“Coatless Man” Welcome At This Revival Meeting

If You Are Hot You Cannot be Comfortable; Therefore You Miss Import of Sermon--Ladies Express Willingness of Innovation.

That the monster revival meeting just getting started in San Angelo, in which nearly every church in the city of taking part, will be a campaign for souls, with the leaders paying no attention to how this man or that woman is dressed, was exemplified Friday night when the ladies of the congregation announced that “the coatless man” will be welcomed to all services.

like as large as it will be. Everything is being lined up for a great meeting Sunday, and it is believed that every available seat in the rink will be occupied at the services to follow throughout next week.

GAS COMPANY READY.

As Soon as Fifty People Sign up Mains Will Be Extended.

“The gas mains will be extended to Park Heights as soon as fifty men will agree to sign contracts,” said John Freeland, president of the company, Friday. “There are twenty now who have agreed to use gas and when the other thirty come in on the proposition the work will be rushed through. The gas company must be assured of returns before it will make any definite move in that direction.”

Mrs. Shepherd Dies.

Mrs. Hattie Shepherd, aged, 29 years, died at her home in Angelo Heights on North Irving street at 12 o'clock Friday. She leaves one child, a little girl aged 8. Her husband is not living and her only other relative is a brother living at Dora, Ala.

Her body was removed to the parlors of the San Angelo Furniture and Undertaking company and prepared for shipment to Dora, Ala.

The tent revival across the railroad at Nineteenth and Oakes streets, is meeting with success and much enthusiasm is being shown over the sermons. Jesse P. Sewell is conducting the services under the auspices of the Church of Christ. Friday night his text was “Prepare to meet thy God,” and Saturday night he will take as his subject “The First Gospel Sermon.”

Moon Recovering.

Dick Moon, who is suffering from carbolic acid poisoning, is recovering. For awhile his life was despaired of, but after many hours he was pulled past the danger mark and given a new lease on life.

Elder W. P. Skaggs left Friday for the north and east on an evangelistic tour. His first meeting will be at Chadwick Mills in San Saba county.

WOMAN MAKES LAST DONATION

San Angelo was offered this hospital by the Catholic sisters for a bonus of $15,000. The citizens were given almost unlimited time, and this accounts for the lack of interest taken for awhile. However, when concerted action was taken, the movement went through rapidly.

A fire broke out in Dr. T. W. Conery's new brick building Friday morning but was extinguished before any damage resulted. No assistance from the fire department was necessary.

Cunningham Sojourning in Klondike

Capt. W. S. Cunningham, who enjoys the honor of being the father of Austin Cunningham, the rising young journalist who holds a staff position with the San Antonio Express, has received a letter from the journalist, now sojourning in the far northwest. Young Austin at the time he wrote his father, was en route over Chilkoot Pass, on his way to the Klondike country. He will return by boat, it down the Yukon, and the entire trip may take several weeks. He writes he is having a simply grand time and that he is enjoying every minute of his vacation.

Austin Cunningham held down the house desk in the Thirty-first legislature for the Express, and his work was characterized by fidelity to detail and accuracy in delineation. He was extremely popular with the members of the house and was a general favorite with the press gang there.

S. Aly left Friday for Arlington to visit relatives.

F. O. Kirby returned Friday from a business trip to Brownwood.

BRYAN-BENNETT LIBRARY BUILDING AT SALEM, ILL.

This is a photograph of the Bryan-Bennett library building at Salem, Ill., which was erected out of funds bequeathed to William J. Bryan by the late P. S. Bennett. The frame building adjoining it is the house where Mr. Bryan was born. Mr. Bryan lectured in Salem recently turning over the proceeds of the evening to the library committee to purchase books.

W. M. HEMPHILL LIKES THE IDEA

WILL LEND EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE TRADES EXCURSION A HOWLING SUCCESS.

SUGGESTS TWO TRIPS

“We Should Get Out Plenty of Advertising Matter and Scatter It Broadcast,” Says Mr. Hemphill—Band Proposed.

“The idea of a trades excursion is an excellent one,” declared W. M. Hemphill of the firm of Baker-Hemphill company, Friday. “And you may say that I will lend every effort to help it out. It will serve to bring San Angelo into closer touch with her tributaries and promote an era of good feeling toward San Angelo in the towns we visit. “My idea is that we make two trips out of it. On one we should make a half circle to the towns to the south in automobiles. Their trade naturally comes to us, but no one can tell in these days of quick-built railroads when one will bob up and cut off the trade where we are most confident of holding it; therefore, it would be well to make a trip around to them so as to give them a friendly feeling toward us. “The towns to the north and north-east are the ones we must guard most closely, for the advent of new railroads gives them an inlet as well as an outlet to the north, and we should be very diligent in showing them the advantages to be reaped by continuing San Angelo as their trading center. “Mayor Paul has laid out the course to the north in a very systematic and sensible schedule. I am quite sure that the majority of the business men will join in and make this trip a great success and an advertising scheme that will be of untold advantage to the city in general, as well as to the merchants. “A vast amount of advertising matter should be carried along and distributed everywhere. “Then there should be some good scheme to attract widespread interest, a band for instance. This is a move generally made by growing cities and should be made by us, so that our tributaries may know just exactly what we have to offer.”

OLD HAT RANCH.

C. W. Stevens of Eola Closes Two Big Deals While Here.

Trading 640 acres of land in Concho county, valued at $12,000, for the old Hat ranch on the Pecos and Live Oak rivers, and 640 acres near Eola, valued at $16,000 for 3500 ewes and lambs, also 100 head of registered red polled cattle, C. W. Stevens of Eola has closed one of the largest deals of this kind made in this section recently. The old Hat ranch was purchased from B. F. Wheelis. It contains about thirty-nine sections and is regarded as one of the very best in Crockett county. D. E. Sims of Paint Rock sold the ewes and lambs. They were figured in at $3.50 for the ewes and $1.50 for the lambs. The cattle were taken at $75 per head. It is the intention of Mr. Stevens to pasture his sheep on a part of his newly acquired land.

DEATH CALLS AGED CITIZEN

MRS. ADEL MONROE PASSES AWAY AT HER HOME ON WEST HARRIS AVENUE.

WIFE OF EARLY SCOUT

Husband Took Part in Skirmishes With Indians, Being Under Captivity Several Days—Drowned in South Concho.

Mrs. Adel Moore, aged 73 years, died at the home of her grandson, Albert Steffens, on West Harris avenue at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Deceased leaves a brother living at El Paso and a sister who lives at Knickerbocker. High mass will be said over the remains at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Sacred Heart Catholic church, corner South Oakes street and East Beauregard avenue. Rev. Father P. F. Nichols will officiate. Interment will be at the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Monroe was one of the pioneers of San Angelo. She came to this county several years before the Ben Ficklin flood. For the past fifteen years she had resided in the little home on West Harris avenue. She was born in the state of Sonora, Mexico, and was a member of one of the best families of Old Mexico, her parents coming from Spain. The aged woman was known among her people in San Angelo for her many Christian deeds, for her nobleness of character and ever bright and happy manner.

