NATION BUILDING IMPROVED ROADS

Many Thousands Miles Are Now Under Construction And Many Miles More Planned For Ensuing Year

FORM A VAST NETWORK IN U. S.

Every Portion of The Country Will Be Connected With Every Other Part With Pavement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Roadbuilding belongs close to the top in the list of big business in the United States. The latest estimate compiled by Thos. H. MacDonald, Chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, shows that during 1923 approximately 40,000 miles of surfaced roads will be completed.

Just what this would mean if this vast roadbuilding program should be concentrated in tying up the big cities of the country is shown on the accompanying map. The network of lines covering the entire area indicates clearly the magnitude of the business of roadbuilding. Of course, these 40,000 miles of roads are not built as indicated on the map, although in due time thousands of miles will become units of great transcontinental and inter-city highways. As it is now, each state builds its own road system with the assistance of the Federal government and the cooperation of adjacent states.

The 1922 construction program approximated 37,000 miles divided as follows: 6,000 miles of pavement such as brick, concrete, sheet asphalt and bituminous concrete; 4,000 miles of macadam, waterbound and bituminous 20,000 miles of gravel and 7,000 miles of sandy-clay and top-soil roads. The classification of this year's 40,000 miles will be about the same.

At the beginning of this year, there were about 400,000 miles of improved surfaced roads in existence and at the present rate of progress, this mileage will be doubled in ten years.

One of the most important factors in the great movement for more and better roads which has resulted in the construction of improved highways at the rate of 36,000 miles a year is the American Road Builders' Association which was organized more than twenty years ago, and which holds an annual convention.

Good Livestock Backbone of Agriculture—Difference in Selling Price Of Purebreds Shown

KANSAS CITY, October 26.—"Agriculture has finally become recognized as the backbone of our national prosperity and good livestock is the basis upon which a successful agriculture must be built," writes C. W. McCampbell, professor of Animal Husbandry, Kansas State Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kansas.

"Unfortunately a great many who are engaged in livestock production do not realize and appreciate what really constitutes a good individual and are not succeeding as well as they might. The tremendous numbers of inferior livestock that arrive at the leading livestock market each day furnishes indisputable evidence of this fact.

"The real difference between the income from good and inferior livestock was nicely illustrated by two groups of steers arriving in Kansas City the

LLOYD GEORGE IS COMING BACK

American Tour Has Done Much to Restore Famous Premier Politically In England, Pointed Out

BONAR LAW IS A FAILURE

England Suffered More Humiliation Under Law's Leadership Than at Any Time in Past Century

By The United Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—David Lloyd George's American tour has done more to resurrect the ex-premier politically than anything else that has happened to him since his fall from office. The Welshman will return home in November with the premiership very much nearer his grasp, because of the great welcome he has received in American cities.

British newspapers, politically hostile to Lloyd George, in some notable instances, have been so fearful of the effect of his American triumph that they have refused to publish the facts. They dismissed, in a few lines, the extraordinary warmth of New York's initial greeting to him, and have maintained the same policy of ostracism ever since.

Nevertheless, enough papers, even among those which did not support the Lloyd George ministry to the end, have given sufficiently adequate accounts of his American tour to permit the real facts to become known in Great Britain. Lloyd George will return to London, therefore, with his great war record no longer forgotten. Whether this will mean his quick return to power, or whether he will have to wait in long impatience, cannot yet be told.

The fact is unescapable that Great Britain has been frequently humiliated in Europe since Lloyd George was forced out of the premiership. Had Bonar Law been able to continue to head the conservative ministry now in power, conditions would have been different. But Bonar Law's illness has revealed the fact that the conservatives have no other man of outstanding qualities of political leadership.

Baldwin Has Failed

Stanley Baldwin, the present premier, has failed as no previous British prime minister has failed since Great Britain lost her American colonies. When he was made Premier by an accident, it caused general surprise that he had not made a reputation for himself previously, in public life. There is no cause for such surprise any longer. The plain fact is that Premier Baldwin wasn't heard of before he reached the premiership because he did not possess the necessary ability.

