WHERE REPUBLICAN HISTORY WILL BE MADE

An interior view of the convention hall at Kansas City where the nineteenth national Republican convention got under way Tuesday. Interest always attaches to the naming of a presidential nominee and the fight between Herbert Hoover and his "allied" opponents is no exception this year. Many other important conventions have been held in this hall, including that of the national convention of the American Legion in 1921. Among noted personages who have spoken in it are Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge, General Pershing and Marshal Foch.

Get on Band Wagon, Definitely Giving Him Majority of Votes

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The first session of the Republican national convention ended at a few minutes past 1 this afternoon when adjournment was taken until 10:30 Wednesday morning following rendition of keynote speech by Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio. As delegates poured out of the great auditorium it seemed assured that Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce and the crown prince of the Coolidge administration, would be nominated on the first ballot.

Hoover's managers were claiming 707 votes for their candidate on first roll call, with probability that the nomination would be made by acclamation. This is considered doubtful, however, owing to bitterness in the ranks of the farm and midwest delegations, some of whom still hold to an apparently firm hope that the Californian can be stopped.

Mellon Backs Hoover
This morning's caucus of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts delegations swung the tide to Hoover when Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon told Pennsylvanians it was apparent that President Coolidge wouldn't consent to becoming a candidate and urged the delegation to support Hoover. They did so unanimously.

In the Massachusetts caucus William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, took a similar stand and the Bay State's 39 delegates voted to follow the lead of Pennsylvania's 79 to support Hoover. Farm group leaders appeared downcast and bitter over the trend of today's developments.

Midwest May Vote for Smith
Many midwestern leaders predicted that their sections would support Al Smith, the probable Democratic presidential candidate, if the Democrats at Houston accept the McNary-Haugen bill as a basis for farm relief legislation.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., declared: "If the powers that be have decided upon Hoover it is quite fitting that the edict should come from Bill Vane."
LaFollette referred to Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, who stole a march on Mellon immediately upon arrival of the Pennsylvania delegation last night and declared: "If the powers that be have decided upon Hoover it is quite fitting that the edict should come from Bill Vane."

Senator Blaine LaFollette's Wisconsin colleague, supplemented LaFollette's statement by saying: "I notice that Mellon issued his statement twelve hours after Vane had named Hoover."
"Weakest Candidate"
Senator McMaster, South Dakota, went on record as saying: "I think the weakest candidate is in his ranks."

One of the happiest persons at the convention was Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, ardent Hoover supporter, who cheered the news that Pennsylvania and Massachusetts caucuses had decided in favor of her choice. In some quarters it was suspected "Princess Alice" was ambitious of having her brother, Theodore, named as Hoover's running mate. This tentative ticket has many supporters, although its ultimate selection is far from certain.

Considerable comment was heard over the fact that Senator Fess' keynote speech made no reference to prohibition, although he is an ardent dry. There was only preliminary applause when Fess assured the delegates that the Republican party stands for law enforcement and against law violation. His only allusion to prohibition came under the broad general headings of "human conservation and development of human resources."

May Win on First Ballot
KANSAS CITY, June 12.—A political band wagon with Herbert Hoover sitting in the driver's seat lumbered into Kansas City's big auditorium today for the first session of the Republican national convention. There was scarcely a delegate on the floor nor a party chieftain on the platform that did not concede the nomination of Hoover on the first ballot, probably Thursday.

This morning's caucuses of the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts delegations put both definitely in the Hoover column, the former voting to support him on the first ballot. These acquisitions put the secretary of commerce well over the half way mark necessary for the nomination.

The floor was packed and the galleries jammed to suffocation when Chairman William M. Butler strode to the rostrum and banged his gavel sharply at 11 o'clock. At this time the swarming delegations were caucusing on the floor and voting to support Hoover, Idaho, which had intended to give a complimentary vote to Senator Borah, and New Jersey, where Frank O. Lowden had some strength, both announced they would support Hoover from the start.

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, favorite son candidate, today refused to concede the nomination of Herbert Hoover despite the action of the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts delegations this morning. He declared that the balloting had not yet started and that he would fight until the nomination was made.