The deceased was the wife of one of the early scouts of Fort Concho. Mr. Monroe was at one time during the days of Fort Concho captured by the Indians and held in captivity. Later he made his escape and led the soldiers against the marauding tribes, adding in eventually driving them from West Texas. Later he lost his life while boating on the South Concho near the fort, by the overturning of his boat.

The two grandchildren with whom the deceased lived are children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. A. W. Steffens. They are Albert and Adel Steffens. Another granddaughter, Miss Ruth Steffens, died several years ago. All of the older citizens of San Angelo will join in extending condolences to the brother, sister and grandchildren. The two grandchildren have tenderly cared for their grandmother during a lingering illness of several months, showing true devotion to their loved one.

Mrs. Bell Entertains.

Mrs. W. A. Bell entertained a few friends Thursday evening at her home on West College avenue, in honor of Misses Sadie and Bessie Stevens, who lately moved here from Cuero. Cards was the principal pastime, and during the evening punch flowed freely and other delightful refreshments were served. Mrs. Bell proved herself an ideal hostess and it was only at a very late hour that the merry-makers broke away from the thrall of her entertainment. Those present were: Misses Bessie and Sadie Stevens, Itasca Hill, Ellen Hillman, Gussie Williams, Bertha and Arnabelle Fouts, Winnie O'Daniels, and Messrs. Forrest Meador, J. D. Proctor, Will Day, J. H. Evans, “Daree Devil” Labadie, J. O. Little, Stevens and J. G. Schooler.

W. F. Hayward left Friday to visit his brother at Comanche.

First National Bank Gives $2500 To Lanin Bonus

Citizens of San Angelo Read Handwriting on the Wall and Come Into Their Own--Rail Road Now Sure Thing.

San Angelo has at last hit her stride! The citizens have read the handwriting on the wall, and realizing the awful import of losing the Sterling City road, they are coming up with the bonus in the good old San Angelo way. Mr. Lanin has set the 15th as the limit, and there is no doubt that before the expiration of that time the money will be raised and another railroad assured to the Queen City of the Conchos.

will be found laboring in the same steadfast fashion of days of yore until their eyes are closed in the slumber that knows no waking. And that is not all. They are instilling into their sons the spirit of municipal love, which will cause the generation to come to pursue the same course, lest they shame the memories of those who have gone before.

It has been the oft-repeated boast of the city's boosters that nothing was impossible to San Angelo, when its people decided to act, and the truth of this saying has been demonstrated so often that it is an axiom. Concerted action has ever been the means of the wonderful success of this city, and such it will be in the future.

To those who have watched the growth of San Angelo from a little prairie town to the city of brick and granite it is today are wont to regard it as almost a page from an old fairy tale. But fairy tales do not exist in this twentieth century of commonplace actualities. The spirit of progress has been so deeply imbued in San Angelo's citizenship that the possible has become probable and the probable a reality.

The First National Bank sounded the keynote of the campaign Friday when that institution showed its faith in San Angelo's future by subscribing $2500 of the necessary fund. This is the first corporation to come forth and show its belief in Mr. Lanin's road, but it is confidently hoped and believed that others will follow in rapid succession.

And so the same old story will soon be read over once more. When the voice of progress calls, San Angelo is ever ready to answer roll call, and progress in the person of J. J. Lanin has once more knocked at the city's gates and lo they open wide to receive the distinguished visitor with “gifts and gladsome welcome.”

Others may talk of wonderful enthusiasm of other cities in building railroads and carrying on public improvements, and their wonderful promises for future enterprise. San Angelo needs no boasting to support its claims as the coming city of Texas! Its citizens do not boast of what it will do and then lay down on any proposition for its future welfare. They can, however, point to what they have done and say not a word. The eyes of the world at large are keen, but they might be almost blinded and even they could read the lustrous account of San Angelo's past on the tablets of history!

No definite report has been made by the committee, but it is generally believed that everything will be ready by Tuesday for Mr. Lanin to throw off his coat and start the ball rolling. It was with a great sense of pride that the committee announced Friday that the day had been the most profitable since it started to work on this bonus. Several large subscriptions were received in addition to the one of the First National bank, and it seems that the lists will be closed now at most any time.

But that is not all; San Angelo does not contain a class of citizens that rests on its oars and says it has done its part and that it is time for someone else to take the helm of the good ship progress. Not for a moment. The same men who first started San Angelo on the road of progress and prosperity are still in the front ranks, struggling with might and main, lending their every effort to the tide of progression that is slowly and surely lifting this city into the lead of Texas' great trade centers, and there they

Frank Ritter of Water Valley phoned to the Press-News Friday night, saying that his little city is ready to sign up the contract with Mr. Lanin. A meeting was held there early in the evening and about $1200 was raised within ten minutes. J. G. Cooper, who is in Austin, sent a telegram advising the citizens of Water Valley that Austin people who own Water Valley property, had agreed to sign up for $1500. This amount, which had raised Friday night, rounded off the $16,000.

Sterling City is ready to sign the contract, and Carlsbad is only needing a few hundred.

T. C. Atwood was a passenger on the outgoing Santa Fe Friday, north-bound, for a summer trip to St. Louis, Grand Rapids and Chicago. He will be away about thirty days and says that when he returns he will bring with him the sweetest line of furniture that has ever been seen in this city.

The directors of the San Angelo club wish to proffer the use of the club rooms to the committee for the entertainment of the visiting mayors. It is their privilege to make use of them at any time during the entire convention.

Shower Bath on Streets for Children

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—A try-out was given the street shower bath in the North End and scores of children enjoyed the novel experience of a shower bath without first going through the formality of removing their clothing. A few objections were urged to the scheme, which originated with E. T. Brigham of the Helping Hand Institute, but these will be quickly overcome. It will be necessary for Mr. Brigham or his assistants to secure the consent of the parents for the children who will take the shower baths and induce the parents to clothe the little ones so that clothing of value will not be damaged. The shower baths are arranged on fire plugs. They consist of a carrying pipe and a distributor with four spray nozzles. The water was turned on at 5 o'clock, and during the next half hour scores of children sported under the cooling fountains and rounded the envy of the adults in the neighborhood.

Mr. Brigham will arrange to place several of the shower baths in various neighborhoods.

STORES CLOSE FOR REVIVAL

MORE THAN 120 FIRMS AGREE TO KEEP DOORS BARRED FROM 10 TO 11:30 O'CLOCK.

SATURDAY IS EXCLUDED

Meeting Is Being Held at Riverside Rink and Is Conducted by Rev. George C. Cates—The Movement Encouraged.

In order that San Angelo may have the greatest revival in the history of this city, more than 120 firms signed a petition Friday to close their doors every morning except Saturdays while the meeting is in progress, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock. The committee having in charge the closing of the stores and other places of business only worked on the streets a few hours, and many additional names are to be secured Saturday.

