LAST FLING OF SUMMER — The "School Daze" headline is a reminder that all the splash, the frolic, the sailing, the fishing, the tingling side of summer water play, is behind for most students. Typical of "sailors" having a last fling at Moss Creek Lake is Jerri Davey, senior at Big Spring High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Davey. The municipal swimming pool sees today. School begins at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

Rancher, teen die in plane crash

By MARJ CARPENTER

A member of a pioneer ranching family and a youth whose dad worked at the ranch were killed in a plane crash shortly after 1 p.m. Saturday on the Connie Edwards Ranch.

William P. (Bill) Edwards, Jr., 44, veteran pilot and area rancher, was pilot of the plane and James Lewis, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Lewis of Big Spring, was a passenger when the crash occurred.

A P-51 MUSTANG, used in the movie, "The Battle of Britain," in one of many vintage airplanes owned by the Edwards Brothers, crashed to the earth as it was turning to make a final approach to land after circling several times over the ranch.

The father of the youth, who is head mechanic for the planes kept at the ranch, was watching at the time the crash occurred. He told law officers who went to the scene that the plane turned over and went into the earth.

One law official at the scene said that the plane, one of the last of its kind in the world, made a 10-foot hole in a sandy hill as it crashed. Parts of the plane were scattered over a large area about one mile north of the Edwards' Ranch home.

THE BODIES were damaged beyond recognition. Both the pilot and the youth had on parachutes, which were not opened.

Edwards had already flown over the hanger a couple of times, according to witnesses. All of the Edwards' planes were out on the runways, according to one law officer. One of the spokesmen at the scene said that they had apparently been taking each plane up for test runs.

The Lewis boy had been up once earlier in the day as a passenger. Another person who had been flying during the morning left for town at noon, shortly before the accident occurred.

It was believed that the plane's motor was running right up to the time the plane crashed into the ground, according to those at the scene early.

Justice of the Peace Bobby West ruled accidental death even though the crash was technically in Glasscock County, because the lone Glasscock JP was out of town.

The ranch was sealed off at the request of the family immediately after the accident to keep out curiosity seekers and photographers, pending arrival of the Federal Aeronautics Administration officials.

LAW OFFICERS who went to the scene included State Trooper Bill Jennings, Deputies Bill Chadwell and Sam Roberts, Sheriff Royce Pruitt from Glasscock County and JP West.

One person at the scene reported that the propeller of the plane peeled back like a banana when the plane apparently hit nose first into the ground.

The last time Edwards flew that particular plane to an Air Show in Colorado City, he also flew it into Webb AFB on May 15 for the Air Show there.

A close friend of the pilot said that he had told him the day before that he planned to fly to San Angelo Saturday where his wife was visiting her father, who had undergone recent surgery. He also planned to visit his mother, Mrs. Vera Edwards, who was in a hospital there.

HIS BROTHER, Connie, went to San Angelo to notify the members of the family, rather than call on the phone when the accident occurred.

Bill Edwards was a member of the board of directors of State National Bank and manager of the Edwards Ranch, which he co-owned with his brother.

He was born Nov. 4, 1931 in Big Spring and lived here almost all of his life except for a period when the family resided on their ranch in Cristoval. His father, W. P. Edwards was a pioneer rancher with ranches in Howard, Glasscock, and Ector Counties as well as in Cristoval.

Bill Edwards married the former Patsy Tyler in San Angelo. She survives him.

Funeral services for Mr. Edwards will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Survivors include his wife, Patsy; his mother, Mrs. Vera Edwards and his brother, Connie.

Other survivors in addition to the wife, mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Connie Edwards are nieces and nephews, Mr. and Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Sunny Edwards, Ruidoso, N.M.

AN UNCLE, Cecil Westerman of San Angelo and great-nieces and nephews including Deane Mansfield, El Paso, Zane Neal, Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Stormy Edwards, Ruidoso, N.M. and Mr. and Mrs. Don Reynolds, Big Spring, also survive.

Services are also pending for James Lewis, 14, who had just enrolled as a freshman at Big Spring High School. His survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Lewis, Big Spring.

Other survivors include two sisters, Diana Lewis, and Mrs. Kathryn Modgling, both of Big Spring and two brothers, Charles Dean Lewis, Richland Springs and Michael Muhle, Austin.

His grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lewis, Richland Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Michael G. Breight, Meriden, Kan.

CRASH VICTIM — Bill Edwards, veteran pilot and area rancher, was killed when this P-51 shown on May 15 at the Webb AFB Air Show, crashed on the Edwards Ranch Saturday afternoon.

Permits may exceed $5 million Big Spring building 'boom'

If construction programs are a barometer of economic muscle, then Big Spring likely is well on the way toward ending the miasma that gripped the community following the announcement that the Department of Defense was considering the closure of Webb AFB.

In the last few weeks, building projects estimated at well over $1,276,000 and perhaps approaching $2 million have been announced within the city.

It is not improbable that total building permits within the city will far exceed $5 million and approach $6 million before the year is out, since the $2 million Howard College Coiseum was started earlier this year.

Recent projects announced include the First Baptist Church annex. A minimum of $500,000 will be spent there but the final figure will, no doubt, far exceed that amount.

Rip Griffith, who owns a truck stop here, revealed plans to build a $500,000 Mid-Continent Motor Inn on the IS 20 bypass immediately north of the city. The construction figure there could approach $600,000, the architect said the past week.

The Burger Chef, a fast-food concern, located at 2401 Gregg in a thriving and busy part of the town, will shortly undertake a $56,000 addition.

FM 700 (or Marcy Drive) has not experienced the boom in building expected of it, perhaps, but the logjam to locate on the busy artery along the southern perimeter of the city may have been broken Friday with the announcement that Don Crawford Pontiac Company would build a $220,000 showroom and service department at FM 700 and Goliad Street.

Formal groundbreaking ceremonies for the Crawford firm were held Friday, at which time Crawford expressed great optimism for future growth in the community.

There have been unsubstantiated rumors that areas farther east along FM 700 are being considered for shopping centers. Such projects apparently haven't advanced beyond the talking stage, however.

Predicting quakes

With Tommy Hart

A Texas woman, Clarisa Bernhardt, who has been amazingly accurate in predicting major earthquakes in the past, forecasts that in the spring of 1978 ("most likely in March, most likely March 8") a ten-year period of seismic turmoil will ensue in the San Francisco Bay area that will transform the bay into an inland sea and leave the cities of Los Angeles and San Diego offshore islands of a new continent that will rise from the floor of the Pacific.

Ms. Bernhardt, a comely 38 years of age, claims her predictions come when "I feel a change in the intensity of vibrations, or sometimes in my dreams, or sometimes I just see a calendar in my mind with a date circled and 'earthquake' marked."

Clarisa predicted one major quake in California almost to the minute and picked the exact dates of similar catastrophes in the Azores and Hawaii.

A local man of the soil who concedes he will likely vote for the man anyway challenges Jimmy Carter's claims that the presidential candidate has spent much time growing and harvesting peanuts.

In other words, there are certain things about farmers — their dress, their physical appearance and their actions — that tip off other farmers.

Incidentally, the British press took a dim view of the recent GOP National Convention in Kansas City, more particularly of the leading candidates for the nation's highest office.

Reporters from the Tight Little Isle referred to Ronald Reagan as 'Bonzo' (Reagan once starred in a film titled 'Bedtime for Bonzo') and hung the most unflattering nickname of 'Goofy' on President Ford.

The problem with Ford, the British journalists wrote after dipping their pens in acid, is "that he's not very bright."

"There is a strong feeling in Kansas," one paper said, "that the Republican Party has outlived its time." England's popular press, in rare form for the Kansas City show, viewed the entire production as one compounded of equal parts of calamity and ridiculousness.

Big Spring's Winston Wrinkle, an alternate delegate to the GOP party, had every right to feel frustrated before he ever arrived in Kansas City. Braniff Airlines proceeded to lose his luggage and he had no choice but to buy new clothes.

Incidentally, Robert J. Dole, the party's vice presidential nominee, fulfilled a speaking engagement at the old Cosden Country Club here three or four years ago.

Chop tree in Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The United States staged a demonstration of military power in and around Korea on Saturday at the same time as allied forces felled a tree that was the center of the dispute in which North Koreans killed two American officers.

Storm signals flying in Bible Fund drive

Storm signals are flying for the Bible Fund drive now being conducted by the Howard County Ministerial Association.

With the opening of school dead ahead, only a little more than half of the $6,500 objective has been reached. Collections through Saturday morning totaled only $3,647.50.

If the money is not raised, the Bible-teaching program could conceivably be curtailed. Funds are used to underwrite expenses of such courses in the Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan schools, since, by law, tax money cannot be used.

Those wishing to donate can forward their checks either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the Big Spring First Baptist Church, or to The Herald.

Latest donations include:
 Mr. & Mrs. M.A. Cook, $10.00
 Mrs. C.E. Talbot, $20.00
 Mr. & Mrs. Marjorie E. Brown, $10.00
 Manuel B. Bass, $10.00
 Mr. & Mrs. G.F. Dillon, $25.00
 Day Auxiliary, $10.00
 Mr. & Mrs. Thebert Camp, $10.00
 Previously acknowledged, $3,647.50
 Totals, $3,647.50

Action/reaction: Loud Music

Q. Why is it that the city policy don't try to do anything about loud music coming from the NCO club and the officer's club at Webb. It is disturbing to us who live on Canary Street. I think it is disturbing the peace and when I called the police, they hung up on me.

A. An investigation is under way. (If you have a question for Action-reaction, call 263-7331)

Offbeat: Wrong again!!

A deputy arrested a Big Spring man sitting in a yellow vehicle in the middle of IS-20 14 miles east of Big Spring at 4 a.m.

The man told the deputy that he could not arrest him because he was in front of his house. The deputy disagreed that the man's front yard extended to the middle of the Interstate Highway and placed him in the jail for the night Friday. He was bonded out Saturday morning.

Too many elementary schools in Big Spring?

Bad news follows desegregation investigation

By MARJ CARPENTER There was no good news for Big Spring in a report from the technical assistance team of the Texas Education Agency.

would also eliminate any segregation in the sixth grades.

THUS FAR, the report agreed with recommendations of a staff and facilities utilization study committee here last year.

The federal department of HEW now can require the state department of education to make an investigation in non-complying school district.

Loss of federal funds can severely hamper a school district, but loss of state funds can completely close it down.

THE COMMITTEE that appeared here and studied all schools during a week in June sent their report to the local school district this week.

The report shows that Bauer, Cedar Crest and Lakeview Elementary are all racially identifiable schools.

The schools listed as non-identifiable showed a minority percentage as follows: High School, 28.30; Goliad, 17.6; Rannels, 51.13; Airport Elementary 54.34; Boydston, 31.57; College Heights, 16.67; Kentwood, 11.04; Marcy, 19.74; Moss 24.11; Park Hill, 3.82; Washington, 17.93; and State Hospital classes, 43 per cent.

The report indicated that the high school was fine and that in their opinion the sixth grades should be placed in the two junior highs for a Middle School concept. This judgment

District Judge Ralph W. Caton Friday signed a $25,000 judgment for personal injuries said suffered in a traffic accident.

Jerry Thomas was granted the judgment against Joseph W. Pate, who was driving a vehicle owned by Wayne Pate, a second defendant.

Local student gets certificate

SWEETWATER — A Big Spring student received his certificate Aug. 19 when Texas State Technical Institute graduated a class of 114 in 10 skill development programs on the Rolling Plains Campus.

He is Mike Kinman, a graduate of the air conditioning and refrigeration mechanics program.

(Continued from Page 1) The more things change, the more they remain the same. Mrs. Jack (Alice) Johnson has resurrected a July 17, 1965, Abilene paper with a headline reading "Mars Air Said Too Thin for Known Life Forms."

South Vietnam was asking that more U.S. troops be sent to their beleaguered nation in the same edition.

The prices of some merchandise advertised in the paper that day might surprise. As an example, 50 feet of garden hose could be purchased for 97 cents.

Muhammad Ali never boasts about the claim but the Sons of Erin point with fierce pride to the fact that the heavyweight champion has a lot of Irish blood coursing through his veins.

Big Spring Fire Marshal Howard Dodd, who became a smoke-eater after he grew weary of shepherding a truck around the country, says the most difficult fire he ever helped contain was the Big Spring compress blaze and the "shakiest" he ever battled was one at Cosden. Both occurred earlier this year.

The compress blaze, by the way, likely will jack up Big Spring's fire rates a little (since it happened in the city limits), the Cosden blaze won't.

Dodd says he can't condemn people who chase fire trucks too much. "I used to chase ambulances myself," Howard confesses. He quit it after seeing a person who had been horribly disfigured in an automobile accident.

The outlay for the additions to the First Baptist Church, listed in this paper as $500,000, no doubt, will run over twice that. The membership is going after half a million in a fund-

THE THREE PLANS offered by the state committee are outlined in detail here. The state advice adopting one of these plans or devising a local plan that will desegregate Bauer, Lakeview and Cedar Crest.

No action has been taken or considered by the local board, since they have just received the plans.

Plan A would utilize Highway 87 as a boundary line with all students east of 87 in one zone and the ones on the west in another.

Grades K-2 for the western zone would be at Marcy; Grades 3 and 4 at Airport and Grade 5 at Lakeview. Four schools would be utilized in the eastern zone. Kindergarten pupils and special education students would attend Kentwood. Grades one and two would be at Moss. Washington would house grades 2-4. Fifth grade students would go to Bauer.

PLAN A would recommend closing Cedar Crest, Park Hill, Boydston and College Heights.

Under Plan B, all kindergarten students would go to Lakeview. Cedar Crest would be closed. Lakeview and Cedar Crest students would be zoned into Park Hill and Marcy with grades one and two taught at Park Hill and grades 3-5 at Marcy.

The eastern zone kindergarten students would attend Lakeview. Boydston and College Heights would attend Bauer and Washington with grades one and two at Washington and grades 3-5 at Bauer. This plan does not change or involve Airport, Moss and Kentwood.

Under Plan C, Highway 87 is not used as a dividing line. Lakeview would hold all kindergartens. Cedar Crest, Park Hill, Bauer and Boydston would be closed.

Airport would hold school for 1-3 grades for Airport and Marcy. The 1-3 students from Lakeview, Cedar Crest, College Heights and Park Hill would attend College Heights.

Moss would have all fourth graders. Marcy would have all fifth graders.

The study pointed out Big Spring had too many elementary schools at a heavy cost to taxpayers.

NONE OF THE plans submitted by the TEA are expected to please anyone in town. None of the plans recommended by the local study committee were received with enthusiasm.

Big Spring School board still has taken no action. They do not plan to take action immediately on any plan. Their situation at this time involves additional hearings with HEW in the matter.

In the meantime, they have received the official plans and recommendations of the study team of the TEA.

and College Heights would attend Bauer and Washington with grades one and two at Washington and grades 3-5 at Bauer. This plan does not change or involve Airport, Moss and Kentwood.

Under Plan C, Highway 87 is not used as a dividing line. Lakeview would hold all kindergartens. Cedar Crest, Park Hill, Bauer and Boydston would be closed.

Airport would hold school for 1-3 grades for Airport and Marcy. The 1-3 students from Lakeview, Cedar Crest, College Heights and Park Hill would attend College Heights.

Moss would have all fourth graders. Marcy would have all fifth graders.

The study pointed out Big Spring had too many elementary schools at a heavy cost to taxpayers.

Texas liberals gaining control of state Democratic party

Guest could be unwelcome one

By WALT FINLEY For the first time, Texas liberals are in a position to gain control of the machinery of the state Democratic party.

The liberals vaulted into this position at the state convention in Houston June 17-18 at which the Carter delegation, generously sprinkled with liberals, joined with other liberals, primarily uncommitted delegates, to carry the key convention votes.

As a result, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, a conservative, is having more trouble controlling the state party machinery than any other governor in recent history.

There is a chance that state chairman Calvin Guest of Bryan may be deposed when the party holds its convention Sept. 17-18.

"We're a unified party to elect a Democratic nominee, Jimmy Carter, to the presidency this fall," Guest said at the Houston convention. "There was no state politics at this convention, only national issues were at stake."

One of those who benefitted most from the liberal surge at the Houston convention was Democratic national committeewoman Billie Carr of Houston, a key liberal leader in Texas.

Before the convention it appeared that Carr's national committee seat might be in jeopardy, but she easily won renomination. Now here influence and power in the state party appear to be at their pinnacle.

She contended late Friday that the defeat of Guest would give Carter a better chance of winning Texas in November.

Mrs. Carr said the Texas Democratic Party has fallen to pieces under Guest, whose "methods are makred by favoritism, ineptitude and general incompetence."

She endorsed John Henry Tatum of Lufkin for the job, acclaiming him as a "charter Carter — what we call a 'Carter One' supporter."

Mrs. Carr told a news conference in Austin that any Democrat who withdraws support of the Carter-Mondale ticket over the possible defeat of Guest "is a sorry Democrat anyway" and is just using that as an excuse. "They're weak sisters and we'd just as soon be rid of them."

Mrs. Carr said a "ghost-written letter" from Carter campaign leader Frank Moore expressing support for Guest for party chairman was an example of "politics of desperation."

Guest's basic re-election tactic, she said, has been to use Gov. Dolph Briscoe "to pressure the Carter campaign for intervention on his behalf."

She said Guest has been letting free talent on the State Democratic Executive go to waste, but high salaries "have been paid to people we have never heard of" who are supposedly working for delegates by Frank Moore, a deputy campaign director for Southern states, endorsing Guest for re-election. The letter, mailed in Texas but printed on Carter campaign literature from Atlanta, implied that Armstrong joined in the endorsement.

Armstrong said he knew the letter was being written "but the letter was stronger than I intended it to be."

"I have been in Atlanta, and I can assure you there will be no more such letters," he said.

Parrish said his role was to worry about what happens in November "and not get involved in internal party affairs. I assure you the people in Atlanta know the way you feel."

"Its damn hard to square the rhetoric in that letter with Jimmy Carter's acceptance speech," said a man who did not identify himself.

"If Calvin Guest wants to elect Jimmy Carter, he better rescind that letter," said another.

The exchanges went on for half an hour before the resolution was adopted.

State comptroller Bob Bullock, who was next on the party.

She said the SDEC has not been able to inspect party financial books in the last four years, she said. Faced with complaints over this, Mrs. Carr said, Guest appointed a committee which never met.

To gather support for re-election, she said. Guest has done such things as promise the Black Legislative Caucus a black representative on the Texas A&M board of regents or the state welfare board.

Texas' liberal Democrats swarmed all over Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong Saturday for a Jimmy Carter campaign endorsement of State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest.

