Business Barometer On The Upswing

Most cities having the one-cent sales tax use this tax to gauge whether or not business is off—or at least holding its own.

The amount of city sales tax collected per quarter is considered an excellent barometer, business-wise, and comparing the amount of taxes collected in 1970, Spearman merchants fared better than the year before. The sales tax check which is mailed from Austin arrives approximately 3 months late. City manager Darce Foshee said "we stay about a quarter behind on these payments."

The check for the last quarter of 1970, ending December 31, has just arrived at the City Hall. The sales tax collected in Spearman for the last three months in 1970 totaled $14,918.09. Sales tax for the year collected by Spearman merchants which was deposited in the city's till amounted to $56,696.25.

The city expects to receive the tax collected here for the first three months of this current year sometime in June.

Spearman fringed the one-cent city sales tax in an election held early in 1969 and the charge went into effect beginning with the 2nd quarter that year. In 1969 tax received by the quarter carried these amounts: June, $12,079.02; Sept. $14,232.12; Dec. $14,615.13; total $40,926.27.

Comparing these figures to 1970 quarterly taxes collected, business was up the first quarter, off some in the 2nd quarter, and slightly up again for the last three months of the year. 1970 sales tax quarterly payments are listed below: March $13,036.18; June $15,671.78; Sept. $13,070.20; Dec. $14,918.09. Total $56,696.25.

The last six months in 1970 saw five new homes built in Spearman, several houses and apartment buildings moved into town for rental purposes, plus one new commercial building—the KBMF Radio station.

A check on 1971 building permits at the City Hall this week reveal two commercial building permits issued. One to Cecil Slater for a new car body repair plant going up in the Golden Circle addition plus a new 7-11 grocery store now on Kenneth Ave. Building officials called for a $25,000 construction permit for this new building. Work is progressing nicely at the corner of Townsend and Kenneth streets.

March, 1971 building permits listed 3 buildings moved in for rental purposes, several permits for additions to homes, plus several permits calling for alterations to various home sites.

Although no "new" home permits have been issued at the City Hall, there are two currently under construction. One is in the south part of the city on land which has not yet been annexed.

Spearman's business barometer continues on the upswing.

DIANE GREGG INJURED IN BIKE WRECK

A collision Saturday afternoon by two girls on motorcycles broke one girl's leg and sent her to an Amarillo hospital for surgery.

Diane Gregg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Damon Gregg sustained a bad break just above the ankle. She was rushed to St. Anthony Hospital in Amarillo for surgery but is doing fine according to her father. She is in room 261 and is expected to be home in about a week.

Peggy Floyd was the driver of the other cycle. The accident occurred on a street near the community building when one of the girls lost control of her bike in the loose gravel. Peggy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Floyd, was not injured.

Recent visitors in the Donald Bowen home for a week were Mrs. Junior Williams and children from Liberal, Kansas. The Williams are former Spearman residents.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. McCoy and family were visited this weekend by Mr. McCoy's sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. James Sherman of Bastrop, Louisiana.

Let Me See
by Sybil...

Lubbock was struck a devastating tornado and the insurance on my house here in Spearman is increased. Because so many people can not (and some just will not) pay their hospital bills, and doctor fees, my insurance premiums are raised. Because the speedsters and drunk drivers cause so many highway accidents, my car insurance goes up and up and up.

So far as I can figure it, the Good Lord caused the tornado at Lubbock. Why should they charge me for it?

I don't speed, and I don't drink and I've never so much as scratched a fender the many years I've been driving so why should I continually pay higher insurance premiums just because somebody else has a wreck? Don't make sense to me and I am getting sick and tired of paying for somebody else's mistakes.

We zipped down to Borger Saturday evening for dinner and intended to hurry back home. This was not the case however. It took us about an hour and a half to come from Stinnett. The reason for such slow progress was the drunk driver in front of us. His highway antics beat all you ever witnessed. About 4 other cars were stacked up behind us. From one bar pit to the other, in and out of both lanes. He would hit the ditch on one side and the dirt would boil up and we would think surely this time he had flipped the car. Then his tail lights would appear down the road away... in the other ditch. We held our breath for every car approaching him. But... he made it... this time. He motored right into Spearman, pulled up in his driveway and staggered into his home.

