CALICHE ROAD CONSTRUCTION IN PANHANDLE APPROVED BY STATE HIGHWAY OFFICIAL

The Star in its issue of two weeks ago had an article relative to the proposed construction of highways topped with caliche and asphalt and oil for the Panhandle country. The following article, from the Amarillo News, is self-explanatory, and explains what may be done in road construction in Panhandle counties if the people are willing to make the effort:

Abilene, Oct. 24.—The way was cleared here today for an immediate paving program which will mean the early completion of all principal state highways in the Panhandle.

All obstacles to the paving of Highway 96 across Oldham County and the connecting up of the various unpaved roads on other state and national roads crossing the Panhandle were removed by Judge W. R. Ely, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, when he publicly announced that the commission would approve a system of Panhandle roads built out of local materials and at a price which the various counties can afford.

Judge Ely's announcement was made at the conclusion of an all-day conference for a type of paving which can be put down at a nominal cost and which is within the financial ability of the counties now wanting to pave, but can not afford concrete or other expensive roads.

An unequivocal pledge to not only endorse a system of caliche and asphalt roads but to instruct his engineers in the Amarillo district to immediately prepare plans and estimates for such roads was given by Judge Ely.

Cheap Materials Here.

Judge Ely said the Highway Commission would approve any caliche type of road which is practical and at the same time reasonable in cost. He also stated that the Texas Highway Commission realizes that it will be impossible to build the expensive type of roads in various Panhandle counties, declaring also that such roads are not needed in that section.

"You have the greatest abundance of natural road materials," said Judge Ely, "in the Panhandle and they should be used. Roads can be built there cheaper than anywhere in Texas, and you may state publicly for me that we will approve such roads for the Panhandle, using home materials and home labor."

Likes Caliche Base.

"If the people of the Panhandle are of the impression that we don't approve anything but concrete, they are badly mistaken. We have found that a caliche base with a penetration top is the best road that can be built anywhere, and we are anxious to start such a system of roads in the Panhandle at the earliest date possible."

Judge Ely said such roads should be built at a maximum of $10,000 a mile, depending on the distance from the materials to the highway. If the materials are close at hand, there is no reason why the road cannot be built at a much cheaper cost, he said.

"And the beauty of it," he said, "is that it makes the best road that is possible. Such a road is now being built north of Sweetwater and it is better than anybody's concrete slab."

Realizes Oldham Situation.

Judge Ely said he realized that Oldham and other Panhandle counties would vote only a limited amount of money and for that reason he was anxious to try the new type of roads in order to get the different state and federal highways in the Panhandle connected up and give that section of the state a system of paved roads second to none in the Southwest.

His promise as to 96 west of Amarillo was more specific than a general one of merely approving a cheap type of road. He said instructions would go forward at once to the engineers in the Amarillo district to make a survey as to location, prepare estimates on cost and file them with the commission at once. He is hopeful that work may be started on 96 before the winter is over, making it possible to give much work to Oldham county laborers this winter and at the same time have the road surfaced for the traveling public by next summer.

A caliche and asphalt road can be built without the usual delays incident to treating of roadbed and placing materials, he pointed out. He expressed the opinion that a caliche and asphalt road should be built on Highway No. 5 in Potter

Baptist Church Notes.

There were 86 at Sunday school. It is hoped all will attend who can. B. Y. P. U. had 75 present, others coming in for preaching. Mrs. Burton's group singing "It's the Garden" for B. Y. P. U., and Miss Eva Dilger's choir sang "Sunshine" for church services.

All invited to attend Wednesday night prayer services, when 45 minutes are given to prayer and 30 minutes to choir practice.

The church send canned fruits and vegetables and other foods to Wayland College Saturday. The Women's Missionary society plans to send a chicken dinner to Buckner's orphan home for Thanksgiving. There are about 700 children at the home and it is reported they have not had a chicken dinner in a year.

Following is the senior group B. Y. P. U. program Sunday night: Definition of terms: Lawrence Dumont.

Early Christians so interpreted it: Raymond Euler.

God and the Risen Christ so interpreted it: Hazel Ware.

Church loyalty is still a just measure of Christian living: Hilton Lansdown.

Those who love Christ will meet him in church service: Melvin Blair.

Those who love Christ will give of their money to his church: Conway Frost.

Those who love Christ will give of themselves in service for his church: Eva Dilger.

All are heartily welcome to visit and worship with us.

REPORTER.

W. O. Thompson Hurt.

W. O. Thompson, local carpenter, was severely hurt Tuesday when a ladder on which he was standing fell from under him.

Mr. Thompson was engaged in removing a partition in the Friona Hotel, and was exerting considerable force in drawing a nail while standing upon a common step ladder.

When the nail came out the force which he was exerting caused him to lose his balance on the ladder and in trying to regain his equilibrium he pushed the ladder out of position and it fell, throwing him to the floor with such force as to render him unconscious for a few minutes.

Mr. Thompson fell in such a manner as to break one of the bones in his left forearm and inflicted a severe bruise and cut over his left eye. His wounds received surgical attention and he was out on the streets again Wednesday morning.

county, north of the Canadian river.

In addition to Oldham, Donley and Armstrong, the counties of Hartley, Dallam and Deaf Smith in all probability would adopt the new type of road, it was pointed out to Judge Ely.

Plans Great System.

"The caliche type should be used wherever the materials are," said Judge Ely, "and there is an abundance of this material all over the Panhandle. If the people of the different counties will co-operate with us we can perfect the greatest system of roads in that district that can be found in Texas today."

Judge Ely said more highway work was in prospect in the Panhandle than any other section of Texas, and that it could be carried out on a more comprehensive scale than ever planned at this time if the people of the Panhandle would cooperate to the extent of voting nominal bond issues and approving roads which will not be a financial burden on themselves and the state.

