"MY TURN"

By Carol Ellis

THE ANNUAL family vacation trip is one of those eagerly awaited joys of summertime. It is the time when you pack up just about everything you own and head down the road as your yearly attempt to "get away from it all."

When you get out the map to plan your route, you will be faced with some decisions. The thick red lines indicate roads filled with heavy traffic. The thick blue lines are roads filled with towns, and subsequently, stop lights. The thin dotted lines are roads filled with cows and slow-moving farm vehicles.

Whichever road you plan to take is undoubtedly going to be under construction anyway, with long delays that over-heat your auto, hot sticky tar to coat your fenders, and loose gravel to destroy our windshields.

By the time you reach the edge of Parmer County, your kids will have played all the games you packed for them, colored up all the coloring books, eaten all the cookies and snacks, and have begun asking the age-old kid question, "How long until we get there?" It is then when you realize that for the rest of the 1,800 mile trip, their little tummies will never be full and their little bladders will never be empty.

Do you remember when you could pull into a "service" station and four or five attendants would come trotting out to greet you as you eased your car up to the pumps? They'd wash your windshield, air your tires, check under your hood, make suggestions regarding the replacement of worn-out things-a-majigs (whether they needed replaced or not). Then they would give you a free china dinner plate just to make sure you'd want to come back to receive the rest of your set of free dishes.

Well, nobody does that anymore. The only person interested in looking under the hood of your car is the customs agent on the bridge between Juarez and El Paso. The result of all this automotive disinterest is that the underside of your car can completely rot away without your knowledge. And the vehicle knows when you are getting ready to go on a trip. It is just waiting for the most inopportune moment to pull something weird.

We small-town rural folks are sort of like fish out of water when we get into one of those megametropolis cities. Nine times out of ten, this is where your trusty vehicle is going to get real devious. Last summer we were tooting around New Orleans on a sultry Saturday evening. One kid rolled down the back window to lean out and have a closer look at some tourist attraction. Suddenly we had a powerless "power" window which wouldn't go back up.

Our car spent Saturday night in a motel parking lot in the middle of New Orleans with the back window open and none of us slept very well that night. Did you ever try to get a big city mechanic to come out on Sunday morning to help you close your car window?

Travel can be broadening. Man (or woman) cannot live by Big Mac alone. Kids can, of course, but you'll probably want to sample the popular local delicacy of whatever area you are visiting. It's scrod on the East Coast and sushi in California. (Sounds like some sort of disease requiring lots of scratching and antibiotics, doesn't it?) Poi in Hawaii, bread pudding in Louisiana, sausage and biscuits in Tennessee, apple chutney in Washington and, of course, mountain oysters in Texas. You may have to buy an entire wardrobe of larger size clothing when you get back home.

Fortunately you won't be able to get any expensive mementos from those tourist trap joints along the way because you packed in everything except the kitchen sink.

"Water Witching" Baffles Scientists

By HOLLY SNEAD

In this complex world of computers, fax machines and radar, society finds itself losing hold on the simple, sometimes primitive, ways of the past. Instead of getting up from the recliner and walking over to the television to change the channel, people push a few buttons on a hand-held device called a remote control. Instead of making a trip to the store to buy some item, people can order whatever they need over the phone. Instead of driving for several days to reach some destination, people can buy a plane ticket and be there in a few hours. One local man, however, does not rely on any high-tech machinery to accomplish one of his needs.

Floyd Reeve, a local farmer and community leader, possesses what some call a "talent," an "ability," or a "strange phenomenon." Reeve calls it water witching.

Water witching, or dowsing, as it is scientifically called, is basically a way of locating underground water sources. A dowser or water witch uses only a Y-shaped twig to accomplish his task. Dowsers generally use peach limbs, but Chinese Elm and Mesquite limbs have proven to be effective. He holds the limber twig upside down in his hands with his palms facing upward and walks across the area in which he is trying to locate water. The dowser knows he has found water when the twig begins to pull downward without any aid or voluntary movement on his part.

Reeve learned about water witching at about the age of 12. His grandfather, F.W. Reeve, a pioneer Parmer County resident, was a water witcher, and he was curious to see if young Floyd, Max or Joe Reeve would encounter the same experiences with the twig. Much to his surprise, Floyd discovered that he had the same "talent" that his grandfather did. (He said he did not remember how well it worked for Max and Joe.)

At about the age of 14, Floyd visited an uncle in Merkel, Texas. Jarrett Pinckley, Fay Reeve's brother, could also witch water, so he helped Floyd perfect his own "talent." Pinckley used Mesquite twigs, and sometimes the force of the twig pulling would be so great that the bark would twist off right in his hands.

Reeve has found many water sources for a number of people. He said of one early experience, "At the age of 18, I was still not convinced that I could find water, especially over territory that had not been previously explored by a dowser. A rancher came by and asked me to witch a pasture where many attempts had been made to locate enough water to supply his cattle. I told him of my uncertainties, but he insisted that I try my 'luck.'

"I walked for a distance of only 150 yards and to my surprise, my twig pulled downward. I crossed over the area and walked toward it from the opposite direction. The same pull was still prevalent. Several days later, a well was drilled and good water was located at 160 feet below the surface. He (the rancher) thought I knew what I was doing, but I was really just playing."

Though Reeve jokes about the fact that he has a "real talent or extra ability," he does claim that water witching does provide some benefits. Not only does it provide a practical way for locating underground water sources, but it is also helpful in finding water lines that already exist.