I pay for his mistakes on the highway... in cash that is. Because of his bad habit, my car insurance is increased, almost yearly.

We have to abide by these laws whether we like them or not. "Like it or lump it" I've always heard. Don't really know what that means but I figure that's what I'm doing.

I don't know what all this ecology business is about either. Pollution is another foreign word to me. But we are sure hearing a lot about it. The only polluted stream I know anything about in these parts is the sewer ditch out north of town and how in the world we are ever going to purify that thing is beyond me. BUT if Gov Smith gets his pollution law passed for the State of Texas, our City officials in charge of waste materials are going to have to come up with a solution for THAT pollution.

Now just how the law makers intend to clear up the air over the Golden Spread is another wonder... which would top the list of the seven greats. But now THIS, I'm all for! Air pollution in the form of Oklahoma dust is one thing I'm against. However the bigwigs get this settled is O.K. by me. I would prefer that they purify the air by washing it... good and clean... with a slow, steady rain. About a week of it. But then, this would in turn create the problem of run-off... which creates the problem of pollution. And we have to start all over again.

I'm not interested in polluted streams, just polluted houses. If I pollute it, I'll clean it up myself! But I'm tired of Oklahomas polluting it with their top soil so I hope Washington passes a law against it.

This law would make about as much sense as many of them do these days. Gov. Smith's Texas pollution law will not be applicable to the Golden Spread at all... but we'll have to abide by it. If passed, the courts will be so full of law suits about air pollution the poor judge will have to take "bennies to abide the everlasting cases."

This will mean you can sue me for burning my fire place and polluting the air with smoke. Go ahead, I'll sue you for spitting in the wind. Or having bad breath.

I don't know who Stanton Thatcher is, but I concur with his proposal that all statutes now on the books, and all pending in the legislatures, be thrown OUT, and that we start over with the Ten Commandments.

SUNDAY IS EASTER and in churches the world over Christians will hear once more the story of the resurrected Christ. How he died and was buried, but is ALIVE forever more. Bells should ring. Sirens should sound. We should march and wave banners and proclaim this great fact for this is the greatest celebration date in the history of the world. Christians do not worship at a tomb. There is no need. We worship a literal Christ who is alive, and who is not residing in a literal place... somewhere. He is there working, for us. Preparing for the day when we will be living there with Him.

Life after death. This is the hope that sustains all Christians. It is not only "hope" for within the pages of the Greatest Book ever written, we find it as recorded "fact." If in this life only we had hope, we would be of all men most miserable. The apostle Paul said:

My favorite scripture concerning the resurrection story is found in the book of Job. Job had asked the question "if a man die, will he live again?" and answered by saying: "I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth; and though the skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: whom I shall see for myself."

Easter is celebrated quietly... it should be the gayest, noisiest celebration of all. If it were not for Easter, we would not remember Christmas! Because "He lives, we shall live also."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT--The American Dairy Association says that by the time he is 70, the average American will have used 26 million tons of water, 10,000 pounds of meat, 14 tons of milk and cream, 9,000 pounds of wheat and other great quantities of products from the earth. And who says agriculture is a declining industry?

Pigweed (carelessweed)? Cocklebur? Sunflower? Morning glory?

BANVEL GETS TO THE ROOT OF YOUR WEED PROBLEM

BANVEL TRANSLOCATES/SPRAYED 7th OF MONTH

4 DAYS LATER

More and more grain sorghum producers find certain deep-rooted weed populations building up. Neither other weed killers nor cultivation give effective control of extra-tough and resistant pigweed (carelessweed), sunflower, cocklebur, morning glory, lambsquarter, purslane, other costly broadleaves.

Banvel, the post-emergent herbicide, does control them. For one simple reason. Banvel translocates. Absorbed by foliage and roots, Banvel moves with plant fluids from leaf tip to roots, and back again. Destroys as it goes.

