life is not standard

When I came to the Friona Star about this time in 1995 the Class of 2014 wasn't born yet.

At the end of this week I am completing my 19th year at the Star, 11th year as owner. In the FHS classes that have gone before we have chronicled their successes, failures, and in some cases their tragedies.

Each year we feature the graduates in a special edition. Last week was the Class of 2014. One of the questions we ask on the senior bio form is what are your future plans. We see all sorts of answers. Some say go to college, others to learn a trade, while still others have no particular plans.

I had no plans when I graduated from Hillsboro High School way back in 1957. Most every experience I have had since then was unplanned or unexpected. I made the most of some and completely flopped at others. Running a newspaper in Friona was certainly never on the radar.

They call it commencement for a reason. The Class of 2014 will be commencing on an important and uncertain journey. Earning an education maybe. Being successful maybe. Taking on responsibilities, finding a job or career, and paying your bills every month forever. Getting married, maybe more than once. Having kids and beginning the cycle of influencing them the way your parents did for you.

Graduating seniors get advice from many folks. They soon learn that the path to success can be a lonely frustrating effort. They learn that ultimately they are responsible for their own future. It is not always an easy lesson.

Navy Admiral William

McRaven delivered the commencement address at the University of Texas. He is a UT graduate and Navy Seal. His address, running about 17 minutes is available on Facebook and Youtube. I recommend everyone, including the Class of 2014, look it up and watch it. More importantly listen to it.

Admiral McRaven said during the grueling Seal training, the first thing they were required to do each morning is make their bed. He said completing a task first every morning made other tasks easier. He advised UT graduates to make your bed.

"If you can't do the little things right," he said, "you can't do the big things." He told them, "You are never going to be perfect. You will fail. You will have to deal with sharks. You will sometimes be your best in your darkest moments." Good advice for all of us.

Class of 2014 grads whatever it is you choose to do be the best at it. If it is a job or a college class, be early and stay late. Choose not to be average. Develop characteristics and habits that are positive and will advance your life goals. Remember if you don't know where you are going any road can take you there.

Good luck Class of 2014. From now on nothing will be standard.

Would like to thank whoever put two new phone books on the sidewalk in front of the Star office sometime over the weekend. The three plus inches of rain soaked them into non-use. We tossed them. All indications are the area received 3 1/2 inches of rain over three days. Some areas in the county received more. Nice to dodge a puddle when you get out of the car at the post office.

Everyone out here is familiar with the Big Texan Steak House's 72 oz steak challenge. Eat it in one hour and it's free. Lots of people have tried and failed. Over the weekend a lady from Nebraska ate TWO of the 72 oz steaks (that's nine pounds) plus the stuff that comes with it, in less than 15 minutes. How is that even possible? They have video to prove it.

Retiring teacher reception was Wednesday afternoon. We had a list in last week's Star but Dennis Field announced his retirement too late for our deadline. Dennis joins Patsy Allen, Gayle Murdoch, Cheryl Procter, Marka Herbert, Maria Jass, and Maria Vega as retiring teachers. There is a lot of experience among this group. We thank them for their cooperation with the newspaper through the years and wish them all the best of retirements.

Congratulations to Parmer County DPS Trooper Isabel "Izzy" Carrasco on being selected as District Trooper of the Year. He was selected by Region 5B supervisors and presented the award on May 23 in Amarillo. Izzy has been a DPS trooper since 1996 and has spent his entire career in Parmer County. I have covered a lot of wrecks over the years and Izzy has always been pleasant and cooperative. A well deserved honor.

The next Friona blood drive will be Thursday June 19 at Calvary Baptist Church. Lions will furnish burgers and fries. Donors will be entered in a drawing for a one year supply of milk. Tasty Cream, Thai City, and Los Arcos are donating meals in a drawing for local donors. To some donors who are turned down due to low iron, they say if you drink iced tea within 24 hours of donating it will affect your iron. So don't drink it before you show up to donate. You will also get a t-shirt. A reminder when we get closer.

Friona Methodist Vacation Bible School will be June 2-6 for kids that have completed Pre-K to 5th grade. Contact the church at 250-3045 for details.

Monday June 2 begins the Friona Library Summer Reading program. It is Wednesdays at 10 a.m. at the junior high auditorium. On June 11 there will be a Southwest Dairy cow milking program at city park. For info call the library at 250-3200.

The date for summer drama workshop is July 7-19. More details will be forthcoming.

Saw a new word this week: redivivus. Hard to spell and pronounce. It means reborn, or come back to life. Maybe one of our local pastors might use it in a sermon? Good luck with the pronunciation.