HOTEL MATTER BEFORE C. OF C. TONIGHT MEET

The directors of the Cisco chamber of commerce, at the regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock, will consider matters pertaining to the hotel, vocational agriculture and the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, which meets in Fort Worth Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

L. C. HAMILTON IN JAIL AGAIN AFTER ESCAPE

ABILENE, June 12.—L. C. Hamilton, convicted counterfeiter and violator of prohibition whose boast "no jail can hold me" has been made good twice, is back in the Abilene county jail. Hamilton saved his way to freedom from the local jail about six weeks ago, a few days after he was sentenced to six years in Leavenworth prison by a federal jury here and the day before he was to go to trial in state court on a whiskey charge.

The prisoner was captured Monday, 30 miles southwest of Ballinger on Concho river, by Sheriff H. T. O'Bar and deputies, Frank Whaley, Felix Raines and Britton Hamilton was arrested here about three months ago in a raid by county officers that netted sensational finds including a complete counterfeiter's outfit and specimens of his illegal craft. He was identified as a counterfeiter who was convicted at Houston and later escaped from jail at Galveston. Officers say that the prisoner has been staying in seclusion on the Concho river and occasionally slipping into San Angelo at nights to secure provisions from friends there.

VOLUME IX.

TEXAS

By WILL H. MAYES, Austin.

MILLIONS IN TREASURY.—Old Man Texas is just now in rather comfortable circumstances, having $23,340,108 in the treasury and with outstanding warrants of only $2,708,178. Financing a state the size of Texas is an enormous undertaking which unfortunately has to be handled at times by men unaccustomed to thinking in such large financial figures. About the time a state officer begins to get acquainted with the problems of the treasury he is replaced by another who has the reason to learn anew.

WEALTH IN OIL LANDS.—An acre of 160 acres, with three producing wells on it, has recently been sold for $1,200,000, or $7,500 an acre. That looks high, yet it is doubtless a bargain as compared with the oil lands in Texas. The land is situated in Howard county, but there are other lands in Texas that are perhaps worth more even than this. The value of lands underlain with oil, potash and other minerals can hardly be estimated. Lands once regarded as almost valueless are yielding fortunes to their owners.

RECORD TOMATO MOVEMENT.—Texas is constantly breaking some record or another. This year the credit goes to the Tyler tomato section for handling 50 solid carloads of tomatoes in a week, and that, too, the first week of the season. It hasn't been a great many years since the Texas tomato was regarded as an unessential garden vegetable in East Texas, not worth the trouble of gathering and marketing.

BLACK-EYED PEAS.—The old-fashioned black-eyed pea, long a standard garden product, but hardly thought of sufficient social standing to find its way to the tables of the elite, is fast coming into notice. Pearsall has shipped its first carload and in another season or two Pearsall peas are likely to be famous in the Eastern markets. There is no reason why the Pearsall product, so long neglected by truck growers, may not become as popular as Tyler tomatoes.

ANOTHER RECORD CROP.—Estimates are being made freely that the Texas wheat crop this season will be 25,000,000 bushels. It is surprising that so little is being said about Texas as a wheat growing state and that its riches in golden grain is not being more extensively heralded to the wheat growers of the northern states. The Canadian government and its great railway systems have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in exploiting the wheat lands of Northwestern Canada which are by no means as valuable as those of Texas. It is true that wheat grows well in Northwest Canada, but who wants to stay frozen in half the year to make a crop no better than that which can be grown in the mild climate of North Texas?

TEXAS SHOPPING LIST.—Texas, through the state board of control, will go shopping July 2, and has a private shopping list of 116 pages to which it is inviting the attention of those having merchandise for sale. It is estimated that the purchases, largely of dry goods and provisions, will be close around $2,000,000. Several thousand items must be bought for the use of various state institutions for the fiscal year beginning September 1.

CORPUS CHRISTI BUILDING.—Building permits in Corpus Christi for the first five months of 1928 totaled $3,558,923. These included 203 new homes, 93 additions to business buildings and 69 new business buildings. Building permits to date this year amount to nearly a million dollars more than the permits issued during the entire year of 1927 and a million and a half more than for 1926.

