AUTO THIEF SAYS WAY OUT OF COUNTY JAIL

BROUGHT CARS HERE AND DISPOSED OF THEM TO CITIZENS

S. N. Thweatt, who was arrested Wednesday morning on warrants from Dallas county, charging theft of automobiles, escaped from the Hale county jail some time during that night. He sawed the bars across a window, and crawled through same. It is evident, so officers tell us, that somebody furnished him with the saws. It is reported that somebody was seen leaving the jail during the night with a woman's dress on, but the way she or he walked left the impression that it was a man. Thweatt has not been recaptured.

Thweatt came to Plainview last year and rented a farm from R. S. Scoggins two and a half miles south of town, and put in 500 acres of wheat. He sold a Chandler car to Mr. Scoggins and also one to M. J. Berry, and it is alleged that these cars were stolen. He also mortgaged to the Guaranty State Bank two cars, a Buick roadster and Studebaker, for money to make his wheat crop, and these cars were also stolen, and will have to be returned to the right owners by the bank.

Thweatt is also under bond pointily with Jeff Gibson for theft of auto tires at Silverton some time ago, and two well known citizens of Plainview are sureties on his bond.

Thweatt was arrested on warrants brought by C. E. DeWitt, chief special agent of the Automobile Anti-Theft Bureau of Dallas, and he was being held pending his removal to Dallas. It is said that he is also wanted in Sherman and San Antonio and possibly other places for auto thefts.

He is single and about twenty-six years of age. He formerly lived in Sherman.

Will Continue Emergency Rates

The Santa Fe railway has decided to continue in effect the emergency live stock rates from New Mexico and Texas until September 15, 1921, announces T. B. Gallaher, general freight and passenger agent of the Panhandle lines of the Santa Fe. The reduced rates, made in the spring, expires July 15.

The rates apply from points on the Santa Fe in New Mexico and Texas to points in Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. These rates were made at the earnest request of the live stock growers to enable them to move their stock to summer pasture.

Though much stock was moved in the spring under these low rates, other conditions were unfavorable at the time, making it difficult to move as much as planned. But it is expected that as crops move to market, more money will be available for the stockmen. Idaho, Montana and Wyoming stockmen are anxious to increase their herds and flocks that were so seriously reduced by drought conditions last year. They look to the southwest for stock to restock their ranges.

To meet this situation the Santa Fe railway has decided to do its share by continuing the emergency rates on live stock. The northwest has had a splendid season so far and will produce an abundance of feed; but more live stock is needed to turn this feed into money. The low freight rates will give the New Mexico and Texas stockmen a better market in the northwest for their surplus stock.—A. M. Hove.

Obtain Pictures of Ex-Bandit Villa

El Paso, July 12.—By a clever ruse, C. J. Kalo, a moving picture representative, returned today from Mexico with the first picture films of Francisco Villa taken in seven years. Villa seized the camera and burned up the part of the film which he thought had been "shot." Instead Kalo had given him sixty feet of unused film in place of 340 feet which had been exposed. Kalo gained entrance to the ranch at Canutillo in the guise of a tractor advertising man. He was accompanied by Jimmie Caldwell, tractor salesman of Oklahoma City.

Villa boasts of having ejected twelve cameramen from his ranch in the past few months, seizing their equipment. Kalo and Caldwell spent three days on the ranch before Villa became suspicious.

Garage Damaged by Fire

About 7:30 yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to the residence occupied by Mr. Ward, near the laundry, to put out the fire in a garage. It was caused by some spilled gasoline catching fire. It was almost consumed. The place belongs to Geo. Lucas of Austin.

PLAINVIEW DEFEATS AMARILLO SCORE WAS 5 TO 3

Visitors Lost Game Through Base Hits by Duren, Lamb and McDaniel

Plainview defeated Amarillo here yesterday 5 to 3. Extra base hits by Duren, Lamb and McDaniel spelled defeat for the visitors. Duren hit two three base hits and a home run in four times up.

Graves in center field robbed Amarillo of many runs by sensational catching. Leslie was the battling star for Amarillo, making first on each of four times up.

Score by innings:

Plainview	000 102 020—5 9 2
Amarillo	000 000 201—3 9 2

Batteries: Helmand and Duren; Horton and Lewis. Umpire, Dye.

