IMPROVEMENTS AT THE UNION GIN PLANT

A meeting of the stockholders of the Union Gin Co. was held this week and the following officers and directors were elected.

R. N. Couch, president; T. H. Beauchamp, vice-president; J. B. Sullivan, secretary and treasurer.

Director: Chas. Fitzgerald, H. C. Zimmerman, Jno. Wendt, T. H. Beauchamp, J. B. Sullivan and R. N. Couch.

Work on the gin, including repairs and installation of new and improved machinery will be commenced at once in order to be ready for the crop by September 1st. Besides a complete set of new saws and new double cleaners a steam seed sterilizer will be installed. By itself the double cleaner will turn out lint which can be graded as middling which under the old process would go on the market as good ordinary. The operation of the new steam sterilizer will be a boon to the cotton grower. If his cotton is ginned under this process he will have absolute control of his own seed.

Heretofore the cotton planter could not replant his own seed, nor even take it home for seed. When replanting time came he was obliged to go into the market and buy at high prices.

A fair estimate of the cotton which will come to Pecos to be ginned is 2000 bales. The Saragosa gin has been partially dismantled and will not operate this season. Competition between the gins at Barstow last year reduced gin profits to a minimum, but from a financial statement furnished the U. S. revenue department and state, the assets and liabilities of the Pecos gin show a prosperous condition. The entire indebtedness will be liquidated this season and if the crop does not meet with any setback there will probably be a dividend for the stockholders. The gin is under the efficient management of J. B. Sullivan, a practical ginner.

DID NO MAKE HIM TAKE OFF COAT—NO, NOT YET.

Four years ago when Ab. Cooksey opposed W. W. Camp for tax assessor the former made the statement that he would make Bill take off his coat before the election was over if he made any headway in his race. At that time Camp avowed that no man could make him take off his coat. He wore his coat all through the campaign, and although at times became exceedingly warm, he kept his coat on and came out victorious.

The other day the editor overheard Camp and Charlie Fitzgerald discussing the question of the coat and Charlie suggested that the two candidates in the race against Camp had made him shed his coat this time. Camp declared that it was not so and explained the question in this manner:

"I have been attending church and the preacher has been hitting close around the soft spot and when he did I could not help but squirm, and in moving about I wore a hole about the size of a dollar in the back of my coat. In fact I did not shed the coat at all but wore it off my back and not having another had to come to town without a coat," and thus W. W. Camp clears himself of having to shed his coat in order to run a political race in Reeves county.

W. W. Camp, who, by the way, is one of the very best men in Reeves or any other county, must have told some of his friends this story before and they passed it around and being aware of his dilemma voted for him so strong in the Saturday's primary that he will not have to make another race in order to get the office of tax assessor again, having a clear majority over both his opponents of 288 votes. It may be that he can now obtain credit from some of the stores for another coat and then we will be able to see him smother again. Hurrah for Camp.

SCOUTS TAKE TRIP INTO DAVIS MOUNTAINS

This morning a group of Boy Scouts accompanied by Scoutmaster Spears and Capt. Dean left on a truck and several cars for the mountains where they will remain for one week. The following scouts are Howell Johnson, J. E. Couch, Paul Morrison, Morris Collier, Charlie Fitzgerald, Milford Howard, Ray Thurston, Bill Dean, Harry Ross, Rex Havis, James Harrison, Denwood Ross, Tillman Durdin, Alfred Stevens, Charles Hudson, John Hibdon, Jr., and Jack Camp. The week will be spent in sleeping, eating, fishing, swimming, and hiking.

Later—Capt. W. W. Dean could not go for the reason that he could not stay for the week and there was no way for him to return earlier. There were twenty-one of the boys in the party but the other names were not obtainable.

Boost your town and help clean it up. There is plenty of room for improvement.

HOW THE STATE CANDIDATES STAND

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram of yesterday gives out the following as the latest figures on the candidates for state offices in the primary election last Saturday:

With more than 500,000 votes in the primary election of last Saturday counted, former Governor James E. Ferguson is leading Senator Charles A. Culberson for second place in the Senatorial race by 19,792 votes, and all doubt as to the defeat of the veteran Senator has been removed.

The runoff will be between Ferguson and Earle B. Mayfield, who is holding a lead of approximately 30,000. It is likely that less than 600,000 votes were polled in the primary and it is not believed there is a possibility of the present standing of the candidates being changed. Unless there is a change no more election figures will be tabulated until after the official canvass by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

How They Stand
Final figures showed the candidates standing this way:

C. A. Culberson, 90,357.
James E. Ferguson, 110,149.
R. L. Henry, 37,547.
Earle B. Mayfield, 140,259.
Clarence Ousley, 51,589.
Cullen F. Thomas, 77,094.

Votes accounted for, 607,095. There was no change on the final tabulation in any of the State contests. Governor Neff has a clear majority over his three opponents. Ed R. Bentley and S. M. N. Marrs will contest in a run-off for State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Col. Billie Mayfield, Jr., and T. W. Davidson will contest for Lieutenant Governor; Garrett and Terrell for State Treasurer.

Allison Mayfield, veteran chairman of the Railroad Commission, has overwhelmingly defeated his opponent. J. T. Robinson is an easy winner for Commissioner of the General Land Office, and Lon A. Smith, State Comptroller, is again elected.

Eugene Black, incumbent, has defeated J. H. (Cyclone) Davis for Congress, as has Sam Rayburn in his contest with former State Senator Ed Westbrook. John N. Garner of Uvalde won a sweeping victory. John C. Bax of Jacksonville, according to last reports, will contest in a run-off with J. B. Burns of Center. Box is present Congressman. Tom Connally of Marlin and Hatton W. Summers of Dallas were easily re-elected to Congress. J. J. Mansfield, incumbent, will contest in a run-off with M. M. Fly of Gonzales. In the San Antonio district the run-off will be between Harry Hertzberg and J. H. Cunningham. Hertzberg is an avowed wet. In the Seventeenth District, latest incomplete reports show that Thomas L. Blanton, incumbent, is a few votes short of a majority over all his opponents. If there is a run-off, former Congressman Oscar Callaway of Comanche will be his opponent.

SHERIFF CAPTURES ALLEGED BOOTLEGER-MURDERER

Sheriff E. B. Kiser on Wednesday night captured and placed in the county bastille one Eddy Moore, nigger, alleged bootlegger-murderer, wanted at Abilene for the murder of another negro at that place about seven months ago.

Sheriff Kiser has been on the lookout for this man all these months and as it would happen he espied him on the streets Wednesday night with the above results. Mr. Kiser says he had several aliases but when landed in jail and questioned admitted the whole affair.

It appears, according to the story of the negro now in captivity that some seven months ago he was peddling booze at Abilene and had given the negro murdered a pint of whisky. Later he called for another pint which was refused on the ground that it was too costly to give away; whereupon the deceased negro declared he would get the booze anyway and was killed in the affray.

He will be taken to Abilene for trial.

In the county election only one of the offices had more than two candidates—that of the tax assessor—and Camp ran clear away from his two opponents. The other offices were therefore decided at the first primary, and there will be no runoff so far as the county offices are concerned.

An agreement between the candidates for district attorney before the election gives the high man out that office, and Birge Holt of Barstow came out winner.

In the race for district judge our home man, Judge W. A. Hudson, was eliminated and the run-off will be between Judge Charles Gibbs and Tom Garrard.

FIFTH TEST DRILLING AT RED BLUFF SITE

At a meeting of the Pecos Valley Water Users Association of Texas in the rear of the Pecos Valley Bank on Thursday of this week a report was heard of the core drilling being done at Red Bluff was made by the engineer, Vernon L. Sullivan.

Four core test holes have been drilled and the fifth one is now being put down under the supervision of the government. The report was not only very satisfactory but very encouraging to those who were present.

Members of the executive committee present at this meeting were: W. H. Browning, Jr., president; R. H. Grey, manager of the Zimmerman project and chairman of the legislative committee of the Pecos Valley Water Users Association here.

J. F. Hagey of the Imperial project; J. F. McKee of the Zimmerman project; J. H. Miller and R. B. Thurston of Barstow; Vernon L. Sullivan, engineer; Dr. Jim Camp and W. H. Browning, Jr., representing C. of C. C. K. McKnight and R. N. Couch of Farmers Independent.