CISCO'S NEW HOTEL.—As a logical site for a modern hotel, Cisco is doing the wise thing in making arrangements for the erection of a new hotel built along modern lines and with sufficient capacity for taking care of the large crowds that are attracted to such a strategic oil center. Cisco has taken its place as one of the most progressive of the small cities of Texas through the sheer determination of its citizens to be satisfied with nothing short of the best. They work as a unit there for the common good of the city.

MEXICO CITY-WASHINGTON NON-STOP FLIGHT FAILS
WASHINGTON, June 12.—Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexican ace attempting a non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington, was forced to land at Mooresville, N. C. at 4 o'clock this morning, according to a message to Bolling Field here.

MISS BOLL IS OFF ON FLIGHT OVER ATLANTIC

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 12.—Waving a gay farewell to her mother, Miss Mabel Boll hopped off from here at 7:19 this morning in the Columbia monoplane on the first leg of her proposed trans-Atlantic flight.

SNAKE SINKS FANGS IN FOOT OF CISCO GIRL

Miss Evelyn Toombs, daughter of Mrs. G. R. Allen, of the Toombs service station on South D avenue, was bitten by a snake Sunday while visiting her aunt, Mrs. L. A. Goss, living five miles southeast of Rising Star. In company with her sister, Agnes Toombs, she was crossing a meadow on the Goss ranch, with her sister in front, who evidently disturbed the snake. She passed along just in time for the reptile to strike, sinking its fangs into her foot twice and escaping before either of the girls saw it. They could not tell whether it was a rattler or copperhead. Miss Toombs was brought to the home of her mother, at 1206 G avenue, where she was given medical attention, and was reported Tuesday to be out of danger. The poison caused inflammation of her entire leg.

BOY WHO LIKES CISCO BEST TO REMAIN HERE

There was a "chuck" in the air here along about a minute ago. He opened the door. A gust of rain swept in, wetting their ankles. "What a lousy night." He whistled shrilly as a taxi swung around the corner.

The cab came to a stop, its brakes screeching hoarsely. Chuck took the girl's arm and hurried her out and into the waiting motor. Once inside and out of the wet Rose shook the little fur collar on her chin, sending the iridescent drops flying. Chuck leaned forward and gave the driver her address, and then settled back comfortably, his arm flung about her shoulders. It was only a moment.

The survey for widening the Bankhead highway in Eastland county is reported completed and the stakes set for grading the road and moving the fences back. Much of the preliminary work has been done previous to closing up the matter of securing lands for the right-of-way necessary for widening the highway. In fact, it was stated, about all things possible have been accomplished until Commissioner Birt Britain and A. P. Taylor, special highway representative, are released from their duties on highway 23 and 67, where they are now busy closing up the work of widening those roads. It is understood that work is progressing satisfactorily on the latter highways.

Engineer Early has made several surveys for the overpass across the Texas & Pacific railroad, west of the Harrell farm. But nothing is known of the location of the crossing, as these surveys have been sent to the highway commission whose engineers will decide upon the most practical location. It is expected that actual construction work will begin on the Bankhead highway by July 1, and it is probable that the initial work will be on the overpass above mentioned.

CROSS PLAINS TOLD OF CISCO DAIRY PROJECT

On the eve of his departure Mr. Spener was asked what progress was being made by his committee in taking a census of the dairy cows in this section, replied: "The committee has mailed out the letters to the various school trustees in the county, and these replies are expected to begin coming in right away. This is the preliminary work of the census, which will be followed up by personal visits by members of the committee to the school trustees."

SMITH'S CASE TO GO TO JURY BY TOMORROW

BAIRD, June 12.—Rapid progress was made in the trial of Lee Smith, on trial here for murder in connection with the deaths of two Mexicans at Stanton last December, on change of venue to Callahan county. The jury was completed Monday afternoon and the introduction of evidence began at once. The state has rested its case and about half of the defense testimony had been introduced, with the defendant on the stand in his own behalf, at 1 o'clock today. The state is asking the death penalty. Argument of today is expected to be concluded by the jury tonight or early Wednesday morning.