While Armstrong, Carter's top campaign leader in Texas, ducked his head in embarrassment, the shouting crowd of about 400 approved a resolution calling on Carter to rescind the endorsement.

Sitting with Armstrong was Chuck Parrish, of Atlanta, Ga., recently sent to Texas to coordinate the Carter campaign.

In the same manner the group, known formally as the Texas Democrats organization, expressed approval of Lufkin attorney John Henry Tatum for state party chairman, to be named at the Sept. 17-18 state convention in Fort Worth.

"I have no business in that race for state chairman and I am not going to get in that race," Armstrong assured the crowd several times.

"Chuck Parrish is not going to get in that race... You can cuss me, vote against me but don't hold it against Jimmy Carter."

The argument, which interrupted a scheduled meeting on plans for the state convention, centered about a letter sent to all Texas state convention delegates by Frank Moore, a deputy campaign director for Southern states, endorsing Guest for re-election. The letter, mailed in Texas but printed on Carter campaign literature from Atlanta, implied that Armstrong joined in the endorsement.

Armstrong said he knew the letter was being written "but the letter was stronger than I intended it to be."

"I have been in Atlanta, and I can assure you there will be no more such letters," he said.

Parrish said his role was to worry about what happens in November "and not get involved in internal party affairs. I assure you the people in Atlanta know the way you feel."

"Its damn hard to square the rhetoric in that letter with Jimmy Carter's acceptance speech," said a man who did not identify himself.

"If Calvin Guest wants to elect Jimmy Carter, he better rescind that letter," said another.

Police beat Driver takes 'dive'

A car driven by Christine Pinkston Groves, Rt. 1, Sand Springs, went out of control at 7:35 a.m. Saturday and plunged into the creek at Midway and Wilson Road intersection. State Trooper Bill Jennings was investigating officer in the one vehicle accident.

At 11:44 a.m. at FM 820 and IS 20, a vehicle driven by David Vernon Tate of Westbrook plowed into a parked vehicle in Coahoma belonging to Ed Fowler. State Trooper Jennings said Tate was jailed on a felony DWI charge. Three men were in Fox's Pawn Shop picking up an item that had been pawned late Friday. The owners told police that they apparently also picked up a .357 magnum out of the display case.

The Tap Room at 112 Main reported to police Saturday morning that somebody pried open the door and stole an undetermined amount of beer.

The West Wind Motel at 2004 Gregg related to police that a patron left without paying his bill. At 11:58 a.m. Saturday at 9th and Creighton, a vehicle driven by Ola Smith Tate of 805 Crighton and one driven by Bobby Gene Mitchell, 700 Willa, collided.

Other minor accidents included one at Denny's parking lot at 12:10 p.m. Saturday when two vehicles collided. They were driven by Leone Krahn, Readley, Canada and Patrick Armstrong, Odessa. An accident occurred in the 2500 block of Gregg at 4:17 p.m. Friday when vehicles driven by Margie Rubio, 515 N. Goliad and Gary Duane Fulks, Odessa, collided.

Another accident at 2nd and Benton occurred at 6:03 p.m. Friday with vehicles driven by Nannie Richardson, Sterling City Route and Robert Little, 3304 Auburn.

At 6:55 p.m. Friday at 612 Elgin, a vehicle driven by Ricky Wayne Patterson, 609 Linda Lane was in a collision with a parked vehicle belonging to Darrell Cypert, Garden City.

At FM 700 and Wasson Road at 8:44 p.m., two cars collided. They were driven by Ann Jones Hammack of P.O. Box 684 and Patricia Ann Puga, 1206 Lindberg. At 9:40 p.m. at 8th and Lancaster, vehicles collided driven by Bobby D. Carnes, Las Cruces, N.M. and Ernest Annable, 1309 Scurry.

There was a house fire in a home owned by A. A. Cooper at 18th and Gregg at 11:54 p.m. No damage estimate was available. Petra Escevell, 650 NE 11th, told police she was assaulted by a man and a woman who used a brick and a stick. This report was made at 3:49 a.m. Saturday.

RUNNING FOR COVER — Leftist students carry a wounded classmate to cover in Bangkok Saturday during a rally that was attacked by right-wing vigilantes and technical school students throwing plastic explosives and firing automatic rifles. About 10,000 university students held the rally to protest the return of former military strongman Praphas Charusathien from exile in Taiwan. Police said one youth was killed and 37 persons were wounded.

Aggies have fun obtaining funds

Aggies will be Aggies, but in Big Spring on Aggie Scholarship Barbecue Day, that means they are successful. The local Aggie Club again raised enough funds for their scholarship for local youth who attend the University. The names will be announced in the near future, according to Jerry Foresyth, club president.

The club fed around 500 persons in a steady stream between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. They also sold a lot of tickets to people who did not attend, and received several donations from supporters. The Aggies still stacked the ice on the barbecue pit, as they were accused of doing last year. However, this year, they covered the ice with a tarp so that nosy reporters would not comment.

The annual event is not only a fund raising project, it also serves as one of two social occasions during the year attended by almost every Aggie in town along with members of their families and friends. The other, of course, is the annual Aggie Muster.

Farmers may collect only 40 cents on dollar

Howard County farmers who were parties to a suit against one-time Childress cotton king Vaughan B. Nowlin may collect only 40 cents on the dollar, court documents filed in Lubbock Friday show.

Court action was brought against Nowlin against farmers in several counties who claimed they were owed hundreds of thousands of dollars for goods they had delivered.

Nowlin's payment scheme may hinge on whether the Childress man is able to float a $600,000 loan.

If Nowlin can secure the loan, he told the court, he can proceed immediately with the 40 cents on the dollar payments, with possible additional installments later, according to documents filed in federal bankruptcy referee Frank Murray's court.

Nowlin has petitioned the court for a six weeks' extension before filing his plan. Murray will rule on the request at a creditors' meeting Aug. 31.

The Childress businessman, still in his early 30s, is said to owe four years of federal income taxes. That amount reportedly exceeds $100,000.

Kermit dentist charged with try to hire killer

KERMIT, Tex. (AP) — A 56-year-old Kermit dentist was in the Winkler County Jail today, denied bond on a charge of trying to hire someone to kill a Kermit attorney.

Dr. Gerald K. Johnson was arrested Friday by Winkler County Sheriff Jerry Bell on a charge of criminal solicitation.

Johnson is charged with trying to hire someone to slay Kermit attorney John R. Lee, Bell said.

The charge was filed with Justice of the Peace C.O. Jones, who denied bond for Johnson.

The dentist surrendered Friday afternoon after the sheriff told him there was a warrant for his arrest.

Bell said a Kermit man contacted him about a week ago to report an alleged attempt to hire a "hit man" to kill Lee. Bell said an undercover agent for the Department of Public Safety was brought into the investigation, posing as a "hit man."

"There is no real hit man running loose out here in West Texas," Bell said.

The case will be presented to the Winkler County grand jury when it meets Sept. 6.

Princess Grace to read poetry at Edinburgh

NICE, France (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco has agreed to return to the stage for four appearances at the Edinburgh Festival next month in Scotland, the newspaper Nice Matin reported.

She will read American poetry at special performances marking the U.S. Bicentennial. The 46-year-old former Grace Kelly retired from her acting career to marry Prince Rainier of Monaco.

Her appearances are scheduled Sept. 5-9.

"I haven't had an attack of stage fright yet, but I'll undoubtedly get one before long," she was quoted as saying Saturday.

Sacrifices of war heroes forgotten?

SEATTLE (AP) — When the country is at peace sacrifices made by its armed forces during war time are forgotten, Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., says.

"When a nation is not at war, the public quickly forgets the sacrifices of its armed forces, and interest in veterans and defense expenditures rapidly diminishes," Roberts told the American Legion national convention Friday.

Roberts, chairman of the House Committee on Veterans Affairs, said veterans organizations keep the pressure on politicians to provide necessary and earned benefits.

He called "a lot of hogwash" the sentiment that the Legion does not represent Vietnam veterans.

Spilled acid poses no danger to aquatic life

MATHEWS, Va. (AP) — The cargo of 130,000 gallons of sulfuric acid that spilled from a capsized barge in the Chesapeake Bay poses no further danger to aquatic life, the Coast Guard and environmental officials say.

The Coast Guard said Saturday an investigation into the cause of the capsizing probably would begin Monday.

The barge was towed to a Norfolk boatyard early Saturday.

The acid spill was discovered Friday night when two giant floating cranes finally succeeded in righting the lower bay, about three miles east of Wolf Trap Light.

It was the third attempt to right the barge which capsized Wednesday morning. Efforts by tugboats Thursday had failed to flip over the 150-foot Allied Chemical Corp. barge.

Women ignore threats, demonstrate for peace

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Thousands of Protestants and Roman Catholics — two-thirds of them women — defied the threats of the Irish Republican Army to demonstrate Saturday for peace in Northern Ireland.

The rally in Belfast's Ormeau Park on the banks of the Lagan River went off without incident and the IRA was conspicuous in its absence.

Police estimated the crowd at 15,000 but independent observers put the number at more than 20,000.

Mairead Corrigan, 23-year-old aunt of three children killed Aug. 10 when caught in a shootout between troops and terrorists, appealed to "the people of the world" to organize similar rallies for "peace in Northern Ireland."

In a short address, she noted that women outnumber men at the demonstration two to one and said it was time the women got their menfolk behind the "peace people" campaign to end the violence that has claimed more than 1,600 lives over the past seven years in this British province.

To show Protestants and Catholics alike wanted an end to violence, Mrs. Betty Williams, 32-year-old Catholic housewife who launched the campaign after the killing of the three young children, announced that a third rally will be held next Saturday in the Shankill Road, the heartland of Protestantism here.

Crowded docket hampers system here

When district attorney candidate Rick Hamby spoke to the Big Spring Rotary Club last Tuesday, he left some time for questions.

And did the questions ever come. The questions reflected, I think, the frustrations that so many Americans have with our criminal justice system these days.

TO THE AVERAGE guy, it seems the criminals are getting all the breaks, while the victims of crime have little going for them. Crimes seem to keep happening and keep happening, while there appear to be few trials and convictions.

Hamby, who is unopposed on the November ballot for DA, was painfully honest and candid about the problem.

The criminal docket in this district (Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties) is so far behind that even if no new charges were filed, trials could go on for years, he said.

The percentage of persons charged with crimes to those actually convicted is low.

Still, the average fellow is paying tax dollars for criminals to be caught, brought to justice, and, if necessary, confined. He doesn't understand why more of this cannot be accomplished.

Hamby noted that this district, the 118th, is one of the largest in Texas with only one attorney in the District Attorney's Office. He also noted that larger districts have two district judges. I cannot recall which Supreme Court judge said that justice delayed is justice denied, but his point is most valid.

Big Spring is not alone in having a piled-up docket. I doubt if ours is particularly bad when compared to some around the state.

However, this is a problem that should be worked out in all of Texas. Do we need more prosecutors? More judges?

PERHAPS WE NEED to be more flexible in encouraging judges of other districts to help each other so enough cases can be set to carry throughout the entire week?

The question of whose responsibility it is to keep dockets cleared is one I have often heard debated. I think ultimately it must be the judge's responsibility.

If the judge sets trial dates on the charges, it is up to the DA either to be prepared for trial or to have good reason for delay.

If the DA needs more help, it is up to us, the people, to see that he gets it.

If the case cannot be prepared for trial within a reasonable amount of time, it should be dismissed by the judge.

The law enforcement agencies can help by working closely with the DA and not filing charges that have no chance for trial.

WE NEED to convince district attorneys in Texas that we do not expect them to have 100 per cent conviction records. We don't even want it. We want the cases to be resolved, either by pleas or trials or dismissals, when justice is best served by a dismissal.

If a jury finds a person innocent, we are not going to fault the DA.

Unless our criminal justice system works from the policeman to the prison guard, and especially the courts, we have no protection against crime.

And certainly no deterrent. —J. TOM GRAHAM

Smirk vanishes

Around the rim

Walt Finley

If people would just shut up and listen, I'd tell them how tolerance and understanding could solve everything.

JOHNNY CARSON commented that the price of coffee has gone to $2 a pound in New York.

I went into my kitchen to smirk and found that our $2 a pound coffee now costs $2.49.

DANNY REAGAN, intrepid reporter, says Gretchen, the wife of A Donde Vas? co-editor James Werrell asked her husband what he thought of a play and he replied in a Colgate accent "It reminds me of a Bible quotation."

"Which one?"

"Who will be the first to stone the cast?"

It happened again. The Calvary Baptist Church in Durant had a note in its bulletin:

"Next Sunday night Ruth James will return to sin for us. You won't want to miss this outstanding soloist."

My wood choppin' aunt, Alta Harris, says my uncle Russ must have the swine flu because he sits around the house all day and grunts.

If that's all it takes, our number is legion.

A local Democrat, who shall remain anonymous for obvious reasons, says he will be happy when this presidential mania runs its course.

He's anxious for the ex-governor of California to get back to his old hobby of watching the ex-governor of California head 'em off at the pass, on the late-late while he eats peanuts grown by the ex-governor of Georgia.

He also has such a low regard for some politicians he insists they wouldn't earn their pay if they were dollar-a-year men.

THE LAST presidential candidate nominated in Kansas City was Herbert Hoover in 1928 — before I reached the age of reason.

Now that I think about it, I still haven't reached that level.

Just for the duration of the GOP nominating convention they should have changed that beautiful song to "Everything's Out Of Whack In Kansas City."

Can you imagine a political party convention next to the stockyards in KC before air-conditioning?

While on the subject, ad expert Pete Fowler says he has been thinking about running for President on a third party ticket but he has been having second thoughts.

"I can just envision a headline writer coming up with 'Fowl-air in the White House.'"

Another headline: "Candidates Battle Hot Weather, Voter Apathy." Some of our candidates give us a lot to be apathetic about.

Conservatives from one end of Texas to the other will have an active fall — arguing whether Ronald Reagan's choice for vice president is worse than Jimmy Carter's.

REAGAN'S CHOICE has caused some of his Texas True Believers to have second thoughts. One man went to his minister and said, "You were right, preacher — there is only one God."

The Texas delegation in Kansas City had good seats. If anything had started to fly on the rostrum, they'd have seen it in time to duck.

Convention seats were assigned largely on the basis of party loyalty. Ironically, isn't it? — Texas got such good position for being so strong for Richard Nixon.

Some of the Reagan Forever delegates from Texas must be softening. Three or four have asked how to remove a tattoo.

Now for REMEMBERING... test

By BILL BROOKS

Art Buchwald

KANSAS CITY — I warned you all that you would have to take a test after the Republican National Convention to find out if you were watching it. We will do it under the West Point honor system which means NO CHEATING. Those who fail the test will not receive their BETTY FORD'S HUSBAND FOR PRESIDENT bumper sticker.

All right, let's go.

1 — THE Republican Party is the party of (a) principle (b) a balanced budget (c) opportunity (d) unity (e) Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt, Dwight Eisenhower and What's-his-name.

2 — The Democratic Party is made up of (a) free spenders (b) congressmen and senators who fuel inflations and unemployment through reckless legislation that President Ford in his wisdom and courage has seen fit to veto (c) do-gooders who have made your streets unsafe to walk in (d) Wayne Hays and Elizabeth Ray.

3 — In order for the United States to remain number one in the world we must (a) keep the Panama Canal (b) make our Armed Forces so strong that no nation will ever sneer at us again (c) achieve maximum value for each defense dollar spent (d) defoliate all the peanut farms in Plains, Ga.

4 — Jimmy Carter's promises would cost the country (a) $100 billion (b) $200 billion (c) $300 billion (d) $135.67 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

5 — CARTER wants the American people to (a) trust him (b) believe he was a good governor of Georgia (c) believe he has the experience to deal with the urgent problems that beset this nation (d) think he can get elected in November against a united Republican Party that rose above partisan politics in candidate in November.

6 — The reason Ronald Reagan lost the nomination fight was (a) he chose his Vice President too early in the game (b) Ford could promise more things to the uncommitted delegates (c) Schweiker couldn't deliver the delegates he claimed he had in his pocket (d) Tony Orlando danced with Betty Ford just before the crucial Rules vote on 16C.

7 — Sen. Richard Schweiker must now go back to Pennsylvania and explain to his constituents that (a) he was only kidding about the right-to-work law (b) Reagan had his FBI folder and blackmailed him into running on the ticket (c) he thought Reagan was offering him a role in a motion picture (d) he is a "born again" liberal.

8 — ONLY one of these Republicans was mentioned in a speech at the convention in Kansas City: (a) Richard Nixon (b) Henry Kissinger (c) Spiro Agnew (d) Checkers.

9 — Only one of these things happened in Kansas City: (a) Sammy Davis Jr. put his head on President Ford's shoulder (b) Charles Colson ran over his grandmother in front of the convention hall (c) Howard Hunt tapped Rockefeller's telephone (d) Amy Carter was interviewed on television (e) the Republicans did not wave their fists at Walter Cronkite.

and cats. He had been trained to pull a small cart, if encouraged with a carrot in front of his nose. He was the first one to greet company and did so by planting both front hooves on the side of their car, peering inside as if to ask, "What did you bring me?"

Yancy was not without his faults however and it was best you didn't take your eye off him when he was near because he was apt to practice his butting at any time. Most people liked him well enough except for one neighbor lady. She didn't like goats — period! She said they had the face and features of the devil as well as his temperament and they smelled bad and shouldn't be turned out around humans. She would shake her finger at poor Yancy anytime he got close to her.

As she went into the outhouse one time the goat (I'm sure he knew what he was doing) planted his body down in front of the door, refusing to get up when she was ready to come out. She pushed and threw her weight against the door but he wouldn't budge. After an eternity he got up and ambled off with what seemed like a satisfied grin on his face. You might say he "got her goat."

His appetite was especially good and he liked the tender shrubs and flowers around the house. He would eat paper and even chew on old sticks but, contrary to what we had heard about goats, he wouldn't eat tin cans. We tried to feed him one but he just held it in his mouth and walked around looking at us.

Whenever Yancy found the screen door ajar he would poke his nose in, open it and make himself at home. He was sometimes found asleep on the sofa. His fateful day came when he ventured into the house while supper was being fixed. Mrs. Cooper had left the kitchen for awhile and he set about sampling all the preparations. She came back to find him standing atop the cabinet, eating from a bowl of black-eyed peas. Mrs. Cooper laid down the law, saying he would be promptly sold, given away, or shot and she wasn't particular which.

It didn't seem right to sell him so they gave him to a neighbor close by who raised sheep. He would become a "Judas" goat, or one who leads the sheep to slaughter. Yancy was finally earning his keep.