The report was, as stated above, a very satisfactory one and at an early date, or as soon as these core tests are completed a report of the findings and recommendations will be sent in to the government for its approval of the Red Bluff project. After this the irrigation bill now before congress which it is hoped will be passed at an early date will take care of the matter further.

The present outlook is good and is very encouraging to those interested in the matter.

After the meeting Mr. R. H. Grey, manager of the Zimmerman project and chairman of the legislative committee of the organization, called on the Enterprise and expressed himself well pleased with the report and stated that he believed the project would finally be put through. He says that few of our people realize the benefit which will accrue through the Red Bluff reservoir. It will increase the population of this section of the country under the project many times and will double the population of Pecos within five years, he says. He also stated that it would put many thousands of acres of fertile land, now idle, under cultivation and that this land will produce twice as much per acre as the high priced lands of the north and east. He is optimistic all along the line and cannot understand why so much land should lay idle when with this project it would produce so much wealth to the country and give homes to so many families at less than half the cost of farms elsewhere. Mr. Grey would make a believer of most any fair minded man who would listen to him for a few minutes.

Let's forget the election and work for the good of Pecos for awhile.

CALLAWAY WILL INSIST ON RUN-OFF

Abilene, July 26—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton started in his race for the second primary today. Abilene friends had wired Oscar Callaway, his nearest opponent, inquiring if he would insist on a run-off if the complete returns showed that Judge Blanton did not have a majority.

Callaway's reply was: "I will insist on a second primary." Out of the 19 counties complete returns have been received from 11 of them, and no vote at all from Burnet County. With the returns now in, a partial count from seven counties gives Blanton 21,761 votes; Callaway 9,264, Cunningham 8,789; Dibrell 4,564.

With these returns Blanton lacks 806 votes of having a majority, and this does not include several hundred votes cast for Holland, whose name was left on the ticket in some of the counties after he had withdrawn from the race.

ARREST ON FORGERY CHARGE RESULTS IN A $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Some time ago the Enterprise published an account of the arrest of J. L. Tyler, a former resident of Pecos, for forgery. He was the wrong man and the Enterprise publishes the following as the outcome of the arrest.

"Alleging false imprisonment, J. L. Tyler asked $50,000 damages in a suit filed yesterday against J. L. Williams of Amarillo.

"Deputy Sheriff John H. Kilpatrick was sent to Fort Worth recently to arrest Tyler on a charge of forgery, filed in Justice of the Peace Clark Wright's court by Williams. Tyler was alleged to have forged a deed to a tract of land which Williams had bought.

"Mr. Kilpatrick arrested Tyler at Fort Worth and brought him back here. The day after Tyler was placed in jail, it was discovered that he was not the man wanted."

KISERS ELECTION INSURES LAW ENFORCEMENT

In the re-election of E. B. Kiser to the office of Sheriff of Reeves and Loving counties we are again assured of a clean administration of affairs in that office for another two years. Besides, the big majority of votes received over his opponent shows which way the people stand as to the enforcement of the laws. They know what Kiser would do. He has done well and none of the laws violated which came under his observation or notice has been neglected. He shows no favoritism and does his full duty and that without the assistance of those in power whose duty it is to assist him. If accorded the support due him and which he should receive from the city and other good citizens of the county we should have no fears as to the enforcement of our laws and we do know, judging by the past, that the liquor laws will be enforced.

NEW OIL COMPANY ENTERING THIS FIELD

Leonard Bukowski, manager of the Mutual Operating Company, with headquarters at the present in Carlsbad, N. M., who has been in our city for the past several days, departed today for the lower part of the state of New Mexico.

The Mutual Operating Company is an oil concern with vast holdings in Eddy County, six miles north of the Texas-New Mexico state line and four miles west of Red Bluff. Mr. Bukowski's trip there at this time is for the purpose of erecting a derrick preparatory to the sinking of an oil well. It is his opinion that three or more derricks will be erected within a short time. He has wired R. S. McDonald at Big Spring to proceed here at once for the purpose of sinking the well as speedily as possible.

Mr. Bukowski says that Pecos will be headquarters for his firm and that their offices will be located here just as soon as work begins to progress on their Eddy County holdings in the state to the north of us.

Material for the erection of the derrick, drills, piping, etc. has been ordered shipped to the field, and it is thought the derrick will be erected within a week or ten days.

Mr. Bukowski says they are located in a "shallow" field, and that oil will be struck possibly near the thousand-foot level. He is quite enthusiastic and thinks the prospects for the territory all along the Pecos River, from above their holdings to the south of Pecos are greater than any other field. He will return to Pecos possibly within a week or ten days, or, as he says, "just as soon as I get things going in the field."

OPEN SEASON FOR MUD-SLINGERS OVER.

The great Democratic primary election was held July 22, thus officially closing the season for mud-slingers. For six weeks prior to the election men seeking high office addressed citizens of this great commonwealth from public platforms in every city in Texas. Instead of confining themselves to the issues of the campaign and presenting their views on great public questions in order that the voters might judge of their fitness for office, they spent much of their time bitterly denouncing their opponents. Motives were impugned; morals called in question; past official acts twisted and exaggerated to make them appear dishonorable; political trickery resorted to in every conceivable way to get votes—and yet these men pose as statesmen. Where are our statesmen? In a population of nearly 5,000,000 persons, are there not men big enough to ignore the public attacks of small men and run for office on merit alone?

Many citizens attend a political speech to be entertained rather than to receive instruction. Citizens of this character, though their numbers be few, loudly applaud slanderous statements of the speaker, but want to hear what they are pleased to term "a hot speech," and the politician falls for it. In doing so, he brands himself as unfit to hold the office for which he aspires.

Will the time ever come when Texas and other Southwestern States will become favorably known for the statesmen they produce? Not until voters give due consideration to a candidate's honesty of purpose, his understanding of public questions, and his merits as an honest, conscientious outstanding citizen—Farm and Ranch.

TATUM WELL 900 FEET AND GOING

Special To The Pecos Enterprise:

The Tatum well has reached a depth of 900 feet and are still in hard white lime formation. Mr. Waddington, the president of the company, states that it is the hardest formation that he has ever encountered and he has had a lot of experience in the drilling game. They are looking for a change soon in the formation. The management is watching this well closely since Dr. Worrell, their geologist, says that production may be found anywhere from 1000 to 1500 feet and a good showing of oil has already been found twice.

The Owen No. 2 is drilling in a formation of lime and black shale at about 2800 feet. They have installed a new boiler this week which halted drilling to some extent.

It is reported that J. D. Wesner, well on the Sayles ranch which reached a depth of 2200 feet, will return and renew operations by August 1st.

If some of our citizens worked as hard to keep the town clean as they did for the candidates of their choice, wouldn't it be a glorious feeling?

OIL ACTIVITIES MEAGRE FOR WEEK

THE WILLOUGHBY WELL NO. 1

The well No. 1 of the Wiloughby Petroleum Co. have been making splendid headway since last week, although the formation was hard. On going through the black lime formation reported last week they struck a sixteen foot vein of water said which filled the hole for several hundred feet in a very few minutes. Mr. Wiloughby, in town this morning, stated to the Enterprise that they would poll the casing at once and run out the hole to a very hard black lime formation which they had penetrated underneath this last water strain and set the casing again there—at about 608 feet. Mr. Wiloughby anticipates no trouble in doing this and believes they will have this done and be ready to resume drilling by Monday, barring all unforeseen troubles. He says that the showings of free oil increased all the way down until this water was struck.

The new machinery of the rotary type which is to be used in finishing up the Laura well to oil or to 4,000 feet, arrived this week and was set out on the switch near the well and work of unloading and installing commenced. The Enterprise has not learned just when they expect to begin work of reaming and drilling but in view of the fact that the man on the job means to make every lick count and does not intend to tolerate any unavoidable delays, it is presumed it will be only a very few days at the best.

THE LAURA WELL

The drilling crew at the Bell well are busily engaged in drilling out the cement plug placed in the bottom of the hole to shut off the great gas pressure while casing was being pulled.

