NEW LONDON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Monarch and Century failed in their attempt to lift the S-51 today. The full lifting strength of the two giant cranes was applied but the submarine apparently did not budge.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 1. (AP)—Rescue work on the submarine S-51 is progressing as planned. Rear-Admiral H. H. Christie reported from the U. S. S. Camden in a message received at the submarine base today. The weather is favorable.

By The Associated Press. NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 1.—Efforts were renewed today to determine whether any of the men trapped in the submarine S-51 when she was sent to the bottom last Friday night by the steamship City of Rome, are still alive. The bodies of two of the 33 men who went down have already been brought up by divers. The seas have been usually rough and hampered the rescue work. But today operation will be resumed with hopes that the submersible crew is still alive. At their departure from the submarine base that was indication that conditions would be ideal for the first time.

Cranes to Shelter. The cranes, Monarch and Century, were forced to seek shelter at Newport and made an unsuccessful attempt yesterday. Lines have been beneath the S-51 ready to place on the derricks. Hope that any of the men aboard the submarine were still alive was abandoned yesterday by Rear-Admiral H. H. Christie, in charge of rescue operations, but acting under orders of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, he directed his forces to continue the operation to recover the bodies. The success of raising the submarine depends upon whether her coma ton to the acre as compared to a ton in 1924. The peanut crop is estimated to be 1,000,000 pounds shy. Broom corn prospects have improved and pean indications are for only 20 per cent of a full crop. "Peanuts have continued to deteriorate," Mr. Schultz said, "under the influence of the drought and the case bearer, an insect which attacks the nuts. Upland peanuts, particularly, have a small crop. Spotted conditions continue to exist everywhere, some trees being well loaded while others have none. Harvest in Uvalde county will start soon. In the San Angelo territory good rains are helping to mature a good quality of nut. The condition has fallen to 20 per cent of a full crop and unless the price offered is very attractive, shipments will be short."

NO HEARING HELD ON CASE OF CHIROS

ABILENE, Oct. 1. (AP)—Dr. Allison, a Fort Worth chiropractor has had no hearing in Federal court here on his motion for a rehearing of the dismissal proceedings on his injunction, against Attorney General Dan Moody and District Attorney Hanger, of Fort Worth. It is announced today. Federal Judge C. Wilson, however, has received a brief from Edwin Bolte, attorney for Allison, and reading the brief, told Bolte that he believed Allison not to have a definite remedy at law. Judge Wilson will hear both sides of the case, Saturday at Fort Worth.

Underwood Asks That South Be Represented. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 1. (AP)—Plan for representation of the south on the Interstate Commerce Commission was made by Senator Oscar W. Underwood, in an address, prepared for delivery today before the State Bank division of the American Bankers Association. ### "Ma" Asks Return Of W. J. B. Goodman

CHANGES MADE IN POWER OF U. S. SHIPPERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The broad powers delegated to the fleet corporation last year at the suggestion of President Coolidge were withdrawn today by the shipping board. By rescinding resolutions entrusting the corporation with extensive administrative powers, President Palmer will revert more to the position of an empowerer than an officer with independent powers over many of the details of the shipping administration. Referee Appointed. In an effort to settle the row between the board and President Palmer, a referee was appointed by President Coolidge to make recommendations as to action to be taken. The commissioners declared today their action would not run counter to the President's wish or interfere with the study of the referee H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland. Some commissioners who are opposed to Mr. Palmer, predicted the latter's resignation would be not acceptable, at least for the present. Commissioners Benson, Haney, Plummer and Thomas voted for the resolution stripping Mr. Palmer of his power. Mr. O'Connor did not vote, while commissioners Lassner and Hill were absent.

