We've always been students of the auction ring, having always been a "sucker" for the fast talking man with the cane, but this past week we got an auction all fouled up.

Seems there was to be an auction to be held out at Neel's Grocery at the Hub.

That's all there was to it. The auction was to be held there, NOT held there for the purpose of auctioning off Neel's Grocery.

A wayhead which appeared in last week's paper was misleading to some folks, and caused embarrassment to others.

We apologize for having caused any misgivings and hope that they aren't too put out over the incident.

We can always have one comeback for this sort of situation, however, it proves that some folks read the ads!

This has been a rough week for many of our friends and neighbors around the county.

First Friday night the hail storm and heavy rains hit the south end of the county, then the black mantle of Bill Wright's accident sort of paled the Memorial Day weekend. Then to top all this off Monday night the hail cut a swath through Parmer county that would've caused lesser folks to pack up and get moving.

As we drove about the battered countryside Tuesday morning talking and visiting we were again proud to be a part of a country that has such wonderful folks to make up its citizenry.

I'm afraid that is something like what happened to many of our farmers had happened to me, well, I just don't know.

But more than one of them invited us in for a cup of coffee, discussed the disaster with no despair in their voices and all were looking forward to the land drying out so they could get planted over again.

In our opinion these folks really do top the list.

Like one of the boys told us however, "it is all part of the game and we knew that when we put that seed in the ground."

That's true, but most folks don't recognize that gamble and are pretty bitter in such circumstances.

We've been sold on Friona and Parmer county for a long time, and instances like today have convinced us that this part of the world "will do to go the river with."

You might see a new face making the rounds with us the next couple of weeks.

The face might not be so new to many of your youngsters however, as Don Watkins has taught many of them in the past three years since moving to Friona.

Don is coming on to help us out during the summer months when members of The Star's staff take their vacations, attend conventions and he says he wants "to learn the trade."

We know you will find Donald friendly, courteous and anxious to be of service to you, feel free to call on him for your stories in the future.

In the meantime, we're glad to have you with us Don!

HOW CAN HE GRIN?--Rudolph Renner Jr. somehow managed to smile as he holds a yardstick measuring the depth of the hail against the north side of his barn. He lost a crop of wheat and barley plus having to replant his cotton in the storm Monday night.

Chamber Launches Member Drive

Friona Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture will launch its annual membership drive this week according to Bill Nichols, president of the chamber.

The drive will not be an intensified affair, says Nichols, but all old members will be sent statements urging them to pay their dues.

Members of the board of directors will call upon new businesses urging them to join the chamber, Nichols says.

Details for a swimming program for the summer were discussed at a meeting of the board of directors Monday morning at the Golden Spread Restaurant.

This program is designed for children between the ages of eight and thirteen. It is hoped that the program can be set up and offer a chance to learn to swim to these youngsters.

All parents of children in this age group is urged to contact Hollis Horton Jr., at the Parmer County Pump Co.; Joe Ferrell at Ferrell's Furniture or Mrs. Lucy Jones at the Chamber office and inform them of their child's name and age.

The cost of the program has not been determined, depending upon cost of transportation and cost of a pool and number interested.

Other details will be available as soon as possible.

Other items discussed at the meeting included the Highway 60 association; widening of Highway 60; projects for the year and the membership drive.

Wheat Growers Hold 25th Annual Meet

A barbecue supper at the Friona school cafeteria at 7 p.m. Tuesday will open the 25th annual stockholder's meeting of the Friona Wheat Growers. Following the supper the business meeting will be held in the auditorium.

Two directors will be elected. The terms of A. W. Anthony Sr. president of the board of directors, and Ralph Wilson are expiring. Other board

Watkins Resigns As Head Cage Coach

Dempsey Watkins, head cage coach for the Friona Chieftains the past five years, submitted his resignation last week.

His future plans are indefinite at this time.

Watkins came to Friona in 1954 while the Chieftains were still in Class B competition. In 1956 they were moved up a notch to Class A and again in 1958 they were moved up, this time to Class AA.

A veteran, Watkins served in the Air Force in Okinawa, the Philippines and Japan.

Following his tour in the armed forces he attended Austin College and received his BA degree from Southeastern State College in Denton.

In addition to his coaching duties, Watkins has taught high school math and was a senior sponsor in 1955, 1956, and 1958. Watkins was unavailable for comment at press time as he was in Colorado with the senior class.

Hail Cuts Wide Swath Thru County

THIS WAS A FIELD OF COTTON--Monday night this was a field of cotton at the Rudolph Renner Jr. place south of Friona. About 10 p.m. hail struck out of the northwest and this scene was taken at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Note the hail down the middles.

Destruction Termed As 'Worst Damage In Years'

Cutting a swath through the middle of Parmer county in the shape of a new moon hail swept from the Rhea community in the northwest corner down across Parmerton hill and on to the Eugene Ellis place 6 miles east of the Hub Community Monday night. Wheat, cotton and newly-planted maize fell beneath the withering force of the wind-driven ice.

Hail was first reported about 9 p.m. in the Hollene community across the New Mexico line.

This shower of hail began its march from this community, down across the state line into and through the Rhea community laying wide damage in its wake.

Reports from Rhea indicated Tuesday morning that the farms of Cordie Potts, Paul Hall, Jake Patterson and Melvin Sachs lay in the path of the damage. From the Hall place the hail lifted momentarily and was next reported hitting the farms of Marion Fite and Ralph Shelton about five miles southwest of Friona.

From the place farmed by Fite on the east, westward to Bovina the heavy laden grain crops lay on the ground, battered by the cutting ice.

Moving south of Parmerton hill the worst destruction lay in the area of the farms of Rudolph Renner Jr., Lloyd Mingus and Truitt Johnson.

At the Renner place hail was stacked up a foot deep on the north side of the house and barns and covered the middles of the rows filling the fields brimful.

Across the road from Renner north, the field of wheat owned by Charley Vasek lay crushed in the manner to suggest that

Council Buys Sweeper; Approves Truck Bid

Friona now has a new street sweeper and a new 500-gallon fire truck on the way following action of members of the city council at their regular meeting Monday night in city hall.

Texas Machinery & Equipment Company's low bid of $8,357.62 including interest, for a 3-yard capacity Elgin Street sweeper was approved by the council.

Two other machinery companies, Browning-Ferris Machinery Company and Plains Machinery Company bid on the sweeper.

Their bids were $8,873 and $8,243 (not including interest) respectively.

The interest comes from a lease-purchase type of agreement which was to be included in the bids.

The winning bidder offered the city $1,500 for the old sweeper which is owned by the city for a trade-in on the new model.

In addition the city will pay for the new machine in installments, the first of which will be due about Christmas.

Delivery will be made within two weeks.

Following the sweeper bidding Fire Chief Ruben Taylor and Ralph Shirley, assistant, presented their bid for the pump and equipment to go on the new fire truck.

Taylor told the council that "we sent out four sets of specifications, but only received this one bid."

The bid received was from Howe Fire Equipment Company.

After long discussion the council voted to approve the bid for a total of $10,964.73 to purchase the new equipment.

Conchas Tragedy Mars Holiday

W. O. "Bill" Wright, 39, of Friona drowned sometime Friday night following a still-unexplained accident at Lake Conchas in New Mexico.

Wright, one of five persons who lost their lives in the mystery-shrouded accident, was found about 8:30 a. m. Sunday morning in the water beneath the main dam at the lake.

The first indication of the accident was found early Saturday morning when the body of 9-year-old Tommy Poehler of Santa Fe was found floating face down in the water near the north side of the dam.

Shortly afterward Wright's fiberglass boat was found floating upside down near the dam. The cowl was broken out and the motor was missing.

This sent off a search for other clues as to who, and how the accident, or accidents happened.

Following the find of Wright's boat investigation found that he had left the camp about 9:30 p.m. Friday night. He was alone in the boat according to other members of the party.

The missing persons, later declared dead, included the following:

Victor Poehler, father of the boy found first; another son, Jimmy Poehler, 12 and a man identified only as a Mr. Snyder from Los Alamos.

Sunday morning helicopters were put into service to look for the bodies of the missing persons.

Later Sunday one more body was discovered and as this paper goes to press one body is still missing in the 200-foot water near the dam at Lake Conchas.

Wright, who moved to Friona with his family last year, was a partner in the Wright-Evans Manufacturing Company of Friona.

Only recently the firm has manufactured the first pump to be made for distribution in this immediate area.

Services for Wright were held from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Plainview Monday afternoon at 4:15 p.m.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lula Wright of Friona, one son, Odell, 16 of Friona and three daughters, Mrs. Merlene Kovan and Mrs. Billie Shepherd, both of Friona and one school-age daughter Sandra, also of Friona.

Also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wright of Amarillo, two step brothers and one step sister.

Pallbearers included Shelby Stapleton of Plainview; Howard Stapleton of Plainview, Jim Rule of Friona, Bobby Noyes of Hereford, Tommy Jones, Floyd Brookfield, Charles Short and Steve Messenger, all of Friona.

Interment was at Plainview Cemetery.