A new drilling line was received by express Wednesday, and all equipment is in excellent shape to drill through this plug and into production which is confidently expected a short distance below.

With the tools hammering away at a point very close to the bottom of the hole yesterday, the great gas pressure was again breaking in and throwing mud, water and rocks many feet over the top of the derrick. The well is kept filled with water at all times in order to hold down the gas pressure and keep the tools from being blown back up the hole.

Mr. Gallagher the driller in charge anticipates being able to set casing again the first of the week before drilling into the very promising formation which gas is coming through. Any day now may be the big day for which we have waited so long.

The Toyah-Bell well has been shut down for the past few days doing some repair work and other work necessary to the further development of that property. Before shutting down they succeeded in pulling 2,600 feet of the casing and hope to resume this work in a day or so with every encouragement that they will be successful in removing the balance in the well. If this can be done then they will, no doubt, be in a position to shoot it, otherwise will put it on the pump to furnish fuel for the completion of the Ramsey Well No. 2 about five hundred feet away.

HERSHENSON WELL

Two automobiles with interested parties were taken over the Hershenson holdings in southern Reeves county last Sunday. Among the party was Mr. Leonard Bukowski manager of the Mutual Operating Company of California. Mr. Bukowski being down here for the purpose of building a full standard derrick for his company who are going to drill one or more wells on their property in Eddy County, N. M., on the line of Texas. After thoroughly going over the Hershenson structure, Mr. Bukowski stated that in all his experiences in the big oil fields all over Texas and California, he believed the Hershenson structure could not be equaled anywhere for surface indications for oil. He expressed the opinion that oil would certainly be found where the drill is now pounding, and at a comparatively shallow depth. Let others come out like Mr. Bukowski, and see for themselves. Soping is believing. Work of spreading a large bit will be completed at this well the latter part of this week, and drilling will be resumed.

W. W. STEWART LEADS OPONENT 1,000

A card from W. W. Stewart, who has kept close tabs on returns over the district so far as his race was concerned, informs the Enterprise that his majority will be something like 1,000. Of course this may not, and probably is not, absolutely correct, but it is safe to say, in view of all the returns and counties heard from that he has a good substantial majority which will be gratifying to his many friends over the district.

INTERNAL REVENUE COLLECTOR ISSUES PUBLIC STATEMENT

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue James W. Ross of the First District of Texas:

Forms for making returns of special taxes, under the Revenue Act of 1921 during the month of July, now are available at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue Austin, Texas, and the following branch offices: Houston, El Paso, San Antonio and Waco, Texas.

To avoid penalty return and payment of the tax must be made on or before July 31, 1922.

Return of the capital stock tax of domestic corporations must be made on Form 707; foreign corporations on Form 708. Form 11 is used for making return of the miscellaneous occupational and the tobacco manufacturer's special tax. Regulations 64, governing the collection of the capital stock tax, Regulations 59 governing the collection of the miscellaneous occupational taxes and Regulations 8 governing the collection of the tobacco manufacturer's special tax also may be obtained upon request of the office of the collector of internal revenue and branch offices.

The revenue act provides "that every domestic corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business equivalent to $1 for each $1,000 of so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30, as is in excess of $5,000. In estimating the value of the capital stock the surplus and undivided profits shall be included.

"Every foreign corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business in the United States, equivalent to $1 for each $1,000 of the average amount of capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States, during the preceding year ending June 30."

The basis of the tax in the case of a domestic corporation is "carrying on or doing business" in the capacity of a corporation or association. Quoting from the Capital Stock Tax Regulation 64. "The words 'carrying on or doing business' must be given every ordinary and natural signification. 'Business' is a very comprehensive term and embraces whatever occupies the time, attention or labor of men for the purposes of livelihood or profit. In other words business necessarily involves the idea of gain." Every domestic corporation must make a return on Form 707, even though the law may indicate that it is exempt from the tax. The question of exemption is one for determination by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The basis of the tax in the case of a foreign corporation is "carrying on or doing business in the United States." A foreign corporation is carrying on or doing business in the United States if it maintains an agent or an office or warehouse in the United States, or in any other way enters the United States for the purpose of its business.

Following are the miscellaneous occupational taxes: Brokers, $50; pawn brokers, $100; ship brokers, $0; customhouse brokers, $50. Proprietors of theatres, museums and concert halls where a charge for admission is made, having a seating capacity of not more than 250, shall pay a tax of $50; having a seating capacity of more than 250 and not exceeding 500, $100; having a seating capacity exceeding 500 and not exceeding 800, $150; having a seating capacity of more than 800, $200.

In the case of theatres, museums, or concert halls in cities, towns, or villages of 5,000 inhabitants or less, the amount of tax shall be one-half of that stated above.

City proprietors are required to pay a tax of $100; proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms are required to pay $10, for each alley or table; proprietors of shooting galleries, $20; proprietors of riding academies, $100; proprietors of public exhibitions, $15.

Persons carrying on the business of operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire are required to pay $10 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven, and $20 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than seven.

Section 1003 of the Revenue Act of 1921 imposes a tax upon the use of yachts, pleasure boats, power boats with fixed engines, of over 5 net tons, length 32 feet. Numerous inquiries have been received concerning this tax. These boats are divided into three classes with respect to length, and a separate tax is provided for each class as follows: over 5 net tons, length over 32 feet and not over 50 feet, $1, for each foot; over 5 net tons, length over 50 feet and not over 100 feet, $2, for each foot; over 5 net tons, length 100 feet, $4, for each foot. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has held that a vessel must be both over 5 net tons and over 32 feet in length in order to be subject to the special tax imposed by this section. No return of certificate of exemption will be required in the case of boats falling below both or either of these specifications.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. ROSS, Collector

STATE BROADCASTS WEATHER REPORTS FROM 91 STATIONS

The State system of distributing weather forecasts, warnings, and other information sent out by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture is being continually extended. There are 91 State broadcasting stations which send out weather reports now in operation, of which 20 are operated by leading newspapers. Negotiations are in progress with 33 additional stations, and most of these, which include 11 newspapers, are expected to be in operation in a short time.

THE DANGEROUS HOUSE FLY

The merchants' Association of New York is sending out a special Bulletin to assist in the campaign against the house fly. It says:

"As a practical Measure of Preparedness the Disease-carrying House Fly must be eliminated. American military records show that it causes more deaths than the enemy.

"Kill at once every fly that you can find and burn his body.

"Observers say that there are many reasons to believe there will be more flies this season than for a number of years.

"The killing of just one fly NOW means there will be billions and trillions less next summer.

"Clean up your own premises; see and insist that your neighbors do likewise.

"Especially clean 'out-of-the-way places,' and every nook and cranny.

"Flies will not go any where there is nothing to eat and their principal diet is too filthy to mention.

"It is definitely known that the fly is the 'carrier' of the germs of typhoid fever; it is widely believed that it is also the 'carrier' of other diseases, including possibly infantile paralysis.

"The very presence of a fly is a signal and notification that a housekeeper is unclean and inefficient."

HOG RAISERS HERE SHOULD GET THE RECEIPT

At an exhibit held recently at the close of a pig club conducted by the boys' and girls' club agent in Riverside county, Calif., both good and bad types of pigs grown by club members were shown, with initial and final weights, feeds, costs, and gains of both types. Two pigs out of the same litter, each fed 150 days were entered; one gained 70 pounds at a cost of 18 cents a pound, the other gained 206 pounds at a cost of 9 cents a pound.

A ONE MAN TOWN

A traveling man sold some goods to the proprietor of a general store in a small town. When the goods arrived they were not up to the sample and were returned. The house drew a sight draft on the merchant through the local bank, which was returned. The letter asking the postmaster in regards to the financial standing of the merchant, was returned officially marked "O. K." The house wrote the postmaster to secure a lawyer to collect the amount and received this reply: "The undersigned is the merchant on whom you tried to palm off your worthless goods. The undersigned is the owner and president of the bank which returned your sight

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Popular-Priced Cord Tire Without a Rival

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tire is built with genuine high-grade long-staple cotton as a foundation. It is liberally oversize—the 4½-inch tire, for example, measuring nearly 5 inches. The deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern of its tread affords excellent traction even in snow and mud, engaging the road like a cogwheel. The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear. This new tire is a genuine Goodyear through and through—in design, in material, in construction. It costs less to buy than the net price you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown reputation and value. Why be satisfied with less than this efficient tire can give—why take a chance on an unknown make? You can get this new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord now, as well as the famous All-Weather Tread Cord, from any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

"THE UNEMPLOYED"

Each day abounds in mystery to tax the thoughtful mind, and add its bit of history in lore of human kind. Each problem up for solving demands a potent skill, and keeps the wheel revolving in life's perpetual mill.