The questions do remain among scientists, experts and everyone else: How and why does this phenomenon occur? Some think that it has something to do with the magnetic field and gravitational attractions of the earth. However, the mystery remains alive and unsolved.

"Scientists don't like this attitude because they feel that there are scientific reasons for everything. I am sure that such reasons exist involving water witching that have not yet been discovered. The future holds a great wealth of knowledge and someday man will discover, to the satisfaction of all dowsers, just what attracts the dowser's rod," said Reeve.

In the future, scientists will keep searching and experts will keep speculating, but the dowsers will just hold on to their twigs and continue to find the hidden waters below the surface.

Bovina Police Chief Shot Last Thursday

Bovina Police Chief Gary Coleman was shot last Thursday night in front of City Hall on Main Street in Bovina.

Officer Coleman was allegedly shot in the face by Travis Gene Lambert, 24, at about 11:30 p.m. Lambert was driving a pickup truck with stolen license plates and was stopped during a routine check.

Lambert was put into the back seat of the police car by Coleman. The back seat of the police car has a security cage, and Lambert was not handcuffed. The officer said he was not arresting the young man at the time, and only meant to talk to him when he was put in the back seat.

Coleman was talking to him through the sliding window between the back and front seats, then turned away. Lambert called to him and when he leaned back into the car, he was shot in the face by a .25-caliber automatic handgun that Lambert had concealed.

Officer Coleman fell backwards after he was shot and Lambert crawled through the window between the seats of the patrol car and out on the driver's side of the car. Coleman managed to draw his gun and shot Lambert in the right leg. After Lambert escaped the police car, he again shot at Officer Coleman several times but missed each time. He then ran into the darkness.

Coleman called for assistance on the police radio, then got into the police car and began driving around looking for Lambert. He then decided to return to City Hall and wait for an ambulance.

Officer Coleman underwent surgery to remove the bullet which entered the lobe of a nostril, went through the roof of his mouth, bounced off his spine and lodged beside the carotid artery in his neck. He came through the surgery real well, but had difficulty in swallowing and had to be fed intravenously in bed. He was released Monday, July 17, from the Clovis High Plains Hospital where he was a patient for four days.

The following area law enforcement agencies were called in to assist the search for Lambert: the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Clovis Police Department, the Curry County Sheriff's Office, the Bailey County Sheriff's Office, the Earth, Texas Police Department, the Friona Police Department, the Texico Marshal and Parmer County Sheriff's Office.

The Clovis Police Department sent one of its canine units with Sgt. Gilbert Holguin to assist in the search.

Lambert was located about 3:15 a.m. on top of the old Isaac's building on Main Street, not far from City Hall and the Police Department building.

Lambert was taken to the doctor the next morning and his wound was clean. There were no broken bones. He is now being held in the Parmer County Jail.

The pickup was searched later and a vial of cocaine, scales to weigh it and also some marijuana were found.

Sheriff Rex Williams expressed his appreciation for the response from the Clovis Police Department and the Curry County Sheriff's Office in assisting. Williams said, "I'll be happy to return the favor anytime."

Beet Sugar Leaders Testify In Congress

A spokesman for the United States beet sugar industry testified before the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture at a hearing where farm lawmakers reviewed the status of federal programs currently operating under the Food Security Act of 1985.

Craig Anderson, a sugarbeet farmer from Longmont, Colorado and past president of Mountain States Beet Growers Marketing Association, pledged continued industry cooperation on behalf of the more than 100,000 beet sugar growers, processor employees and their families as the committee prepares general farm legislation to reauthorize programs set to expire in 1990.

"This committee has skillfully designed and the Congress has strongly supported the current U.S. Sugar Program. Our nation's sugar policy has worked well and is absolutely essential to the future of the domestic beet sugar industry," Anderson said in testimony to the committee.

Anderson pointed out that all major sugar-producing and consuming nations continue to maintain some form of protection and price stabilization for their sugar industries and consumers.

Commenting on multi-lateral negotiations currently underway in Geneva aimed at eliminating measures that distort free and fair trade, he noted that "domestic sugar producers were the first commodity group to endorse an administration proposal to rid the world of tariff and non-tariff barriers to the international trade in agriculture."

"Insofar as sugar is concerned," Anderson stated, "we believe the best signal we can send our negotiators in Geneva is a comprehensive and strong domestic sugar program that will sustain a viable domestic sugar industry until such time as all others are prepared to abandon their predatory trade practices."

The committee also heard testimony supporting U.S. sugar policy from Jack Nelson, president of the Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers and a sugarcane farmer from Santa Rosa, Texas.

The House Committee resumed its Washington hearings with additional witnesses from other agricultural and related groups appearing. Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter testified before the committee on July 19, to present administration views.

Dennis Printz, Hereford's agricultural manager, said, "Our grower partners, along with Holly Sugar, generate approximately 120 million dollars into the Panhandle economy. Our crop is currently average, to a little above, and with good disease-free growing conditions harvest should begin by late September."

"Emotions"

The Art Of Relaxation

By John I. Walker, M.D.

A good friend and associate recently loaned me a book, "When I Relax I Feel Guilty." Do you think she was trying to tell me something? Being a board-certified card-carrying Type A personality I got this message: If you've learned to relax, you can get more done. I don't think the author intended to convey that idea, but that's the only way to convince certain people to relax more.