Cemetery Group Slates Meeting

A meeting for the purpose of organizing some group to see after the cemetery will be held Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in the council room of the city hall.

Interest in such an organization has been voiced recently and all persons interested are urged to attend.

SALUTE TO THE FALLEN--Members of the Friona Post of the American Legion fire a salute to those buddies who gave their lives in the past that our nation might remain free. Services were held at the City Park and at the Friona Cemetery.

ILL-FATED BOAT--A 15-foot boat in which W. O. "Bill" Wright of Friona began a trip on Lake Conchas Friday night was found early Saturday. Note the hole in the cowl. Investigating officers discounted the prospect of a collision saying the damage to the boat was done by the rocky shore.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

State Tax Program Rests on Senate

By--Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Whether and how the state's tax problem is met now depends largely on the Senate.

House members, apparently eager to "get the monkey off their backs," passed out most of the program recommended by Gov. Price Daniel.

Biggest milestone was House passage by a 71-to-56 majority of the governor's "package bill." As finally passed, it would raise about $150,000,000 in two years -- only about $10,000,000 short of the governor's goal.

Included in the "package" would be an increased levy on natural gas, a new franchise tax on interstate corporations and bigger taxes on tobacco, liquor, automobiles, utilities, etc.

Some members bitterly criticized the bill as dangerous to Texas' industrial future and a product of the labor-liberal lobby. But most seemed to agree that it is "the only way to avoid a general sales tax or income tax."

Senators showed no apparent desire to set a speed record on the first money-raising bills sent them by the House. Book-keeping bill, designed to erase part of the $65,000,000 deficit by changing the accounting procedure, was sent off for an Attorney General's opinion on its constitutionality.

A bill to increase the corporation franchise tax for one year only -- also to ease the deficit -- was set aside. Better to wait for the whole program, the Senators decided, than to work at it "piece-meal."

Senate did take one step forward, however, when Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro introduced the abandoned property bill which had bogged down in the House taxation committee.

STITCH-AND-CUT TEAM
Ten lawmakers -- five from the House, five from the Senate -- have the difficult task of making one package out of the different spending bills passed by the two houses.

Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria and Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah head the group. House-passed appropriation bill is more than $20,000,000 larger than the Senate's. Conference Committee's task will be to cut a little off here, tack a little on there until an acceptable compromise is reached.

In past sessions, this piecing together process has taken several weeks. Even on a day-and-night schedule, this committee will be hard-pressed to finish its job before the present session ends in mid-June.

More than different spending ideas separates House and Senate. Each house used the bill to express its ideas on how the State Board of Insurance should operate. House says full-time; Senate, part-time. Unyielding views have been expressed on each side.

Other members of the committee are Sens. Floyd Bradshaw, Weatherford; Ray Roberts, McKinney; Crawford Martin, Hillsboro; and Wardlow Lane, Center. Reps. John Huebner, Bay City; Truett Latimer, Abilene; B. H. Dewey, Bryan; and Jesse Osborn, Muleshoe.

ELECTION CHANGES URGED
Study leading toward a complete revision of the Texas Election Code is the goal of a House-passed resolution.

Rep. Harold Parish, of Taft is sponsor. If passed by the Senate, the resolution would provide for a 15-member committee to draft recommendations for the 1961 legislative session.

Making up the study panel would be three House members, three Senators, the Attorney General, the manager of the Texas Election Bureau, three persons named by the governor and four persons named by the national committee members of the Republican and Democratic parties.

ALL ONE JOB
Two House committees -- taxation and appropriations -- would be merged under a resolution proposed by Rep. Truett Latimer of Abilene.

One committee of 31, called the House Ways and Means Committee, would replace the two 21-member groups. Latimer declared that since money raised and money spent

He called in the boy, gave him a five dollar bill and said, "Here, Joe, go get me a new car." Joe left with the money. The second man, not to be outdone, called in his boy and said, "Pete, go down to the garage and see if I'm there." Pete left on his errand.

Downtown, the two boys met. Joe said, "My boss is so dumb; he gave me five dollars to buy him a new car, and he didn't even tell me what color."

"Well what do you think about mine?" asked Pete. "He sent me down to the garage to see if he was there, and he could just as easily have phoned!"

have to come out even, it would be more logical to have the decisions made jointly rather than separately.

FARM-MARKET ROAD CHANGE
State's pressing money shortage may bring about a change in the favored budget position farm-market roads have had for the past 10 years.

Since the Colson-Briscoe Act was passed in 1949, the General Revenue Fund has been automatically nicked $15,000,000 a year for F-M roads. Goal was to build 35,000 miles of all-weather rural roads.

Rep. Richard Slack of Pecos has introduced a bill to take F-M road spending out of the State Highway funds rather than from General Revenue. It would not cut farm road spending, but would reduce the money available to the Highway Department for state highways.

Sen. Neveille Colson, Navasota, co-author of the 1949 act, opposes any alteration in the program. Even though more than 29,000 miles have been paved, she said there are still school bus and mail routes that are not "out of the mud."

Farm Bureau opposes, as well as others who say that it will lead to an increase in gasoline taxes to make up the cut in highway funds.

Those favoring the change argue that the farm road program has had creamy spending for a long time, but that with general revenue going $65,000,000 in debt, it can no longer be afforded.

NOT YET, DOT DECIDES
Democrats of Texas threw a lot of bricks at U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson at their Austin convention, but stopped short of an open drive against his nomination for President.

State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman headed off resolutions, saying "this is not the time."

DOT did agree to change its name to the Democrats of Texas Clubs (DOTC). It had been frequently criticized for having a name that could be confused with the official Texas Democrat Party organization. Despite their official "wait and see" attitude about presidential nominees, the delegates made their sentiments clear. They cheered when Adlai Stevenson's name was mentioned and applauded criticism of recent legislation designed to help U. S. Senator Johnson.

SHE ALSO COOKS. Despite the fact that Dorothy Ellis spends a great deal of time working with the primary department of the Friona Methodist Church, she also has time to cook hot yeast rolls for her family. Here Mrs. Ellis seems to be having some difficulty deciding which stickers to buy for her B's school class.

Ellis Family Especially Enjoys Batter - Way Roll

When asked for her favorite recipe, Mrs. Eugene Ellis, who is our cook of the week this time, replied, "I have a batter-way roll recipe that Eugene and the boys especially enjoy. Since they are so simple and easy to make, I make them often."

Mrs. Ellis, a farm homemaker, doesn't have time for a lot of outside activities, but does take an active part in the primary department of the Friona Methodist Church.

The Ellis farmstead, located several miles east of Hub, is beautifully landscaped and much of the work has been done by members of the family. The Ellis boys are Mike, a junior in Friona High School; Lonnie, a fifth grade student; and Randy, a third grader.

Dorothy, Eugene and the boys moved to this area from Littlefield in 1953 and have one of the most attractive farm homes in this section of the country. Most of the yard work has been a family project.

Mrs. Ellis is a former member of the Hub Home Demonstration Club but is now on an inactive status. She is an active member of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Friona Methodist Church.

To make batter-way rolls by Dorothy's method, follow the following recipe:

BATTER-WAY ROLLS
 1 1/2 cups warm water
 2 pkgs. Red Star Special Active Dry Yeast
 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/3 cup soft shortening
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 egg

Pour the warm water into a large mixing bowl and add the yeast. Let stand a few minutes then stir to dissolve. Add half the flour, sugar, soft shortening, salt and egg. Start the mixer on medium speed (or beat by hand) and beat until smooth (1 1/2 to 2 minutes).

Add the other half of the flour and stir in by hand until it disappears. It will take about 1 to 1 1/2 minutes. Scrape batter from sides of bowl.

Cover with waxed paper and let stand rising until doubled-- about 30 minutes. Meanwhile grease 1 1/2 dozen large muffin cups. Stir down batter in 20 to 25 strokes and spoon into muffin cups filling 1/2 full.

Let rise in warm place until batter reaches tops of muffin cups--20 to 30 minutes. Bake 10 to 15 minutes or until well browned on sides and tops in hot oven (425 degrees). Remove from pans and cool on racks.

Like most families the Ellises enjoy home made candy. Dorothy's favorite candy recipe is for

ORANGE CARAMELS
 2 cups sugar
 few grains salt
 2 cups light corn syrup
 1 can frozen orange juice
 1/2 cup butter or oleo
 1 cup heavy cream
 Mix sugar, salt, corn syrup and thawed undiluted orange juice in large heavy sauce pan. Bring to boil over moderate heat stirring occasionally and cook to firm ball stage or 245 degrees on thermometer.

Add butter and heavy cream gradually so that candy never stops boiling. Continue cooking rapidly stirring constantly at this point until firm ball stage is reached again.

Pour into well buttered 9 inch cake pan and cool. When cool pour on board and cut into 1 inch strips. With scissors or knife cut into bite size pieces and wrap in saran or foil. This recipe makes about 2 1/2 pounds candy.

At community gatherings those present will more than likely come across one of Dorothy's prune cakes, which is very delicious. The boiled icing is easy to make and is recommended as fool proof.

