

Star Lites

By Bill Ellis

JUST ABOUT THE time you think you've heard it all: sure enough, you haven't!

Guess what the federal government (at least its agency) classifies as an air pollutant? None other than the smell given off at bakeries of the delightful loaves of bread they are producing.

It seems that according to the Environmental Protection Agency, when bread bakes, it releases ethanol, which is classified as a volatile organic compound, but a non-toxic one. Ethanol released into the air in this process contributes to the creation of ozone, with which some large cities have a problem.

The experts have admitted that the bakeries' creation of ozone, compared for instance, to automobiles, would be like a fly in the Astrodome.

According to Gene Hall, public relations director for Farm Bureau, the DPA's order to the bakeries would cost Mrs. Baird's, one of the state's largest bakeries, $4.5 million to install the equipment, plus an additional $2.5 million annually to maintain.

"Perhaps Mrs. Baird's can absorb this without serious damage to its bottom line. Maybe it won't have to lay anyone off or raise the price of bread. Maybe it won't have any effect on new jobs that the company might have created. Maybe pigs can fly!" Hall says.

This is just a small window on the process of government. Create an army of regulators, and you can expect them to regulate. Make sure that no cost-benefit analysis is done and the regulators won't care about the cost. Multiply this times hundreds of situations and you begin to see how regulations are strangling the economy.

Such organizations as LULAC and TRLA (Texas Rural Legal Aid) use tax moneys to bring lawsuits against entities such as schools, cities, counties, and even businesses and individuals, in many cases costing taxpayers additional thousands (or millions) of dollars, as they have locally.

These organizations attempt to use the legal system to gain IMMEDIATELY what the minority leaders feel they should have in rights and representation, rather than working through the system, as have other minority groups throughout history.

In spite of the fact that they caused the thousands of dollars of expense locally (which went to fatten the pockets of downstate law firms), LULAC is still going to have to work through the system to achieve its goals, despite being given the advantage of the compound voting rule in some cases.

This is in addition to the fact that the episode has caused a friction between the races locally that need not have happened.

The City of Bovina originally was included in the lawsuits by LULAC, but that suit was dismissed after it was pointed out in court that Bovina had Hispanic members of their city council. And a current Hispanic member, Joe Olvera, was re-elected last Saturday, on the regular voting method.