So, for all you Type A people out there, remember: tension restricts. Here are some rules for living that will help you relax--and be more productive:

Live in the here and now. Most of us look to the future for happiness, and then look back and say, "Gosh, if I had known then what I know now, I could have been happy."

In the spring of 1871 a young medical student, worried about passing his final examination, changed his life when he read these 21 words of Thomas Carlyle: "Our main business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand." Forty-two years later that student had organized a world-famous Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and been knighted by the King of England.

Sir William Osler reported that the quotation of Thomas Carlyle motivated him to live in "day-tight compartments." Just as great ocean liners have various parts of the ship that can be shut off in watertight compartments, individuals who shut off the past and slam the door on future worries can withstand the hurricane-force storms of life.

You can live in day-tight compartments by avoiding the temptation of wishing, hoping and regretting--the most common tactics for evading the present. Idealizing the future leads only to disappointment. Invest in the present.

Avoid hurry. Nikos Kazantzakis, in his book, "Zorba, the Greek," writes poignantly of discovering a cocoon in the bark of a tree just as the butterfly was making a hole to come out. Instead of waiting patiently, he bent over the cocoon and breathed on it to warm it. The case opened and the butterfly crawled out, but its wings were folded back and crumpled. It struggled desperately to unfold its wings and died a few seconds later. Just as butterflies need time to hatch, we need time to develop. We would do well to confidently obey the eternal rhythm of life, for in the impatient desire to make things happen, we often overlook what's really important.

Avoid taking yourself too seriously. Rule number four for getting along with people is: "Don't take yourself too seriously." What are the other rules? There aren't any others. Rule number four reminds me of a doctor I once visited who, after checking for vital signs would say, "Well, now, how's your sense of humor? That's the most vital sign."

A pathetic creature is the pretentious, defensive, brittle individual who works five times harder than needed to continually prove himself or herself. In taking ourselves too seriously, we come to fear failure, fear risk, fear tarnishing our images, fear needing to ask for help. Instead, we need to share our feelings with others, ask for help when we need it, and boldly embrace life. Admitting weaknesses makes us more human--and more loveable.

Always be grateful. If success is getting what you want, then happiness is wanting what you get. The greatest principle of relaxation is the principle of insistent, consistent, persistent gratitude--the source of peace. World War II flying ace Eddie Rickenbacker who drifted in the Pacific in a life raft for three weeks said that the greatest lesson he learned from that experience was, "If you have all the fresh water you want to drink and all the food you want to eat, you ought never complain about anything."

We would do well to concentrate on the ninety per cent that is right in our lives rather than the ten per cent that's wrong. An old English church inscription reminds visitors: "Think and Thank." If you really wish to relax, to let up a bit, then savor each day with gratitude and good humor. It will do wonders for your health.

Whee--someone sure turned up the heat Monday! But thank you for the cool breeze the next day and the rest of the week. I guess we just have to have 100 plus degrees sometime during the summer, but let's hope this is the only one we have this year. We could use more of that "wet" stuff.

Mabel DeLong had a real surprise birthday party. Her daughter, Dorothy Harrelson, and her daughter-in-law, Karen, really did it up right for Mabel. They arranged or knew that another granddaughter, Mary Ann Easterwood from Mesa, Arizona, was coming so they kept it a secret and made plans for her arrival.

She flew into Lubbock and drove to Friona. Kelly and Karen had a little trouble keeping Mabel out of sight until just the right moment. Mabel did a lot of visiting with neighbors and when she returned home, the special guest greeted her at the door. Mabel was surprised.

They enjoyed a delicious birthday dinner at the home of Karen and Mickey Harrelson later that evening. Jerry Harrelson from Dallas also got in on the fun. This was Mabel's 85th birthday and if the next one could be this exciting, Mabel is looking forward to it.

Ralph and Waneta Taylor are enjoying their children and grandchildren. They met their daughter, Jeanie and husband, Dale Warner of Duncanville, Texas. They all enjoyed the show "Texas" and then drove to Branson, Missouri where they were to meet their son, Mike and his wife Lynette, Shana and Chance for a fun time in that area. Lou and Dave Behrendsen's daughter, Kristin, had the misfortune of breaking a leg and is in a body cast for some time. Kristin, we just can't be a monkey all the time, can we? Hurry and get well, we miss you.

Bill and Lois Hutson, Kermit, Texas visited his mother and brother and their families, Thelma Hutson, Leland and Jo Hutson and other relatives.

Last weekend several of our friends and neighbors celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversaries and another couple, Bud and Sis (Elizabeth) Ferguson celebrated their 55th anniversary on July 14.

Geneva Williams and Doris Smith hosted them to dinner at K-Bob's in Hereford. They were surprised when K-Bob's served a wedding cake with two candles and the waitresses sang "Happy Anniversary." Hope you enjoy several more happy years!

The Fergusons and I enjoyed our sister, Betty Young's visit last Thursday. She and her husband, Neal Young, live at Levelland, and she drove up for the day and to visit with the Calvin Talley family.

Betty and Neal are looking forward to a great trip. Their daughter Cathy's husband, Tony Malouf, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna Malouf of Friona. They have four children, Amanda, the only daughter who is quite a runner and three sons. Amanda is entered in some type of race at Kauai, Hawaii. American Air Lines has a program for this summer where one paid adult ticket allows one child to travel free. Isn't this fun? Grandchildren can help in so many ways. Tony, Cathy, Betty and Neal can claim a Malouf child and all of us enjoy this beautiful spot of God's creation. Amanda will stay another week before returning to Levelland.