Cost of Banvel? As little as $1.90 per acre broadcast. Spray 10 to 25 days after emergence of sorghum, when weeds are young, growing most actively. Sorghum, when used as directed, is completely tolerant to Banvel. Ask dealer or custom sprayer for full information on Banvel. Every container of Banvel carries the Velsicol guarantee of sorghum tolerance to Banvel.

It's PIONEER again this year.

Here's why:

For maximum profit, Pioneer brand 9178 is the best hybrid you can plant for corn silage. That's what Stratford found in a performance test of 19 corn varieties this year. In this official county agent test, Pioneer brand had the highest yield--over 25 tons per acre--and best income per acre--$189.38 per acre. This was 78 an acre more income than the median yield for best and nearly $65 an acre better return than the low-yielding hybrid. When you consider that all 19 hybrids used the same amount of fertilizer, herbicide, insecticide, and water, you know what those extra dollars per mean--pure profit. So, when you select a hybrid for corn silage crop this year, think about that extra profit. See your Pioneer dealer right away and get the 9178 you need.

Pioneer is a brand name; numbers identify varieties. Pioneer is a trademark of Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn Company, Des Moines, Iowa U.S.A.

CPS WINS FIRST IN SAFETY CONTEST

"Number One" in the nation is the achievement of Community Public Service Company in the 1970 On-the-Job Safety Contest sponsored by the National Safety Council. It has been announced by Dan Hennig, assistant safety director of the utility company.

Employees of the community held injuries down to a rate of only 2.25 per million man-hours, compared to a rate of 4.31 for all competing units in the public utility section of the gas and electric division of the annual safety contest.

"Full credit for this achievement goes to our safety-minded employees," Hennig declared in accepting the award for Community.

New Enlistment Option Open

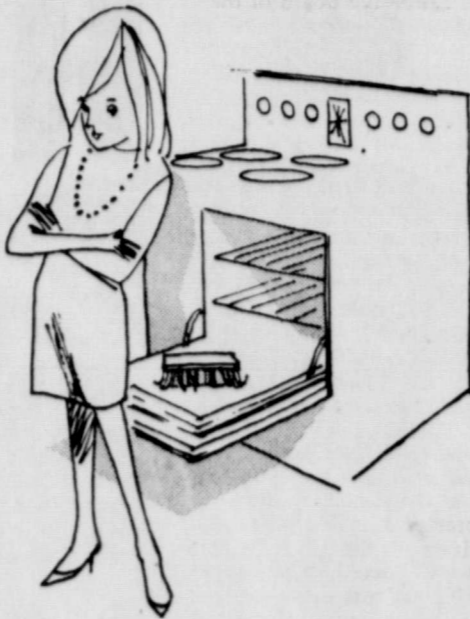

The United States Army has announced its popular European enlistment option is once again open, according to SFC Kenneth W. Baker, Army recruiter for Spearman, Texas.

Under the terms of the enlistment option, young men who have no previous military service may enlist for three, four, five or six-year periods. They will be trained in the Infantry, Armor or Artillery Career Groups before their European assignments.

The Army recruiter also noted that a limited number of applicants may be accepted for enlistment in the 3d Armored Division, 4th Armored Division, 3d Infantry Division (Mechanized), 8th Infantry Division (Mechanized), 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment, 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment or 3d Brigade, 1st Infantry Division (Mechanized). LEWIS LLEWELLYN

If Christ Had Not Risen

Have you ever pondered what life would be like today if the man who died on the middle cross, on the hill called Calvary, had stayed dead?

Nineteen centuries have come and gone since that time. Empires have risen and fallen. Wars have been won and lost. Civilizations have flowered and decayed.

But that one event has had an ineradicable, permanent, and pervasive effect on history. It was one of the most momentous events of all time.

Without the resurrection, Christianity could not have survived. It would have taken its place among the dead religions of a bygone era.

Without the resurrection, there would have been no Gospel. Gospel means "good news" and there would have been no good news to proclaim if Christ had not risen from the dead.

But because of the resurrection, coupled with the promise of everlasting life for all who follow Christ, early Christians faced martyrdom without flinching.

Great Changes

Christians found Greeks worshipping Zeus, and Aphrodite, and a host of other gods and goddesses.