In fact, it is the intention of the committee to have practically every business house and office in the city close during the hours mentioned. The meeting is being conducted at the Riverside rink, and is being led by Rev. George C. Cates.

Following is a copy of the petition being circulated, and the names of those who signed Friday:

Hoping that it is God's time to bless every home and heart in San Angelo, and not wanting to be a stumbling block in God's way, we hereby agree to close our respective places of business from 10 to 11:30 o'clock each morning during the revival meeting (Saturday excepted) in order that our employes and ourselves may have a

SHUCK YOUR COATS.

It is now a case of do, or off to the boneyard of dead cities.

San Angelo is today undergoing the novel sensation of Opportunity knocking at her door with a sledge hammer.

The door has simply got to be opened, and in this instance it takes a cool $50,000 for San Angelo to get in the game.

And the game is one of freeze-out, too; don't forget that. If San Angelo doesn't get into the going—well there is Big Springs, there is Miles, there is Colorado City, there is Stanton—in fact a score of other places all ready with the $50,000 asked of San Angelo and anxious for Opportunity to merely tap at their respective doors.

The Press-News believes that the committee should ask for more than a mere 2 per cent of the taxable value of properties. That won't raise the bonus asked by Mr. Lanin quick enough. Then, besides, the man who gives 2 per cent is the man who has sufficient brain-gathering force to see where it will pay him to give more than the 2 per cent.

There are a lot of people who won't give a penny for promised salvation, who at the same time would part with considerably more than a widow's mite to keep out of hell's fire and damnation.

To those people who out of civic pride and an ardent wish for the welfare of San Angelo can not contribute to this bonus, The Press-News would suggest that if San Angelo doesn't get this Sterling City line upon the proposition submitted by Mr. Lanin, there is grave danger of retroaction setting in with the city of San Angelo itself, and what is now the liveliest place for its size on the map anywhere will become a memory and a spectre upon the vista of the past in the years that are to come.

It's something more than the mere building up of San Angelo at stake. It's to keep San Angelo from being pulled down.

There are a lot of men living in a one-story house, with means and family enough to justify living in a two-story house. These men will not make much of a demonstration, as a general proposition, if the suggestion is made that they should add another story to their respective houses.

But you just let some fellow attempt to pull down the one-story house that such a man lives in and you will see a commotion that will make a Kansas cyclone look like a springtime zephyr.

Can't you gather the meaning? It is this. San Angelo doesn't have to get this Lanin road to spread out. But San Angelo has just got to have this proposition, or she will shrivel up like a snail that has salt sprinkled on its tail, for if she doesn't get it some other place will.

If sleeping, rise; if feasting, wake, when the committee calls on you for your subscription. Pull hard the latch, open wide the door and bid them enter, for they are giving time and talent and hard work for your own good. It is the hour of opportunity, and the occasion must be grasped, for once it slips it is gone, never more to return.

If there were room for argument, space for discussion or chance for doubt as to the absolute necessity of meeting the conditions imposed by Lanin, some means of combating an objection to making such a substantial investment could be found. But, however, an absolute unanimity of opinion prevails as to the absolute necessity for San Angelo securing this new outlet. It should be remembered that being the terminal point of three railroads is a sight better than being a way station on a single line, or on two lines, for that matter.

So let's all hit the line hard; let's buck the game to win; let's sweeten the kitty when it comes our time to sweeten, and above everything else let us always remember that while we can do our city a great good by subscribing to this bonus, that if we don't come across like we ought to—and like we will—that what fate and other things will do to us will be a caution and then some.

So, all together. The entire amount asked ought to be raised before night.

We fear it was a sad day at Moody for William Poindexter, when Senator Bailey declared that on account of his forced departure from the place on account of the arrival of his train that the people would be addressed by a man who is able enough to be your United States senator, who is able enough to be your governor. Poindexter is able enough and he is willing enough, but he ain't yet, and the chances are that he won't next year. Had Bailey never planted such an ambition in his breast he would to this day be a contented and unsuccessful office-seeker.

The Standard Oil company announces that it has perfected a new "petroleum butter" and the prosperity of the butter industry is said to be threatened. Now if Jawn D. will just insist that none of the hairs of his $150 toupee find a lodgment in that new butter, we will give thanks at the proper time.

The San Angelo club will soon enlarge its quarters. For the benefit of strangers who have thus far lived in that nubian darkness which envelops all who have never visited San Angelo, it should be remarked that San Angelo is not dry. But the club is.

Just as soon as we raise the Lanin bonus, what's the matter with making the trades excursion proposed by Dr. March a triumphant tour of the section to the northward?

Just keep your eye peeled for M. M. Brooks to fling a firebrand into the political arena.

Remember the dates—Oct. 5-9—and then talk about them.

George Cowan, editor of the Robert Lee Observer in the City suffering from an injured hand. He waltzed out of his back door with a two-page form and when it threw him he refused to let go, so the form got the better of the scuffle.

Martin Elliott, who was shot through the head Wednesday on Dove creek by an accident, was in The Press-News office Friday. Mr. Elliott is very thankful that he is among the living, for he had a very close call.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Davis and children, who have been camping on Spring creek for the last week or so, returned Friday to their home in Temple. They report a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Norvell of Park Heights are enjoying a visit from John Adams and wife of Pineland. Mrs. Adams is a sister to Mrs. Norvell.

R. M. Wooley and family of Bertram, who have been visiting in Mertzou, were in San Angelo Friday preparatory to leaving for their home.

Mrs. Emma Thompson came in on the Santa Fe Friday for a visit to her mother, Mrs. A. G. Murphy of Eldorado.

S. H. Jenkins, who has been traveling for a shoe house, is at home for a vacation.

FIELDS GETS CASH PRIZE

JUDGES SELECT HIS DESIGN AS BEST SUBMITTED FOR FALL FAIR CATALOGUE.

MANY ARTISTS HERE

Eight Drawings Considered and All of Them Are Unusually Good—Description of the One Officially Adopted.

Seldom has as much interest been manifested in a contest of any kind in San Angelo as that taken in the competitive design contest for the cover of the 1909 San Angelo Fall Fair and Carnival catalogue.

Postmaster E. Blanchard, J. G. Murphy and D. C. McCaleb met Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the office of the Standard and decided after almost an hour of careful study that the cash prize of $5 should go to O. B. Fields. The judges were for a time very much perplexed as to whether to award the prize to Mr. Fields or to Harry Storrs. Both artists contributed drawings of much more than ordinary skill, as did several other local artists.

The judges considered eight drawings. Mr. Fields contributed one, Mr. Storrs three, Miss Lillian Weathered one, Miss Ida Passur one, Miss Millie Johnston one and George Ross one. All of the drawings were cleverly gotten up and displayed more than common skill in pen and ink work.