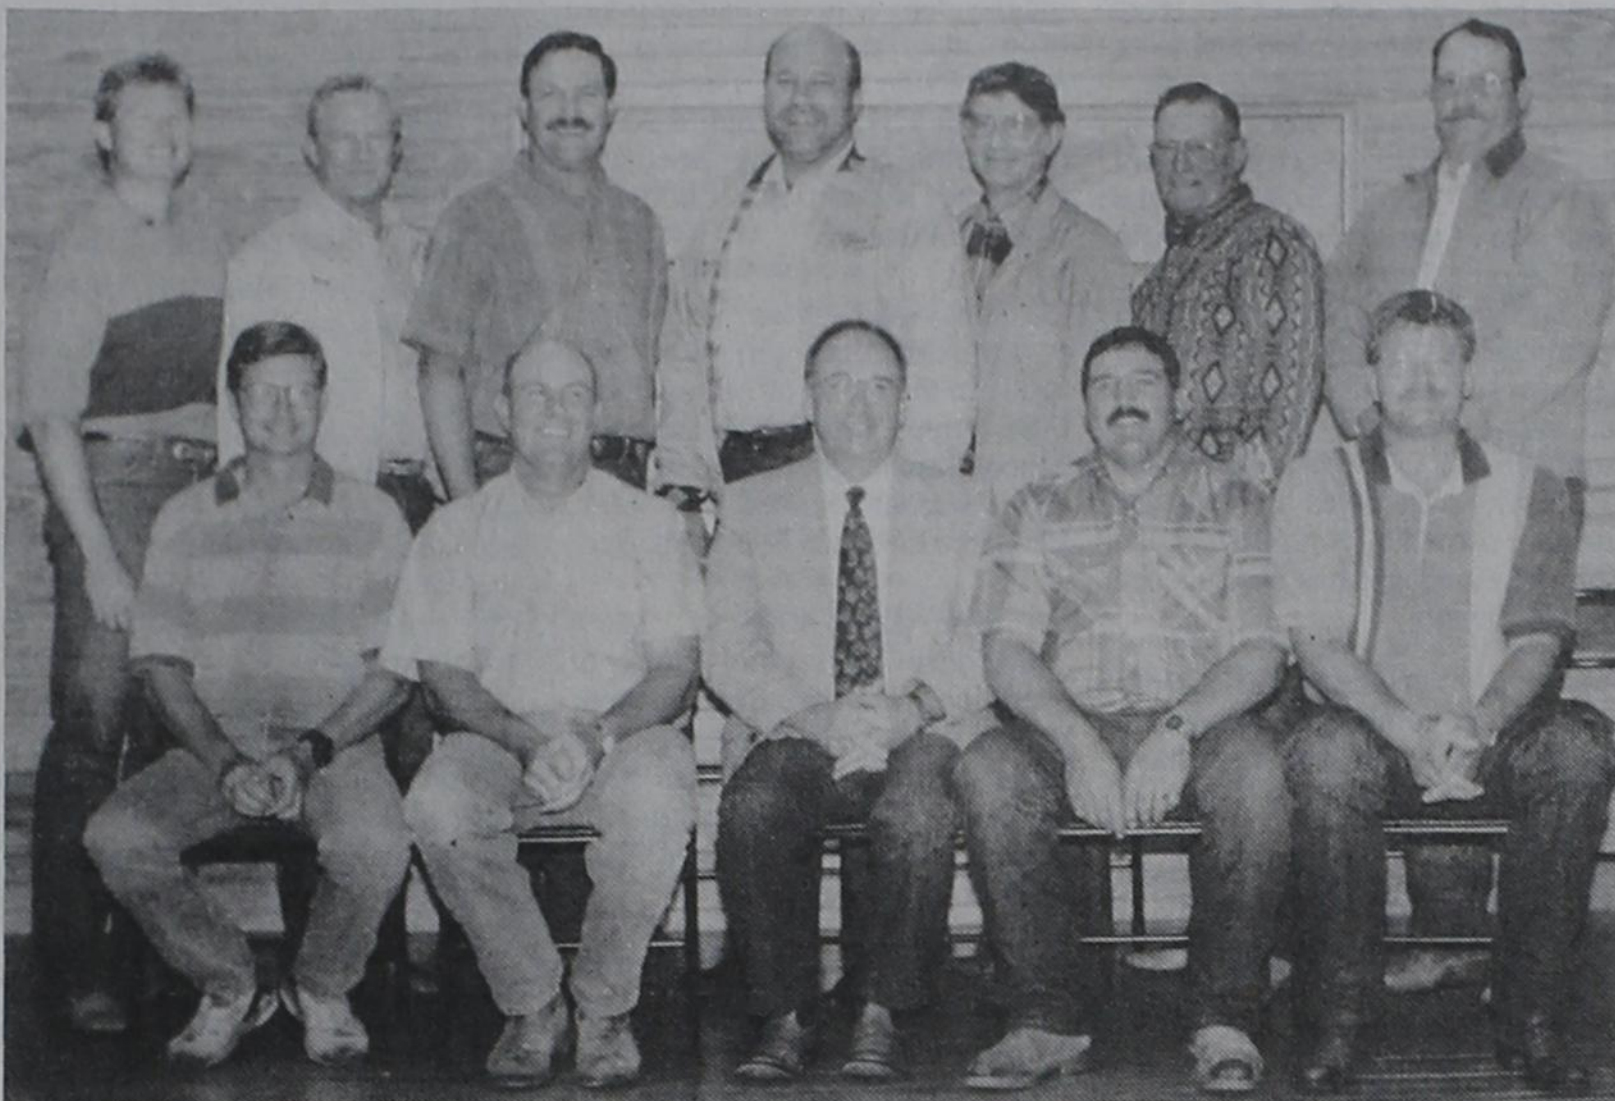

This underscores what we have believed all along; that if qualified Hispanic candidates come forward, they can be elected.