They found Romans offering sacrifices to Jupiter, Juno, Mars, and a multitude of pagan deities.

They found Africans steeped in savagery and witchcraft -- even cannibalism.

They told them of a new way of life. They told them about the love of God. They told them that Christ had conquered death.

Christ's teachings have won the hearts of millions of men and women over the world. Pagan religions have been abandoned and new societies have replaced the former ones.

Christian civilization has its faults. But aren't most of them the result of our failure to follow the teachings of Christ?

Can you imagine a world without a shred of Christian influence -- no churches, schools, colleges, or seminaries dedicated to the teaching of Christian principles?

Let us thank God that our nation was established as a Christian nation. Let us renew our dedication to the principle on which this nation was founded -- a firm trust in God.

Finding God

Recently the Reader's Digest published a quotation from Maurice F. Mackey, Jr., which first appeared in Time. This is what Mr. Mackey said: "We shall never find God in this life; that is what makes life tragic. But to stop searching for God, that makes life meaningless."

If it were true that "we shall never find God in this life," life would, indeed, be tragic. And it might be true if there had been no resurrection on that Easter Sunday, 19 centuries ago.

But it is not true. The message of the Gospel is that men can find God in this life -- that the resurrected Christ has opened the way for us to have life in a new dimension.

Have you taken your place beside the risen Christ?

The Bible says, "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. . . . But thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

individual training, or the equivalent, before going on to his new assignment.

Once in Europe, he is guaranteed he will be with the United States Army, Europe, or with the unit for which he enlisted, for a total of sixteen months. At the end of that period, he will be eligible for a new assignment in accordance with the needs of the Army.

Sergeant Baker has more information on this new enlistment option along with many other which offer challenging and exciting careers with the United States Army. His office is located at 115 N. Cuyler in Pampa, Or, call him at 665-2022 COLLECT.

episodes on an army base situated in a small, bigoted Southwestern town. While the acting is very effective, the characters are predictable types; Tony Curtis plays the colorful, freewheeling soldier; Brian Keith the ultra-masculine officer; Ernest Borgnine the nasty red-neck sheriff; & Tom Ewell the paranoid right-wing millionaire. Suzanne Pleshette was thrown in for reasons dictated by the box office if not the plot. Some of the language is quite coarse and the politics are a bit unusual-the townspeople react to the military as though they were student radicals. A-Amusing in parts; Y-Very Mature; C-No. The Last Valley-Michael Caine turns in one of his best performances in this entertaining historical drama, set in 1642, the 24th year of the Thirty Years War. He plays a pragmatic, cynical army captain who quarters his troops for a winter in a lush valley safely hidden from the plagues and inhumanity of wartorn Europe. Omar Sharif is a despairing intellectual who has come upon the valley while fleeing the war. Nigel Davenport is a wealthy burgher who controls the valley. Per Oscarsson is a fanatical priest. The script effectively dramatizes the diverse characters battling for survival & the visuals are spectacular--a Breughel painting, come to life. There are several very violent scenes, within context of the story. A-Very good, Y-Very Mature, C-No.

(Taurus, April 21 - May 21)

Gardens are highly regarded by those born under the sign of Taurus, as is the fresh air of the countryside. They are generally contented with their possessions which seem to grow on them. Not particularly enterprising, they prefer to conserve, prosper and cultivate success in well-tried ways. But overstress or misuse of these traits make it difficult to root out inertia, stoddiness, obstinacy and a tendency to suspicion of more active persons. One way in which they can circumvent these attitudes is by sending flowers to loved ones who'll never soft-pedal their thoughtfulness. Pink is the color for Taurus, who tend to be reliable, careful, steadfast persons of pleasant ways. Emerald is their birthstone and the hyacinth their flower, say FTD florists. They are better in a position of trusted responsibility rather than as a "go-getter," better in the country than in town, and better where they can deal with art and beauty rather than where they might be upset by too much movement. And Taurus are not the ones to bull their way to the top.