Rest can help medicine do work

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that I have the Tietze syndrome you have written about. It is very painful. It feels like a heart attack sometimes and there are knifing pains.

I have been getting cortisone shots in the chest. I've been told not to strain myself and no sports of any kind. I'm only 28 years old. Can you please explain to me how one gets this? Is there a cure? Does it spread? Is cortisone good for it? Do I have to stay inactive? — Mrs. P.M.

Tietze's disease (or syndrome) is a peculiar disorder that affects the second and third ribs where they attach to the breastbone (in front). We don't know why the problem arises and why in these particular areas, but it does.

The chief symptom is a very painful swelling of the cartilage (tough, fibrous connective tissue) lying between the ribs and the breastbone. Injection of cortisone into the cartilage is the most effective treatment and it is especially so if the area is rested. That's true with most similar disorders.

With the injections, heat and rest, the disease usually runs its course. It may recur, however.

Your symptoms may be continuing because you have not rested the shoulder-girdle enough. That includes the collarbone and the shoulder bone. In rare cases surgery may be required to remove some of the affected cartilage.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have your booklet on diverticulosis and it has helped me a lot in controlling my condition, which is in the colon.

However, my sister-in-law, according to her doctor, has diverticulosis of the esophagus. How would her treatment differ from mine? — A.K.

Diverticula (that is the word for the little pockets that form in the bowel wall) can occur in any portion of the gastro-intestinal tract. One in the esophagus is called Zenker's diverticulum. It is a solitary pouch that occurs in the gullet wall. It's a special case.

It differs considerably from regular diverticulosis of the colon (the specific subject of the booklet) where

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I just got my study course certificate. It's beautiful. I'm going to frame it. I told the kids at school that you sent me mail. They told me I was lying. How can I convince them when they bug me on such things? — K.S.

DEAR K.S.: Congratulations on finishing the course. Many thousands have done the same — and we are delighted over this facet of our ministry that disciples new converts. If we can help acquaint people with the Bible — we've done the very best thing we could.

Now the Bible says we are not to be shook up by groundless criticism. Apparently, petty gossip is as old as the human race. We are rather to take criticism bravely, certainly if it's unfounded. Peter warned his fellow Christians, "Be careful how you behave among your unsaved neighbors; even if they are suspicious of you and talk against you, they will end up praising God for your good works" (I Peter 2:12, Living Bible).

Obviously, I can't personally sign all the letters that go out from our offices. But associates represent me and we regard every letter as important. It is as if I wrote you personally.

Don't bother trying to justify yourself, or convince others you're right. That's God's job. Paul wrote: "Friends, never avenge yourselves. Leave that to God, for he has said that he will repay those who deserve it" (Romans 12:19, Living Bible).

there can be multiple pockets formed.

The esophagus (gullet) pocket can vary considerably in size. Small ones may give few symptoms and require little attention. If one becomes enlarged, food and fluids can be trapped in it, causing difficulty in swallowing, also regurgitation of the trapped material. In that case, it would have to be corrected by surgery. Diagnosis would be made by X rays taken after a barium swallow.

When I rewrite my diverticulosis booklet I will be sure to discuss the Zenker variety. I'm glad, however, that it was helpful to you. Other readers may get a copy by sending 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald to cover the costs of printing and handling. Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had sciatica for nine months and it doesn't seem to get any better. My doctor says there is nothing to be done — just take aspirin.

Surely there must be something more I can do. I've had back X rays that show little arthritic spurs. But that doesn't affect the sciatica much. What about surgery? — A.R.

The protrusion of a spinal disk is a common cause of sciatica (sy-AT-i-ca). A disk may put pressure on the sciatic nerve root as it emerges from the spine. Pain can radiate all along the nerve pathway down through the leg.

Pain of this sort is dull, like a nagging toothache. Don't knock the aspirins. Along with heat they are effective in controlling about 80 per cent of the cases. Surgery (for a disk problem) is a last resort and is done only when pain becomes severe.

Don't be so sure your arthritis spurs are not a major factor. They can be, more than you think. Also, gout and diabetes can be involved. Possibly a brace to help support your lower back would help you.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discussed many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

other fiascos that have plagued the department in recent years.

Butz' own unethical behavior has not deterred him from preaching high ethical standards to his underlings. He recently made a cameo appearance, for example, in a training film on proper conduct.

"As federal employees, each of us holds a position of public trust," says the self-righteous Butz. "The American public has the right to expect, and does expect, that we will maintain the highest standards of ethics and conduct in the performance of our official duties."

Dear Editor: We the people of the West Side, want it known that we frown on how the name Westside Community Center is used.

What is a community center? A community center is a building or groups of buildings built for a community's education and recreational activities. We have the building but the people who are on the board have no concept of what is going on or of the needs of the people in the community. They claim there is no room at the center for anyone over the age of 12.

We further believe that they discriminate against the teenagers facilities. The reasons given are 1) there is no room, 2) (the older kids) are mean to the smaller children and 3) vandalism.

We believe that if the center was opened in the evenings from 7 to 10 p.m., this would solve the problem of room. They open the center in the fall and winter months for the little kids from 2:45 to 5 p.m. If that schedule were followed, it probably would keep the little kids separate from the older children.

As for vandalism, how can they say this when the teens have never been allowed to use the center?

If the center was open from 7 to 10 p.m., the teens would be able to do homework, have talk sessions and the adults who work during the day would also be able to use the facilities.

When the center was in a smaller building and run by different people, there was room for everyone. The building now used is twice as big but now there is no room for the children who need it the most — the teenagers.

In our opinion, the couple living at the center probably are not capable of fulfilling their responsibilities.

We say, let's open up the doors of the community center and use it for what it was intended for — to keep the kids off the streets and perhaps adults to use the facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Eleazar Garza, Ralph Dickens, Danny Martinez, Fernie Williams and family, David Chavarria and family, Mrs. Luise Perez Mrs. Manuel Chavarria Jr.

Patience helping break sound barrier for child

By JERRI DAVEY
Young Gentry Shortes is breaking the sound barrier. He is now learning to communicate after being deaf since birth.

Gentry Kyle, 3, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Shortes, Rt. 1, Box 221, Ackerly. He has been wearing a hearing aid for a year, but is awaiting a new one because the original was stolen recently.

"HE WASN'T alert around the house, he wouldn't respond, so we took him to a local pediatrician. We found there he had a profound loss of hearing and we were told to go to the Rehab Center. We have been taking him there three times a week since he was 21 months old," Mrs. Shortes said.

Gentry will start his schooling at Lamar Elementary in Midland some time this month. The school has a special course for the deaf.

Division of Texas State Department of Health Resources paid for his hearing aid. "He progressed so well with it," said Glen Carrigan, Audiologist at the Center, "that we are hoping to get him another."

GENTRY HAS LEARNED sign language, can read lips and pick up vibrations of words through his hearing aid. He recognizes most of the animals names through sign language. "I accepted the fact that he was deaf, and I wanted to do all I could for him," said Gentry's mother.

The whole Shortes family has learned sign language including Gentry's sister Stefani, age six. "They play together real well," Mrs. Shortes said. Even Gentry's grandmother, aunts, uncles and cousins have gone to sign language classes at the Rehab Center to have a better understanding with him.

Carrigan said, "When there is a deaf child in some other homes, they don't put forth the effort like this family has. Some people don't even try to communicate with their children or even learn sign language, but this family tops them all. They have gone to all extremes in helping Gentry."

Gentry has learned to say a few words like "bye", "mom" and "baby". Sandy Thrasher, speech therapist at the center says, "Gentry is a very bright child, I enjoy working with him. How parents act with a handicap child plays a major role in the child's life. Gentry's mother has done all there is to do."

CARRIGAN ADDED, "Seventy-five per cent of Gentry's learning comes to him through the help of his mother, and a lot of credit goes to Sandy for all that she has taught him."

Gentry will never have normal hearing, but he is very lucky to have people who care, and that are trying to do everything they can for him.

Martin County Fair dates

STANTON — The annual Martin County Fair will be held Thursday through Saturday, Aug. 26-28.

Tickets are now on sale from members of the Stanton Jaycees for the tractor pull, which will be conducted on the vacant lot south of Stanton Junior High at 12:30 p.m. each day.

Lance Hopper is chairman of this event with advance tickets at $2 and $3 tickets at the grounds.

Other highlights of this year's fair will include a carnival, dunking booth, square dance, street dance, fiddler's contest, food, arts and crafts exhibits, a steer show and a 4-H ice cream freeze-off.

Many local businesses and clubs will rent space at the Martin County Community Center for special booths.

The fiddler's contest will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the community center. A square dance will be held Thursday at 8:30 p.m. on Broadway Street with Roger Fleckenstein as caller.

On Friday night, a street dance begins at 9 p.m. with Don Tole and his band from Big Spring providing the music.

A special event on Thursday will be a flower show with a food show featured Friday and the ice cream freeze-off Saturday.

County commissioners to mull airport, library

County commissioners will discuss the airport and library Monday.

The commissioners court is to name a librarian to replace Susan Conley, who resigned to join her husband in California, and to discuss naming an airport manager for the first time.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. is to make recommendations for lease of the T-41 hangar to Trans Regional Air, a fixed-base operation.

The court plans to consider adopting minimum standards for future fixed-base operation contracts.

County Auditor Virginia Black will request the court authorize advertising for bids on office supplies needed for the coming fiscal year. The Mexican American Service Council is seeking use of the fair barns for a dance Sept. 16.

The regular conference with County Engineer Neel Barnaby will start the meeting at 9 a.m. No action is to be taken until the court returns from lunch at 1:30 p.m.

Graduate courses offer at Webb by Sul Ross

Sul Ross State University will offer 17 graduate education courses this fall semester at the Webb Air Force Base, educational center building 603.

Registration will be held Aug. 24 from 6-9 p.m. in the education building in room 14.

Counselors from Sul Ross will be available with classes to begin Aug. 30.

The minimum number of students for graduate classes has been increased to 10. Please register early so the classes you need will be offered. Call Mrs. Virginia Smith at 7-8360 or 7-2511, ext. 2464 for further information.

Hot pokers used to hurt three aliens

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) — Three illegal aliens looking for work near here were stripped, stabbed, burned with hot pokers and dragged across the desert, the Cochise County sheriff's department said.

In addition, two of the men were hit by birdshot fired from shotguns as they fled their assailants. The third man was not hit.

The men, all in their 20s, told deputies they had just crossed the border from Mexico and were on their way to the town of Elfrida, about 20 miles north of Douglas in the southeastern corner of Arizona, to seek work.

They were identified as Eleazar Ruelas Zavala, 24; Manuel Garcia Loya, 25; and Bernabe Herrera Mata, 21, all of Chihuahua. All were listed in satisfactory condition in a hospital in Agua Prieta in Mexico.

Mexican Consul Raul Aveleyra termed the assault "a very sadistic thing," and said, "The people of Mexico are quite bothered by this incident." Aveleyra said one victim had 125 "BBs" removed from his back; another had 60 removed.

A spokesman for the Cochise County sheriff's department said no arrests had been made.

"Know Your Food"

YOUR FOOD GUIDE*

Here is the first in a five-part weekly series on Food for Fitness — a Daily Food Guide. It explains our need for different nutrients. The Basic Four Food Groups, briefly outlined here, will be fully detailed in four subsequent columns in Safeway ads. We suggest you clip this series to keep handy for nutritional meal planning.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Each day our food should supply us with many different nutrients —

- Protein for growth and for repair of the body.
- Minerals and vitamins for growth and to keep the body functioning properly.
- Fat and carbohydrates for energy.

Most foods contain more than one nutrient, but no single food contains all the nutrients in the amounts needed. Thus, we need a variety of foods each day.

This Food Guide shows one way to choose foods wisely each day. In the Guide foods are sorted into groups. Choices within groups are wide enough to allow for a variety of foods.

Select the main part of your diet from the four broad food groups. Add other foods as needed to make meals more appealing.

Some pointers to guide you in using this plan:

Choose at least the minimum number of servings from each of the broad food groups.

Serving sizes may differ — small for young children, extra large (or seconds) for very active adults or teenagers. Pregnant and nursing women also require more food from these groups.

Make choices within each group according to suggestions given. Foods within each group are similar, but not identical, in food value.

Choose additional foods to round out meals both from foods in the four groups and from foods not listed in these groups. These additional foods should add enough calories to complete your food energy needs for the day. Children need enough food energy to support normal growth; adults need enough to maintain body weight at a level most favorable to health and well-being.

Try to have some meat, poultry, fish, eggs, or milk at each meal.

OTHER FOODS

To round out meals and meet energy needs, almost everyone will use some foods not specified in the four food groups. Such foods include sugars, butter, margarine, other fats. These often are ingredients in a recipe, or are added to other foods during preparation or at the table.

Try to include some vegetable oil among the fats used.

Recruits not that 'high' on Air Force, survey indicates

Romp in hay more important than flagwaving?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force survey of new recruits shows most would rather duck into the clouds than face an enemy in the wild blue yonder. Moreover, the secretive survey shows, a romp in the hay with the opposite sex is more important than flag-waving patriotism.

And, said 37 per cent of the recruits surveyed at Lackland AFB, they wouldn't have enlisted if the United States was at war. Lackland is the Air Force's sole recruit depot. The findings are included in a survey of "Basic Airmen's Values and Perceptions of Society — 1976."

The bulk of the survey supports the Air Force contention that today's recruits are the best ever. But the survey, conducted earlier this year for the Air Force Military Training Center at Lackland AFB here, was not released to the public because high officials feared it would be

"misconstrued." The Associated Press obtained a copy of the survey. Maj. Gen. John P. Flynn, commander of the Military Training Center and a former prisoner of war in North Vietnam, told The AP the new recruits are "the highest quality generation we've seen in the service yet." According to the survey, which was administered to 1,000 recruits on their fifth day of basic training, there were six areas of "substantial change" from previous similar studies: —A decline in political activism. —An increase in political conservatism. —Increased desire for education. —Greater acceptance of authority. —Increased acceptance of the work ethic, but financial opportunity and free time are still desired. —Greater acceptance of sexual freedom.

While Flynn and other officers say they are encouraged by these figures, here are some other findings of the survey: —37 per cent of the recruits said they would not have enlisted had there been a war in progress. —74 per cent said the benefits of war rarely pay for its losses, even for the victor. —57 per cent said war is a futile struggle in self-destruction.

—41 per cent disagreed or were not sure they would give their life for their country. —79 per cent thought the United States is the best country in the world, but the rest either disagreed or were not sure. Nearly half the recruits were not sure or disagreed that free enterprise is the best economic system. Six per cent said the United States should not go to war under any circumstance. Nearly a third said they were not sure democracy is the best form of government. The survey included 130 questions covering such areas as war, drugs, civil rights, authority, marriage, government and politics.

Col. Ralf M. Miller, commander of the basic military training school here where all Air Force recruits are processed, said the figures are not really surprising. "These people were really civilians. They'd been in the Air Force just five days" when the survey was conducted last spring, he said. Miller, who helped devise the questionnaire, also said men and women who enlist in the Air Force are not looking for combat roles. Instead, they seek training in skills and trades, he said. The survey supported this view. In the Air Force, Gen. Flynn said, pilot-officers are the chief combat personnel. Other personnel work mostly in support or technical roles. Whether the recruits would choose to remain at a base under enemy attack is immaterial, said Flynn, since they probably would have no choice. "If things were bad enough, they'd be ordered to evacuate," he said. Recruits had been asked if they would choose to remain if their base was under attack.

Big Spring State Hospital funds allocated

Texas mental institutions still have waiting lists

AUSTIN — Despite declining numbers of patients, Texas mental institutions still have waiting lists and probably will have them "for the foreseeable future," the director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation said Friday.

Dr. Kenneth Gaver told the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board that the department was actually losing beds because of new space standards being met in renovation of its institutions. Even with a policy of not adding to current institutions, more beds may be needed to make up for those lost in remodeling, staff members told the board.

Board member Mrs. Howard E. Butt of Corpus Christi objected, though, to the idea of expanding institutions when the department has a stated objective to pursue community treatment. "We need to do what we are both philosophically and by law committed to do," she said.

MRS. BUTT expressed concern over suggestions that the department may seek money during the coming biennium (1978 and 1979) for more institutional bed space. She also questioned the need for a large research facility at the Texas Medical Center in Houston which was discussed as a possible future project at yesterday's session. The board is being "presumptuous" to consider new buildings before getting more input from citizens in the Houston area, she said. Gaver told the board in a special briefing after the regular business session that 819 institutional residents would be displaced by remodeling, and the loss of bed space would keep the department with a waiting list for the near future.

STAFF MEMBERS said they face a problem in diverting institutional patients into community care because the 1975 Legislature approved only part of the programs needed to upgrade the state's mental health facilities. Lawmakers appropriated funds for renovating institutions, but didn't provide equal funding for a comprehensive community treatment program, the staff said.

Mrs. Butt suggested that the board not become preoccupied with short term problems, but focus instead on what Texas' mental health needs will be "twenty years from now." During its business session, the board approved state grants-in-aid to regional mental health centers for the 1977 fiscal year, which begins Sept. 1.

The board also allocated construction program funds totaling $308,300 for repairs to buildings at the Big Spring State Hospital.

ROOFING REPAIRS on 11 buildings will be done at an estimated cost of $293,300. According to a staff report, "Interior damage has already occurred in several buildings as a result of roof leaks and additional damage can be expected until these roofs are replaced."

"This is a serious safety hazard to both employees and clients," the report concluded.

Another $15,000 was appropriated to install a fire sprinkler system in the Rehabilitation Services Center-Sheltered Workshop. The staff report said the sprinkler system was needed to meet fire safety standards in the building.

Auto workers launching drive toward new pacts

DETROIT (AP) — After five weeks of no-progress bargaining, the United Auto Workers launches a homestretch drive toward new contracts with the Big Three automakers this week with the selection of a strike target for 1976.

Will it be Ford because it's the No. 2 maker's turn? Or maybe industry giant General Motors because of its strong financial position? And what about Chrysler, always a possible candidate because it's so vulnerable to a strike?

The UAW, which has not tipped its hand thus far, will provide the answer on Tuesday, when its international executive board convenes to debate the issue.

Union officials say there still is no agreement among leaders on who the target should be and there likely won't be until after they thrash it out in closed-session.

"We never make a selection until the last minute," said one official. "We like to discuss all the pros and cons first. We may go in to the meeting expecting to name one company and then come out with a different one."

