EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS—Perhaps the most striking and certainly the most educational feature of the National convention of the Federation of Women's clubs at San Antonio next week will be the exhibits depicting practically every phase of the activities of the various departments. A space of 42,000 square feet in the basement of the municipal auditorium will be given over to the exhibits. No phase of the work, it is said, has been overlooked, and it includes everything from five live Indians exhibiting methods of pottery manufacture to educational activities. An idea of the extent of the exhibits may be conveyed in the statement that there are 70 chairmen of the exhibit work, each having her own committee, and that these committees have been at work for months in planning and placing their exhibits to best advantage. It will be an educational show worth a trip across the continent to see. In this is a suggestion for other organizations: why not make of every convention a showing of the progress and present development of the industry, business or profession represented as an educational feature to be closely studied? Some of the crafts are doing this, though not on the extensive scale that the Federated clubs are doing, and the showings made are rather too largely, in most cases, the exhibits of those offering something for sale. Nothing will be sold or offered for sale at the San Antonio Biennial except some handmade trinkets of disabled veterans.

GROWING BROOMCORN—There are several successful broom factories in Texas, but they have to buy a large part of the broomcorn from out of the state. It is selling now, at $185.00 a ton. Where properly cultivated and harvested, the returns are said to be much larger than for cotton. According to the Texas broom-makers, the best corn they get is grown in Texas and much Texas land is well adapted to its cultivation. Although it is rather exhaustive on the soil, it is not more so than the sorghums and can be so rotated with other crops as to do no harm whatever to the land. Despite the extensive use of vacuum sweepers and other devices, the broom has all along maintained its prestige as the popular weapon with which to fight dust.

MUNICIPAL WATERWORKS—While utility corporations appear to be gradually getting control of all other municipal utilities, most cities and towns are holding to their waterworks systems and are profiting thereby. Those that do not own them, are in larger numbers, arranging for municipal ownership. By a vote of 622 to 22 Taylor recently voted a bond issue of $250,000 to acquire its own system. San Marcos, likewise, encouraged by the action of Taylor, will soon vote on a bond issue of $150,000 for waterworks.

LARGER SCHOOL GROUNDS—Nearly every place in Texas has made the mistake of placing its school buildings on grounds entirely too small to afford the proper exercise for the school children. This applies even to the country schools where all the additional land needed might once have been had for the asking. Perhaps in the past school boards thought that the children should take their exercise at home doing the household chores, or else in walking to school, but that has gone out of fashion, and it is now necessary for the schools to look after physical as well as mental training. In planning to build a second high school, Corpus Christi school trustees have bought 15 acres of land to be used for a campus. That city does not propose to repeat its mistakes just because it has been the custom to erect school buildings on crowded city blocks.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORTS—Travel by air is certain to become popular in the near future—perhaps as popular as travel by automobile. Cities and towns that expect to profit greatly from this new mode of transportation must arrange for proper landing fields and for storage of airplanes. To leave this to private corporations is to invite exorbitant and prohibitive prices that will drive the business away. Austin has taken the precaution to vote a $50,000 bond issue for an airport, despite the fact that it already has two that are privately owned. The Brady chamber of commerce has a committee at work on a like proposition. Other places are making or have already made plans. The place that hesitates will be the loser.

BUS TRANSPORTATION—Bus transportation is fast becoming more popular. The reason for this is better service, and perhaps faster schedules. In the larger places bus terminals are being erected

SMITH AND WARDLAW. Under the heading of "Our Democratic Ticket," W. E. Gilliland of the Baird Star had the following to say in the last issue of his paper: For President—Governor Al Smith, New York. For Governor of Texas—Louis J. Wardlaw, Fort Worth. The above is the Star's answer to Dan Moody and his crowd who denied Smith representation on the delegation after they had carried more than half the congressional districts in the state.

The high school auditorium was comfortably filled Friday evening on the occasion of the graduating exercises of high school class of 1928 when an entertaining program was rendered. The honor students were Katherine Kenny Moss, valedictorian, with 92.53-100 per cent and James Calhoun Anderson, salutatorian, with 92.29-100 per cent. These were awarded choice of several scholarships in colleges and universities of the state. Miss Moss has the choice of accepting a scholarship in the following schools: College of Industrial Arts, Clifton College, Baylor-Johnston College, West Texas State Teachers College, John Tarleton, West Texas State Teachers College, Texas Technological College, Trinity University, Howard Payne, Southern Methodist University, Texas Woman's College, Southwestern University, Baylor University, Simmons University, Texas University, Draughon Business College and Austin College. She will probably accept the College of Industrial Arts.

Anderson has his choice of scholarships in these schools: Southwestern University, Southern Methodist University, Texas State Teachers College, Trinity University, Texas Technological College, West Texas State Teachers College, Draughon Business College, John Tarleton, Schreiner College at Kerrville. He has not made his decision of the school he will attend. The honor students were announced and the scholarships were presented by Supt. J. J. Youngblood. The class of 34 was introduced by Principal H. V. Nigro, and President F. D. Wright, of the school board, presented the diplomas. A. G. Flowers, dean of Baylor University law school, delivered the commencement address.

REALIZE BOYISH DREAM

Many a boy has longed to have a chance to hunt big game in darkest Africa. Few have attained their wish. Here are three lucky ones. Upper left, Robert Douglas, Jr., of Greensboro, N. C., and right, David R. Martin, Jr., of Austin, Minn. Lower, Douglas L. Oliver of Atlanta, Ga. These three Eagle Scouts have been chosen unanimously by the Boy Scouts to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson on their big game expedition into Africa.

Moody's Switch Against Convention Allies to Be Felt in Coming Primary

Political suicide—that is the opinion of W. J. Armstrong, Ciscoan who attended the Democratic state convention at Beaumont as an alternate, of the alignment of Governor Moody with the constitutional faction after he had previously gained control of the convention through a working agreement with the forces supporting Al Smith for the presidential nomination. "When Dan Moody did an about-face during the roll call he elected Louis J. Wardlaw the next governor of Texas," Armstrong said Saturday. "He made far more votes for Wardlaw than Wardlaw has made for himself in his campaign speeches. Moody has committed political suicide and he has dug his own grave. May he rest in peace."

In no uncertain terms Armstrong declared that the governor had double crossed John Boyle and the other Smith leaders who had helped him organize the convention and kept the constitutional faction headed by Tom Love from getting control. "If he didn't double cross Boyle and the Smith leaders, I don't know what you would call it," Armstrong said. "He promised solemnly that he would stand for the right of each district to select its own delegates to the national convention. When it suited his purpose to break his word he did so and apologized about the 'extremity' in which he found himself. He knew all along that the majority of the districts favored Smith but had agreed to work for a clause in the national platform for enforcement of prohibition."