Another game will be played this afternoon.

Installing Grocery Department

C. E. White of the White Seed Co. is preparing to install a stock of groceries in his building on the east side of the square. He has had the interior of the store re-arranged and additional shelving put in. He will carry a complete stock of groceries and provisions in addition to his regular seed business.

Mr. White has made an exceptional success in the seed business during the past few years and now sends seeds to not only Texas and the other states of the union but also to several far-away foreign countries.

Santa Fe Wants On F. F. E.

John Boswell, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, says from indications practically every town on the F. F. E. Highway will be represented at the convention in Plainview August 1st, from the many replies he has received to the announcement of the meeting.

Santa Fe, N. M., will have a number of delegates here, as that city is pulling for an extension of the highway from Las Vegas.

Prices of Products Increasing

The markets are now showing an upward tendency. Wheat gained a nickle today, and eggs have gone up about 2c. The local markets today are as follows:

Wheat, No. 1, bu.	$1.10
Eggs, dozen	18c
Cream, lb.	26c
Butter, lb.	25c
Fryers, lb.	25c
Hens, lb.	13c

The price of hogs is also going up, and they are today bringing 9 1-4c a pound.

Norfleet to Testify

J. Frank Norfleet, Hale Center, who arrived here Monday from Los Angeles, announced that he would return Aug. 14 to Los Angeles to testify in the case of Walter Lips, charged with taking a bribe from Joe Furey, who, it is stated, bought his release from jail, where he was held on a warrant from this county. Lips is a deputy sheriff.—Fort Worth Record.

Cotton Acreage Cut One-Fourth

The preliminary estimate of the Texas cotton acreage under cultivation June 25 is 9,190,000 as compared with the revised estimate of 12,265,000 last year, which is a decrease of 25 per cent, according to F. N. Gray, cotton statistician, bureau of markets and crop estimates of United States Department of Agriculture.

Forty Hogs Killed in Wreck

Haasel & Hauck received a wire the first part of the week saying that 40 carloads of hogs shipped by them from this place, consigned to the Cudahy packery in Los Angeles, figured in a wreck near Needles, Calif. Forty were killed and rest escaped and were at large.

Flick's Taxi Car Burns

Monday night the Overland car used as taxi, was burned at the end of South Broadway, caused by effective electric wiring. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

He had sold the car and was to have made delivery the next morning.

Two Men Hurt in Storm

Gusts of wind during a heavy rain storm at Floydada last week upset a header barge and injured O. C. Payne and George Barkham, who were riding on the wagon at the time. Payne's arm was fractured and Barkham was painfully cut and bruised.

Earl Summers has been brought home from Coleman on a cot. He went to that place to visit relatives, and suffered an attack of appendicitis. He underwent a surgical operation in Plainview Sanitarium, and is now recovering.

During the month of June the Ford Motor company, through its Detroit factories and twenty-two assembly plants throughout the country reached the production of 108,962 Ford cars and trucks, setting up a new high record for one month.

BULL FIGHTING SPECTACULAR BUT VERY BARBAROUS

BULL HAS NO CHANCE TO WIN IN CRUEL SPORT OF MEXICO

City of Mexico.—This afternoon I saw my first bull fight, and I really believe it will be my last and only one. So said a number of other Americans. It is indeed no pleasure to sit and see a bull tortured as is done in a bull fight. And, this was only an amateur affair, gotten up and put on by society people of the city complimentary to the visiting Americans, as this is not the bull fighting season, and the professional fighters are in Spain fighting bulls. They will return for the fall and winter season in Mexico. No horses were killed in the fight I saw, as the bull refused to gore the horses. In the professional fights I am told that often the bull gores the blind-folded horse in the side, disemboweling him, and then races around the ring stringing the guts about.

Sunday is Mexico's day of recreation. As in all Catholic countries, the people as a rule go to church in the morning but seek amusement of some sort in the afternoon. Every city has its bull ring, and it is only on Sunday that the bull fight takes place. Hence, we Americans had to lay aside our scruples when we started for the "plaza de toros," as the bull-ring is called.

