"OLE SARGE"

STEP-UP IN RECRUITING SEEN—The tracks were cleared this week for an extensive upsurge of new Air Force recruits, a move that should wipe out the recruiting lag for the past two months. As a result, Air Force expansion should go forward as planned, and necessity for utilizing the draft be eliminated. An immediate enlistment response is expected because of Defense Department action this week freeing 300,000 young men (who have received pre-induction draft notices) to shop around for the service of their choice. The draft-eligible men are being released only from June 15 to July 15. This set-up is the finest the selectee has found since reactivation of the draft boards.

SOLDIER IN KOREA PRESCRIBES WINNING TICKET FOR RECRUITER—The following letter received by Sgt. Floyd McMurty of the Idabel, Oklahoma Recruiting Office is self-explanatory:

"Hi, Sergeant.
"Surprise! You said when I joined the Army that if you could be of any help for me to just write you, and that is what I am doing. I'm with the Second Infantry Division in Korea. So you can see that I need help. Tell the fellows back here that I do need help to preserve the wonderful world in which they live. Please, Sarge, keep up your good recruiting, and I'll keep up my fast digging and good shooting—and we'll win!"

'Calendar May Save Your Life This 4th'—But Don't Bet on It

Austin, June 25.—The calendar may save your life this Fourth of July!

That was the unusual statement issued today by Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in pointing out that the Fourth this year will fall in mid-week, thus affording a single holiday for most people.

Because of the Wednesday holiday, Garrison emphasized that many lives will be saved that might otherwise be forfeit to a longer period. To rely on the calendar to save your life, however, is to gamble with safety, he added. Every holiday is a day of increased hazards, Garrison said, due to the increased traffic volume and the other extra hazards which usually accompany periods of relaxation. All of these demand extra caution to avert disaster. Last year 40 lives were lost in traffic accidents alone during the long four-day 4th of July holiday in Texas. This year the toll will be considerably less but still twice the normal for an average Wednesday. Traffic will claim 10 victims on the single day in the State this year, Garrison estimates. Still another 28 persons will die of drownings and other non-traffic violence on that day.

A terrific price to pay to celebrate our independence!

CARD OF THANKS

We are especially grateful to the Girl Scouts and those who sent contributions; to Jimmy's class for sending flowers, and to all who remembered us with letters and cards. Your thoughtfulness has been very much appreciated and is a consolation during his recovery in the hospital.

The Cow That Can't "Run Dry"

Johnson showed me his cows last week. It was a day and they were all under stress near a watering trough. I darned if one cow wasn't drinking water into the trough! She'd raised the pump with her nose, and use her head to push it down again. "That's Mabel," Sandy explained as she moved away. "Sometimes she doesn't know her own name—turns the place into a mess if we don't watch her."

From where I sit, Mabel isn't the only one who sometimes doesn't know where to stop. For instance, people often carry personal opinions too far—like the person who wants everyone to accept his choice of political parties, or ball-players... or beverages. I prefer a glass of beer with my meals. I know that a lot of other people prefer milk. But nobody ought to insist on "herding" others around to his way of thinking.

HAVE A BETTER KITCHEN

Having a better kitchen is something any homemaker will cast her vote for, and the chances are she has some very definite ideas on how to do it. Those ideas probably involve new equipment and perhaps moving a door, window, or a partition. There's no use talking around the fact that this costs money.

But it's equally important to remember that a kitchen improvement is an investment that increases the value of your home. It protects against depreciation and gives an added bit of "real property" that is generally regarded as today's best investment.

There is still the question of "how to pay." If that's your problem, let's take a brief look at the methods of kitchen financing.

First, see your local banker. He is looking for ways to invest and has several plans that may fit your needs. If you are carrying a mortgage on your home, it may be possible to refinance it to include the costs of kitchen modernization.

The "open-end" mortgage also offers a possibility. This means that if you have enough equity in your home, it may be that you can include in the mortgage, a kitchen investment either by increasing payments slightly or increasing the number of payments.