PRUNE CAKE
 1/2 cup butter
 1 cup sugar
 3 eggs
 1 cup mashed prunes
 2 cups flour
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 teaspoon cloves
 1 teaspoon soda
 3 tablespoons sour cream
 3 tablespoons hot water few grains of salt
 1 cup nuts

Cream butter, sugar, prunes and eggs. Sift together flour, cinnamon, cloves and soda. Combine sour cream, hot water, salt and nuts. Add dry ingredients and cream mixture alternately to creamed mixture. Bake in two layers in moderate oven.

PRUNE ICING
 1 cup white sugar
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup sour cream
 few grains of salt
 1 cup mashed prunes
 2 tablespoons butter
 1 cup nuts
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Mix sugar, eggs, sour cream, salt, butter and prunes in sauce pan and cook until thick stirring constantly. Add nuts and vanilla and spread between layers and on top of cake.

For a salad to go with any noon or evening meal, Mrs. Ellis likes to serve

CABBAGE-PINEAPPLE MARSHMALLOW SALAD
 3 cups finely shredded cabbage
 2/3 cup pineapple tidbits
 1/3 cup mayonnaise
 2 tablespoons light cream
 1 teaspoon sugar
 few grains of salt
 16 marshmallows, cut in quarters

Add pineapple to cabbage. Blend mayonnaise, cream sugar and salt and stir into cabbage mixture. Stir in marshmallows. Just before serving arrange on crisp freshly washed lettuce leaves.

Four members of the Friona High School band are enrolled in the two week Sunshine Music camp at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales. Total registration, representing 55 cities and towns in seven states, figures reveal that there are 526 students.

These students have been divided into seven bands, two orchestras, a chorus, a choir and a dance band for the two-week program. In addition to performing in these organizations, the students will participate in classes, section rehearsals, private instruction and three public concerts.

Those from Friona who are attending are Mary Jane Grubbs, Iva Ben Parr, Jobey Claborn and Suzanne Taylor. Jane Bruns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Les Bruns who attends school at Muleshoe, is also attending the camp.

We have met a number of people in our travels and almost without exception, all have the idea that he, or she, could write a newspaper column that would set the world on fire.

Scouts Attend HD Cookbook Is Annual Day Camp Near Completion

Mrs. Ralph Wilson is directing the annual Girl Scout Day Camp, being held at the Friona Methodist Church from 7 to 11 each day this week. On Thursday Scouts, parents and leaders will go to the Escavada Ranch northwest of town for an all day picnic.

The closing event of the camp will be a family party Friday evening. Following this the annual Court of Awards will be held. All girls who are to receive awards are urged to attend the Court of Awards even if they have been unable to attend Day Camp.

The Salvation Army provides summer camping experiences for about 15,000 children in the United States each year.

More than 55,000 homeless men are aided each year in the rehabilitation program which The Salvation Army conducts in more than 100 Men's Social Service Centers in the United States.

The Salvation Army began its work in behalf of prisoners and parolees at Hartford, Conn., in 1885. Yearly it helps to reunite hundreds with their families.

It's not the cost of collecting that worries the business men of our city but the cost of not collecting.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT
An avid fisherman, true to tradition, could hardly contain himself when recounting his rod-and-reel triumphs to his pals.

Indignant at the skeptical hints that he was an out-and-out liar, he bought a set of scales, installed them in his kitchen and insisted that his friends watch as he weighed his catch.

One evening a neighbor rushed in and excitedly asked permission to borrow the scales. A few minutes later, he was back beaming with delight.

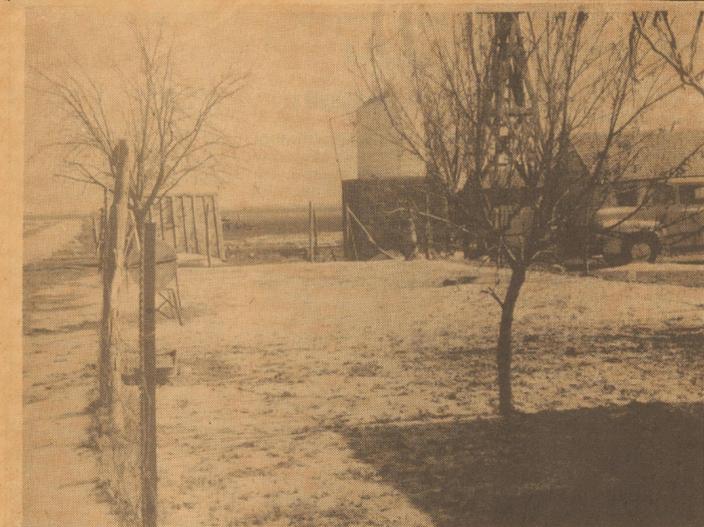

"Congratulate me, men," he cried. "I'm the father of a 38-pound boy!"

PRESENT YOUR BODIES A LIVING SACRIFICE

We are urged by Paul, "I beseech you brethren by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice." This carries the idea of the bringing of the offering or sacrifice of the animals to the altar as a part of the Old Testament worship. The idea is that we give ourselves as completely to the service of Christ as the offering that the worshiper gave to the Lord. Many Christians have not found the true joy that God has for them because they have tried to serve only halfheartedly and have never made a complete surrender to the Lord Jesus Christ. Give yourself in complete, unconditional surrender and find the greatest joy that can come to human hearts.

CONCHAS DISASTER AREA--Searchers still pried the water in a cove north of the dam at Lake Conchas Sunday morning searching for bodies of four victims of an accident Friday night. (One body is still missing as this paper goes to press.)

Three Wrecks In Area

Three wrecks were investigated in the Friona area this past week. Sunday afternoon an accident which involved four Latin Americans in a one-car turnover near Summerfield still has two people hospitalized in the Parmer County Community Hospital.

The four persons involved included Emma Campoarios, 30; Pedro Aguilo, 34, Guadalupe Saldara, 36 and Fidesinio Fria, 30; all of Friona.

The car, a 1954 Chevrolet turned over after hitting a soft shoulder near Summerfield about 1:15 p.m., Sunday.

No charges have been filed as the case is still under investigation.

Thursday morning at 6:10 a Ferguson-Steele transport truck driver, Lonnie Trotter was blinded by the sun and ran into a barricade and jumped over nine piles of caliche on the construction of Highway 60 east of Friona.

Trotter was treated and released at PCH but his truck was damaged to the extent of about $750.

Thursday afternoon Jesse L. Reasnor of Borger was charged with passing without safety following an accident east of Friona.

Joe Faye Brooks of Route 3 Friona was turning into her driveway when her car was hit by Reasnor's auto.

No injuries were reported.

The Official Highway Travel Map is used by all state and governmental agencies in the state for determining highway distances, mileages, zones, and like information. The same map is equally as useful to tourists.

BY BOB COLLINS

There have been some fairly small sales of Russian cotton to Europeans at a price below even Mexican growths...this really can cause you concern if you project the incident a little...

Russia sold some Strict Middling 1-1/16" for October-December delivery at about 26 1/2 cents per pound...this is considerably under the U. S. price even with the eight cents subsidy...now suppose that Russia decides to really upset the cotton market in her economic war...

...subsidy won't make any difference since the Russian economic system doesn't have to recognize the cost of producing cotton and can throw the fiber on the market at any price that suits the Reds...fortunately Russia's customers are a little suspicious...as well they may be...look what happened to some of Red China's customers recently: after sales were made at very low prices, the shipments just stopped and left the buyers holding the bag...nobody seems to know why, but it won't help either Red China or Russia to gain contented customers; however, the low prices of the Red's cotton will cause lots of buyers to take chances on delivery...one cheery note, though, some European spinners are willing to pay a little higher price just to get the traditional assets of doing business with American cotton shippers: continuity and reliability of supply...assets, incidentally, that our government programs oftentimes place in jeopardy.

FARM LAND UP Value of farm land topped all records in March...across the country farm real estate now averages $108 per acre and that's up eight per cent over March, 1958...the figure of $108 per acre breaks down to an average price of $83 for land...$25 for buildings.

MEXICAN PLANTINGS Cotton plantings in Mexico are down considerably from the 2.5 million acres of 1958... cause is tight credit brought on by declining prices...no estimate on total '59 acreage yet...we'll guess the Mexican production will be down 30 per cent.

Parmer County Chapter Expands

Parmer County Chapter of The National Foundation has launched preparations to put into effect in the county a broadened new program of patient aid which has been in the making since last summer, Cary Joe Magness of Farwell, chapter chairman, says.

The revised program will offer assistance not only to polio victims but also to certain young patients with arthritis or birth defects. New targets were first announced last July; since then National Foundation leaders have been studying the best possible approach to the patient aid aspects of the program.

Under the broadened policy, Magness says, March of Dimes help will be offered to children under 19 with certain defects of the brain and spinal cord, with juvenile arthritis, and--as in the past--with paralytic polio. However, he added, payments no longer will be made for nonparalytic polio.

"We would like to make it very clear at the outset of this broadened program that we will continue to fulfill our basic obligations to polio patients needing assistance," Magness points out.

