STRANGE BITS OF TODAY'S NEWS

PECULIAR HAPPENINGS WE'VE GATHERED FROM MOST EVERYWHERE

Walter Stokes, of Mahoney City, Pa., quarreled with his wife. They decided to part, and agreed to divide the furniture 50-50. Mrs. Stokes called the police when Walter started to saw the table in half.

A waiter in Chicago nearly died of shock when eight-year-old Stanley Gust left a $10 tip after a $35 meal.

Before a policeman could nab him, he disappeared. His father says Stanley ran away from home and has six more "tips" left.

C. E. Moore, of Coshocton, O., had a bull, and the bull had cooties. To kill them, Moore painted the bull with coal oil. The bull walked too close to a lime kiln and his hide burst into flames. Then the bull plunged under a strawstack. When last heard of the cooties were gone—so were the strawstack and the bull.

Judge Stieckel of Atlantic City got a shave he will never forget. When the big negro barber stood over him with a razor poised above his lathered throat. "You sentenced by brother Bill Battle to the chair," he said huskily. The judge "froze." But the negro continued: "He was no good anyway."

When D. C. Watson opened an evening class in art for business men at Milwaukee, he didn't create much enthusiasm. But when he announced that after due preliminary training the class would draw from nude models, Art began to get popular around business circles. Now the class can be seen hard at work over their drawings—glancing at the model—correcting drawing—glancing at the model—recorrecting—and glancing at the model.

Business is looking up for highway robbers in New York City. The two well-dressed men who held up Jack Harris, a clothing manufacturer, had a sleek seven passenger limousine and a uniformed chauffeur.

A Fort Worth negro funeral last Sunday proceeded to the cemetery so fast in the face of the prevailing norther that they were all arrested for fast driving by a speed cop.

Hitch your wagon to a star.

SWINE BREEDERS OF PANHANDLE

PANHANDLE-PLAINS SESSION TO BE HELD AT PLAINVIEW APRIL 13-14

Friday and Saturday, April 13 and 14, have been set as dates for the annual convention of the Panhandle-Plains Swine Breeders' Association, which will be held in the Plainview city auditorium.

Arrangements for the meeting are being made by F. W. Boerner of Lubbock, president of the association, and Earl Lewis of Childress, secretary. E. S. Hilburn is chairman of the local entertainment committee.

Several hundred hog raisers from all parts of Northwest Texas are expected to attend the convention.

"THAT FELLOW DON'T NEED NERVE TONIC"

Declares County Attorney Day When Man Gives Him Worthless Check for Fine

"That man would have no use for a nerve tonic," declared county attorney Frank Day several days ago after a local citizen had given him a worthless check in payment of a fine for giving worthless checks to Plainview merchants. Local officers are trying to find the villain.

Attorney Day has been waging bitter warfare against bad check artists here for the past several weeks. He has caused the arrest of many local youths and several transients. Most of these have paid fines and have been discharged, although a few are yet in jail. The number of bad checks on file in the local Retail Merchants' Association has been greatly reduced as a result of Day's efforts.

Day has made it plain that he will be no respecter of persons in his campaign to clear Plainview of worthless check writing and that he will bring action against anyone doing so.

Sons of prominent local citizens were among those who paid fines recently for not having money in the bank to cover their checks.

State Inspector Visits Plainview

M. Pierson, state food and drug inspector, was here several days ago, inspecting the dairies, meat markets, grocery stores, restaurants and drug stores, to see if they are observing the sanitary regulations of the state health department. He found them measuring almost up to the standard set, but said the dairy cows should be inspected often for tuberculosis and the milk cans kept thoroughly sanitary, the grocery stores are kept clean, and so are some of the markets. He praised Dr. S. C. Ross, meat inspector for his able work.

Mr. Pierson said consumers, especially women, should often go to the dairies, markets and grocery stores and see how the food they eat is being handled.

City Council Proceedings

The city council at its meeting Monday night ordered the official ballots printed for the city election for three aldermen, with candidates as follows: J. C. Hooper, R. C. Ayers, John Lucas, Ed Morehead, C. C. Stubbs and Ben Mitchell.

A man was employed to haul off trash from the residence section, for which a reasonable charge will be made by the city.

A carload of two-inch cast iron water pipe was ordered bought.

It was ordered that the mayor buy enough shade trees to plant out at the city park.

The train is being operated for the promotion of the cow, sow and hen industry, and the rural boys and girls are much interested in these matters.

Three rural schools of Hale county will close today for the term. They are Bartonsite, Miss Beth Pool, teacher; Clements, Mrs. Luther Mounts, teacher; Norfleet, Mrs. Forrest Sagar, teacher.

Pete Norfleet has been engaged to fill out the rest of the term at Science Hill, the teacher having recently resigned.

Jury Fails to Agree

In district court at Floydada the jury in the case of A. B. Compton, charged with murder, was discharged at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning after being out since Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The jury stood four for conviction and six for acquittal when discharged.

CHALLENGES ALL OTHER TOWNS

WILL SEND BAND AND LARGE DELEGATION TO TECH RALLY

Amarillo, March 21.—Much enthusiasm was manifested in the meeting of representatives of the various towns of the Panhandle and indications based upon facts submitted at the meeting here yesterday indicate that there will be thousands in attendance at the celebration April 4 in honor of the passage of the Texas Technological Bill.

A feature of the meeting was the challenge issued by Plainview thru John Boswell, secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce that Plainview would outdo any town in the Panhandle in attendance and enthusiasm.

Plans are made to stage a monster parade at about 1:30 o'clock on April 4 and have a continuous program of band concerts, speeches and other forms of amusement during the entire time with some of the best speakers in the Southwest, including General John J. Pershing, Amon G. Carter and several others prominently known.

"The plans for the present rally and the interest displayed in it now are in greater swing and have more momentum than the Sweetwater celebration had 15 days before the big celebration was carried out," said John Boswell of Plainview in a talk in which he emphasized that the Panhandle did not realize the extent of the jubilee or the interest that is being created in the affair. Boswell stated that several hundred people could be expected from the Plainview country and that a special train was being arranged for with the big Plainview band accompanying the boosters.

An explanation of why the word technological was used in the passage of the Bill was given by Burks Mathes of Plainview and representative of the 120th district.

Representative Mathes explained that the college was wanted north of the Caprock and that in with original form would have seem to have conflicted with the Canyon Normal but that in its present form it would not conflict with the work being done by that school. He suggested that a brief setting forth of the advantages of the Plains country be drawn up and presented to the locating board.

A. E. Boyd of Plainview also spoke in behalf of securing the college for the Plains.

BATTERY A WILL ATTEND CAMP STANLEY IN SUMMER

Entire Organization Will Spend Month in Training Camp and School of Instruction

Battery A Field Artillery, T. N. C., of Plainview will attend the annual encampment at Camp Stanley, near San Antonio, next summer, so Capt. Thos. A. Bay has announced, and will take part in a month's school of instruction under regular army officers. It is likely most every member of the battery will attend.

TEN RULES FOR POULTRY FATTENING

Whether for home use or for sale fatten all birds before killing.

2. Pen up about three weeks before killing.

3. Keep in a clean, dry, shady place.

4. Feed three or four times a day.

5. Feed all the birds will clean up in 20 minutes, then empty troughs.

6. Keep fresh water, grit and charcoal before birds at all times.

7. A good mixture consists of 4 parts cornmeal, 2 parts wheat middlings and a part of beef scrap. Mix in sour milk or buttermilk, feed moist enough to dip from spoon.

8. Do not omit the animal food. Thirty pounds skim milk, 10 pounds of cut bones or 5 pounds beef scrap are estimated as being of the same value.

9. A small amount of lard or suet chopped through the mash gives good results.

10. Do not feed the birds for 12 hours before killing but see that they have plenty of water.—The Progressive Farmer.

WILL PREACH TO WOMEN ONLY

EVANGELIST JONES WILL SPEAK ON "THE MODERN WOMAN" SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The first week of the Revival Campaign is almost over and the meetings are the talk of the town.

Evangelist Bob Jones is a magnetic, forceful speaker, and his sermons are inspiring and thrilling.

Mr. Jones preaches every morning, except Mondays and Saturdays, at the city auditorium at ten o'clock, and every night except Saturday night at 7:45.

Mr. Loren Jones, who has charge of the music, possesses an unusually fine tenor voice and his solos at each service are sermons in themselves. The congregation and choir are taking hold of the songs in great fashion.

Next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock Mr. Bob Jones will bring a special message to the people of Plainview.

Sermon to Women Only

At three o'clock Sunday afternoon he will speak to Women Only on the subject, "The Modern Woman."