The bull-ring in Mexico City is possibly the largest in the world. It is built of steel and concrete and seats 23,000 people, so I was told. It is a sort of amphitheatre, which seats rising in great circles or tiers, from the center or bull ring. There is no roof to the structure, and one seat is about as good as another, just so it is on the shady side of the structure. Seats sell for more in the shade or "sombra," than in the sunny side called "sol." The price of admission is according to the prominence of the matador who takes part in the affair.

Next to the ring is a "callejon" or alley-way, into which the "toreros" jump when they are too closely pursued by the bull and are forced to leap over the fence to keep their hides from being punctured by the sharp horns of the mad bull.

Within the "callejon" are several small barriers made of wood, behind which men stand in case the bull jumps over the "callejon" which frequently occurs, to drive the bull back in the ring. Opposite the gate where the bull enters is a large box draped in Mexican colors, which is occupied by the president of the fight, and behind and above this is another box where sit or stand what I guess are called the sponsors, which in today's fight were six pretty Mexican society girls dressed in dresses of green, red and white, the Mexican national colors.

Soldiers or policemen are abundant in order to keep down any disturbances or the possible public disapproval of something connected with the fight, as the Mexicans are hot-blooded and some times throw seats, planks and bottles into the ring. Some times there are very serious disturbances and on two occasions before the present iron and concrete ring was built two rings were destroyed. Mexicans take the same interest in bull fights as Americans do in base ball.

Entrance of the "Guardri"

The president is usually a city alderman, and is present to see that the "function" is pulled off in orderly fashion, and that all regulations governing fights are carried out. He adjudges any differences which may arise between the public and the "empresario," and is in full charge of the "corrida;" gives permission for the bulls to be killed, the horses to be removed, and for the "banderilleros" to retire. If the bull is not satisfactory he gives the signal for it to be sent out and another substituted. Below his box, connected with a speaking tube is the bugler who sounds the changes. A large band plays before the fight, and just preceding it, it breaks into the lively and inspiring "Bull Fighter's March," from Carmen which the people know that the president of the ring has arrived and the fight is about to begin. The people at once get to their places, as close to the ring as possible.

The bugle is then sounded and every eye is turned toward the gate through which the "cuadrilla" or company enters. It is a brilliant spectacle, and one that appeals to the sense of color and beauty. First come the "alguacil" and his associates, gaudily dressed horsemen who look as though they had just stepped out of some old Spanish book. Next in open carriages ride the "matador," or "espada," who is the real bull fighter and kills the bulls and is the star of the company, resplendent in his costume of silk and satin, gold and velvet; next the "capeadores" and "banderilleros" who tease and madden the bull prior to the entry of the matador; then the young ladies who are what we would call sponsors of the occa-

KIWANIS CLUB DISCUSSES PUBLIC UTILITY FRANCHISE

WILL ASK FOR PROVISIONS SAFE GUARDING RIGHTS OF CITY

The renewal franchise of the electric light and power company, which will expire within the next year, in fact part of the contracts of which expired recently, was discussed in a round table way at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club today. It is the sense of the club that the matter be thoroughly discussed by the people, and that the new franchise contain provisions that will better safeguard the rights of the city and its citizens. The matter will be discussed from time to time.

Dr. E. O. Nichols spoke on "The Business Man Keeping Fit," and stressed the point that he should keep himself fit in the matter of both morals, if he would succeed as he health and morals, if he would succeed as he should.

Mayor Chas. Vincent told of the trials of a mayor, some of his experiences being very humorous. He mentioned that during the late rise in the draw a woman wanted him, to dynamite the east bridge so as to release the water.

C. A. Pierce was big stick artist, and J. E. Watson won the attendance prize which was given by Rev. J. W. Israel.

Mrs. J. E. Watson sang and responded to an encore. Her accompanist was Mrs. A. A. Beery.

Save Half-Million Dollars

Dallas, July 13.—Southwestern Texas alfalfa growers will get $500,000 more for their crop this year with out raising the price to the consumer by means of co-operative marketing, F. P. First of El Paso, said here today.

According to First the producer gets $12 a ton, the wholesale price was $24 and the cost to the consumer was $34 for alfalfa hay. Under the co-operative plan the producers will get $18 a ton by eliminating the speculators and selling direct to the wholesalers.

Committees Are Meeting

Practically every committee of the Board of City Development is meeting this week, working on matters coming under their supervision, some of which are of much importance, in order to report progress being made at the regular meeting of the Board next Tuesday night.