I have visited with Lillian Tullis and she tells me that she has a bit of news and when I called back, I got the story from her son, Joseph.

Sally, Joseph's wife, is visiting in Wheeling, West Virginia with her brother, John McAninch and they are attending their 45th school reunion. She will also visit with another brother, George McAninch at Louisville, Kentucky before returning to Friona on July 26.

Sally and John McAninch graduated the same year. When Sally gets home the family plans to go to Lawton, Oklahoma for a visit with their son, Dr. Richard Tullis and family. Richard was a teacher in our school system just a few years back and we enjoyed the family.

I have tried to stay in touch with June Floyd's progress and am pleased to report that she is making good progress the last few days and is in the immediate care unit. One of the daughters will be with her while Gerald and Jana go home for a few days. We are wondering if Frieda has had her baby yet. Someone let us know.

Rene Snead is a heart patient at St. Anthony's Hospital and is reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Clyde Fields expects to be home the latter part of this week after surgery on both knees. Clyde, I will run you a foot race when you get home!

Opal and Giles Cobb are still in Amarillo with their daughter, Patsy, and hope to get a better report when she sees her doctor later this month.

We are glad to learn that Beth Thompson is home.

Myrl Buske has had two of her daughters and spouses with her last week, the Max Vars and the Richard Styles. Several others I am sure have visited in her home but we did not catch up with Myrl for a full report.

Family reunions and 50th wedding anniversaries are always happy times and I hope that there is a full report from all of you on these happy occasions--even those of you who celebrated in the cool mountains of New Mexico.

Lillie Taylor enjoyed her family last weekend and I feel sure there is a full report coming from them. We have several of our people gone this week and I will try to learn more about their travels next week and all of us can enjoy their travels with them.

Thank you for your compliments on "Town Talk by Geneva," but it will only be as good as the news that you let me know about. Call me and let's enjoy your company and your travels with you.

I copied this but thought it was kinda cute and may fit some of us--Be careful about calling yourself an expert. An "ex" is a has-been and "spurt" is a drip under pressure.

Make it a point to indulge in at least one hearty laugh every day. If nothing funnier comes along, laugh at yourself.

See you next week with Town Talk.

Barlow Attends A&M Fire School

Darrell Barlow, volunteer fireman with the Friona Volunteer Fire Department, is attending the 60th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School, July 23-28.

The school, attended by nearly 2,000 students representing about 750 cities from more than 25 states, is being held on the Texas A&M University campus this week.

Firemen can choose their course of study at the school from a list including: fire fighting, fire prevention, fire department officer training, fire department pump maintenance, specialized fire protection and disaster rescue training.

Fireman Barlow is being sponsored by Parmer County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 county Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe Volunteer Fire Departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President S.M. True, Jr. of Plainview. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the fireman will help the Friona Volunteer Fire Department to better serve the residents of Parmer County."

Frionans Attend Okla. Speech Camp

Last week, Cameron completed its 15th Annual Speech Camp in which 155 students from 52 schools from Texas, Arkansas, Arizona, Kansas and Oklahoma participated.

There were thirty-five high school teachers, college professors and college students that served as staff members for the one-week camp, July 9-14. The Cameron Speech Camp is the only speech camp held in the state of Oklahoma.

Joy Morton, Friona High School speech instructor, Mindy Johnson, Michael Mann and Jon Parker attended the camp.

There were six divisions of the camp this year: beginning and advanced team debate, beginning and advanced Lincoln-Douglas debate and beginning and advanced individual events.

Tony Allison, chairman of the Communications Department and director of the camp, said, "That most of the students come to camp to prepare for next year's speech tournament competition and to learn new debate, public speaking and acting skills. Some of last year's Oklahoma state winners are brought in to demonstrate all the events. The campers get to watch these demonstrations which are then critiqued by the staff of the camp."

The thirty-five staff members are from some of the most successful high school speech programs in the state.

Polly Anna Turner, Rodolfo Garza Exchange Vows In Corpus Christi

On June 17, London House Party Room in Corpus Christi was the scene for the afternoon wedding ceremony uniting Polly Anna Turner and Rodolfo Garza. Anselmo Longoria officiated as the couple repeated their wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Sandra Turner of Friona.

The bridegroom is the son of Fedelia Garza and the late Pablo Garza of Corpus Christi.

The Party Room was decorated with mauve candles, greenery garlands and mauve and blue satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown featuring a floor length bustle skirt. The gown featured an "old fashioned" high lace neckline and long sleeves.

The bride wore a Juliet cap with branches of seed pearls and flowers crowning her veil of illusion.

She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and orchids accented with cascading flowers, ribbons, love knots and pearls.

Following bridal tradition, she wore gold earrings, that belonged to her paternal great-great-grandmother, Nancy Sheive Nutt for something old. Her gown was new and she borrowed a blue garter from her mother.

Lucretia Hayes of Amarillo served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of tornado-blue satin and carried one long stemmed colonial rose-colored flower accented with rose and blue ribbon.

The groom was attired in a gray tuxedo with rose bow tie, matching cummerbund and white boutonniere.

Ricardo Garza of Corpus Christi served his brother as best man.

The traditional wedding marches were presented by the bride's father, Charles Turner.

Guests were registered by the groom's niece, Sonja Rodriguez of Corpus Christi.