When Mr. Jones was preaching in New York City the New York World furnished him a reporter and a taxi and asked him to visit the fashionable places of the city, the places frequented by the society folk, and asked him to give his opinion of the things he saw. This report appeared on the front page of the Sunday edition of the New York World. This trip enabled Mr. Jones to see the real society life of New York City and he has prepared an address to be delivered to women only, this lecture being based on what he saw of the society life of New York City.

Girls of high school age will be admitted Sunday afternoon and no doubt the city auditorium will be crowded to hear what he has to say on "The Modern Woman." Every woman and girl of high school age should hear this address.

At the great Purity Congress in Kansas City Mr. Jones was requested to give this address so that the delegates from all over the United States might have the privilege of hearing this address on "The Modern Woman."

Sunday night at 7:30 Mr. Jones will speak to all who can get into the auditorium. No doubt seats will be at a premium.

COCHRAN IS ON WAY TO STATE PEN

End of the Famous Aspermont "Empty Grave Case"—One Time Lived in Hale County

Fort Worth, March 15.—The Aspermont "empty grave case" in Stone wall county started its final chapter here Wednesday when Byrd Cochran was lodged in Tarrant county jail by Bud Russel, penitentiary agent, to await the gathering of other convicts from nearby towns, with whom he will be taken to prison to serve two years for alleged swindling.

Cochran, although resigned to his sentence, maintains his innocence of implication in the swindling of the insurance companies out of the money collected on policies. He claims that that was an afterthought of his accomplices. His fake burial, not discovered until a year and a half later, was to avoid being taken back to New Mexico to answer what he claims was a trumped up indictment for murder and where he feared he would be slain by Mexican enemies. If he did not go his friends forfeited a $10,000 bond, he says.

The mechanics of the fake burial have never explained. It is believed that he was "doped" before being "laid out" for burial, and a weight substituted for his body in the coffin by relatives while making final preparations for burial. The coffin was not opened at the grave at request of his wife. She died before the community of Aspermont was startled by the discovery that the grave of Cochran had never contained a corpse. The burial took place in March 1919 and Cochran was arrested two years later. He was convicted a year ago.

Cochran was at time of the fake burial a well-to-do farmer and ranchman. He is now penniless.

It is said that Cochran at one time lived in Hale county.

PLAINVIEW 100 PER CENT CLEANER THAN FORTNIGHT AGO

Continuous Campaign Will Be Waged for Making This the "City Beautiful"

The Civic Improvement Association with thirty of the forty-two "four-block" captains present, met at the city auditorium this afternoon and it was reported that the people are co-operating in the clean-up work and that Plainview is now 100 per cent cleaner than it was two weeks ago, when the organization was formed.

Next week will be official clean-up and tree planting week, and everybody will be urged to take part in it.

It is planned to wage a continuous campaign in Plainview toward making this the "city beautiful" and maintaining it as such. There will be certain designated times as the year progresses, such as "paint up week," "flower panting week," "clean alleys week," "prettier curbs week," etc.

A committee of five will be appointed to make plans for these week campaigns.

Floydada Wins Over Plainview

Floydada, March 19.—Slapping the pill to every corner of the lot, Floydada snowed under the Plainview niners here Saturday by a score of 26 to 3 winning their second contest of the season.

Holmes, for Floydada, held the visitors hitless for the entire fracas, while Tudor, hurling for the visitors was unmercifully bungled from every angle.

French Box Car Visits Plainview

The French Box Car was here yesterday afternoon, advertising the "Doughboy," a play to be given by the American Legion in Amarillo at the dedication of the city auditorium, on the occasion of the visit of Gen. Pershing April 4. It was under the direction of Royce P. Gault and Mr. Sweeney, and circulars and placards were distributed all over the town. It is visiting all the towns on the Plains.

Destructive Storm in Iowa

Sioux City, Iowa, March 22.—One person is known to have drowned and according to unconfirmed reports several others are missing and hundreds of head of livestock drowned and scores of barn dwellings swept away as the result of a flood in the Missouri River bottom south of here caused by a six mile ice gorge.

Apparatus left this evening bombed the gorge but without result. The bombs, dropped from a height of 700 feet, were casters 200 feet wide, but they filled with soft ice. Dynamite charges set off by crews working on the ice pack were ineffective. Unless the ice gorge is broken by morning, food stores will be reached at Sioux City, where the Missouri already rose ten feet tonight.

An intense hour will do more than twenty years.

LUBBOCK MAN LOSES $15,000

TELLS STORY OF TRIMMING AND POINTS OUT ONE AS OPERATOR

Denver, Colo., March 21.—Losses occasioned by victims of the alleged international ring on trial here were augmented today to the extent of $15,000, when Charles Lundell, a stockman of Lubbock, Texas, testified to having been swindled out of that amount while on a visit here in 1920.

Lundell followed H. Rasmussen, 71 year-old furniture dealer of Rawlins, Wyo., on the stand. The latter told the jury he "out-slicked" two alleged confidence men, whom he identified among the twenty on trial.

Lundell, a tall, angular man, told the story of his "trimming" calmly. Finishing his narrative, he was asked to identify the man who fleeced him. Rising from the witness stand he walked toward the defendants and placed his hand on the shoulder of J. Homer French, and said:

"This is the gentleman right here, who was the operator."

Turning from French to George Kelley, another defendant, Lundell declared:

"This man here looks like the man I knew as Walker, but I am not absolutely positive."

The stockman said the alleged swindle took place here in one of the fake stock exchanges which the defendants are charged with operating

WHO PAY THE TAXES?

Senator Cousins of Beaumont, is home from the regular session of the Texas legislature, where he submitted to a short interview. This interview was rather expressive of the proposed taxing measures that had been proposed by the members of the legislature, saying that if all bills introduced for the purpose of raising money the sum would have reached more than one hundred million dollars. But the most impressive and startling statement was as follows:

"In connection with this flood of legislation taxing rib and rig, it would be surprising to the people to know that 25 per cent of the members of the legislature pay only a poll tax and no property tax whatever. Thirty-five per cent of them pay taxes in amount under $10."

This is a question that should put the people of Texas to thinking about the men who ask for the position of State legislators. For many years in Texas it has been the rule to elect men to such positions who have been failures at every other thing they have undertaken to do. A failure in the ordinary pursuits of life was an endorsement for membership in the legislature. Think of it, 25 per cent of the members own no property what ever and 35 per cent pay taxes under the sum of $10. These men are either too young to have shown if they had ability, or at an age that was shown that they were without ability to make good in the matter of living. Yet they are put in charge of the financial affairs of the great state. The conditions in Texas are such that a man who has made a success in the business world will not seek that office because of the prejudice that is shown by the voter to the man who has made good. Until the voters show a different attitude toward the candidates who are successful business men, so long will the business men of Texas be run by men without ability. It is a startling situation and the solving of the problem is up to the voters of the state.—Childress Index.

Don't neglect to observe tree planting day next Tuesday. Now is a good time to plant trees and shrubbery. They make a home very attractive, add much to its comfort and value.

Great mystery surrounds the arrival of a gold shipment of $6,500,000 in New York this week. Nobody seems to know where it came from. We hardly think it belongs to us, as we have not lost that much of our gold.

News comes that Tom M. Campbell, former governor of Texas, is very sick at a hospital in Galveston, and there is no hope for his recovery. Campbell was one of the ablest chief executives the state has ever had, and during his administration there was much constructive legislation placed on the statute books. His death would cause much sadness throughout Texas.

The Galveston News, which was established by the elder A. H. Belo in 1842, was this week sold by the Belo interests to W. L. Moody, noted Galveston capitalist, and others. The Belo Co. also owns the Dallas News. The elder and younger Belos have long since died. The Galveston News has possibly had more to do in promoting the development of Texas than any newspaper ever in the state, it having survived the Civil war.

Professor Wei Lien Hung of Peking University sends this message to you: Three great maps cover the history of man. The first had the Mediterranean basin as its center. Then a shift, the new map centered in the Atlantic, with Europe on one side and growing America on the other. Professor Hung thinks the map is changing again. The new map, he predicts, will center in the Pacific, with the Americans on one side and Asia on the other. He is right, European civilization is seemingly decaying.

SELF-SATISFIED, INDIFFERENT

The able evangelist who is holding a revival at the city auditorium under the co-operation of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches threatened Wednesday night to pack up his baggage and leave town after next Sunday night's service unless the church people show greater interest in the meeting.

He took a census of the number of members of the official church boards present that night. Out of forty Methodist stewards only nine were present; three of the nine elders of the Presbyterian church; five of the twenty-five Baptist deacons, one of the eleven members of the Christian church board and one Nazarene.

He declared that he had heard there had not been a really successful revival held in Plainview in many years—and he was correctly informed for Plainview is a mighty hard town to stir up religiously, and for several reasons.