Former residents Jerry and Stephanie Birdsong celebrated their 29th anniversary last week. Jerry was a Friona coach, Bovina high school principal, superintendent at Silverton, and is now superintendent at Stratford. Stephanie's parents are Mary and Kenny Ford.

Here in Friona Andy and Tabitha Carthel celebrated their 5th anniversary on May 23. Congratulations you two.

Thanks to local American Legion Post Commander Bill Dannheim, Olivia and Gabriel Schilling, and Victor Rodriguez, all of Farwell, for presenting the Memorial Day service at the Friona cemetery Monday. The Schilling sisters sang the National Anthem and Victor played TAPS. They served in Memorial Day services in Farwell, Bovina, and Friona. Thank you.

Received word that Jim Hudson, publisher of the Perryton Herald, passed away this week. Jim was 63. He and his sister Mary Dudley published the twice a week Perryton newspaper. He passed away rather suddenly. I knew Jim through the Panhandle Press Association and as a newspaper colleague. He had a long newspaper history. Condolences to the Hudson family. Jim will be missed.

After a year teaching here, Deirdre Johnston Long and husband Bill are heading east to New Summerfield, Texas, over by Tyler. Bill received his degree this month from West Texas A&M. Much success to you both.

Many around here will remember Joe Dillingham. He was a long time resident of the area, working at the Friona schools, Cattle Town, and doing a lot of handyman and yard mowing work. Joe passed away at the age of 80 in Plainview Saturday May 17. Graveside services were held in Albany, Texas Sunday May 18. Joe grew up and attended schools in Albany. He was a brother of the late Carrie Tatum of Friona. Condolences online at morehart-mortuary.net.

*****

Brandon Berend will be a senior next year at FHS. He has bought a new riding lawn mower and is looking for some big yards to mow this summer. Contact Brandon or his parents Sandra and Roddy Berend. Hope you get booked up Brandon.

*****

I went at 5 p.m. Tuesday to vote. At the time about 80 people had voted at the Calvary location, a pretty slim turnout. Thanks to Tracy Ellis, Betty Wiseman, and Elizabeth McLellan for enduring 12 hours as election judges.

*****

Friona firefighters and EMS were called out at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday night to the Brett Hoyle residence on W. 9th Place. Bathroom heater caught fire and lots of smoke in the house but no major damage. We appreciate our first responder volunteers.

*****

So long Class of 2014. Take some memories along with you and keep in touch. All the best wherever life takes you. We'll see you again. Until then!

Reset Land

I have become so dependent on my phone and the technology that when my cell phone went down this past weekend, I was lost.

When I say the phone went down I mean that it was doing things it was not supposed to be doing and not doing the important thing of letting phone calls come through.

I did the blonde-thing and reset the settings.

Number 1 rule should be "Don't reset your phone unless you have someone handy to fix it!"

Number 2 should be "Write down all the phone numbers and other information BEFORE pressing the 'Reset' button."

You guessed it...I pressed the reset button and entered Reset Land and did not follow rules 1 or 2.

Number 3—Restore does not mean it restores EVERYTHING!

After a very frustrating day or two or three of trying to get things restarted, I am still short many phone numbers and everything else that could not be restored.

I am still trying to get many of the apps reapplied but that is hindered by my memory of what the apps names I thought I couldn't live without were before my adventure in Reset Land.

The positive is that I have cleaned out the clutter on my phone.

My own personal cell phone war began a few months ago when I did not hear from my sons and a number of my friends for four or five days. I had hoped they were all just busy with their lives and doing well.

Wrong!

The first to call (that got through) was my oldest son Tyler. He sounded completely worried when he asked if I was okay. I told him I was and promptly got a proper chewing out for not answering my phone.

I informed him my phone had not rang and if it had I would have answered. I am not sure he believed me but it was the truth.

Next came a call from a good friend of mine that was worried I had fallen and couldn't get up. I assured him that I was fine and that falling didn't figure into my weekend. He, like my son, chewed me out for not answering my phone. Once again I tried to explain it was the phone...I am not sure he believed me either.

A light bulb went off in my head that maybe my new-fangled phone was not as great as it was advertised.

I then turned it off and then on again like I had been taught by some computer guy in the past. That fixes everything, right?

When I turned it back on, I had a flood of missed texts, calls and assorted other messages. Hmmm, guess that fixed it.

Wrong!

After a week or so, it did it again. So, here I go...turn it off, turn it on, and should be ready to go.

Wrong!

It made it a few days and needed to be turned off again. This was getting old, which led to Reset Land.

I wish Reset Land could be compared to an amusement park but it isn't. It is more like a really creepy maze without a defined exit.

I am still battling with the cell phone and hope to make it to a Sprint store soon before I decide to bounce it off a wall, which would pretty much mess up my phone insurance.