The bird seed baskets were carried by Ashleigh Hayes, niece of the bride, and Andrea Rodriguez, niece of the groom.

The bride's mother was attired in a tornado-blue silk organza dress. She wore a white rose corsage, accented with pearls and mauve satin ribbon.

The groom's mother wore a rose lace dress. She wore a white rose corsage accented with pearls and blue ribbon.

A reception followed the ceremonies at the Party House.

The bride's table was covered with a mauve cloth overlaid with a white cutwork cloth made by the bride's grandmother, the late Edna Martin. Mauve candles accented the table setting.

The three-tiered wedding cake was accented with mauve roses and was topped with a bride and groom in a blue heart. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Margaret Gisler, cousin of the bride. Punch was served by Mrs. Connie Garza, sister-in-law of the groom.

The groom's table was covered with a mauve cloth and was overlaid with white cutwork lace. A German chocolate cake was served by Mrs. Joyce Martin, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Irma Rodriguez, sister of the groom, assisted the servers.

Following the "toasting" of the bride and groom, the wedding party journeyed to the La Terraza Club for a barbecue supper and dance hosted by the Garza family.

Out-of-town guests came from Houston, Lubbock, Victoria, Amarillo, Bryan, Normanna, Robstown, Baytown, Beeville and Friona, Texas.

S. Turney Earns FFA Degree

Stephanie Turney attended the 61st annual convention of the Future Farmers of America in Houston July 12-14. She received the highest honor a member of FFA can obtain on the state level, which is the Lone Star Farmer Degree.

There were only 1,336 members receiving the award out of about 20,000 total FFA members in Texas.

She also was recently selected for inclusion in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" for the second year due to her outstanding performance in the academic classes.

A senior in Slaton, she is the 17-year-old daughter of Freddie and Martha Turney of Slaton and granddaughter of Clarence and Wynona Martin of Friona.

Shower Fetes Marvin Smith

Marvin Smith of Lubbock, bride-elect of Hal Blackburn, was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Geneva Stanley, Sunday evening, July 9.

The table was covered with a white linen cloth and mauve napkins were used with crystal appointments. The center of the table was decorated with a silk floral arrangement in the bride's chosen colors of mauve, white and country blue, in a brass dish. Refreshments of iced tea, served with mint and lime, along with fresh vegetables were served to the guests.

Gifts for the bride and groom were displayed in several rooms. Fresh rose arrangements accented the display tables. Silk floral corsages were presented to each honored guest.

Out-of-town guests attending the event were the bride's mother, Verna Smith, and the bride's sister and niece, DeAnna and Jordan Rivas, all of Lubbock; the groom's aunts, Joyce Coffman of Farwell and Marie Hinds of Hereford; Donna Smith and daughter, Dixie and Linda Benton of Amarillo. Approximately fifty guests attended.

Floyd Family Reunion Held

The third Floyd family reunion was held on July 14 and 15 at the Friona Senior Citizens' Friendship House. A total of over sixty uncles, aunts, cousins and friends attended the 1989 reunion.

Family members attending celebrated a 50's and 60's theme with various games, contests and other activities throughout the two-day event. Serving as chairman for this year's reunion was C.C. (Clarissa) Floyd Crow of Golden, Colorado. Family members came from as far away as California and as nearby as Friona.

Special musical entertainment was provided by Cass and Richard Perkins, Roger Gee and Darla Perkins Bracken, all of Friona, and Teresa Perkins Rhodes and Mike Brown of Hooker, Oklahoma.

The next Floyd family reunion is scheduled for July, 1991 at the Friendship House with Connie Lloyd Hawkins of Lubbock as chair.

Module XVIII: Understand What You Buy and How Safe It Is

Once considered short-term parking places for long-term money, certificates of deposit have come into their own as serious investments.

According to the Federal Reserve, funds in jumbo CDs, those totaling more than $100,000, increased $50.4 billion in 1988. Small deposits gained $116.5 billion. Much of this money is going into longer-term CDs that promise high interest and guaranteed principal for up to five years. The high rates and extended maturities are attractive enough that the sophisticated investor now sees the investment value of long-term CDs.

However, the question beginning to nag investors is, "How safe are the organizations that guarantee this investment, the FDIC and FSLIC?" Even with the FSLIC's recent crisis, it appears that the federal government will not let anyone lose money. A restructuring of the insurance program is being considered, but for the time being, investors must be satisfied with the assurance that their money is safe.

A little homework, however, can add peace of mind to your CD investing. FDIC and FSLIC insurance play no part in your investments unless an insured institution holding your funds becomes insolvent. A quick check of the assets, liabilities and quality of loans your institution makes, can give you a good idea of financial stability or instability.

CDs were once purchased primarily through local banks and thrift institutions, but that traditional relationship has since been invaded by interest-aware investors searching for the best rates.

This renewed interest in CDs has prompted many major brokerage firms to shop the nation for the highest-yielding CDs, buy them in bulk and offer them to their customers in denominations as small as $1,000. Because these firms buy CDs in bulk, they can generally negotiate a higher yield.

Higher yields, however, can also mean more risk. If you're unfamiliar with the financial institution issuing your CD, it's your responsibility to question the safety criteria your broker uses when underwriting CDs.