Leaving the dam the road follows shore of Shoshone lake, at the east entrance to the park we camped on June 30 on the shore of Yellowstone lake.

July 2 and 3 we were snow bound at Canyon camp, but very fortunate in finding shelter under an old log shed, with a sheet iron roof. Seven cars were with us most of the time, 23 of us surrounded a big camp fire and sang and told stories. Among us were two of Uncle Sam's cowboys, who supplied the fire with big pine logs drawn from the forest with their saddle horses. They also put our grub in the panifers of their pack saddle and hung it by their ropes to the rafters of the shed to keep it from the reach of the bears.

July 4 the sun shown bright and we took a hike to the upper falls, down the canyon, its height is 109 feet from there. We went to lower falls, the second largest in U. S.; its perpendicular drop is 305 feet. The foot path is three-fourths of a mile long and the drop from crest to base of canyon is 1200 feet; the steps are hewn in the rocks and gap pipes are held by concrete on one side to serve as banisters. When we made the round trip on Shank's horses we decided the 4th well spent.

Next was the "Mammoth Well" camp one of the most beautiful colored spots in the park, the terraces and caves being the greatest attractions there.

Going on to the next camp passing geysers on both sides of the highway, the most popular one in the park being Old Faithful (very true to her name as she plays every seventh minute, with rarely a variation of a few minutes). Day and night, summer and winter this beautiful manifestation of nature gives her exhibitions. The eruption of hot boiling water begins with a few spurts, these are followed by a column of hot water two feet in diameter which is projected upward 125 to 150 feet, which is maintained for about three minutes and often longer.

There are many other places of interest in the park, which time and space cannot tell. We have photographed with two cameras the various places described previous, but no artist can do nature justice.

I must bring my letter to a close and departing at North Entrance bound for the Pacific coast I will say good-bye and good luck to one and all.

Edith McCall, Eugene, Oregon.

PLAINVIEW GIRL VISITS YELLOWSTONE PARK

Tells of Trip in Car Through Colorado Wyoming and Shoshone Country

Yellowstone Park, July 9.—To Hale county friends.—Since leaving Plainview on March 24, I shall try to give you a brief outline of our trip up to present date. We visited friends and relatives on the North Plains of Texas, Pawnee and Tulsa, also the 101 Ranch headquarters at Bliss, Okla., Wellington and Wichita Kans.

From there we drove to Denver in 24 hours, a distance of 550 miles, passing through Pueblo on Wednesday just before the dreadful flood on Friday night.

We spent several days at Colorado Springs visiting Garden of Gods, Seven Falls, Stratton Park, etc. I took a trip up on the Mt. Manitou Scenic cable incline, a distance of one mile and a quarter and has a grade of 68 per cent (meaning a raise of 68 feet for every 100 feet in length.) It is the longest and highest road of its kind in the world.

I took a hike to Eagle Cliff and the Halfway house, but was unable to go to the summit of Pikes Peak, on account of the cogroad and highway being damaged by the flood.

We spent four weeks at Denver visiting points of interest, such as the State Capitol, museums, U. S. Mint, Estes Park, Lookout Mt., public buildings and parks.

From there my uncle joined us and we came up to Greeley, Colo., and spent a few days with old Plainview neighbors, whom most of you will know. J. F. Morris and family. Found them all well and enjoying life.

From Greeley we came to Cheyenne Wyo. and Casper, situated on the Big Horn river, surrounded by a great oil field and immense refineries. Thermopolis is a nice little burg, her greatest attraction being a spring which rises east of the town, boiling hot and flows part to the fountain and the remainder to the Big Horn river.

Our next camp was at Cody, Wyo., founded by the famous scout, the late Col. W. M. F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill, whose body now rests on summit of the Windy Mt.). It is situated on the Shoshone river. Leaving Cody for the trip to Yellowstone Park, we came into the Shoshone George across the Shoshone river. The wonders of the park begin with the entrance to the canyon, its walls being most perpendicular, but yet along the face of the Rattlesnake mountain, the road has been blasted and in many places the highway passes through tunnels in granite walls. At the upper end of the canyon we came to the Shoshone Dam, the second highest in the world. I will give you the dimensions, so you may picture the structure in your mind: Thickness at base, 108 feet and at top 10 feet, length of crest 200 feet, capacity of reservoir 456,000 acreage feet, area of water 10 square miles, length of reservoir 10 miles, maximum depth 233 feet, maximum width 4 miles, spillway 300 feet. It was started under construction in 1905 and completed in 1910. Total cost $1,354,000.