The chairman said that The National Foundation has selected these areas for its broadened program because not enough is being done at present for patients with arthritis or birth defects; further, much of the treatment and therapy needed in the new fields is similar to that used in polio, and thus facilities and personnel already created by March of Dimes funds can be applied in the new areas.

Services for patients with birth defects or arthritis will include limited hospitalization, diagnosis and outpatient treatment, transportation, physical therapy, certain drugs and equipment and other forms of aid, he said, adding that on the advice of medical advisors from all parts of the country it was decided that The National Foundation could not pay doctor bills in birth defects, arthritis or polio if the American system of doctor-patient relationships was to be preserved.

"We do not know yet," he said, "exactly when we will be able to begin offering assistance in these new areas, but it will be soon."

Parmer County Chapter is in a financial position to enter the new areas shortly. Our county has been fortunate in that polio has been light in recent years, our citizens have supported the program generously through the March of Dimes and there are funds on hand to begin the new work.

Official '59 Texas Road Map Released

The new 1959 Official Highway Travel Map will be available for distribution Monday by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of the "travel encyclopedia" of Texas, as it has been called, may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or at the highway district offices and travel information bureaus. County tax offices have map cards available for requesting copies of the map.

The new map is the answer to today's demand for more and more travel information. The steady growth of Texas from a state with a population of slightly over seven million just ten years ago to its present estimated population of more than nine million is reflected by the information appearing on the 1959 map.

Nine more cities and towns are shown than on last year's map, making a total of 1,821. The increased mileage in U.S., state, and farm-to-market roads is much in evidence. The map reflects some 1,600 miles of multilane divided highway now completed in Texas, including the completed sections of the National System of Interstate and Defense highways located in the state.

The map now shows approximately 61 major lakes and reservoirs, and includes countless rivers, creeks, and streams. Roadside parks, long cherished as rest stops and picnic areas by Texans and tourists alike, now number 1,046 as compared to the 1,026 shown on last year's map.

City route maps are provided of the state's 12 largest cities--Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

The reverse side of the map, with a theme of "Texas, Land of Contrasts," reflects, in 20 full-color pictures, some of the outstanding scenic, historical, and recreational attractions in Texas. A section entitled "Facts About Texas" gives facts and figures on Texas' natural resources, recreational opportunities, state and national parks, historic points of interest, flora, farming and ranching, terrain features, and climate.

BATTERED, BENT AND BUSTED--This transport truck found athletics are just a little out of line following an accident Friday morning east of Friona. The driver was blinded by the sun, ran through a barricade and the cab came to rest 10 piles of caliche down the road.

MEET THE MINISTER —

Youngest Pastor Works With Youngest Church

Rev. M. Alvin Askins, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, made the following statement during an interview with a Star reporter. "I believe I am the youngest minister in town and my church is the most recently established in Friona."

Although Askins is only 25 years of age, he has been preaching eight years. He began preaching when he was seventeen years of age and a junior in high school. Following his graduation from Gracmont High School in Gracemont, he received his credentials from the Oklahoma District Council of the Assemblies of God. He was valedictorian of his graduating class.

His first work as a minister was evangelizing in Oklahoma soon after his graduation in 1952. Two years later he was married and since that time he and his wife, Alda Joyce, have spent several years evangelizing in Oklahoma, Colorado and Nebraska.

His first located work was with the church at Colony, Okla. From there they went to Texhoma, where they worked prior to moving to Friona in October of 1957.

When asked about hobbies, Askins said, "I have always been a member of the ministerial alliance in each town where I've pastored and spend a good deal of time working with this organization. At the present time I am vice-president of the Friona Ministerial Alliance."

"I also grow plants and spend most of my spare time raising flowers and beautifying the premises. I have made some improvements on the church premises this past year and plan to do more this year."

At the present time Askins is enrolled in the Bearean School of the Bible, Central Bible Institute, Springfield and expects to complete the course of study in 3 years at which time he will become an ordained minister. At the present time he is a licensed minister.

Rev. and Mrs. Askins and their 2 1/2 year old daughter live in the church parsonage just north of the church, located in the northwest part of town.

Although the congregation isn't very old in the point of years, it is growing and additional classrooms have been recently added to the original building.

Dissatisfaction breeds progress.

Two Fined After Wreck

Two Stinnett men were fined, one in the county and one in Farwell JP court, after a car-maintainer wreck Friday morning about 8:30 near Friona. Eddie Barrett, 23, was fined $50 and costs Monday morning in Judge Loyde Brewer's county court. He pled guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. Edward Williams, 32, his companion, was fined $20.50 in Judge Roy Thornton's JP court the same morning, on a charge of drunkenness. He also pled guilty.

The men, who were riding in a 1949 Mercury, came through Hereford headed toward Friona in a hurry and aroused the suspicions of officers there. Deputy Sheriff George Reynolds gave pursuit, but when he finally caught up with the men, they had collided with a maintainer doing road work on Highway 60. No one was injured, but the car was damaged in the amount of $150, estimates Sheriff Chas. Lovelace. The Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

Barrett, who is wanted on a warrant for violation of probation in Borger, is still in the county jail.

WITH JUNE

One of the nicest things about Panhandle weather is that you never know what to expect next. Several days last week it was uncomfortably warm. Then early this week jackets were not out of place. Personally we prefer the cooler weather, but realize that farmers need warmer weather to grow their crops.

Driving down the highway clever signs are always turning up if a person observes them. Some of the things that are printed on signs can be used to serve as aids to keeping awake when driving at night. On the highway near Levelland there is a sign that advertises some kind of trading post.

After reading the sign from top to bottom less than three days ago, the only thing that registered enough to be remembered was "We buy or trade for anything that don't eat." If we lived in that vicinity and had anything to sell, we'd certainly drive by the sign for the name and location of the firm.

As time goes by things happen every day that make us realize the truth in the saying, "It's a small world." During the weekend we were in Brownfield visiting relatives. Saturday afternoon a man came across the street to chat with us.

Most of you know the James Braggs, former Friona residents who have lived in Brownfield several years. We enjoyed a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bragg and daughter, Betty, a student at North Texas State College at Denton.

Then late Sunday while we were having the car serviced the owner of the station asked where we lived. After learning that we were in Friona he informed us that the Dillie Kelleys were soon to be his next door neighbors.

Another thing that happened in Brownfield that we really appreciated was a courtesy shown us by a wholesale oil dealer. After having a flat we left a tire at a service station for repair. Then failed to pick it up before the station closed.

Late Sunday we found a wreath on the door due to a death in the owner's family. We made inquiry and learned that Tommy Hicks was the wholesaler's name and called him. After explaining our plight to him he informed us that he did not know the proper person to contact but that he would find out and call us back.

Within an hour we had the tire and were on our way home with a very kind feeling toward a man we had never met before.

Our June calendar motto reads, "Faith and works are like the light and candle. They cannot be separated."

For the most part we admire the members of what is generally termed "the young people of today." In spite of the fact that we don't always approve of or understand some of the things they do and views they come up, we admire them for having courage enough to think and act for themselves.

Far too many people criticize without first investigating the circumstances. Most often we hear the statement, "We didn't do that in MY day." Even if this be true and in most cases it is, can we really say that "the young people of MY day" did a better job growing up than "the young people of today?"

Most of the change we notice is in the right direction. Perhaps the fact that more parents are able to send their children to college has a bearing on the increase interest in education. Each year more and more college students are taking correspondence courses or summer courses in order to earn degrees sooner.

This seems to be a pretty indication of the realistic way our high school graduates and college students look at the future. Some of our readers will probably say, "Yes, but just look at old so and so. He has just done such and such."

Can't all of us remember that there have always been exceptions to all rules and it isn't quite fair to rate an entire organization or age group by the conduct of a minority of the members.

The following six paragraphs were lifted from other newspapers.

NEARSIGHTED- A wife is a person who can see a blond hair on her husband's coat ten feet away, but can never see a fire plug when she parks.

TOUCHING- The most expensive corsage is seldom as beautiful as a bunch of wild flowers clutched in the grimy fist of a bright-eyed small child.

LIGHTER TOUCH- Opportunity only knocks, while temptation kicks the door in.

CHEER UP, No man is completely worthless--he can always serve as a horrible example.

KNOW-IT-ALLS- If you want to find out how many "experts" there are in this world, be a newspaper editor.

NOT NEGLECTED- There's hardly a woman who reaches 30 without having been asked twice to marry--once by her father and once by her mother.

If nominations are ever in order for the "moving-est" family in the area, we plan to nominate Joe and June Brummett, former Friona residents who now live in Clovis.

We are beginning to wonder if the tornado of about two years ago "put a spell on them." If our memory isn't failing, they had to move what furniture the tornado left in the house out and lived in town while the damage was being repaired. Then later moved into town while waiting for their new home in the east part of town to be finished.

From here they moved to Clovis and it seems that we have had at least three notices to change their address since then. If any of you need assistance on moving problems, you might contact these two.

In a more serious vein, the Brummetts have recently purchased a new home in one of the newer housing developments after having rented a house to live in several months. We hope the entire family enjoys the new home and are happy that they consider the Star a family "must."