The chairman of the product-review committee of one major firm explained that before any CDs are bulk-purchased by his firm for resale to individual investors, the FDIC-insured issuing institution must have minimum assets of $1 billion and a net worth of at least 5.5 per cent of assets. In addition, the firm's product-review committee annually reviews the financial data of these institutions. Exceptions are made, but they can result in no compromise of safety.

Each brokerage firm has its own safety standards, and it's to your benefit to question your representative. Ask questions and get answers before you invest.

In periods of investor uncertainty, CDs and other guaranteed investments are traditionally popular, but don't be blinded by guarantees. Understand what you're buying, and make sure you're satisfied that it's as safe as your salesperson promises.

A heat pump will not work well enough by itself to keep you warm all winter.

Someone selling you a heat pump will either attach it to your natural gas furnace or even try to sell you a new furnace you probably don't even need. All because a heat pump won't do the job by itself.

If you need a new air conditioner this summer, get a modern high-efficiency air conditioner. But don't let 'em mess with your furnace.

Katie Osborn Has Interesting Guests

Mrs. Katie Osborn entertained an interesting visitor in her home for a few days this past week. In addition to her cousin, Doyle Roundtree and wife Rebecca, and children, Andrea and Kevin of Houston, she had 16-year-old Nathalie Kieffer of Clermont-Ferrand, France.

The young lady was spending a month with the Roundtree family as a part of E.F.C.A., which is a student exchange program whereby young people of various countries spend a month in the summer with a family in another country.

This is the second summer that the Roundtrees have participated in the program and they plan to host another student from France before the summer is over.

Nathalie, who speaks a little English, said she flew from France to London and then had a direct nine-hour flight from London to Houston.

She will have one more year in school and she enjoys theatre, music, films, swimming and skiing. Her father is a geologist and her mother is the director of a private school.

Nathalie also has an older sister at home. Despite the language barrier, the young lady seemed to be enjoying her trip across the country with the Roundtree family, meeting new people and seeing new sights.

Mrs. Osborn said that Doyle and his family are about the only relatives from her mother's side of the family which they still keep in touch with. Katie's mother, Mrs. J.B. McFarland was a Roundtree before marriage, and Doyle was her great-nephew, which would make him a first cousin twice-removed to Mrs. Osborn and her sisters and brothers.

During their short stay in Friona, the family enjoyed visiting with the other local family members. Mrs. Gerry Taylor, Mrs. Ilene Osborn, Mrs. Martha Clements, Miss Lora Mae McFarland and Katie's son, M.C. Osborn, all got together for a luncheon during their stay. Their brother, "Red" McFarland, was out-of-town at the time.

The Roundtrees enjoyed a tour of the Texas countryside and regretted that they could not stay long enough to take in the "TEXAS" play at Palo Duro Canyon.

Julie Howard Represents Friona At Girls State '89

Friona's 1989 representative at Girls State was Julie Howard. She was sponsored by the local American Legion Auxiliary.

An account of her trip is as follows:

BY JULIE HOWARD

Being chosen to be Friona's representative at Girls State was one of the greatest honors that I will ever experience.

I went to Girls State from June 13-23. It was very exciting and educational. I enjoyed it so much.

There were 23 girls from the 18th District who rode the plane to Dallas from Amarillo. At Dallas, we picked up six more girls to finish the plane ride to San Antonio. From San Antonio, we rode a charter bus to Seguin. This was the first time for a bunch of the girls to ride a plane, including me. We were pretty scared, but we made it.

When we got there, the 18th District girls were split up. We were thrown into everything so quickly. We found out where our dorms were, which city we were in, and if we knew anyone in our city. I also found out that I was in the House of Representatives and a Nationalist. My city was City D, and our theme was "Dynamic, Daffy, Dwarfs Who Dwell On Dreamy Drive." There were 48 citizens in my city. We had one senior counselor and two junior counselors. They were very nice and helped us with anything we needed help with.

We were an industrial city which consisted of 250,000 people. We were known for our yearly "Made in the U.S.A." Festival. We had ten city offices which were strong: mayor, council-manager, councilmen, city treasurer, city attorney, tax assessor/collector, chief of police, fire chief, health officer and municipal judge.

We were in a county with City C. Our county was called Chile County. We were both trying to obtain the supercollider. We finally decided to put it in between the two cities, so we could both profit from this. City D was trying to annex land on the outskirts of City C's town. We also had ten county offices which were county judge, two commissioners courts, county attorney, county treasurer, two justices of the peace, tax assessor/collector, county clerk and a county sheriff.

We had to get up at 6:30 a.m. every morning except on Sunday and on the last day. On these two mornings, we got to sleep an extra fifteen minutes. At 7 a.m., we had flag raising and exercise. Exercise was to run, jog or walk a mile. At 7:15 a.m., we had breakfast. At 8:30 a.m., we had city, county or precinct meetings, or had an activity period or assemblies.

We had three different kinds of assemblies. The first kind was the ones where we learned about the government. These were very interesting. They were directed by Mary Ellen Trahan. The second type was where we had guest speakers such as Mayor Betty Jean Jones, Commander Lindon Williams, Bea Ann Smith, Ann Richards, George Strake and Carole Keeton Rylander. Our third kind of assembly was when we had entertainment. I think those were the best because they gave us a chance to relax and loosen up after a long day of studying.

During activities we had a choice of going to the Bill Room to write a bill, of going to the Education Room to learn more about Girls State, reading the newspapers we got from Girls State, working on our party meetings, or trying out for the talent show.