This is the chief opponent Lloyd George must face when he resumes his seat in the House of Commons. If Mr. Baldwin were to be forced to resign there is nobody else among the conservatives with any greater ability as a political leader, except Lord Birkenhead, former Lord Chancellor who like Lloyd George, is now touring America.

Lord Birkenhead, however, has an unfortunate capacity for making political enemies because of his sense of sarcasm. It is doubtful, too, whether Lord Birkenhead would consent to head a ministry that might be antagonistic to Lloyd George.

GENIUS FAMED IN SCIENCE IS DEAD

Charles P. Steinmetz, Engineering Counsellor of General Electric Co. At Enormous Salary Gone

GREAT CRONY OF EDISON

The Two Were The Outstanding Figures in Electrical World—Designed Long Distance Transmission

By The United Press.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Charles P. Steinmetz died here this morning at 8:30.

He had been under the care of a physician for the past two weeks but his death was sudden and unexpected.

He returned here from a six weeks lecture tour exhausted and was ordered to bed and visitors refused permission to see him. Last Monday he was reported improving.

This morning, according to report, he told his nurse he was feeling fine, a minute or two before his death. Then he turned over and without warning, died.

Charles P. Steinmetz was known as one of the world's greatest electrical engineers. He was also a ranking mathematician and his textbooks are the last word on many phases of electrical practice.

He was employed by the General Electric Co. at their Schenectady plant at a salary of $100,000 per year and an unlimited expense account for his laboratory experiments. He was absolutely without restraint by that company, free to do as he pleased, so long as the benefit of his work could be used by the corporation.

Although he started the world a short time ago with his miniature thunderstorms, produced in his laboratory with electrical current of millions of volts, this was only a means to an end in his study of electrical current.

He was born in Breslau, Germany, 1865 and came to America 34 years ago. Charles Proteus Steinmetz studied at Breslau, Berlin and at the university at Zurich, Switzerland.

His first work, which so startled the engineering world was "Theory and calculation of alternating current phenomena" which made possible long distance current transmission. Other books of almost equal importance have been published by him from time to time.

What Edison is to the practical world of electricity, Steinmetz was to the theoretical. The two were great cronies and frequently took camping trips together, and are probably the two most outstanding figures in the scientific world.

Steinmetz was always seen with a long black stogie in his mouth. He never married. He was a short insignificant looking individual but with a tremendous head.

In politics he was a Socialist and was selected to the Schenectady City Commission as a member of that organization. His political views were not of the radical type however, and never interfered with his accomplishments along other lines. He served as president of the Schenectady Board of Education since 1912.

He was the recipient of an honorary Master's Degree from Harvard as well as other universities and official or member of the more important engineering societies of this country and those abroad.

City Commission Passes Ordinance Establishing Chamber of Commerce Supported by Taxation

Special to Reporter

CISCO, Oct. 26.—The Cisco Municipal Chamber of Commerce, supported by taxation has been organized here, following the passage of an ordinance by the City Commission to that effect. This makes the fourth city in West Texas to adopt this form of Chamber of Commerce, the others being San Angelo, Amarillo, Plainview and Sweetwater.

Fifteen directors have been elected and a budget of $15,000 adopted for the year's work.

G. S. Richardson, secretary of the old Chamber of Commerce, has been retained as the secretary of the new organization. Mr. Richardson and other men interested in furthering Chamber of Commerce work, recommended the adoption of the taxation supported Chamber of Commerce after a study of those in operation at the other towns mentioned above, including Sweetwater.