Leaving the dam the road follows shore of Shoshone lake, at the east entrance to the park we camped on June 30 on the shore of Yellowstone lake.

700 CARS GRAIN INSPECTED FIFTEEN DAYS

EIGHTY-THREE CARS HANDLED IN ONE DAY—RECENT RAIN DELAYS MARKETING

For the first fifteen days of July, which closes tonight, fully 700 carloads of grain have been inspected by Jas. B. Wallace, federal grain inspector for the Plainview Grain Exchange in the territory covered by it. To last night 632 cars had been inspected. All of this grain was wheat except possibly twelve cars.

The largest day's inspection was eighty-three cars. That out of Plainview runs from twelve to fifteen cars up to twenty-five per cent.

Mr. Wallace says the movement has been delayed somewhat by the recent rains, which put so much moisture in the wheat, and the farmers are trying to dry it out somewhat before marketing.

In grading No. 1 wheat must not contain more than 13 1-2 per cent moisture, No. 2 14 per cent, No. 3 14 1-2 per cent, Nos. 4 and 5 15 1-2 per cent. Over that amount is graded as sample.

The farmers are very busy this week cutting and threshing, and by the fore part of next week practically all the cutting will have been finished. Threshing will last for quite awhile.

Already the farmers in all parts of the county are plowing for the next crop, and an increased acreage will be planted in wheat in the Plainview country.

Every car of wheat shipped out of Plainview has tacked on it by the Board of City Development a large placard on which is printed "Wheat from Plainview, Hale County, Texas, 1920 crop 1,500,000 bushels; 1921 crop 2,000,000 bushels. Plainview Board of City Development."

Many Want to Break Land

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce is having many inquiries from men in other counties who wish to come here and engage in breaking land. The secretary has opened a list and asks that all parties who wish land broken and those who wish to breakland to give him their names so he can bring them together. There is no charge for his services.

He is also finding employment for many men who have come here. But the best way to secure work in the harvest fields it seems is to go out in the country to the places where the harvesting and threshing is in progress.

Will Cut Off Delinquents

It is not hard to guess who will be the two most cussed fellows in Plainview by Monday night. They will be George Saigling, city secretary, and Leo DeLay, water and sewer superintendent. Today is the last day to pay quarterly rents, and tomorrow and Monday all delinquents will have their connections turned off, and it costs $1 to get cut back on. Quite a number haven't kicked in, and will be cut off. George and Leo have this nightmare to go through with every three months.

Lorenzo Will Have Picnic

The editor of the Lorenzo Enterprise and several other citizens of that town were here Wednesday, making arrangements to secure the C. of C. Picnic Band to furnish music for the annual picnic to be held there next Wednesday, July 20. There will be a ball game, rodeo, shows, music and speaking. A number of Plainview people expect to attend.

South Plains Crops Good

P. B. Barber, the Holt tractor distributor, made a trip this week to Lubbock and Tahoka. He says crops around Lubbock are good, and that wheat in Lynn county is making as high as twenty-six and twenty-seven bushels to the acre, as a good rain fell just in time some weeks ago to bring it to a good yield.

The convention of the Farmers' union has been in session in Lubbock this week, and the Avalanche put on a daily paper in honor of the occasion, in order to give each day's proceedings.

Great applause and noise greets the bull as he enters the ring. He races around the ring, sotering from the sn of the barb in his shoulder. He pauses and glances around in wonder and defiance. This was a black bull, rather ordinary and lean, but with long and sharp horns. I am told by bull fight enthusiasts that there is really no finer sight in the world than a magnificent bull lashing his

It seems that Gov. Neff is holding a wet elm club behind him for use on the legislature. We hope he makes use of it.

Our position is simply this: that the wives of the bunch on the corner should either make them go to work or poison them.

If you haven't any friends, and people seem to dislike you, you should at once take an invoice of yourself and find out what is the matter—for you are the one to blame.