To me, the unsolved question is ever as before; dumbfounds with its ingestion—bewilders more and more. I grope amid its fastness, and tremble at its frown. I marvel at its vastness—no soul can put it down!

The question I refer to, is of the "unemployed." The ones a job is dear to—but seldom is enjoyed. They cry aloud to Vulcan, and Agricola's King—they crave to strike a welkin which never seems to ring!

My soul is wrapped in wonder. It is, so help me Mike! I have to work like thunder,—I ain't got time to strike! The ardent prayer for leisure is ever on my mind. I'd pour out all my mind, I'd pour out all my treasure, for a job I couldn't find!

CHURCHLESS CHILDREN

There are twenty-five million boys and girls outside of the Sunday School in this country. Every child in America should be in some Sunday School every Sunday morning. Every child should be accompanied to Sunday School by his parents.

The mother who doesn't bring her child into the world dedicated to God has committed a crime against the child. The father who doesn't lead his child to the altar of worship, reverence, and devotion has committed a crime against his child and against society; for he has left out of the child's training the greatest factor.

Parents who refuse to bring their children to church, and who refuse to allow their children to unite with the church and become devout christian workers are stumbling blocks; they are curses to their children.

There is but one remedy for the condition in this country, and that is salvation by Jesus Christ. There is but one place in which that salvation can be found, and that is in God's infallible Word. There is but one institution authorized to teach that Word, namely the orthodox Christian church.

Every child should be in Sunday School and in the church pew on Sunday morning sitting beside his parents.

Children are never too young to be saved, but if they are neglected and grow to be old men and women hardened in sin they may become too old to be saved. It is extremely expensive to the government for a child to grow to be old in sin and crime. It costs millions to save an old man from the error of his way. A child can be saved at the threshold of childhood and thus save his soul and society untold expense.

The father who uses his automobile on Sunday to take his child away from the church not only breaks the Ten Commandments, but he is a curse to the child and a menace to this government.

The father who spends his Sunday on the golf links is a fraud so far as a religious influence is concerned, and he is a menace to the spiritual development of his child.

It is the business of the father to be in the Sunday School with his child and it is the business of the child to be in the church pew by the side of his father.

Why do people neglect to bring their children to Christ and into the church? Such parents and such neglect are bringing untold sorrow and expense and reflection upon this country. The juvenile courts and the penal institutions are full of the children who come from such homes.

Parents, you are either a curse or a blessing to your children. If you neglect your Sunday duty you are a curse to them. Children ought to be in the Sunday School and church if the nation is to be saved.

MAKING FARMERS BUSINESS MEN

For a score of years the agricultural schools of the nation have been teaching farm boys how to grow larger crops and to increase live stock production. The contribution made by their schools to the development of the nation's wealth has been of incalculable value.

Their scientific research work has added millions and perhaps billions to our national possessions and saved many millions more. It has given us naval oranges, durum wheat, Egyptian cotton and scores of improved grains, grasses and fruits, has practically eliminated hog cholera and, incidentally, has made possible a successful fight against the malaria mosquito.

Now these invaluable institutions go farther. This year, in 45 states of the union, they are offering courses in agricultural economics, marketing co-operation, farm management and commercial geography.

Farming is the biggest business in the land—always excepting housekeeping—and the agricultural colleges, not content with turning out better farmers, are making better farmers as well. If they are half as successful as this new field as they were in the old one, they will work a revolution in the land within the decade.

The Toyah Lube Refinery

We proposed last week to start a refinery in the near future; when we said near future we didn't mean next year or even next month but we will start next week to install the refinery

We have land in fee which we are sub-dividing in lots of 1-10 of an acre each which we are selling for $10.00 per lot. Now these lots may be worth $10.00 and they may not be worth 10c but with each lot we give 10 units in the Toyah Lube

Refinery which will be run on a co-partnership plan and we believe these units will pay you larger dividends than a $10.00 investment in anything else we know of will.

We have been advised by oil stock promoters that an advertisement in the big papers would sell all the units desired before we could get started this way and that the units would be taken before an investigation would be made.

We invite an investigation of this project and believe we will be able to sell the greater portion of units to home people who know the facts. Therefore we are not unduly pushing the matter nor are we rushing the sale to anyone desiring to purchase before an investigation is made but we do wish to say that in our honest opinion the units will all be taken in a very short time when we say "Shoot."

SONS OF THE IDLE RICH.

Sons of the idle rich, for more than a decade the butt of American sarcasm, are coming to be viewed in a clearer perspective.

The latest evidence of modern viewpoint adopted by the pampered youth is seen in the Vanderbilt family, "The Cornelius Vanderbilt Newspaper Service" having come into being under the guiding hand of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

Young Vanderbilt burst into the newspaper profession some four years ago as a reporter on the New York Herald. On a thirty dollar a week salary he rode to business in his high-powered motor car.

Seemingly the young man has not prospered under assignment, and hopes to make better headway under his own direction, hence we see him furnishing news to the great metropolitan journals, some of which is published.

Presumably he has sensed the value of publicity, if not of propaganda, and with the Vanderbilt name attached to his enterprise undoubtedly he will have entrance to the inner circles of finance and industry that should be productive of much material of public interest if it be discreetly written and the young man display the ability to sift the wheat from the chaff.

Young Vanderbilt has the opportunity of a lifetime for public service if he can measure up, on the one hand declining to become the vehicle for industrial exploitation, and on the other refraining from too vivid an expression of the socialistic views that seem to have tinged his mentality since he has rubbed elbows with the world.

When his grandfather lay dying reporters were turned away from the Vanderbilt home as annoying pests, a type of life too insignificant to warrant courteous treatment. The world do move. Young Vanderbilt is a reporter. The operations of the Vanderbilt Newspaper service will be watched by the public and the newspaper profession with thoughtful interest.

GEORGE GOULD WILL SAY GOOD BYE

The report that George Gould will live permanently abroad with his old friend and new wife, when the Gould affairs shall have been settled in this country, causes no astonishment among those who know how the house of Gould has winced under publicity that has engulfed the family name in sensationalism.

Notoriety and the Goulds have been almost synonymous ever since the elder Jay Gould barricaded himself in the Grand Opera House, New York, years ago to escape the murmurs of an excited populace.

The experience of Anna Gould with her funny little busted French count, the battle over the Castellani children, the alimony controversy, Countess Anna's second marriage to a simon pure prince, the internal squabbling over the manner in which brother George handled the Gould monies and other incidents have served to keep the family before the public in an unfortunate light for years.

Previously the experience of George Gould with the dainty but determined Zella Nicoulas gave even more sensational rading to a gossip loving public. Indeed, it was not until an actress, Edith Kingdon, entered the family that the Gould name was restored to the higher public regard.

Perhaps no woman in recent times performed a duty as wife and mother so sweetly, so splendidly as Edith Kingdon. Her lonely death on the golf links seemed a poor reward for the nobility of her service.

The American nation probably will say good-by to George Gould with passing interest, but the stage should remember him.

He has been the vehicle through which a manning profession can point to the fact that actresses can be splendid types of womanhood even if there be black sheep and loose morals herded side by side with them.

THE METHODIST REVIVAL.