COLLEGE STATION--Whether the chicken or egg came first, eggs have long been important to man, reports Dr. David Mellor, Extension poultry marketing specialist at Texas A&M University. Ancient people considered eggs a delicacy, and even a staple food when the supply was abundant. History also associates them with science, sports, and superstition, and exalts eggs as a symbol of pagan and Christian custom. Many of the ancients thought the egg represented the world and its elements: shell (earth), white (water), Yolk (fire), and under the shell (air). Our present-day custom of decorating and giving Easter eggs is a symbol of the Resurrection. However, the custom originated in pre-Christian times, according to Dr. Mellor. In China as early as 722 B. C., the practice was already established. Messengers in the State of King-tu-oo were sent to the countryside to proclaim that all fires were to be put out for three days during the great Spring Festival. One provident chieftain accumulated supplies of painted eggs, and set the fashion of dispensing them as gifts. The early Christians adopted a similar custom. In the British Isles, after eggs were blest by a priest, they became holy gifts benefiting the giver and receiver. Our Easter egg customs have become such that thousands of eggs are hard-cooked every year. For best results, follow these cooking suggestions from Dr. Mellor. Place the eggs in a dish of lukewarm water to prevent cracked shells. Bring water to a pan to a rapid boil, using enough water to come one inch above the eggs. Carefully transfer eggs to the warm water to the hot water; reduce heat to keep the water at a simmering temperature. Leave the eggs in the water, covered, for about 18 minutes. Remove the eggs from the hot water, plunging them immediately into cold water. Many homemakers complain that the hard-cooked Easter eggs are hard to peel. Mellor reports. He explains that the problem can be solved by using older eggs or aging them before cooking. To age eggs, simply leave them out of the refrigerator at room temperature for 24 hours. Crack the shell and peel from the large end. As a further aid, place the egg in cold running water to ease the shell.

Registration Begins April 8 For Baseball Pitch, Hit and Throw Competition

All boys, aged 9 through 12, in the city of Spearman now have an opportunity to test their baseball skills in a nationwide competition that will culminate with eight boys competing for national championships at the All-Star Game in Detroit on July 13.

Registration for the competition—the Official Major League Baseball Pitch, Hit and Throw Competition (PH&T)—begins in this area on April 8th.

Now in its second year, PH&T is sponsored by Major League Baseball in conjunction with Phillips Petroleum Company and local Phillips 66 dealers.

Registration will continue through May 20 and local contests will be held in May, according to Everett Tracy, of Golden Spread Sales Co., the PH&T coordinator for Spearman.

Tracy said he expects that several hundred boys from this area will register for the competition.

Each boy competes with boys of his own age in three events—pitching for accuracy, hitting for distance and throwing for accuracy. Winners are determined on the basis of total scores.

Local winners will advance to district contests on June 5 (or 6) at Amarillo. Winners from there will go to division competition at a major league ballpark on a weekend in June.

The eight boys who will go to the All-Star Game to compete for four national championships—with four representing the National League and four the American League—will be picked from the highest scorers among the division winners.

The eight finalists, in addition to competing before the All-Star Game audience, will be the guests of the sponsors, with their parents, for the trip to Detroit and they'll all have box seats for the game. The boys also will meet many of the All-Star players, at the game and at a banquet in their honor the preceding evening.

Winners and runners-up at every level—including the local winners—will receive handsome plaques and jacket patches. At the division level, each participant from this area will compete in a junior-size baseball uniform loaned for the purpose.

They also will be feted at a banquet with major league stars and taken on a sightseeing tour of the city.

Tracy said that when PH&T was launched last year, more than a quarter-million boys participated in all of the 50 states. This year the number is expected to exceed a half-million.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, in a statement issued in connection with PH&T, said the competition has transformed the widespread popularity of baseball among boys into a nationwide physical fitness and youth development program.

While most boys, he said, play baseball simply for enjoyment, it is a maturing experience. "PH&T has given a new dimension to that experience."

2ND LT. GLEN KEIM NOW A CIVILIAN

2nd Lt. Glenn Keim surprised his family Monday of this week when he walked in and announced he was "a civilian."

Keim, 24, who has spent the past 5 months in Vietnam, said the Army released those who had less than 90 days left to serve. He was due to be discharged the last of June.