After this, we had lunch and rest time from 12:30-2 p.m. From 2-5:45 p.m., we had city, county, state, party, or House and Senate meetings. We would eat supper about 5:45 p.m. and at 6:45 p.m. we had flag lowering. Usually after this, we would have House and Senate meetings, or we held elections for offices. We usually didn't get to bed until 12 o'clock every night. At night, we held the state elections. We had ten state offices which were governor, Lt. governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, land commissioner, agricultural commissioner, railroad commissioner, chief justice of the court of criminal appeals and supreme court justice.

On Sunday, June 8, we had church services at the college church. We sang, had prayers, had scripture readings and had the Lord's Supper.

Monday, we rode buses to the Capitol in Austin. We had House and Senate meetings in the respective rooms. After we had those meetings, we made a cassette tape of the Girls State songs in the Capitol's Rotunda on the first two floors. We then had the inauguration of our state officials. We ate lunch on the Capitol grounds, then we had about an hour to look around the Capitol.

The last day, June 23, we had a final assembly. Parents and friends could come if they wanted. We sang and got our pins and certificates saying that we completed the session of Bluebonnet Girls State 1989.

This was a wonderful experience that I will never forget.

Parsons Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Thomas and Ruth Parson were honored Saturday, July 15 with a reception celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary at Fellowship Hall, Calvary Baptist Church, Friona.

Ruth Wilson, daughter of Ellis and Lottie Wilson and Thomas Parson, son of Everett and Mattie Parson, were married July 17, 1939 at Seminole, Texas. They moved to Friona, where Thomas was employed by his uncle, L.M. Crow, and they have continued to make their home here.

Thomas Parson retired from Parmer County Precinct 1. They have been foster parents for several years and now reside on an acreage northwest of Friona where they have room and facilities to work with foster children.

Hosting the event were their children: T.E. and Virginia Parson of Houston; Ellis and Mildred Parson of Summerfield; Neal and Latha Parson of Valle de Oro, Amarillo; Elaine and William Rodgers of Tucumcari, N.M.; Nancy, Albert, Dora and Alice Parson, all of Friona.

Cake and punch were served to 87 friends and relatives who signed the guest register. The three-tiered gold and white cake was baked and decorated by Nancy Parson.

A special gift to Thomas and Ruth from their children was a king-sized quilt made by the children and grandchildren. The quilt was the result of team effort with each family providing a quilt block for each family member in colors of their choice. Embroidered on the large center block are Thomas and Ruth's names, birth dates and their wedding date. Their children's blocks surround this center block with the four older children at the corners and the four adopted children on the sides.

Branching out from the core of the family are blocks giving names and birth dates of their son-in-law, three daughters-in-law, sixteen grandchildren, the spouses of the ten married grandchildren and the ten great-grandchildren for a total of fifty family members.

The couple has touched the lives of many others through the years including fifty-three foster children whose names are written around the border of the quilt.

Darran Procter was selected as this year's representative at Boys State by the local American Legion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Procter.

Following is an account of his experiences at Boys State:

BY DARRAN PROCTER
I would like to thank the American Legion Post in Friona for selecting me to represent them at Boys State. It was a great honor and I also had a great time.

I left from Amarillo June 3 with about 35 other guys from the Panhandle. We arrived in Austin that afternoon. When we got there we checked into the dorms at the University of Texas. This is when we found out what city and party we were in. I was in the city of Nami and the Federalist party.

Boys State is held at the University of Texas in Austin. It is sponsored by the American Legion. It's a place where 951 guys got together from all over the state of Texas to learn about the Texas government and what better way to teach someone than to let them do it themselves. So we set up and ran a mock Texas government in a week. We did this by starting from the bottom.

When we arrived, we were split into cities by alphabetical order about 45 guys to a city. We were also split up into parties. There were two parties--Nationalist and Federalist. Also, everyone's roommate was from the other party.

Saturday, we arrived and had our first city meeting that night. This is when we set up our city governments and got our filing forms. A filing form was a piece of paper where you had to have signatures and you had to have so many signatures to be eligible to run for a certain office. For instance, a person running for a state office had to have 30 signatures and pay a 25¢ fee. If you didn't have enough signatures, you couldn't run, but most offices had only one place.

If you wanted to run for Governor or Commissioner of Agriculture, you had to have 30 signatures. These signatures had to be from your party. If there was only one spot you could only have one person who had not signed anyone else's filing form to sign your form. To complicate matters more, if someone signed two filing forms for the same office, these two candidates' filing forms could be disqualified. So a person always tried to get more signatures than he needed just to be safe.

Sunday, we went to church and then to a general assembly. General assembly is where we heard different speakers. It is also one of the few times that we were all together in the same building at once.

We heard from Past National Commander Jack W. Flynt on Sunday. That night we heard from Senator Ed Howard who told us this ten word phrase, "If it is to be it is up to me." That night we also got our state party set up and were ready to start.

Monday, we listened to speeches from candidates who were running for a state office. That night we heard from Lewis Timberlake. He was one of the greatest speakers that I have ever heard. He told us to always remember that someone needed us.

Tuesday, we had city, county, district and state meetings. At this time, we heard from all the candidates who hadn't given a speech yet. This is also the time I gave one of my speeches. That night, we had our primary election and heard from two speakers, Lindon Williams, department commander, and Mrs. Bea Fuhrman, department president of the American Legion Auxiliary. They told us about Boys State and Girls State programs.