ARGUING APPEAL ON INJUNCTION

Harry R. Bondies Leaves For Fort Worth Where Pipe Line Injunction Appeal Will Be Heard

CASE NEVER BEFORE APPEALED

Points Presented Have Never Been Ruled Upon by Higher Courts and Several Weeks Delay Expected

Judge Harry R. Bondies left for Ft. Worth Thursday night where he will appear before the Court of Civil Appeals there Saturday when the hearing is held on the appeal from the injunction granted in District Court here last July restraining the City Commission from extending a water main to the plant of the United States Gypsum Co., Judge Bondies, in collaboration with City Attorney A. B. Yantis is representing the city in the appeal.

In the brief prepared for the city's side of the argument, there are 67 printed pages including an index. The nature of the suit is gone into exhaustively and some 48 different court decisions quoted in support of the various aspects of the argument.

Five questions are presented thus:

1. Has the city of Sweetwater power to lay a pipe line from inside the city limits to a point outside such limits for the purpose of carrying water outside?

2. Has the city power to sell water at a point outside its limits to one not an inhabitant of the city?

3. Has the administrative body of the city of Sweetwater any discretion in its use of revenues derived from operation of the waterworks system, and if so what discretion?

4. Has the administrative body of the city of Sweetwater power to issue warrants in payment for waterworks extensions and to pledge the revenues of the waterworks in payment therefor?

5. Is relator entitled to injunctive relief upon the facts of his pleading?

The fifth question is based directly upon the first four, none of which, it is understood, have ever been passed upon by a higher court.

The brief for Sweetwater, after going into the legal end of the argument in great detail, concludes as follows:

"Finally we say relator has not suffered hurt from the acts about which he complains, but on the contrary he has received great present benefit through enhanced property values and will continue to receive them—if the city be permitted to do the things to which he objects. He is a resident of Sweetwater and in common with every other person residing in the city will profit greatly if this immense work goes forward. Not only will he receive benefit but the entire state of Texas is interested in this enterprise. Our state is sorely in need of manufactures to turn out on our home soil the finished product from the abundant raw material with which we are blessed.

"We must not fight capital away from our door. To do so reacts upon us the same way as fighting the railroads or some other thing indispensable to life."

A decision from the higher court is not expected for several weeks, or possibly months.

If Committee Received Favorable Reply Plans For "Ford For President" Club Will Be Launched

By The United Press.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—France will accept the proposal of Secretary Hughes for a settlement of the question of German Reparations by a commission of international experts only in the event such experts are designated by the Reparations Council, it was learned from a semi-official source close to the French government.

France will insist that the commission of experts report to the Reparations Commission any possibilities of readjustment and France's decision will be left to the Reparations Commission, which is admittedly under French control.

Premier Poincare, the statement said would be delighted to enter into any negotiations looking to a settlement of the reparations question but such settlement must be within the limits of the Versailles treaty.

GERMAN ATTITUDE

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—The American offer to participate in an impartial inquiry into Germany's ability to meet reparations payments has been met with a fresh declaration on the part of Chancellor Stresemann in a speech which reiterated German willingness to submit the whole question of German capacity to an impartial commission of experts as suggested by Secretary Hughes of the United States.

At the same time Stresemann warned France "We have already offered more than we can fulfill and we cannot stand the dictatorial attitude of France much longer."

CIRCUS ARRIVES

Al G. Barnes Big Four Ring Wild Animal Show Set up on Show Grounds Below Ball Park Here

"The parade scheduled for this morning of the Al G. Barnes Circus was called off because of bad roads. Most of the morning was spent in getting the heavy wagons to the circus grounds.

The circus arrived this morning with its trained lions, tigers, leopards, zebras, elephants, its fifty clowns and its 550 dancing and posing horses, and by noon all the wonders of the Tent City had left the railroad cars and were in place where the afternoon and evening performance of the Al G. Barnes Big Four Ring Wild Animal Circus will be held.

The Barnes show carries 1200 wild and domestic animals, which includes Tusko the largest elephant in the world whose mere weight is ten tons and who is a foot taller than Jumbo of old time circus days and the one for whom peanuts were named. Another feature of the Barnes show is Lotis, the educated blood sweating hippopotamus who holds the distinction of being the only hippopotamus who can be hooved to a cart and driven around the circus ring. However the star of the "Big Top" is Caruso 2nd the singing donkey. Bachelors of Music have declared his the greatest donkey tenor of all time. Caruso has been in concert work with the Barnes show for three years and has never yet failed to sing when his turn came in the ring.