FIGURERS FIGURE ON BASEBALL'S FINALE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Three games separated the first second division clubs in the National League today, giving the Phillies the present tally, the mathematical possibility of climbing into sixth place by the close of the season of Sunday. Philadelphia's second straight triumph over the Robins yesterday, 6 to 4, kept Brooklyn from unseating the Braves from the fifth ranking. The Robins have won but two of their last seventeen contests. All the second division teams, with the exception of the Braves, have three more games to play, Boston has but two contests with Brooklyn on Saturday and Sunday. Should Fletcher's club win all of its remaining games, Chicago lose two, and the Robins three, the Phillies will come from the cellar into sixth position. Brooklyn and Chicago are in a position to take fifth place from the Braves mathematically. But one American League game was played yesterday, the Red Sox winning from a makeshift club of the Senators, 5 to 4. The end of the contest found but one Washington regular in the line-up. The World Champions continue with their series at Boston, while the Indians will cross bats with the White Sox and the Tigers battle with the Browns in their last series of the year.

GERMAN CAPTAIN CONTINUES IN HIS TESTIMONY BEFORE INQUIRERS; SAYS MITCHELL WRONG ON PART OF IDEAS

(By Associated Press.) LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 1.—Benjamin O. Hereth, a Shenandoah survivor, and James J. Work, chief draftsman at the air station here, were named today by Captain Anton Heinen, Zeppelin pilot, as the men who gave him the information upon which most of his testimony was based. The witness furnished the names on the direct order of the court, Rear-Admiral Jones, the President, demanding the names, since the men themselves had not come forward, demanding in withholding the names, yesterday, said he thought they should be permitted to volunteer the information.

Switching back to the weather, Rosen-dahl asked: "Do you consider it safe to fly through a thunderstorm?" "I certainly do not," Heinen returned. The witness said two courses were open at the time the danger signals were observed. First, by steering a course so the ship would stay without drift; second, to let the under circumstances drift to the left. "Was there any ping in the United States, except yourself, who could have saved the Shenandoah?" asked Rosen-dahl. "Yes, Commander Lansdowne for one," was the reply. Captain Heinen disagreed with Colonel William Mitchell that there should have been parachutes on the Shenandoah. "I would not permit any parachutes in an airship," he said with emphasis. It might modify that by saying I would not allow any of the present types to be placed aboard the ship."

ONLY FEW TEXAS COUNTIES WILL HAVE SURPLUS FEED CROPS THIS YEAR; MUCH WILL BE BROUGHT IN

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 30. (AP)—Only a few counties in Texas will have surplus feed to sell this year, H. H. Schutz, government statistician, said today. Counties other than those in the northwest, northeast, west center and extreme south will have barely enough for their own needs or hardly any at all. "Thousands of car loads of feed have been shipped in from other states," Mr. Schutz said. He advised farmers who do not have enough feed for their stock to obtain the names of those who have feed to sell from the county agricultural agent. "The recent heavy rains in the south have helped a large area which was badly in need of moisture," he said. "People generally have been patient under the severe drought conditions but they are praying for real winter weather." Of the individual crops, Mr. Schutz

SPORTSMEN WATCH WITH INTEREST OUTCOME OF CHICAGO CASE WHICH WILL DEFINE STATUS OF QUESTION

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. (Special.)—Who owns the bottom of a river? This question is of national importance to sportsmen and conservationists throughout the country, according to a report issued this morning by the Inland Water League of America with headquarters here.

If the decision now pending in the courts of Michigan determines that riparian rights on a river include the privilege of excluding all trespassers, the average American fisherman might as well discard his rods and tackle box and the state might as well destroy its hatcheries, the report states.

Frank Collins, wealthy Toledo, Ohio business man, owns 1,500 acres of land along the banks of the Pine river in Lake county, Michigan.

Geddon Gerhardt, a local sportsman, is charged by Collins with having trespassed on his property. Gerhardt, it has been brought out in the trial, fished in a section of the Pine river where property owned by Collins formed the banks on both sides.

Gerhardt was arrested. A justice court decision was given in his favor. Collins appealed the case and intends to continue to appeal it until it reaches the United States Supreme Court. Sportsmen of Michigan, members of the state division of the Inland Water League, are collecting funds to carry on Gerhardt's trial.