Veteran labor observers see Ford as the frontrunner for 1976, mainly because Ford hasn't been the target since the 1967 round of triennial talks. A settlement was reached that year after a 66-day strike. GM was the target in 1970, when it was hit by a 67-day walkout, and Chrysler was tagged in 1973, when there was a nine-day strike. UAW President Leonard Woodcock has said repeatedly all year that Ford won't be the target simply "because it's Ford's turn." And union officials are quick to point out there are many good reasons for going to Ford, GM or Chrysler, as well as strong arguments for not picking any of them this year.

The union, which is bargaining for 680,000 auto workers, will be sifting through those pros and cons in determining who it'll go to either to set an industry pattern settlement or to strike when current three-year pacts expire Sept. 14.

"We have to assess where we can get the most in the quickest time," a UAW vice president said.

Bargainers and rank-and-file members at each of the Big Three appear equally enthusiastic about having their companies selected, so that won't be a factor in Tuesday's decision. UAW negotiators at each maker have asked to be the target, citing the unanimous backing of their membership.

"We always want to be the target," said UAW Vice President Ken Bannan at Ford. "That way, we can negotiate a package tailored to our members' needs rather than be forced to accept what's been reached somewhere else."

Once a target is selected, bargaining at the other companies ceases to await a settlement at the chosen firm. If there's a strike, the other makers would continue uninterrupted production.

Children swept out to sea by tidal waves after quake

Frogmen recover 274 bodies

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Frogmen recovered the bodies of 274 persons — mostly children — swept out to sea by tidal waves following a massive earthquake in the southern Philippines, the official Philippine News Agency reported Saturday.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos said his country would need no foreign aid in recovering from the disaster, which left more than 3,000 dead on the island of Mindanao and 3,000 others missing and feared dead.

The Philippine navy frogmen were working in the Moro Gulf off Pagandian city, 500 miles south of Manila, where 30-foot waves swept a quarter-mile inland early Wednesday after the huge quake, smashing into cities and fishing villages.

Some 3,200 bodies have been recovered. Officials say most of the 3,000 missing were probably swept into the gulf by the tidal waves and are also dead. An estimated 150,000 persons were left homeless.

The earthquake itself, which measured 7.8 on the Richter scale — considered a major earthquake — was centered in the Celebes Sea, 250 miles south of the worst-hit land area.

"I have explained to our people they are showing the world they are capable of handling this situation by themselves," Marcos said after returning from an inspection trip to Mindanao.

Marcos said visiting Secretary-General A. Karim Gavey of the Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers had offered help for the mostly-Muslim area. However, "I told them (Gavey's party) we are handling the matter quite well ourselves."

Assistance has also been offered by the United States, Britain, China, Australia, India and New Zealand. The United States offered 15 helicopters from the carrier Tripoli, due in Manila on Monday, as well as four large cargo planes.

"The Philippine government is very thankful for offers of assistance coming from friendly sources. But the government is able at the moment to handle the situation in the calamity-stricken areas of Mindanao on its own," said a Foreign Office spokesman here.

Warm Springs retreat

Carter plans to kick off campaign on Labor Day

Art teacher lives in school

DERBY, Kan. (AP) — Vernon Edwards, a 24-year-old high school art teacher, lives in a school but not in the school where he teaches.

Edwards bought a 50-year-old building a couple of years ago and converted it into a home.

He said the hazards of buying a vintage structure — lead water pipes, poor wiring and insufficient heating — were "all true here."

He said he had to redo wiring and install an electric heating system. He said he drinks only bottled water.

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter plans to kick off his Democratic presidential campaign in Georgia, but will focus his attention from then on in California, the industrial Midwest and the Northeast, press secretary Jody Powell said Saturday.

Those areas, which look as if they will be the most hotly contested, have been designated "battleground states," Powell said in a briefing for reporters.

The states he mentioned, in addition to California, were Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, New Jersey, New York and "up into Massachusetts." Other states may be added, he said.

Although Texas and Florida will be "hotly contested" because of their size, they are not considered as crucial as the others, he indicated.

Carter said Friday that the selection of Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, rather than a Southerner, as President Ford's running mate has removed the pressure for extra Carter campaign effort in the South.

The Democratic presidential nominee has decided to formally open his campaign on Labor Day in Warm Springs, Ga., rather than in Detroit, the traditional kick-off location for Democratic presidential campaigns.

Powell explained that Warm Springs was chosen because Carter wanted to begin his campaign in Georgia and because of its ties with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A health resort, Warm Springs was a favorite vacation retreat for the polio-stricken president and was the place where he died in 1945.

The former Georgia governor decided against Michigan because it is the home state of President Ford and "we felt it would be good manners ... to begin the campaign elsewhere," Powell said.

The nominee has been spending much of his time in the last few days on the phone to Democratic leaders around the country, asking them to campaign actively for him.

Among those who have publicly promised to do so are three former Carter primary opponents: Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, and Govs.

George Wallace of Alabama and Edmund Brown Jr., of California.

Carter said Friday that Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts told him he would do all he could to help him. Another leader with whom Carter planned to talk was Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Powell said.

COUNTING HER BLESSINGS — Frances Voges, Tampa, Fla., has had to overcome a lot of crises because of her weight. She weighs 826 pounds. But in spite of it, she says, she is thankful. "God gave me so many good things. I'm not blind or crippled and I have children.

'I just love people,' Baby Frances admits

TAMPA, (AP) — Frances Voges says she's faced a lot of crises in her life as the world's fattest woman, but she always counts her blessings.

"God gave me so many good things. I'm not blind, or crippled and I have children," says the 56-year-old mother of three children.

She weighs 826 pounds. For years she worked the side shows as Baby Frances and was listed in the Guinness Book of World Records. She is, not in the current listing, she says, because she hasn't worked since her 822-pound partner, Jack Connor, died several years ago.

"I still weighed 826 pounds about four years ago. That was the last time I weighed myself and it was on the baggage scales at an airport," says Mrs. Voges.

She was the smallest of five children born to her parents. She weighed 6 pounds, 2 ounces at birth.

When she was less than a year old she almost died from whooping cough and diphtheria.

"Maybe it was the high fever but something evidently affected my pituitary gland. But the time I went to first grade, I weighed 190 pounds and was six inches bigger, around than I was tall," Mrs. Voges says.

At 14 years old she was hospitalized for tests and fed nothing but lettuce and water. "The first week I gained five pounds," she said.

When she was 16, doctors gave her six months to live. She was in labor with her first child for three weeks and unconscious for five days after delivery. Three of her children died; the other three are normal and healthy. She has been married several times.

Mrs. Voges, 5-foot-1, says her waist is 73 inches, her calves 64 inches.

At home, she has a specially made double-wide chair, but prefers using half the couch.

"When I ride on an airplane, they let my car drive right on the air strip up to the hydraulic lift by the plane," said Mrs. Voges. "There is a big square basket on the front of the lift. I stand in the basket and they lift me up to the door. Inside, they take the arm out between seats and let me have two seats."

There have been other times when unorthodox methods were used to come to her assistance.

For instance, she became ill once in Chattanooga, Tenn., and couldn't fit into an ambulance. So she was placed on top of a convertible and rushed to the hospital.

Mrs. Voges has been through several operations. In each of the crises, doctors shake their heads with doubt over her chance for survival. But she survives.

"I just love people," she said. "I guess God knew what to make me."

Claudine's trial delayed

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Claudine Longet's manslaughter trial has been postponed for four months, to Jan. 3.

District Court Judge George Lohr said the trial had to be put off from Aug. 30 because the state Supreme Court has not yet ruled on an appeal by the district attorney's office.

The office has asked the high court to overturn Lohr's earlier ruling that a diary and blood samples cannot be admitted as evidence in the case.

Miss Longet has pleaded innocent in the shooting death of pro skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich on March 23 in Aspen.

Showers dot Gulf coast

By The Associated Press
Showers and thundershowers brought cooler temperatures to the Gulf coast Saturday. The National Weather Service said that widely scattered thunderstorms extended from near Kingsville south along the Gulf coast to 100 miles along the Mexican Coast. Some thundershowers develop also southeast of Perryton in the Texas Panhandle. The forecast called for partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures Sunday with some thundershowers in East Texas and along the coastal plains.

Burton weds British model

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton and British model Susan Hunt were married in Arlington, Va., on Saturday and then flew here for a reception at the hotel where they will live while he makes a new film. The bride, ex-wife of race car driver James Hunt, wore an off-the-shoulder floral-printed pink silk dress. Burton, twice married and divorced from actress Elizabeth Taylor, telephoned Miss Taylor in Vienna to tell her that he and Mrs. Hunt were to be married, a spokesman said. Miss Taylor is filming the musical, "A Little Night Music," in Austria. Burton and Mrs. Hunt's civil wedding ceremony in Virginia was performed by Judge Francis E. Thomas Jr., who also married Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry Kissinger.

Policy for free lunches No clues disclosed at Garden City in heir fade out

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County Independent School District announces its policy for free and reduced price meals, free milk for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch Special Milk Program. Local school officials adopted a family size income criteria listed below determining eligibility. Children from families whose income is at or below the levels adopted are eligible for free or reduced-price meals or free milk. In addition, families not meeting these criteria, but with other unusual expense due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin. Under the provisions of the policy the superintendent will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Donn Stringer Box 9 Garden City, phone 354-2230, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure. Each school and the office of the superintendent has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested party.

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say they still have no clues to the mysterious disappearance of Rodney Hughes, a Texas rancher and heir to a multi-million-dollar fortune who was last seen four days ago. Hughes, 34, of Vernon, Tex., had checked into the Kennedy Airport Hilton Inn early Tuesday morning and requested a 7 a.m. wake-up call, police said. When he did not respond to the clerk's call his room was checked and found empty except for his wallet. Police said they also found specks of blood on the floor in Hughes' room but that tests to determine whether the blood belonged to Hughes were so far inconclusive. Hughes, who called his wife in Texas the morning of his disappearance, will come into a $2.5 million inheritance in eight years, according to police.

Herald seminar on classroom newspaper use set Sept. 18

Area educators are being invited to attend the Newspaper in Education seminar, a Big Spring Herald-sponsored event, which will be held in the Science Building of Howard College starting at 8 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 18. A similar seminar, then known as The Living Textbook Conference, was staged here last year. Purpose of the conference is to acquaint registrants with the Newspaper in Education program being considered by many educators to be one of the most effective innovations in education in the last decade. In small group sessions, those attending will be introduced to the numerous possibilities of enriching his or her instructional program through the use of the daily newspaper. Leaders in the course will be Dr. J. Rodney Short, Denton, and Beverly Dickerson, Odessa. Dr. Short has been involved with or taught students from early childhood through the Ph.D. level. He is director of the NIE graduate seminar held each summer at Texas Woman's University in Denton. Ms. Dickerson, an earth scientist and teacher, has used the newspaper in elementary school, remedial English courses and in adult and special education classes. She has presented numerous workshops for teachers on the use of the daily newspaper. Gene Kimble, circulation manager of the Herald, will serve as host of the seminar. J. Tom Graham, Herald publisher, will welcome the group at 9 a.m. The seminar will end about noon, giving registrants plenty of time to return to their homes. Getting special invitations to attend the seminar will be instructors from Colorado City, Westbrook, Coahoma, Forsan, Garden City, Stanton, Grady, Klondike, Sands, Lamesa and Borden County.

Transsexual perplexed by East-West treatment

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Renee Richards, the transsexual tennis player, won her first-round match at the Tennis Week Open Saturday, besting Cathy Beene of Houston 6-0, 6-2, in 46 minutes.

Dr. Richards, 42, who underwent sex-change surgery last year, took 16 minutes to win the first set before the half-filled stadium center court at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Miss Beene, 24, a former national collegiate doubles champion, won six points in the first set.

At 3-1 in the second set, Dr. Richards, sweating profusely in temperatures over 90 degrees, began to slow down, losing her only service of the day.

But then Miss Beene, who double-faulted 11 times in the match, lost her service.

The entry of Dr. Richards here led to the withdrawal of 25 women players. Many of the dropouts said they did not feel Dr. Richards should compete in a women's event.

Portions of the match were to be shown later Saturday on ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports."

After the match, Dr. Richards said her immediate objective "is to pursue my rights to play in women's tournaments because it is a right I am entitled to as a woman, like any other woman."

A few tournaments in southern California are next on her schedule.

Dr. Richards, who lived in New York when she was Dr. Richard Raskind, said tournament officials in California "are all supporting me, which is an ironic thing, since I've only lived there for eight months.

"They have embraced me totally, whereas back East, with the exception of South Orange, I've been denied the right to play at Forest Hills, and I was brought up in Forest Hills," she said.

In reply to a question, Dr. Richards, who stands 6-foot-2, said her message to the women who refused to play here was "that they shouldn't be afraid of me as a two-headed monster nor as a giant-killer that can't lose to other women."

"I've lost to other women before. I'm a normal woman just like they are," she said.

Cowboys pummel Lions

MEMPHIS (AP) — Rookie quarterback Danny White, playing before a 30,340 at Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium, hit Ferguson on 13 and 8 yard passes to carry the Cowboys to a 1-3 preseason record.

Detroit fell to their third defeat in four outings.

White, a former quarterback for the Memphis Grizzlies of the defunct World Football League, now plays backup to Cowboy starter Roger Staubach.

Staubach played the first half, giving the Cowboys a 13-9 advantage before White took control.

But the Lions struck midway in the third on a 67-yard screen pass from quarterback Greg Landry to runningback Lawrence Gaines to take a 16-13 lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, rookie wide receiver Butch Johnson returned the ball 89 yards to give the Cowboys the lead for good.

The Cowboys' kicker Efen Herrera added field goals of 42 and 31 yards.

The Lions, designated the home team, opened scoring at 9:53 into the first quarter on a 47-yard romp by runningback Dexter Bussey over right tackle.

Their only other scores came from a 10-yard sack of Staubach for a safety.

Snead, Massengale share lead

(AP WIREPHOTO)

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Rik Massengale blew a two-stroke lead with a double bogey five on the 17th hole Saturday and let big J.C. Snead move into a share of the top spot in the third round of the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open Golf Tournament.

"I don't care about that," said Snead, a former pro baseball player and a five-time winner on the pro golf tour. "I don't wish anybody any bad luck. Let 'em all play good."

Then he paused and grinned.

"Just let me play a little better."

Snead had a two-under-par 69 in the steamy, muggy heat and tied Massengale with a 54-hole total of 200, 13 under par on the 6,598-yard Wethersfield Country Club course which, as usual, yielded some of the lowest scores of the year. The leaders' total matched the lowest three-round score of the year.

Massengale, who had led the first two rounds with a pair of 65s, could do no better than one-under-par 70 in Saturday's third round. The double bogey was the key to the whole thing. He missed the green to the left, chipped well beyond the pin and then three-putted, missing from about 1 1/2 feet on the second one.

It appeared to be a two-man race for the title.

"I can't shoot good enough to catch those guys," said Lee Trevino, whose 66 lifted him into the group tied for third at 204. Also at that figure, four shots back, were Chi Chi Rodriguez, Al Geiberger, Mac McLendon and Bobby Wadkins. Wadkins had a 67, Geiberger and Rodriguez 68s and McLendon a 69 in the muggy heat.

At 205, eight under par and five shots back, were Hubert Green, Barry Jaeckel, John Schlee, George Archer and Gay Brewer. Jaeckel shot 66, Green 67, Archer 68, Schlee 69 and Brewer 70.

Masters champ Ray Floyd had 67-207 and Arnold Palmer, who received a standing ovation when he marched to the 18th green, could do no better than a 74-212.

Rangers rack Tribe

ARLINGTON (AP) — Gaylord Perry fired a seven-hitter for his 15th complete game of the season in pitching the Texas Rangers to a 5-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday night.

Perry, 12-10, benefited from a 12-hit Ranger attack. The Rangers scored twice in the first with the aid of Mike Hargrove's bad-hop single. Danny Thompson led off with a single and moved to second when Toby Harrah walked.

The Rangers went ahead, 3-2, in the fifth when Juan Beniquez doubled and scored on Jim Sundberg's single. Texas got two more in the sixth on a run-scoring triple by Tom Grieve and Beniquez' second double of the game.

Cleveland's Boog Powell

continued to hammer Ranger pitching, collecting a solo homer in the seventh. It was his seventh homer of the season and fourth against the Rangers. He has slammed five homers in the last 10 days.

Taiwan wins LL Series

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Taiwan pitchers Yung-Chang Chang and Chung-Yung Lee combined Saturday night for a one-hit, 4-0 shutout of Broward County for the Big League Little League World Series title.

It was the third title in as many attempts for the Taiwanese in the World Series for boys aged 16-18. They have won all 12 Series games they have played, including four in this year's double elimination event.

Taiwan pitchers have given up only three runs in three years, including two runs last Sunday in a 7-2 victory over USA West.

Right-hander Chang worked the first two innings and southpaw Lee the final five for Taiwan.

'The Bird' is human

By The Associated Press

Mark "The Bird" Fidrych is human — and beatable.

The Minnesota Twins mauled the Detroit rookie pitching sensation Saturday for four runs in the 10th inning Saturday to beat the Tigers 7-3.

"It's hard to believe," said Fidrych, shaking his head and mumbling almost to himself. "Seven runs...seven earned runs. It's hard to believe."

Fidrych, 14.5, went into the game with a major league-leading 1.97 earned run average. He had never given up more than four runs.

With the bases loaded, Fidrych hit Dan Ford to force in the go-ahead run. Butch Wynegar followed with a two-run single and Lyman Bostock added a run-scoring double for Minnesota.

In other American League games played Saturday afternoon, Boston defeated Oakland 5-2, Kansas City downed Milwaukee 6-2 and the Chicago White Sox outlasted Baltimore 11-10 in 12 innings.

In a National League day game, Montreal was at San Francisco.

In night contests, California was at New York and Cleveland at Texas in AL play. In NL games, the Chicago Cubs played at Cincinnati, Houston was at Philadelphia, Atlanta at St. Louis, the New York Mets at San Diego and Pittsburgh at Los Angeles.

Carl Yastrzemski drove home two runs with a pair of doubles, the 485th and 486th of his career, to pace the Boston Red Sox to their victory over the Oakland A's in a nationally televised game.

Bill Stein singled off the third base bag, scoring Jim Essian with the winning run as the Chicago White Sox nipped Baltimore in a 12-inning slugfest. Three hits each by Rupert Jones and Amos Otis, and George Brett's two runs batted in paced Kansas City over Milwaukee.

Larry Herndon stroked a two-out RBI single in the 16th inning to give the San Francisco Giants a 5-4 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Par four, 365-yard, hole 14's fairway is flat for 150 yards from the tee-box then it runs into a 20-yard wide gully where it begins a gradual rise to the green which has a few trees on either side.

The fairway slopes to the left. There is a dirt road running alongside the right side of the fairway with an out-of-bounds area beyond the road.