The revival at the Methodist church which held forth for two weeks and closed with the splendid sermon Sunday night was a success from many standpoints, although there were not so many conversions as at revivals held under imported evangelists. The general consensus of opinion is that the sermons of the Rev. L. L. Thurston were both convincing and spiritual and will be of lasting good to our people. Seldom, if ever, has the Enterprise listened to better, more convincing or spiritual sermons—sermons calculated to make better men and women, better citizens, better Christians of those already strong in the faith and those who had never made a profession of faith. As is usual, however, "no man is without honor save and except in his own town," and it is a "positive" fact that had the same sermons been delivered by a stranger, or sermons of much less merit, there would have been much more stir and activity among our people. This being true it is just as true that the lasting good to the community might in that instance have been comparatively small when placed aside that which has been produced here at this time. There has never been a time in the history of the town when all the churches attended more regularly and more largely and acted more in unison. This within itself is a grand thing and portends no evil to the town or its people. All in all it was a splendid and very successful meeting.

WHAT WILL WE DO ABOUT IT?

Pecos has been noted for its generosity to revivalists who held meetings here in the past and few if any have held meetings here who did not get a remuneration commensurate with the good they did. Our people have never failed to show their appreciation in a substantial way for services rendered. The Enterprise feels sure they never will fall short of their full duty, and for that reason it is calling attention to the fact that during the recent revival held here by our home minister, and the singing lead by one of our home citizens, no collection was taken to pay the pastor or leader of the singing for their untiring work and devotion to the cause. The writer really expected that some one would call for donations at the night services since no effort to raise money was made at the morning service. This was not done and then the thought came to the writer that possibly the board of stewards had other plans and would take the matter up in a different way. The editor is informed that no action so far has been taken in this matter and that only a very few of our people have shown their appreciation in a substantial way to the pastor for his services and that voluntarily. The Enterprise has donated $36 worth of display advertising to the cause and is delighted that he was able to do it—and although he is unable to meet his financial obligations promptly, feels that he has received great good from this meeting and has given the pastor a small cash payment or rather in payment of a debt he feels he owes—besides the advertising which should properly be charged to the church and not to the pastor. In other words the advertising given is an investment in the home above and the small cash payment is in payment for assistant here on earth which will enable the writer to enjoy to the fullest that investment.

But, down to real hard sense and a duty the public owes: Is there one who attended this meeting who does not feel that that he or she was materially benefited by the meeting? If so, then do you not think it would be the proper thing to show that appreciation in a material way to the man who first rendered the service? The salary paid the Methodist pastor is small when compared with the number in his family to be fed, clothed and schooled—just about enough to keep the wolf from the door without anything left for a "rainy day" or for luxuries. Heretofore evangelists have carried home with them anywhere from about four hundred dollars as a minimum up to something like three thousand dollars for a two weeks' campaign. The minimum amount would probably scare Bra. Thurston so nearly to death that he would be unable to do his full duty for the balance of the year, but we could, and in the honest belief of the editor, should do something for him worth while. Who will take action in this matter and show our appreciation for services rendered? He has had no vacation—has been on the job every Sunday and is entitled to some consideration.

There may be some in Pecos who are base enough to think, if they do not speak it, that this is a suggestion of the pastor. To those the editor will say that the pastor is as clear of that deed as is the reader of this article and did not even have a hint that such an article would appear in these columns. He is above begging for himself and his family, and our people should not expect or allow it, but should at all times, as in the past, show their appreciation in a substantial way for services rendered, and the Enterprise believes they will.

THE DEEPER ISSUE OF THE STRIKE.

The following editorial which appeared in the Dallas News sums up the strike situation in a nutshell. However, if newspaper reports are to be accredited, it looks as if this will be a poor test, since the strikers will neither work or allow others to work. The editorial follows: The relation of the Government to the present railroad strike is different from its relation to any like industrial disturbance of the past. Of course it has the same concern now that it has always had to keep the mails moving and to prevent any obstruction of interstate commerce. But it now has the new and additional concern to sustain the authority, albeit only a moral authority, of the Railroad Labor Board, which is an agency of its own creation. The one peculiar circumstance of this strike is that it has not been called to resist a decision of the railroad, but to resist a decision of a governmental agency. In all that they are doing and in all that they have done, the railroads are acting not alone by authority, but under the direction of the Government. Manifestly this circumstance imposes a new and additional obligation on the Government to maintain unimpaired any opportunity the railroads may have of manning the places which the strikers have vacated. It must do this not so much as a duty owed to the railroads, however, but rather as a duty which it owes to its own authority and sense of dignity. For it must be evident that the success of the strikers would as effectually nullify the act of Congress which created the Railroad Labor Board as would the passage of a measure repealing that act.

The right to strike is undenied and undeniable. In striking, therefore, the railroad employees did not violate either the letter or the spirit of the law creating the Labor Board. They but subjected its wage award and working rules to an economic test, in that they virtually asserted, by striking, that the labor needed by the railroads could not be got at the wages and under the conditions which the Labor Board had authorized them to pay. That is a lawful test, and if the strikers should win as a result of its unhindered application, there would be little if any reason to regret the outcome. For it would signify no more than that the Labor Board had erred in calculating the present economic worth of the labor of the strikers. But if we have no occasion to condemn the strikers for appealing to that test, nor reason to regret any outcome that may result from the application of it, we have grave reason for insisting that the working of that test shall not be hindered by violence nor intimidation.

If the right to strike is undenied and undeniable, the right to work in any and all circumstances is, if not equally undenied, at least equally undeniable by the touchstone of reasons and morals. And this right must be sustained, both as a matter of duty and as a means of giving free play to the economic test which the strikers invoked by quitting their employment. Unless every man who wants to work in the places offered by the railroads is allowed to work in them free of molestation or the danger of molestation, the economic test that the strikers invoked by quitting would not operate. A victory won by the strikers in those circumstances would not prove that the Labor Board had erred in performing a function given to it by Congress. It would only prove that the power which asserts the right to strike had prevailed over the power which asserts the right of men to work. A victory so won would prove that union authority is, in terms of practicality, above Government authority. If we should have little if any occasion to regret a victory won by the strikers by the unhindered working of the test they have invoked by striking, we should have occasion not merely to regret, but to deplore, a victory won by a test which matched the power of a union against that of the Government.

BIG COMPANY TO TAKE OVER

TOYAH LUBE REFINERY B. C. Lanier of the firm of Lanier & Harris, in town yesterday from his home in Toyah, gives out some gratifying news to the Enterprise for this week. He says the shallowest oil well in the Toyah field was 96 feet until the Toyah-Fresno Oil Co. in drilling their well No. 5 struck pay sand at 91 feet the other day. This well is located on section 8, block 59, and is about half a mile from the Toyah-Pit Syndicate where they dug the shaft to oil, and no doubt if this proves to be as good as they believe it will, it will cause a number of shafts to be put down in that part of the field, on account of the exceedingly shallow depth at which the oil is struck.

Mr. Hughes of the Pit Syndicate is back from California where he has been while his attorneys were getting their titles to their lease untangled. Mr. Hughes, according to Mr. Lanier, thinks a refinery in Toyah will do well and said he had heard a great deal of the refinery the Jet Oil Company is building in San Diego, California. There they propose to mix the Toyah Lube with a California oil and make a high grade blend lube.

It will be noted that the advertisement of the Toyah Lube Refinery has not been changed this week. This is due to the fact that they have big fish on the string which are biting strong and it looks as if these gentlemen will take over the entire business of this company and put in machinery of sufficient capacity and to care for all the oil of the Toyah shallow fields and to refine it, taking therefrom every grade of which it is able to produce. A telegram exhibited by Mr. Lanier to the editor states that "We are ready to shoot one hundred thousand dollars." * * * Wait till you hear from me further.

ABUSE OF FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

When, Thomas L. Blanton ran his first race for congress he promised the voters of his district that he would stop the "franking" system—put it out of business. Just forty days before he took his seat the editor of the Enterprise received mail from him and that of a political nature which was "franked." He has kept it up ever since. Blanton also promised to see that both houses would put in ten full hours per day instead of probably less than half that number, when he was elected. In spite of this he will be in the second primaries if the returns in the daily papers are true.

The fact of the business is they are all doing it and are going so strong that it is becoming a menace to the tax-payers of the nation. It is doubtful if it will ever be stopped entirely, and it may not be advisable to do so, but it should at least be curtailed to a very considerable extent. The following from Farm and Ranch is to the point and full of truth:

Congressmen are permitted, under the law, to mail free of postage, information of what is being done in the House or Senate, and to place into the hands of their constituents such other matter as may be asked for, or which may tend to enlighten them on the work of any department of government. Without this privilege a congressman's salary would largely go for postage or else an appropriation covering this expense would have to be made. It is one of the means whereby any citizen may receive a knowledge of the Government's activity in all parts of the world.

