures given the Herald by the authorities, the collection for March 1944 was 17,660,000 pounds vs. 17,332,000 for March this year. Don't pour a drop of waste fat down the drain until both Germany and Japan holler "calif-ropo."

Mrs. Helen Karr spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenley, in Post, also her brother, who was home on furlough.

Cye Tankersley and Mrs. C. C. Primm and daughter, Shelia Kay, went to Roswell last week end to visit Mrs. Primm's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunter. Mrs. Hunter is a sister of Mr. Tankersley.

Crede Gore, who bought several of the 4-H and FFA boys calves at the show last Saturday, stated that he had slaughtered one fed by Roy Chaffin, and it tested greater percentage of meat with less waste than any he had ever slaughtered. Which proves another value in feeding.

Tom Garrard of Tahoka, who recently ran an ad in the Herald to sell some of his fine young Hereford bulls, writes that he sold all he wants to sell this year.

James King dropped in of late and hauled off and plunked down for 2 years. Didn't want us to bother him again until 1947. Alright! alright! alright!

Mrs. Ola Underwood and daughter, Jolene, of Levelland, were the house guest of her friend, Mrs. W. H. Culver, over the week end.

RABIES INCREASING IN THIS STATE

College Station — Rabies is on the increase, and last year Texas was one of the seven high states in number of cases recorded, the Bureau of Animal Industry has reported. Dogs are still the most frequent victims of this dreaded disease, but reported cases of cats with rabies have doubled in the last seven years. Increase in the number of cases where rats were affected was 85 percent in the same period.

Cattle, horses, sheep, swine, and goats as well as human beings sometimes contract rabies, but in lesser numbers, the BAI reported to the Texas A. & M. college Extension Service shows. Total reported cases in 1944 for the nation as a whole, were in excess of 10,000.

BAI veterinarians point out that vaccination alone will not control rabies, since many dogs, especially strays, go untreated. This agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture makes rigid tests on vaccines and reports that vaccination of dogs against the disease "really has a definite value."

Here are control measures recommended by the BAI to of stray dogs, vaccination, strict dogs, impounding and disposal owners of animals: Licensing of quarantine of dogs suspected of rabies, for at least six months, diagnosis by competent veterinarians, and destruction of rabid animals.

Booby Trap

In public speeches, in published articles and in this column since early January, 1944, I have been calling attention to the "booby trap" in America's wartime tax laws. Now, as our fighting men press harder upon Berlin, the industries that support them are drawn closer to the trap. Most war contracts will be voided on V-Day but taxes and payrolls must still be met.

Corporations pay income tax each year on the previous year's earnings, just as personal income taxes were paid prior to 1944. In 1946, firms will be taxed on 1945's earnings. But if war ends (terminating war contracts) this year, 1946 will be the year of change-back, of costly sales and few. Problem: How to hire more men and pay 1945's taxes with small earnings or none?

Apple-Polishing?

Any time a voice is raised in the interest of American business, any time a writer suggests that corporation tax laws need revision, somebody accuses him of apple-polishing or grinding the axe of big business. But right is still right. Prosperity in America depends on full employment; full employment depends on business expansion, and business expansion depends on wise tax provisions.

Firms that have used their war-year profits expanding production for victory are not to be blamed. They are solvent. They will have adequate working capital due them under the present law after their Refund Bonds are cashable and after their Carry-back credits on excess profits taxes are allowed. But when will this be? As the law is written now, years will pass before the money comes.

Keep Jobs Alive

After a man has starved to death, food does him no good. Neither will money due a firm help its employes after bankruptcy. What war-production firms need is money when they need it; to hire men, to buy machinery for peacetime work, to save useful enterprises and avoid wholesale unemployment in their communities. Laborers and farmers and small-town merchants have the most at stake.

William L. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners, surely was looking through the lenses of Labor when he wrote Robert L. Doughton, chairman of the Ways & Means Committee of the House of Representatives, urging the passage of amendments to make Refund Bonds and Carry-back funds promptly available to industry at plant re-conversion time.

Labor Leader Says

"Analysis of a large number of companies shows that . . . they have had to use their tax reserves for current operations, so that when war ends they . . . can not reconvert to peacetime operations and employment of men. . . . We strongly urge that these provisions be amended in a manner which your Committee believes will make refunds available immediately at the time war production of these companies has stopped."

Mr. Hutcheson's letter reached Mr. Doughton's desk only shortly ahead of one like it from William Green, president of A. F. of L. Are these labor leaders apple-polishers? No! They are far-sighted thinkers serving the interests of working men, and they know how. They are not recommending boodle for business men. They are intelligently promoting postwar jobs and prosperity for the United States.

China

Quashing Hirohito's dream of great empire will not finish the United States' job in the Orient. Chinese, 450 million of them, already are holding out imploring hands toward America. Most of them don't know what they need but this fact only tightens our obligation because we do know what's good for them. They need slow, regular feedings of the diet on which America grew strong.

On a diet of Christianity, encouragement for initiative, free enterprise and protection for investments, America grew in 150 years from 13 rustic colonies to be the world's most powerful nation. China has had none of it. Since the year One China has had everything but a chance, so it had nothing. Fertile soil, timber, iron, coal, oil and manpower, China has had. But China stayed poor.

China Wants a Chance

Far-sighted leaders in China are frankly bidding for capital investments from other countries when the war is over. It is America's invitation; no other big country will have capital at the end of the war. Will China be a good place for Americans to invest money in the postwar years? Will it be a good frontier for adventurous young Americans to enter as industrial pioneers?

Both these questions have the same answer. China offers opportunity only if investments will be safe there after the war. Less than ten years ago when I lived there nobody, except in a few favored spots, dared own a paying business. If local warlords didn't confiscate such enterprises, bandits would plunder them. Chiang Kai-shek will remedy this, I trust, if he can enjoy united cooperation from his present allies.

Business Not Safe

In order to make profitable business safe in China, it will be necessary to have a strong, representative government. Government must be able to crush the rule of countless local warlords at home and command the respect and recognition of other first-rate world powers. Investment of capital there depends upon the creation of a set of conditions that do not now exist.

Developments that might take place in China in 25 years of private enterprise are staggering to think about. China's population is three times ours. China has one billion dollars invested in industry, we have 130 billion. America's capital investment is $900 per person; China's is $2.50. Chinese still farm with hoes while their soldiers fight with American-made guns.

Selfishness Kills

Some short-sighted person is almost certain to ask: "Why should we help industrialize China, teach them how to build wealth and beat us at our own game?" The idea is silly. We will prosper with China. Prosperous customers always help. For instance, there are 130 million people in the lands south of El Paso; less than a tenth as many live in industrialized Canada. But Canada buys approximately as much from us.

China needs 25,000 locomotives, 20 million tractors and other items in proportion. China also has valuable things to trade for America's goods. It would take 100 billion dollars or more to make her competitive with the United States industrially, but nine billion would bring her up to about our horse-and-buggy days. After that she could finance herself. If we can help Chiang Kai-shek to stabilize China politically there is little doubt the cash would be available.

Miss Patsy Crowe of Seagraves spent a couple of days this week with her cousin, Mrs. Edith Stricklin.