Following is the personnel of the jury having the fate of Smith in their hands: R. L. Young, barber, Cross Plains; G. L. Harper, farmer, Putnam; J. H. Grimes, stockman, Baird; H. E. Butler, farmer, Putnam; Ike Kendrick, insurance man, Cross Plains; Claude Tatum, hardware man, Clyde; F. D. Miller, ranchman, Baird; J. E. Chesler, farmer, Baird; I. J. Walker, farmer, Admiral; J. R. Gunn, farmer, Putnam; I. W. Morgan, farmer, Moran; W. A. Brock, farmer, Cottonwood.

Republicans Proud to Stand on Coolidge's Record and Long Period of Prosperity for Country, Says Convention Keynote Speaker

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The Republicans are going to the country in the 1928 campaign on the issue of general prosperity—and if Calvin Coolidge should be persuaded to again carry the standard so much the better.

This was the keynote sounded here today by Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, in opening the Republican national convention, which is beset with bitterness and acrimonious struggles over candidates and platform.

Senator Fess did not actually propose the nomination of Mr. Coolidge, but neither did he take him out of consideration—he merely left wide open the door to the draft movement, should the convention desire to walk through it, by saying that Mr. Coolidge "appeared" to be set upon retiring and that many of his friends believed so.

Coolidge Is Praised.
Mr. Coolidge's name was not mentioned by the Ohio keynoter until near the end of his long address. Then, after words of praise such as few conventions have listened to regarding any president save Lincoln, Senator Fess closed with this: "I once said, and I now repeat my statement. Few are his words, decisive his judgments. His comprehension of problems is broad, his vision clear, and his action dauntless. His conception of public duty forestalls the employment of mere political expediency. He spurns the arts of the demagogue, and strengthens the passion of public rectitude. He is more concerned in directing the public mind in proper channels than in following public clamor based upon propaganda. He yields not to threats, nor is he persuaded by cajolery. His evident desire to do justice to all stimulates public confidence. He shields no wrong, nor denies no right. His sense of fairness provokes support and disarms attack."

"After five years and seven months of leadership in our nation, he leaves office by his own fiat, which appears to be final and is so interpreted by many of his friends in spite of the fact that his nomination and election would be a foregone conclusion did he not forbid."

"This hold upon the confidence of the American people of every name, class and creed, without regard to partisan feeling, makes Calvin Coolidge the greatest personal and political force in the world today."

Republican Party Dry.
Senator Fess studiously avoided mentioning prohibition by name, but he made it clear that the Republican party is a dry party. His allusion to prohibition was veiled but pointed, in that section of his speech devoted to "Law Enforcement." After calling for more universal respect for the law, he said: "No backward step can be tolerated upon whatever pretext which would permit a noisy minority to exploit the great mass of our population. All over the earth, led by our own example, there has burnt into national consciousness the conviction that this policy and program of human conservation must not be scuttled."

"It is not a question of tolerance or liberty, but of life, both individual and national. The Republican party is ready to call the roll on this false doctrine masquerading under the mask of liberty. It is ready to sound the moral tocsin against the present campaign of noise-making whether in the interest of business profit or mere human indulgence. It stands for respect for law. It condemns the violation of law."

Stands on Coolidge's Record.
Senator Fess made it emphatically clear that the party is willing to stand or fall on the record of the Coolidge administration. In this connection he rebuked the farm rebels in the party by approving the sentiments expressed in Mr. Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill. He echoed a number of the president's veto arguments, and at the same time highly praised the administration's agricultural record, which, he said, contained "the enactment of no less than 24 separate pieces of constructive and remedial legislation covering every phase of the agricultural problem."

But it was upon the prosperous condition of the country since the Republicans returned to power seven years ago that the Ohio senator placed most emphasis.

World Court Avoided

Foreign relations came in for considerable, though unsensational comment. He avoided any reference to the world court, which the Harding-Coolidge administration sponsored and which the Republican leadership of the senate defeated. He reaffirmed Republican opposition to America's entering the League of Nations, praising the state department's efforts to "outlaw war" by treaties, and defended staunchly the Coolidge policy of sending marines to the little banana republics of Central America.