This hole is the beginning of what the local golfers call "THE TURN," THE BIRDIE HOLES. If a golfer doesn't birdie a couple of the last five holes he's usually in trouble.

This is an easy hole. With the wind, a good drive can get you within a wedge — sometimes half-wedge — approach shot. Against the wind, you may need a seven-iron to reach the green.

Play your drive to the right, because of the leftward sloping fairway, but not too far to the right. There is a big tree to the right about 50-yards past the gully.

Senior citizen bowling planned

A senior citizen's league, something that has never been tried before in Big Spring, is being planned by the Big Spring Bowling Association for the upcoming season. Only bowlers 55-years old and older will be eligible to join. Anyone interested in becoming a member should attend a membership meeting Friday night 7:00 in the Bowl-A-Rama conference room. Once the league is organized the Senior League will be bowling Friday evenings at 6:00 at Bowl-A-Rama Lanes. Yanks clip Angels. Rusty Torres cracked a solo home run in the 10th inning to give the California Angels and relief pitcher Mickey Scott a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday night. The Yankees tied the game in the fourth on Oscar Gamble's 14th home run of the season, a three-run shot.

No PEE-WEE football league for Big Spring this year, league officials say. Because of Title IX and other new sports programs being introduced into the local school system there was not enough time to get the Pee-Wee program organized.

Big Spring athletic director Don Robbins said the Pee-Wee program had depended largely on parents for funding in the past, but beginning in 1977 he said it would become part of the school's athletic budget.

"Except for last year, when the city helped some, the parents have had to fund everything," Robbins said. "Next year, though, we're going to make the Pee-Wee League part of the school's football program. And I'm going to see to it, that the program will be one of the best in the state."

"We're going to convert to the open field, across from the American Little League Park, into a football field marked and sized for Pee-Wee Football. Our budget will take care of uniforms, equipment, officials and maintaining the field."

Pee-Wee League officials said they would concentrate their efforts this season on backing the Steers, "because our players will be future Steers."

THANKS TO Earnest and Lucille Richter of Coahoma there is no shortage of coaches in Texas. Their three sons, who all played four years of football for the Coahoma Bulldogs and then four more years for Sul Ross St. University, are all coaching this year.

They are Dewayne, Dean and Don Richter. Dewayne, 32, is an assistant coach and an assistant principal at Forney High School, a 2-A school east of Dallas. This is his second season at Forney. Previously he coached two years at Alpine and two years at Crane. He and his wife Alice have three sons, Alex, 6, Mark, 5, and Jeff, 4.

Dean, 25, gets his first taste of the whistle this season at Castleberry in Fort Worth. He will be the junior high coach for the district 4-A school.

He and his wife Kathy have two children, Terry 6, and Sarah, 4.

Don, 23, and his wife Susie live in Hart where he is beginning his second year as an assistant coach. Hart High School is a class A between Plainview and Dimmitt. He coached one year at Plainview, a 4-A school.

The Richters' daughter, Linda, didn't stray from the trend. She married R. L. Coates, who also played four years of football for Coahoma and is now beginning his third year of assistance to Bernie Haggins, a former Coahoma coach, at Lockhart High School.

They have two sons, Dale, 5, and Mathew, 3.

Lets see... the Richters have six grandsons so far, there shouldn't be a shortage of coaches in Texas for quite a spell.

GARDEN CITY traveled to Grandfalls Friday to scrimmage last year's District 10-B champions and played them to a scoreless draw.

Right defensive end Dale Hillger led the Bearkat defense with seven tackles. The Bearkats were in man-to-man pass coverage and intercepted three passes. Larry Batla, Garry Batla and Tim Derrick each had an interception.

Wayne Hirt, the quarterback, led the team in rushing. This Friday the Bearkats scrimmage Ozona in Garden City.

THE MIDLAND Centraal YMCA will hold its annual Football School August 23-28. Once again the clinic will be conducted by former Baltimore Colt player Aubrey Linne.

Many team coaches will be present to assist Linne as he works with the youngsters, teaching basic fundamentals, team play and the philosophy of YMCA football. The extended length of the school will provide increased time for attention to each boy's needs.

NOT ON THE basis of half a season, not even on one regular season game, but just from the results of one half of an exhibition game Bob Oates (in the Aug. 21 issue of The Sporting News) concludes that Seattle is the "classiest of the two expansion teams."

Okay, I'll be fair to Oates he said the Seahawks second half play against the San Francisco 49ers "suggested" the Seahawks had more class than the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

But, even that is ridiculous. The entire exhibition schedule is next to worthless when it comes to evaluating what the season will bring. To give any weight to what a team trailing 24-0 at half does against the other team's scrubs in the second half is the epitome of folly.

Not that Oates column won't serve a purpose. Ten to one Buccaneer coach John McKay already has it pinned to the team bulletin board. McKay's many triumphs, while at USC, over Notre Dame, UCLA and bowl foes suggests he never misses a trick when it comes to winning the big game.

And the only BIG game the infant Bucs and Seahawks will have this season will be their engagement against one another.

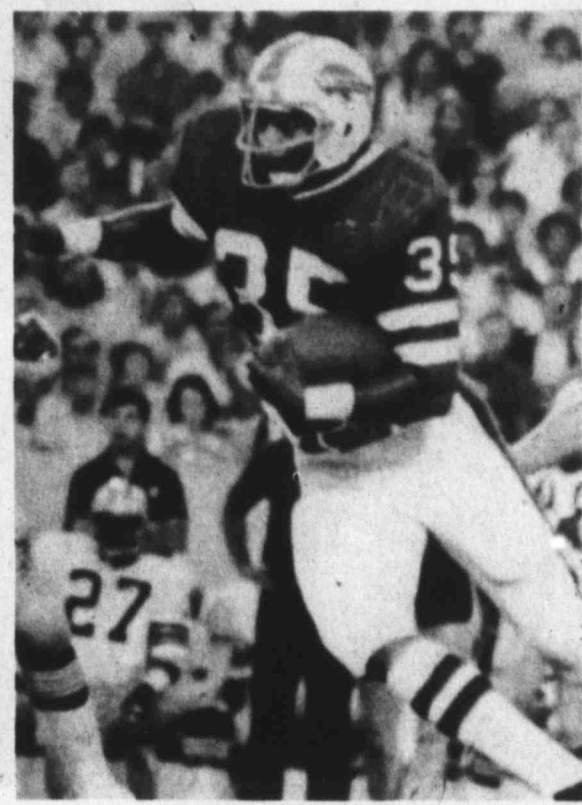

4,600 MILES LATER — Reba Costlow, 25-year-old Dallas, Tex., registered nurse, rests beside her bike at her home after completing the bike ride from Astoria, Oregon, to Williamsburg, Va., in 74 days. In the Bicenennial, she was permitted 5 rest days and had to carry all camping equipment with her. She averaged 60 miles per day.

Winners running wild

GIANT GAINER — New York Giants running back Marsh White (24) finds a hole between Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive end John Banaszak (76) and cornerback Mel Blount (47) to pick up a first down during first period action in their pre-season football game in Pittsburgh Friday night. The Giants beat the Steelers, 17-0.

Namath leads Jets past Oilers 27-24

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Namath threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Jerome Barkum and Pat Leahy hit three field goals Saturday night to lead the New York Jets to a 27-24 National Football League exhibition victory over the winless Houston Oilers.

The Oilers blew a chance to send the game into overtime when Skip Butler missed a 35-yard field goal with 20 seconds left.

Namath engineered the Jets to a 13-10 halftime lead. He hit Barkum on a third down play at the corner of the end zone and then helped set up Leahy's field goals of 31 and 21 yards in the second quarter.

The Oilers, losing for the fourth time in preseason, scored in the first quarter on a four-yard run by Ronnie Coleman and in the second period on Skip Butler's 20-yard field goal.

Oiler running back Robert Holmes was tackled in the end zone for a safety in the third quarter and the Jets' Louie Giammona ran one yard for a fourth quarter touchdown to lift the Jets to a 22-10 lead.

The Oilers got their final score in the last two minutes when Pastorini passed seven yards to Burrough following a 38-yard punt return by Ken Ellis.

Golfers look ahead to ATC qualifier

WEBB AFB — When the ABCD tourney gets underway tomorrow morning on the Webb links, many of the base par busters will be thinking about next week and the Air Training Command qualifier.

The top hackers on base will be using tomorrow's 9 a.m. event to tune up for the 36-hole tourney, Aug. 28 and 29, that selects the top four golfers for the command competition.

The qualifier is open to all military golfers with a 10 or under handicap. The top four finishers in medal play will make up the Webb contingent that will travel to Lackland AFB, Tex., for the 72-hole ATC championships, Sept. 9-12.

Two senior division spots and one women's spot will also be up for grabs. There is no handicap limitation for entry into these divisions.

Last season, Webb's Michelle Chabot won the women's tourney by a whopping 23 strokes, while the men's team finished eighth in the 15 team field. The highest individual finish was turned in by Tom Pettegrew who came in 11th. Both Chabot and Pettegrew are no longer here.

On Labor Day weekend, the base championships will be held. The qualifier should sort out the favorites for that test. The lowest 36-hole scratch score will determine the base champion with first, second and third place trophies to be awarded in four handicap flights.

Duster tryouts soon

WEBB AFB — Tryouts for this year's Duster basketball squad will begin Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. in the base gym.

Coach "Smiley" Williams claims all positions are open and invites any eager willing to work for a winning team to show up at the practices.

Although the season opener isn't till mid-October, Coach Williams has already lined up regular scrimmages against Howard College' so, his chargers will get plenty of action before the season tipoff.

Sabers favored in UPT tourney

WEBB AFB — If statistics mean anything, the Sabers should win this weekend's UPT soccer tournament and the Hot Sticks will be second.

The unbeaten Sabers have the top offensive unit in the league averaging 4.6 goals per game. The defense has allowed only three goals in six games.

Their season record is, 5-0-1.

The top challenge should come from the undefeated, untied Hot Sticks. The Hot Sticks are averaging 3.3 goals per game on offense while allowing only one goal in their three outings this season.

Both the Little Red and Dirty Dozen have a shot at the title, but, it is doubtful if they can stop the high powered offenses of the Sabers and Hot Sticks. The Little Red have won four and lost one going into tournament play. In five games they have scored 16 goals while allowing four goals by their opponents. The Dirty Dozen have been averaging 2.4 goals per game offensively enroute to a 5-0-2 record. Opposing teams have scored a total of six goals against them.

The playoffs begin tomorrow at 8:30 a.m., on the base soccer field. The Sabers will play the Little Red in the opener with the Hot Sticks slated to go against the Dirty Dozen at 9:30 a.m.

The championship game is set for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Coach, stars graduated

UCLA: Not very rosy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Rose Bowl victory over Ohio State gave UCLA's 1975 football team a 9-2-1 record and a ranking as the fifth best team in the United States but the Bruins would rather not be put on the spot in 1976.

Quarterback John Sciarra and two of his top offensive linemen, Randy Cross and Phil McKinnely, and defensive ace Cliff Frazier have graduated and Coach Dick Vermeil has left for the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles. But the man who'll take over for Sciarra says UCLA didn't make it to the forefront of college football in one year.

"We're still just gaining round," said articulate Jeff Dankworth. "We have a lot of young people who got their first taste of what it's like to be in a Rose Bowl game. Heck, we're only picked to be third in our own conference."

Yet the Pacific-8's defending champion has a lot of talent back from 1975 including its top ground gainer, Wendell Tyler, its best tight end, Ricky Walker and Don Pederson, and the bulk of a defense which was maligned at the start of last year but came on to play exceptionally well.

"We'll run the Veer again," said Dankworth, but he added there was a slight change: "there will be a difference in the way the quarterback handles the ball."

"Under Pepper Rodgers, the quarterback kept the ball until he was just about to get destroyed and then he flipped it off to one of his backs. This year I'm going to get rid of it a little faster — which is to give credit to our great backs."

Tyler, a 5-foot-10, 188-pounder, gained 1,388 yards last year despite playing seven games with a severely sprained left wrist which was heavily wrapped in tape. "Nobody knew the agony I was in," he said. "It'll be more fun without worrying about the wrist this year."

Tyler has gained 2,178 yards in two seasons and needs just 317 more to break the school career rushing record set by Kermit Johnson between 1971 and 1973.

New Coach Terry Donahue was UCLA's offensive line coach last year, and he turned the front five into a swift, potent group. This year he has a massive rebuilding job to do in that same area.

On defense, however, UCLA appears to have the makings of a brick wall.

Returning are safeties Oscar Edwards and Pat Schmidt, tackles Manu Tuiaosopo and Pete Pele — both of Samoan descent — and linebackers Raymond Burks and Jerry Robinson. All were starters last year. All are very fast.

Up the middle the Bruins appears strong, too. Mitch Kahn is a veteran center who was second team All-West Coast last year. Alongside Tyler is Theotis Brown at the other halfback spot, with fleet Wally Henry back at the spot from which he caught 17 passes in the run-oriented offense last year.

If Donahue can manufacture an offensive line, UCLA could challenge Southern California and California for the Pac-8 title.

Need Thunder head

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Don Batie abruptly announced his resignation Saturday as head coach of the San Antonio Thunder of the North American Soccer League.

Batie told team officials he will resume immediately his former duties as head coach with Chico State University in California.

The 33-year-old Batie had a commitment to coach at Chico this fall and then was expected to return to the Thunder next spring if his contract was renewed by club owner Ward Lay.

For fish, wildlife restoration

Texas receives $2.2 million

AUSTIN — Texas will be in line for a preliminary apportionment of nearly $2.25 million in federal funds during the next fiscal year for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs. That figure represents first payment to Texas based on the excise tax collected from the sale of sporting goods to hunters and fishermen around the state.

A total of $2,235,800, half of the total federal fund allocation expected for Texas during fiscal year 1977, will be coming to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department from the Department of the Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service.

These funds come to the states on a reimbursable basis; that is, they are paid back to states after the funds have been allocated and spent. The federal government reimburses state fish and wildlife agencies up to 75 per cent of their expenditures on approved projects.

Nationally, the federal agency will distribute more than $46 million in federal aid. Texas will receive the largest share of funds to operate existing fish and wildlife projects, as well as the hunter safety education program.

Texas is due $1,656,000 for wildlife restoration, $425,000 for fish restoration projects, and $145,800 for hunter safety education.

Research aimed at determining status of various game species, population surveys and development of management activities are covered under federal aid funding. Much of this research is used in the development of means and methods as well as length of season and bag limit on the various game species in the state.

Wildlife restoration funds are derived from a 10 per cent excise tax on handguns and an 11 per cent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition.

P&WD fish restoration projects will receive an estimated $900,000 in federal aid next fiscal year. They are derived from a 10 per cent excise tax on fishing rods, reels, creels, artificial baits, lures and flies.

These excise tax monies are collected by the federal government during the previous fiscal year and distributed to states the following year in two lump sum payments.

The second installment will come to Texas in December, after the 1976 fiscal year tax receipts are tallied.

Federal aid funds for wildlife restoration are distributed according to a formula based on hunting license holders and the area of each state. State population figures are used to apportion hunter safety monies. Fish restoration funds come to Texas based on the number of sport fishing license holders and size of the state.

'BIG FISH' Program encourages anglers

AUSTIN — Posters encouraging anglers to submit their lunker catches to a "Big Fish Awards" program, now in reach of more people because of reduced minimum weights, have been sent to all currently bonded license agents for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Announcing, "Fishermen! Enter Your Big Fish Here," the signs in red ink on yellow cardboard are intended for window or counter display at all stores and businesses where Texas hunting and fishing licenses are sold.

Dealers also received 10 copies of a new application form for a "Certificate of Fishing Merit" award. The program is explained on one side of the sheet, along with eligible species and minimum pounds shown as: Black bass, 7; crappie, 3; white bass, 3; striped bass, 15; striped-white bass hybrid, 6; channel cat, 12; blue cat, 35; flathead cat, 50; walleye, 6; rainbow and brown trout, 2; spotted seatrout, 7; redfish from gulf waters, 25; black drum, 35; and southern flounder, 6.

Anyone catching fish as large or larger since Jan. 1, 1974, may apply for a fishing merit certificate by using the new forms. All fish entered must have been taken by hook and line (including trotlines, cane poles, throw lines, etc.) in Texas water and been hooked, fought and landed by the applicant.

Also required is length and weight of the fish, certified by the angler and attested by a witness.

A cover letter from P&WD Executive Director Clayton T. Garrison stated to license dealers, "We are optimistic that the fishermen will enjoy this program and that resulting data will effect better fishing programs for the State of Texas. If you share our optimism, the program is sure to be a success!"

Bob Kemp, P&WD fisheries director, said that the program provides a census of top-quality fish taken in virtually all Texas waters. "We can plot on a map those fisheries which are producing the best catches, investigate why they do and, hopefully, seek to better manage the fishing in waters which prove to be less productive."

"This way, anglers not only get a big fish to photograph, mount or eat, but also a certificate they can frame. And we get valuable information which would be almost impossible to collect by any other means."

Persons with catches which qualify, but who cannot locate applications forms, may write directly to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Freshwater fishing worth $650 million

AUSTIN — Based on economic impact, freshwater fishing in Texas is more than just leisure, it's big business.

Information collected by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department estimates fishermen spent up to $650 million on fishing trips in the state in 1975. That total includes expenditures for gas, bait, lodging and food, boats and fishing tackle.

P&WD inland fisheries officials arrived at the figure by estimating that each angler spends some $10 per day on freshwater fishing. In 1975, approximately 3.2 million freshwater anglers totaled some 65 million man-days of fishing in Texas.

Up to $350 million was spent in fishing the state's many reservoirs. The remaining $300 million was spent by stream and farm pond fishermen.

The BIG SPRING HERALD

is pleased to announce the

LIVING TEXTBOOK Conference

Use of the daily newspaper in the classroom

SEPTEMBER 18, 1976

Howard College Science Building

J. Rodney Short

Beverly Dickerson

The Big Spring Herald Educational Services Department and Howard College invite educators from all areas and levels of education to attend the 1976 "Living Textbook" Conference.

The "Living Textbook" program is considered by many to be one of the most effective innovation in education.

The Objective of the "Living Textbook" Conference is to introduce classroom teachers to the many possibilities of enriching their instructional program through the use of the daily newspaper.

Registration for the conference from 8:00 to 9:00 a.m. in Science Building on the campus of Howard College.

The program will start in the Science Building at 9:00 a.m. with Mrs. Beverly Dickerson and Mr. J. Rodney Short.

There will be no fee charged to the educators who attend this conference. Please mail reservation below today

Recipes with Reagan

AUSTIN — More and more Texans soon should be having success fishing for walleye, stocked in many state lakes by the Parks and Wildlife Department.