And another thing to show Moody's insincerity: He knew that Boyle had released 85 delegates and he waited until they had left the city before he turned against Boyle. He must be given credit for being smart enough to wait until those 85 votes were out of the way before he pulled his trick. "Moody will learn in the July primary what the people of Texas think about his 'extremity' and his excuses."

'SEND HELP' IS GARBLED PLEA OF POLAR SHIP

BERLIN, May 26.—A garbled radio message believed to have been sent out by General Umberto Nobile, commander of the missing polar expedition dirigible Italia, has been received at the radio receiving station at Oslo, according to advices received here at 11 o'clock tonight. Only a part of the supposed message from Nobile could be deciphered, however, the dispatches stated. The radio message said "Fired to land. Send help." The remainder of the message was garbled but is believed to have been a description of the landing place.

SUPPLY SHIP TO RESCUE. Rome, May 26.—The City of Milan supply ship of the Italia polar expedition was to start for North Cape at midnight tonight, according to advices from King's Bay. North Cape was the location given by the Italia when the dirigible radio was last heard.

SENATE FIGHT IS WARM OVER ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A senate battle developed this afternoon against the adjournment of congress Tuesday. Proponent of the Boulder Dam bill, good roads legislation and the big navy bill intended in voicing protest against the plan. In the midst of the protests the senate finally adopted a conference report on second deficiency appropriation bill, thus indicating that it will agree to the Tuesday adjournment after Senators Johnson, Hale, Shipstead and Oddie protested the adjournment. Senator Curtis introduced in adjournment resolution but Senator LaFollette blocked it under the rule providing that all committee reports shall lie before the senate one day.

NAGIE GIVEN 25 YEARS FOR FATAL HOLDUP

WICHITA FALLS, May 26.—Twenty-five years in the penitentiary was meted out by a jury district court here tonight to John Nagie, 24, toy gun youth who was found guilty of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Theodore Zimmerman, groceryman, in an attempted holdup here last month.

$10,000,000 TO BE SPENT UPON STATE'S ROADS

AUSTIN, May 26.—With contracts calling for more than $3,000,000 of new work already awarded, this month, the state highway department will spend approximately $10,000,000 this year, Commissioner Cone Johnson said today. Chairman Ross Sterling expressed himself appreciatively of the "fine cooperation" given by the federal bureau and with the report of J. C. Carpenter, federal inspector, who had not made a single unfavorable report on Texas road construction.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Coolidge today signed the $2,500,000 road bill. West Texas—Today generally fair.

New Yorker Lacks 122 Votes of Nomination, Cabinet Member 40; Few Delegates Still to Be Picked

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The delegates that will comprise the Republican and Democratic national conventions have to a large extent been selected. Two states, Texas and South Dakota, acted Monday. South Dakota will send a Smith delegation to Houston, and a Lowden delegation to Kansas City. The Texas situation is somewhat muddled by controversy and internecine strife. Two Republican delegations will go to Kansas City and engage in a contest one instructed for Hoover, the other uninstruced.

Factional Strife in G. O. P. This leaves but two states, Florida and West Virginia, yet to choose their Republican delegations. Florida is beset with Republican factional strife, and West Virginia holds her primary May 29. Slower to act, the Democrats of six states, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, are still to select their delegations. With the exception of West Virginia, this Democratic territory is largely unfavorable to Gov. Al Smith.

Results in the states that are yet to act will not materially affect the existing line-up in either the Republican or Democratic race. The West Virginia primary on Tuesday will be important more from the moral effect than from the mathematical. Smith or Reed will get the 16 Democratic delegates, and either Hoover or Senator Goff, the favorite son, the 19 Republican delegates.

of today a delegate total of approximately 508, included in which is the full Pennsylvania delegation of 79, but none at all from New York. If these figures can be made to stand up, they mean that the cabinet candidate will go to Kansas City with but two more votes standing between him and the nomination. Hoover Claims Challenged. There is, however, considerable controversy over these Hoover figures. The Lowden people in particular are insisting that Hoover has been too generous in his claiming. They are not yet disposed to admit that he will get all of Pennsylvania's votes, even though Secretary of Treasury Mellon did say that of the available candidates Hoover appealed most to him.

The Hoover claims are involved, too, with approximately 75 contests, which the Republican national committee, sitting as judge and jury, will have to thrash out at Kansas City, starting June 4. Most of these contests arise, as usual, in the southern states where the Republican organizations are constantly at loggerheads. Hoover Fund Questioned. In most cases, Hoover has the so-called organization with him in these southern contests. The national committeemen, some of them negroes, have been supplied with funds from the Hoover war chest, as brought out by the Senate's investigation into campaign expenditures. Typical examples were furnished in Mississippi, and Georgia, where Perry Howard, and Ben Davis, the negro national

Now, therefore, I, J. W. Williamson, mayor of the city of Cisco, Texas, do proclaim this May 30 as Memorial Day, and call upon our citizens to observe the same by closing their places of business between 5 and 6 o'clock and attending the American Legion services at the CLASSICS, ECONOMICS, ART By changes in the college curriculum you can trace changes in public interest.

Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, points out these notable changes in half a century.

Fifty years ago, economics and history began to crowd Greek and Latin out of the colleges. People were turning from personal culture to practical knowledge of humanity in the mass.

Twenty-five years ago the biological sciences assumed importance in the colleges. People were becoming interested in the physical life process of the human race and of all living things.

"Now," he says, "it is the subjects calling for esthetic appreciation. The emphasis is an appeal to the esthetic sense rather than to the intellect."

Dr. Keppel expects great things from it. There is a change of results on an unprecedented scale. You don't expect a student of the classics necessarily to build a great business.

"But might not one expect the college student who studies art to try his hand at creative art? Great works might be forthcoming. It would give the student a powerful interest or hobby which would stay with him through life. It may be that the teaching of art in its broadest sense will become a powerful factor in the cultural life of America."

We may be coming into a New Age of Art.

Ford bought the school in Massachusetts that Mary and her lamb attended. Ford possesses not only the place where it happened, but documentary evidence giving the name of the girl and the name of the Massachusetts man who wrote the poem, although there are authorities who maintain that the scene was in Newport, N. H., with another set of characters. Nevertheless the people of Great Britain have just been celebrating the 88th birthday of the aforesaid Mary, now Mrs. Mary Hughes, who vouches for the fact that she took the lamb to school. And the poem, it is averred, was written by an Englishwoman, Jane Burl, by name, who lived in London. This is distressing. There ought to be an international commission appointed to straighten it out.