If the Walton League points out, the supreme court decides the case in favor of Collins, not only will the average fisherman be unable to enjoy his favorite sport, but the hundreds of thousands of dollars paid in annual license fees from fishing licenses will be lost and the large sums already appropriated for the propagation of fish will be lost as it will benefit only such men as are financially able to own their own streams.

A WEEKLY HINT For The HOUSEWIFE

Cheese as a concentrated, economical, most substantial, is finding its way gradually into the daily menus of many homes. It can be stored satisfactorily and cheaply, according to the home economics department at South Dakota State College, and if served with foods of the right kind and not eaten in too large amounts, may be thoroughly digested.

Because cheese is of protein nature, it should be served in the place of meat, fish and eggs. Bread or crackers, fruits and vegetables should be eaten with cheese.

So many kinds of cheese are on the market that everyone's taste may be gratified. There are also many ways of preparing cheese a few of which follow:

- Cheese and Potato Puff.
  - 1-4 pound grated cheese.
  - 1 cup hot mashed potato.
  - 1 egg.
  - 1-2 teaspoon salt.
  - 1-2 teaspoon parsley chopped fine dash of paprika.
- Mix cheese and potato. Add salt, parsley, paprika and yolk of egg beaten well. Fold in beaten white of egg and place in a greased pan or casserole. Bake in a moderate oven until golden brown.
- Baked Tomato and Cheese
  - Select good, whole tomatoes. Remove part of contents and stuff in the tomato, cream or Neufchatel cheese. Bake in a moderate oven.
- Cottage Cheese Sausage.
  - 1 cup cottage cheese.
  - 1 cup dry bread crumbs.
  - 1-4 cup peanut butter.
  - 1-4 cup peanuts.
  - 1-2 teaspoon powdered sage.
  - 1 teaspoon salt.
  - 1-4 teaspoon pepper.
  - 1-4 teaspoon onion.
  - 1 tablespoon chopped onion.
  - 1-2 teaspoon thyme.

CHARGE GOODMAN WITH TEXAS ROBBERY

SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 28. (AP)—Application for extradition of W. J. B. Goodman, Tulsa University football star, of Oklahoma National Guard, and A. M. Cain, from Oklahoma to Texas to answer the charges of burglary filed against them in Collin county Thursday morning for alleged robbery of drug stores of Melissa and Anna Sunday night, which began prepared Wednesday morning, H. G. Chandler attorney for Collin county, according to information received from the county judge's office.

Goodman was convicted of the murder of a Dallas police officer recently and given a five year suspended sentence.

Articles found in the prosecution of the two men, consisting mainly of leather goods, fountain pens and money, were identified by Texas officers and owners of the stores robbed as a part of loot taken from the Collin county drug stores.

Goodman is said to have emphatically denied any connection with the robberies when arrested in a Durant hotel. Cain is said to have admitted having helped to rob one store Saturday night in a town he could not name.

- Cheese, Rice and Tomato.
  - 1 cup cooked rice.
  - 1 teaspoon salt.
  - 1-2 cup grated cheese.
  - 1-2 medium sized green pepper.
  - 1-4 medium sized onion.
  - 3 medium sized tomatoes.
- Cook onion, tomato, and green pepper for 45 minutes. Add cooked rice and seasonings, then the cheese. When melted, pour over toast.

Billy Evans Says

TRIO OF IDOLS

The American League will shortly lose three of its greatest stars, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Walter Johnson.

Cobb and Speaker are still two of the greatest hitters in the game, despite their long years of service. I really believe Cobb and Speaker, if they kept in touch with the game, would be good hitters at 50 years of age.

These two great outfielders are natural hitters. In addition they are master strategists. When they step to the plate the pitcher has a battle of wits as well as physical prowess on his hands.

Cobb and Speaker seek to get the pitcher in the hole. Once they accomplish their object they never fail to try to take advantage by hitting the crumple.

As a matter of fact, both will take a strike or two in hopes of getting the ball they like to hit.

It is in the legs Cobb and Speaker are showing up. Eventually this weakness will force them out of active competition.