Because a kitchen is considered a permanent home improvement, an F.H.A. loan may be secured, or a time-payment plan might be worked out with the kitchen dealer or your bank.

One plan which many families are using is to modernize the kitchen unit-by-unit so that the investment comes in small "chunks." With modern steel kitchen equipment you can time the purchase of each piece of equipment as your budget permits.

Marines Now Accepting Young Men Who Are Waiting to Be Drafted

Waco, Tex.—Master Sergeant M. D. Free, Non-Commissioned Officer in Charge of the Marine Recruiting Office here, has announced that men who have received their pre-induction examinations may now be accepted for voluntary enlistment in the Marine Corps.

This was brought about by a recent change in policy. Previously men in receipt of a pre-induction notice could not voluntarily enlist in any branch of the armed services, but were required to wait for the draft.

The change does not affect men who have received their actual induction orders.

"This unexpected opportunity will be open for free only a limited time," Sergeant Free said. "The directive states that we may accept men in this category only during the period of June 15 to July 15," he added.

We have had mostly fair weather for the past week, and farmers have been very busy combining grain and plowing row crops. A large per cent of the grain has been harvested and has produced a fair yield, despite the dry weather in the early stage of the crop. Row crops are looking pretty.

Well, that longest day of the year (June 21) has passed and we are glad to know that the days will gradually decrease in length. These sixteen- to eighteen-hour days are getting kinder tiresome to we old farm folks. Some farmers have been plowing part of the night in order to catch up on farm work, since the recent rains have really produced a big crop of weeds and grass. This day, June 21, happens to be a birthday of our niece, Mrs. Charles Price of Austin, who with her two children, Cheryl and Ronald Charles, are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Those from here attending singing at Littleville Sunday afternoon were H. S. Pitts, John Abel, the writer and mother, Mrs. A. L. Newman. After singing hours the writer and mother visited in the Willis Oglesby home in Hamilton with Mrs. Oglesby and her mother, Mrs. Minnie McCarty.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams and little daughter of Carlton visited a while Monday night in the home of the writer.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Sullivan and one or two of her children ill at this writing. We have been informed that they are patients in the Hico Hospital. We did not learn the nature of their illness. The family reside on Mrs. Emma Ogle's place.

Texie Allison was a Dublin visitor Sunday in the home of his brother, D. E. Allison, and family. His niece, Miss Ruby Jean Allison, accompanied him home for a few days' visit and to be with her cousin, Sherry Seago of Waco, who is also visiting in the home of her grandparents. She accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dellis Seago, who visited here Sunday. The girls are visiting at this writing with their aunt, Mrs. George Stringer, and Cathy of Hico.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blakley returned home Monday from a week-end visit in Olton, Texas, where they visited in the home of his nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Witt Lacey, and Judy. Their daughter, Lera Jane, who had accompanied the Laceywells home following a recent visit here, returned home with them.

Mrs. J. R. Oglesby and children of Killeen spent the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blakley, and did some home-canning of vegetables. Mr. and Mrs. Billy D. Blakley and children of Dallas also spent the

Diet Is Important Factor In Caring for Sick—or Just Ailing

When somebody gets sick at your house, one of your first reactions is, probably, "What should he eat?" Everyone is aware that the general diet of good health is not always the best fuel for someone running a fever, fighting an infection, or just generally ailing.

There are such things as special diets made of. If your case calls for some special omission of some of these foods, as often happens, your doctor will tell you, otherwise, unless he gives you a special list of foods which may be eaten, he means something like the above listings when he says, "Better keep Junior on a light (soft, full liquid or clear liquid) diet until that temperature gets back to normal."

One of the first things taken off any sick person's diet is fried food. When the doctor says a light diet, he means to cut out fried foods, including fried eggs, heavy pastries such as doughnuts, pies, cakes and steamed puddings; tough cuts of meat, sea food except for canned tuna or salmon, and cheese except for American cheese and cottage cheese; jams and marmalades (though jelly is usually permitted); olives, pickles and nuts; and vegetables except these specific ones which are included in the light diet: lettuce, tomato juice, raw tomatoes, cooked or canned asparagus, string or wax beans, beets, carrots, peas, spinach, squash, and strained corn or lima beans.