AN INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

On May 18 there was lifted into its place, on the American side of the Detroit River, the first span of the new Detroit-Windsor bridge. Though done with little ceremony, it marks another big step in international relations and the development of this continent. The bridge will be a great one, and is required by the river it spans. It will be a fitting companion to the magnificent Peace Bridge completed and put into operation a year ago, over the Niagara River at Buffalo. Both are needed to handle the immense, ever-increasing traffic between the United States and Canada. The fact that they are built is in itself an evidence of the economic unity of those two countries, and a new proof of the co-operative spirit of their people.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

American and Roundup. June, 1910. The school board met last Friday afternoon and elected Prof. J. N. Johnston, of Weatherford, as superintendent of Cisco public schools. The board decided that in selecting the remaining teachers they would not elect any whose grade was below 85. Crigler Paschall entertained a number of his young friends last Saturday evening. Refreshments of delicious ice cream and cake were served, and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present. Miss Sadie Yarnell has resigned her position with the public schools of Cisco after eight years of continuous service in the primary grade, to accept a position in the public schools at Rotan. Miss Yarnell was called to Rotan Tuesday and while there the trustees held a meeting and elected her, giving her a better salary than in the Cisco school. Miss Floyd and Miss Knudson resigned their positions and accepted the ones offered in the public schools at Hamlin. We recommend all of these noble young women to the citizens of Rotan and Hamlin as being in every way worthy of the places they go to fill. The Ladies Aid society of the First Christian church held its fifth Monday meeting at the home of Alex Ward last Monday. It being a birthday of the society, a neat lit-

Calls For Congress To Solve Old Age Problem

Sirovich Wants Commission of 15 to Spend Two Years on Security Data BY FRED LINDELTON International Illustrated News Washington Correspondent

OLD AGE security should be provided for each and every one of the citizens of the United States, by the simple method of taking toll of America's abundance of natural resources. This, the most distressing problem of today, in the estimation of a great many thinkers, should be solved by the government, and solved at once. Representative William I. Sirovich of New York, in fact, has put the issue squarely up to Congress. He has introduced a joint resolution which calls for a commission of fifteen to set aside two years to the study of old age dependency and the working out of means for its relief.

WATCHFUL WAITING IN CHINA

The American position is hands off in China. Our government has taken a strictly neutral position, in view of the present situation, evidently awaiting the outcome of the national drive on Peking. This is obviously a safe and logical thing to do. In the past the United States, like other powers, has recognized the Peking government as the only authority in China. The powers seem to have pursued this policy partly from fear of Nationalist "radicalism" and partly from inertia. An existing government in a historic capital is seldom turned down until a rival civil power makes good by establishing its authority beyond question. Presumably our government and the others will be prepared to recognize the Nationalists if they demonstrate their power by taking Peking and driving the northern army into Manchuria. It would be folly then to do otherwise; for there would be no alternative authority to deal with as the representatives of China, and to continue denying the Nationalists recognition then would be to turn them again toward red Russia for sympathy and counsel.

LAND FOR WIDENING OF HIGHWAY 23 IS OBTAINED

Contracts Closed with Owners from Cisco to Rising Star; One Condemnation Action Necessary

Practically all of the land for widening the right-of-way from Cisco to the Brown county line has been secured on highway 23 according to E. B. Guide, Commissioner of Public Works. A. F. Taylor and J. E. T. Peters, who Thursday afternoon closed up contracts with owners for additional lands to widen the road. They reported that it will be necessary to bring condemnation proceedings against only one land owner on this highway, which will be instituted right away.

Work will start on closing up the contracts for right-of-way lands on the Bankhead highway in the near future. Commissioner Britain has agreed to supply all land owners, who donate the lands for right-of-way, with cedar posts to replace their fences. It is understood that many have agreed to donate the land provided cedar posts were given to replace the old ones for the new fence.

AUTO STARTED IN GEAR GOES THROUGH WINDOW

Some excitement was caused Thursday afternoon when an automobile, driven by a woman with a baby in arms, bounded across the curbing and smashed into the show window at the Piggly Wiggly store. The woman started the car in gear and it went over the curbing before she could gain control. A portion of the glass, about two feet in width, was broken out. The impact threw the baby against the windshield, breaking the glass and causing a slight bruise on the infant's face.

There will be no charge for admission.

TANNEHILL HAS 160 BBL. WELL IN MATTHEWS

ALBANY, May 26.—Tannehill extended the Matthews field when he got a 160-barrel well two locations north and one location west of production. This opens up another good drilling area and discovery of this well is likely to open up another intensive drilling campaign area. WOLFFARTH'S DEATH RECALLS SLAYING IN 1891

LUBBOCK, May 26.—Pat Wolffarth, 79, pioneer cattleman, was found dead in a vacant lot in the downtown business section here Thursday. A bullet fired from a pistol that was found under his hand had pierced his brain.

Wolffarth was widely known in this portion of the state. He had been in financial straits for the last four or five years. He is survived by his widow and several brothers and sisters.

Known by Ciscoans

The tragic death of Pat Wolffarth removes another of the old time cow men of the panhandle and West Texas. His death also recalls the killing of Editor Debaurendin of the Memphis, Texas Herald, in that city in 1891. Wolffarth, at the time, was manager of the Diamond Trail cattle ranch in Hall county, and shot the newspaper man in the postoffice there, after having been fired on with a 38-caliber pistol. Some previous unpleasantness had existed between the two men, but it was not thought to be of a serious nature.

At the time this tragedy was enacted Wolffarth came galloping diagonally across the square to the postoffice, from the ranch, and as he hastily alighted from his horse and started towards where Debaurendin was seated at the front, the latter immediately arose and retreated into the postoffice, behind the partition. As he retreated Debaurendin fired several times, striking Wolffarth, who drew his 45 Colts and firing through the delivery window, fatally wounded the newspaper man, who died the next day. Wolffarth was convicted for this crime and sentenced to the penitentiary for 15 years. He served five years and was pardoned by Gov. Culberson.

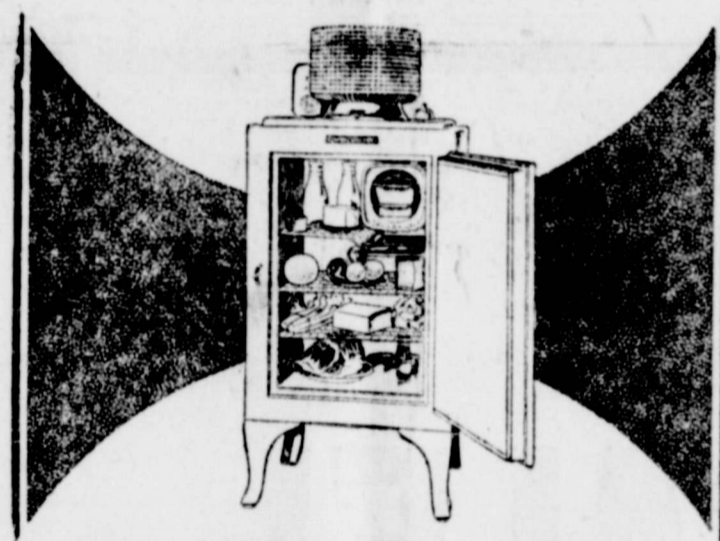

Dr. John H. Brice, then a small boy, was living in Memphis at the time, and recalls the tragedy vividly. H. W. H. Kennon was living in Childress then, and remembers the tragedy very distinctly, and was also well acquainted with Wolffarth.