The winning sketch will be reproduced on the catalogue cover and will be printed in two colors on paper of iris lavender color. This color will blend most harmoniously with the two colors of the cut and in this way make the introduction for the interesting reading matter and advertising in the catalogue. Each and every feature possible to place in the catalogue will be put there, and the catalogues will be printed within a month, so all who wish may send copies to friends all over the country, thus advertising Concholand as well as aiding the advertisers in getting their ads. before the largest number of people possible.

Mr. Fields' picture is typical of West Texas and San Angelo. Conveying the idea that civilization and progress have taken the place of other days, the winner placed in the middle of the picture at the top a pair of mounted long horns. Hanging to these is a pistol turned upside down, a pair of spurs, and intertwined in these is a lariat. On the left hand side of the drawing is a group of agricultural products. The pumpkin, the kershaw, the different vegetables and fruits, as well as several stalks of corn, are beautifully interwoven. In the middle of the picture is the following artistically arranged: "1909 Catalogue, the San Angelo Fair and Carnival Association, San Angelo, Tex. Opens Oct. 5. Closes Oct. 9." At the four corners of the title of the catalogue is a head of a cow, a horse, a sheep and a pig. Below the lettering is a race track scene, showing horses, sulkeys and drivers in the nobles of sports, racing. In the distance in this picture is a grand stand filled with people, and beyond this is an exhibit hall. In the air above is a balloon and an airship sailing about as cleverly as you please. In the right hand lower corner is a picture of San Angelo. A broad avenue is shown with trees on one side. On the other side is a park with several beautiful floral designs. Beyond this street scene are beautiful homes and factory buildings, with smoke pouring from their chimneys. Then there is a street car and a railroad train, picturing San Angelo as she is soon to be.

Mr. Fields, the successful contestant, is a sign painter by occupation. He has lived in San Angelo for several years. He is a skillful artist and his work in this particular line in this city, while residing here has been his best recommendation. As an artist, the design he submitted was really the first work of the kind he had ever done. His drawing shows cleverness and ability and his friends hope that he will devote more time to pen and ink work, for they feel that he is bound to win great laurels in this field.

The Press-News of July 18 will contain a cut of the prize-winning drawing, as well as a photographic reproduction of Mr. Fields.

CHAPTER IV.

THE INDISCREET MR. CHASE.

HERE was not a handsomer, more striking figure in the palace gardens on the night of the reception than Hollingsworth Chase nor one whose pose proved that he knew the world quite as well as it is possible for any man to know it. He was a unique figure also, for he was easily distinguishable as the only American in the brilliant assemblage.

He was presented to the princess late in the evening, together with Baggs of the British office. His pride and confidence received a severe shock. She glanced at him with unaffected welcome, but with the air of one who was looking upon his face for the first time.

He could not again approach within speaking distance of the princess, nor did he presume to make the effort. Chase knew his proper place. She was the gayest, the most vivacious being in the whole assemblage. She had but to stretch out her hand or project her smile and every man in touch with the spell was ready to drop at her feet. At last she led her court off toward the pavilion under which the royal orchestra was playing. As if it were a signal, every one turned his steps in that direction. Chase and the Englishman had been conversing diligently with an ancient countess and her two attractive daughters near the fountain. Again the dapper director came forward to lead the musicians, and again he was most enthusiastically received. This time Chase was not where he could watch the princess. He found, therefore, that he could devote his attention to the music and the popular conductor. He was amazed to find that the fellow seemed to be inspired. He was also surprised to find himself carried away by the fervor of the moment.

With the final crash of the orchestra he found himself shouting again with the others. Oddly, this time he was as mad as they. A score or more of surprised, disapproving eyes were turned upon him when he yelled "Encore!"

"There will be no encore," admonished the fair girl at his side kindly. "It is not New York," she added, with a sly smile.

Ten minutes later Chase and the Englishman were lighting their cigars in an obscure corner of the gardens. "Extraordinarily beautiful," Chase murmured reflectively as he seated himself upon the stone railing along the drive.

"Yes, they say he really wrote it himself," drawled Baggs, puffing away. "I'm not talking about the music," corrected Chase sharply.

"Oh!" murmured Baggs apologetically. "The night?"

"No; the princess, Baggs. Haven't you noticed her?" with intense sarcasm in his tone.

"Of course I have, old chap. By Jove, do you know she is good looking—positively ripping."

They lazily observed the approach of one couple, attracted no doubt by the disparity in the height of the two shadows. The man was at least half a head shorter than his companion, but his ardor seemed a thousandfold more vast. Chase was amused by the apparent intensity of the small officer's devotion, especially as it was met with

The finest watch in the world is made in America. It is the Howard.

It has been the finest watch since 1842. In those days the best Howard cost $500. The price is much less today—and the watch is finer. The Howard has been carried—is carried today—by more distinguished Americans than any other watch.

It is the only American watch certified by the International Observatory at Geneva.

Few men realize what watch-accuracy means until they carry a Howard, with its superb precision as a timekeeper, its adjustment to heat and cold, vibration and change of position.

SOLDIER LEAPS FROM TRAIN.
 Escaped Prisoner Fights Guards Till Ammunition Is Exhausted.

Lincoln, Neb., July 9.—John Collins of Geneva, N. Y., a private in the United States army, while being transported to prison by a guard of soldiers, leaped through the window of a car in a rapidly moving train in an effort to escape. He was pursued by the soldiers and after a fight of an hour he was shot and captured.

Collins was being taken from Fort Robinson, Neb., to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to the military prison. When ten miles out from Lincoln and while the train was running thirty miles an hour Collins suddenly plunged head foremost through an open window. One of the guards shoved the muzzle of his rifle through the window and began firing at Collins, who had picked himself up from the ground and was running rapidly across the country.

The other guard pulled the bell cord and stopped the train. All the soldiers then took up the pursuit of Collins and the train came on to Lincoln without them.

The soldiers gradually overtook Collins and were surprised when the latter took refuge in a ravine and opened fire with a heavy Colt revolver which he had secreted. He was finally shot through the leg and surrendered after all his ammunition was spent. None of the soldiers was hit. The trip to Leavenworth was continued.

One case of assault was disposed of in City Recorder Wade Henderson's court Friday, and two beligerents made their appearance before the bar of justice to make their obedi- ence to the law. After satisfying the claim of justice they were allowed to go on their way without further molestation.

ROME SHIELD RETURNS GREATLY ENTHUSED OVER WONDERFUL RESOURCES.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY

With American People to Push Situation Things Would Show Remarkable Advancement There, He Declares.