In the first place nearly every adult and child above ten or twelve years of age in the town is a member of the church—one church has a membership of 1,100, another about 900, another 250, another 200, another 150, and several other churches have memberships in smaller number.

Second, the people of Plainview are good people, believe in God, Christ, the church and home. This is a clean town. There is practically no criminal element, and but few really sinful people. There is practically no liquor drinking, gambling, stealing, immorality and other such sins.

The greatest fault is we are complacent, self-satisfied, and this breeds indifference. We feel very much that we "are not like other people."

There are many more members of the Sunday schools than there are public scholastics, and the children are brought up through the Bible schools into the church, in fact they are taught Christianity from their mother's knee, and accept it as a verity. This system of making people Christians, it must be confessed, is better than through evangelistic meetings.

These are the reasons why a town-stirring revival has not taken place here during the twelve years the editor of the News has lived in Plainview, and it is likely that it will be a long time until such a religious upheaval will occur. Evangelists can talk and plead for a greater interest even among the church membership, but it will not likely produce the desired effect—pastors and church boards have worried over the matter thousands of times. Plainview church people are liberal in their money contributions to the church work, but they are indifferent in many other matters connected with the church.

JUDGE J. M. PRESLER

Judge J. M. Presler died in Memphis Saturday. He was well known to many people of Hale county, having served as associate justice of the court of civil appeals in Amarillo for several years, and his father having resided in this county for years.

He was born in Washington county, later moving to Comanche where he was state senator for two terms, and was a close neighbor of the editor of the News. Later he was appointed associate justice of the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth by Gov. Campbell. Later he was a candidate for congress man in that district but was not elected. Later he moved to the Plains in order to accept the appointment to the Amarillo court by Gov. Colquitt. After his term of office was over he moved to Memphis.

Judge Presler was the author of the State uniform text-book law and several other constructive measures while in the state senate, and while serving on the court at Fort Worth wrote the famous Baird school decision. He was quite an able man, but was unfortunate in politics as he was not a campaigner nor vote getter.

IN A MINOR STRAIN

One of the bunch on the corner has stuffed his ears with cotton, as he says he is tired of listening to the endless talk of the other members.

If any person tells you that he does not like to hear people say nice things about him tell him he is a liar.

The real question is, we think, not did man evolve from the peaceful, innocent monkey, but, rather, did the monkey evolve from man?

He who does good to another does good to himself.

Ninety-nine persons were killed in automobiles at railroad crossings in Texas during the months of September, October and November, 1922, according to the figures of the State Railroad commission.

If each one of us should try doing his whole duty for a single week, what a transformation those seven days would work in the world!

Loose talk often catches the ear and sometimes facts take a long time to catch up. It is safe to say that most persons have the impression that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer every day that the concentration of great wealth is a growing menace that the United States must reckon with. But the cold truth will not down. The Bureau of Internal Revenue shows that all classes of Americans with incomes below $50,000 show increases, while all classes having incomes in excess of $50,000 show decreases, and this in spite of the fact that the mass income of $15,924,639,355 in 1918, increased in 1920 to $23,735,629,183.

When the figures of this year are at hand it will be found that the poor are getting richer and the richer getting poorer.

Figures show that 64.39 per cent of the aggregate personal incomes were in classes from $1,000 to $5,000 a year and 77.32 per cent in classes from $1,000 to $10,000. Incomes in excess of $10,000 per year footed up only 22.68 per cent.

These disclosures may be a sad blow to our agitators and longhaired political economists.

The plain truth is that the American is living on a higher standard than any man in the world, that his income is far in excess of the income of any other nation. If he must pay high prices he has the money to buy and still have a little left for a rainy day if he exhibits any of the characteristics of thrift.

BETTER NOT SAY IT!

Bad news travels faster than good news. There is an old saying, "No news is good news." Let a man be converted at a church service and there is not much of a stir, but let a resident be convicted of some crime and the news leaps by word of mouth from one end of the community to the other.

How thoughtlessly unkind we sometimes are when neighbors of ours suffer misfortune! Troubles are bound to come to some of us in some shape or form and what we say about our friends and acquaintances today may apply to us tomorrow. News is no respecter of persons.

We are prone to consider the ways of others not our ways when we should be watching our own step. What folk say of one another sometimes hurts more than anything they could have done. News, either good or bad, grows and becomes exaggerated and distorted with peddling. When the news is good it makes no material difference how it is exaggerated or distorted—it can never do anyone positive harm. But bad news, given wings, may bring sorrow and ruin upon people who certainly are not deserving of a punishment beyond the penalty of their mistake.

More charity for others will mean more charity for ourselves and we will gradually come to take a keener delight in reporting something good of some person than something bad. Good is constructive, bad is destructive. Just before you are about to let out a bid of "bad news," stop and think a moment. See if you can't think of something good to say in place of it. The chances are ten to one that you can and that you will.

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

The man who allows science to kill his religion hasn't very much of either. God doesn't contradict himself.

There are two sides to every question—our side and the wrong side.

Idleness often produces restlessness rather than rest. A man who makes many excuses seldom makes anything else.

Some people are good customers until you give them too much credit;—then they quit you.

AN ESSAY ON PANTS

The following is an essay on pants furnished by a school boy:

Pants are made for men and not for women. Women are made for men and not for pants. When a man pants for a woman and a woman pants for a man, that makes a pair of pants.

Pants are like molasses, thin in the summer and thicker in the winter.

There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural word. Seems to me that when men wear pants it is plural, and when they don't wear pants it is singular.

If you want to make the pants last, make the coat first.—Exchange.

Easter Thoughts

TRADE AT HOME

Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost Plainview by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

Folks who try to save pennies oftentimes lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest values for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living from the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price.

When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices," you should think twice before buying. If you are "stung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take great care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.

RHYMES

Out of Debt

As my green old age draws closer I'm glad I'm out of debt; as I said to Griggs, the grocer, credit is man's one best bet; age is shorn of half its terrors if the old man has the price; debt is ranker with mortal errors which make life as cold as ice. In life's blooming spring and summer man should work and save the dimes as I've said to Plink, the plumber, for ty-seven thousand times; then his neighbors will admire him as a man of sense and thrift, and fair damsels will desire him as a nuptial Christmas gift. There is always open track age and an endless right of way in the mothballs put away. And when comes life's bitter winter, and he's tired and longs for rest, as I've said

Sure He Did

"Waiter! I small fresh paint." "Quite right, sir; but just wait for a moment, sir. The young ladies at the next table will be going in a minute sir."

A Touching Appeal

Young Son—Papa, now that you've bought sister a piano, couldn't you buy me a pony? Father—What for? Son—So I can go off for a ride while she's learning to play.

Brother Eph Opines

It used to take a man 20 years to drink his'elf to death—now he can do it in 5 seconds!

Literal Lem

"Was the pole cat Bill Spivens caught a good one?" "Yep—100 per-scent."

It's Logical

Man held at Ellis Island speaks no language that the immigration interpreters can understand. We'll bet five bucks he's a court crier returning from a European vacation.

Son Knew His History

Dad: "Jimmy, if you don't get a move on you'll never amount to anything. Why, George Washington and Teddy Roosevelt were graduates of college at your age." Son: "That's right—and when they were your age they were president of the U. S."

An ill life, an ill end.

116,080 FORDS SOLD DURING MONTH OF FEBRUARY

Shortest Month Brings New Sales Record—6,000 Cars a Day Falls to Meet Demand

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—With 116,080 Ford cars sold at retail in February, a new record for the shortest month in the year has been established. February sales exceeded those of January by more than 15,000 and marked the eleventh month in which Ford sales have topped the 100,000 line.

This sales record bears out predictions made at the opening of the year that an acute shortage in Ford cars is certain and this shortage is expected to be felt within the next two months with the increased volume of car buying which is always attendant upon the spring months.

Even the high production schedule set at the Ford Motor Company's factory here, which will reach 6,000 cars and trucks a day about April 1, will be unable to meet the apparent demand for Ford products.

Anticipating a great increase in the demand for Ford cars during the present year, the factory here laid plans for increasing production to the 6,000 car a day schedule and since Jan. 1st had been constantly speeding up manufacture to reach this figure. Demand so far has been of such great proportions as to absorb nearly all production, and stocks in hands of dealers are at present the lowest they have been in months.

February sales of 116,080 cars were made in the fact of unfavorable weather conditions in many sections of the country which tied up freight traffic and prevented many deliveries. This was particularly true throughout the Northwest, the northern tier of states and in New England. In California, too, cold weather during a part of the month had its effects upon car sales.

Yet with even these unfavorable conditions, the February sales topped those of January by 15 per cent and set a new high rate for mid-winter selling.

With February the eleventh month in which Ford car sales have gone over the 100,000, the total for this period is close to 1,250,000 cars.