The object of the light diet is to keep a well-balanced diet but to eliminate foods which are hard to digest; you don't want foods that stay a long time in the stomach. The soft diet, frequently called a bland diet, is a further limitation of foods, mainly vegetables. The foods that are cut out of the light diet are also omitted from the soft diet. Least this become a list of foods you can't have, this time you can read the types of foods which are usually meant to be fed to a sick person when your doctor recommends a soft diet.

All beverages are included and all cereals are good, except for bran and whole grain cereals; you want the cereals freed from their outer coating. The same idea applies to fruits; you can eat cooked or canned apples, apricots, cherries, peaches and pears as long as the skins and seeds are removed. All fruit juices are good on the soft diet and you can have ripe avocado and bananas, but dried fruit must be strained so that all the pulp is thoroughly mashed up.

The "softness" of this diet consists in taking away foods that are stringy. Vegetables must be pureed or strained as they are in soups, and meats such as bacon, beef, fowl, lamb, tender liver and sweetbreads, fresh fish, oysters, canned salmon or tuna are more digestible, of course, when ground up.

Tomato juice, jelly, sugar, syrups when not used too much, cream sauce, gravy, salt, and vinegar may lend a little variety to a bland diet which needn't be tasteless just because it's limited. Butter, cream and margarine are the only fats allowed but there's plenty of filling food in the allowable potato, hominy, macaroni, noodles, rice and spaghetti.

You don't have to be hungry on a soft diet; there's plenty of fodder listed in those foods above but make them satisfy your hunger while your doctor has you on a soft diet. You can have cake; angel food and sponge cake are light enough to be included and other desserts permissible include plain cookies, custards, fruit whips, gelatin desserts, junket, plain ice cream, puddings and sherbets.

Any kind of egg, except fried, is included in most diets and milk is included unless for some special reason your doctor says no.

Raw eggs in beverages and plenty of milk is, in fact, the basis of many full liquid diets. Anything liquid is included in the full liquid diet. Strained farina, cornmeal or oatmeal gruel, thin custards, plain gelatin desserts, junket, ice cream, sherbet, butter, cream, margarine, strained fruit juice, broth, strained cream soups, sugar, plain sugar candy, tomato juice, vegetable puree in soup, salt and spices make up what is known as a full liquid diet.

The clear liquid diet cuts out milk, egg, cereal, tomato juice and pureed vegetables so that about all you have left is carbonated beverages, cereal beverage, coffee, tea, plain gelatin desserts, ices without milk, strained fruit juice, broth, sugar, plain sugar candy, and salt and pepper; about the only thing you've got in there that you can use salt and pepper on is the broth.

There are such things as special diets made of. If your case calls for some special omission of some of these foods, as often happens, your doctor will tell you, otherwise, unless he gives you a special list of foods which may be eaten, he means something like the above listings when he says, "Better keep Junior on a light (soft, full liquid or clear liquid) diet until that temperature gets back to normal."

State Health Officer Offers Suggestions For Controlling Polio

Austin, June 25.—During the first five and one-half months of this year 283 cases of poliomyelitis, polio for short, have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following suggestions concerning the disease and its control.

All the methods of transmitting the disease may not be known, however, sufficient information is at hand to demand certain precautions, and these include personal hygiene and campaigns for sanitation improvements.

Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate house-flies, mosquitoes, and rodents and to destroy their breeding places. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems, and secure safe water supplies. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is necessary to install and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from filth and insects. All food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation, should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitation standards.

Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

VASES, BOTTLES AND DECANTERS which are so slender that they are difficult to clean may be washed by this simple method: Fasten a piece of sponge to a stick and push down in the container to cleanse.

Pots and pans which have food cooked or dried on them are easy to clean by placing water in them and covering tightly. Let come to a boil and cook for a few minutes. The steam created will help loosen food and make it easy to remove.