Conceding that the "franking" privilege in the mail is essential, Farm and Ranch protests against its abuse. Just at this time, when elections are being held, or about to be held throughout the United States, members of Congress are showing an unusual interest in the voters of their district. Men and women who have not received even a single piece of mail from Washington for more than a year, now receive daily consignments of "free of postage" stuff, the most of which tell of the activities of the congressman of their district. Speeches which were never made, but printed in the Congressional Record on a "Leave to Print" ordered, are placed into the hands of farmers and other voters as a means of boosting that particular office holder into another term.

In the first place, "franking" matter of this character for political purposes is morally wrong. Second, it is unfair to the man on the outside who is trying to get in. Why should the man in office be granted this advantage over a candidate who is seeking either the nomination or election?

The "franking" privilege should not be done away with, but it should be regulated. Its abuse is costing the tax payers hundreds of thousands of dollars. Train loads of mail which now travels at the taxpayer's expense should bear postage. Thousands of postal clerks are constantly employed in handling this free mail and thousands of printers are engaged in making it ready. Not only would the Government save in man power, but would also greatly reduce its demands for white paper, if congressmen and other Government officials were required to pay postage on all matter except official communications.

STOCKHOLDERS' AND DIRECTORS' MEETING

The stockholders and directors of the Pecos Mercantile Company held their annual meeting on Monday the 10th instant. The following directors were re-elected for the ensuing year:

W. D. Cowan, Pecos, president; W. D. Johnson, Kansas City, Mo., vice-president; A. C. Taggart, Pecos, treasurer and general manager; R. D. Gage, Port Gibson, Miss. J. F. Joyce, Carlsbad, N. M.; J. B. Pruitt, Pecos.

J. C. Wilson was elected one of the directors and will also hold the office of secretary.

The business shows a healthy growth and a good business as is evidenced by the ten per cent dividend paid at this meeting. Mr. Taggart is an able business man and the directors have shown their faith in him and his ability by re-electing him treasurer and general manager.

The Enterprise has had no reports this week either from the Herkenson or Los Pecos Wells.

I wish to take this method of thanking all those who supported me in the primary election Saturday and assure them that I appreciate to the fullest their support and influence. To those who did not see fit to support me I have only the kindest feelings and grant them the same privilege as I myself hold—that of voting for the one of their choice.

CARD OF THANKS.

I take this method of publicly thanking all those who supported me in the primary election Saturday which gave me a substantial majority over my opponent. I made a clean race and the support I received is very gratifying and shows that the people appreciate my efforts to enforce the law. I again extend to all an appreciation which I have not the words at my command to express.

CARD OF THANKS.

I take this means of expressing my heartfelt thanks to those who gave me their unstinted support in the recent primary election which put me over the ropes and made it unnecessary for a second primary in my case. To those who saw fit to cast their vote for another I wish to say that I hold no ill feeling and am your friend the same as before. To you all I wish every good thing and hope we may all prosper in the coming years. Many, many thanks.

Yours sincerely,

TO THE VOTERS OF REEVES AND LOVING COUNTIES:

My election last Saturday to the office of District Attorney was due, largely, to your votes and your support. I cannot adequately express the extent of my gratitude therefor, but I wish to convey to you through this note the assurance that I am sincerely grateful therefor and that I shall through real service strive to prove to you that I am grateful and that you did not misplace your confidence when you did so much to elect me.

Sincerely,

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all those who supported me in the primary Saturday from the depths of my heart. The courtesy will never be forgotten since the office is appreciated by me at this time and will help in a material way to drive the wolf from the door. To those who supported the other man I have no ill will whatever. I recognize the fact that they had a moral and legal right to support the man of their choice, and wish to assure them that it shall be my pleasure as well as duty to accord them the same cordial treatment in my official duty as that accorded those who supported me.

TEXAS PROGRESS NOTES

Construction of an electric interurban railway from Fort Worth to Lake Worth will begin as soon as surveys now being made are completed. The Southwestern Traction Company will build the line. Upon its completion an amusement park to cost $250,000 will be erected at Lake Worth. The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce and business men generally have helped to make the line possible.

Ten new one-man street cars with seating capacity of 56 passengers each have been placed in service this month in Houston. Twenty-five more are expected before the end of July. This is a part of the extension program of more than a million and a half dollars by the Houston Electric Company.

Material for the natural gas pipe-line from the gas field seventy miles south of San Antonio to that city is now arriving and construction work has begun. The line will be of 12-inch pipe.

Material for the high tension electric transmission line between Eldorado and Quanah is arriving at Quanah and the line will be completed within sixty days. It will carry current from the Quanah plant to Eldorado. The Quanah plant has recently been enlarged.

C. E. Merseburger, local manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Shiner has recently been awarded a gold emblem in recognition of completion of twenty-five years' service with the company. Merseburger has been at Shiner all of the twenty-five years.

Thomas Bragg and P. L. Taylor, Waxahachie street car conductors, have each received cash awards from the president of the Texas Electric Railway for excellent service during the first half of the present year in avoiding accidents. The Waxahachie Light points out that Mr. Bragg has received the award for four consecutive years.

Citizens of East Texas cities have taken great interest in the new electric interurban line between Dallas and Terrell now under construction and movements are underway in a number of them to seek for extension of the line to points as far east as Mineola and Tyler.

Grading has begun on the new railroad between Byars, Texas and Waurika, Oklahoma. This line was promoted by Frank Kell of Wichita Falls and will bring a Rock Island connection to the latter city.

Texas cities are shown to have made a rapid growth according to directories of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company now being distributed or on the press. Several Texas cities today have more telephones than the entire states of Texas and Arkansas had a few years ago.

Putman, a town in the heart of the Callahan county shallow oil field, began to receive electric service July 17 from the Abilene-Cisco transmission line. The Abilene Gas and Electric Company has just completed a substation and distribution system at Putman. In Tuscola this company has just completed a brick office and warehouse and ice vault. This office will handle the electric service for Tuscola, Ovalo, Lawn and Buffalo Gap.

All the old electric lines in Albany have been rehabilitated by the Abilene Gas and Electric Company and new lines have been extended to outlying residential districts.

A contract has just been closed by the town of Rochester with the Abilene Gas and Electric Company to build a 13,000 volt transmission line and install a modern distribution system in that city.

REV. AND MRS. J. B. COLE

ATTENDING REUNION AT POST

The Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Cole passed through Pecos Tuesday enroute to Post City where the brothers and sisters of each will meet for a reunion. This is an annual affair and this time they will meet at the big lake near that city where they will spend a few days. Mr. Cole stated to the Enterprise that they would visit at Crosbyton and Lubbock before returning to their home in El Paso.

The Rev. Mr. Cole looks much better than when here the last time and has about regained his former weight but says his strength has not yet returned. A thorough examination by expert physicians located his seat of trouble which is being corrected and he has hopes of being entirely well again in a short time. Mr. Cole says he has a nice home in El Paso and the store which is under the management of his son, Fred, is doing a splendid business—in fact is now doing double the amount of business enjoyed by that store when he purchased it. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have many warm friends in Pecos where he was pastor of the Baptist church for several years.

Wanted all the chickens and eggs I can get.—J. W. Moore. 44-4f.

Everything has settled down to business since the election and the town is as dull as on a picnic day in the country.

Those who made the hardest fights in the recent election are now trying to "fix" matters with those whom they fought to the bitter end, since they realize that they were on the unpopular side. Be a good loser as well as a fighter is a very good motto.

THE METHODIST MEETING

I desire through the columns of the Enterprise to express the great appreciation which I entertain toward the pastors and members of the other churches in town for their hearty co-operation in the meeting just closed. It has been a subject of favorable comment among people generally and reflects the fact that Christianity is one though it may be divided into groups for working purposes, like so many classes in a Sunday school. God bless each one and bless us all in causing His name to be hallowed. His kingdom to come, and His will to be done on earth as it is done in heaven.