He denied the marines were in Nicaragua and Hayti for any imperialistic purposes, and asserted they would be withdrawn when the need for their presence was no longer felt.

Greatest Prosperity Period.
"Today," he said, "we are in the longest period of sustained business prosperity in our history."

Going into details, then, Senator Fess stretched the business depression that immediately followed the war, dwelt upon the enormous public debt and the burdensome high taxes, the disarrangement of the whole economic and business structure of the country, and asserted that the Republican party had rescued the nation from that slough. The public debt had been reduced eight and one-half billions of dollars since 1921, he said, at the same time that taxes were being reduced nearly $2,000,000,000 a year, and the country being made prosperous.

"This accomplishment," he asserted, "was not the result of management, but rather of management."

Highest Living Standard.
Under it, he continued, the American standard of living has been raised to the highest level in the world's history and kept there. By way of comparison he referred to "the regrettable experience of Grover Cleveland in his tariff-for-revenue-only policy and the long line of soup houses."

Senator Fess mentioned no candidate by name—unless President Coolidge can be considered in that category. But he did pay indirect compliments to Herbert Hoover, Andrew W. Mellon, Charles E. Hughes and Charles G. Dawes.

He praised the work of the department of commerce in the development of radio and commercial aviation under Hoover; he spoke in glowing terms of the treasury record; he told how American statesmanship had made itself felt in the rehabilitation and peace of Europe through the Dawes plan and the Locarno pacts.

SYNOPSIS
The evening's revelry is at its height in Kelly's Ringside cafe in the Boceery. Kelly, the heavy-set, inscrutable proprietor of the place, watches his mixed crowd of patrons closely from one corner. Chuck White, the beau of the Boceery, is sitting at a table drinking beer with a companion whom he addresses as "Sparrow." Chuck is boasting of the impression he has made on lovely Rose Shannon, one of "Kelly's Girls," with whom he has been dancing earlier in the evening. "Sparrow" reminds Chuck that he is due to "pull something big" at two o'clock and cautions the Beau to forget Rose for a while.

"Jeez, I got 'at all straight," Sparrow informed him quietly. "I got it from Maurey."
"That stoolie!" Chuck sneered contemptuously.
"Well, he give it to me straight, see." Sparrow leaned still further across the table, his voice sunk to a whisper. "He's down to Straw Ball Bill's 'bout a week ago seen' wot he kin pick up when in blows a bold wot looks funny for 'at joint. Everybody else's reglar, see. So Maurey sizes him up an' fingers some'tin's a bit cuckoo. So he hangs aroun', watchin'. Well, 'is bold takes his oil straight, see, an' swells it down quick—noxious like. An' 'en pretty soon in blows th' Perfessor."
"Yeh? What's he doing? I didn't know nobody'd got into a jam," Chuck interrupted.
"No one hadin'." The Sparrow leaned up, shaking his head. "He 'as' come in for a drop o' oil. Anyhow, Maurey sees 'is bold listenin' to a couple o' 'dicks patten' on th' "

"Lissen, baby, you an' me, we're gonna stick together, ain't we?"
buzz-buzz. One's new to th' racket, but he fingers th' Prof. an' asts what he is. So th' foist dick gives him th' low-down an' Maurey pipes 'is bold swallowin' th' whole ting—hook, line an' sinker."
"Does Maurey know who this bird is?" Chuck questioned, seeming to glance casually about him, but in reality watching carefully for eavesdroppers.
"Naw, I tell ya it ain't no one he's saw before." Sparrow picked up his glass of beer, drained it, and went on with his story. "Well, Maurey waits 'til th' Prof. blows, an' 'en he puts 'is bold tallin' th' Prof. so he puts a shadow on bot' of 'em, see. Anyhow, 'is bold goes to th' shop, lookin' around as dough he's goin' to buy a antique." The Sparrow chuckled at the thought.
"Did Maurey get anything more?" the boy asked.
"Sure." Sparrow dropped his nonchalant air and resumed his narrative. "He hangs aroun' an' hears 'is bimbo propositionin' th' Prof. He don't git th' low-down on th' deal he's makin', only he kits a hunch it's some'tin' about an inside job."
"That means a split, then."
"Yeah, sure. But leave it to th' Prof to git his."
"And ours, too," Chuck added.
"And jeez, how I need it. I'm fat. We ain't pulled nothing big in a long time."
"None. But tonight ougter be—" The Sparrow's lips closed suddenly as the music stopped. "Don't feigit wot I tole ya," he cautioned. "Lay off th' Jane tonight."
A wave of applause surged over the room. Bright lights sprang up. The girls took their bows and then separated, running across the floor to their various companions of the evening.
"I'm not forgetting," Chuck nodded, as he got up to meet Rose, who was hurrying over to their table. "Gee, you looked swell tonight, little girl." He caught the dancer's hands, pressing them lightly.
"Do you really think so, Chuck?" Rose basked in the sunshine of the "