Peak car sales usually are reached during the summer months which drops in the fall and winter. This feature of automobile absorption by the buying public has been completely changed during the last few months through the activities of the Ford dealer organization which has raised the "peak" line to include every month of the year.

"It's Not a Home 'Till it's Planted"
To the News:

It is now tree planting time on the Plains. Roses will come later as they can be planted until June. Very few people realize the value of trees from a money value. If you want to find out, ask any home owner who has trees growing in his front yard, what he values them at. You will be surprised to know that the larger cities in their inventories place a money value on the city owned trees at millions of dollars.

If you plant a tree now, it increases in value day by day—not so with an automobile, a cow, a horse, etc., which have their days of usefulness and are cast aside. With a tree it gets better and better all the time, giving the owner a feeling of satisfaction of not only ownership but of a public service rendered.

There are many beautiful well kept lawns in Plainview, which are admired by all who pass and this is what really counts—service to others. I have known people to go out of their way in order to pass a certain brick home, whose lawn is planted with native Plainview trees in order to enjoy their grandeur and beauty. Thus the public is benefitted by private energy and efforts rightly directed.

There is no excuse for not planting trees this year, as any one who wants to plant can get the trees. Ash and Elm are fine street trees, also the Honey Locust and Hackberry. For those who can give them proper attention on their front lawn, they can use the Sycamore or "Oriental Plane," one of the refined trees, which require more attention than the others mentioned, but which will repay their efforts.

Plan to plant another tree and Plainview can be made a city beautiful, with every home adorned with beautiful shade trees, shrubbery, evergreens, roses, etc.

The candidates for the various offices met with their friends at the Minnie Veal school on the night before the election for an all-night dance and rally to celebrate the approaching organization of the county, the entertainment having lasted until five o'clock Saturday morning. Congressmen Want Salary Raise Congressman Upshaw of Georgia has introduced a resolution in congress to increase the salaries of congressmen and senators from $7,500 to $10,000 a year. We are confident the congressmen and senators would like to have the increase, but woe unto those who vote for it. The congressman who introduced the resolution says many of the congressmen will have to borrow money to take their families home. We do not doubt this. But at the same time we are sure the congressmen who stayed out of poker games and lived in modest rooms and kept away from high-priced cafes not only have enough money to take their families home, but have pretty nice bank accounts as well. You may preach it until dooms-day to the people back home that a family can't live on $7,500 a year without making a single convert. We know better.—Honey Grove Signal.

From the time of Alexander Pope, readers have been becoming more and more numerous, and writers, consequently, more and more independent.

Babe and Baseball Again

Babe Ruth, symbol of baseball, is out of a sick bed and into swatting clothes again, soon to head our nation's pastimers north for opening of the 1923 pennant chase. Col. Houston, N. Y. Yank owner, visited Babe at the New Orleans training camp as shown here.

Some of the Elements Of a Successful Life

The Rotary club at its luncheon on Tuesday had as its guest Evangelist Bob Jones, who made the principal address, on "The Elements of Success." He declared that some of the elements of success are co-operation, determination, tact, friendship and taking God into account. Mr. Jones said he had lived his life among mankind and had made a study of the ways of those who had made a success of life, and had found that each had excelled in most of the above mentioned elements. He said that it was impossible to be a success if God is not taken into life, and that the spiritual element is one of the most important of all.

R. A. Underwood, regent of the Technological college, was a guest and declared that every town in the race for the college realizes Plainview is the one town it must beat if it gets the institution. He urged that in order to get it the people here must cooperate and do everything in their power, and be willing to work and if necessary sacrifice.

Miss Lucile Garrison, accompanied by Mrs. Jacob, sang "Dreams That Never Come True," and also "Some One Worth While." Mr. Loren Jones, with Mrs. Jones as accompanist, also gave a vocal selection.

It was announced that nominations for officers for the club for the coming year would be in order at the next meeting.

An elaborate luncheon was served.

Manners—When Dining Out

The march of man from savagery to civilization can be measured by his menus. One's primitive instincts come more closely to the surface at eating than at any other time. Possibly that is why civilized men and women have made social dining an important function. The wise observe always the nicest formalities of the dining room.

1. Guests of refinement make no comment on food, except to praise.

2. One takes some of every course on his plate and partakes of it, if only lightly, instead of refusing.

3. The guests at a formal dinner or luncheon never asks for a second helping of any dish.

4. The guest who has an accident, such as dropping a fork or even overturning or breaking a dish, will not make profuse apologies; a simple word or two to the hostess suffices.

5. The guest unfortunate enough to break a valuable dish may replace it with a duplicate, or near duplicate, within a day or two, sending along an apology.

It's bad manners for a guest at dinner to rise and rush away at the end of the meal.

The Norfolk Trio Will Play In Plainview April 14th

The largest audience the Norfolk Trio has played to was that of 6000 at the New York Hippodrome on Dec. 11th. But one which they consider even bigger was that of the little Wisconsin town which boasts a population of 150, and gave them an audience of 175.

The Norfolk Trio played for President and Mrs. Harding at the White House last June. On that occasion, Helen Norfolk played on the historical gold piano, which has been used by nearly all the world's greatest pianists.

Rose Croix Masons Will Observe Maunday Thursday

As usual the Rose Croix Masons will observe Maunday Thursday by meeting at the offices of Dr. C. F. McClelland next Thursday night. The program will be rendered as follows: Prayer, toast to the president of the United States, toast to The Supreme Council, toast to the Sovereign Grand Commander, toast to the Inspector General of Texas, toast to deceased members, toast to all regular Masons and Masonic bodies, toast to the ladies.

The following announcement has been sent out from state headquarters:

"Brethren: The observance of the Mystic Feast of Maunday Thursday is made obligatory upon every Knight of the Rose Croix by the Statutes of the Rite. This feast should appeal to each of you to fulfill one of the highest obligations you owe to the Sacred Order of the Rose Croix.

"If any discord has disturbed the brotherly feeling between any of you, it is your duty and you are hereby commanded to meet and adjust all personal differences and unfriendly feelings before you sit at the hallowed board of the Paschal Lamb.

"Nothing but physical inability or imperative duty of the highest nature will excuse your non-attendance. Here, once a year, we meet to express our faith in the wisdom and mercies of our Creator; our faith in our order and our faith in each other, and he who turns lightly away, cannot appreciate the jewel he wears or value the priceless gem of Brotherly Love."

The other day a woman gave as her excuse for murdering her husband that he always criticized her cooking. She stood it for years and years, and when she could endure no longer having him ask "Did she call that slop coffee?" and "What was the matter with the biscuit," and if she thought she "had a government contract to make cannon balls instead of something to go in the human stomach," she reached down her little automatic and forever silenced his carping tongue.

All that woman will need in order to get free when she is tired is to demand her constitutional rights to be tried by a jury of her peers. No twelve married women will ever send to the electric chair a sister who has done the thing that they have been tempted to do a thousand times, and that only the grace of God kept them from doing.

If the men who grumble over their food and knock their wives' handiwork as they partake of it, were only mind readers enough to know that the ladies across the table from them are wishing that they had the nerve to flavor up the abused dishes with a little Rough on Rats it would spoil many a husband's appetite. Likewise, there would be a great improvement in domestic table manners, and husbands would follow the old nursery admonition to eat what is set before them and ask no questions, and make no comments.

Why women should be more sensitive to criticism of their cooking than they are to criticism of anything else they do they could not tell themselves. They simply are, and nothing gets on their nerves, like having strictures passed upon their gravies, and invidious comparisons instituted between their pies, and another woman's pies. Nor is there any woman who would not rather have her character aspersed than her baking.

Perhaps the reason that they resent criticism of their cooking so fiercely is because cooking is a sacrificial rite, and the woman who has made a burnt offering of herself on the kitchen stove feels that she should get a better reward for her sufferings than knocks. There is small encouragement in being a martyr if no one appreciates the results.

The discouraging thing about house work, anyway, is that the woman who labors hardest of any woman in the world never has anything to show as the results of her toil. She cannot point, as the authoress can, to her rows of books. She cannot show her prosperous store, as the business woman can. She has spent her life sweeping floors that were dirtied up the next minute, mending, making clothes that wore out, cooking food that was gobbled up and forgotten. The only reward she can hope to have is the gratitude and appreciation of those she makes comfortable, and if she does not get this, she is cheated of her just due.

Yet this is the case of the great majority of women. Their husbands are not intentionally unkind to them, but they are committed to the belief that the first duty of a husband is to be an expert hammer wielder, and to use care man tactics in the home.

Therefore, he lets his wife have it good and hard. He lambasts her for everything she does, and fails to do. He is a perpetual faultfinder. He is a critic on the hearth who never stops chipping.