Supporting these three major actors are scores of other animals, actors and actresses including the camels, wild boars, llamas, Bimbo the barking mule, trained pigs, pigeon, rabbits and Ajax the boxing Kangaroo.

STEINMETZ

Shining with an imperishable lustre that will grow ever brighter as the years roll on, the name of Charles P. Steinmetz, in death, will be added to those of the World's Immortals—Plato, Aristotle, Euclid, Hero, Newton, and the rest.

He was one of those colossal figures so large that contemporary generations are unable to measure them accurately. Only the perspective of Time will permit the world to realize what he added to the progress, comfort, convenience of humanity, wherein he made of it a better place in which to live.

Steinmetz was not honored in the land of his birth overmuch, but it will be noted that the All Highest and his retinue who at one time received much of this honor are very much in the shadows. He in turn honored the land of his adoption. He was an American.

The one achievement of Steinmetz, in solving problems incidental to the transmission of electrical energy in some instances hundreds of miles from where it is generated to where it is used, has permitted ever increasing use of water power and has removed the load from the coal reserves of the nation. This item will become increasingly important as the years roll on and the said coal deposits shrink with continual use without replenishment.

Steinmetz will be the greater in memory of man when the men of wealth, of politics and of other walks of life have sunk into the eternal dust of oblivion.

T-B

If Tut-Ankh-Amen had known 5,200 years ago what we now know about tuberculosis, he might have continued to ride through the streets of Thebes in that wonderful golden chariot for possibly fifty years more instead of being an untimely victim of a preventable disease. But tuberculosis is no respecter of persons. It takes high and low, rich and poor. And how the young King did hate to go, judging by the way he clung to his treasures even in death, in the hope of being reunited with them some time in another world!

If he had lived today, his doctors would have detected the first symptoms of the disease and ordered his Royal Highness to the simple life—back to nature rest, a rational diet, medical supervision, away from the fast pace of court life for a few months and back he would come with rosy cheeks and springy step feeling more like a king than ever.

But then, if they had known as much about tuberculosis 3,200 years ago as we do now, there wouldn't be much, if any tuberculosis now. This is shown in the remarkable decrease in the deaths from tuberculosis in the United States in the past twenty years since the strenuous fight against this disease was started by the National Tuberculosis Association. The number of deaths then was over 200,000 every year. It is now less than 100,000—cut more than one-half in twenty years!

One of the greatest contributing factors in bringing this about is the little Christmas Seals which are distributed every year in December, giving every man, woman and child a chance to help fight disease and promote health in their own community.

Rev. R. A. Stewart left Friday for Hamlin where he will conduct quarterly conference with the Methodist Church, Saturday and Sunday.

limited number of systems. The delegation, headed by Porter A. Whaley of Stamford, Texas, suggested to the commission chairman that operation of the Orient in connection with either the Rock Island, the Burlington, the Santa Fe or the Southern Pacific would furnish it facilities and business that would insure it being a going concern. Correspondence and documents were placed before Chairman Meyer from many points in Texas showing that if the consolidation was brought about with a major rail line, that the Orient could be made to pay.

The delegation pointed out that as the commission was to conduct its final hearing of the consolidation matter on Nov. 16, the suggestion could then be considered with a view to aiding the Orient in reaching a port of financial and commercial safety, and if the consolidation scheme outlined in the Ech-Cummings act is not carried out, the Orient might be attached to one of the stronger systems in a voluntary arrangement.

It is understood that negotiations have been made looking to such a consolidation, but information touching such arrangements was withheld in all quarters. Numbers of communications have reached here from business and financial circles along the Orient urging an arrangement with the Southern Pacific.