Plainview should have a municipal auditorium that will seat at least 2,000 people. The proposition is to be put up to the people, and we believe they will give it their endorsement.

An Eastland woman sued another for $30,000 damages for alleged alienation of her husband's affections, and secured a judgment of $15,000. We'd bet that his affections were not worth 15c.

It is rumored that Mr. Ford is experimenting with a view of using cotton instead of tin in the manufacture of his cars. We guess the Tin Lizzie will then change her name to Molly Cottontail.

T. Coleman du Pont has been appointed U. S. Senator from Delaware, which means that the big armament bunch has one more member in the senate. Du Pont is the world's greatest manufacturer of powder and other war explosives.

A fellow down in the state wants to know if the leaves of trees turn red in the fall from blushing because they are showing necked limbs. Maybe it is because they realize how green they were during the summer.

Dozens of people were stricken to death by the heat in Northern and Eastern cities this week. Nobody ever suffered sunstroke on the Texas Plains, for heret he weather is fine, the pure ozone laden breezes blow, and the nights are delightful. Come to the Plains.

During 1920 wild cat moving picture concerns sold $50,000,000 worth of worthless stock to Americans. There are millions of persons of small means who have the get rich quick spirit, and they easily fall for the glib-tongued promises of the promoters. The fellow who first said "a sucker is born every minute," was very conservative in his statement.

There is less crime committed in Mexico than in Texas. In Mexico who na fellow commits certain species of crime, say one morning, he is tried that afternoon, and if guilty shot at sunrise next morning. The City of Mexico does not have one-tenth as much crime as Fort Worth, with a bare hundred thousand people. Hold-ups are unknown in the Mexican capital. Severe and sure punishment of criminals is sure cure for crime. The high-jacker and the murderer who is hanged never again commits another crime. The law-abiding element in Texas should insist that the legislature adopt Gov. Neff's law enforcement program.

Prof. Albert Einstein, the eminent scientist, has just returned to Germany after a tour of the United States. In an interview he declares that American men are the "toy dogs" of American women, and that American women dominate the life of the United States. It is not true, of course, but it is better for a country to be dominated by good women than bad men. If the women had dominated Germany there would never have been a world war.

LET'S CO-OPERATE

That is a good suggestion of Col. R. P. Smyth, published in Tuesday's News, urging that Hale, Floyd, Crosby, Lubbock, Briscoe and Swisher counties secure adjoining booths for their exhibits at the Dallas Fair, and should be acted upon favorably.

These six counties are very much alike in many ways and raise practically the same kind of crops.

They are bound to each other by boundary lines and the development and growth of one helps all the others.

These six counties should co-operate not only in the matter of state fair exhibits but in all other things affecting the Plains. There should be no envy or knocking, but all the people should work shoulder to shoulder, for the upbuilding of the entire section. Let's boost for the whole Plains country.

Plainview banks have about three million dollars on deposit, and the other banks of the county more than a quarter-million. This is $350 for every man, woman and child in the county.

The state checker tournament will be held in Dallas in a few days. We wonder if Editor Waggoner of the "Panhandle Press" who won the Panhandle Press championship at Amarillo in April, will take part in the games. If so, we are betting on him, for he won hands down over Editor Loomis of the Canadian Record and Braswell of the Clarendon News.

John D. Rockefeller celebrated his eighty-second birthday July 8. He is in good health, eats like a farm hand, sleeps like a top, and does not worry over the fact that he has a billion-dollar fortune. Rockefeller is really a grand old man, and is doing a wonderful amount of good with his money. He will not carry any of it with when he passes to the next world.

A member of the legislature will call the hand of Gov. Neff by introducing a resolution calling upon him to show where graft is taking place in the capitol and who the grafters are. In speeches in Corsicana and Mexia last week the Governor charged there was graft and padding of accounts, and said he could name the individuals who are doing it. It will be up to the Pat to make good his charges. Let the white light of publicity shine into the dark places.

One thing is certain, the new tariff bill will stop Norway and Iceland from dumping their cotton crops on the United States, and thus the Southern farmers will be saved from bankruptcy.

Nearly every Plains town is claiming to be the "greatest wheat shipping point in Texas." Wheat is king in the Plains-Panhandle country.

When "Poetry of Motion" is mentioned it does not refer to the actions of a picnic girl with a bug down her back.