He is as silent as the grave about all the thousands of times his wife has pinched a nickel until the buffalo howled with agony, but let her once spend a dollar foolishly and she never hears the last of it. He may have devoured 364 perfect dinners, apparently unaware of what he was eating, but if the 365th dinner has too much salt in the soup, and the meat is overdone, and the potatoes underdone, he knows to heaven over it.

I have known men whose whole conversation at home was a raking fire of criticism. It began at the front door with a "Why do you let that child leave his skates in the front hall?" "Why don't you dust the parlor mantel?" "Why can't you keep clean towels in the bathroom?" "Do you call this soup or dish water?" "My Lord, can't we have anything but mutton?" "It is a strange thing to me that you can boil potatoes thirty years and never learn how to get them done," and so on and so on until you sat last in wonder that the poor, tired, overworked, abused wife didn't take the carving knife to him.

There are plenty of men of this type who believe that the way to keep a wife in her place is to give her a kick instead of a boost. I have had such men tell me privately, and secretly, that they admired their wives very much, and thought their wives fine managers and superlative cooks, but they would have died under torture rather than tell their wives so. They never tell their wives that they look good to them. On the contrary they rub in on their Janes about how old and faded they have grown. They never tell their wives that a new dress is becoming. They grunt out something about fool fashions, and the idiocy of women who wear clothes too young for them.

It is literally true that many a married woman would drop dead with surprise if her husband let her know that he admired her and appreciated her.

The only compliment many a man pays his wife is the one he has carved on her tombstone. I wonder if the ghosts of the women who have been criticized to death smile cynically as they hover over the cemeteries?—Dorothy Dix.

Early Blooming Spring Millinery Promises Flower Season In Hats

By Marion Hale

The new spring hats blossoming profusely in midwinter, are characterized by their infinite variety.

To exploit one shape or style above another is impossible, since big, little and medium sized hats are all represented in the fashion pageant.

Their predominant trait is their simplicity—that is, simplicity of line.

The favored type of adornment for the moment is the big ribbon or lace bow that may be placed directly in front, on either side, in the back or under the brim. These bows, however, conceal a great deal of art in their folds. The tying of a smart bow is not for the novice.

Straw or silk—Many nats are of straw or silk in soft shapes, entirely covered with embroidery in silk or wool. Flowers of crocheted wool and of leather or silk are effectively applied on crowns and brims.

Brown and tan—Most of the small hats one sees are highly colored. Almond and Nile green, Alice blue, orange and light shades of brown and tan are exceedingly popular.

When the all black hat is seen usually it is the large picture type or a tailored affair, trimmed with a small ribbon bow or with feathers. Some of the most recent Paris importations are entirely untrimmed—their style and chic lying in their lines.

The earliest hats are the combination fabric and straw. The felt hat so popular during the winter is also popular for spring.

Rugs Make Nice Coats

To buy a rug to make a coat is quite the correct thing these times.

It should be a streamer rug—preferably a nice Scotch plaid.

When you have your rug, you make it into a straight, unbelted coat, fastening on one side. It isn't lined. Its edges are bound with heavy silk braid.

HIGH COST OF BABIES

A menace to the future of the United States is the high cost of babies. Men and women who are just now becoming grandparents remember very well when the old family doctor rode out to the house on his pacing horse and whistled up the stork as he arrived. The baby was introduced into the world and the whole process, including a visit or two afterwards, cost ten dollars. A little later in the march of years the stork raised the price to twenty-five dollars which was considered a tax on parent hood. Now the stork has become an aristocratic bird. He might be wearing a Bird of Paradise plume and using a limousine instead of his wings and an airplane instead of a folded cloth in which to carry his precious burden. When the hospital bill is paid and the doctor who is still on the small end of the receiver, gets his fee the baby is rightly called dear and "precious."—Missouri Examiner.

Phone for Correct Time

Beck's meat market has had a large Western Union clock placed in its shop, and the time is kept corrected by telegraph. Those who wish to enquire the correct time can phone 200 or 300, and the information will be gladly furnished.

For meat, vegetables and correct time phone 200-300, says Mr. Beck.

Taxes

Taxes take 14 cents out of each $1 earned in America in 1922, the National Industrial Conference Board reports. That's over twice as big a percentage as before the war.

A terrible burden, of course. It's partly the penalty of war. Liberty bonds paid for the war. Now we're beginning to pay for the Liberty bonds.

Cat or Kitten?

Mary: "Jim writes me in a letter that he has made his fortune in Brazil, and will soon be back to marry the sweetest little girl in the world."

Bety: "What? Is he going to throw you down after being engaged four years?"

Ata Girl

A drummer said to a waitress bold; "My dear young lady, my cocoa is cold."

She artfully replied: "I can't help that; If the blamed thing's cold, put on your hat."

Can You Beat It

A young man in the East, held for murder of his parents, pleaded for mercy on the ground that he was an orphan.

Provide for the worst—the best will save itself.

A life without a purpose is a ship without a rudder.

ORIGIN OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOL

By Phebe K. Warner

Our public school, like every other great institution, was conceived in sorrow born of poverty and has been reared in the cradle of tribulation. If we would get a real view of the birth and the growth of the present life of our public school system we must take a look backward. Not a month or a year but a hundred years. Yes, a thousand years.

As far back as the year 1086, William the Conqueror took a kind of census in England that he might know better just what kind of people his kingdom represented. The records of this investigation were filed in a book called the Domesday Book, and at that time showed that in England there was 44,300 free men and 284,000 unfree men, or about seven unfree men to one free man. Which meant one man was free to think, to learn, to own his home, to sell it if he pleased for every seven who dare not think who were not allowed to learn, who could not own a home or other property and who instead of being free to sell his property was sold with the property as a part of the property.

In those days the clergy alone were the only educated men and they preached constantly to the tillers of the soil to remain "Where God had placed them," comparing the ambitious to the worm that thought it had wings. Very few outside of the clergy ever dreamed of studying or even learning to read or write for six or seven centuries after the overthrow of the Roman government in the West. Even in the thirteenth century if an offender wished to prove that he belonged to the clergy he had only to show that he could read a single line for it was believed that no one unconnected with the church could read at all.

Thus it seems that for centuries education began and ended with the clergy. It would be an interesting study for any of us to follow up thru the centuries how Christianity and education have traveled thru the centuries together. And even to this day either is crippled without the other. Education without Christianity is dangerous. Christianity without education is helpless. And all thru the years only as the love of men for God and their fellowmen has grown, has the way been paved for the education of all the people. And even to this day only as the principles of Christianity are implanted in the hearts and minds of men and women sanely and intelligently will the world be redeemed from sin and crime. The school and the church must work together hand in hand if the homes of the world are to be perfected. Christianity and education must be harmonized. And they will be when both are supported and both are used for the building up of every human being and the object of both is made the real business of living on this earth.

Even as late as 1670, Governor Berkley in his report on the conditions of the Virginia colony said: "I thank God there are no free schools nor printing, and I hope we shall not have these for hundreds of years; for learning has brought disobedience into the world and printing has divulged them and libels against the best of government. God keep us from both." And the spirit of Berkley still lives. Berkley was afraid knowledge would disturb the political and social order of his day.

But even then people were beginning to discover that they had minds, and that their minds were given them for the purpose of thinking, and the little Dame school became one of the first elementary schools in the colonies. It was usually conducted in somebody's kitchen or living room by a woman who by some device had gained the rudiments of an education and who now wished to earn a few pennies. For a few pennies a week she would take the children of her neighbors into her home and explain the mysteries of learning to read and spell and sometimes taught them to write their names and sometimes, but not often the children were taught to count.

The seventeenth century saw the establishment of three types of schools in America. The first was the educational contribution of Calvinism to America. Out of it by the later separation of Church and State our modern State school system was evolved. The Calvinistic conception of religion was that the state as a religious institution should support a system of common schools. Here we see the germ of Christianity in a religious sect awakening to its responsibility to all the people.

But in the early days of the United States education then as now seemed to be a matter of finances. When the people had a little money they sent their children to private schools. Poor people, if their children were educated at all, had to send their children to the Pauper School. In 1830 a committee of working men in Pennsylvania made an investigation of school conditions and reported that outside the cities of Lancaster and Pittsburg it appears that the entire state is destitute of any provisions for public instruction. It seems that even then there were three distinct classes of children in America. The children of the moneyed class, who were sent to private schools, the children of the Pauper School. But there were no schools for the children of the middle class, who were neither rich nor poor and the parents of these children could not send their children to the private school and they would not er their social standing by sending them to the Pauper School, so it developed that after all the masses of the children from the common class had no school.

But thru all these years the sentiment for education was growing. George Washington believed in educating all the people. Samuel Adams believed in it. John Adams believed in it. John Jay, first Chief Justice of the United States, said: "I believe knowledge to be the soul of a Republic." Thomas Jefferson believed in education and Benjamin Franklin believed in LIGHT for the mind the same as light for the world. And step by step, year by year, and life by life, these great characters were working out a plan of education for all the people and a way to support it.