If your stove needs blacking, polish with vinegar, strong tea or turpentine. You may also use a small piece of alum for the job.

Faucets can be made to shine almost like new if you rub the fixture with a half lemon which has been squeezed of its juice. Polish with a soft, clean, dry cloth. Black spots on silverware can be removed readily with a paste of whiting, free from grit and some olive oil. Polish lightly with a soft cloth.

Clean the percolator by filling with hot water. Add one tablespoon of powdered borax and the same amount of soap powder. Let the solution percolate a few minutes then wash and rinse off thoroughly.

FOOD BOUGHT BY ONE HOUR OF LABOR 1939 1951

The average American worker today can buy more food with an hour's labor than at any time in recent years, despite advanced retail prices, according to reports submitted to the House Agriculture Committee by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan. "An hour's earnings in a factory may buy less of some things now than it has in the past, but it will buy more food," he said. Comparing February, 1951, purchasing power with other years, the figures showed that an hour of factory labor buys 25% more bread than in 1939, 50% more than in 1929 and twice as much as in 1919. Analyses show that bread also contains more actual nutritive

A Short Story REMOTE CONTROL By Will Lazier

MRS. CECELIA COOPER, president of Lonely Hearts, Inc., had been in business long enough to be thoroughly experienced. One look at her newest client told her almost all she needed to know. "Will you let me have your name, please?" Mrs. Cooper said. "Sally Vance." "And your telephone number?" "Circle 9119."

Mrs. Cooper selected an unused 4x6 index card and wrote: Sally Vance, Circle 9119. Age, about twenty-two. Height, five feet-three. Weight, 110. Violet eyes, black hair with a lovely little streak of auburn down the middle, a nice little nose with a freckle on the left side and, Mrs. Cooper decided, she probably has dimples when she smiles.

Sally looked up now with wide eyes which proved that the president of Lonely Hearts, Inc., had been right about the dimples. "Tell me about it," Mrs. Cooper said. Sally twisted her handkerchief into a tiny knot. "I think I'm going to cry," she said. "I think I'm going to cry," Mrs. Cooper said sympathetically. After Sally got through crying Mrs. Cooper said, "My dear, I specialize in introductions, consultations, and advice. Unless I'm badly mistaken, you don't need to be introduced to anybody, so suppose you start by telling me his name."

Argue From Others' Point of View

HENRY STRAINERT, of Richmond, Indiana, once saved $13.80 by merely seeing the other fellow's point of view, and he says that that was better than earning the same amount for it gave him the satisfaction of knowing that he could handle a trying situation.

A friend who lived in the same house got two of Henry's shirts mixed with his own laundry. When the laundry was delivered this boy was out of town.

The delivery man demanded that Henry pay the entire bill of $15, or he couldn't have his two shirts. In vain Henry argued that he didn't want the other boy's laundry, that it could be held until the boy returned and paid his own bill. But Henry did want his own shirts. Naturally.

Carnegie

However, the man took the bundle of clothing back in its entirety to headquarters.

Henry thought it over that night after he went to bed. All of a sudden there came into his mind something he had once heard a successful salesman say about "talking from the other fellow's point of view."

The next day he went around to see the head of the laundry and found he had been advised of the shirt status. He said the delivery man was right; the bill must be paid before Henry could get his shirts.

Said Henry, "I see your point of view and I am sure I would feel as you do about it if I were in your place. Of course, you don't know that my friend will ever return for his laundry."

"Exactly," the laundryman agreed. "And if he shouldn't you would be stuck with his clothing which you don't want."

"That's just the case," said the other man, "this isn't the first time such a thing has happened, you know."

"I'm sure of that," agreed Henry. "And as I say, I can't blame you however badly I need those shirts." He moved as if to go, saying, "I know my friend will return, I can only hope it will be this week."

At that the laundryman looked at him closely and said: "I'm sure you're telling the truth about your shirts and I'm going to take a chance on the other fellow coming back and paying his bill." Then he rang for one of the workers and told him to give Henry his shirts.