Joe Ray, former star middle distance runner, finished first in the New York to Long Beach marathon and established himself as one of the leading contenders for an Olympic berth. Joe's transformation into a marathon runner is one of the big events in American sports when it is considered that he beat such experienced runners as Charles De Mar of Boston and Whitey Michelson of Portchester, N. Y.

200,000 Buyers Can't Be Wrong

a Successful Six now winning Even Greater Success

When the Pontiac Six was first introduced less than two and a half years ago, immediate buying enthusiasm was aroused. The public accepted the statement of General Motors and Oakland that here was a new car offering six-cylinder value never before enjoyed at such low price. 75,000 Pontiac Sixes sold in 1926 established a world's record for a new make of car. Sales for 1927 carried the total of satisfied Pontiac owners beyond the 200,000 mark. And now, even if its unrivaled value could not be proved by comparison with other cars in its field—even if its superiority could not be demonstrated by scores of advanced features combined in no other low-priced six—even if all its claims to leadership were based on generalities—you could still buy the Pontiac Six with complete confidence . . . for 200,000 buyers can't be wrong!

R. N. GRISHAM GETS IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

EASTLAND, May 26.—Judge R. N. Grisham, an outstanding member of the bar of West Texas and long active in public affairs, has announced his candidacy for congress from the 17th congressional district, which is composed of Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Eastland, Jones, Lampasas, Llano, McCullough, Mills, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Runnels, San Saba, Shackelford, Stephens and Taylor counties. His candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic primary. Judge Grisham made the race for congress eight years ago and received more than 11,000 votes. He was formerly district attorney at Sweetwater, his district embracing 15 counties. Prior to that, he was county judge of Kent county. He has practiced law for 26 years—the last 10 years in Eastland. Before being admitted to the bar, he was a school teacher. Judge Grisham is 34 years of age and is virtually a lifelong resident of Texas, having moved to this state when only two years old, from Washington county, Arkansas, his birthplace. Grisham is the fourth candidate to seek the seat being vacated by Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, who is contesting for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. The other candidates are Col. R. Q. Lee, Cisco; Homer Shanks, Clyde, and T. P. Perkins, Mineral Wells.

THEATRICAL QUARTET STRANDED IN CISCO
Four stranded theater folk were held for a short while Thursday night after their arrest at a tourist camp where they were attempting to catch a ride to Houston. Questioned by the police it was ascertained that the quartet had been playing with a show in New Mexico, and while they were nearly "broke," yet they had some money, and were allowed their liberty to continue their journey. They gave names as Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Semms and Misses Pearl Kelly and Doris Neil.

NEGRO WORKING OUT FINE AT CAMP HERE
W. B. Toliver, negro, who told the police he was a cook by trade, was held on a vagrancy charge Friday. Toliver protested that he had never been arrested before, was a hard working negro, and had recently received a telegram saying transportation would be sent him to come to a job in another West Texas town. After hearing his plea the mayor instructed the officers to release him, provided he had received such telegram. An investigation showed that the Western Union had not received a message for him, and he was held at the Cisco detention camp to liquidate his fine on a vagrancy charge.

"PATENT LEATHER KID" IS REALISTIC SHAM BATTLE

Marching through battlefields with five thousand troops with fixed bayonets, while hidden mines explode, underfoot, aerial bombs are breaking overhead, and huge tanks are rumbling over shell holes at your side is no summer day's play, even if it is only a sham battle that is raging.

Richard Barthelme and other members of the First National's "The Patent Leather Kid" learned this when the spectacular battle scenes for the picture now at the Palace theater after its sensational Broadway run, were made. Mock warfare is so realistic and so dangerous that shell-shocked veterans in the "German" army suffered a renewal of their nervous disability in some scenes. Fortunately there were no serious injuries, but that fact did not lessen the thrill and the sense of danger that all who participated in the "war" experienced.

Huge trees were blown over as the troops advanced, making an added thrill to the situation. Casualties who were supposed to fall during the action did not always know where the heavy tanks were going to pass, and frequently had to crawl along on the ground to get out of their way.

Eppler-Mehaffy

On Monday evening of this week Miss Pauline Eppler and Mr. Happy Mehaffy were united in marriage by the Methodist preacher at Comanche. Mrs. Mehaffy is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Eppler, who are pioneer residents of this country. The secret was well kept from their friends and was somewhat of a surprise to everyone. Mr. Mehaffy came here after the first of the year, and is in the garage business with his brother, and has made a large number of friends. We wish them the very best there is in life.

Senior Play Presented

"Aaron Boggs, the Freshman," was capably presented by the seniors of the Gorman high school Wednesday evening. An excellent cast of players headed by Schmick Ramsey. We congratulate the seniors for their excellent acting and "finesse." They had worked for sometime on this play and it was to have been presented last Friday night, but on account of the heavy rains it was postponed. The features of the entertainment between acts were a song and dance number given by Miss Bettie Jo Hale, and the presentation of the "Prince" and "Princess" to the audience.

ARLENE, May 26.—A drive for $1,500,000 to be realized in the next year or two by Simmons University has been announced from the office of the president, Dr. J. D. Sandefer. This is the most extensive program ever outlined for the West Texas university.

One million of this is to be added to the endowment which stands now at half a million and the other five hundred thousand will be used in constructing more buildings and adding equipment.
In his statement concerning the drive, President Sandefer said that the time had come when Simmons, to serve a growing West Texas, must have more endowment and have more buildings. The twelve buildings now on the campus are taking care of the activities of more than 1,400 students and are taxed to capacity.

PORTSIDERS TO LEAD ANGELO'S GOLF INVASION

SAN ANGELO, May 26.—San Angelo's aggregation in the West Texas golf tournament to open Monday at Mineral Wells will be led by a pair of "outsiders," Mayor W. D. Holcomb and J. A. Miller. Miller does not have equal rating with the mayor, who is ranked an opportunity to make the first flight, while Miller will have to pastime in another flight, and this excludes any possibility of the portsiders pairing off.
A staff of seasoned linksmen will hold the city's hopes for recognition at the resort city tourney, those slated to enter including B. C. Alexander, dean of San Angelo linksmen and who is slated for a first flight berth along with Alex Collins, Al Badger and Penrose Metcalfe, Eugene Mays, Paul Hennaw and K. D. Harrison. Collins won the championship here three years ago but has since lost it, while Badger and Metcalfe are both runners-up in other years of championship play.