Between 1825 and 1850 a wave of interest in education swept over the country. History tells us it was the breaking down of class lines in the New West that caused the awakening. People from all sections of the country had moved into the new regions in the West. Everybody was struggling alike for a start and a home. Men saw themselves as equals. Democracy developed, and education for all, or education for none became the demand. This broke up the Pauper school and admitted the children of the poor to the common school which had been developed.

One of the most outstanding characters in the fight for public schools was DeWitt Clinton, for eight years Governor of New York. From 1805 until his death in 1828, he worked unceasingly for the ideals of free public school education. As a result of his efforts 600,000 children had been educated and 1200 teachers trained for service by the year 1853, when the school plant originated by De Witt Clinton was turned over to the public school department of New York City. The spirit of De Witt Clinton still lives in the Masonic Lodge and again this year the lodge is conducting another educational campaign in the same spirit as that of their illustrious educational leader. Equal education for all the children of the country.

By 1850 the public school system as we know it today had been thoroughly established. The idea of equal education for all had been planted in our government but the IDEAL of "Equal Education for All" is yet to be realized. And this is our opportunity for our day. This is the contribution to education that we who are back of the public school in this generation have a chance to make to our country. Will we, like De Witt Clinton, live for it, work for it, and fight for it, as long as we live or will we for the sake of a few dollars defeat the realization of this ideal for another generation?

Why Ship Is Feminine.

A ship is invariably spoken of as of the feminine gender. This is traced to the ancient Greeks, who called all ships feminine names out of respect to Athens, goddess of the sea. Friday is believed to be an unlucky day by those who are superstitious. It is derived from the fact it was the day of Christ's crucifixion, as well as the one on which Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit. Few, perhaps, are aware why a weathercock is frequently attached to a church steeple. This is believed to remind people of Peter's denial of Christ. It is a common belief that peacock's feathers are unlucky. This is due to the tradition that the bird opened the gate of paradise to the serpent.—Exchange.

How Watches Are Affected.

A strange phenomenon, due, according to scientific authorities, to still unexplained magnetic influences, has for a whole month been observed daily in London. Watches and chronometers have been stopping suddenly. It has been useless to take them to the watchmaker, who could not detect the trouble nor remedy it. After the lapse of an hour or two, however, the watches begin going again, and all that is needed is to set them at the right hour.

He who does good to another does good to himself.

Returned Missionary Delivers Interesting Lecture On South America

Mrs. Manley Morton, returned missionary from Ascuncion, Paraguay, delivered an interesting lecture Sunday night to members of the First Christian church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Barber, on affairs in that remote country far up on the La Platte river in South America. She also told of visits to Rio De Janerio, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and other leading South America cities.

She declares that the people of South America and especially those in Ascuncion are very friendly to the United States. The people are rapidly turning from Catholicism to Protestantism. The school and hospital work of the Christian church is very effective in reaching the people.

Mrs. Morton and husband are in the United States after an absence of six years, and after their furlough will return to Paraguay.

Presbyterian Missionary Society Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Presbyterian Missionary Society will meet in regular session at the home of Mrs. Chas. Reinken.

The subject for discussion will be: "Missions in the Land of Milkado." There will be two piano numbers and discussion of Japanese music by Mrs. Ruth Frame Mundy. Mrs. DeLoach will lead the program.

Church of Christ

Bad weather does not stop the progress of the church work. Two fine services last Sunday, one person restored, two took membership, one made the confession, and one made the confession Wednesday night, and both of them were baptized. The largest crowd we have had at prayer meeting for some time.

The interest is holding up, and growing all the time.

Brother Reynolds will preach next Sunday, both morning and evening. We would be glad to have you with us.

First Christian Church

Since we have missed having services for two Sundays on account of the extreme inclement weather, it is very imperative that we have our service next Shnday at 11 a. m.

We want to urge every member to be present at the morning service. There will be no services at night on account of the Methodist revival at the auditorium.

Let every member make a special effort to attend this one service next Sunday.

We had a baptismal service Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Manners—The Guest

There are two kinds of guests, those one never wants to see again and those one would like to have perpetually under one's roof. If hostess and host must be carefully considerate, so must the guest. Hospitality is a privilege well worth cultivating, but it never must be imposed upon. The host soon finds himself only tolerated, or even excluded.

1. One should answer his invitation promptly and specifically, repeating place and date.

2. The guest should be punctual, whether the occasion is a dinner, dance theater or house party.

3. One must find enjoyment in everything the hostess or host proposes for his pleasure, expressing no choice unless an alternative is offered.

4. The best mannered guest makes it as easy as possible for the hostess or host to make his stay pleasant.

5. If one is invited to an affair while he has an out of town friend stopping with him, it is proper for him to write the hostess, asking an invitation for the friend, but one must not feel injured if the hostess be compelled to refuse.

If we cultivate a habit of attention, it will become natural.

"DRUMS OF FATE",
ALL STAR CAST
Miss Minter Leads and Is Supported
By George Fawcett, Robert
Cain and Others

One of the best casts ever assembled for a motion picture will be seen Monday and Tuesday at the Olympic Theatre when "Drums of Fate," the Paramount adventure-romance, will be the attraction.

The featured player is lovely Mary Miles Minter, for many years a favorite in roles depicting dainty, flowering womanhood. Miss Minter is a Southern beauty and was last seen with Tom Moore in "The Cowboy and the Lady". She is also to play the lead in the film version of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

Maurice B. (Lefty) Flynn is Miss Minter's leading man in "Drums of Fate." He is none other than the stalwart young man who used to crash through the line for the Yale football team some eight years ago. Flynn was seen a few months ago in another Paramount picture, "The Woman Who Walked Alone," and is regarded as very promising.

Others in the distinguished cast are the veteran character actor, George Fawcett, a member of the Paramount stock company and long a favorite with the fans; Bertram Grassby, "villain" in Ethel Clayton's "For the Defense" and many other pictures; Casson Ferguson, the well-known juvenile; and Robert Cain, famous stage and screen player.

The picture was directed by Charles Maigne and adapted from Stephen French Whitman's colorful story of New York society and the African jungle, "Sacrifice."

Star As Heroine In Picture Tires to Break Into Jail, But Her Purpose Is Frustrated

Trying to break her way into jail and failing in the attempt is the story interesting as well as unusual, that is told in "Racing Hearts", a Paramount picture starring Agnes Ayres, which will be the feature at the Olympic Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. In the role of Virginia Kent, daughter of an automobile manufacturer whose company is about to be bankrupted because he will not spend money in modern advertising, Miss Ayres has one of the peppiest, fastest moving picture characters of her career as a screen star.

After trying every plausible method of persuasion on her father to make him resort to publicity and advertising and have him reject her every proposition, Virginia determines that she will seek some free publicity for the Granada automobile, her father's machine. Consequently, she determined to speed through a town noted for strict speed laws, have herself arrested in a Granada car, and thus obtain a lot of free advertising.

But a wealthy young man of the town, the son of a rival automobile manufacturer, falls in love with Virginia at first sight. It so happens that he is taking the place of the motorcop, who is absent celebrating a promotion. So when Virginia speeds down the road, he catches her and takes her to court. But having fallen in love with her, he pleads her case and even lends her twenty-five dollars with which to pay her fine, much to her own disgust, for she was doing her best to break into jail.

This is followed by many interesting incidents which make "Racing Hearts" one of the most delightful pictures ever screened. Theodore Roberts is featured as the father of Miss Ayres in the picture, while Richard Dix is leading man. Paul Powell directed the story, by Bryon Morvan.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

Wonderful Picture Coming to the Olympic Theatre Friday and Saturday of Next Week

Never have the trade papers been so unanimous in their endorsement of a picture as they have been of "Knighthood." Here is some of the comment:

"What a picture! What a production! What a cast! Everybody. In this industry. From executives. To errand boys. Should see it. And feel proud. That they are in the picture business. Lord knows. You don't get that chance. Too often."—Danny in The Film Daily. g

"Cosmopolitan's stupendous picture When Knighthood Was in Flower has made screen history. It is not only Cosmopolitan's greatest achievement, it is one of the greatest achievements of the silver sheet. It stands as a monument for the industry. None have excelled it in its appeal to the eye, the heart and the imagination. Very few have equalled it."—William A. Johnston in The Motion Picture News.

"It is safe to say that never has a picture been produced of greater beauty. It will cause you to believe the advance statements of its huge costs, for it all shows in the film."—Moving Picture World.

"It is a picture of tremendous beauty. For sheer pictorial appeal, it sets an enviable standard. It is enacted by as competent and satisfying a cast as could be wished for. It is, on the whole, the sort of production that reflects glory upon everyone who has had a hand in achieving the final results."—Martin F. Quigley in The Exhibitors' Herald.