But don't stop only at the pleasure of catching this fighting fish. The P&WD reports it to be excellent eating, and suggests this recipe with a gourmet flourish:

- Several walleye filets
- 1 cup condensed celery soup
- 1/4 cup cream
- 1/4 cup cooking sherry
- grated parmesan cheese
- salt and pepper

Dip filets in melted butter and season to taste with salt and pepper; place in shallow baking pan. Mix celery soup with cream and sherry. Cover filets with mixture, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake for 30 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Within a year, walleye are expected to weigh about a pound in Lakes Cedar Creek, Arlington, Garpevine, Palestine, Lavon, Ray Hubbard, and Texoma. P&WD biologists and technicians reared and stocked more than 20 million walleye fry and fingerlings in those lakes this spring.

Current state walleye record is eight pounds 14 ounces for a fish caught in Lake Meredith in 1972. In time, this is expected to be surpassed.

State biologists hope that, as well as their recreational value, walleye will fill an ecological niche in lakes and feed on rough fish in large, open waters.

Texas libraries given books about heritage

The Howard County Library has received four books, a gift of the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art and the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities (TCAH). The four-volume set of books — containing three with Bicentennial titles and one relating directly to Texas artistic heritage — will be distributed to 375 public and regional libraries throughout the state. Included in the museum package are: "The Image of America in Caricature and Cartoon," "The Face of Liberty," "The Stripes and Stars," and "The Artist was a Young Man." "The Face of Liberty" contains biographies of portrait painters and their sitters. The book also describes the American Revolution as a conjunction of historical and creative influences. "The Stripes and Stars" is the evolution of the American flag. All four books are published by the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art.

STILL LIFE TO LIVEN DECOR — Connie Ramirez (right) of the Howard County Library staff helps Carol Stephens pick an art print to add color to a room. The Friends of the Library have obtained more prints for patrons to borrow, including this one by Ida Pelli. It is called "The Yellow Tulips."

see the beautiful new additions to the art print collection.

However, with the highly developed photographic and printing processes of today, most can enjoy the works of well-known artists through reproductions. Not only does the library have a good selection of still lifes, landscapes and seascapes, but the works are representative of impressionism, expressionism, abstraction, realism, representationalism, and primitivism.

For $1.50, a fee which goes to the friends, patrons may borrow a print for six weeks. The still lifes by Harnett and Burroughs are so detailed and realistic that one can almost reach into the painting and retrieve jugs, candlesticks and other objects.

"BLUEBONNET TIME" by Salinas, a painter of the Texas hill country, and "The World Was All Before Them" by Russell, one of America's greatest Western artists, will be two sure favorites. Other new paintings in the collection are by such famous artists as Chagall, Matisse, Monet, Picasso, Gauguin, Inness and Sargent. Come by the Howard County Library and Kojak 'bad' when he was kid NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Telly Savalas says he models his television character "Kojak" after a policeman who helped keep him in line while growing up on the Lower East Side.

"Sure, I was bad when I was a kid," Savalas told reporters at New York Police Headquarters during a visit Friday. "Nothing serious, and a cop would give me a boot and send me home to my family." Savalas, who was given a plaque for doing commercials designed to enlist police volunteers, was asked how his television character acquired his yen for lollipops. "Glad you asked," he replied. "The way I figured it is that Kojak is not the kind of a guy who would suck on a lollipop. But for a chick he would do anything. So we figured that a meter maid somewhere is around who wants him to stop smoking. Sucking a lollipop is a pacifier."

He cannot stir in conservatives hearts the ardor that burned for Ron

Ford must have 'right' armies working for him

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In the tensions and struggles of the Republican National Convention, one of President Ford's campaign problems is etched sharply: He cannot stir in conservative hearts the ardor that burned for Ronald Reagan, but he must have the armies of the Republican right at work for his ticket.

In the four days of the 31st Republican National Convention, Ford men had the votes, but Reaganites had the zeal. And that zeal is what motivates a campaign volunteer to do the dull, hard, unpaid labor of any campaign.

The conservatives can, and did, speak the ritual vows of Republican unity behind the ticket. But pledges of support won't get the envelopes stuffed, the doorbells rung, the precinct lists checked, the leaflets distributed, the GOP vote out on election day.

Those are the labors that can tip an election. The Ford-Jimmy Carter race looks one-sided now, but both nominees say the gap will narrow now that the President has his Republican nomination.

Among Democrats, the detail work frequently is handled by the forces of organized labor. Among Republicans, there are no more effective nuts-and-bolts campaign workers than the conservatives.

Ford invoked the spirit of Harry S. Truman, patron saint of the uphill campaigner, to stake his claim of coming victory in the Nov. 2 election, no mind what the polls and the pundits may say.

The President, a Truman fan nominated in the city of Truman, aimed the first major address of his campaign at the average American, sitting at home.

"It is from your ranks that I come and on your side I stand," he said in Thursday night's acceptance speech. "And I predict right now that the American people are going to say, 'Jerry, you've done a good job. Keep right on doing it.'"

To get them to say that, Ford will need the active help of the Republican party's best foot soldiers, and many of them are the conservatives who worked, and wept, for Ronald Reagan.

The risk to Ford now is not like that of Truman's 1948 campaign, when the left and the right wings of the Democratic party split off and ran candidates of their own.

A group of Young Americans for Freedom, among the most ardent of conservative factions, chanted "Third party, third party" for a while at the convention's closing night. There were only about 20 of them, despite tentative plans for a conservative meeting to talk about a bolt, it seems unlikely such a move could go anywhere.

As Rep. Robert Baumann of Maryland, conservative as they come, told the convention:

"There are those who say we need a third party. I say to you what we need is a good second party, and this is it."

Baumann said the Republican struggle was between two conservatives, not between the left and the right.

Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina, one of the favorites of the right, a Reagan supporter who pushed harder than his candidate for tough, conservative language in the platform, spoke out for the ticket.

He praised the platform as a good one, a strong one, also hailed the selection of Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas as Ford's vice presidential nominee.

Reagan said that if a third party is to be considered, it should not be now, just prior to an election, but after Nov.

2, if the Republicans lose.

At Ford's invitation, Reagan had the last word, the final speech, of the convention, and it was all that the President could have asked from his beaten challenger.

"... We've got to quit talking to each other and about each other," said Reagan. "... We must go forth from here, united, determined and what a great general said a few years ago is true: there is no substitute for victory."

Reagan, too, stressed the party platform, "a banner of bold, unmistakable colors." For his supporters, with Ford's agreement, had colored it conservative, particularly on the issue of American policy toward the Soviet Union.

Indeed, during the week of preparatory sessions and the four convention days, it seemed he wanted — except the one thing he really wanted, the presidential nomination.

Only on points that directly affected that prize did Ford and his strategists resist Reagan.

After they won the test that foretold the nomination, on Reagan's effort to compel Ford to announce in advance who would be running with him, the President put out the word to cool it, go along, get along.

For hours, Ford representatives tried to negotiate a compromise on a platform amendment that unmistakably criticized administration policies of détente. The language, which Reagan proposed, could have come from one of his campaign speeches. And Reagan men, led by Helms, refused to budge on the platform issue.

There was a dispute in the Ford camp over what to do. At one point, the President wanted to fight the Reagan amendment.

But Tarzan, Ford's code name on his team's convention communications network, changed his mind, left the tactics to his floor managers.

Early Wednesday morning, word went out over the walkie talkies: Ford's floor managers and whips were to stop talking to newsmen about the foreign policy amendment. "We've caved in," said one of them. And the Reagan amendment was adopted without a Ford fight, in the name of party unity.

There was more to it. Ford's strategists did not want to risk a vote they feared they might lose, on an issue that was one of Reagan's strongest during the primary campaign.

No matter, the cover served the real interest of the President. His nomination was assured Tuesday night, sealed on Wednesday, 1,187 votes to 1,069 for Reagan, but closer than Republicans had seen in 24 years.

Then, the narrow verdict went to Dwight D. Eisenhower, a national hero both parties had tried to recruit as a sure thing for the White House.

Now, the split decision belongs to a president by appointment, the leader of a minority party, the far-back trailer in polls against Jimmy Carter.

At convention hall, there was warmth in the cheers and ovals for Ford. But there was fire in the battle cries for Reagan, even in the chants that sounded when finally, in defeat, he made his appearance in the stands Thursday night.

As the delegates disbanded on Friday, the enthusiasm gap was showing. In an Associated Press survey, more than 80 per cent of the delegates who supported Reagan said they would vote for the Ford-Dole ticket, but many of them said their personal efforts now will be concentrated on GOP candidates at home, not on the national ticket.

"There's an awful lot of bitterness right now," said L.E. Thomas of Panama City, Fla., Reagan's state campaign manager there. "But when they think about the alternatives, most of them will have to come around."

Thomas said Reagan supporters would work more diligently in the fall had the former California governor been on Ford's ticket.

Reagan said he would not accept that nomination. He also confirmed that the President did not offer it to him.

"I'm going back to my garden," said Helen A. Turnell of Salem, Ore. "I'll vote for Ford, but only because Carter is worse."

"Oh, I'll vote for him, but I don't know whether I'll do any work," said Mona Hinman of Kremmling, Colo. That is the mood Ford needs to crack.

Reagan pledged to work for the President's election, and said that if the Republicans lose, there should be "a reassessment of where we go and how we put that great new majority together."

Then he went home to his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif.

Ford, in yet another gesture toward the conservative challenger, said he thinks Republicans should consider the advance disclosure of vice presidential nominees, now that it is not at issue in a contest over presidential nomination.

Reagan had named his vice presidential choice, Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, long before the convention, in a tactical maneuver that was part of his campaign to beat Ford.

The President withheld his until Thursday noon, after using the selection as part of his own strategy.

Incidentally, Schweiker got two votes for the vice president nomination when the convention ratified Dole.

Anyhow, Ford told the Republican National Committee Friday that a rule like Reagan's should be considered for 1980.

As if to spread some icing on the unity cake, Dole said that Reagan had suggested him to Ford for the vice presidential nomination.

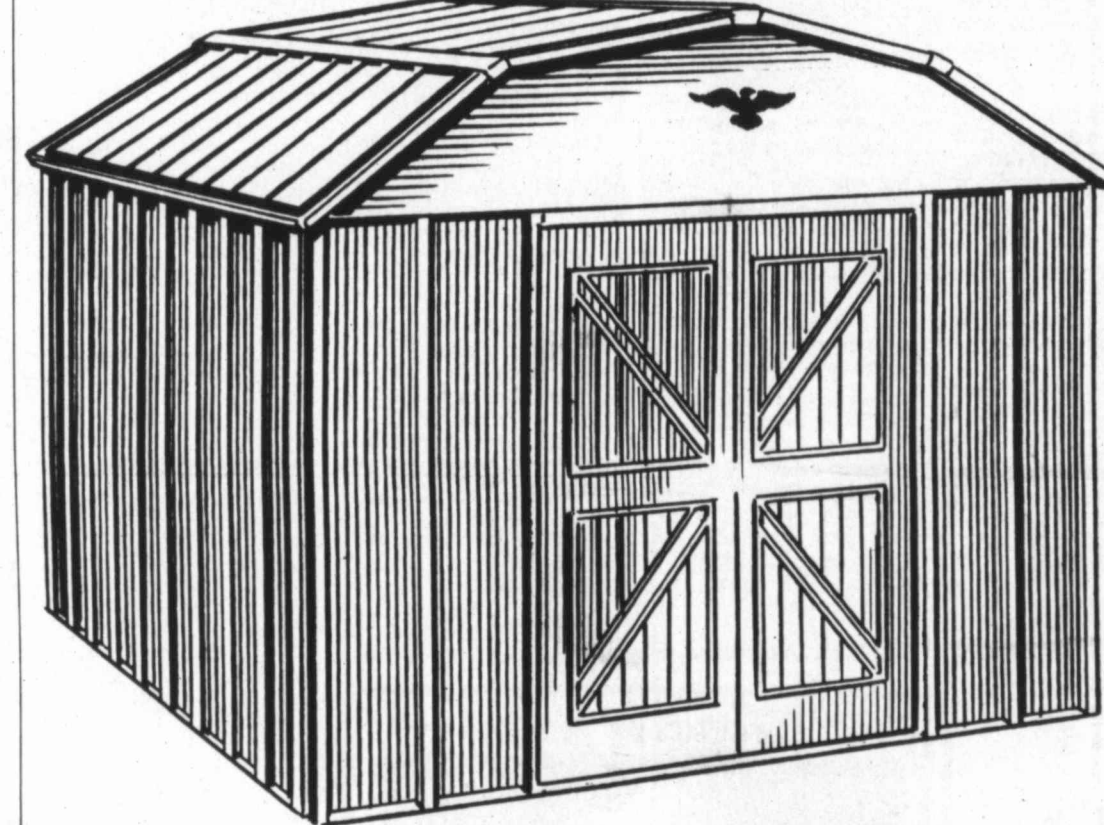

Ford said earlier that Reagan had endorsed his selection.

He had discussed it with the challenger by telephone Thursday morning, hours after an unusual, early-morning visitation upon the Californian he had just defeated for nomination.

The echo of Reagan's campaign even was evident in Ford's challenge to Carter to meet in debate.

Megaphone reporters invited to meeting

Area students named by their school administrators to serve as reporters for the Megaphone, a school page which appears each Sunday in The Herald, are being invited to attend an 11 a.m. meeting at The Herald next Saturday.

Plans call for the first Megaphone to appear Sept. 5.

The routine for submission of articles, the type of news most welcome in the publication and other pertinent information will be discussed during the session.

School news from Big Spring High School, Goliad Junior High, Rannels Junior High, Borden County, Forsan, Coahoma, Sands, Garden City, Stanton, Grady and Westbrook will be printed in the Megaphone, when it is submitted.

The young reporters are supplied with copy paper and stamped envelopes for their articles, which should be type-written.

The identity of the new editor of the Megaphone will be announced at the meeting.

Students too busy to worry

By CANDY SMITH

Ironically, students working their way through college seldom have the time to think about making ends meet. They just do, somehow.

Too many other priorities get in the way. Mostly how to fit school and work into a 24-hour day and still have time to eat and sleep. And study.

No two schedules are the same. Three Howard College students tell about theirs, how they manage in tight spots and where they get the energy to keep going.

"When I first started college I thought, 'How am I going to get through college financially when my parents need help from me financially.' The thought of college had never really entered my mind until I realized that I wouldn't make enough to ever help them if I didn't go," said Olga Perez, an RN student at the college.

Olga, a work-study student through Howard College's Financial Aid Office, used to work for the Westside Day Care Center her first two years at college.

During the summer, Olga was going to school approximately 12 hours a day, she said. She started at 7 in the morning and went until 2:30 p.m., and then back at night. But a lot of it has to do with the field she's chosen.

"Whenever I go to the library, I find at least one RN student there studying," she said. "It's exhausting."

"It's also very interesting though, except for the 'medication part'," Olga said. "When you are so tired, interest is the only way you can stay awake. If it didn't really interest me I'd be asleep."

Sometimes she gets to bed at five and is up again at six, said Olga. It's a routine that won't last much longer. The results of this kind of schedule can be amusing, too, if it's not yours.

"At home we have a sort of bulletin board on the wall. At the beginning of each semester, I write down all my classes. Then I fill in my work hours. Then, if anyone wants to talk to me about something, they have to put their name down on the board, because I'm really on the go." You know you're busy when the family has to make appointments.

Then she has to find time somewhere in between to study and relax. "Usually I have just an hour to get home from school, change clothes, get something to eat and get to work," she explained.

Olga, who plans to graduate from the nursing program in August 1977, is required to go to school all year round to complete the course. She not only pays her own tuition but helps out her family at home with the money she earns at work.

"I used to like to read but there's no time for anything but research now. My favorite pastime was going to the movies. Now I'm lucky if I see one a semester."

But it's all worth it to her. "I feel that not everybody gets a chance to go to college and I feel happy that I have that chance. My parents never had much education and they back me all the way on this. That's one reason I keep going, because I get a lot of support. If it wasn't for them I couldn't do it," Olga added.

Troy Jones is another Howard College student in the nursing program. He's already graduated from the LVN course and is now working on his RN degree.

This summer he took 13 hours of accelerated courses towards his degree and worked from 4-11 p.m. at Cowper's Clinic. The only times he got off early were the times when he had a test or final scheduled the following day.

Jones summed it up in two succinct words. "Really tough."

But he's also one of the lucky ones because, as he said, he's got an "ace in the hole." He's being considered by a particularly interested man in town to be sponsored through the rest of his schooling.

"He's offered to send me through school while I work for him part time. But mainly he wants me to devote most of my time to school." Jones still has 20 months left.

A native of Oklahoma, Jones has been on his own since he came here two years ago, and receives no support from home. He'll be 20 years old this month.

Even though the career he's chosen takes up most of his time, Jones said he still finds some time to read and write. In fact he's written two books, 'just for himself' that are on tape and written on scattered notes. He calls them, "You Can't See the Forest for the Squirrels" and "Where Have All the Ethics Gone."

That doesn't leave time for much else. "I go to school, get out, go home, change clothes, go to work, go home that night, get up the next morning and do it all over again," Jones said.

His mother worked for several years in a nursing home and when he needed a job a few years ago, she suggested he take care of the men in the home. "I liked it. I found it challenging and rewarding."

"The pay is nothing fantastic but it's worth it. I believe a person has to have a calling. You know, to be cut out for it. You can't just go to school and do it."

Paula Thome, a second-year journalism major employed at the State Hospital, carried a full-time load this spring in college while working the night shift.

She used to live with her grandparents until they moved away last year. It was in the middle of her sister's senior year in high school so Paula stayed to let her sister finish the year out in Big Spring.

Her sister left last week. Paula now lives alone and supports herself entirely. She was offered a dorm scholarship by the Howard College financial aid director, Dr. Charles McCamant, which would eliminate rent.

"I like living by myself at times but I know that moving in the dorm would be the smart thing to do." She hasn't made up her mind yet, though, she said.

Besides going to school in the morning and working from 3-11 p.m., Paula has the added responsibility of being editor of the college's yearbook, the "Hawk Flight."

"I only started working full-time last semester. I used to work part-time at school on work-study. I had some savings and somehow I always managed to get money. When this summer started getting close though, I decided to work full-time," she said. Paula will continue working full-time now, while taking a full load in college.

"I'm not trying to graduate, just taking what I want. I'd like to go to Texas Tech later."

Journalism has interested her since high school when she was co-editor of her high school paper. She said she liked Howard College, as opposed to a larger school, because she gets a lot of experience in various aspects of the trade since she does so much of it herself, including photography.