We have lost so many of our freedoms due to government bureaucracy and over-regulation by these organizations that hide behind a group of letters.

Perhaps we need one more group, the TAGS. (Taxpayers Against Government Stupidity, or Spending, if you'd rather.)

They're always talking about taxes in Washington, and wondering where they could cut some of their expenses. We have suggested two or three starting places here, and there are many, many others.

Texas Farm Bureau Pres. Honored In Parmer Co.

Bob Stallman, president of the Texas Farm Bureau was honored in Friona and Parmer County on Tuesday, May 10.

The day began with breakfast at Headquarter's Restaurant. Mr. Stallman was the special guest at the Parmer County Farm Bureau board of directors regular meeting. The group then visited and toured three of Parmer County's Agricultural businesses. They toured Excel Corporation, Hi-Pro Feeds, and Paco Feed Yard.

The day ended with a luncheon at noon at the old Depot at the City Park in Friona. Thirty-two people were present. The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce greeted everyone as they came in. Bob Stallman was presented by Teresa Buske, executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce with a folder of various facts about Friona as a momento.

Mr. Stallman thanked everyone and said the day was "very enjoyable and informative and it was a pleasure to be in Parmer County."

Stallman has been a champion for the farmer and for better agriculture prices. He speaks out against such things as federal regulations, embargoes, tariffs, trade sanctions and other actions. The Texas Farm Bureau organization is a farmers organization working for the benefit of the farmer. It must not be confused with the Farm Bureau Insurance companies. The insurance division is only a part of the state Farm Bureau organization.

Gene Schueler is president of the board of directors of the Parmer County Farm Bureau. Mark Williams is vice-president and Kevin Welch is secretary.

Other board members include Charles Myers, Jr., Noel White, Mike Ware, Vic Christian, Floyd Reeve, Don Gerries, Fred Cook, Clay Mimms and Alan Monroe.

Lifeguarding Class Is Scheduled

During the past 25 years, aquatics has become one of Americans' most popular recreational activities. The number of residential, private, and public pools; health spas; state parks; water parks; campgrounds with swimming facilities; and public beaches has increased steadily. More people are engaging in activities in, on, under, and around the water. Properly trained people are needed to supervise and guard these activities.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold two lifeguarding classes this month. A class will begin Sunday, May 15 at 2:00 at the Ruskins Pool in Dimmitt. This class will meet in the evenings and on Saturday.

The other class will begin Saturday, May 14 at the City Pool in Friona. To register for either of these classes or for further information, please call the Red Cross office, the telephone number is 364-3761 or come by the office at 224 South Main Street in Hereford.

Area Gets Some Good Rainfall

The Friona area received some much-needed rainfall during the past week, and all of the rainfall that fell in the local area was beneficial, slow and soaking in nature.

The official Friona gauge had registered .75 inches as of 9 p.m. Thursday. This was broken down as follows: .04 inches the morning of Tuesday, May 10; another .45 inches between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday, and another .26 inches during the day on Thursday.

Friona area residents didn't get a clear view of the solar eclipse, as it was rainy and overcast during the event. But at mid-day Tuesday, it appeared much as if the sun had set, being very dark and dreary-looking. The eclipse was well-covered on TV, however.

Friona Bands To Present Concert

Friona Junior High School Bands will present their final concert of the year on Thursday, May 19 at 7:30 p.m. The concert scheduled to be presented in the Junior High School Auditorium will feature a wide variety of musical styles.