"I am glad to be back in San Angelo," said Rome Shield, who returned Friday from a trip to Old Mexico. "Though I enjoyed my trip, at first I didn't like things very much, and I made myself immensely unpopular by remarking that the coat of arms of the country, which is on the flag and all the money, represented the condition down there. The coat of arms is an eagle with a snake in its mouth sitting on a bunch of cactus. I said that the eagle represented the government, the snake the people, and the cactus the country. There is only one part I changed my mind about, and that was the country. "Mexico is a land flowing with milk and honey, and all that is needed is a progressive class of people to open it up and develop its stupendous natural resources. I spent the most of my time in the states of Sonora and Chihuahua, and with proper management it will be one of the finest ranching countries in the world. There is water in abundance flowing down from living springs on the mountain sides, pure, cold and sweet. "I learned also while down there that on the western side of the mountains that slope down to the Pacific coast there is the finest farming country man's eye ever rested upon. "There is more gold, silver and copper in those mountains than has ever been taken out of the earth in the world's history. But what can be done without railroads and decent facilities for transportation? All the means of getting the ore to civilization is by pack horses, and the outlaws and Indians are nearly always rampant, and it is as much as a man's life is worth to carry the ore without guards across the mountains. "Mexico is a land of promise, but with its present class of population it can never reach any great point of development; they are not progressive and are always scrapping among themselves. When President Diaz dies there is bound to be an awful revolution over there. There will be two candidates for the presidency, one man standing for the common people and the other for the aristocrats, and among such people it will, of necessity, result in bloodshed. The Indians and outlaws are always on the warpath and people are in constant dread of the raids. "What is needed to develop the resources of that country, one most wonderful the sun ever upon, is an influx of real living class of American citizens real treasures of Montezuma the country itself and in the rest of its mountains, awaiting the coming of the people who can reap its magnificent resources."

SIDEWALK SPACE BEING UTILIZED

Dr. C. E. Mayes, Who Is Erecting Concrete Building on Chadbourne, Introduces Something New.

By using the space under the sidewalk for a basement, Dr. C. E. Mayes, who is putting up a concrete building on Chadbourne street, is setting an example that will doubtless be followed in the future by those who erect business houses in San Angelo. The sidewalk is to be of cement and transparent glass, thus affording plenty of light for the basement.

This is another evidence of the development of San Angelo. The day is at hand when property on the business streets is at a premium, and those who put up buildings are to utilize every available space.

At the Yale.

Besides giving good pictures, the Yale has gone to additional expense this week in keeping two vaudeville teams, striving to give the people something extra in the vaudeville line. The Faris reappeared Friday night in their act "Before and After Talking." This was the second rendition of their act, and to say that it is highly interesting and a favorite is useless, for the crowd showed that.

Telesedre and Atherton have indeed proved themselves to be artists in their line of work. Their jokes were all good and full of humor, and their trick piano playing held the wondering gaze of the audiences each time. Their popularity was shown by the crowds calling them back for a second performance.

The Yale well deserves to be called a playhouse of fun, interest and instructiveness.

Eat cold watermelons at the Angelo; 30 cents a slice.

At the Crystal.

As is usual with this show, it opened Friday night with exceedingly good pictures, the best being "Human Tortures," which began with the pre-historics and dealt with nearly all ages, including the human sacrifices of the Druids, through the terrible days of Louis XI, and on down to the present day, giving a clear conception of the horrible ordeals under one by man since the beginning of his existence.

Whitehurst and Wyldie appeared in their famous dramatic sketch, "Retribution." In this both acted their parts so well that they have been placed at the top notch of theatrical performers. Their play teaches a well-pointed lesson, showing the trouble man can bring to woman and in turn what trouble woman can bring to man through revenge. This act was such a favorite with the audience that many are regretting that there is to be a change in program Saturday night.

The play, "If You Were the Girl," to be played Saturday night, is claimed to be one of the best this team could procure, and promises to be exceptionally good.

The Crystal has good music, singing pictures, vaudeville, many electric fans and plenty of ventilation, making it a very desirable place to spend an evening.

Coatless Man Welcome At This Revival Meeting

If You Are Hot You Cannot be Comfortable; Therefore You Miss Import of Sermon-Ladies Express Willingness of Innovation.

That the monster revival meeting just getting started in San Angelo, in which nearly every church in the city is taking part, will be a campaign for souls, with the leaders paying no attention to how this man or that woman is dressed, was exemplified Friday night when the ladies of the congregation announced that "the coatless man" will be welcomed to all services.

This will be an innovation for San Angelo, and, it is believed, something that has not been practiced before in any other city in the state. It was pointed out that the union meeting was being held for the purpose of leading the unsaved to Christ--it is a place where God's word is to be taught. It is the desire of Rev. George C. Cates to hold the undivided attention of his congregations, but unless everybody is comfortable such a thing would be impossible. It has therefore been agreed that if the men attend the services in their shirt sleeves they will not be troubled to any great extent with the heat, and will be in a position to digest all that is being said.

My Brother's Keeper, and the Voice of My Brother's Blood" was the subject of Mr. Cates' sermon Friday night. The speaker declared that no man lives to himself, and that God holds each individual responsible for soul influence by their lives.

Business men are responsible for the souls of their employees; fathers are responsible for their boys; mothers are responsible for their children. Evangelist Cates made a plea for the business men of San Angelo to stand by the petition calling for a general closing and suspension of business each day between the hours of 10 and 11:30 o'clock. "Let's influence by our good deeds those who have refused to sign," said the evangelist, "so they, too, will join in with us."

A great impression of personal responsibility was left on the hearts of the people, and following the close of the sermon a spirit of prayer prevailed throughout the congregation. Four people went to the altar for prayer, and one girl gave herself up to God.

Two meetings will be held each day--one in the morning and the other in the evening.

A large crowd was present Friday night, but the attendance is nothing like as large as it will be. Everything is being lined up for a great meeting Sunday, and it is believed that every available seat in the rink will be occupied at the services to follow throughout next week.

GAS COMPANY READY.

As Soon as Fifty People Sign up Mains Will Be Extended.

"The gas mains will be extended to Park Heights as soon as fifty men will agree to sign contracts," said John Freeland, president of the company, Friday. "There are twenty now who have agreed to use gas and when the other thirty come in on the proposition the work will be rushed through. The gas company must be assured of returns before it will make any definite move in that direction."

Mrs. Shepherd Dies.

Mrs. Hattie Shepherd, aged 29 years, died at her home in Angelo Heights on North Irving street at 12 o'clock Friday. She leaves one child, a little girl aged 8. Her husband is not living and her only other relative is a brother living at Dora, Ala.

Her body was removed to the parlors of the San-Angelo Furniture and Undertaking company and prepared for shipment to Dora, Ala.

The tent revival across the railroad at Nineteenth and Oakes streets is meeting with success and much enthusiasm is being shown over the sermons. Jesse P. Sewell is conducting the services under the auspices of the Church of Christ. Friday night his text was "Prepare to meet thy God," and Saturday night he will take as his subject "The First Gospel Sermon."

Moon Recovering.

Dick Moon, who is suffering from carbolic acid poisoning, is recovering. For while his life was despaired of, but after many hours he was pulled past the danger mark and given a new lease on life.

Elder W. P. Skaggs left Friday for the north and east on an evangelistic tour. His first meeting will be at Chadwick Mills in San Saba county.

WOMAN MAKES LAST DONATION

HOSPITAL FUND NOW COMPLETE AND SAN ANTONIO HAS BEEN ADVISED ACCORDINGLY.