She also plays guitar, writes songs sometimes and reads in her spare time. But her schedule doesn't leave much spare time.

"If I have studying to do, theoretically," she laughed, "I study before work. And since I don't have any 8 a.m. classes, it's not too bad if I work late."

None of the students seemed to feel they were doing anything that merited extra attention. As Paula said, "It's not a matter of being proud or anything like that. If my parents had the money to send me to school I'd let them, but they don't. It's no big deal. School is just something I want to do."

TIME OUT — Playing a guitar is a relaxing hobby after working most of the day. Paula Thome said she also writes songs to go with it.

READ, READ, READ — One thing all nursing students Troy Jones is no exception to the rule. agree on is the fantastic amount of time spent reading.

Barbados target of exchange program

By CAROL HART

Three Big Spring residents have recently returned from the island of Barbados in the West Indies, where they spent approximately 11 days, according to Father Harland Birdwell, St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Father Birdwell, his wife and Angela Fulgham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Fulgham, journeyed to the West Indies island during latter July and the first days of August. The group was part of a team that traveled to the area to teach vacation Bible school.

"That was our 'occasion' for going," said Father Birdwell. He further described the program, called Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence, as a religious and cultural exchange between countries. Three Episcopal dioceses, West Texas, Louisiana, and North Texas, send young people to the island each year. Big Spring is a member of the latter diocese. The MRI program has been in existence since the middle sixties. The Episcopal church also sponsors the program in north Mexico, and in the past has sent exchange workers to southern Australia.

Father and Mrs. Birdwell have made the trip to Barbados the last two years. Last year, Ann Caton, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Ralph Caton, accompanied the Birdwells.

Father Birdwell served as coordinator and adult sponsor this year. Three young people from the North West Texas diocese, and four from the Louisiana diocese also accompanied the Big Spring group.

The young people going lived with Barbadian families, and learned to cope with the island's everyday life. Father Birdwell described the area as "a poor island in terms of material wealth." He added that the people on the island were the most British of all the British commonwealth countries, in attitudes and personality. The nation has been independent for ten years," said Father Birdwell.

"It was quite an experience to go to church in Barbados," said Father

Birdwell. He said that inflation was terrible in the country, and that many Barbadians could not afford prayerbooks and hymnals. "By the time they are 10-12 years old, they memorize the songs," said Father Birdwell. "They also sing at the top of their voices. It's great."

Father Birdwell added that the Barbadians were on the whole a very religious people. He said that there were only about a dozen empty seats in the service he attended Aug. 1. The capacity seating in the church building was 300-400, he estimated.

The area dioceses' team did not return to the states alone. The group brought back two Barbadian young people as a part of the exchange program. The two, Clarissa Jordan, 20, and Robert Greaves, 19, returned home Wednesday of last week.

Father Birdwell said that the two stayed with families in all three of the dioceses. He added that while in the Big Spring area, he took them to a ranch that was larger than their island. The two attended their first jazz concert in Midland, and viewed the Permian Basin Oil Museum while in the Midland area.

Both Clarissa and Robert taught in St. Mary's one Sunday.

Mrs. Birdwell described Clarissa as shy, but a real leader. Clarissa is president of her Church Girls' Brigade and is secretary of the Sunday School, and also serving as a teacher. Mrs. Birdwell described Robert as ready to try everything this country had to offer.

The two had no trouble understanding the language here, because Barbados is an English-speaking country. Mrs. Birdwell added that the Queen's English is spoken in Barbados, giving both Clarissa and Robert strong British accents.

Father Birdwell said that the Barbados excursion was a "grand experience." Mrs. Birdwell added that she felt that the American group received the "biggest haul" of the benefits.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU — Angela Fulgham, facing left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Fulgham, accompanied Father and Mrs. Harland Birdwell to the island of Barbados as part of an exchange program. She is shown here at a get-together on the island. The boy at her right is Charles Gaennie, Theriot, La., who was also a member of the exchange team.

Miss Pamela Sue Schwartz weds David Fulton Wilde

Miss Pamela Sue Schwartz and David Fulton Wilde exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony conducted Saturday afternoon in the St. Lawrence Catholic Church. The Rev. Alvin Wilde, Ft. Stockton, and the Rev. Augustine Lucca, St. Lawrence Catholic Church, performed the ceremony in front of an altar decorated with yellow carnations, white daisies and candelabra with yellow tapers. The side altar was decorated with small baskets of yellow and white feathered mums and greenery.

Ms. Lani Kay Frerick was organist. Vocalists were Miss Becky Hirt, Miss Nancy Batla, Miss Denise Jansa, Miss Jacque Frerich, Miss Lisa Hirt and Mrs. Steve Livingston.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown of appliqued silk organza over bridal satin. It featured a full circle skirt with cathedral-length train, and a square neckline outlined in lace and seed pearls. Long, full applique cuffed sleeves were also trimmed with lace and seed pearls. A petal headpiece of lace and pearls held a cathedral-length veil of illusion outlined with lace and matching appliques.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses flowing with white streamers and tied in love knots.

Miss Linda Schwartz, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Roger Halfmann, Abilene, Mrs. Larry Wheat, Garden City, Miss Elaine Schwartz, St. Lawrence sisters of the bride; Miss Kathy Wilde, Vancourt, Jeanie Wilde, Vancourt, sisters of the groom; and Mary Kay Hoelscher, St. Lawrence. Daniel Wilde, Midkiff, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Herbie Schwertner, Vancourt; Marcus Kocick, Amarillo; Paul Banks, Eden, Larry Wheat, Garden City; Roger Halfmann, Abilene, and Ricky Gully, College Station.

Ushers were Floyd Schwartz, St. Lawrence; Jody Schwartz, St. Lawrence; Wayne Schultz, San Angelo; and Robert Michalewicz, San Angelo.

Holly Simon, Albuquerque, served as flower girl. Roger Glass, Carlsbad, was ring bearer.

Following a trip to Ruidoso, the couple will make their home in St. Lawrence.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Garden City High School, and is employed in St. Lawrence. The groom is a graduate of Wall High School and Texas A&M. He is presently engaged in farming in the St. Lawrence area.

A reception, supper and dance was held honoring the couple following the ceremony in the parish hall.

Miss Sieler honored

Miss Liz Sieler was honored with a wedding shower in the home of Miss Kim Crawley, 1816 S. Benton. Sixteen guests attended the shower.

Miss Sieler is the bride-elect of Mark Hedges. The couple plan to marry September 4.

Hostesses were Kim Crawley, Gayle Glenn, Mrs. Debbie Bryans, Mrs. Toni Ducote and Mrs. W. R. Crownover.

The bride-elect and the couple's mothers were presented corsages. Mrs. Donald Sieler is the mother of Miss Sieler. Mrs. Douglas Hedges is the mother of Mark Hedges.

The table was laid with lace and appointments of crystal and silver were used. A pink umbrella centered the table.

Mrs. Bryans poured the coffee and Miss Glenn served the cake. Miss Crawley greeted and registered the guests.

Flower show course set

The Southern Unit of District I, Council of Nationally Accredited Flower Show Judges, will sponsor Flower Show School 4, the 4th in a series of five, to be held September 14, 15, and 16 at Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest, 1705 W. Indiana, in Midland, Texas. Mrs. L.B. Edwards of Big Spring, Texas is chairman.

This course is of interest to every Garden Clubber as they learn flower show practice and horticulture as well as flower arranging.

Mrs. Garland Barcus, 1420 Preston, Austin, Texas is a nationally known flower show judge and instructor in landscape design, horticulture, flower show practice and conservation. She is a graduate of the University of Texas - Austin, and is a life member of the Violet Crown Garden Club, Austin. She also is a member of the Central Texas Council of Flower Show judges and is a former national awards chairman for Texas Garden Clubs, Inc.

Mrs. Barcus has visited famous gardens around the world: in Calcutta, Lahore, Jerusalem, England, Ireland, Mexico, and the United States. Mrs. Barcus will instruct Horticulture and Flower Show Practice at 9:00 a.m. on September 14, registration begins at 8:30 a.m.

On September 15, at 9:00 a.m., with registration at 8:30 a.m., Mrs. Irene Haddox Waters will instruct in flower arrangement. Mrs. Waters, of Dallas, Texas, is a National Flower Show Judge with life certificate and master's certificate.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimzey. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Statham.

Mr. James Kinman, uncle of the bride, sang at the wedding accompanied by Mr. Jerry Oliphant, organist.

MRS. DARRELL DEAN TACKETT

Miss Christy Stevenson and Darrell Dean Tackett exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony conducted Saturday afternoon in the Lake Murray Chapel in Ardmore, Okla.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. D.O. Stevenson, 1220 Rockford Road, Ardmore. They are formerly of Big Spring. The groom is the grandson of Mrs. C.D. Tackett, 559 Tenth N.W., Ardmore.

The bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza and peau de soie. The gown was designed with an empire bodice and sheer long puffed sleeves of silk organza. The front of the bodice was detailed with lace appliques embroidered in seed pearls and French sequins. The train of silk organza was lined with illusion and embellished with lace appliques and seed pearls. The elbow-length veil of white silk illusion was held in place by a white lace tiara.

The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies.

John Cannon performed the ceremony in front of an altar accented with brass arched candelabra with Boston ferns on white columns.

Miss Janey Sloan, Ardmore, provided music at the organ. Mrs. Randy Riebe, Edmond, Okla., was vocalist.

Miss Patti Stevenson, sister of the bride, Nashville, Tenn., was maid of honor. Miss Anita Anderson, Ardmore, was bridesmaid.

Best man was R. Randall Riebe, Edmond, Okla. Groomsman was Kenneth Tackett, uncle of the groom, Dallas. Ronald K. Bruner, Duncan, Okla., and Dan Benton, Lawrence, Kansas, served as ushers.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the YWCA following the ceremony. Reception assistants were Mrs. Quintin Little, Mrs. Gary Osborne, Mrs. Norvel Tomlinson, Mrs. Tom Hood, Mrs. Tommy Mills, Miss Cindy Pladzewicz, Miss Connie Cambell, Miss Barbara Brooks, Miss Jody Bridges and Miss Laurie Williams.

The couple will make their home in Edmond, Okla. The bride is a graduate of Ardmore High School and attended Oklahoma Christian College. The groom attended Oklahoma Christian College and Oklahoma University.

Miss Becky Ruth Roddy weds Dennis Ferrell Mays

Miss Becky Ruth Roddy and Dennis Ferrell Mays were married in a ceremony conducted Saturday evening in the Troup Church of Christ.

Erin Richie united the couple before a bridal arch covered with greenery. A table was centered under the arch and was covered in white lace. The table was centered with a large open Bible and unity candle. On either side of the arch were four candelabra.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin organza styled in an empire waistline silhouette. The molded bodice featured a sheer V'd crescent yoke overcast in Venice lace floral. A dutchess stand-up collar formed by Cluny lace edged in Venice florals adorned the gown. Long semi-blown bishop sleeves were applied in panels of Venice and Cluny lace, and were caught to deep wrist cuffs accented by a combination lace ruffle. The A-line skirt fell into a deep flounce encircled in Cluny lace at slipper-length. Complimenting the gown was a finger-tip mantilla edged in Cluny lace worn over a double floater veil caught to a Juliet cap shadowed in pearled lace floral motif.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of yellow and talismen roses interspersed with miniature yellow and white daisies and baby's breath. The bouquet was centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Alan Fisher, Tyler, was matron of honor, with Mrs. Dwade Renisch, Holiday, as bridesmaid. Both women are sisters of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Stockton, Austin, cousin of the bride, Miss Christi Risner, San Augustine, and Miss Tommy Lee Aberegg, Coahoma, niece of the groom.

The groom was attended by his brother, Jimmy L. Mays, Coahoma, as best man. Groomsman were Tommy Aberegg, brother-in-law of the groom, Coahoma;

Paul Thomas, Brownfield; Randy Rutland, Lampassas; and Ray Ross, cousin of the bride, Troup.

Miss Kristi Mays, niece of the groom, Coahoma, and Miss Amy Fisher, Tyler, niece of the bride, were flower girls. The tapers were lit by Miss Kimmy Aberegg and Kevin Mays, niece and nephew of the groom, both of Coahoma. Ushers were Alan Fisher, Tyler, and Dwade Renisch, Holiday, Les Langston and Tim Ross.

The groom is a graduate of Coahoma High and is now a junior psychology major at Abilene Christian University.

He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega and a member of the Big Purple Marching Band and Symphonic Band. The bride is a graduate of Troup High and is now a sophomore at ACU. She too is a member of the Big Purple Band.

The couple will reside at 751 EN. 12th in Abilene following a wedding trip to Nacogdoches and surrounding area.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Roddy, 205 S. Beulah, Troup. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Romy L. Mays, Coahoma.

A reception was held directly after the ceremony at the Troup Methodist Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white daisies. The table was laid with silver appointments and there was a traditional three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and daisies topped with the traditional bride and groom. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Tommy Aberegg and Mrs. Jimmy Mays sister and sister-in-law of the groom, both of Coahoma.

Registering guests at the wedding and reception were Miss Nelda Ashley of Brownwood and Miss Mary Whisenhunt of Tyler. Others serving were Miss Terry Beistle of Coahoma, Miss Jan Massingill of Troup and Miss Eve Fowler of Mixon and Mrs. Charles Pinno of Austin.

Yates, White ceremony performed in Austin church

Mrs. L.H. Meyer of Udora, Ark. announces the marriage of her daughter, Carolyn (Snow) White, to David Kent Yates, formerly of Big Spring, in Austin Aug. 7.

Yates is the son of Wayland Yates, former city editor for the Big Spring Herald, who was killed in a plane crash in 1970. His mother, Mrs. Wayland Yates, resides in San Angelo. The bride was attired in a formal off-white cotton and lace gown for the double-ring ceremony at St. Luke's on the Lake. The rector, the Rev. Malcolm P. Riker, officiated.

Mrs. Yates is currently working toward her doctorate degree in sociology at the University of Arizona, where the couple will reside. Yates, who attended schools in Abilene, was a 1971 honor graduate of San Angelo Central High School and an International Science Fair winner that year.

While an engineering student at the University of Texas in Austin, he was selected to assist in setting up a satellite tracking station in Palmer Station, Antarctica.

He filmed some of the experiences of famed Antarctic navigator, Dr. Davis Lewis, and his pictures are published in the 1975 National Geographic and in Dr. Lewis' book, "The Ice Bird," published in the U.S. this year.

Of roosters and other bird brainstorms.

DEAR ABBY: EVIE IN DES MOINES asked if a rooster had a reproductive organ, and you said, "Yes, but it's so small it's practically invisible. I suppose a hen would tell you it's adequate for her needs, but by human standards it's nothing to crow about."

You are wrong. A penis is lacking in most birds that copulate by cloacal contact. In chicks, a penis is present only as a vestige for a few days after hatching. However, some birds do have a copulatory organ; ostriches, emus, kiwis, cassowaries, tinamous, geese and ducks, for example.

J.F.L., Ph.D.: DEPT. OF BIOLOGY OXFORD COLLEGE, EMORY U., OXFORD, GA.

DEAR DR. L: According to "Avian Physiology" by Paul D. Sturki (rhymes with turkey), the rooster has a phallus (which, according to Webster's Dictionary, is a penis). And although this sex organ is external only when mating, that certainly doesn't make it non-existent.

And thanks for the information on the other birds. It'll come in handy in case I'm ever on Hollywood Squares.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married at a church wedding. I know it's customary to seat the guests of the bride on one side of the church and the guests of the groom on the other side.

My fiancé is black and I am white, and we don't want the church to be segregated—blacks on one side and whites on the other.

How can we seat the guests so this won't happen? ANTI-SEGREGATIONIST

DEAR ANTI: Ignore the traditional protocol and integrate the guests. How else?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Mrs. Best honored

Mrs. Tommy Best was the honoree at a baby shower recently in the home of Mrs. Ronnie Ward, 806 Culp, Coahoma.

Mrs. Best, the former Phyllis Wynn, is now living in Houston.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Bill Read, Mrs. Marvin Latimer, Mrs. Lonnie Anderson, Mrs. Aubra Cranfill, Mrs. Wanda Bristo, Mrs. Ovis James, Mrs. Rod Tiller, Mrs. Don Allen, Mrs. Bruce Allen and Mrs. Wood. They presented Mrs. Best with a high chair.

Clubhouse Auxiliary holds meet

The DAV Auxiliary met Monday evening August 16 in the VFW Hall in Silver Heels. Mrs. Katie Spivey, commander, presided.

The auxiliary welcomed a new member, Mrs. Pat Johnson, and Mrs. Spivey gave her the oath of obligation.

The auxiliary also voted to make a donation to the Big Spring Herald Bible Fund and another donation to the VAVS at the VA Hospital here. The hospital donation will go to the youth volunteers in order to send them to Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Nelda Burkhardt, Mrs. Myrtle True, Mrs. Laverne White and Mrs. Opal Gaskins served cake and coffee to over 80 patients at the VA Hospital August 14.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served to the chapter and auxiliary.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p.m. September 20 in the Silver Heels VFW Hall.

Women's club

The International Women's Club met Monday August 16 in the home of Mrs. Frances Loftis.

Mrs. Carola Gazi was honored at the meeting with a baby shower. The special guest was Mrs. Gaby Geske of California, who is visiting friends here in Big Spring.

The table was centered with a stork and baby holding a blanket. Corsages were presented to Mrs. Gazi and gifts were presented to her in a baby cradle.

Retired Employees

The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees met Thursday, 7:30 p.m. August 19, for a regular meeting. J.H. Eastham, president presided.

A memorial, one-minute of silence, was for C.R. Moad who passed away on August 3rd.

A program on the history of the U.S. flag was given by Lt. W.N. Wilson of Webb AFB. He demonstrated how our flag evolved from a flag of a Roman soldier named George in 361 A.D. adopted by the British then combined with the Scot's flag. This flag was flown by the Mayflower. George Washington had the Union Jack placed in the upper left hand corner and thirteen white stripes sewn across the scarlet field, representing the 13 colonies fight for liberty against the unjust laws imposed by an unjust king. After the Revolution began, 13 stars replaced the Union Jack in the upper left hand corner of the flag.

Hosts were Ed Appleton, Tip Anderson, and W. Bain.

The next meeting will be

September 16th, 7:30 p.m.

Art Association

At the August meeting of the Big Spring Art Association, Barbara Merworth explained paint textures, palette knives, canvas materials and techniques related to palette knife painting. The demonstration result was a colorful floral painting done entirely with knives and oil paints. Mrs. Merworth is a local artist who will soon open a studio and gallery here.