SCARF IS PART OF COAT, GOWN OR CAPE

PARIS, June 12.—The scarf is so much a part of the coat, frock or cape this season, that it seems to have taken root and is growing fast there. It is either sewed on or belongs to the particular garment by being cut from the self-same material. It is usually placed at the neck or shoulder, but there are various arrangements, and Parisiennes are past-masters in draping it to the best advantage of their particular beauty.

For short women, it is a first aid to adding height and making for long, slim lines. In this case, it floats full length from the shoulders. On the other hand, it may prove a boon for tall women. If used in the proper manner, it can decrease their height by several inches. Madame Vallet makes it a part of a bolero arrangement coming from the right side-front draped upward to the left shoulder and thrown around the neck. It is caught under a large pearl pin. It may also be simply brought over the left shoulder falling to the knees in the back. A smart scarf on a new summer coat is grey-green marocain is cut slightly flaring with four deep circular bands curving upward toward the front occupying the lower half of the coat. On a sports costume made of dark blue tuskasha, a flag-red handkerchief with white polka-dots make the scarf. Another model shows the half-handkerchief draped like a scarf. It is a very large triangle with one point attached to the left side front of the square neckline. It is then brought around the neck and passes through double slits in the front of the blouse hanging in a long jabot.

Circulation Workers Starting Late Are Given Chance

Opportunity to Gain Points by Subscriptions in Rural Section to Cisco American Week's Offer

The offer for points on subscriptions this week in the Cisco Daily News and Weekly American and Roundup country wide subscription drive is made to give the workers in the rural districts an opportunity to gain a lead with points. However, the workers in the towns or any place are not barred from taking advantage of the offer and may secure as many subscribers as they can to count on the week's offer.

The offer for the week: 1,250,000 extra points for one year's subscription to the Daily News or 1,250,000 extra points for one year to the Weekly American and Roundup. Workers can secure one or more subscriptions and get the 1,250,000 extra points on each subscription to the Daily News or the Weekly. The offer to give as many extra points on the Weekly at $1.50 a year as is offered for a Daily subscription at $5 a year is the advantage the rural workers will have for it is presumed that the rural district workers will sell more Weekly Americans and Roundups than the town workers. However, the Weekly American and Roundup is proving a pretty good seller in both districts.

The offer for the 1,250,000 points for each year's subscription is in addition to the regular points. The regular points are 225,000 for the Daily for one year, 90,000 for six months, and 35,000 for three months. Four three-month subscriptions or two six-months to the Daily News will equal one year's subscription and secure the 1,250,000 points. On a one-year subscription to the Weekly American and Roundup, the regular points are 25,000 for each year and with the 1,250,000 extra points the one year's subscription will net the workers 1,275,000 points for each year's subscription.

The offer will close Saturday night at 11 o'clock. The offer for points for coupons and subscriptions this week is the highest that will be offered again during the remaining weeks of the drive. The opportunity for beginners as well as those who may have started their drive earlier, is offered this week so the workers who wish to gain the most points and win the Chevrolet cars, the Viva-Tonal Columbia, the complete radio set, four college courses, and all of the other valuable awards can gain many points for new subscriptions. The workers who do not secure a prize will be given a cash award—everyone wins and there are no losers in this drive.