Upon graduating from Texas A & M, Glenn was commissioned and went into the U.S. Army. He spent several months on Okinawa before being shipped to Vietnam. He served with the 130th Artillery 1st Cavalry division.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Keim.

His wife Kyra and children, Kyle, 3 and Kerry Anne, 6 months old, have been living in Spearman during his absence.

BAND WINS SWEEPSTAKES

The Spearman High School Band has just completed its Interscholastic League Competition for the current school year. The final two contests, concert and sight reading, were held in Amarillo on March 31 at the Amarillo Civic Center. The band received Division I ratings in both concert and sight reading. The Band had received a 1 rating for marching at the marching contest held during October of this year. The Lynx Band received the large sweepstakes trophy which is presented when a group makes a Division I in all three contests.

At the concert competition the Lynx Band performed three compositions. The first number performed was "March Onward" a difficult Swiss march. Next on the program was "Symphonic Overture" a very fast and difficult composition. Kendra Brack was featured as flute soloist during this number. The third and final song was "Second Suite for Band." This composition is actually three songs combined into one. Ricky Driscoll was featured as cornet soloist. After the concert competition was completed the band went to the sight reading room. While in this room the band was issued a piece of music they had never seen before. After a few minutes of looking over the music they had to perform it for the judges.

Spearman, Dalhart and Panhandle were the only AA bands to receive the sweepstakes award.

The Spearman band will now begin preparation for its spring trip. This year the band will go to Colorado Springs to participate in an invitational marching festival.

Farm Bureau To Be More Effective In Many Areas

WACO--(SPL)--Action taken at a recent special called meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau voting delegates will enable the state's largest farm organization to be more effective in a number of areas, TFB President, J.T. Woodson says.

Some 770 voting delegates from 148 counties approved an expanded program for Farm Bureau on both the county and state levels at the special March 22 meeting in Dallas. The one-day convention culminated 11 months of intensive activity, involving hundreds of county leaders, in developing the program. As approved by delegates, the program calls for expansion of Farm Bureau activities in the areas of commodity activities, marketing, membership and public information, research and education, farm records and farm management services, insurance services, group purchasing, public policy, and leadership and staff training. It also provides for updating contractual relationships between organizational units.

In the vote on funding the program, the delegates approved a dues increase of $2. The State Expansion Committee, which developed the recommendations, had asked for a $4.00 increase.

The recommendations presented to the voting delegates were developed by the 13-member state committee, based on suggestions coming from county Farm Bureaus. The committee was appointed following a meeting of county FB presidents last August in Brownwood where problem areas surfaced in special meetings of county boards of directors were outlined.

Liveliest debate, aside from that on the proposed by-law amendment to increase membership dues, was on a suggested advertising-public relations program calling for buying prime time on 14 television stations and five radio stations in metropolitan areas to "tell the farmers' and ranchers' story" to urban people. After 55 minutes of intense discussion, the proposal was approved.

The delegates deleted a proposal for the Texas Farm Bureau to develop and make available to county Farm Bureaus an auditing, income tax, and legal counseling service.

The delegates approved a recommendation that Farm Bureau members be classified according to major commodity interests and the commodity divisions be established within the county Farm Bureaus consisting of members whose major commodity interests are similar. These divisions are to be serviced by the Texas Farm Bureau.

Guidelines were set up for establishing marketing programs for producers of various commodities. These will be financed by a one-time membership fee and a service charge for services rendered.

The delegates approved recommendations that a minimum of two annual citizenship seminars for high school students be conducted on a regional basis and that the TFB sponsor an adult citizenship seminar each year. They also called for an annual statewide orientation conference for newly elected county presidents.

Also approved were plans for the Texas Farm Bureau to develop and offer an income tax and financial computerized record-keeping system to county Farm Bureaus and in individual members to be financially self-sustaining.

AUTOMOTIVE TALES FROM

Are You Misfiring?

Clean air will be obtained sooner in this country if the motorist assumes his share of the responsibility. According to George M. Gaister, director of automotive technical services for Champion Spark Plug Company "the auto industry has already made and will continue to make tremendous improvements in achieving cleaner air in a few years the internal combustion engine promises to be virtually free of harmful emissions."