As pastor I desire also to express the great appreciation which I feel for the various committees in their faithful functioning. I know it cost an effort on the part of many which could be repaid only in the sense of service to Him who gave himself freely for us.

I would mention the services rendered by individuals were they not too numerous to be mentioned. God who keeps a record of the least detail of thought, word and deed, bless you. My heart is going out for our friends who as ourselves so need the pardoning and keeping grace of Jesus our Savior. I am praying for and expecting better and stronger influences brought to bear upon each of us through a quickened church membership. Thoroughly convinced that quality rather than

HONEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

Fame is a wonderful thing. Think of the bird that first conceived the notion of starting a fire to keep warm before there was any fire. You know his name, of course. Then there was the boy who really owns all the gold in the world, the fellow who looked at a mountain, saw there was some stone in it, dug up the stone, saw there was metal in the stone and figured out how to get the metal out of the stone. You remember who he was, too. And the other boy, what's his name—the chap that fixed out words that carried meaning, and spoke them at the rest of the gang so they could all converse? Everybody knows who he was. There's no use talkin'. It's very important to get your name in the paper an' get a reputation.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Prepared for The Enterprise By The First National Bank in St. Louis.

The July crop estimate shows a reduction in the forecast of the wheat crop of 38,000,000 bushels below the June estimate, owing to the adverse weather, which brought the condition estimate down from 84.3 per cent to 78.9 per cent. Oats were reduced from 1,305 million bushels, as estimated in June, to 1,187 million bushels, through a drop in the condition estimate from 85.5 per cent to 74.4 per cent. The rye crop is estimated at 82,000,000 bushels, on a condition of 89.9 per cent. The barley estimate dropped from 191,000,000 bushels to 182,000,000 bushels, as the condition fell from 90.1 per cent to 82.6 per cent. Corn shows an area planted of 103,284,000 acres, or 99.4 per cent of the area planted last year, with a condition on July 1 of 85.1 per cent on which basis a crop of 2,860 million bushels is predicted, as against 3,070 million bushels harvested last year. Among the minor crops, tobacco and potatoes promise bumper yields, the estimate for the former crop being 1,415,000,000 pounds as against 1,075,000,000 pounds last year and 1,378,000,090 pounds average over the five years 1916 to 1920. The yield of white potatoes is anticipated at 429 million bushels, as compared with 347 million bushels last year and 373 million bushels as the five-year average. Sweet potatoes promise a crop of 111 million bushels which is 12,300,000 bushels above last year and 22,200,000 bushels above the five-year average.

GATES TIRES

The Tire with the Wider and Thicker Tread

A Shrewd Tire Buyer—

One of the shrewdest tire buyers in the country—purchasing agent for a fleet of nearly 100 cars and trucks—made this statement:

"You can't tell what any tire costs till it's worn out.

"On a basis of mileage delivered, I find Gates Super-Tread Tires the cheapest we have ever bought—and I'm convinced it's their wider and thicker tread that gives the extra mileage."

This man bases his statement on careful records. His name if you wish it.

a chance to open his mouth in a gathering he feels called upon to tell those that are willing to listen that times have certainly changed since he was a boy. He doesn't know of any bad that actually happened in his own community but he subscribes for two or three dirty notoriety sheets that make capital of anything suggestive in the daily news and is pretty sure that he knows what he is talking about. According to him there are things happening right here in town every day that would have made him blush for shame if they would have been thought of when he was a young man. It's done with this despicable bunch of cranks but all we can do is to let them get the wind off their chest and impatiently wait for the time when we can write them a nice obituary. We admit and regret that there are more bad people in the world than there was fifty years ago. But we also believe that there are more good people. The population of the earth has increased slightly in the last fifty years. The young folks nowadays are given more freedom than ever before but it is only in rare instances that they take advantage of their freedom. These rare instances are plastered all over the front page of the daily press. No mention is made of the thousands of occasions when the young people are perfectly proper. The public likes the sensational stuff and the papers must cater to it. We certainly do not sanction immorality in any degree but we have infinitely more respect for a person that is openly immoral than we have for the hypocrite who goes around with his mouth ajar waiting for a chance to say something about the young people of the town, and just to hear his head rattle.

FIFTY-TWO HEALTH WEEKS

A few weeks ago, by proclamation of Governor Neff, one week was designated as "Health Week" throughout the entire State of Texas. Such suggestions were made for each day of the week as were thought to be beneficial to the general health of the people of Texas. And there is no doubt but what the suggestions have been and will continue to be helpful in keeping the citizenship of the State well by improving the general sanitary conditions of the country. But as good health, like King Solomon's comparison of wisdom, is better than gold, the writer is impressed that a condition of much importance to the people as a whole, as good health, needs careful attention for fifty-two weeks of the year. Hence he would suggest that all who desire good health for themselves, their families, their neighbors, their friends, and the "stranger within their gates," should not limit or restrict the care, prudence and watchfulness necessary to keep well, so far as is within their power, to one week in the year, but that they individually and collectively prolong and extend "health week" so that it will include fifty-two, instead of one week.

Good health, when used in a righteous way for the enjoyment of its possessor, the honor and glory of God and for the good of humanity is truly one of the greatest blessings the human race is permitted and privileged to enjoy. It would hardly be considered an infringement or an improper use of the Scriptures the writer would think, if in the following quotation the word "health" was used to convey the thought desired, instead of the word "soul." "For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own 'health'?" "Or what shall a man give in exchange for his health?" The health can be destroyed both by strain and neglect in following the promptings of an insatiable desire for wealth and by yielding to the uncontrolled unbridled, sinful and unrighteous cravings of the passions. By making a little change in another passage of Scripture for the purpose of conveying an important thought relative to health, we might say, "Watch ye therefore; for ye know not when disease may come. It may come at even, or midnight, or at the cockcrow, or in the morning; Lest coming suddenly it find you asleep. And what I say unto you, I say unto all, watch." The writer and his good wife would in all probability now have three more grown children with whom to reciprocate affections, and by whom the world might have been influenced a very small bit toward good, had we and some others been a little more watchful. This sentence is written in this article for the sole purpose of impressing upon the minds of parents and also others to be watchful, cautious and prudent in the driving of automobiles and all occupations that are of a dangerous and hazardous nature. Some diseases take hold of people sometimes that are really unavoidable to some degree. Children can't help inheriting syphilis from their parents. But the parents in the least majority of cases can prevent contracting the disease before his children are born. If people would live virtuous lives, venereal diseases, together with the many ills that accompany them would soon disappear from the list of human diseases. This is a big item in public health and requires a full fifty-two week program to be effective. Smallpox can be stamped out by compulsory vaccination. Tuberculosis can be greatly lessened by a more thorough education of the people regarding its nature and contagiousness. Many more diseases that children are more subject to contract as well as quite a list that adults have can be avoided by paying proper attention to the health, not for one week only but for fifty-two weeks in the year. The editor has a fine registered bull calf for sale. It is out of one of the finest Jerseys in the county, the sire being the Polo's John Higgins No. 164940. This calf was dropped March 12th and will make a fine herd bull and will be sold at a reasonable price. He is solid color and a fine individual. If interested correspond with or see at once the editor of the Enterprise.

JAPANESE CO-OPERATIVES AIDED BY GOVERNMENT

The extent of the world-wide spread of the co-operative movement is shown by a recent report by the Japanese Government, showing that there 13,000 co-operatives operating in Japan. Most of them are small, the average membership being 145, but the largest has a membership of 19,782 members. The Co-operatives systems are encouraged by the government by exempting the associations from taxation and by advancing credit if they are willing to undertake contracts such as the supplying of grain, rice, and hay to the army and public institutions. Under the Japanese Co-operative law of 1900, co-operative organizations were divided into four groups, credit societies, productive societies, and the societies for the sale of products, known in America as co-operative marketing associations, and consumer purchasing systems similar to Rochdale type associations in England for the retail sale of commodities. Japanese Co-operative society belong to more than one class, as when a credit society aids its members to sell their crops or purchase articles they need, the law also authorizes the federation of co-operatives and the strengthening of co-operative projects has been greatly increased by the system of local, district and provincial federations. Over four-fifths of all co-operatives in Japan have been organized by farmers. The co-operative credit societies exceed all other forms and have rendered a tremendous service among the peasant classes, and workers. Second in importance are the consumers purchasing societies which are increasing in the cities due to the high pressure of the cost of living of industrial workers.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Easterbrook left Wednesday for Protection, Kansas, being called there by the illness of the father of Mrs. Easterbrook, A. P. Tiley, who is 88 years of age. They expect to be absent from Pecos about two months, and on the return trip will visit other relatives at Argonia, Kansas. They have ordered the Enterprise forwarded to them during their absence.