More Ladies Enter Circulation Drive

Subscriptions to Count on $10 Club and 1,500,000 Extra Points Must Be in Daily News Office at Early Date

The number of ladies who will take part in the Cisco Daily News and Weekly American and Roundup countrywide subscription drive increases every day. The greatest number to accept their nominations was made Saturday. There are quite a number who will finish their $10 Club Monday and get an even start with all other workers as far as subscriptions are concerned. The more who take part in the drive the less amount of points will be needed to win the prizes. Every one wins a prize or cash award.

Every worker in the big subscriptions drive who can possibly finish up her $10 Club Monday and send, bring or mail her subscriptions to the Daily News office Monday or Tuesday will receive the 1,500,000 extra points besides the regular points for each subscription. No one will be given the 1,500,000 points for more than one $10 Club.

There will be an interesting announcement of this offer for points for subscriptions that will be made to workers for the next two weeks, and will appear in the next issue of the Daily News. There will be a number of interesting features and the opportunity to secure the most points for the two weeks will be given to those who wish to win the Chevrolet cars and all the more valuable prizes.

The free coupon in this issue is worth 20,000 points and there is no limit to the number of coupons any one worker can secure. The workers who will send in the names of their friends for sample copies, one issue of the Daily News and one issue of the American and Roundup, and secure the coupons from same, will have a better advantage in securing subscriptions and will build up a higher number of points toward winning the more valuable prizes.

New Crop of Records to Follow Indianapolis Memorial Day Race Is Prediction of Veteran Pilot

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27.—The prediction that a new crop of racing records will follow the wake of this year's Indianapolis speedway events, was made here today by Ralph Hepburn, racing star and pilot of one of the cars to participate in the annual 300-mile classic to be held here Memorial Day.

Hepburn is returning to the speedway after a season behind the wheel of cars in American Automobile Association stock car events. He was a member of the racing crew that drove three stock Studebaker Commanders to new world records for fully equipped stock cars at the Atlantic City Speedway last fall. All three cars covered 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 minutes. Hepburn says that if his own racing car had the endurance built into the Studebaker Commander, he would guarantee to go out and set records himself in the 300-mile Indianapolis race.

"Speed is in our little cars and to spare. The only problem now is getting endurance," says Hepburn. "If the race cars stand the strain next week, the fastest field that ever faced a starter at Indianapolis will set new records from 1 to 500 miles."

"Every indication points to a new record for the Indianapolis race. Three years ago, Peter DePaolo won the 300-mile grind at an average of 101.3 miles per hour. This year the cars are faster than ever before, and if they stand the strain, DePaolo's mark will go into the discard."

Practice trials have shown that the cars have more speed than last year. Leon Duray has already set a new unofficial race record with a speed of more than 120 miles per hour. Whether a new record will be set for the race next week, hinges entirely on the ability of the little 91 1-2 cubic inch motors to stand up under the strain. They have the speed—it is just a case of stamina now.

Records of past Indianapolis races should prove Hepburn's prediction. Ever since the initial 300 mile speedway race in 1911, it has been customary to reduce the size of the motors at two or three year intervals. For the past seven years, the third year of competition for the new motor has produced a new track record.

In 1915 the race was open to cars powered with engines of 300 cubic inches piston displacement, or over. In that year Ralph DePalma drove his Mercedes to victory at the average speed of 89.34 miles per hour in one of the greatest duels ever seen on a speedway. His record still stood when the 183 inch motors were adopted in 1920, no races having been held in 1917 and 1918.

The 1920 race was won with an average of 83.5 miles an hour. Two years later Murphy set a new record at 94.48 miles an hour. The next year the motors were again reduced in size to 122 cubic inches. The speed dropped for the first year. Then two years later DePaolo set the present record of 101.32.

Two years ago the 91 1-2 cubic inch motors were adopted. Since that time speeds have steadily increased, but no new records have been set at Indianapolis. This year, if the little motors are true to form, there will be another mark of more than 101 miles an hour for the Indianapolis 300 mile race.

CROSS PLAINS, May 26.—With the addition of a 350 barrel producer, a second well standing 300 feet in oil two tests nearing the pay, and several others drilling and new locations made, the Eubank pool continues to be the most active in this area and holds the interest of numerous operators.

Touching the sand at 1215 feet Cranfill Reynolds No. 2 J. B. Eubank started flowing at twenty-five minute intervals at the rate of 350 barrels daily and is gauging but few barrels less than that after having been drilled for several days. It is located three miles south of Cross Cut on the J. B. Eubank 1276 acre tract, Robert Mitchell Survey No. 14 and is two locations south of the first well drilled in the newly discovered pool.

The No. 2 Keller belonging to Cranfill & Reynolds and located 305 feet east and 150 feet north was given a light shot the past week and was considered a very light well. Estimates as to its production were placed at fifteen to twenty barrels but upon being placed on the pump, the sand yielded its oil more freely than thought and thirty barrels were placed in storage the first twelve hours.

A location has been made by Cranfill & Reynolds 300 feet South of this well and preparations are being made to move a machine on ground.

A location for the No. 4 Eubank has been made 300 feet west and 150 feet south of Cranfill & Reynolds No. O. L. Keller.

In the northwest extension of the Eubank pool Cranfill & Reynolds touched the sand at 1250 feet and drilled 13 feet of unusually hard sand before encountering shale formation. A 30 quart shot was set off and the hole immediately was filled 300 feet by oil. A conservative estimate of its production when placed on pump would seem to be between 20 and 25 barrels. It is located 3760 feet from the west and 1170 feet from the north line of the J. B. Eubank tract, Robert Mitchell survey No. 141.

Offsetting to the south Cranfill & Reynolds No. 2-A J. B.

Eubank is on the sand and will be drilled as soon as pipe can be set.

Sinclair Oil company is nearing the sand 300 feet south of the Bradstreet-Mahlstedt well which was brought in for an initial production of 600 barrels. A location has been made 300 feet south and 300 feet west of the well and a rig is being shipped in by the same company.

T. S. Holden has moved his machine one location west and is spreading in on the Bradstreet-Mahlstedt No. 2 J. B. Eubank. Tom Bryant was drilling at 1905 on his deep test on the T. N. Pinkston estate but is now fishing at 1500 for a bailer wedged in the hole by a cave in. Efforts thus far to pick up the bailer have been unsuccessful and an attempt is being made to drill by it.