Women used to carry money in their stockings, but nowadays it is not safe to put valuables in so public a place.

THE LORD GOD

O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth.—II Chronicles vi. 14.

Governor Neff declared before the Rotary club in the city of Austin that in a certain county of Texas a saloon and several pool halls are running wide open under the protection of a deputy sheriff. It seems to us that the proper thing for the governor to do should be to send rangers to that county, arrest the operators of the saloon and pool halls, and also gather in the offending deputy sheriff for good measure. Is our governor flushing?

ERECTING A HIGH WALL

The greatest reason for the present depression of prices for American farm products, is that the foreign nations are unable to raise money with which to buy our goods. It is to the interest of the American farmers and stockmen to devise some means by which the foreign peoples can buy our products and pay for same by an exchange of their products. Until there is a greater foreign market the price of American farm products will continue low.

Instead of making it easier for Americans to sell their farm products in foreign countries the republican tariff bill now before congress will greatly limit the movement.

By erecting a tariff wall the republicans will make it almost impossible for foreign made goods to come into this territory, and unless they do come in and are bartered for the things we produce the foreigners will keep them at home and our crops will rot in the fields and our cattle be worth less than the cost of production.

This tariff, while curtailing the world markets of the farmers of this country, will also permit the manufacturers of this country to rob our farmers out of billions of dollars.

The international markets for farm products are competitive and free and the American farmer must needs meet the competition of every people on earth in selling his products. Yet, he must under a tariff on manufactured goods be at the mercy of the manufacturer.

A sop is being thrown to the farmers, stockmen and woolmen by levying a duty on cotton, cattle and wool, which is the greatest piece of rascality and camouflage possible, for we have a surplus of these products every year to sell in foreign markets, and no amount of "protection" will do any good.

The Fordney bill is also menacing in another way. The foreign governments will likely retaliate by doing some tariff wall building themselves, so that our goods will have to do some till climbing to get over into their markets. This will cause ill-feeling and contention and suspicion and suspicion among the nations, and breed commercial wars such as may bring on a actual war with armies and navies.

The News is and has for years been against all kinds of import duties. It is strictly a free trader. There can be no kind of a tariff but what is a special privilege to the beneficiary and a burden to the consumer. Any sort of a tariff violates the old democratic slogan of "Equal justice to all, and special privileges to none."

As an economic principle or measure a tariff is a crime. As a revenue measure there may be some excuse for it, but there are better ways of raising revenue than by a tariff, for under the emergency tariff law, recently enacted, in which only a few items were carried, the special interests get five dollars to where the federal treasury derives one dollar.

The Fordney tariff bill will mean billions for the special interests of the East and North, but it will make poorer the farmers of the South and West. Likely this is the real intent of the measure.

New York City had two pardas last week. July 4th eighteen thousand persons marched as a protest against national prohibition, and among the banners carried were several which read "We are tired of home brew." It was a very ragged bunch of humanity, Friday fifteen thousand delegates to the national Christian Endeavor convention staged a parade, most of them being young men and young women—clean in looks, habits and morals. The spirit of the first parade was to pull humanity down into the gutter; the spirit of the second to life it up toward heaven.

TROOP I BOY SCOUTS

Troop I met in regular session Friday, July 8. Twenty-two were present. The small attendance was because the C. of C. Boys' Band had to practice and most of the boys in it are members of Troop I.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m. - The roll was called and F. E. Offlighter, scout master, followed with his report and stated that there was a little more than $105 in the scout treasury. The librarian followed with a report. Offlighter next read out a few bills. The scouts voted that these be paid. When the bills are paid there will yet be more than $90 in the treasury. The scouts decided to go swimming next Wednesday in a lake about two miles south of town.

A motion was made and seconded that the meeting night be changed to Saturday so boys working in the country would have a better chance to attend the meetings. The motion was voted and the majority favored the change. From now on the meetings will be on Saturday at 8 p. m.

After business was discussed dues were collected by the treasurer.

Books were then secured from the school library by boys who wished to read them. This was followed by a game and game's until the meeting was over.

tail and shaking his shaggy head with mingled rage and surprise. He looks as if he defies the world. Suddenly one of the banderillos or capeadores throws his colored cloak in front of him and the fight is on.