Birge Holt of Barstow, was a Pecos visitor Wednesday of this week and elsewhere will be found his card of thanks. Mr. Holt ran a good clean race for district attorney and came out with a vote of 500 plurality according to the latest reports obtainable. Those in the race for district attorney had agreed prior to the election to let the high man have the office. Mr. Holt being the high man is to all intents and purposes elected to that office since the primary election is equivalent to election in this state. Mr. Holt is a fine man and one of the coming young lawyers of this section of the county and a graduate of the law school of the University of Texas.

Toyah and Lyne Blake and families, citizens of El Paso and sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Blake of this city, came in Monday afternoon for a few days' visit with their parents. These splendid young men hold responsible situations in El Paso where one of them is manager of the Mummsen Hardware Co. and the other interested in a laundry. The two families number about ten and while here increased the Blake family considerably and they all had a joyous reunion. These families are off on their annual vacation, having visited Elephant Butte dam, Cloudercroft, Roswell and other points of interest in New Mexico and Texas.

John A. Griffin arrived last week from Du Quoin, Ill., and at once took up his labors with the Enterprise. He comes to Pecos well recommended as a newspaper man of the first water, and the greater part of his life has been spent in the work of making newspapers—working in all departments from devil up. Since his arrival here he has convinced the editor that he is not only capable in any department but that he has the pep and energy to make things hum. Any courtesy shown him by the public will be appreciated by the owner of the Enterprise. Mr. Griffin expects to bring his family to Pecos later on and that will materially increase the population of the town and the membership of the Baptist church, since he has seven stalwart sons and the family are all of the Baptist faith.

Attorney Jno. B. Howard is in California on business.

E. L. Harp, prominent citizen of Toyah, was a visitor in Pecos today.

Miss Lillie Poe left last week for East Texas where she will visit for a few weeks before going to the markets to purchase her fall and winter millinery goods.

B. C. Lanier was over from Toyah yesterday on business. B. C. is a good business man and one who knows how to get in behind it and do things.

W. D. Hudson returned Thursday from Engle, N. M., where he had been to look after interests there. Mr. Hudson says the range is very dry in that immediate section of the country and that he shipped out five hundred head of cattle from there to a ranch down near Fort Stockton.

Harry Hinkle, manager of the dry good and clothing department of the Pecos Mercantile Company, left last week for the eastern markets to lay in the fall and winter stock. The new goods will be coming in by next week at which time announcement will be made in these columns.

Evy Boles was in town from the ranch Thursday of this week and looking just as happy as if he had a goat ranch and was making a thousand dollars per day. What's the use looking any other way anyhow? A pleasant look will buy twice as much any day as one with a frown.

K. M. Regan of Chicago, who is with the Bell interests, after a ten days' visit to the Pecos oil field, left this week for his home. Mr. Regan is a very pleasant gentleman and a booster for the Pecos oil field, which he firmly believes will be the biggest and best in the entire country in a very few short years when the drills have completed their work.

Mrs. I. Sparks returned on the night train on Wednesday of this week, from Socorro, New Mexico, where she had been for a couple of weeks, visiting friends and attending to some minor business matters. Mrs. Sparks reports general conditions in their old home town, mighty quiet, and she feels more completely established in Pecos than ever before for while there she disposed of her household effects, thus burning the bridge, that bars retreat. Pecos looks mighty good to her now.

ORA PRUETT RECOVERING

The friends of Miss Ora Pruett will be pleased to know she is slowly but effectually recovering from a serious operation for appendicitis at San Bernardino, Cal. Her sister, Mrs. Lillian Butler is with her and it is expected Miss Ora will be out in two or three weeks. The following is clipped from a San Bernardino daily paper:

"Miss Ora Pruett, of Pecos, Tex., cannot be blamed for not entertaining fond remembrances of her visit to California. She is at present in the Ramona Hospital recovering from an operation for an attack of appendicitis which came upon her at the time of her arrival at Big Bear Valley where she had planned a pleasant vacation.

"Two days preceding the illness Miss Pruett barely escaped being bitten by a rattlesnake while on her way to the mountains.

"The Texas girl came to Southern California two years ago and was so delighted with the trip that she resolved to make her home here some day. The second visit did not turn out so fortunate, but Miss Pruett still wants to make her home in this part of the country."

YOUNG MEN OF PECOS OFF TO TRAINING CAMP

Those of the Pecos boys who left this week for the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Bliss, so far as the Enterprise is enabled to learn are as follows:

Ben Krauskopf, Heard Reynolds, Tom Anderson, and Steve Ward, Jr., and young Jester.

There are probably others who went but the Enterprise was unable to learn their names.

STORY HOUR PROGRAM

The following program will be given at the story hour for the children Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock at the school building. Kindergarten, Mrs. Oram Green; Primary, Mrs. Tena Adams; Junior and Intermediate, Mrs. L. C. Muck; Spanish-American, Mrs. Gentry.

Mr. J. J. Claypool of Lancaster, Ohio, who was a visitor in Pecos a week or so ago stated to the Enterprise that he was surprised to find the old building just north of the Enterprise office still standing. He says: "It is an eyesore to the town and is one of the worst things that could be as an advertisement. It is the first thing one sees on entering the town and makes a very bad impression, besides the lot would be more valuable without the building." Mr. Claypool is absolutely correct. Besides all that Mr. Claypool says for the building it is a fire-trap which may some day be the direct cause of a conflagration which may sweep the town of its very best buildings. The town and county would be much better off if the building were torn away and the lot cleared and made to look decent.

H. G. Bryan was in town Tuesday with a load of those splendid Challenge cantaloupes from his farm. Mr. Bryan has in ten acres this year and says the prospects for a fine crop were never better. His first 5 acres are just now beginning to ripen and they are as fine as any ever put on the local market. The other five acres will come on later and are just now beginning to bloom. So far he has not had any trouble with insects of any kind, and no aphids have yet appeared in his patch. The vines are growing splendidly and fruiting heavily and from present indications he expects to make a "killing." Mr. Bryan supplied the editor with a fine sample which could not be surpassed in flavor or quality, for which he has the thanks of the Enterprise family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. Casey and daughter, Mrs. Rowan Hudson and little son, came in Monday for a visit to their old home. They are looking after business matters as well as taking a vacation and visiting with friends. Mr. Casey is a fine business man and was before going to Dallas business manager of the Pecos Mercantile Company. He has a fine business in Dallas.

IRRIGATION DISTRICT TO BE ENLARGED

A. H. Dunlap, member of the State Board of Water Engineers at Austin, was in Toyah Valley last Wednesday and Thursday and met with Board of Directors of the Irrigation District and a crowd of the Valley farmers at 2 o'clock Wednesday evening, and on Thursday he visited the proposed dam sites in Maderia canyon and the Cottonwood draw and left for Ft. Stockton Friday morning, to visit that irrigation system.

It developed at this meeting a plan to build two more reservoirs and double the capacity of the present one, by taking in 2,000 more acres of land to defray the expenses of this new project, and a public meeting is called to meet at Balmerbea on Saturday, August 5th, at 2 o'clock p. m., to discuss these plans. An invitation is extended the P. V. S. Ry. officials, the bankers and business men of Pecos, as well as every citizen of Toyah Valley to be present at this meeting.

It is claimed that with this new addition to our district that our water supply will practically be unlimited, that the alfalfa acreage will be more than doubled in the Valley, and with this increased tonnage, there would be no trouble to have it moved, and the moving of Toyah Valley hay would be on an equal footing with the rest of the world. Cussed. Let's start something. Let's build a bigger Toyah Valley.