By-laws were adopted from the Dallas Garden club. Dues are $1. At the opening meeting, January 30, the following joined as charter members: Mesdames R. Q. Lee, J. H. West, C. H. Fee, Rosalia M. Pentecost, Wm. Reagan, J. J. Butts, E. E. Morehart, C. O. Shultz, M. M. Mirms, W. F. Condit, J. F. West, J. V. Heyser, S. E. Hittson, E. S. Wilkerson, Mary Thomson, W. E. Waters, W. L. Holmesly, R. W. Rumbaugh, R. T. Porter.

At this meeting Mrs. C. O. Shugart was appointed chairman of the program committee. Mrs. J. V. Heyser was elected librarian. Since this meeting new members added to the club are Mesdames F. E. Hartzell, G. M. Stevenson, H. C. Henderson, E. C. McClelland, B. M. Hubbard, M. E. Holcomb, G. W. Troxwell.

It is the desire of the club to enroll all who are interested in floral culture.

Programs for the year have been very interesting as well as beneficial. Mr. Ely talked on "Soil" at the February meeting, bringing with him samples of soil and the treatment of each. March meeting was conducted by Mrs. R. Q. Lee on "What and when to plant;" round table on "Bulbs." "Irrigation, cultivation and fertilization" were the topics discussed by J. Stovall at the April meeting, a very interesting and timely subject coming at the beginning of the growing season. Following this was a round table on "Porch Boxes."

"West Texas Today," Convention Number for W. T. C. C. Off Press; Plans for Annual Meet Detailed

STAMFORD, May 26.—The Ft. Worth convention number of "West Texas Today," official magazine of the West Texas chamber of commerce, the largest edition yet published by the organization, went to the hands of its readers this week.

Departing from the usual policy, the cover page is done in a black and white color scheme, depicting an attractive "Busy Canyon" in Fort Worth. The lead story gives the official call for the tenth annual convention, flanked with a picture of R. W. Haynie, retiring president.

Comprehensive articles tell of Fort Worth, the host city, its history, its amusements, educational institutions, industrial and commercial activities, and all phases of its civic life. These stories are from the pen of Cullum E. Owens, staff writer of the Fort Worth Press.

Latest details for the convention plans are divulged in write-ups of the different features planned for the event, prepared by members of the West Texas chamber of commerce publicity staff.

Besides the special sections, there are numerous town publicity articles, on Quanah, Happy, Amsen, San Angelo, Brady, Ploom, Brownwood, Muleshoe, Graham, Throckmorton, and many other points.

Advance announcement of the second annual motorcade to be sponsored by the West Texas chamber of commerce is given in the magazine, and a special article on the oil and gas industry is given by H. J. Adair, manager of the oil and gas bureau.

The next issue of "West Texas Today" will be the annual program number and will likewise by a special edition of extra pages.

LEGION POPPY SALE BRINGS IN SUM OF $126.75

Dressed in white and wearing overseas caps, twelve Cisco girls, with Mrs. A. E. Willis and Mrs. John Owens, were on the streets Saturday disposing of poppies under the auspices of the John William Batts post, American Legion. As a result of this drive practically everyone was wearing a blood red poppy Saturday in the lapel of his coat. The poppy crusaders "made a killing" and the sale was successful. In fact so successful was the sale, $126.75 being realized, that the ladies were complimented with a luncheon as guests of the post, at the Savoy cafe.

The ladies who conducted the sale were Misses Ruth E. Scott, Helen Williamson, Frances McGinnis, Katherine Moss, Loma V. Rainbolt, Alberta Parsons, Catherine Cunningham, Katherine Pettit, Elma Maxwell, Cora Mae McCall, Freda Mae Abbott, Letha Maude Eager, Mrs. A. E. Willis and Mrs. John Owens.

FAREWELL PARTY
A very delightful party was given Thursday night at the I. O. O. F. hall by the Cisco Rebekahs, honoring two of their members, Mrs. M. G. Nixon and daughter, Miss Ruth Nixon, who will leave in a few days for their new home in Altus, Okla. After an interesting business session and the initiatory work, the members adjourned to the dining room, which was very cleverly and artistically decorated to represent a Japanese garden. All of the guests were seated in true Japanese custom and the program throughout the evening carried out the Oriental idea. With only candle lighted Japanese lanterns, gay banners and festoons of many colors, one seemed indeed to be in a Japanese garden, where color runs riot. At a pull of a cord, a shower of beautiful handkerchiefs and confetti fell upon the two honorees. Musical selections on the guitar and accordion were given by Mrs. Leta Rea and Miss Ruth Jensen and Miss Letha Eager favored the guests with several readings. In a handprinted register book, each member wrote a farewell wish.

Mrs. Paul M. Woods will present her junior expression pupils in recital Monday night, 8:15 o'clock, at the high school auditorium. On Tuesday night she will present Miss Letha Maude Eager in her junior recital. Miss Eager will be assisted by Miss Frances McGinnis, soloist, and Miss Maedelle Gilliland, of Dallas, interpretative dancer. Miss Gilliland has been studying for the past year under the direction of Miss Ruth Laird, specializing in tap and jazz eccentrics. She has appeared in both the Public houses in Dallas, the Palace and Malba theaters. She will give "Dream Waltz" and "Rosa Lee" at the recital Tuesday evening.

Miss McGinnis recently won first place as soloist at the state choral meet at Texas Christian university. She will sing "Come Into My Heart," by Logan, accompanied by Miss Eunice Cooley.

Miss Eager will appear in two one-act plays, "The Wonder Hat" and "The Gazing Globe."

The ushers for the evening will be Misses Loma V. Rainbolt, Alberta Parsons, Eloise Rea and Lizzie Mae Eager.

CHIROPRACTIC IS RIGHT.

It has to be right to make the progress it is making everywhere. The whole secret of being HEALTHY and of regaining HEALTH again is within the people who are constantly HEALTHY. Vital Statistics Registrars for Eastland Co. Named; Law Requires Reports on All Births and Deaths

POLICEMAN IS ASSAULTED BY MAN IN CELL

W. M. Miller, member of the police force, had a run-in with a prisoner in the city jail Friday afternoon, when he was assaulted by Floyd Lordworthy, who was held on a vagrancy charge. Miller had gone into the jail and unlocked the cell in which Lordworthy was confined, when the latter assaulted the officer with a heavy cell lock. Policeman Greer went to Miller's assistance and the two soon subdued the belligerent prisoner.

Lordworthy, with Ed Taylor and Bill Calhoun, while held in the jail at Lake Cisco Thursday night, attempted to leave the detention camp, where all were held on minor charges, and had removed two hinges from the door when discovered. The three were brought into Cisco and placed in the city jail where Lordworthy again attempted to gain his liberty.