Lions Offer Firemen Financial Assistance In Remodeling of Hall

Mrs. W. F. Hafer was hostess at a tea, honoring Mrs. W. C. Howard, last Friday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock in her attractive home in Hillcrest Addition.

Directors of the Hico Lions Club have been instructed to "proceed in any way they see fit" in working out a plan for financing completion of the remodeling and improvements on Fireman's Hall.

A background of green canna leaves with white magnolia blossoms floating in a blue pottery vase decorated the living room, where guests were received by Mrs. Hafer and introduced to Mrs. Howard. The honoree and her husband and young daughter, Sharon Kay, recently moved from Big Spring, and reside in the Hillcrest Addition.

This action was taken in Wednesday noon's luncheon-meeting, after O. L. Davis reported upon questioning that a sum of at least $500 would be needed to finish the work, initiated by firemen, who had "gone as far as they could."

The tea table, covered with an imported lace cloth, with crystal appointments, was completed with an arrangement of summer flowers in a crystal bowl. Mrs. M. I. Knudson, Mrs. W. B. Coats and Mrs. George M. Stringer presided, to serve refreshments of decorated cakes, sandwiches, salted nuts, punch, tiny cinnamon rolls and mints.

By almost unanimous vote, dues were authorized at $5.00 per month, this to include meal fees.

Guests present were Mrs. May D. Bates, Mrs. S. E. Blair Sr., Mrs. S. E. Blair Jr., Mrs. C. H. Boyd, Mrs. Bill Boyd, Mrs. J. W. Fairley, Mrs. R. B. Goodloe, Mrs. P. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. Harry Hudson, Mrs. H. E. McCullough, Mrs. E. H. Randals Sr., Mrs. T. E. Roberts, Mrs. H. N. Wolfe, Mrs. W. M. Horsley, Mrs. Paul Neel, Mrs. Bryan Angell, Mrs. L. J. Wood, Mrs. J. T. Appleby, Mrs. C. M. Hedges, Mrs. C. L. Woodward, and Mrs. Arlice Brooks of San Angelo.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

The Worth of the Individual
 Lesson for July 1: Matthew 8: 1-4;
 18: 1-6, 12-14
 Memory Selection: Psalms 8: 5

DURING the quarter we have Christian teaching on human relations, and we begin today with a lesson on the worth of the individual.

We read of Jesus cleansing a poor leper. In the ancient time there was no cure for leprosy, and the man afflicted with it had no hope of being saved from it except by the healing of God. The man of whom we read had a great faith, saying unto the Lord: "If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." And Jesus said unto him: "I will; be thou made clean."

When the disciples came to Jesus and asked him who was the greatest in the kingdom of heaven, he called a little child, set him in their midst, and bade them be humble as the child, and declared that whosoever should cause such a little one to stumble would be better off to have a millstone hanged about his neck and be drowned in the depth of the sea. Thus did Jesus emphasize the value of childhood.

The last passage indicates by the story of the lost sheep the Lord's solicitude for the lost of men. It is not the will of the Father that any man should perish. Thus Jesus sets an infinite value upon every human being. And so should we, and make sure of our own salvation, and setting an infinite value upon others, try to bring them to salvation.

We ate supper and then gave the assignments given us by Bonnie Pierce. We then retired to bed. Those present were Ann Hutton, Beulah Watkins, Paula Boone, Bonnie Johnson, Gwendolyn Decker, Nelda Calder, Marguerite Watkins, Miss Louise Blair and Mrs. Weldon Pierce, leaders, and the hostess, Bonnie Pierce.

TO HELP PREVENT bad discoloration of bruises on arms and legs, there are several easy remedies. One which helps is to rub the bruised part with starch moistened in cold water. Another is to rub the part with a small amount of lard or butter immediately.

To relieve the eyes when they're inflamed or irritated, bathe with sterile cotton balls in a solution of boric acid and boiled water which has been cooled. An eye cup may also be used for this application.

A pinch of moistened baking soda applied to insect bites will stop their itching and smarting. Dampened salt may also be used to relieve the pain of insect bites.