Among lighter musical selections such as Rock in the U.S.A., I Will Follow Him, and Highlights from Aladdin, the Advanced Band will perform contest selections they recently presented at the Floydada Music Festival at which they received a first division in both concert and sight-reading.

Other highlights of the evening will include special recognition of students in the Junior High School Advanced Band who have qualified for the Wall of Honor award.

For a small charge of $1.00 for adults or children of school age, the program promises to be very entertaining. The public is encouraged to come out, enjoy, and support the band students of Friona Junior High, and Elementary School.

Members Named To Three Boards

Voters named representatives to the Friona City Council, to the F.I.S.D. board of directors and to the Parmer County Hospital District board during last Saturday's (May 7) election.

Clarence Monroe was re-elected as Friona's mayor, with 419 votes to 51 for Vicente Soto. Tom Randolph (468 votes) and Jim Atwell (444 votes) were re-elected to the council.

Incumbent Mickey Harrelson was re-elected to the school board with 410 votes, and challengers Donny Carthel (500 votes) and Rick Carr (481 votes) were elected. Another incumbent, Butch Preston, finished fourth with 349 votes.

In the hospital board election, Dr. Dale Schueler received 706 votes; Anne Corn 655 votes and Dennis Anthony 621 votes, to all be re-elected.

Paul "Lucky" Gonzales, Jr. turned out to be the best vote-getter among the Hispanic candidates, with 169 in the school race, where he finished fifth. Soto's 51 votes for Mayor and Arthur Cabrera's 58 votes in the school race were better indications of the success that Lulac had in getting out their voters.

City Sets Curfew For Local Teens

The Friona City Council passed an ordinance this past Monday night establishing a curfew for youngsters 17 and under.

On school nights (Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday), all youngsters must be at home by 11 p.m. On Friday and Saturday nights, the curfew is extended to midnight.

Those found in violation of the law can be fined $500, and the parents will receive the citation.

"We are mainly attempting to protect the youngsters as well as other citizens," said Paula Wilson, Friona City Manager. She cited the incidence of formations of "gangs" beginning with the junior high age group, some of whom have been observed roaming around the streets late at night.

Some exceptions to the curfew will be allowed, such as if a youngster is employed and gets off late at night; if they are sent out from home for an emergency situation, or if they are on a church or school-sponsored event. In the latter case, when the event is over, or the group has returned to Friona, the youngsters will be expected to go directly home.

Mrs. Wilson said that the new ordinance went into effect this week, and that "warning" citations would be given out until about June 1, when they would be replaced by the "real thing."

The ordinance will be reviewed after six months, to see how effective it has been.

A number of cities have adopted and are trying the curfew system, such as Dimmitt and Plainview in this area, as well as cities as large as Dallas. The Dallas ordinance has even been tested in court, and was upheld.

Chamber Accepts Donations

The graduation committee of Friona will be accepting donations to the 1994 drug-alcohol free senior party until May 20.

The event is held annually following high school graduation in an effort to entertain the graduating class following commencement ceremonies.

Donations are needed to help with the expenses involved in purchasing prizes that are given away at the party. Please take contributions to the Chamber of Commerce office by May 20.

Free Clinic Is Slated

Certified specialists will be working with children at this clinic which is to be held at the Friona Elementary School Library, May 16, 1994 from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

If you are concerned about your child's growth and development, bring your child to this clinic. If you need additional information, call Sue Beene, Director of Special Education at 247-3315.

Happy Homemaker

By JUNE FLOYD

In the fall of 1965, Estelle Caffey was teaching home economics and sponsoring Future Homemakers of America in Friona High School.

A money making project sponsored by one of the cooking classes was a Tasting Bee. Each member of the class was required to prepare one dish for the bee and furnish the recipe which she had used to prepare it.

These recipes were typed and combined to make a cookbook with the title "F.H. Cookin'." Since copying machines were unknown at this time, the sheets were mimeographed and stapled together. We're taking our recipes from this publication.