WORK TO START SOON

First Building Will Cost Approximately $25,000--Others Are to Be Added as the Occasion May Demand.

At last the hospital fund has been raised and the citizens of San Angelo have again proved that they are the finest bunch of town builders in the state. Friday morning a San Angelo lady contributed the remaining $50 and requested that her name be withheld.

To say that the raising of the hospital fund was a simple task would be incorrect. It has been one of the hardest struggles in the history of the city. The faithful supporters of San Angelo's progress contributed so freely to all public enterprises that some felt that they had about gone their limit, but when they found that there was danger of losing this great connecting link in the chain of progress they came forward nobly and saved the day. Such has ever been the history of the growth of San Angelo, the city of the west!

room becomes obvious, enlargements will be made. San Angelo was offered this hospital by the Catholic sisters for a bonus of $15,000. The citizens were given almost unlimited time, and this accounts for the lack of interest taken for awhile. However, when concerted action was taken, the movement went through rapidly.

A fire broke out in Dr. T. W. Conery's new brick building Friday morning but was extinguished before any damage resulted. No assistance from the fire department was necessary.

Cunningham Sojourning in Klondike

Capt. W. S. Cunningham, who enjoys the honor of being the father of Austin Cunningham, the rising young journalist who holds a staff position with the San Antonio Express, has received a letter from the journalist, now sojourning in the far northwest. Young Austin at the time he wrote his father, was en route over Chilkoot Pass, on his way to the Klondike country. He will return by boat, down the Yukon, and the entire trip may take several weeks. He writes he is having a simply grand time and that he is enjoying every minute of his vacation.

Austin Cunningham held down the house desk in the Thirty-first legislature for the Express, and his work was characterized by fidelity to detail and accuracy in delineation. He was extremely popular with the members of the house and was a general favorite with the press gang there.

S. Aly left Friday for Arlington to visit relatives.

P. O. Kirby returned Friday from a business trip to Brownwood.

BRYAN-BENNETT LIBRARY BUILDING AT SALEM, ILL.

This is a photograph of the Bryan-Bennett library building at Salem, Ill., which was erected out of funds bequeathed to William J. Bryan by the late P. S. Bennett. The frame building adjoining it is the house where Mr. Bryan was born. Mr. Bryan lectured in Salem recently, turning over the proceeds of the evening to the library committee to purchase books.

W. M. HEMPHILL LIKES THE IDEA

WILL LEND EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE TRADES EXCURSION A HOWLING SUCCESS.

SUGGESTS TWO TRIPS

"We Should Get Out Plenty of Advertising Matter and Crafter It Broadcast," Says Mr. Hemphill--Band Proposed.

"The idea of a trades excursion is an excellent one," declared W. M. Hemphill of the firm of Baker-Hemphill company, Friday. "And you may say that I will lend every effort to help it out. It will serve to bring San Angelo into closer touch with her tributaries and promote an era of good feeling toward San Angelo in the towns we visit."

"My idea is that we make two trips out of it. On one we should make a half circle to the towns to the south in automobiles. Their trade naturally comes to us, but no one can tell in these days of quick-built railroads when one will bob up and cut off the trade where we are most confident of holding it; therefore, it would be well to make a trip around to them so as to give them a friendly feeling toward us."

"The towns to the north and northeast are the ones we must guard most closely, for the advent of new railroads gives them an inlet as well as an outlet to the north, and we should be very diligent in showing them the advantages to be reaped by continuing San Angelo as their trading center."

Mayor Paul has laid out the course to the north in a very systematic and sensible schedule. I am quite sure that the majority of the business men will join in and make this trip a great success and an advertising scheme that will be of untold advantage to the city in general, as well as to the merchants."

"A vast amount of advertising matter should be carried along and distributed everywhere. Then there should be some good scheme to attract widespread interest, a band for instance. This is a move generally made by growing cities and should be made by us, so that our tributaries may know just exactly what we have to offer."

OLD HAT RANCH.

C. W. Stevens of Eola Closes Two Big Deals While Here.

Trading 640 acres of land in Concho county, valued at $12,000, for the old Hat ranch on the Pecos and Live Oak rivers, and 640 acres near Eola, valued at $16,000 for 3500 ewes and lambs, also 100 head of registered red polled cattle. C. W. Stevens of Eola has closed one of the largest deals of this kind made in this section recently.

The old Hat ranch was purchased from B. F. Wheelis. It contains about thirty-nine sections and is regarded as one of the very best in Crockett county.

D. E. Sims of Paint Rock sold the ewes and lambs. They were figured in at $3.50 for the ewes and $1.50 for the lambs. The cattle were taken at $75 per head.

It is the intention of Mr. Stevens to pasture his sheep on a part of his newly acquired land.

DEATH CALLS AGED CITIZEN

MRS. ADEL MONROE PASSES AWAY AT HER HOME ON WEST HARRIS AVENUE.

WIFE OF EARLY SCOUT

Husband Took Part in Skirmishes With Indians, Being Under Captivity Several Days--Drowned in South Concho.

Mrs. Adel Moore, aged 73 years, died at the home of her grandson, Albert Steffens, on West Harris avenue at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Deceased leaves a brother living at El Paso and a sister who lives at Knickerbocker. High mass will be said over the remains at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Sacred Heart Catholic church, corner South Oakes street and East Beauregard avenue. Rev. Father P. F. Nichols will officiate. Interment will be at the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Monroe was one of the pioneers of San Angelo. She came to this county several years before the Ben Ficklin flood. For the past fifteen years she had resided in the little home on West Harris avenue. She was born in the state of Sonora, Mexico, and was a member of one of the best families of Old Mexico, her parents coming from Spain. The aged woman was known among her people in San Angelo for her many Christian deeds, for her nobleness of character and ever bright and happy manner.

The deceased was the wife of one of the early scouts of Fort Concho. Mr. Monroe was at one time during the days of Fort Concho captured by the Indians and held in captivity. Later he made his escape and led the soldiers against the marauding tribes, aiding in eventually driving them from West Texas. Later he lost his life while boating on the South Concho near the fort, by the overturning of his boat.

The two grandchildren with whom the deceased lived are children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. A. W. Steffens. They are Albert and Adel Steffens. Another granddaughter, Miss Ruth Steffens, died several years ago. All of the older citizens of San Angelo will join in extending condolences to the brother, sister and grandchildren. The two grandchildren have tenderly cared for their grandmother during a lingering illness of several months, showing true devotion to their loved one.

Mrs. Bell Entertains.

Mrs. W. A. Bell entertained a few friends Thursday evening at her home on West College avenue, in honor of Misses Sadie and Bessie Stevens, who lately moved here from Cuero. Cards was the principal pastime, and during the evening punch flowed freely and other delightful refreshments were served. Mrs. Bell proved herself an ideal hostess and it was only at a very late hour that the merry-makers broke away from the thrall of her entertainment. Those present were: Misses Bessie and Sadie Stevens, Maaca Hill, Ellen Hillman, Gossie Williams, Bertha and Annabelle Fouts, Winnie O'Daniels, and Messrs. Forrest Meador, J. D. Proctor, Will Day, J. H. Evans, "Daree Devil" Labadie, J. O. Little, Stevens and J. G. Schoeler.