All three will be returned to Lake Cisco detention camp where they will be turned over to the tender mercies of Foreman Gustafson, but this time they will not enjoy the liberties formerly granted them, as they will be shackled and forced to labor while enjoying the picturesque scenery in that vicinity, said Acting Police Chief L. A. White.

Eastland county has been organized in accordance with the new vital statistics law, by the appointment of registrars for each justice precinct and each incorporated town or city. In some cases, two or three precincts have been combined into one district. Every birth is required by law to be reported to the local registrar of the district in which it occurs, by the attending physician or midwife, or if there was neither, then by the father or mother, within five days after the birth.

The law prohibits the burial or removal of a dead body before a death certificate properly and completely filled out, has been filed with the local registrar, and a burial or removal permit has been secured. The immense legal value of these records makes it important that the citizens of Texas be given this protection by having a complete, legal record properly filed in accordance with this law.

In the first three months of 1928, there were reported from Eastland county, 103 births and 82 deaths. This indicates only about 33 per cent of the total number which probably occurred.

Following is a list of local registrars of the county: Mrs. John Matthews, Eastland, precinct 1 and Eastland; S. J. Dean, Ranger, precincts 2 and 3 and Ranger; Dona Brooks, Rising Star, precincts 4 and 7 and Rising Star; J. L. Chapman, Gorman, precinct 5, Carbon and Gorman; J. H. McDonald, Cisco, precinct 6; Dr. J. H. Brice, Cisco, City; W. H. Whitworth, Desdemona, precinct 8 and Desdemona.

WHISKY POURED OUT; OFFICERS ARREST TWO
 Two gallons of corn whisky were destroyed as officers hove in sight of a certain house in South Cisco Thursday afternoon, according to information given out at police headquarters Saturday. When the officers arrived on the scene a man was seen pouring out the contents of a two gallon container, which the officers said had all the earmarks of corn liquor. Otto Shelly and Virgil Day were placed under arrest and charges filed, officers said.

4 BOYS HAVE WILD PARTY WITH CREAM

A call came to police headquarters Friday afternoon from the 500 block on West Ninth street. Three boys, 16 years and under, were arrested in a garage back of the Olson apartments, and another boy, in a delivery truck, was waiting on the next block. Police found four pounds of butter and three pint bottles of cream in the car. The boys admitted having drunk eight one-half pint bottles of cream before the officers arrived. All were known to the officers, and they were released but ordered to bring their mothers to police headquarters Saturday and report to the mayor. But when Saturday arrived it was learned that the quartet had gone to another city, but were soon located, and officers there were notified to arrest them and hold them till their parents came for the boys.

Hoover's Life Path Has Been Varied and Circuitous

Road by Which Cabinet Member Seeks to Enter White House Runs Through Every Corner of Globe

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with candidates seeking the presidential nominations of the Democratic and Republican parties. The third, appearing in the next issue of the Cisco American, will deal with the career of Senator James A. Reed.)

Herbert Hoover's life and career is a romance of wanderlust and accomplishment. Certainly no other presidential candidate in American history travelled a more strange or circuitous route to come within striking distance of the white house. Hoover probably couldn't be placed in the same soldier-of-fortune class with John Hays Hammond, Gen. Lee Christmas or Richard Harding Davis, but as a globe trotter, and adventure seeker there are few others who can equal his record, and certainly one that prospered any more as a millionaire for many years. Master engineer, globe trotter, humanitarian, fighter, super-organizer, business genius, outstanding economist, cabinet officer, presidential candidate—these are but a few of the roles this truly remarkable jack-of-all-trades played in the course of a lifetime crammed full of action, thrill and high endeavor. Left penniless at the age of seven Hoover pulled himself to a place of international prominence by his own bootstraps. He was but thirteen when he ran away from the home of his "grandfather"—in reality no relation at all—and set out to make his own way in the world. That he learned how to make his way may best be proved by the fact that before he was thirty he had amassed considerable wealth only to see it wiped out by the defalcation of a speculating partner, that in five years from that time he had voluntarily repaid the losses sustained in his company, although not legally responsible, and had started on the way to his second fortune.

Business Ability

Perhaps the greatest demonstration of his superlative business ability—at least so far as the whole world is concerned—was the organization of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. In five years between 1914 and 1919, this organization developed into a great economic engine with many of the characteristics of a government, supreme unto itself, and recognized and respected by all of the World War belligerents. It spent nearly $1,500,000,000, most of which was raised in the same way any government would finance itself; it operated a fleet of 200 ships, together with canal boats, railroads and warehouses; issued its own passports; controlled food distributors; placed every person in Belgium on a rigorous food ration; supported schools; found employment in neutral channels for non-combatants; and furnished clothes and shelter as a side line.

The overhead expenses of this stupendous mushroom organization were less than one-half of one per cent, and his final statements were certified by the firm of international accountants which handled its finances. When Germany began to feel the pressure of the Allied blockade, she sent her officials to Belgium to study the Hoover methods of feeding a stricken people. They were not alone for the allied governments, suffering also from the destructive sea warfare, sent their agents to determine how this remarkable American operated under conditions that were almost impossible.

Returns to U. S.

In 1917, Hoover returned to the United States to apply the same food conservation fundamentals to the American nation that it might better prosecute its own end of the war. As national food administrator under Woodrow Wilson, he appealed to the national spirit of voluntary service, establishing meatless and sugarless days in each week. While he was teaching prodigal America to be careful with its foodstuffs, he found time to organize a $500,000,000 U. S. Grain corporation to purchase foodstuffs and resell them to the Allies, and a $5,000,000 sugar equities board to purchase the entire Cuban sugar crop and resell it to the Allies without speculation.

And after the war, at the solicitation of President Wilson, Hoover returned to Europe to aid in rehabilitating the war-wrecked nations. He revived his food distribution in Poland, Serbia, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Australia, Roumania, the Baltic States and Belgium. Giving particular attention to the little ones, he fed 2,500,000 children. Some 6,000,000 more were housed in asylums, homes and canteens and provided with food and medical treatment. He waged winning campaigns against epidemics of typhus, typhoid, small pox, cholera and malarial fever which spread over Russia and the Baltics.

Work During War.

It was this extraordinary war work that first put him forward as a presidential candidate. This was in 1920. Many Republicans as well as Democrats supported him for the presidency—in fact he carried the Michigan primary as a Democrat! Hoover wasn't sure himself what his politics were, Republican or Democratic. He had spent long years away from the United States, without political affiliation.

He was inclined to lean toward the Democrats because he was, in effect, part of the Wilson administration as food administrator, but his own background and inherent inclinations were Republican. He finally killed his own chances and took himself out of consideration in 1920, although, at that, he received votes in the Chicago convention.