"Let us give homage to When Knighthood Was in Flower. William Randolph Hearst has made a great picture—a picture that the entire motion picture industry can be proud to claim. If there were more like it, we should not now be fighting a set of paid reformers and a lot of fanatic legislators."—N. Y. Morning Telegraph.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower far exceeds anything that was anticipated. It easily bears out all the things that have been said of it. The production is gorgeous, the direction excellent, the acting masterful, and it is real entertainment. Furthermore, the picture looks like the money that is claimed to have been spent on it. Put your order in and get ready to have it work for you."—Film Daily.

350 Acres for Devotional Purposes

A great out-of-doors shrine for all denominations in full view of the huge snow cross on Holy Cross Mountain in Western Colorado is created in an order of Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture, announced Nov. 3, setting aside 350 acres of the Holy Cross national forest for devotional purposes.

The tract was selected in a situation giving a full view of the snow cross formed by two large fissures in the mountain side which are perpetually filled with snow and from which the mountain and national forest get their name. The cross is 600 feet long on the mountain side.

Secretary Wallace's order provides that no one sect or religious denomination be given the exclusive right to use the area, but that it be so managed that any denomination may be given the privilege of erecting shrines or other structures to be used for devotional purposes. Adequate spaces will be provided for public camping grounds and buildings in order that the public needs may be fully met. An automobile highway which will cross the site is contemplated for the use of tourists who visit western Colorado from Denver. The tract will be administered by the forest officers of the Holy Cross national forest.—Wyoming Churchman.

Note—Some years ago while in Western Colorado the editor of the News saw this famous mountain, with the snow filling the ravines in the shape of a cross.

GORGEOUS PAGEANT AT W. T. C. C. CONVENTION

Plainview Will Appoint a Princess to Represent Town in Spectacular Affair in May

San Angelo, March 19.—The old and new of West Texas will be depicted in a grand pageant on the second night of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here May 21, 22 and 23. The finale of the grand spectacle will be the presentation of queens of all West Texas towns participating.

West Texas towns are being asked to participate in the pageant, which is being arranged from a special scenario under the direction of Harley Sadler, well known West Texas producer. Each town represented in the pageant will have a lady to represent it, to be known as Lady Plainview, Lubock, Amarillo, Stamford, or whatnot, according to the town she typifies.

The "ladies" will be guests of the Board of City Development at special banquet, which will be provided specially for them following the pageant. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce headquarters at Stamford is already urging all West Texas towns affiliated with it to have a lady representative in the pageant and many responses are already pouring in.

Each town chamber of commerce will defray the expenses of its lady representative. Some of the towns will conduct "popularity contests" among their fair sex in order to secure an eligible for this masterpiece pageant. No elaborate costumes will be required, but a uniform dress will be designated. It probably will be a simple white organdy dress.

The big pageant will depict the West when it was young. Buffalo scenes, range scenes, with real cowboys and pioneers in the leading roles will be there. Then through the transition periods until this great day when West Texas stands first in the Southwest, the pageant scenes will be impressive and realistic. Several weeks will be required rehearsing and getting the pageant into approved presentation.

Dies from Accidental Poisoning

Miss Leona Echols of this city, died Monday evening as a result of having taken poison, through error several days ago. She got up during the night, and went to where the family kept their medicine, and without turning on the light took a tablet that she supposed was aspirin, but which proved to be bi-chloride, and though the mistake was soon discovered, and everything that could possibly be done to save her life was done, she succumbed to the deadly drug at about nine o'clock.

Miss Echols was twenty years of age, and has made her home in Lubbock the past five years having resided with her sister, Mrs. C. B. Musgrove ever since the family has been in Lubbock and for a number of years before, having lived with her sister for the past ten years.

The remains will be taken to Rib Springs today for burial as her parents live in that town.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Destructive Storm in Iowa

Sioux City, Iowa, March 22.—One person is known to have drowned and according to unconfirmed reports several others are missing and hundreds of head of livestock drowned and scores of farm dwellings swept away as the results of a flood in the Missouri River bottom south of here caused by a five mile ice gorge.

Airplanes left this evening bombed the gorge but without result. The bombs, dropped from a height of 700 feet, tore craters 200 feet wide, but these filled with soft ice. Dynamite charges, set off by crews working on the ice pack were ineffective. Unless the ice gorge is broken by morning, flood stage will be reached at Sioux City, where the Missouri already rose ten feet tonight.

Littlefield Defeats Abernathy

Littlefield, March 19.—Littlefield met Abernathy in a dual track meet in Littlefield last Saturday and won 74 to 24, losing only one first place.

Gray, Hargrove and Logan were high point men for Littlefield while Hardesty and Miller starred for Abernathy.

Hargrove of Littlefield, hurled the discus 96 feet while his team mate did 89 feet and 11 inches.

Hargrove put the shot 39 feet, three inches, closely followed by his mate, White, who did 36 feet and 5 inches.

Littlefield's relay team stepped the mile in four minutes and twelve seconds. The first and last man doing the quarter in less than thirty seconds.

Abernathy took first in the vault by doing nine feet.

Odus Wilburn Sammann

Our hearts were made sad Monday evening when the little 13-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sammann of the Liberty community, went away to live with Jesus.

Little Odus was in the bloom of health when he taken a cold and pneumonia seized on the little body and death claimed it.

Another little Sunbeam has gone to swell the anthem in glory. He was only a little bud that bloomed so short a time; then transplanted in the fairer clime. His stay was brief but pleasant, his little mission was complete. Fond memories will always cluster around the months we were permitted to know and love him.

Little brother will miss him in his play, mother's arms are empty, and father's heart is broken, his little chair is vacant and his voice is hushed on earth, loved ones look for the meeting where there comes never a sorrow. May it be the means of drawing us all nearer to God.

The funeral took place at the family home Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G. I. Britain conducting the service, and interment followed in Plainview cemetery.

A father, mother and one brother are left to mourn his death.—Contributed.

TEXAS PLAINS

QUALITY OF TEXAS PLAINS HOG IS SAID TO BE FAR ABOVE THE AVERAGE

The average citizen of the United States and even of Texas when he thinks of the Plains gets a picture of a sea of grass dotted with thousands of head of cattle. This is natural for in the early days the western part of the state particularly the Plains territory had not been invaded by the plow and today in many parts of this picture is a true one for thousands of acres of fertile land is awaiting the advance of the farmer and in the meantime the cattle man is turning the grass into cattle. But a great change has come over much of this great domain caused by the ranches being cut up into farms and today Western Texas produces more grain sorghum than any state in the Union. We do not mean to convey the idea that this is all West Texas produces for as a matter of fact they produce an unlimited variety of crops and fruits. We merely mention this to show the high rank this section by itself has attained in comparison with whole states.

The production of grain sorghum has forced the Plains into the production of pork, the same as corn put the middle west into the hog business. The farmer producing maize can convert it into hog meat and net in most years $3 to $8 per ton more than if sold from the farm as maize. By this system of using maize it is possible to save the farmers of West Texas $ to 15 million dollars each year.

The Texas Plains is not only producing great numbers of hogs, but the quality of the West Texas hog is far above the average due to the high per cent of registered animals to the total number of hogs. In West Texas the hog is looked upon as a machine for converting grain into meat and the farmers soon discovered that the purebred animal was the most efficient machine and demanded improved stock. The high quality of the West Texas hog was discovered by the California packer buyer and today the California packer buyer and today the in the Plains territory buying direct from the farmers and Livestock Shipping Associations. This business has grown to such magnitude that now the Plains country is producing about 30 per cent of the finished hogs of Texas, and the most of these hogs are going to California packers.

The great importance of the swine industry to West Texas and the interest that is manifested is not fully realized until the county fairs are visited. On inspecting county fairs in West Texas we find that only more hogs than any other livestock but we find the keenest and most general interest. West Texas has made for herself a place in the hog world and not only will maintain it, but expand her position.

AMERICAN CASH, EUROPE'S WARS

Britain has arranged to pay her war debt to the United States. She will take a long time to do it, but she has made proposition to pay and she will pay. That is more than can be said for others of the allies. There have been no payments from them, and no suggestions of payments or plans of payments.

The United States would think less of that omission if it were not for the fact that Europe is spending money on imperialistic and militaristic schemes instead of repaying its creditors. The people of the United States will tax themselves for billions to save civilization, to preserve democracy. They will not pay a cent to save autocracy and build up an empire founded on force.

French fear of invasion has been used for a long time as an excuse for the building up of an enormous machine in France. That costs billions. So do endeavors to promote reactionary revolutions in Poland and monarchist uprising in Germany. When the money of our debtors is being spent for such purposes we are right in calling a halt.