Thirty-five members attended at Kentwood Center with Joyce Sanford and Arlys Scott acting as hostesses. The group learned that member and well-known local artist Mary "Signor" Holloway has recently moved to another city. Members were given information sheets to be used in compiling a sketchbook of Big Spring artists. Artwork, information and photos of the artists will be included in the "Sketchbook" which will be offered for sale as a future fund-raising project. August "Tip of the Brush" award went to a painting by Bess Wagner which may be seen during September at the State National Bank.

MRS. PETER C. FRANCIS
Fowler, Francis are wed

Miss Linda Fowler of Dallas and Peter C. Francis of Oklahoma exchanged wedding vows Saturday August 21 during an evening ceremony at the White Rock Church of Christ in Dallas.

Robert D. Kiser, minister of the Grapevine Church of Christ, performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with an arch of yellow mums and candleabra with greenery-bedecked candles.

Wedding music was an octet led by James Jackson of Dallas.

The bride wore a dress featuring an empire waistline with an A-line skirt. The gown was made of satin overlaid with soft tulle and finished with cape sleeves. The high V-neck, yoke and sleeves were edged in Venice lace. The bride wore a cap veil with a chapel-length train of tulle edged in Venice lace.

Her bouquet was a cascade of gardenias and greenery.

Joy Fowler, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Charlene Simmons and Cindy Dillard, both of Dallas, were bridesmaids.

Dr. Richard Hamsey of Oklahoma acted as best man. Gary Harroz and Ed Harroz, both of Oklahoma were groomsmen. Ushers were Bob Greene of Dallas and Sol Bayouth of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Candlelighter was Sherry Harroz of Oklahoma.

The couple will make their home in Oklahoma City, Okla., following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada.

The bride is a graduate of Sands High School in Ackery and attended Abilene Christian College. She was employed with Guardian Savings and Loan in Dallas.

The groom is a graduate of Midwest City High School in Oklahoma and Oklahoma State University. He is employed as sales director of Hilton Inn West.

The reception was held at the White Rock Church of Christ.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. H. Doyle Fowler of Big Spring. Mother of the groom is Mrs. Frances Francis of Midwest City, Okla.

Miss Melanie Mitchell weds James Scott McEwen

The wedding vows of Miss Melanie Lynn Mitchell and James Scott McEwen were solemnized during a ceremony performed Saturday evening in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Charles E. Carter Jr., uncle of the groom, officiating.

The couple was married in front of an altar decorated with a large center arrangement of yellow gladioli, white carnations and white daisy poms. Two palms of greenery and two seven-branched candelabra also accented the altar.

Mrs. C.H. Rainwater provided music at the organ. Vocalists were Mrs. Harold Talbot and Lawrence R. Carter.

The bride wore a white silk organza gown which featured a fitted bodice falling to a full circular skirt. The square neckline was outlined in a wide band of Alencon lace. The bishop sleeves were cuffed with matching lace and fastened with pearl buttons. The finger tip veil was of organza banded with Alencon lace.

The bride carried a cascade of yellow roses, white daisy poms and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Marian Smith, sister of the bride. Groomsman was Patti Erwin, Pleasanton.

R.R. McEwen III, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman was Kyle Stallings. Ushers were Tim Dunn and Paul Talbot, Austin.

The bride, a graduate of Mitchell High School in Colorado Springs, Colo., is presently attending the University of Texas at Austin, and is a junior in the school of nursing. The groom, a Big Spring High School graduate, is a junior at the University of Texas at Austin, majoring in chemical engineering.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Mitchell, 5450 Saddlehorn, Colorado Springs, Colo., Mrs. R.R. McEwen, Jr., 1425 E. 6th Street, Big Spring, and the late Mr. McEwen. A reception was held honoring the couple in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church. The bride's table was covered with a white Chantilly lace cloth cascading to the floor. The centerpiece was a four-branched candelabra holding yellow tapers and the bridal bouquet. Appointments were silver and crystal. Tulips filled with rice were distributed by Torbin and Kisa McEwen.

A rehearsal dinner was held at Big Spring Country Club on Friday. The dinner was hosted by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. R.R. McEwen, La Jolla, Calif., and his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Irvin Clayton, Ft. Worth. Toast was given by Russ McEwen, brother of the groom.

Out of town guests included the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Rogers and Mrs. Lloyd Richardson, all of Childress. Other guests were from Birmingham, Ala., Austin, and Eureka, Calif.

Held in the hospital classroom, the giving of the certificates marked the end of the pilot program which yielded new experiences for the youth of Big Spring plus an added bonus for the hospital, according to Emily Ward, director of volunteers. The girls gave a total of 1,113 hours in real service to the hospital.

"The maturity of this group has been astonishing," said Joyce Wadsworth, RN, head nurse in recovery. "We hope you will come back next year," she said. Ellen North, RN, head nurse in OB concurred, saying "These girls were especially aware, catching on to the routines and behaving themselves in a surprisingly professional way."

A total of 19 girls participated in the program which had as its goal the giving to the youth of the area a chance to observe the hospital at work, and to measure their interest in medical careers against the realities of actually coping with illness, and the care of it.

Norman Knox, administrator, expressed the pleasure of the hospital in the group. Kate Irons, organizing president of the Strippers, gave the chairman's report, and hospital spokesmen from the departments lauded the Strippers for a job well done. Mrs. Ward, gave out the awards.

Mothers attended the affair with the Candy Strippers.

Stripers honored Tran, Le vows are solemnized

Fifteen Candy Strippers turned out Thursday afternoon for the Awards and Recognition event which finished up the summer program for the Strippers at Malone-Hogan Hospital, Inc.

Held in the hospital classroom, the giving of the certificates marked the end of the pilot program which yielded new experiences for the youth of Big Spring plus an added bonus for the hospital, according to Emily Ward, director of volunteers. The girls gave a total of 1,113 hours in real service to the hospital.

Miss Nga Thanh Tran was wed to An Van Le in an afternoon ceremony August 15 in the First Baptist Church. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Kenneth Patrick.

Anderson promoted

Donald Edward Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Anderson, 1407 Young Street, has been promoted to assistant national suit buyer for Sears in Chicago, Ill.

Anderson makes his office in the Sears Towers Building, the world's tallest building, on the 13th floor.

A Big Spring graduate, Anderson also graduated from Baylor. He is married to the former Sharon Jean Eagleton, Ft. Worth. The couple has one daughter, Catherine Anne, one-year-old.

The family makes their home in Darien, Ill.

Baby born

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Lee Nichols, Gail Rt. Box 180, are the parents of a new baby girl, Libby Michelle, born August 12 at 1:40 p.m. in Malone-Hogan Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 11 1/2 ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Wozencraft of Big Spring. Paternal grandmothers are Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Nichols, Jr., also of Big Spring.

Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. J.P. Nichols. Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Herring of Midland.

The Nichols' other child is also a girl, Angie, age 2.

MRS. JAMES SCOTT MCEWEN

MRS. JAMES BRADLEY INGRAM

Snodgrass, Ingram rite performed in Ackerly

The First Baptist Church in Ackerly, was the scene for the candlelight marriage of Miss Sherry Diane Snodgrass and James Bradley Ingram. The Rev. Don Long, pastor, officiated at the 7:30 p.m. ceremony.

Yellow gladioli in two white pitcher urns and twin brass candelabra with white tapers adorned the altar area. A candlelit aisle entwined with greenery marked the pews.

Pianist for the occasion was Mrs. Bill Hambrick of Ackerly. J. Lane Phinney, Coahoma, was soloist for the event. Musical selections included: "More," "A Daisy A Day," "The Twelfth of Never," "And I Love You So," and "If."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Snodgrass, of Odessa. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Ingram of Ackerly.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown created of silk organza and peau d' ange enhanced with Alencon lace. The princess line silhouette with long fitted sleeves and high neckline extended into a scalloped, lace-edged chapel train. She wore an heirloom pin, passed down through at least three generations of grandmothers. Her short illusion veil featured a satin headpiece studded with tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white gladioli blooms and yellow cushion mums, along with two single yellow rosebuds which she presented to each of the mothers.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Suzanne Hill of Odessa.

Her daughter, Robin, was the flower girl. Both carried yellow cushion mum nosegays.

Richard Knight of Houston was best man. David Snodgrass, brother of the bride, and Randy Hembrick, brother-in-law of the groom were ushers. The groom's sister, Mrs. Randy Hembrick registered the guests.

A reception followed in fellowship hall. Members of the house party were: Misses Tammy Kelle and Martha Miller (Odessa), Mrs. Danny Fisher (Kermit), Mrs. Robert T. Reynolds (Odessa), Mrs. Don Long, Mrs. Joe Gillespie, Mrs. M. E. Dyer Jr., Mrs. J.D. Hall, Mrs. B.C. Snell, Mrs. Thomas H. Horton and Mrs. W.V. Graham, all of Ackerly.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Odessa High School where she was a member of the Amari Tri-Hi-Y Club and a member of the National Honor Society. She attended Odessa College and worked as a teacher's assistant before becoming employed as a bookkeeper for Odessa Spring and Axle Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Sands High School in Ackerly and majored in Biological Sciences at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring and Odessa College. He was president of the student council in high school and is a former guitarist with the "Country Express" band. He is self-employed as a cotton farmer in Ackerly.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents was held at the K.C. Steak House in Big Spring.

Farm Harvesting continues

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Harvest operations continue in full swing over a big part of Texas, thanks to hot, dry weather. However, the weather is taking its toll, with most of the state beginning to wither under the August sun.

Most of the sorghum crop has been harvested in the southern half of the state and harvesting is about 70 per cent complete in the Central Texas Blacklands, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Harvesting has also started in North Central and Northeast Texas as well as in parts of West Central Texas.

Cotton harvesting is also active, with more than half the crop in South Texas and the Coastal Bend. Yields have generally been good.

Corn and peanuts are being harvested in South Texas (Uvalde area), and corn is also going in in the Coastal Bend and Coastal Plains.

Potatoes, peppers and onions continue to be harvested in the South Plains while land preparation and planting of fall vegetables is active in central, eastern and southern sections.

A big hay crop continues to be harvested over the state although rain is needed for additional cuttings, noted Pfannstiel.

Rains is also needed to boost grass growth on pastures and ranges for fall grazing. Most livestock continue in good condition. Grazing is getting short in some areas.

District Extension agents reported the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: Irrigated corn is making good progress, with most fields in the roasting ear stage.

Sorghum is heading, but rain is needed. Cotton is heavily fruited but needs rain. Recent showers have greened up ranges, but a general rain is needed. The demand for feeder cattle was up last week at local auctions.

SOUTH PLAINS: Crops are beginning to show moisture stress due to hot, dry weather. Irrigated cotton has been watered for the last time, but dryland cotton needs a good rain.

Sorghum, soybeans, alfalfa and sugar beets are making good progress. Onions, peppers and potatoes continue to be harvested, with the potato harvest about complete.

ROLLING PLAINS: Hot, dry weather is putting stress on crops and ranges. Cotton is fruited heavily but will need a rain soon to hold the fruit. Insect damage is heavy in some cotton fields. Sorghum is maturing rapidly and the crop looks good where moisture has been adequate. Excellent hay yields continue to be harvested. Ranges are average.

NORTH CENTRAL: Corn and sorghum harvesting is active and ranges from 10 to 30 per cent complete. A good hay crop continues to be harvested. Vegetable crops and peanuts need rain along with pastures and ranges. Land is being prepared for small grains and fall gardens.

NORTHEAST: The sorghum harvest has started and above average yields are in prospect. Corn is maturing and soybeans are still being harvested. Hay harvesting remains active. Land is being prepared for small grains and fall vegetables. Pastures and ranges are in need of rain.

FAR WEST: Crops are generally making good progress although a good rain is needed over the area. Alfalfa harvesting continues, with alfalfa seed being harvested in the Barstow area. Harvesting of onions and cantaloupes is about complete. Green peppers are making excellent growth in the Coynosa area. Loc weeds are emerging in some ranges in the Big Bend area.

WEST CENTRAL: The sorghum harvest is getting under way. Cotton is fruiting well although insect damage is heavy in some fields. Hay crops continue to produce good yields. Most pastures and ranges need rain, with some beginning to "burn" from the hot, dry weather. Livestock continue in good shape, with screwworm cases increasing.

CENTRAL: The sorghum harvest is about 70 per cent complete and is making rapid progress. The hot, dry weather is causing cotton to shed some bolls; boll weevil damage is also heavy in many fields. Foilage diseases and lesser cornstalk borers are attacking peanuts. Hay making continues, with good yields reported. All crops as well as pastures and ranges need a good rain.

EAST: Sorghum harvesting is active, with other crops generally making good progress although most need rain. Pastures and ranges also need rain, and rain is needed for additional hay cuttings. Some pecans are falling due to insect damage. Preparations are under way for fall gardens.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Harvesting of corn and cotton is getting under way while the sorghum harvest is about complete and the rice harvest is past the halfway point. Recent high winds damage the rice crop in Brazoria and Jackson counties. Soybeans look good but need rain, as do pastures and ranges. Preparations are underway for fall vegetable gardens.

SOUTH CENTRAL: The sorghum harvest is in full swing and ranges from 30 to 95 per cent complete. Some corn is also being harvested.

ONE OF THE BULLS IN LELAND WALLACE SALE

Wallace to stage bull, heifer sale Sept. 27

Leland Wallace will conduct his annual bull and heifer sale on his ranch near Big Spring Monday, Sept. 27.

Wallace will offer for sale 40 bulls and 25 heifers. Stanley Stouts of Kansas City will again serve as auctioneer.

Buyers from as far as 150 miles away are invariably attracted to Wallace's auction. Last year's event, at which time 40 bulls and eight heifers were sold, attracted a huge crowd.

The sale is scheduled to get under way about 12:30 p.m.

The top bull in last year's sale was purchased by the Kuykendall Ranch of Cherokee (near Llano).

Wallace's ranch is located ten miles northeast of Big Spring, just off State Highway 350 (the Snyder Highway).

The Anxiety 4th influence can be seen in the Wallace bulls.

Leland's mailing address is Rte. 2, Box 91, Big Spring 79720. His telephone number is AC 915-399-4370.

Muscular Dystrophy Benefit Dance brings in about $500

Sponsors rejoiced here after learning that donations accepted during the Muscular Dystrophy Benefit Dance totaled $500.

Howard L. Dodd, the community's MDA chairman, said that special thanks should go to Jim and Jean King for making facilities at the Starlite Club available for the dance, to Jim King and the Starlite Cowboys, Dr. J. Gale Kilgore and other local talent for providing music.

Dodd also expressed appreciation to Texas Discount Furniture for the chair which was given away during the dance. The chair was won by Larry Yarbrough.

Ridin' fence

Tomorrow's the first day of school. So, I chose for my column subject a typical high school freshman.

Let's call him Joe. Like all freshmen, he's modest and downright fearful of life, limb and the pursuit of education.

When his mother drove him up to the school to register on Wednesday, he saw nobody in sight that he knew. "Drive on," the freshman stated cautiously.

Mother drove into the next block. "Drive back," he muttered. "Get out," said mother.

He tried to walk casually up to the front door to the registry line. He saw one of his buddies. He stopped to talk to him. "Get to the end of the line," said a freshman that he was unfamiliar with.

He went to the end of the line and thought about his schedule. Freshmen don't have too much choice in what type of courses, but there's some selections in instructors.

"I never heard of any of them except the band director," Joe muttered. "And I don't play in the band."

Last spring, his head had been shaved by some upper classmen who caught him off the school grounds. It has grown back out, but isn't real long yet. But this is a status symbol anyway.

It's either a symbol that you're one of the good guys or a poor runner.

Joe has lived here most of his life but his only trips to the high school have been to the auditorium, or the gym. The rest of the school confuses him.

It's kind of an unnecessary part of the building anyway — it's mostly classrooms.

The numbers upstairs go in one order up one hall and in the opposite order down the other hall. Until they get the hang of it, the typical freshmen are the ones making a complete circle in a dead trot.

Another way to tell who are freshmen is the speed with which they move down the hall. By the end of the first six weeks, they learn to loiter.

Freshman Joe is not too interested in girls yet. "After all," he says, "until you can drive, you can't take them anywhere. Who wants to walk to the Sonic?"

Some of his friends are

with Marj Carpenter

interested in girls. They think he's dumb. He thinks they're dumb. The girls think they're all dumb and are eyeballing the upper classmen.

"Teachers freak me out," Joe said and then demanded additional assurance that I wouldn't use his real name. "I have a big brother who was smart and I'm not. And I get a lot of flak. When I registered, I tried to spot teachers that I never heard my brother mention."

Typical garb for a day of school is washed-out blue jeans and any shirt. Probably tennis shoes. Joe goes out for sports. "I always wanted to do something good — like hitting a homerun or making a touchdown. Probably won't ever do it, but I sure won't if I don't go out."

"What are you looking forward to most in this first year in the high school?" this reporter asked Joe. "When's the first holiday?" Joe asked.

Pickproof hip pocket designed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mrs. E.L. Young, a tailor, placed the following ad in a newspaper recently: "Eastside tailor seeks design for pickproof man's hip pocket. Professionals invited to compete. Agreed upon fee paid earliest delivered acceptable design."

The acceptable design came from a 78-year-old man who described himself as a "retired professional pickpocket."

He said he was offering his design to "clear my conscience" and, therefore, he was relinquishing "all rights and claims to this design and turn them over to you without cost or obligation."

Mrs. Young said the design was "right on target." She said she would not divulge details of the design until after she received a patent on it.

New museum focus on black contributions

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A new museum which focuses on the contributions of black people who have lived in Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri and Colorado since the time of the Emancipation Proclamation opened here recently.

Museum director Bertha Calloway said the Great Plains Black Museum is the only one of its kind west of the Mississippi. It was established by the Negro Historical Society of Nebraska with a $101,000 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

Coahoma class builds house

W.A. Wilson, superintendent of the Coahoma Independent School District, has announced that the school's Building-Trades Class has successfully completed a modern three-bedroom house on Ramsey Street in that city.

The house was constructed by last school year's juniors and seniors enrolled in the class taught by Weldon Weaver.

"Mr. Weaver is a first-class instructor, from the old school of carpenters. This is the third house completed by the classes and they did a fine job," said Wilson.

Wilson indicated that most schools have this type of program, and that it usually takes an entire school year for the project to be completed.

"The class did between 80 and 85 per cent of the work on the house, practically all but the bricking," said the superintendent.

For those interested in seeing the structure or even buying it, (the list price is $29,000), the three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath, refrigerated air, brick house is located at the east end of Ramsey Street on the northside of the street in Coahoma.

For further information, call W.A. Wilson, 394-4258, or Wendell Shive, at the same number.