Loss of speed, poor underpinning, will cause the retirement of Cobb and Speaker, even though they still boast a 1350 or better batting eye.

It is a distinct loss to baseball when an outstanding star passes from the game.

It is an even greater loss to the league of which the star athlete is a member.

Colorful players do much to popularize the sport. Most stars are of that type. They have certain qualities that endear them to the public.

Ty Cobb won his spurs because of his all-round ability plus his fiery style.

It will be a long time before either major league picks up three stars like Cobb, Speaker and Johnson. They are the decided exceptions.

STATE AGENT WILL JUDGE EXHIBITS IN CLUB WORK

Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, is due to arrive in Lubbock on the afternoon train today, and will judge the exhibits at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair in the Girls' and Women's department that have been gathered up under the supervision of Miss Lela DuBose, Lubbock county home demonstration agent.

The exhibits will be judged in the office of Miss DuBose at the court house before they are taken to the fair grounds in order to prevent the congestion that would be inevitable if the judging were done in the building on the grounds.

Y. M. C. A. Representatives To Talk Over Possibilities Of Organizing Youth Of Nation In Fight On Vice

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. (AP)—Evidence of the opportunity and power of youth to unite in combating "alarming tendencies affecting the lives of young men and boys on every hand" will be given when representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States and Canada meet in Washington, D. C., the last week of October. The International Convention, which represents the common meeting ground of the associations from both sides of the border, will continue from Oct. 24 to 26, and will be followed, Oct. 27 to 31, by the annual meeting of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. of the United States.

Laymen and employed leaders from many of the 30 countries in which the associations of the United States and Canada are at work will be present at Washington.

To meet the problems of the day, young men must work in closer cooperation than ever before. Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the National Council and the International Committee, suggests. Speaking particularly of the problems in the United States and Canada, he said: "When have the forces of crime and lawlessness, of bitterness and strife in social, racial and international relations, of materialism and of naturalistic philosophy, together with the per-the resulting from the growing level of luxury, extravagance, ease and softness, and from a general spirit of compromise with down-grade tendencies, more keen and endangered the life of our youths. We must present an impressive, visible unity to meet such a situation."

Dr. Mott also makes an appeal for the strengthening of the ties between the "English-speaking, Christian nations" of North America, and urges leaders of Church and State to concerted planning "in the interest of the right impact of the two countries" on the non-Christian world.

An important issue at Washington will be the long-discussed question of the proper basis for active membership in the Y. M. C. A. Whether membership in an evangelical church should be required is an important point involved.

Finances will be in the foreground during much of the National Council's meeting. Budgets for 1925, covering the work at home and abroad of the National Council and state and training agencies, totalled $3,824,929, of which $2,442,812 had to be raised in contribution. The total was divided into two parts, $1,619,911 for work in the United States, and $2,224,619 for service in foreign countries. This does not include the sums raised each year by local associations for use in their home communities.

HARSH LANGUAGE IS EMPLOYED BY DEPOSED AIRMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—Responsibility for the Shenandoah disaster and failure of the navy airplane PN-9-1, to reach Hawaii was placed directly on the heads of the navy department, today, by Colonel William Mitchell, in testimony before the President's air board.

The sending of the big dirigible into the middle western states was "indirect violation of law," he asserted, and arrangements for the PN-9 flight looked like the work of "bungling amateurs."

Cites "Flagrant Mistakes." The former assistant chief of air service criticized the work of the navy in arranging equipment for the navy contingent accompanying the McMillan Arctic Expedition declaring "flagrant mistakes" made in preparation for the three aeronautical events made it impossible for air men to re-

By sending the Shenandoah to the middle-west, he insisted the navy violated the law because in time peace land activities belong to the army.

The big dirigible, he charged, was not equipped with parachutes.

"This is like sending a ship to sea without life boats," he added.

Explains PN-9 Flight. Engineering data, he asserted, showed the PN-9 could not possibly have reached Honolulu with refueling en route, and that the planes sent to the Arctic were designed and built for service in the tropics and along the Atlantic Coast.

