Special to The Reporter.

AUSTIN, Texas, September 4.-The Klan has been removed from control of Texas Democratic party | 11AL machinery.

the party councils for years have returned to positions of honor, if not of power, while leaders of other days, divided on issues of the past, have buried their differences.

These are the outstanding features of the Democratic State Convention at ustin which came to a close Wednesday morning.

The Klan was hopelessly in the minority as the result of the August primary. Nevertheless, Z. E. Marvin and other Klan leaders went down to Love, astute politician that he is, read Adams, bitter opponent of the Klan moment. whose speech of arraignment of that organization was perhaps the most prepared to defend their nationales if scathing of them all, was named National committeeman. The plank in the platform endorsing law enforcement during the administration of Governor Neff was more in the nature of a slam at the Klan over the Governor's shoulder than a tribute to him personally.

The platform was to a large extent dictated by former Governor Ferguson and the denunciation of the Klan met with the vigorous approval of the majority of the delegates present. The cyclone did blow the feathers off the chickens, the mayor replied after investigation.

One old-timer told of a rooster from which all feathers were blown. Some of the feathers, he added, were blown into a grindstone, and straws were blown into trees. The latter incident was explained, however, by the fact that the twisting action of the wind stones so that the feathers and straws blew naturally into the crevices.

Recognition of Subjects Taught More Desired Than New Subjects-Home Economics Added.

Vacation days are nearly at an end for students in the Sweetwater schools, and Monday morning, September 8, the official day for the opening of the 1924-25 school term, they will report to their various schools and be enrolled and classified.

There will be no formal opening of the schools, Superintendent B. H. Mc-Lain stated, but the work of the first day will be disposed of as rapidly as possible in a purely business session.

The Superintendent has asked all the teachers to meet at the High School building Saturday morning at "An additional room and one more teacher have been added to each of the ward schools this year," Superintendent McLain said. "Each ward school will also have a fully equipped auditorium. In the high school, efforts will be directed toward securing recognition in all subjects taught, rather than adding new subjects, although home economics will be added this year, and manual training will be taught again next year."

Tuition at the high school will be $5, and at the ward schools, $3. Pupils transferred will be given credit for state money transferred. No "unders" will be accepted for the school term unless they will be seven year old January 1.

Superintendent McLain urged parents to see that their children attended the proper school, and did not go into another district, thus saving trouble for the teathers and embarrassment for the students.

TALKATIVE

A clothing salesman recently admitted that he was too talkative. On a hot afternoon late in August, a customer entered his store and asked to look at a fall suit.

"Rather warm for fall stuff, but we have our advance stock in," he remarked as he started to display his newest goods. His remark killed the sale, as far as this particular prospect was concerned.

"It's not only warm, it's hot," the customer replied. "In fact," he added as he walked out the door, "I believe it is too hot for me to buy anything today. Goodby."

The salesman was probably one of the many unfortunate persons who say the wrong thing at the right time, or the right thing at the wrong time, or something all the time. The first two classes may be pitied, and the third both pitied and censured, although many persons recommend gagging as a more commendable pro-

Many contend that most persons talk too much. It is a recognized fact that the great majority of those who chatter do so to their detriment. Even the dumbest of humans like to squeeze while, and are not particular whether it gets in side ways or backwards.

Power of speech is one of the most abused gifts of nature. Properly de- Takes Post Graduate Work in Naveloped, it becomes an invaluable as set to success. A clear and simple expression of one's thoughts is essential and sufficient. The brilliant conversationalist is not usually "long winded," nor does he attempt to turn a conversation into a lecture. This is conceded to the juggler of words and the self wincing human phonograph who doesn't need a horn.

Nature has accorded speech and action with thought. When the last of the trio is omitted, results - are far from encouraging.