If you want your dreams to come true, don't oversleep—The Utica Observer-Dispatch.

HEAVY TOOLS CAUSE PHONE MAN'S DEATH

Paul Helms, who was drowned at Millsap Sunday, had been working with the Southwestern Telephone company crews out of Cisco, but had been sent to Millsap to make some repairs to the line there. Helms attempted to reach a telephone pole, which the water in the new lake had surrounded, by wading out with all his tools on his person and carrying a coil of wire. He apparently stepped off into water over his head and went down, the extra weight preventing him from saving himself. The body was recovered and sent to Louisiana, where his father resides, for burial.

CISCOAN GIVEN PLACE ON G.O.P. COMMITTEE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.—Creager's Texas delegation completed all formalities Monday and has its slate prepared for representatives who are to act in the national convention as the committeemen from the Lone Star state. The Texas caucus was entirely harmonious and there was not a single contest for any place. A calendar of selections of the caucus follows: Texas national committeeman, R. B. Creager of Brownsville, re-elected; Texas national committeewoman, Mrs. Florence Griswold of San Antonio, re-elected. Platform committeeman, C. O. Harris, San Angelo; permanent organization committeeman, Frank A. Blankenbecker, Cisco; credentials committeeman, Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; rules and order of business committeeman, R. B. Morris, Houston; committee man to notify the presidential nominee, J. P. Lucey, Dallas; committee man to notify the nominee for vice president, Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth.

Denial was made by Creager that he is attempting to build up any political machine in Texas. He declared that he was trying to build permanence into the Texas Republican party so that it would grow and continue after he had passed on. Here he complimented the delegation as representative Texans and as an example of how the party is improving and growing in Texas.

FOR SALE—Seventh street two blocks west of school; front 50 by 125. Had by most serious war wounds dressed." said George W. Barr, Cisco Confederate veteran, Monday. "I was wounded June 10, 1864, at Brice's Cross Roads, near Memphis, Tenn., when both legs were broken by a minnie ball, and I remained on the battle field until the next day before my wounds were dressed—couldn't get away.

"I was with General N. B. Forrest, who was opposed by General Sturgis, with a federal army outnumbering the confederates 5 to 1. After this fight Sturgis was replaced with General Thomas. Forrest won a brilliant victory in that battle. We captured between 3,000 and 4,000 prisoners, many wagons and all their artillery except two or three pieces.

Veteran Barr is now 82 years of age, and is still hale and hearty. Despite the fact that both of his legs were broken when he was 18 years of age, he has two perfectly good legs that serve him well.

TERRIBLY ILL

Kentucky Lady's Health Was Very Bad. Had Severe Pains and Could Not Sleep.

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. J. H. Nichols, who lives at 513 Elm Tree Lane, this city, says that Cardui has been of valuable assistance to her on two occasions, which she tells about below:

"Some few years ago, my health was bad. I had very severe pains in my sides. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not rest. The lower part of my body was very sore. I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes. I would have to put my foot on a chair. I did not feel like eating, and did not sleep well at all at nights.

"A friend of mine recommended Cardui. I began taking it and saw quite an improvement in my condition. I kept it up until I felt strong and well."

About a year ago, Mrs. Nichols says, she found herself in a nervous, run-down condition. "I took Cardui again," she adds, "and it helped me wonderfully. It is a splendid tonic."

Thousands of women have written to tell how Cardui helped them to get rid of pain and suffering. Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. At all drug stores. NC-19

Frigidaire household cabinets are artistically beautiful

Frigidaire's mechanical superiority is matched by the design of its cabinets. Beauty of line, proportion, finish and coloring combine to make Frigidaires strikingly beautiful. The fact that in household models all mechanical parts are completely enclosed, that the smooth, gleaming exterior surface is as easily cleaned as a china plate, that there is nothing to catch dust, grease or dirt, is thoroughly appreciated by any woman. Frigidaire's beauty and clean appearance is one of the great factors in making it the choice of home owners. Today Frigidaire is offered in Tu-Tone porcelain-enameled models, fitted with beautifully etched, satin-finish hardware of new design. Other models are offered in Duco. All fit perfectly into the decorative scheme of the modern kitchen.