A motorist was going the wrong way down a one-way street and he was stopped by a policeman. "Where do you think you're going?" the officer growled.

"I don't know," sighed the motorist, "but I must be late. Everybody seems to be coming back."

"How much longer," the little boy inquired, "will I have to eat spinach to be able to lick anybody who tries to make me eat spinach?"

A little push will perform more miracles than any amount of pull. Remember -- every time you break a record you make a new one.

EARN MONEY--AT-HOME SCHEMES ARE WIDESPREAD

Ambitious housewives who are anxious to supplement the family income, but find it impossible to hold even a part-time job because of family obligations, are often attracted by advertisements in all media: mail, radio, newspapers, magazines, and others; even in match books, offering them an opportunity to earn money by doing "part-time" work at home.

Better Business Bureaus receive daily inquiries and complaints from housewives, shut-ins, elderly persons, widows and others who have responded to what appeared to be offers of lucrative home employment in "help wanted" columns when the real and only purpose of the advertiser was to sell something. These people who can least afford to lose their money, have been shamefully exploited by such advertisements.

The one common denominator in all these spurious "home work" promotions is the requirement that the prospect buy something from the advertiser. That is the "gimmick". The advertiser's primary interest is the sale of goods, literature, instructions, or services, to the prospective home worker at a big profit.

None of these companies which have come to the attention of Better Business Bureaus, has been found to actually offer real employment as implied or to guarantee a market at a fixed price for the finished product.

Early history of North Carolina: "The first English colonists fell on their knees; then fell the aborigines."

One of the oldest forms of art—the stained glass church window murals—may yield to one of the modern plastic murals in the future. Successful and very attractive experimental murals have been produced from Plexiglas. Among its advantages—pieces of the design can be cut much smaller than glass, welding is unnecessary, and the complete design is identical on both sides. But don't have your church improvement committee rush out to buy one right away. They are still expensive and must be created by experienced artists.

If you are one of the families who keeps chickens, use a paint roller when painting roosts with indane or nicotine sulfate for lice control. You'll finish the job much faster.

Before you get your new spring chicks, clean and disinfect the brooder thoroughly. It pays off in healthier chickens and better profits. According to a prominent agricultural college authority, "The most practical disinfectants are sunlight, drying, and a dilute solution of lye."

All houses, feed hoppers, and water troughs previously used for chickens should be thoroughly scrubbed and soaked in a hot lye solution. This will kill round worm eggs and many disease germs. All foreign matter should be scraped and swept away before any disinfectant is used.

To make an effective, odorless lye solution, dissolve a can of lye in 10 gallons of water (or 2 rounded tablespoons per gallon if you need a smaller amount). If you want to kill round worm eggs, use hot water. Use any handy container except ones made of aluminum.

Scrub all surfaces within reach, using an old broom or brush. If you have a sprayer, follow the scrubbing with a spray of the solution into cracks, corners and other inaccessible places.

Rinse brooms, brushes, containers and sprayers thoroughly. Wear old clothes, rubbers, and rubber gloves.

Fish is one of our most nourishing and most economical foods. Unfortunately, when you're preparing this world-wide food you need a good air refresher especially in close quarters.

Incidentally, when Dad brings home a couple of speckled beauties, you'll have an easier time of raising and cleaning them if you use an office clipboard. The clip holds the mail, gives you freedom of both hands for the cleaning. Better still, why not talk Dad into cleaning his own fish!

CHEVROLET BESTS

Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.

BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NAS-CAR, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any N.A.D.A. Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A. make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Make sure you get the most for your money—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

necessary appertencances will be mounted on a new 1959 Chevrolet truck chassis. Delivery of the new truck is slated for August. In other action the city books were audited and this report given to the council by Bob Ginsburgh, CPA. He reports that all books are in order, but recommends that the council begin thinking about a new system of keeping the books and the possibility of a statement machine. Red Smith, of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, consulting engineering firm of Lubbock reported that the new city well is "coming along fine" and is proving out to be a 500 gallon well as planned. A long discussion about the possibility of the construction of added sewage facilities, more water storage and more paving was discussed between the council and Smith. Following the discussion the council told Smith to draw up cost studies of the projects and see what he thinks the city will need along these lines and how much it will cost. Smith will give this report to the council at their next meeting. Council voted to amend the ordinance concerning water and sewage services outside the city limits. (This ordinance change is carried in this issue of the star in detail on the classified page.) The council will meet June 5 in a public hearing concerning the proposed rezoning of property in the east section of town. All property owners who are concerned are urged to attend its meeting in order that the majority can be heard, the council says.

WHEAT CUTS WIDE-- shredder had made its way through the wheat. Roads ran full of water from arrow ditch to barrow ditch impeding traffic and the full impact of the damage until sunup Tuesday. At the Hub Community, the mill marched eastward about a half mile south of the Dimmitt highway covering the area from the Renner place to Bovina and south to the Running Water raw. Several of the farms which were ruined this time had already felt the impact of hail earlier this year. One man, Euguene Ellis reported this is the third hail in his farm in the past three weeks. Coming too late to do anything about the wheat, many farmers could be found Tuesday purchasing more cotton and maize seed and making plans to replant as soon as the fields became dry enough to get

Need More Room?
Raise the Roof to Gain Space

Don't blow your top if your family is growing too fast for your house. Instead, raise the roof. That's just what the owner of the house in the photograph did recently to make room for his expanding family. By literally raising the roof of his St. Louis bungalow, he added three bedrooms and space for a bath to what had been a five-room, one-story house. Like many owners of small houses on small lots, this family decided to go upward when they realized they couldn't build outward without taking up too much of their rear yard. Once the decision was made, the rest was comparatively easy. A new superstructure for walls and roof was erected atop the old roof, and a new roof of asphalt shingles applied to give sure weather protection. The owner chose asphalt shingles because of the reliable service they had given on the roof of the original house, and because he liked the silvery gray color used on the old roof. Before the interior was partitioned off and finished with gypsum board, the owner installed mineral wool four inches thick in the ceiling and three inches thick in the walls to insure summer comfort and economical winter heating. Another savings was in the use of double-hung window units of ponderosa pine. These helped reduce labor costs, since they are assembled at the factory and need only be nailed into the window opening when they arrive at the building site. Total cost of the expansion, including roughed-in plumbing for the second-floor bathroom, was $2,700.

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT
No-Faced?

They used to call the nameless, door-to-door peddler "the man without a face." Slipping into town without notice—and out again the same way—he depended on a glib tongue to sell his cheap books and kitchen gimmicks. He didn't want to be remembered or recognized—after he had made his sale.

When you're buying a gadget worth a few pennies, it may not be important whether you buy it from a reputable, established dealer or a peddler "without a face." But when you buy something important, like an insurance policy, you want to know the man who sells it—and be able to find him when you want him.

So be sure when you insure. Buy your protection from an established, local independent agent to whom you're a neighbor, not a number. Look for the agent who displays the red and white Capital Stock seal—the "standard of protection" for more than a century. That's your guide to real "peace of mind" insurance anywhere.

Let's Talk about Money

...it's a fascinating subject

Buy . . . where your trade has a chance to improve your own economy

Money is very beautiful stuff to look at . . . not so much, perhaps, because of its artistic design as because the sight of it reminds us of the many pleasing and necessary things it can do for us.

. . . Yet . . . if we're not careful about how we handle it, we may thoughtlessly cheat ourselves out of some of the finer things our money can bring us.

. . . Because only a part of each dollar we spend puts actual goods and services into our hands. Whether we like it or not . . . some of that dollar also goes toward the upbuilding and support of the community in which it is spent . . . to pay for the schools and churches, the roads and streets, the police and fire protection and other social facilities that make up modern living . . . and to make stronger that community's economy.

. . . If the area benefitting from our trade is that in which we live, then we get for ourselves all that our hard-earned money pays for . . . and often many times over . . . in better business, better jobs, better living among more good and useful neighbors.

It Pays to Buy where you Live

Wheat Fields Turning, First Cutting Near

The color of gold is dipping into the lush irrigated wheat fields of the Parmer County area this week, and first cuttings of the 1959 crop are expected within the coming week.

There are about 80,000 acres of wheat coming to harvest in the county this year, reflecting (estimated) a planting of about 95,000 of the 100,000-acre allotment. Of the 80,000 acres to be harvested, the irrigated acreage is estimated to be around 60,000 acres.

From the looks of things, the wheat, irrigated at least, will nearly all yield well again this year. Parmer County farmers have really been getting the hang of increasing wheat yields under irrigation during the past three years.

This is partly because of the experience they have accumulated with watering wheat, and partly because they feel the pressure to increase returns from the wheat crop since receipts for grain sorghum are much lower than in years past.

At any rate, the 1959 crop will probably plunk from $4 to $5 million into the palms of the wheat growers of the area, and there's no gainsaying that the money will not be appreciated, it will be.

Income from wheat comes at a crucial time, financially speaking, for most farmers. They are well into their crop growing year, and have high investments in fertilizer, water, labor, and a hundred other things. Farmers are usually badly pressed for cash at this juncture, and the income from their wheat crop helps ease some of this pressure. Irrigated wheat is usually not regarded as the easiest money the farmers ever made, but it's the most appreciated.