Wednesday, we found out the results from the primary elections. We also heard campaign speeches from candidates for the state offices in the General Election. That night, we heard from General Robertson Risner. He was a pilot who was captured in Vietnam and was a P.O.W. for several years. He told us how it was and what he did. He also told us how his believing in himself and his country helped him get through it. He told us to never be ashamed of something that could make us bigger and better.

After that, we had the big campaign where we heard from the candidates running for Attorney General, Lt. Governor and Governor. It was fun because after each speaker, that party had five minutes to campaign to get votes. This was real fun. We voted that night after the campaign.

Thursday, the results of the General Election were announced and then we heard from Bob Bullock. He told us about what he does as Comptroller of Public Accounts. Then we got to go on a tour of the Lyndon B. Johnson Museum. The museum had everything in it from his limousine to a replica of his oval office. It was really neat.

Friday morning, we walked from the university to the Capitol Building which is about seven blocks through part of downtown Austin. We stopped traffic for about four blocks. People were in their buildings waving down at us. We got to the Capitol and went to our Representatives' and Senators' offices. Neither one of mine were there, so I just talked to their secretaries for awhile.

We met in the House Chamber and watched the Boys State

Governor, John Spaid, be inaugurated into office. Then we heard from the Chief Justice, Thomas R. Phillips of the Supreme Court of Texas. He talked about himself and what he does.

After that, we had our final assembly and left.

Boys State is an experience of a lifetime. It is a place where you learn by doing. It also taught me alot about our state government.

Hunters Face Education Requirement

In a new program instigated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, mandatory hunter education will be enforced beginning September 1, 1989.

Effective on that date, hunters whose date of birth is during the period September 2, 1971 through August 31, 1973 must have successfully completed the course to hunt in Texas.

The requirements will be added to each year, with those hunters having reached their 16th birthday having to complete the course.

For information about the courses, call 1-800-792-1112.

An investment in Your Future ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

WRESTLING WITH OUR FEARS

Our fears seem as big and as terrible as this alligator sometimes, don't they? Fear about this thing and that can paralyze us and prevent us from doing our daily work.

Many of our fears are real. A great many of our fears, however, are unfounded—a result of thinking and worrying about ourselves. Sir John Denham phrased it this way:

"My fears are causeless and ungrounded, Fantastic dreams and melancholy fumes."

There is only one thing that will dispel fear of this type. We must do something to get out of ourselves. That means loving and helping others.

The Bible puts it so well in I John 4:18. "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

The Church is God's Agency designed to help you. We invite you to attend this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

MS Bike Tour Is Held In Panhandle

The Panhandle Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's Second Annual MS Wild West 150 Bike Tour will be held Saturday and Sunday, July 29 and 30. This is a two-day event beginning in Amarillo and ending at the Salt Fork of the Red River near the Oklahoma State line.

Everyone, regardless of his/her biking experience, is encouraged to ride in the tour. There is a $20 entry fee and everyone must collect a minimum of $150 in pledges in order to participate.

The tour is open to individuals and teams. Teams are composed of four or more cyclists. Funds raised help scientists nationally to research the cause and cure of Multiple Sclerosis and help provide patient services in the Panhandle area.

MS strikes the central nervous system of young adults between the ages of 20 and 50, causing difficulty in walking, talking and seeing. Over 250,000 Americans have this debilitating disease, with 200 new cases being diagnosed each week.

Over 90 tours are conducted by chapters of the Multiple Sclerosis Society throughout the year across the United States. Help us reach our goal of 300 riders this year.

For more information about the "Amarillo To The Salt Fork of The Red River Bike Tour," write the Panhandle Chapter at 1416 W. 8th, Amarillo, Texas 79101 or telephone the Chapter office at (806) 372-4429.

Use the right appliance for the job.

When you need to bathe the dog, there are better things to use than a washing machine.

And when you need to cool and heat your home, there are better things than a heat pump.

A heat pump can't cool your home in summer as well as a high-efficiency air conditioner. And it can't warm your home in winter as well as a natural gas furnace.

Think of winter this summer. For comfortable efficient heating in your home, the most effective appliance ever made is a natural gas furnace. Period.

ENERGAS

Don't mess with your furnace.

Looking Back

By JOHN TERRY

Calvin Talley was my friend, of that I'm truly proud,
He had a rough exterior, at times he could be loud,
But underneath was a heart of Gold that kept on showing thru,
When Calvin Talley was your friend, he would do anything for you.

He could complain with the best of us, in telling his hard-luck bit,
You could tell by the tone of voice he used, he didn't mean half of it,
He was a man among men and as fair as any come,
For all his hard-luck stories, I never saw Calvin glum.

We were just boys in '42, when our service days began,
I had no idea where Calvin was, I didn't keep track of him,
On board the Rochambeau one day, on the Pacific wide and blue,
A lad dressed up in a C.B. suit said, "Hey, I remember you."

We spent eighteen days on that glad trip, livin' in the same confines,
Exchanging guesses of where we're bound, a thousand things in mind,
We made it thru that period of time and returned to our home town,
We've had pleasure in later years, just battin' those stories around.

I've known him more than forty years and he has always been the same,
If Calvin ever knew you once, he always knew your name,
He had a grin wherever we met, be it one or more times a week,
It made no difference how busy he was, he always had time to speak.

We will miss him now that he is gone, just knowing he's not near,
I'm glad that I have known him and enjoyed him, while he was here.