ARTIST PASTOR AT GORMAN TO DUBLIN

GORMAN, June 12.—Rev. Mr. Gorman, for the last year Baptist pastor here, has resigned his charge. He has accepted a call to the church in Dublin and will enter upon his duties there on the 17th, when he will start a two weeks' revival meeting. Rev. Gorman has made a host of friends in Gorman during his stay in this town and has led the local church to heights of victory. All regret to see him leave so soon but wish him well in the larger church and the greater field of work that has been chosen to do.

WACO, June 12.—A dual attempt to require all candidates to pledge their support of the Democratic ticket throughout was refused by the state Democratic executive committee meeting here Monday. Judge C. G. Kreuger led the movement to require all candidates to vote the straight Democratic ticket throughout, mainly directing his remarks at Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas. His motion was defeated by a vote of 19 to 6.

Text of Resolution
Following its defeat, Kinbourne Pearce of Temple moved to amend the resolution certifying candidates' names with the inclusion of this phrase: "No candidate's name shall be certified who do not furnish the secretary their pledge to support the nominees of the Democratic party." The amendment was seconded by Ed Howard of Wichita Falls, who said: "It is a crime to let people like Tom Love get up at a Democratic convention and say he will not support Democratic nominees unless it suits him." The amendment also was defeated.

Dallas was selected as the site of the state Democratic convention, September 11. Amarillo, Austin, Brownsville and Waco were other cities bidding for the convention.

Another Resolution
A resolution offered by W. A. Keeling, former attorney general, was unanimously adopted. It reads: "Resolved: That all white Democrats that are qualified voters under the constitution and laws of Texas and who subscribe to statute pledge 3110 of the revised civil statutes of Texas and none other be allowed to participate in the primaries July 28 and August 25."

A resolution extending welcome to the national Democratic committee and national Democratic convention which meets at Houston also was passed.

The following candidates withdrew from the race: James B. Allred, for attorney general; W. W. Bennett, for state superintendent of public instruction, and J. Herschel Beegs, for commissioner of the general land office.

Following the passage of a vote of thanks to the Waco chamber of commerce for the courtesies extended them while in Waco, the committee adjourned at 11:30 a. m.

BLANTON PAYS VISIT TO OLD HOME TOWN

LA GRANGE, June 12.—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton spoke here Monday in the interest of his candidacy for the United States senate.

He said he would speak only of his record in congress, where he declared he had saved the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars and would give out pamphlets of his platform instead of discussing it in his speech here.

He made special mention of the fact that his parents and grandparents, from both sides, are buried in La Grange, and that he had received his public school education here. He did not mention the names of his opponents.

Tom High Hats Gene

When King Gene Tunney of the heavyweights visited Yale and lectured on Shakespeare to the undergraduates he gave box-fight fans a shock. A successor to the mighty John L. Corbett and Dempsey lecturing on literature? Now Tom Heehey steals Tunney's thunder by visiting West Point and talking to the cadets, not on Oscar Wilde or Voltaire, but upon the neatest methods of getting over a hefty right cross and a flashing left jab. But the Australian heavy got a little "high hat" before he departed, as the above photo will bear witness.

Wall Street, we are told, is against Hoover. The farmers, we also hear, are opposed to him. The poor man seems to have no friends but he does have a lot of delegates.—Sioux Falls Daily Argus Leader.

2,000 HEARD LEE IN ADDRESS AT D'LEON MONDAY

An enthusiastic and appreciative audience heard R. Q. Lee in his speech at De Leon Monday in the interest of his candidacy for congress from the 17th district. There were approximately 2,000 present to hear Mr. Lee and a number of local candidates who preceded him. The other speakers were introduced by R. L. Scott, editor of the De Leon Free Press, with J. E. Spencer presenting Mr. Lee. About 125 Cisco friends and partisans formed an escort that accompanied Mr. Lee to De Leon, together with the Lobo band, which, with the De Leon band, furnished music during the intermissions. Much enthusiasm was manifested by those who accompanied Lee at the splendid reception and close attention given his speech. Many favorable comments on Lee's candidacy were heard, according to Spencer.