Calf Project Is Educational For 4-H Youngsters

Parmer County youngsters ages 5-12 are invited to participate in the 1994 4-H Bucket Calf Project, according to Gary Patterson, Parmer County Extension Agent.

Youth will learn to care for calves from a few days up to four months of age. They will attend monthly weigh-days through the summer when calves weight gains will be monitored.

A program will be presented at each weigh day on a variety of topics ranging from animal health and disease prevention to nutrition and feeding. The project ends with the annual bucket calf show held in August. Project participants will maintain simple records of their project, as well.

"This project was developed to minimize competition and maximize the learning opportunities," said Patterson. "Our goal is to get as many kids as possible exposed to the value of caring for an animal project. The daily care for a calf helps teach young people responsibility. This has been a tremendous project."

Guidelines for the project are simple. Calves are bought during May or early June. Calves need to be started on a milk replacer then gradually weaned to feed. Records are kept on the expenses of the project. All participants will receive awards at the completion of the project.

If you are interested in the bucket calf project or need more details, contact the Parmer County Extension Office at 481-3619.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A MAN CALLED "BELOVED"

ONE OF THE MEANINGS OF THE NAME DAVID IS "BELOVED." THE SON OF JESSE WAS THE SECOND KING OF ISRAEL. HE WAS THE YOUNGEST OF EIGHT BROTHERS (I SAMUEL 16:10-11; 17:12-14). MANY OF THE GOOD TRAITS IN DAVID'S CHARACTER WERE, NO DOUBT, INFLUENCED BY HIS MOTHER, WHO WAS KNOWN FOR HER GODLINESS. SOME OF THE PSALMS THAT DAVID WROTE WERE IN REMEMBRANCE OF HIS MOTHER'S DEVOUTNESS. (PSALMS 86:16; 116:16) DAVID'S ANCESTRAL HISTORY WAS PICTURESQUE AND INSPIRING ALTHOUGH, AT TIMES TAINTED BY SINFUL ACTS. (GEN. 37:26-27, 38) IN PERSON, DAVID WAS RUDDY AND BEAUTIFUL TO LOOK UPON AND AS THE YOUNGEST SON, HE WAS CHARGED WITH THE DUTY AND CARE OF HIS FATHER'S SHEEP. HIS DISPLAY OF COURAGE IN THIS OCCUPATION, BY SLAYING BOTH A LION AND A BEAR WHICH ATTACKED THE FLOCKS, POINTED UP HIS GREAT BRAVERY. HE WAS ALSO POSSESSED OF MUSICAL GIFTS OF THE HIGHEST ORDER AND HE PLAYED SKILLFULLY ON THE LYRE AND WAS VERY ADEPT AT COMPOSING PSALMS. THESE NATURAL GIFTS WOULD CERTAINLY STAND HIM IN GOOD STEAD WHEN DESTINY BROUGHT HIM TO THE THRONE OF ISRAEL!

Reeve Visits D.C. With Farm Group

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Some 22 agricultural leaders from across the state visited Congressmen and government officials here recently as part of a fact-finding mission on the upcoming 1995 Farm Bill debate on behalf of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Floyd Reeve of Friona was one of 13 agricultural producers, who represent every region of Texas, on the state's largest general farm organization's Farm Bill Advisory Committee. The committee was accompanied on the Washington, D.C. trip by the TFB Board of Directors.

As Congress develops plans for the 1995 Farm Bill, one overriding concern will be budget factors, Reeve said. Farm program spending has been cut an average of 9 per cent in each of the last four years. It has fallen from a high of $25 billion in 1986 to a low of $9 billion last year.

Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, Senate minority leader, told the group it was too early in the legislative process to tell what the budget for farm program spending would be. Other estimates during the three-day Washington trip ranged from $6 to $12 billion budgeted for farm programs.

House Ag Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas) told the committee to develop a wish list for the '95 Farm Bill. But he also warned them to be realistic.

"Everything is budget driven," he said. "We may have to revamp the whole thing."