The West Texas delegation here presenting the matter included: Porter A. Whaley, Stamford; A. B. Spencer, Crosbyton; W. M. Massie and Charles Wheeler, Fort Worth; H. M. Baines, Alpine; William Casebeer, Ft. Stockton; C. C. Kirkpatrick, San Angelo; Rufus Wright and R. M. Chitwood, Sweetwater.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Baked Brown Bread
 4 cups sifted Graham flour
 1 cup bread flour
 2 level teaspoons baking powder
 1-2 teaspoon of soda
 1-2 cup of brown sugar
 1-2 cup molasses
 2 cups sour milk
 2 tablespoons sour cream
 Sift flour once, then measure, add baking powder and soda, and sift three times. Rub sugar and molasses until smooth, then add milk, cream, and well beaten egg, then add flour and pour into a well greased pan, let stand for two hours, then bake in moderate oven 1 hour. This makes one large or two small loaves.

Boston Brown Bread
 1 cup of Graham flour
 1 teaspoon of salt
 1/4 cup of molasses
 1-3/4 cups of milk
 1-1/2 cups of sifted flour
 4 level teaspoons baking powder
 1 cup of Indian meal
 Measure the meal and flour after sifting. Add salt and baking powder and sift three times. Add molasses and milk. Turn into a well buttered steamer and steam 3-1/2 hours. The water must boil constantly during the cooking.

Brown Bread
 1 cup of milk
 3-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1-2 cup raisins, cut and dredged in flour
 4 cups entire wheat flour
 3 tablespoons melted butter
 3-4 cup of water
 1 egg
 1-4 cup chopped nuts (if desired)
 Melt the butter, add sugar, beating egg and mix well, add liquids gradually. Mix the dry ingredients and add gradually to first mixture. Add raisins and nuts, and bake in buttered tins 40 to 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Light Bread
 4 cups flour
 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
 1-1/2 level teaspoons lard
 6 level teaspoons baking powder
 2 cups of milk
 Sift baking powder, flour and salt together. Add milk and melted fat and mix. Work into loaves, pan and bake in hot oven 39 minutes. Graham flour may be used instead of white flour.

Colonial Bread
 3 cups sifted flour
 3 level teaspoons baking powder
 1 level teaspoon salt
 1 mixing spoon sugar
 1-1/2 cups sweet milk
 1-2 cup chopped nuts
 1-2 cup chopped raisins
 Sift flour, baking powder and salt together three times, add other ingredients and mix thoroughly with a spatula or the rounding side of mixing spoon. Put in ungreased pan and bake one hour in slow oven. It makes much better bread if baked in round corrugated pans.

Corn Bread
 2 cups yellow cornmeal
 4 level teaspoons baking powder
 3 eggs
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 2 cups flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 pint of milk
 1-2 cup boiling water
 Pour boiling water over cornmeal, and let it cool; sift flour together with baking powder and salt. Beat yolks of eggs until they are light, then add them to cornmeal and then add milk, flour and melted butter, beat to a smooth batter and beat white of eggs to a stiff froth. Add the latter to your mixture, stirring it in quickly. Pour all into a shallow, well greased pan and bake in a hot oven 25 minutes.

Nut Bread
 1-1/2 cups sifted white flour
 1-1/2 cups sifted whole wheat flour
 1-2 cup chopped nut meats
 1 level teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons sugar
 1-3/4 cups sweet milk
 3 level teaspoons baking powder
 Mix and bake the same as Colonial Bread.

Raisin Bread
 Same as for Light Bread, but add: 1-3 cup sugar
 1 cup raisins
 Add sugar with flour and add raisins when partly mixed.

Steam Graham Bread
 3 cups Graham flour
 1 cup bread flour
 4 level teaspoons baking powder.
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 cup molasses
 2 1-2 cups of milk.
 Mix as Boston Brown Bread and steam 4 hours.