When Warren G. Harding was elected he determined to put Hoover in his cabinet, and did so, although there was some grumbling on the part of the politicians. Hoover was made secretary of the department of commerce, which up to that time had never been regarded as a very important cabinet post. However, Hoover had his own ideas as to what the department could be made, and he proceeded to put them into operation. Today, the department has its own foreign service, it annually answers millions of inquiries from American business men, it is an almost unbelievable repository for statistics of all kinds, it has taken the lead in establishing standard trade practices, it has rendered efficiency-expert service to American industry in all lines, cut down waste in manufacturing, and, in short, developed a gigantic business-engineer operating in the name of the government.

Laura in Iowa.

Hoover was born in West Branch, Iowa, August 10, 1874. His mother, a Quaker preacher, died when he was four, and his father, a blacksmith, died three years later. The Hoover family thereupon split up and the children were sent to live with various relatives. Young Herbert went to live with an old friend of the family whom the children had always called "grandfather."

At the age of thirteen, however, he was tired of the restrictions placed on him and ran away to Oregon. He first earned a living working in truck gardens outside of Portland, later getting a job as office boy in Salem, and finally returning to Portland to work in a real estate office.

The exploits of John Hays Hammond, world-famous engineer, at that time were getting much publicity, and young Hoover established the noted mining expert as his ideal. With a view of becoming a mining engineer, he saved up $200 and set out to enroll at the newly established Stanford University, at Palo Alto, California, in 1891, working his way through by missing two school days a week and making up the lost studies at night. It was while at Stanford that he met his future bride, Lou Henry. She was a student there.

From graduation on until 1913, his life was a kaleidoscope of adventure which carried him through the United States, Mexico, Canada, Australia, Italy, Great Britain, South Africa, China, Russia, and all of the out-of-the-way places in mines, railways and metallic works amid surroundings fraught with danger and excitement.

Went To China.

Hoover was in Tientsin, China, when the Boxer uprising broke out in 1900. When the foreign settlement was attacked, he and his assistants mobilized a force of pro-foreign and Christian Chinese and set up a defense. For over a month, the settlement was under constant bombardment and rifle fire and hundreds were killed and wounded. Hoover personally manned a machine gun and led the defense. It was here, incidentally, that he undertook his first food relief, distributing food regularly to Chinese refugees.

It was about this time that Hoover had become so well known in mining circles that his services were in wide demand, and in 1902 he became a junior partner in the firm which later staged, under the defalcation of a member and resulted in the loss of his first fortune.

Traveling extensively in the course of the next decade, the spring of 1914 found Hoover in London at the outbreak of the war. It is estimated that he seisted some 45,000 stranded Americans to get out of the war zone, through personal guarantees of himself and friends at the banks, advancing many thousands of dollars for passage home.

Hoover's road to the Republican nomination this year is a curious combination of ease and hardship.

Becomes Candidate

When President Coolidge eliminated himself from consideration, Hoover automatically became a candidate. He was "of" the administration because he had a considerable hand in shaping its policies throughout the Harding and Coolidge regimes. Naturally, then he came to be regarded as the heir-apparent and the "crown prince." There was no other cabinet member, save possibly Secretary Mellon, who ever appeared in the picture, and Mellon was 73 years old.

President Coolidge might have stopped Hoover's candidacy overnight in its early days. But he did not do so. He threw no straws in the pathway of his cabinet colleague, and this fact was interpreted by the thousands of federal office-holders as an indication that the occupant of the white house looked with favor upon Hoover as his successor. It is true, of course, that the president did not specifically by word or deed endorse the candidacy of his secretary of commerce, but the fact that he permitted him to remain in the cabinet and conduct his campaign from the security of a cabinet post was sufficient for those who were looking for an administration hand wagon to climb aboard.

Hence, automatically and one by one, administration wheel-horses in Washington like Secretary of the Interior Work, Postmaster General New, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, administration supporters in congress and throughout the country began falling into line behind Hoover. They had nowhere else to go. The only outstanding candidates besides Hoover are Frank O. Lowden, and Vice President Charles C. Dawes.

Old Guard Views.

Lowden has backed the administration on too many issues, notably in the matter of farm relief, to have his candidacy looked upon with favor by the white house or its supporters, and Dawes is not an active candidate. Dawes has consistently and persistently said he was for Lowden. And, besides, the "administration crowd" was looking for some one to tie to, and Hoover appeared the best available bet.

Hoover, however, is not popular with the "old guard" crowd in the senate, and they early set out to defeat him. By the time they had made up their minds to this effect, the cabinet candidate already had a good lead. The strategy of "favorite son" candidates was decided upon. Under this plan various Republican senators put themselves up as favorite sons in their respective states, Watson in Indiana, Willis in Ohio, Curtis in Kansas, Goff in West Virginia, etc. Their purpose was to prevent Hoover from obtaining these delegations prior to the meeting of the convention.

Farmers Unfriendly.

The "allies," as they are called, have been helped in this strategy. TURN TO PAGE 6, COLUMN 5 THIS SECTION

No fully equipped closed car ever equalled The President Straight Eight's official records. No cars of their price classes ever traveled so far so fast as did The Dictator and The Erskine Six.

When such performance can be bought at Studebaker's remarkable One-Price prices, why be content with less than a champion?

"The Allies" have attacked Hoover on many fronts. They have derided his professed Republicanism by pointing to the long years spent away from the United States, his support of Woodrow Wilson's policies and his uncertainty in 1920 to which party he belonged.

They have made the corn and wheat belts ring with their denunciation of him as "the friend of big business and the foe of the farmer." They attribute to Hoover no small influence in President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

He has been pictured as "internationalist" and as a "League of Nations" advocate. They have gone back into the records and dug up letters and statements Hoover made, espousing the League, and one in 1920 that said that "I will vote for the party that favors the League."

Hoover has made few denials and few speeches. He has left the advancement of his cause largely in the hands of his friends, although he personally sits at the head of his table as the strategist and tactician.

We Wish Our Shoes Were Made of Glass

Sometimes we wish our shoes really were made of glass, like Cinderella's slipper of long ago, so that you could see the little differences of workmanship that spell the difference between a good shoe, and one that merely looks good.

You can judge the style and the luster of the leather, but we can't show you such things as honest inner soles, real leather counters to prevent stiffness, full cut vamps and waxed linen stitching thread.

If we sold only a few hundred thousand pair a year, we frankly admit that we could not give you such shoes for the prices we ask. Nobody could. But our shoe orders run into millions of pairs, and of course the manufacturer effects important economies in their production. This saving we pass on to you.

Our shoes, more than anything else perhaps, represent the Penney ideal of Quality; a Quality that goes farther than mere surface prettiness and is built deep down into the merchandise itself.