After hearing the different views, Floyd expressed "cautious optimism" among the committee members.

"I believe, however, that we may be able to constructively design a program that will work for Texas farmers and ranchers," he said. "And maybe there will be enough budget to make it work."

U. S. Representative Charles Stenholm (D-Texas) told the group that coalition building will be vital to agriculture in the upcoming debate.

He said one ally might be environmental groups. Another ally might be consumer groups, especially those with an interest in the quantity of food.

"Somehow, in the debate, we have to enlist the support of those in the hunger and nutrition community to be with producers, so we can continue to have a blessing of an abundance of quantity, and at the same time, deal with the quality and safety side of the equation," Stenholm said.

The group also met with Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison (R-Texas), U. S. Representative Bill Sarpalius (D-Texas) and U. S. Representative Pat Roberts (R-Kansas). Following three days in Washington, the group flew to Dekalb, Illinois, where they held a meeting with Illinois Farm Bureau members and the Illinois Farm Bureau Board.

"I think our committee has been stimulated, for sure, by all the information we've been exposed to. We're anxious to get back home and go to work, formulating what we'd like to see in a farm program," Reeve concluded.

ANGIE BAUTISTA and MARCUS AMBRIZ... Alex and Martha Bautista of Dickinson, Texas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Angie, to Marcus Ambriz, also of Dickinson. The couple will exchange wedding vows Saturday, July 23 at 3 p.m. in the True Cross Catholic Church. The bride-elect is a 1991 graduate of Friona High School.

Did You Know?

By GEORGE RUSHING

This is taken from a speech by Abraham Lincoln poking fun at himself and opponent, Lewis Cass, July 27, 1848. Referring to their military backgrounds Lincoln said, "It is quite certain I did not break my sword, for I had none to break; but I bent a musket pretty badly on one occasion. If Cass broke his sword, the idea is, he broke it in desperation; I bent the musket by accident. If he saw any live, fighting Indians, it was more than I did; but I had a good many bloody struggles with the mosquitos; and although I never fainted from loss of blood, I can truly say I was often very hungry."

Having exhausted myself on the Mother's Day article, I will be brief on this and share some wit and wisdom from Abraham Lincoln.

Prior to and during the Civil War, there were those who argued that slavery was good. Abraham Lincoln responded by saying, "As a good thing, slavery is strikingly peculiar in this, that it is the only good thing which no man ever seeks the good of for himself."

On another occasion he said,

"While I have often said that all men ought to be free, yet I would allow those colored persons to be slaves who want to be; and next to them those white persons who argue in favor of making other people slaves. I am in favor of giving an opportunity to such white men to try it on for themselves."

Lincoln described a certain lawyer in these words, "He can compress the most words into the smallest ideas of any man I ever saw."

At the funeral of a pompous officer Lincoln said: If the general had known he'd get a funeral like this, he'd have died far sooner."

You know, If Christ be your Savior, then we should be some of the happiest people on earth. Looking at what's happening from the outside can be depressing, but I see the Lord's hand moving in our nation today and that encourages me. Proverbs 17:22 "A joyful heart doeth good like a medicine." Psalms 144:15 "Happy is that people whose God is the Lord."

Modern Study Club Met Here April 19

The Modern Study Club held their meeting on April 19. The meeting opened with the pledge to the United States flag. President Sandra Turner read a poem, "Life's Wonders," by Garnett Shultz.

Sandra asked the club members to put a nickel in the piggy bank for each way they conserve water or any other resource.

Roll call for the evening was, "I heard this funny story....". Nineteen members responded.

Nellie Shelton, program director, introduced the music for the evening presented by Eva Miller and Donna Mears. Eva and Donna led the club in a sing-a-long. The club sang "I Can't Help It," "I Love You Because," "Your Cheatin' Heart," and "Why Don't You Love Me?"