Baking Powder Biscuit Dough
 The secret of making light biscuits is found in four facts:
 1. Use good baking powder.
 2. To "cut in" the shortening. Less air is squeezed or pressed out of sifted mixture as when fingers are used. Also when shortening is melted from heat of fingers, more flour is worked into dough, thus toughening it.
 3. To add just enough liquid to make a soft dough, and mix it lightly and just enough to combine the flour and liquid. Handling after that toughens.
 4. To have the oven hot enough. If cooked in too slow an oven the gas will escape before it has done its work.
 Anyone can make good biscuit dough by following the principles that govern its production: 1st. A very soft dough. 2nd. Very light handling. 3rd. A hot oven. 4th Good baking powder. Furthermore, the dough should be kept cool, and cold water or milk should be used. The hand should come in contact with the dough as little as possible. While kneading is good for yeast bread, it is death to baking powder dough. A stiff baking powder dough, worked hard, will make poor, soggy biscuits, and conversely, a soft dough, handled lightly, will make light, palatable ones.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER
Medical Virtues Retained And Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime will swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite.

annual convention and road show. The 1924 convention and show will be held in Chicago, the convention at the Congress Hotel and the show at the Coliseum from January 14th to 18th inclusive.

The sessions of the convention will be open to men identified with and interested in highway work and will attract men from every part of the country. At the show in the Coliseum, all of the latest and approved appliances for road construction will be on exhibition. The officers of the Association are: President, Frank Page; Secretary, E. A. Birchland, and Treasurer James H. MacDonald. The members of the Executive Committee are: Chairman, Frank Page; S. T. Henry, James H. MacDonald, Wm. R. Smith and T. J. Wasser. The need for road construction at so rapid a rate as 40,000 or more miles a year is emphasized by Mr. MacDonald who says that highway building should be continued as fast as the physical limitations of labor and material will permit. The longer the job is delayed, the greater will be the ultimate cost to the people. The reason is that the traffic on the main roads has now become so heavy that the excessive cost of operating motor vehicles over bad roads outweighs the cost of constructing good ones. Referring to one of the more heavily traveled roads of the country—the Boston Post Road from New York to Boston—Mr. MacDonald shows that if the road were a dirt road instead of a paved road, as it is, the greater cost of the motor truck traffic alone would pay for a paved surface in about 11 years. If the tremendous passenger car traffic were considered, the operating saving would pay the construction cost in a much shorter period.

To illustrate the pressing need for all possible speed in the improvement of roads, Mr. MacDonald cited the tremendous growth of motor vehicle registration. By July 1st of the year, the number of motor vehicles traveling the highways had increased to more than thirteen million, as compared with 1,711,329 in 1914. How directly the highway touches the lives of all the people is shown by the fact that there is now more than one motor vehicle for each 19 people. By just a little crowding the whole population could be taken for a ride at one time.

The Federal Aid highway system which will shortly be approved in its entirety is indicative of the determination of the American people to have a highway system consistent with the demands of the traffic. The system will include nearly 180,000 miles of the most important roads of the United States, so located as to form a complete network of main interstate and intercounty roads. When completed, it will tie together practically every city, and town of 5000 population or greater, and a 10 mile zone on each side of the roads will include the home of 90 per cent of the people. To encourage the early completion of this system, all Federal appropriations will hereafter be spent only on roads which form a part of the system.

HALLOWE'EN

While Halloween has been given a religious significance as the eve of all Saints Day, in practice it partakes of something contrary to what we would expect of saints. In fact, in celebration of it we follow far more nearly the ancient pagan methods than those of a Christian people, which may be taken as evidence that, despite our boast our veneer is thin and paganism lies near the surface.

It was an old-time belief that Halloween was the date when ghosts and witches were most likely to roam a broad. This seems to be true still, as exhibitions this year doubtless will again prove. Though we may deny belief in supernatural manifestations, that we still delight to assume grotesque forms and indulge in fantastic performances affords evidence of the slow process of eliminating superstitions. We may disavow faith in the incantations and magical formulas associated with the form celebration of Halloween, but that large numbers still adhere to them even in sport proves the firmness of the grip. We do not regard omens as significant, yet that we think of them when favorable or otherwise shows that we are not entirely free from veneration of portents.