For bee stings, bathe the affected parts in equal amounts of water and ammonia. If this is not available, use a paste made of baking soda, salt and water for the sting.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Deluxe Baked Beans
(Serves 4)

- 1 16-ounce can pork and beans
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 2 slices bacon, cut in 1-inch pieces

Combine all ingredients. Bake covered in a greased 1 1/2-quart casserole in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 20 minutes. Uncover and continue baking for another 20 minutes.

or a frequent application of hydrogen peroxide.

If you've been stung by a poisonous insect, squeeze out all the poison in the wound, then cover with olive oil and powdered chalk mixed to a creamy consistency.

To bring prompt relief to wasp stings, apply ammonia to the sting, or a solution of washing soda and water. Several applications of either of these help relieve the pain.

When you go on a picnic or a hike, it's a good idea to apply sugar and water to parts which will be exposed to insects as this repels their biting. Oil of citronella (Garden oil) or oil of geranium will also prevent many insects bites when applied to the skin.

found out that her children had visited here and she didn't tell us. She had a good excuse though, as she has been doing quite a bit of earning since school turned out for the summer.

From W. W. Busby in Dublin came a renewal promptly on the date of expiration. "I am afraid my time is about to run out on my paper," he wrote, "so I am sending in my renewal."

The promoting publisher of this publicity powerhouse thought he had a pushover this week when the pride of Sun Oil Company, one K. P. Thomas of McAllen, produced a fin in payment of his subscription while here on a visit and to pick up his wife, the former Mary Anna Eskins, and their four children, Peggy, Bruce, Sherry, and Sandra, for a vacation trip to the wide open spaces of New Mexico. Mary Anna reminded them of the request of their sister-in-law, Mrs. Guy Eskins Jr. at San Juan, to enter a subscription for her and she would repay them. That looked like a natural for our six-far-five offer, but talk as he could, the NR roostabout couldn't drag that other dollar out of Kenneth—the heel. Thanks, anyhow, Bud, and here's hoping you can remember where that dollar-in-change went when you get home from your vacation. And thanks to you, too, Dorothy—down at San Juan in the Magic Valley.

Robert E. Jackson was in the office Monday to renew the News Review subscription for himself, and to enter a new subscription for his son, Pvt. William R. Jackson, who is stationed at Lackland AFB, San Antonio.

J. B. Carmean, sign painter de luxe operating locally for 10, these many years, asked Tuesday could he interrupt the editor long enough to enter a subscription. He could, Jim said that in some way or other he had allowed his name to be dropped from the list, but that he wasn't entirely satisfied with that kind of a situation.

Well, we weren't "out for coffee" Wednesday morning when we arrived a shade late (after having burned some midnight oil) and found a would-be customer peering through the blinds and apparently wondering what kind of an institution this was. He disclosed himself as Bob Duncan, who moved here about a year ago from Jayton and became a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Autrey. He was running some errands for Mr. Will, who has been sorta puny lately, and among them was a renewal of the Autreys' subscription. It just doesn't seem natural not to have Mr. Autrey doing those things for himself, and his many friends are missing him from town and hope it won't be long before they are allowed to fraternize with him, again—at least to pick a little friendly fuss, if nothing more.

Mrs. S. O. Shaffer made a visit to the office Monday to renew her subscription and to tell us to hurry and bring some results from the classified ad that she has been running, concerning an apartment for rent. Thus put on the spot, we guess we'll have to go to work—News Review Want Ads Bring Results! Besides, we think Mrs. Shaffer wants to go visiting when that little matter is taken care of.

Clydie (C. R.) Jackson, efficient helper at the new L. J. Chaney Gulf Station, took time out during his lunch hour Tuesday to renew his subscription to the News Review. Both time and money were thus well spent.

Mrs. C. L. Kinser, Hico Route 6, writes that she doesn't want to miss a copy of the paper, because she has taken it so long that "it is like one of the family." With this unique tribute, she enclosed payment for another year's subscription.