Dryland wheat has staged a comeback that has fooled most people, including the writers for Farm and Home. A couple of months ago it was reported in the Parmer County newspapers that the rain falling at that time probably wouldn't do the dryland wheat much good as most of it was too far gone anyway.

Surprisingly enough, a lot of the dryland acreage has rallied and will be well worth the trouble of cutting this summer. With sub-soil moisture reserves much lower than a year ago (there was practically no winter moisture on the Plains) it has been hard to understand how this could happen, but it has.

Generalizing the picture, it may now be said that a large part of the dryland acreage will be cut, and that some of it will yield moderately well. The returns from dryland will not, however, equal 1958, which was the first time dryland had amounted to anything in a long, long time... since 1951, in fact.

Cotton Off Slow But It's Healthy

THE PARMER FARMER

by W. H. Graham Jr.

Parmer County's 48,000-acre cotton allotment, one of the most prized possessions of area farmers, is up and growing, but its 1100 owners have seen better starts.

The surges of cool air that keep pushing in from north and northeastern weather fronts has kept temperatures at a low level for the better part of the early spring, and this has held back cotton development.

Farmers got their cotton into the ground at a satisfactory rate, many of them planting and getting up stands the latter part of April. But this early planting has been offset, in a large measure, by the way the cotton has come up and "squared" without enough sunshine to pull it on through.

Actually, farmers aren't registering any real concern. They know that everything can't always be perfect, and that they have the advantage of good planting weather in most cases. They can well remember years when they didn't even have that.

So, while they mumble about how slow the cotton is getting off, if enough questions are asked it usually comes out that things could be a whole lot worse.

Early season cotton insects have been taking a holiday this spring, to judge from most reports. With the county agent out of the area, no large-scale surveys have been made, but indications are that few if any bugs are troubling the crop so far, and that about the only spraying going on is on farms where early season insect control is practiced by the calendar instead of by actual bug count.

or thinned some allotments, as is nearly always the case when cotton is as young and tender as it is at this stage, but wholesale slaughter of the plantings has not occurred. The typical cotton farmer has found it necessary to get out into his field as soon as possible and "scratch" for his stand after a rain crusted the soil, and then he's stood by and sweated out the cotton as it came up. But by and large he's been successful in getting a satisfactory stand.

Seedbed preparation this year was excellent, and just about everything that the farmer had any control over was made favorable to getting the crop up and off to a good start. This has already paid dividends, in spite of the noticeable, bothersome "squatting" of the crop the past two weeks.

It is confidentially predicted that the cotton will "sprint" when warm weather finally comes, as it surely will, since moisture and plant food is abundant in the soil in nearly all cases.

money to administrate the new animal health program which was enacted this session are also important aims of Farm Bureau. The natural gas severance tax bill, which FB has worked for for a long time is, we believe, now enacted. Farm Bureau, the only general farm organization with a representative in Austin, works for and gets much of the legislation asked by the membership, as well as working with commodity and livestock groups on bills they are sponsoring, when they are in line with FB policies.

It appears unlikely that the Kennedy Labor Bill, with a watered down amendment from Senator McLellan of Arkansas, will pass this year; and although it now appears that AFL-CIO leaders will not be sent into this area with their labor organizations this year, they are now making their first entry into agricultural labor fields in California. If they are successful there, they say they will cover the field, which means here. Legislation to prevent this will be an important objective of local, state and national Farm Bureau in the coming year.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

Texas Farm Bureau has, for many years, maintained an office in Austin during legislative sessions to work with those who make the laws of the state of Texas. These laws, many times, affect the destiny of farmers and ranchers in the state. This session, TFB introduced 27 bills through sponsoring legislators. Not all of them—of course, passed, but the majority of them did. Bob Lilly, TFB Legislative Representative, is the regular man who works with Texas Farm Bureau resolutions in hand to get what you, as a member have said you wanted.

Beginning now, TFB is keeping the Austin Office open the year around. There are many committees working around the calendar, appropriating funds, making recommendations, and putting into action those things passed by the legislators. Your representative will be working to see that the intent of such laws are carried out, so far as it is possible. Right now, during the special session, Farm Bureau is working to keep the rural road program intact and operating under the Colson-Briscoe Act with which rural road improvement began. Appropriations for extension service work and

This column evokes few letters from its readers, and is, in fact, not a column written for the purpose of seeing how much comment can be aroused from the general public. But once in a while we do get a communication from someone, and that is always appreciated.

Writing to us this week was Mrs. Tom Rhodes Jr. of Route 3, Friona. We don't know exactly where the Rhodeses live, but presume it's up in the vicinity of Black since that's where the route runs toward. Anyway, she is commenting on our column of last week in which we raised the question of why is it that more farmers aren't interested in attending special meetings—like the cotton meeting at the Hub two weeks ago, for example.

Here is her letter: I have read your article in our paper this week and I would like to offer some constructive criticism on your cotton meeting. First, let me say, I did not attend. My husband did.

This was his first meeting since it is his first year of farming since we have been married. The first thing, the meeting was supposed to have begun at 8. Wasn't it closer to 9?

Then, the master of ceremonies (so to speak) was good, but he told jokes a little long. Now, this might have been all right if I had stayed at home with my two small children, but I was sort of afraid to, so I went to a friend's.

When my husband left the meeting, it wasn't over even then. Now, my friends live right at Hub and it was after 11 when he came after us. So maybe the meeting could start more promptly, come to the point more quickly, and then adjourn. Let the county visiting be done after adjourning.

I hope this doesn't offend, as that isn't its point. Sincerely, MRS. RHODES

It was very thoughtful of Mrs. Rhodes to write, and we do believe that she is trying to be helpful. A point or two that we'd like to mention is that so far as we can tell, the only reason why the cotton meeting started late was because there weren't any farmers there on time. During the spring, when much work is being done in the fields, "quitting time" is usually when it gets dark. And these days it usually isn't dark at 8, so that's a problem.

To be frank about it, Mrs. Rhodes, we ourselves thought that the meeting was a little long and tedious, and perhaps that we had too many speakers on the program. However, if we expected thorough coverage of our subject, I'm not sure we could have gotten along with any fewer speakers.

There may be a lot of people who feel as you folks do, Mrs. Rhodes, so thanks again for bringing these points out.

Regardless of political labels, the government must be about ready to throw in the towel insofar as controlling farm production is concerned. They haven't been able to do it with high price supports and acreage restrictions, and lower supports and the soil bank seem to have little or no effect either.

Commodity Credit's investment in price support programs is now almost $9 billion. About four of this is in the form of loans outstanding and about five billion is in crop inventory.

Figures on surplus inventories published by Cargill are revealing, even though depressing. Here are some that affect us that were taken April 1. We suppose that this is just after maturity of most grain support loans March 31.

Sorghum grain stocks in all storage positions April 1 were 613 million bushels, far above the previous record of 425 million for the date a year earlier. Stocks in interior mills, elevators and warehouses, at 382 million, were 151 million above a year earlier and terminal stocks at 126 million increased 29 million. Stocks in all off-farm positions were 510 million bushels of which 497 million were Government owned or under warehouse loan. Farm stocks at 102 million bushels were 5 million above a year earlier with nearly half under CCC farm loan and purchase agreement. Disappearance of sorghum grain from all storage positions during the January-March quarter was 109 million bushels compared with 93 million during the same quarter in 1958.

Wheat stocks of 1,540 million bushels stored in all positions on April 1 were the largest on record for that date, more than a third larger than the previous record holdings in 1956. The stocks total was 5 per cent larger than the record 1958 production with more than four-fifths either owned by the Government or under Government loan. Current stocks were less than January 1, 1959 stocks by 280 million bushels. Off-farm wheat stocks of 1,257 million bushels were a third larger than the holdings a year earlier as stocks increased in all storage positions. Farm stocks at 283 million bushels were more than one-half larger than last year and the third largest of record.

Corn stocks in all storage positions April 1, at 2,992 million bushels, were a new record for the date and 7 per cent above a year earlier. April 1 stocks have increased each year since 1952 at an average annual rate of about 200 million bushels. Stocks in interior mills, elevators and warehouses, at 491 million bushels, were about 91 million above a year ago, but stocks in CCC owned bins at 578 million bushels declined 40 million. Total stocks in off-farm positions were 1,176 million bushels of which about 1,115 million were Government owned or under warehouse loan. Stocks on farms at 1,816 million bushels were 135 million above a year earlier. CCC loans on farm stored corn, including reseals and purchase agreements, outstanding March 31 covered 450 million bushels compared with 360 million on March 15, 1958. Disappearance of corn from all storage positions during the January-March quarter was a record 934 million bushels and well above the 803 million bushels for the same quarter a year earlier.

TREE LINED DITCHES pull tail water and rainfall into the lake on the Joe Jesko farm in the Lazbuddie community. At right, Jesko rests for a moment and checks over his project.

Lazbuddie Farmer Has Own "Reserve"

Joe Jesko, who farms a section of land 3 1/2 miles northeast of Clay's Corner, is using his tail water and elbow grease to good advantage. He is building a game and fish reserve.