W. F. Howard left Friday to visit his brother at Comanche.

First National Bank Gives $2500 To Lanin Bonus

Citizens of San Angelo Read Handwriting on the Wall and Come Into Their Own--Rail Road Now Sure Thing.

San Angelo has at last hit her stride! The citizens have read the handwriting on the wall, and, realizing the awful import of losing the Sterling City road, they are coming up with the bonus in the good old San Angelo way. Mr. Lanin has set the 15th as the limit, and there is no doubt that before the expiration of that time the money will be raised and another railroad assured to the Queen City of the Conchos.

It has been the oft-repeated boast of the city's boosters that nothing was impossible to San Angelo, when its people decided to act, and the truth of this saying has been demonstrated so often that it is an axiom. Concerted action has ever been the means of the wonderful success of this city, and such it will be in the future.

The First National Bank sounded the keynote of the campaign Friday when that institution showed its faith in San Angelo's future by subscribing $2500 of the necessary fund. This is the first corporation to come forth and show its belief in Mr. Lanin's road, but it is confidently hoped and believed that others will follow in rapid succession.

Others may talk of wonderful enthusiasm of other cities in building railroads and carrying on public improvements, and their wonderful promises for future enterprise. San Angelo needs no boasting to support its claims as the coming city of Texas! Its citizens do not boast of what it will do and then lay down on any proposition for its future welfare. They can, however, point to what they have done and say not a word. The eyes of the world at large are keen, but they might be almost blinded and even they could read the pastorous account of San Angelo's lust on the tablets of history!

But that is not all; San Angelo does not contain a class of citizens that rests on its oars and says it has done its part and that it is time for someone else to take the helm of the good ship progress. Not for a moment. The same men who first started San Angelo on the road of progress and prosperity are still in the front ranks, struggling with might and main, lending their every effort to the tide of progression that is slowly and surely lifting this city into the lead of Texas' great trade centers, and there they will be found laboring in the same steadfast fashion of days of yore until their eyes are closed in the slumber that knows no waking. And that is not all. They are instilling into their sons the spirit of municipal love, which will cause the generation to come to pursue the same course, lest they shame the memories of those who have gone before.

To those who have watched the growth of San Angelo from a little prairie town to the city of brick and granite it is today are wont to regard it as almost a page from an old fairy tale. But fairy tales do not exist in this twentieth century of commonplace actualities. The spirit of progress has been so deeply imbued in San Angelo's citizenship that the possible has become probable and the probable a reality.

And so the same old story will soon be read over once more. When the voice of progress calls, San Angelo is ever ready to answer roll call, and progress in the person of J. J. Lanin has once more knocked at the city's gates and to they open wide to receive the distinguished visitor with "gifts and gladsome welcome."

No definite report has been made by the committee, but it is generally believed that everything will be ready by Tuesday for Mr. Lanin to throw off his coat and start the ball rolling. It was with a great sense of pride that the committee announced Friday that the day had been the most profitable since it started to work on this bonus. Several large subscriptions were received in addition to the one of the First National bank, and it seems that the lists will be closed now at most any time.

Frank Ritter of Water Valley phoned to The Press-News Friday night, saying that his little city is ready to sign up the contract with Mr. Lanin. A meeting was held there early in the evening and about $1200 was raised within ten minutes. J. G. Cooper, who is in Austin, sent a telegram advising the citizens of Water Valley that Austin people who own Water Valley property, had agreed to sign up for $1500. This amount, with that raised Friday night, rounded out the $10,600.

Sterling City is ready to sign the contract, and Carlsbad is only needing a few hundred.

T. C. Atwood was a passenger on the outgoing Santa Fe Friday, north-bound, for a summer trip to St. Louis, Grand Rapids and Chicago. He will be away about thirty days and says that when he returns he will bring with him the sweetest line of furniture that has ever been seen in this city.

The directors of the San Angelo club wish to proffer the use of the club rooms to the committee for the entertainment of the visiting mayors. It is their privilege to make use of them at any time during the entire convention.

Shower Bath on Streets for Children

Kansas City, Mo., July 9--A try-out was given the street shower bath in the North End and scores of children enjoyed the novel experience of a shower bath without first going through the formality of removing their clothing. A few objections were urged to the scheme, which originated with E. T. Brigham of the Helping Hand institute, but these will be quickly overcome. It will be necessary to secure the consent of the parents for the children who will take the shower baths and induce the parents to clothe the little ones so that clothing of value will not be damaged. The shower baths are arranged on fire plugs. They consist of a carrying pipe and a distributor with four spray nozzles. The water was turned on at 5 o'clock, and during the next half hour scores of children sported under the cooling fountains and roused the envy of the adults in the neighborhood.

Mr. Brigham will arrange to place several of the shower baths in various neighborhoods.

STORES CLOSE FOR REVIVAL

MORE THAN 120 FIRMS AGREE TO KEEP DOORS BARRED FROM 10 TO 11:30 O'CLOCK.

SATURDAY IS EXCLUDED

Meeting Is Being Held at Riverside Rink and Is Conducted by Rev. George C. Cates--The Movement Encouraged.

In order that San Angelo may have the greatest revival in the history of this city, more than 120 firms signed a petition Friday to close their doors every morning except Saturdays while the meeting is in progress, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock. The committee having in charge the closing of the stores and other places of business only worked on the streets a few hours, and many additional names are to be secured Saturday.

In fact, it is the intention of the committee to have practically every business house and office in the city close during the hours mentioned. The meeting is being conducted at the Riverside rink, and is being led by Rev. George C. Cates.

Following is a copy of the petition being circulated, and the names of those who signed Friday:

Hoping that it is God's time to bless every home and heart in San Angelo, and not wanting to be a stumbling block in God's way, we hereby agree to close our respective places of business from 10 to 11:30 o'clock each morning during the revival meeting (Saturday excepted) in order that our employes and ourselves may have a

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. Today the danger, as shown by A. W. The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON
 Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

CHAPTER IV.
THE INDISCREET MR. CHASE.
 THERE was not a handsomer, more striking figure in the palace gardens on the night of the reception than Hollingsworth Chase nor one whose poise proved that he knew the world quite as well as it is possible for any one man to know it. His was a unique figure also, for he was easily distinguishable as the only American in the brilliant assemblage.

He was presented to the princess late in the evening, together with Baggs of the British office. His pride and confidence received a severe shock. She glanced at him with unaffected welcome, but with the air of one who was looking upon his face for the first time.

He could not again approach within speaking distance of the princess, nor did he presume to make the effort. Chase knew his proper place. She was the gayest, the most vivacious being in the whole assemblage. She had but to stretch out her hand or project her smile and every man in touch with the spell was ready to drop at her feet. At last she led her court off toward the pavilion under which the royal orchestra was playing. As if it were a signal, every one turned his steps in that direction. Chase and the Englishman had been conversing diligently with an ancient countess and her two attractive daughters near the fountain.