One of the most sinister facts in modern international policy is the apparent ignoring by France and other former allies of their debts to the United States. There is plenty of money for a military program that staggers Europe but none to pay just debts.

This nation did not permit the militarism of the former kaiser to trample democracy under foot. Tradition and friendship are not going to lead it into permitting any other militaristic imperialism to ride over the rights of man. The people of the United States are more interested in the preservation of democracy and human freedom than they are in any traditional sentiment.

The blood of Americans was shed on the soil of Europe, not because America wanted to interfere in European affairs, but because Americans felt that the liberty of this country and democracy throughout the world were menaced. Americans did not fight and die to substitute one imperialism for another. Let Europe pay its debts before it begins to breed new wars.—Editorial in Fort Worth Record.

Good instruction is better than riches.

Richard Lloyd Jones Says

BE A PATHFINDER

CULTURE often makes cowards of the best of men. It tends to bind their thoughts to the triumphs of the past rather than to the possible achievements of the future. It makes them slaves to established codes. It throws a cloud of suspicion over innovation. It makes them afraid of a new idea.

They were the scholars of Athens who fed Socrates poison. They were the scholars of Italy who lit the fagots at the feet of Savonarola. The wise men of Spain jeered at Columbus. Cultured England laughed at Darwin. Schooled scientists scoffed at Harvey's theory of blood circulation, at Watt's tea kettle engine, at Whitney's machine that could sew, at Daguerre's sun picture, at Well's anaesthetics, at Morse's telegraph, at Bell's telephone and at Edison's talking machine. A quarter of a century ago a professor of physics at the University of California "proved absolutely" that it was a physical impossibility for man to fly. But the Wright boys showed that this professor was a slave to his culture.

Every great triumph in the world's history has fought its way over the boundaries of temporary failure and gained its goal in spite of the scoffs of the "cultured."

Society's pet is seldom a prophet. True talent is discovered tardily. To possess all its accumulated knowledge of the past does not make a man great. We are measured not by our accumulations but by our contributions. The brains that are remembered are those which had not knowledge but the patience and the confidence to pursue unabated a great plan or purpose and create knowledge.

Because a fellow is doing something different from what has been done, don't be too quick to call him crazy. Time may make you the bigger fool of the two for having rejected his idea before understanding it.

It's the fellow who sails a new sea who discovers a new shore. It is the fellow with originality whom the world most needs.

If a man's faith in his new scheme can stand the acid test of the unthinking sneer, he may live to benefit the world. The fellow who is afraid to depart from convention, and who is afraid to do something different for fear he may be laughed at, is a craven no matter how much he may know.

The men and women who acquire knowledge that they may be respectable, who look to the past that they may be comfortable in the present, without any thought of duty to the future, who study merely for the mental gymnastics of training their minds and who are afraid to use the mind when trained, are about as effective as an army which has learned to march by marking time.

Learn not only to fill your head but to use your head. Don't be afraid to beat out a new path. The beaten paths are overcrowded.

The pioneer's path is always hard but it is the pioneer who finds new fields and new benefits and whom in the end the world most honors.

HONEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

WE are getting close to the Paint Up and Clean Up season, and soon everyone will be thinking how the house looks. Wonderful how bright and cheerful a coat of paint makes a place, how it increases selling values, how it preserves the wood. What's the matter with the house we really live in and for which we pay no rent? Why not a little paint up and clean up for that? Of course the flappers will attend to the paint up, but a more general survey won't harm any of us. Cleaning out thoughts of evil and feelings of animosity, and painting the mind with good cheer and human kindness, patching up the faults we have and starting out in a new mental dress for spring will spell happiness and happiness always means greater prosperity.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

Among the disappointments that accrue to mortal men, there's some that's greater'n others,—jes' the way it's allers been . . . the depths of disappointments is dependent on desires,—when a feller fails to gather in the things he most desires. . . . They're purely unavoidable, as DISAPPOINTMENT fur as I can see, when I figger disappointments that has spent their force on me. . . . And I've tried to bear up under 'em, without an outward sign,—We can't expect the sweetest grapes, unless they trim the vine. . . . The trouble is, with most of us, we don't control our greed; we're allers thirstin' after things our system doesn't need. . . . So, it's nothin' more than human, nor none the less divine, that I've suffered disappointments in this mundane life of mine!
And I try to think they're blessin's—though it's sometimes hard to do, when I set my heart on somethin' an' I fail to put it through. . . . So, if fewer-disappointments is what my soul requires, I do my best to expurgate impossible desires. . . .

Clark Fails to Appear

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—Edward Young Clark former acting Imperial Wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, failed to appear for trial in the U. S. court today on charges of using the mails to defraud. His bond of $500 was ordered forfeited by Judge S. H. Sibley and it was stated a bench warrant for his arrest would be issued later in the day.

To Raise Fund for Blind
There is a movement on foot in Texas to raise a loan fund of $100,000 for the use of the blind boys and girls of the state. The funds are to be loaned to those boys and girls who wish to secure an education and the financial abilities of their parents are such that they can not receive the benefits of an education without help. W. S. Stepler, Palmer, Texas, is field manager, and if interested in the work a letter addressed to him will bring full particulars.

Atheism is a disease of the soul before it becomes an error of the understanding. If you cultivate a habit of attention, it will become natural.

Country Press Remains American

Once again we are having driven home the fact that the safeguard of American liberty rests in the country press, appealing as it does to sixty millions of the American people, reflecting their honest thought, and presenting to them basic facts in a plain, neighborly way that defies the inroads of the great metropolitan newspapers. The American country newspaper, thank God, does not stand constantly at attention ready to salute the first dollar that comes along no matter in what uniform it is dressed.

When our boys were fighting "over there" the patriotic hysteria of the city's newspapers knew no bounds. They broke their editorial necks vying with each other in denunciation of the Hun. Circulation demanded patriotism and patriotism paid. With peace, however, readers dwindled, and then the business office took the saddle. New York, Chicago and one or two other big centres contain America's German population in mass formation. The number of French folk is comparatively small. The answer was obvious, particularly to a press ready to burn its honor on the altar of added readers. No time was lost to make a point when France saw fit to enter the Ruhr to enforce payment for the devastation of her lands. The German reader must be had at any cost. In the twinkling of an eye some of the big city newspapers turned 'bout face without a blush, and they played their cards practically if not knowingly in partnership with the German propagandists.

Were it not for the steady influence of the country press, which keeps its feet on the ground—were it not for the calm judgment of the plain American people in the small towns, the German influence would already have gained its former dangerous and dominating position in this country. Fortunately for America the country newspaper declines to pander for a reader. The country newspaper refuses to be led into the by-lanes of foreign intrigue. The country newspaper is an American institution and it will remain the bulwark of our liberty.

Who Gets the Increased Profits?

While politicians and economists are discussing the intricacies of readjustment, the house wife who depends on her husband's pay envelope is thinking in terms of food. For instance, she is interested in the price of eggs, bread, flour, meal, crisco, oats, macaroni, rice, beans, potatoes, onions, cabbage and other unromantic items.

An examination of such food lists shows a general increase of 41 per cent in December, 1922, as compared with December, 1913, with considerable hardship in the way of prices during the interim.

Fresh milk for example showed a decrease in 1914 over 1913 of one per cent, and then the following increases: 44 per cent in 1917, 73 per cent in 1918, 84 per cent in 1919, 85 per cent in 1920, 55 per cent in 1921 and 51 per cent in 1922. These figures are authentic. It would be interesting to learn the percentage of increases obtained by the farmer—what did he get during this amazing wave of mounting prices to the public. Before the issue as they may, the middlemen eventually will have to make answer. Improved intercommunication is rapidly putting the farmer into instant touch with the activities of the seller. When all cards come to be laid on the table there is going to be some readjustment that will interest a great many gentlemen who are living on the high side of the ledger.

THE MODERN NOVEL

The modern novel is a modern menace to modern youth. The so-called literati are objecting to censorship of their novels and productions. They must submit to censorship or to complete extinction. The people are not going to tolerate such infamous, insinuating, disgusting piffle.

Men are writing who are evidently under some other spell than that of a moral conscience or a sense of their responsibility. They are writing solely for the dollars they receive.

No man of brains with a heart and soul in him would attempt to turn out two or three books a year.

The novels that are being written deserve harsh words—words that would put them in a classification where disgust could properly be expressed. They are unfit for the women and children of today to read. They are doing more than any other agency to corrupt womanhood, to destroy youth, and to lionize men who ought to be in the sulphuric regions of condemnation.

Reputable publishers ought to refuse their manuscripts, reputable book houses ought to refuse to sell their screeds, and righteous parents ought to forbid their children reading such filth.

The modern novel is a menace to home, to youth, to conscience, and to the development of the nation.