Nellie then introduced herself as the program for the evening. She told of the many problems she had encountered, first with the outlined program; the soil conservation office, and then the library. After many trials she did get materials from the soil conservation office and the library. She read the cover page of the booklet from the library which stated it was printed in 1932! She entertained the club with many of the "up-to-date" facts. She also read bits and pieces from "What's So Good About Getting Old." "It was a fun program," reported Donna Mears, secretary.

Kathrine Blackburn led the club in the "collect."

The hostesses for the evening were Carmaleet Truitt and Allo Reeve.

Mutual Fund Prospectuses May Change

Before purchasing a mutual fund, an investor must be given a prospectus. The prospectus describes the history and background of the fund's managers, the fund's objectives, financial statement and other essential data. This requirement was established by the Investment Company Act of 1940, and it has prevailed virtually untouched since then.

However, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) is now considering streamlining the prospectus requirement to allow sellers of mutual funds to provide a summary prospectus rather than the traditional version. A summary prospectus would still have to include all key information about the mutual fund and would be subject to full prospectus liability under the Securities Act, but it would be written in a more concise, easy-to-read format than the traditional prospectus.

The Investment Company Institute (ICI), the national association of the mutual fund industry, strongly supports the SEC's proposal. Craig S. Tyle, vice president for securities matters at ICI, says the summary prospectus would make it easier for investors to assess and compare mutual funds while eliminating extra costs and delays. Investors would have the option of purchasing fund shares without waiting for a current prospectus. Buying mutual fund shares would become similar to buying bank and insurance products, which are not subject to any prospectus delivery requirements.

However, some trade associations believe the proposal is unfair. The Independent Bankers Association of America and the American Bankers Association says that because banks are required to disclose account fees, conditions on receipt of advertised yields and withdrawal penalties, mutual fund sellers also should be required to provide as much information.

According to Tyle, the investor protection provisions that apply to the banking industry are less stringent than those of the summary prospectus proposal. The only change that would be made under the SEC proposal would be to allow investors to purchase mutual funds without waiting for a prospectus—just like purchasers of bank products are allowed to do.

Whatever the outcome, there is no doubt that mutual fund representatives will still be required to give a prospectus to every investor. It is also clear that the prospectus will continue to provide all essential information. The only question seems to be whether the prospectus will have to be given to investors before they purchase mutual fund shares.

Modern Study Club Met Here Tuesday

The Tuesday, May 3, meeting of Modern Study Club at Friona Woman's Federated Club House began with Sandra Turner, president, conducting a business session.

Club members voted to send $25 to the Buff Morris Memorial Scholarship Fund at West Texas A&M University, Canyon. Estelle Caffey presented a federation report and Mrs. Turner read a poem, "Sunshine."

In keeping with the theme, "Texas Heritage/Historical Places and Things," roll call was answered with, "A unique place I have visited in Texas."

Donna Mears presented a program, "Texas Highways Lead to Out-of-the-way Places."

A guest, Merlene Orme, sang "Golden Years" and "Standing Knee Deep in A River."

During the social hour, the hostesses, Elizabeth Gore and Mary Lou Taylor, served refreshments to twenty-two members and guests. Merlene Orme, Emmeline Green and Dita Jubay.

YOUR EYES

Color Blindness

Fact: dogs may be color-blind, but people aren't. What we call "color-blind" is a genetically inherent color deficiency that makes it hard to recognize certain shades. The deficiency is more common in males, showing up in one man out of 12. Females are much less likely to have this fault; only one in 200 women do. There is no "cure."

In almost every case, the color-blind person sees the primary colors—red, blue and green—in incorrect proportions. Pastel shades are almost impossible for them to identify, and even bright color recognition may cause trouble in times of stress or fatigue. A few cannot see all three of the primary colors, so they have difficulty telling red from green or orange from purple.

The classic test for color-blindness presents letters or numbers in various shades of pink dots against a field of pale green dots of the same color intensity; the color-blind person cannot see the letters or numbers. In some case, filters or tinted contact lenses can help.