"However, clean air will not be attained until the operators of these vehicles maintain them at levels and at intervals somewhere near those recommended by the manufacturers."

"Very simply, cars with engines in sub-standard condition are reducing the effects of improvements being made by the auto makers," Mr. Gaister said. He cited Champion studies, reporting that a five percent incidence of engine misfiring will increase harmful emissions about three times the normal rate. This is true whether or not the vehicle is equipped with an emission control device.

The misfire can be due to worn out spark plugs, wrong plug application or by long periods of slow speed, a start-stop driving. Other ignition or fuel system malfunctions also can increase unwanted emissions.

Mr. Gaister also referred to an independent study showing a seven percent reduction in unburned hydrocarbons and a 10% reduction in carbon monoxide emissions after a tune-up.

Mr. Gaister remarked that well over half of the vehicles in the United States need at least minor tune-up work, and the majority of motorists are not aware, or do not care, that their cars are operating inefficiently.

Distributive Education Program Of Work Explained

Vocational Distributive Education relates to the training offered people engaged in retail, wholesale and service occupational fields.

Junior and senior high school students may participate in the Distributive Education program. The Vocational Distributive Education teacher-coordinator interviews a student and screens the students wishing to apply. If a student is convinced that he would like to choose a specific occupation as a career and if the teacher-coordinator feels that the student is fitted for the work he has chosen, he refers him to one or more employers who have expressed a desire to participate in the training program. The student is then interviewed by the employer and upon acceptance, goes to work for the firm on a part-time basis. The student goes to school during the morning, taking among other subjects required, the course in Distributive Education. During the afternoon, under close supervision of the employer, the student works at his training station. The teacher-coordinator coordinates the training given in school with that received on the job, working with management in effecting a logical training pattern designed to give the student, within the two-year training period a comprehensive working knowledge of this chosen occupation. Upon graduation, the student may continue in this field as a full-time worker, or he may decide to enroll in a college where he may, during the first two years, continue in a distributive and marketing associate degree program. During his last two years in college, he may elect to choose a curriculum designed to further his knowledge in his occupational field.

This program also prepares students for full-time employment in the distributive occupations after graduation but, differing from the Cooperative Part-Time Phase, part-time employment experience is not required during enrollment. This program is intended, primarily for the school and community where a limited number of appropriate training stations exist. Every effort is made to provide an enriched laboratory and classroom training experience which will enable each student to attain his chosen distributive career objective.