Again the dapper director came forward to lead the musicians, and again he was most enthusiastically received. This time Chase was not where he could watch the princess. He found, therefore, that he could devote his attention to the music and the popular conductor. He was amazed to find that the fellow seemed to be inspired. He was also surprised to find himself carried away by the fervor of the moment.

With the final crash of the orchestra he found himself shouting again with the others. Oddly, this time he was as mad as they. A score or more of surprised, disapproving eyes were turned upon him when he yelled "Encore!"

"There will be no encore," admonished the fair girl at his side kindly. "It is not New York," she added, with a sly smile.

Ten minutes later Chase and the Englishman were lighting their cigars in an obscure corner of the gardens.

"Extraordinarily beautiful," Chase murmured reflectively as he seated himself upon the stone railing along the drive.

"Yes, they say he really wrote it himself," drawled Baggs, puffing away. "I'm not talking about the music," corrected Chase sharply.

"Oh!" murmured Baggs apologetically. "The night?"

"No; the princess, Baggs. Haven't you noticed her?" with intense sarcasm in his tone.

"Of course I have, old chap. By Jove, do you know she is good looking—positively ripping."

They lazily observed the approach of one couple, attracted no doubt by the disparity in the height of the two shadows. The man was at least half a head shorter than his companion, but his ardor seemed a thousandfold more vast. Chase was amused by the apparent intensity of the small officer's devotion, especially as it was met with

SOLDIER LEAPS FROM TRAIN.
 Escaped Prisoner Fights Guards Till Ammunition Is Exhausted.

Lincoln, Neb., July 9.—John Collins of Geneva, N. Y., a private in the United States army, while being transported to prison by a guard of soldiers, leaped through the window of a car in a rapidly moving train in an effort to escape. He was pursued by the soldiers and after a fight of an hour he was shot and captured.

Collins was being taken from Fort Robinson, Neb., to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to the military prison. When ten miles out from Lincoln and while the train was running thirty miles an hour Collins suddenly plunged head foremost through an open window. One of the guards shoved the muzzle of his rifle through the window and began firing at Collins, who had picked himself up from the ground and was running rapidly across the country.

The other guard pulled the bell cord and stopped the train. All the soldiers then took up the pursuit of Collins and the train came out to Lincoln without them.

The soldiers gradually overtook Collins and were surprised when the latter took refuge in a ravine and opened fire with a heavy Colt revolver which he had secreted. He was finally shot through the leg and surrendered after all his ammunition was spent. None of the soldiers was hit. The trip to Leavenworth was continued.

One case of assault was disposed of in City Recorder Wade Henderson's court Friday, and two belligerents made their appearance before the bar of justice to make their obedience to the law. After satisfying the claim of justice they were allowed to go on their way without further molestation.

SIDEWALK SPACE BEING UTILIZED

Dr. C. E. Hayes, Who is Erecting Concrete Building on Chadbourne, Introduces Something New.

By using the space under the sidewalk for a basement, Dr. C. E. Hayes, who is putting up a concrete building on Chadbourne street, is setting an example that will doubtless be followed in the future by those who erect business houses in San Angelo. The sidewalk is to be of cement and transparent glass, thus affording plenty of light for the basement.

This is another evidence of the development of San Angelo. The day is at hand when property on the business streets is at a premium, and those who put up buildings are to utilize every available space.

At the Yale.

Besides giving good pictures, the Yale has gone to additional expense this week in keeping two vaudeville teams, striving to give the people something extra in the vaudeville line. The Faris reappeared Friday night in their act "Before and After Taking." This was the second rendition of their act, and to say that it is highly interesting and a favorite is useless, for the crowd showed that.

Teissedre and Atherton have indeed proved themselves to be artists in their line of work. Their jokes were all good and full of humor, and their trick piano playing held the wondering gaze of the audiences each time. Their popularity was shown by the crowds calling them back for a second performance.

The Yale well deserves to be called a playhouse of fun, interest and instruction.

At the Crystal.

As is usual with this show, it opened Friday night with exceedingly good pictures, the best being "Human Tortures," which began with the pre-historics and dealt with nearly all ages, including the human sacrifices of the Druids, through the terrible days of Louis XI, and on down to the present day, giving a clear conception of the horrible ordeals under one by man since the beginning of his existence.

Whitehurst and Wyde appeared in their famous dramatic sketch, "Retribution." In this both acted their parts so well that they have been placed at the top notch of theatrical performers. Their play teaches a well-pointed lesson, showing the trouble man can bring to woman and in turn what trouble woman can bring to man through revenge. This act was such a favorite with the audience that many are regretting that there is to be a change in program Saturday night.

The play, "If You Were the Girl," to be played Saturday night, is claimed to be one of the best this team could procure, and promises to be exceptionally good.

OLD MEXICO OFFERS MUCH

ROME SHIELD RETURNS GREATLY ENTHUSED OVER WONDERFUL RESOURCES.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY

With American People to Push Nation Things Would Show Remarkable Advancement There, He Declares.

"I am glad to be back in San Angelo," said Rome Shield, who returned Friday from a trip to Old Mexico. "Though I enjoyed my trip, at first I didn't like things very much, and I made myself immensely unpopular by remarking that the coat of arms of the country, which is on the flag and all the money, represented the condition down there. The coat of arms is an eagle with a snake in its mouth sitting on a bunch of cactus. I said that the eagle represented the government, the snake the people, and the cactus the country. There is only one part I changed my mind about, and that was the country."

"Mexico is a land flowing with milk and honey, and all that is needed is a progressive class of people to open it up and develop its stupendous natural resources. I spent the most of my time in the states of Sonora and Chihuahua, and with proper management it will be one of the finest ranching countries in the world. There is water in abundance flowing down from living springs on the mountain sides, pure, cold and sweet."

"I learned also while down there that on the western side of the mountains that slope down to the Pacific coast there is the finest farming country man's eye ever rested upon. There is more gold, silver and copper in those mountains than has ever been taken out of the earth in the world's history. But what can be done without railroads and decent facilities for transportation? All the means of getting the ore to civilization is by pack horses, and the outlaws and Indians are nearly always rampant, and it is as much as a man's life is worth to carry the ore without guards across the mountains."

"Mexico is a land of promise, but with its present class of population it can never reach any great point of development; they are not progressive and are always scrapping among themselves. When President Diaz dies there is bound to be an awful revolution over there. There will be two candidates for the presidency, one man standing for the common people and the other for the aristocrats, and among such people it will, of necessity, result in bloodshed. The Indians and outlaws are always on the warpath and people are in constant dread of the raids."

What is needed to develop the resources of that country, one of the most wonderful the sun ever shined upon, is an influx of real living class of American citizens, real treasures of Montezuma to the country itself and in the rear of its mountains, awaiting only the coming of the people who can develop its magnificent resources."