The Cruel Sport

A bull fight is divided into three distinct parts. The first part is that of the picadores or men on horseback. The yride in front of the bull on their horses, and incite the bull to charge. They are armed with long spears and are expected to place the point of the spear in the bull's shoulder and keep his horns from reaching the horse, but as a rule they are unable to succeed and the bull gores the horse. The horses are miserable creatures, poor and worn out, and bought cheaply. They are blind-folded, and are ridden against the bull's horns simply to be gored and killed. This part of the fight is the one most abhorred by Americans as it is entirely against their instincts to see a poor, defenseless animal killed or maimed in such a brutal fashion. I am told that usually the horses are entirely disemboweled, but we were spared any injury to the horses this afternoon, as the bull hooked at one horse only one time and his horns went on either side of the horses breast without injury; after that he refused to go near the horses. Despite the fact that the killing of horses is a most cruel procedure, I am told it is nevertheless necessary to some extent, for unless the bull is tired out by the picadores it is dangerous and difficult for the other fighters to perform their feats.

Banderillas Stuck In Bull

The second part of the fight is a most graceful and daring spectacle, even if cruel. Here the banderilleros occupy the center of the stage. Banderillas are pieces of wood the size of a broom stick and less than a yard long, in the end of which are affixed steel barbs two inches in length. The sticks are covered with bright colored tissue paper with rosettes at the ends. The banderilleros take the banderillas, one in each hand, and stand in front of the bull, and when the animal charges they place the banderillas just at the top of the shoulder blades. They must put the two banderillas together, and at the same time save themselves from the bull's horns by jumping to one side. If the sticks are in the least put out of place the performer is greeted with hisses and jeers. I saw three banderilleros place the six barbed prongs in the shoulders of the poor bull, and except for one which soon fell out they remained there for the rest of the fight. The pain the more infuriated the bull, and he made lunges at the capeadores, who worried the bull with their colored mantles, and when he pressed them too closely they cowardly skinned over the fence. This worrying kept up for some time.

The Matador Makes Entrance

The third and final part of the bull fight is the killing of the animal by the matador, or star fighter. His entrance into the ring is amid applause, especially if he is a popular favorite. He is armed with a crimson flag called the "muleta," or a cloak of that color, also a two-edged sword three feet long and as keen as a razor. He is dressed in the uniform as mentioned above, and is both lithe and graceful. He, too, with the red cape in his hand concealing the sword, tries to anger the bull further. First, he makes some brilliant passages with the muleta entirely over the bull's body and jumps aside as the bull charges him. Finally, when the bull is worn out he awaits his opportunity, and as the animal charges the last time the matador drives the sword up to the hilt between his shoulder blades, piercing the heart and lungs. When done well the bull drops instantly and soon expires. Very often, however, it is necessary for the matador to make three or four attempts before he is successful. In this instance three strokes were made. In the first the matador left the sword sticking three feet in length in the bull's body, piercing him from the shoulder blade downward. The poor animal continued to charge about the ring, and at one time tried to climb over the fence, but was unable to do so. The sword was pulled out by the matador and again stuck in the bull to the hilt, as it charged at the man. This did not kill the bull, and another thrust was necessary. After the third thrust, which did not pierce the heart, the bull weary and faint from worrying and loss of blood stood still for a few moments and gradually sank to the ground. At once attendants cut his throat with knives, and he was dead. The matador then strutted about the ring, amid the plaudits of admirers. We saw no Americans clapping their hands, for in their eyes it was a brutal exhibition. One lady from San Antonio who sat nearby almost fainted.

The Americans are always rooters for the bull, and when he forces or lifts a tormentor over the fence they yell. Occasionally a bull fighter is badly injured or killed, but this is not often, for the bull has practically no chance, and it is this feature in addition to the cruelty of the game that is disgusting to Americans, for Americans believe in fair play in their sports and games.

The matador then struts about the arena to the cheers of the people, for he is a hero of the time. The bull is driven out by mules and the first act of the tragedy is over.

After the first bull fight most all the Americans, including myself, left the place, and did not stay for the second and third fights, as three bulls were killed during the afternoon.

As Mr. Jones, an Abilene banker, remarked after the fight, "Mexico can never become great so long as the people take pleasure in such cruel sport."