"Yet these planes," he added, "were sent to the 'ice regions,' which those in charge of planning the expedition, expected them to give satisfactory service."

Colonel Mitchell declared an attempt to get obsolete vessels from the navy for target practice brought a reply from the Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robertson that there were "no obsolete vessels."

"It might be well to build pontoons and rafts for this purpose," he said to a question, adding "the point is, we can't be choked off this way when everybody else is going ahead."

Discussing the Lassiter Aircraft report, Colonel Mitchell declared that the secretary of the navy repeatedly declined to accept the suggestions which would link the navy and army air services even declining the proposal of the Secretary of War, that appropriations for the two services be requested.

Here is the testimony given by Secretary Weeks before a house committee in which he said that for the navy to get more money for aviation than the army would be unjust. "The work of the army bombing planes," he said, "has amounted to nothing this summer. The bombing group has been used up to tow targets. The commander in Maine now shooting moose and trying to recover after such procedure."

Regarding the aircraft tests on the battleship Washington, Colonel Mitchell declared testimony was given to the house aircraft committee that the ship's bombing by aircraft was ineffectual. This statement, he charged, was not in keeping with the facts, adding that these tests showed that aircraft properly used could sink any surface vessel afloat.

"There have," he said, "been no adequate tests to determine the effectiveness of aircraft in its clash with naval vessels."

"France is aspiring to control the air," he said, "in the same manner that England controls the sea. Every nation is coming forward with better planes than ours."

"The air services of Great Britain, France and Germany were all better

Scientific Tests Carried On By Professor At Houston Show That City's Water Supply Is Good One

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 26. (AP)—Evaporating 26 quarts of water in a Houston laboratory might be regarded a prosaic process but it has its uses. It really began ages ago when the sea receded and left what was to become Texas seeping out over the waves. In the course of time, more water receded and more land appeared. The sea water contained iodine and left the land saturated with it. A million years or so later, science advanced the theory that persons in sections containing the most iodine in the natural state suffered less with simple goitre.

Tests by Professor P. S. Tilson in his Houston laboratory proved this city's water supply contains six times the amount of iodine considered necessary to prevent simple goitre, which dovetailed with statistics showing the range of persons suffering from this affliction in the all but simple goitreless belt, which embraces all Texas, was from nothing to one a thousand of population.

The belt extends clear across the southern portion of the United States. The next belt to the north contains less iodine in its potable water and there the ratio is one to five a thousand and population. There is still less iodine in the water of the third belt where the ratio is from five to fifteen and finally fifteen to 30 in the northwest portion of the country and a part of the Great Lakes territory where iodine in potable water is practically non-existent.

The story of the research, as indicated by Professor Tilson, reveals the far reaching results that may accrue from the curious quirks in a scientist's brain.

One day, J. F. McClendon of the laboratory of physiological chemistry, University of Minnesota, traced the striking decrease of simple goitre in successive belts ending at the Gulf of Mexico. Starting on the basis that the sea is the greatest single agency holding iodine in solution, it was reasoned that as there was little goitre in the south, it probably followed that at least one of the reasons for this fact might be that the portion of the continent from which the sea last receded might hold more iodine, a known preventative of simple goitre.

There was one way to bring proof to bear that was a nationwide analysis of city water supplies. It was determined upon and cities all over the country were asked to participate in

DEBT PARLEY IS MOVING FAST TO END

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—The debt negotiations between the French and American nations, seeking to fund the four-billion dollar French war debt moved rapidly today with the negotiators nearer together than they have been since the discussions began.

It was indicated that it had been agreed a clause should be inserted in any settlement that in event it should become evident on both sides that the French capacity to pay had been over-estimated and in addition the American commission has reduced the proposed annuities from $150,000,000 to $120,000,000. Both of these plans are considered of great importance by the French delegates.

Yet these planes," he added, "were sent to the 'ice regions,' which those in charge of planning the expedition, expected them to give satisfactory service."

HOUSTON, Sept. 26. (AP)—At noon today the jury in the Max Fink criminal assault case was still out and no word had come from the jury room.