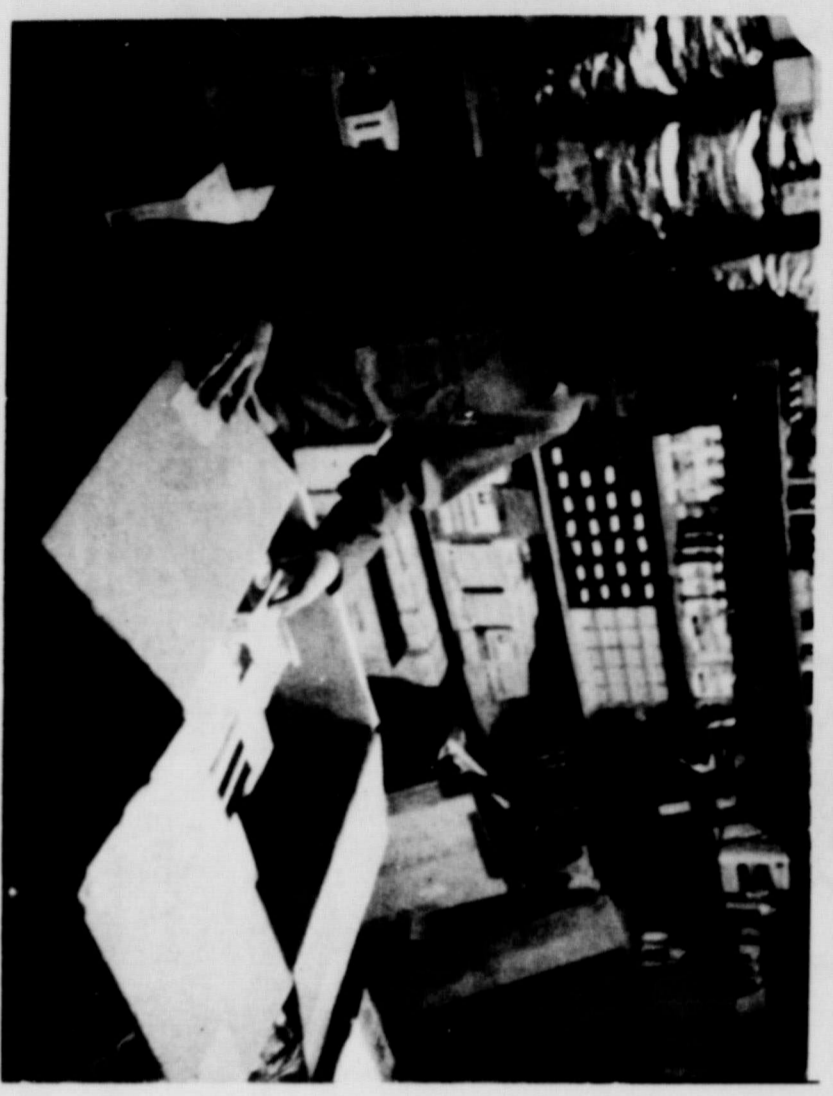

Adults, who are employed in one of the three authorized fields in distribution, may enroll in classes which are designed to improve their ability and job efficiency. Short-unit courses, conducted by skilled instructors who are themselves engaged in types of distributive businesses related to the courses they are to teach, and who are employed by school systems on a part-time basis, are offered to employee and management groups. Examples of some courses which are offered are: Merchandise display, retail advertising, credit collections, merchandising, personnel management, restaurant training, grocery store operation and selling. In the larger cities, full-time training programs for employed adults are operated by educational institutions. In the small cities, the training is carried on by teacher-coordinators of high school cooperative programs and a staff of six traveling instructors who conduct short intensive training courses in each of the smaller cities from a period of from one to three weeks duration. The main objective of this adult training program is to provide an opportunity for the full-time employee to improve his occupational skills. Other benefits accrue to management who, because of increased employee efficiency, is able to offer better service; and to the consumer who is the recipient of more accurate merchandise information and improved service.

Some twenty-four thousand Texas people engaged in various distributive businesses were trained in one or more of these classes during the fiscal year 1967-68.

The Distributive Education Division is one of several vocational services working through the Office of Vocational Education at the Texas Education Agency in providing State leadership and supervision of the total Distributive Education program. The staff of this division includes the positions of Director of Distributive Education and five Area Supervisors. It is the duty of this staff to perform research work in distributive fields, lead the development of practical instructional materials which are used by Distributive Education teachers, aid schools in the maintenance of quality programs which conform to the requirements set forth in the State Plan.

assist schools in making surveys in determining educational needs in this field, in-service training conferences and workshops, work with business groups and lay instructors in the development of comprehensive courses for employed adults and perform consultative services to these groups and to the schools through the courses offered.

How Is VICA Organized

The organization of the local chapter should take place as soon as the class enrollment is completed. These are the steps in organizing a chapter. The teacher gives a brief history of VICA, explaining how it operates. It is important that every member understand the explanation completely. The Constitution and Bylaws of VICA, Texas Association, are read and discussed. The responsibilities of the officers, as stated in the "Official Guide", are studied. When the club next meets, a temporary chairman is elected to preside while the class decides if it wants to organize a local chapter. If a majority of the group votes to organize the chapter, the temporary chairman presides while a president is elected. The president-elect then takes charge and completes the election of the other officers named in the Constitution. The Petition for Charter is completed by the secretary and signed by the president and advisor. The Petition for Charter and the Membership Roster and dues should then be sent to the state office before the deadline. The Organization Report should be sent before or with the reports mentioned above. Committees are next selected or appointed to plan and carry out specific chapter activities. These committees might include Program, Constitution, Publicity, Exhibits, and Initiators. Students must be initiated before they can become members of VICA. In the organization of a new chapter the initiation can be provided by a visiting team from an al-