When I came into the office on Tuesday morning, the adventure continued when the phone system at the Star decided to do something that made the WTRT technicians scratch their heads.

Oh no! Where is the on/off switch?

I'm still not sure they know exactly what happened but the phone at the Star is working again. Thanks guys!

I guess I should have asked them to diagnose my phone's problem. Too late, they are gone.

Dear Graduates

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

Dear Graduates,
I am proud you have made it past High School, and my hope is that you will not ruin your life. You only have one life, so you may as well make the most of it, instead of waking up one morning to find out you screwed things up in a huge way.

In case they didn't teach you how to ruin your life, let me give you some tips. First, think only about yourself, what you want, how cool you are and how you are a victim of others and circumstances.

Second, while thinking only of yourself, use others socially, sexually, emotionally, and spiritually. This goes beyond just thinking of yourself, but to using others to serve you. If you do this really well you might be a real 'don juan' with the ladies, and eventually have some children from various women, who you neither know nor care about.

Thirdly, figure out how to work the system to get the most government benefits and benevolence you can from churches and those you know. Although you won't get rich doing this, you might not have to have a real job and you will trap you and your children in poverty and dysfunction for generations.

Next, spend what money you have on cigarettes, alcohol, drugs and things you can't afford to impress people you don't like.

If you do these things, and many more, really well, you will successfully ruin your life and that of your children for generations to come.

If you decide not to ruin your life, here is the alternative for having a life that counts. Follow Jesus, find a church that follows Jesus and stands on His word, don't quit when things get hard, love God, and love others.

If I can do anything to help you have a life that counts, don't hesitate to get in touch.

Endings and Beginnings (Graduating Class of 2014)

JEFF PROCTER, Minister, 6th St. Church of Christ

Congratulations to the Class of 2014. You have just completed the longest commitment of your academic life. Thirteen years of mind forming exercises that has culminated in the wonderful gift called a diploma.

Twenty-six years removed from this experience I still remember. There is excitement, sadness, anxiety, hope, and despair all rolled together in these last days of your first big ending. To be sure, Lord willing, there will be many more endings which means there will be many more beginnings and this is your time.

It is the time where you are the focus. Moms will cry, dads will swell with pride (and cry a little too). Families will cheer; classmates will smile in all 37,000 selfie plus friend pics that you will take on your smartphone.

It is a time to pause and reflect, to look at what has been accomplished. It is a time to look forward to the possibility of a great and unknown future. It is a time for gifts and thank you notes. It is a time for a few "good-byes" and "see you soon's." It is a time for wings to stretch and fly. It is a time to anchor deep and hold on tight. It is a time to throw your hat up.

All I can really add is that it is a time to soak it up and take it in because this is a time that will end. So it is a time to remember and be thankful.

God likes new beginnings and fresh starts. He also likes good endings and in Jesus, He gives us both. Our prayer for you the graduate is for you to soar at heights that boggle the mind, but never lose sight of what is most important.

One of our most precious gifts this side of eternity is time. Use it well, serve someone in need, smell a rose or two and remember some folks in Friona love you very much. So as this moment ends and the next begins appreciate life and the One who gives it.

Burn 'Em with Water

Melanie Gallman Braun

Calories, that is. Water exercise is a wonderful way to improve fitness. Strength and cardiorespiratory gains can both be achieved in the water. Working out in the water seems easier, and it's fun. (You don't sweat and stink either!)

Water provides 12 times the resistance as air. Water exercise is considered low-impact and is easier on the joints. Any kind of equipment you use in the water adds even more resistance. Your kiddos' water toys can double as workout equipment—playground balls, noodles, and paddleboards are perfect. You can purchase "hand weights." The deal with water equipment is that you push down against the buoyancy of the object. The more buoyant it is, the harder you have to work.

Although there are a zillion exercises for the water, here are some to get you started...