Jesko has set aside five acres of his section for the project. The five acres lie on the west end of his section and receive nearly all the tail water from a good portion of his row crops. Jesko began thinking last year that it was a shame for all that water to serve no useful purpose, so he came up with the idea of putting it to work.

The five acres is electrically fenced on three sides. One side is left open only to allow cattle to the water tank. Even then, the cattle cannot get to the grass or tree area. The water tank is situated at the west end of the five acres and directly east of the water tank is Jesko's pride of the project.

He has transplanted nine large elm trees in a semi-circle running north and south. Approximately 15 feet west of this row of trees, he has transplanted nine smaller elm trees.

Jesko transplanted the trees on February 15. He obtained the trees from E. T. Ford, who was clearing some land about two miles from Jesko's property. The trees are all approximately 25 feet high or higher and a winch truck was used to carry the trees to the project site. Jesko and his son Pete used shovels to dig the necessary holes and the winch truck to hold them in position while they shoveled the necessary dirt around them.

The trees were carried one at a time and Jesko says they started with the first tree at 2 p. m. and finished transplanting all nine the same evening. He explains, "I wanted to get those things in the ground."

Jesko hired a grader to build a small dam and depression large enough to hold a sufficient amount of water for the trees. He says he will have no trouble watering the trees as necessary steps have been taken. He has dug a ditch running from his irrigation pump to the base of the trees. This, coupled with the fact that the trees will receive the tail water from his row crops, will be an ample supply of water.

Last year, Jesko stocked the tank with yellow catfish. He doesn't know how many there were but says it was quite a number. He plans to add to the fish in the future, as soon as his tank becomes larger. To help the tank grow larger and to keep a good supply of water in it, Jesko used the same method employed in watering the trees.

There is a ditch on the northwest corner of the tank that carries all the tail water from that section of row crops into the tank. There is another ditch running from the bar pit off the county road into the tank and Jesko explains that when it rains, the water from the county road will run into the tank.

The part of the five acres not covered by trees and water tank is in grass and he intends to let it grow as it will. He has built a brush pile on the west dam of the tank with the trimmings from the large elm trees. He believes that the grass and brush pile will draw quail and pheasant. He has seen a number of pheasants around his place and hopes they will multiply.

Jesko says that everything is going good with the project so far. Every tree he transplanted and trimmed is still alive and growing. He does not believe any of them will die. He says the project will take a long time and further says, "I know it will sure be worth it. I believe this place is going to be real pretty besides being a place of enjoyment to me and my family. And I know those trees will offer a lot of shade on those hot days when we're plowing."

When the project is completed, not only will it live up to Jesko's expectations but will be added improvement to his land. He will have turned a weeded pasture into a pretty piece of land for rest and recreation, not to mention putting his tail water to good advantage.

HD Council Has Monday Meeting

County Home Demonstration Council met last Monday in the Bovina Home economics building for a regular monthly meeting. Twenty members and three guests were present with all clubs in the county being represented. Mrs. Lee Renner, chairman, opened the business session which was composed of reports from different committees.

The yearbook committee handed out questionnaires to the vice-president of each club on suggestions for future programs. Reports of Texas Home Demonstration Association work were handed to presidents of the clubs to be filled out and returned by the next meeting.

Plans were made by the Health and Safety Committee to secure a first aid instructor. Further plans included making rules for choosing the "woman of the year" in Home Demonstration Club work.

Q. I have had lots of questions asked me lately on buying carpeting and haven't had many of the answers. I have just received "Carpet Questions and Answers" by the Carpet Institute, Inc., and Miss Charlotte Tompkins, specialist in housing and home furnishings. Q. I want to buy good carpeting which will last a long time. Can you tell me which fiber is best for durability? A. Carpet's durability cannot be determined on the basis of fiber content alone. Three things mainly account for the service you will get from a carpet or rug: basic quality, the use it receives and the care you give it. Q. What is the best way to determine carpet quality? A. Several factors should be considered, but probably the best single clue to carpet quality is the density of the pile surface—the height of pile in cut-pile designs, the closeness of the tufts in other designs. In other words, look for "yarn coverage" in greatest density or good quality. Q. I have heard about various carpet weaves—Wilton, Axminster, etc. Is one better than another? A. No. At one time, weaves indicated certain qualities. Today, manufacturers produce carpets by varied construction methods suited to a broader range of design. Carpets may be produced on traditional looms, such as Wilton, velvet or Axminster. Or they may be knitted or tufted. Any construction method may be used for good quality—so look for the design and appearance you prefer, not for a specific weave. Q. Are the man-made fibers used for carpets the same as those used for clothing and other household furnishings?

A. No. Fibers must be engineered for carpet use, generally in a heavier weight because of the wear imposed on them. They may be of the same generic type but not of the same construction. Q. My wall-to-wall carpet shows wear only in a few spots—at the entrance to the living room and around chairs where we sit to watch TV. How can I avoid this extra wear? A. You might protect such areas with a soft-backed area rug over the carpet. Or shifting furniture, even slightly, will change the traffic pattern in a room and help avoid wear in the same areas around chairs and tables. Q. We have small children and would like to buy a practical carpet. What should I look for? A. Color and texture are important factors to consider. A medium shade or color combination, a close texture or pattern design—all are available in great variety and all will do a good job of disguising daily soil and traffic.

E. E. Teel of Southern Union Gas Company came by my office the other day and gave me some information on the research done on the effect of natural gas on the growing of house plants. So I want to pass on this information to you. The American Gas Association staff undertook a literature search to find how the questions had been answered in readily available textbooks and articles. This survey showed that there was widespread difference of opinion. The various authors, with one exception, did not furnish specific experimental evidence based on natural gas. It was this exception which has furnished what we believe to be a rather complete answer to the question - "What effect does natural gas have on house plants?" The work of Felix G. Gustafson of the Department of Botany, University of Michigan, is a thorough technical study covering a variety of plants and exposures to natural gas. His findings were reported in University of Michigan Bulletin No. 737 and also in the Journal of Plant Physiology. It is a well-known fact that manufactured illuminating gases are injurious to many flowering plants. With the extensive use of natural gas it has become increasingly important to know what its effect upon plants. These investigators found that tomato, potato, sunflower, castor bean and geranium plants were not injured by concentrations as high as 50 per cent of natural gas in air over a period of 72 hours. Cut carnations were not injured by a concentration of 2 per cent during a 96-hour exposure. Fuchsia plants had the leaves browned very slightly during a 96-hour exposure to a 50 per cent concentration of natural gas in air. These tests were made in Wyoming and the source of the gas is unknown. The plants were exposed to the natural gas in air mixture under bell jars. The bell jars varied in size from 3 to 5 gallons. Each bell jar was set in a metal pan partly filled with water, thus making a water seal.

The injurious action of manufactured gas has been shown to be due to ethylene and carbon monoxide. The natural gas used in these experiments is composed of 74.6 per cent methane, 14.2 per cent ethane, 10.9 per cent nitrogen, 0.2 per cent oxygen and 0.1 per cent carbon dioxide. As this gas contains neither ethylene nor carbon monoxide it is easy to see why it should be non-injurious to plants.

Concentrations of natural gas in air as high as one per cent were non-injurious to all plants tried and higher concentrations were injurious only to Bougainvillea and Swainsonia. If these results are translated into situations found in the home or commercial greenhouses we find that there never should be any injury from natural gas to the plants grown in them. Concentrations of gas in homes or greenhouses are so low that it has been impossible to determine them by accurate chemical methods.

It has been shown that natural gas in air is not injurious to yellow green Coleus, sunflower, snapdragon, stock, and tulip plants in concentrations of one per cent; higher concentrations were not used with these plants. Tomato, Cyclamen, marigold, sensitive plants, Kalanchoe tubiflora, and carnations were not injured by concentrations of two per cent; higher concentrations were not used. Bougainvillea and Swainsonia were not injured by one per cent natural gas in air, but they were injured by concentrations of two per cent. Seeds of lupine, radish, wheat, squash, and sunflower germinated as well in 1.5 to 5.0 per cent natural gas as in air.

HD Training Meeting Held

Mrs. J. C. Claborn, owner of Claborn florist in Friona, gave a demonstration on making floral arrangements with fresh as well as artificial flowers. When a home demonstration training meeting was held recently. She spoke on arrangements, containers, and how certain types of flowers need special containers. An "oasis," a unique flower holder, was introduced to the group by Mrs. Claborn. She stated that the oasis would soak up water until it was three times as heavy as without water. Flowers are simply stuck into the plastic material which composes the holder.

The meeting was in the community room of the Friona State bank and all home demonstration clubs in the county were represented.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Seeing cherries turning red around town reminds us that it will soon be time to make jams, jellies and preserves. A lot of homemakers do excellent jobs canning fruits and vegetables yet feel inadequate to tackling a jam, jelly or preserve making project. Most homemakers prefer commercial pectin for any of the above. About the only thing necessary for anyone to do is to follow the instructions on the package.

Here are thirteen basic steps that will serve as a good guide to making any kind of jam, jelly or preserves.