Of course it is childhood and youth to which Halloween is especially pleasing. Pranks which at any other time would be taboo may be played then with justification, provided the perpetrators be not caught. What the Mardi Gras is to the French and the Fiesta to the Spanish Halloween in some measure is to Anglo-Saxons. It is a reversion from sober orderly life, to a night—tending now to lengthen to a season of gaiety and foolishness.

Perhaps it is well that we do have a date when those who wish may be silly without bringing censure on themselves. At any rate Halloween is celebrated even if it is not sensible and will continue to be observed, doubtless, because it is a custom of thousands of years. Observance may be altered but it not likely to be abandoned. Custom has far more force than law.

LLOYD GEORGE COMING BACK

nized by Lloyd George. In one of his American speeches Lord Birkenhead described Lloyd George as the greatest living Englishman, despite the fact that they are political opponents, under normal conditions of politics.

A union of forces between Lord Birkenhead and Lloyd George is a possibility of the near future, which might restore the latter to power. Lord Birkenhead would undoubtedly be willing to serve again as Lord Chancellor under Lloyd George. Such a combination, however, could be brought about only by the formation of a new coalition ministry of liberals and conservatives. But that seems the most feasible way of getting rid of Stanley Baldwin, and of recovering Great Britain's prestige abroad.

PLAN FOR BOYS

Colorado and Big Spring Organize Forces For Boy Scout Financial Drive in This District

E. E. Voss and Robroy Price, Boy Scout Field Men have returned from a trip to Colorado and Big Spring relative to the financing of the Boy Scout campaign in those two sections of the Five County Boy Scout Council organized in this District last spring by representative men in the various towns.

They report much enthusiasm among the various organizations who are interested in the work.

At Big Spring a committee composed of Earl Phillips, Charles Holmes, W. W. Rix, E. E. Fahrenkamp, J. N. Manuel, Henry McDaniels, W. W. Dubberly, Robt. Finer and other representative men of the city was appointed. They enthusiastically accepted the invitation of the other four counties of the district to annex Howard County to the Council. Big Spring has accepted a quota of $1500 for Howard County and the campaign will be launched simultaneously with those of other towns in the district next week.

At Colorado C. A. Adams, W. M. Elliott, C. B. Crockett, John Porter, John Cooper, Dr. J. C. Coleman, and others organized a campaign committee and are calling on the Lions Club for soliciting committees to raise $1200 in Colorado and Lorraine.

Blackwell has already raised its quota of $200 in Nolan County and Curry County has underwritten its quota of $1200 for Snyder and Hornleigh. A local committee will be named in Sweetwater and after an intensive campaign, the drive for funds will be launched here next week. The committee plans to raise $2500 in Sweetwater. These funds are to provide for a Boy Scout executive to live within the district and to devote his entire time to the work, organizing troops and training leadership, handle Courts of Honor, camps, rallies, meets and demonstrations within the District.

The Daily News believes that the city commission will please the majority of Amarillo people if it grants the Board of City Development $500 to $1,000 additional for a few months to carry on an aggressive cotton campaign for this trade territory. Experience has shown that the taxation method is the fairest yet devised for the carrying forward of chamber of commerce work. Amarillo people have been pleased with the tax supported Board of City Development, and believe that the funds should be increased as the importance of the work increases. The city charter provides that two mills may be set aside for the Board of City Development by the commission. Such an appropriation would bring the funds between $1,500 and $5,000 a month, but the commission has never been asked to set aside money anywhere near that total. Plainview is raising $5,000 for publicity work alone. That is a large sum for that city, but it shows that publicity to a country is essential for its development and that the chamber of commerce realizes its importance. —Amarillo News.