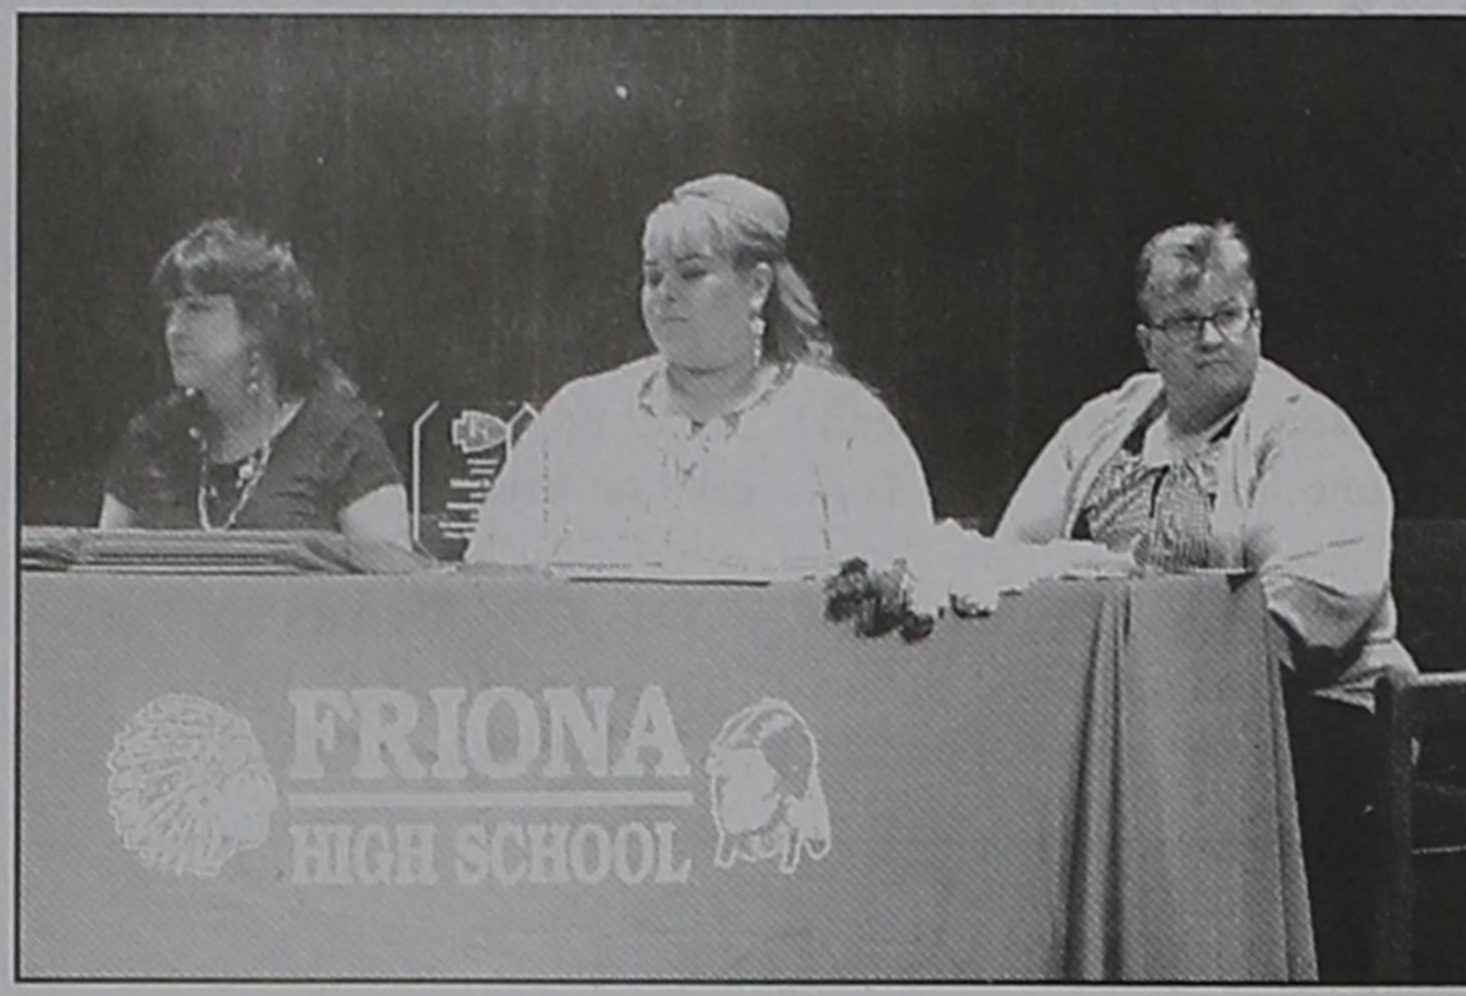

- Standing in the shallow end and sweeping a paddleboard back and forth (perpendicular to the water) is great for the upper body muscles and obliques.

- You can sit on a noodle as if in a swing and dolphin kick (both legs together like a mermaid tail) down the length of the pool for an ab and lower body exercise or just use your arms (no leg movement) and breaststroke for an upper body exercise. If you are really good, you can stand up on the noodle/paddleboard, using your feet to hold it underwater and stay upright while using your arms to maneuver across the pool. Anytime you use your balance, you are working your core.

- Simply standing in the shallow end and kicking (front, back and side) will get that heart rate up.

- As long as you move fast enough, the same motions on land for running and cross-country skiing will keep you from sinking in the deep water. Run or ski the length of the pool multiple times for some great cardio work.

- Standing flutter kicks in deep water will also get your heart rate up—raising your arms in the air is even more challenging.