1. Select a mixture of ripe and slightly under ripe fruit and prepare small proportions at a time.
2. Wash thoroughly, drain, hull, stem, cut out spoiled parts and cut or crush fruit before measuring. Do not remove the skins, cores and seeds unless the recipe directs since they contain pectin.
3. Cut the hard fruits into pieces and slightly crush the berries.
4. Add enough water to barely cover hard fruits (about one pint of water for each pound of fruit.) Currants, grapes and berries need only enough water to start them cooking (about 1/4 cup water for each quart of fruit.) Boil until the fruit is tender.

5. Pour the hot cooked fruit into a jelly bag and let it drip into a deep bowl or pan. Be sure your jelly bag is thick enough to give you clear juice.

6. Examine, wash and rinse jars or glasses and lids; cover with hot water and just bring to a boil.

7. Cook only 6 to 8 cups of juice and sugar at a time.

8. Remove jars and lids from hot water and drain, inverted, on a towel.

9. Bring juice to a boil; add the sugar and boil rapidly until the jellifying point is reached.

10. Remove jelly from heat and skim off any foam if necessary. Pour the hot jelly into glasses or jars; allow 1/4 inch head space.

11. To cover with paraffin, let jelly stand until thoroughly cooled. Pour on a layer of hot paraffin and turn glass so paraffin touches all sides. Make it a thin coating; thick heavy paraffin will pull away from the sides. Do not reuse paraffin; it will cause a musty flavor.

12. To test for the jellifying point, dip a spoon in the syrup. When the jelly is nearing the jellifying point it will drop from the side of a spoon in two drops; when the drops run together and slide off in a sheet the jelly is finished and should be removed from the heat immediately.

13. Any combination of juices may be used to make jelly so long as each juice by itself would make good jelly.

One of the most charming persons it has ever been our pleasure to meet is Jo Helen Cabbell, home service advisor for Southwestern Public Service Company. In a recent conversation with her she advised staggering for layers of cakes or pies when baking in an electric oven.

The pans should not be placed directly over one another. Even circulation may be obtained if at least two inches of clearance is left around each pan.

Another hint she gave us was on cooking sponge or angel food cakes. She said it was very important to lower the rack so that the top of the cake was not too close to the heating unit.

Next time you're having a party, try the following method for making an attractive dessert:

Toast pound-cake slices and then put them together sandwich-fashion with fresh applesauce tinted pink. Top with peppermint ice cream; garnish with sprigs of fresh mint.

A dish that can easily be prepared ahead of time for servicing at an indoor or outdoor meal is:

- BARBECUED BEANS
2 cups dried red beans
1/3 cup salad oil
2 or 3 minced cloves of garlic
1 large onion, minced
1 six ounce can tomato paste
2 to 4 tablespoons chili powder
1 tablespoon catsup
1 teaspoon salt
dash of cayenne pepper
1/2 pound pork and beef mixed or hamburger
Soak beans over night and cook slowly until almost done.

Brown onion and garlic in salad oil, add meat and brown. Add to beans and cook until done. The meat can be made into small balls and browned. Simmer all about 15 minutes.

A castaway from a wrecked ship was captured by cannibals. Each day, his arm was cut by a dagger and the natives of the island would drink his blood. Finally, one day, he called the king.

"You can kill me and eat me if you want," he said, "but I'm tired of being stuck for the drinks."

And Then the Bottom Fell Out

Rains, Hail Visit

WORLD'S MOST RIDICULOUS SIGHT is this irrigation well pumping its feeble eight-inch stream of water as a flood swirls around it. Thirty minutes before this picture was made the running irrigation well made good sense: the land was thirsty.

"LAKE LARIAT" backs up behind an artificial dam caused by the new farm-to-market road between Lariat and Oklahoma Lane. With no spillway, it gushed over the pavement for about a 100-yard stretch, carrying field debris with it. It really takes a rain to produce a scene such as this. Crop damage was heavy in a localized area.

THERE WAS A BEAUTIFUL FIELD OF YOUNG COTTON beyond the tractor, still attached to cultivation equipment, an hour before this picture was made. This is another scene in the Lariat-Oklahoma Lane area after Friday's sudden downpour.

In the typical "shotgun" pattern of weather for the High Plains in the spring, rain and hail in widely varying amounts have again visited the farms of the area.

Most of the rough weather activity was Friday, but few points were severely damaged (see pictures for exception). A cool front came in from the northeast Monday night, bringing about a quarter of an inch of rain to nearly all farms.

This moisture has been welcome in most cases, and farmers are thankful that hail damage has been so scattered. The cool weather isn't wanted by the cotton farmers, but aside from that, the weather's acceptable from most standpoints.

The pictures appearing with this story show the typical behavior of a localized spring storm. It occurred in the Lariat-Oklahoma Lane section late Friday, and was really a rough one for a while.

As near as five miles from the field shown covered with water, stood farms that didn't receive a sprinkle. That helps explain why some farmers have a complete washout during the farming year because of adverse weather, while the bulk of their neighbors make out just fine.

At any rate, it's pretty easy to agree that if your farm happens to be in the path of a storm such as this, it seems for a while that the whole world has caved in.

One of the biggest troubles with success these days is that its recipe is about the same as that for a nervous breakdown.

A TERRIFIC RUN-OFF occurs during hard rains such as these, in spite of the fact that this country is supposed to be a "level plain." The rain, which measured up to two inches and fell in about 30 minutes, simply could not be absorbed that rapidly and had to seek its own level. The result: a gully-washer such as is shown here.

Four County 4-H Clubbers To Attend State Roundup

"4-H Leads the Way" is the theme of the 1959 Texas 4-H Roundup to be held on the campus of Texas A&M College on June 9-10. An estimated 2,000 4-H members, adult leaders, county extension agents, friends of 4-H and others are expected to attend. Those going from this area are Barbara Rea, Janice Hillock and Gary Foster.

While major emphasis and activities of the Roundup will be devoted to determining state winners in 25 different judging and team demonstration contests, plans have been perfected for other features. The feature of the general assembly on the evening of June 9 will be an address by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors, Topeka, Kansas.

Always a highlight of the Roundup, the Chuckwagon Barbecue sponsored by the Texas 4-H Club Recognition Committee, will be the opening feature of the second evening's program. A general assembly will follow the barbecue and will feature an address by President M. T. Harrington of the Texas A&M College System. Entertainment for the evening will be provided by 4-H members when selected acts from the Share-the-Fun program will be presented. Members of the State 4-H Council will participate in both general assembly sessions.

June 10 will be a day long remembered by the 4-H members. They will be competing for state honors, and in some cases, the right to represent Texas in national contests. All contestants won the opportunity to participate in the state contests by winning first place in their county and then by placing first or second in their respective district contests.

The youth phase of Agricultural Extension Service work in Texas is now in its 51th year. Last year 106,239 boys and girls were members of the State's 4,026 local clubs.

Keep smiling. It makes everyone wonder what you've been up to.

County Agent Due Back Soon

County Agent Joe Jones, who has been in Italy for a month under a program sponsored by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, is scheduled to return home this week.

The purpose of Jones' visit to Europe has been to promote the consumption of High Plains-produced grain sorghums in that part of the world.

Parmer County people anxiously await a report on his travels from the popular county agent. His wife anxiously awaits his return, also. She says she is planning spaghetti and meat balls for his homecoming dinner.

INEBRIATED

Two hollow-eyed, bleak-looking Scots were discussing the party of the night before.

"Dye ken," said one, "that Mac fell in the river on his home last night?"

"Ye dinna mean tae say he was drowned?" asked his friend.

"Nae, nae," replied the first, "not drowned, but sadly diluted."

Storm Damage Severe Over Wide Section

LATE NEWS

The story appearing in connection with these pictures is misleading. It was written before reports came in from the many farms that were pummeled by wind, hail, and hard rains Monday night.

The Monday night storm takes the severe damage reports out of the "scattered" category into the "widespread" category. Thus, the luck of many Parmer County area farmers has played out at an early date. Most of the damage has been in a north-and-south swath running through the central part of the county.

Total losses on both cotton and near-ripe wheat have been reported in a number of instances, and many farms have received rains that pounded lister beds flat and washed the lower ends of planted fields.

This is the most general hail damage since the June and July storms of last year which were considered some of the worst in the history of the area.

Stanton, Tex., Man Reports—
Better Grade, Increased Yields on Cotton

Wallace Kelly, successful West Texas farmer, says: "Side dressing of Phillips 66 Ammonia on cotton has really paid off for me. Since starting to use ammonia. I have increased my cotton lint yield at least 1/3 bale to the acre. When the cotton starts squaring. I apply my first side dressing—75 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia. This is followed with another side dressing of ammonia in August. Not only have my yields improved, but I'm also getting a grade better at the gin."
Other successful Southwestern farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain or ensilage are increased... profits on wheat and small grains are increased through higher grain yields and improved forage... more marketable vegetables are harvested.
Phillips 66 Ammonia can be applied pre-plant or as a side dressing. It can be easily applied either by you or your distributor. See us today about Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia... it gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.