He plans an early trip to the Panhandle when he will make a personal survey of the different routes in question.

In the opinion of the writer if Parmer county ever expects to issue bonds for highway construction, now is the time. When this type of construction can be had, with the state and federal governments each bearing a third of the expense and thus bringing more money into the county than its share of the expense of the construction, and at the same time furnishing employment at fair wage to our citizens, and affording a market for both road materials and other necessities of construction.

Off For Vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield, two of Friona's highly esteemed farmer citizens, living nine miles southeast of town, departed the latter part of last week for a few weeks visit in Erath county.

This was Mr. Whitefield's boyhood home, and he has many old-time friends and neighbors still living there whom he has not seen for several years, and with whom he expected to spend a few days very pleasantly during their vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitefield expect to visit other localities also where they have relatives and friends, before returning home.

TIMES GETTING BETTER, SAYS DRUG MAN

J. R. Roden, local Rexall druggist, has received a letter from Louis K. Liggett, leading figure in the drug world and a keen student of modern business. The message is as full of good news as an English walnut is of meat. Mr. Liggett throws some interesting sidelights on current business affairs and has crowded much unanswerable logic into the document.

Referring to one of his conversations with former President Coolidge, he tells that after an hour's discussion of business problems, Mr. Coolidge declared: "Supply and demand will make the price. It always has and always will. You cannot control what God produces."

Mr. Coolidge was referring to the English attempt to regulate production and price of rubber, and Mr. Liggett's comment is: "No special legislation, no world intercourse or world courts can establish a value that will turn the flow of business. Coolidge was right when he said that price can be regulated only by supply and demand."

The fact that at this particular time of business stress there is listed the largest number of Rexall drug stores in druggists' history was received with no little satisfaction, because it proved to him the wisdom of becoming the Rexall druggist in this particular locality where the profit and good will assured by the Rexall plan to both the one who sells and the one who buys has been a community affair of mutual benefit.

"I think the biggest merchandising idea ever promulgated in America is the fall one-cent sale," continued Mr. Liggett, and gives this bit of history: "I brought this sale to you in the fall of 1914, after war had been declared between the European countries. Everything was at a standstill. Stock markets all were closed. Everything was going to the bad in a hank, and the one-cent sale put your business over then and it will do the same thing this fall."

More money is going to be spent on the publicity program for this autumn one-cent sale than has ever been expended before. As its projector who gave it to the independent druggists who have accepted the Rexall merchandising plan, Mr. Liggett says: "The theme and scheme back of the one-cent sale is clean, it is wholesome, it is truthful. It is merchandising from factory to consumer with the lowest possible intermediate profit. You will give employment in your stores by reason of what your consumers buy. And after all, that is what it goes to ride us over."

This Rexall one-cent sale will be run the first week in November and the people of this community will share in this greatest festival of buying opportunity of the current strenuous year.

Bagged the Limit.

Ira Miller, whose home is in the Lakeview district, southeast of Friona, spent a part of last week on a vacation over among the mountains hunting deer. He returned the early part of this week and reports having had a pleasant vacation and a successful hunt, having bagged the limit.

City Well Going Again.

The new pump which was recently placed in the city well failed to give perfect satisfaction in its operations and was taken out Tuesday afternoon by L. E. McDade who had installed it and taken to Amarillo for adjustments.

Mr. McDade returned with the pump Wednesday afternoon and it was re-installed and again put on the job of supplying water to the mains of the city's water system. It is sincerely hoped that no further trouble will be given by the pump and that the patrons of the water system will be again in the enjoyment of an abundant supply of water.

Sheep Unloaded Here Sunday for Winter Feeding

An event of rather an unusual nature occurred here Sunday when a train of 18 double-decked cars of sheep, containing about 330 to the car, was sidetracked at the stock pens in Friona.

As has been stated, this was an unusual sight for the present day in Friona, but a happy reminder to pioneers of the times and conditions existing in this county some 10 or 15 years ago when sheep raising was the chief pursuit of the people of this territory, and large herds of sheep were nothing out of the ordinary.

The train of 18 cars bore a cargo of nearly 6,000, or to be more exact, 5,950 fine lambs, which were shipped in here by Jess Elrod of San Angelo from his sheep ranch at that place, where he has a herd of about 60,000 fine ewes.

These lambs were unloaded and driven to a ranch several miles north of Friona in Deaf Smith county, owned by a Mr. Bell of Hereford, who is receiving them for the winter on a feeding contract. The lambs will be kept on feed and pasture during the winter and Mr. Bell is to receive a stated price for each pound of weight gained by the herd during the time he has them under his care.

ADULT CLASS TO STUDY "FOOD FOR HEALTH"

The adult class in home making completes the study of "Food Management" this week. This unit consisted of five lessons taking up various phases of food management such as planning for variety, cost, marketing, nutrition, emergencies and hospitality.

The class voted to study as their next unit "Food for Health". The first lesson will be Tuesday night, November 3, at 7:30. Any lady interested in this unit is invited to enroll in the class for the series of five lessons.

Football.

By the time this issue of the Star is in the hands of its readers, it is expected that one of the snappiest games of the season will have been played on the local gridiron between the Farwell Steers and Friona Chiefs.

Lookhart of Canyon will referee the game and everything is expected to move along in the very best of order, each team doing its honest best to win over its opponent, and the best team to win.

All local fans and supporters of the Chiefs are expected to have been there and to have given in the honest support and encouragement in their power to assist the Farwell fans and staunch supporters of the Steers will have been here and have done the same for their favorites and whatever may be the outcome of the game it is expected that all will be thoroughly satisfied with it in the knowledge that each team did its best and that each got a square deal; for that is what makes football worthwhile in a school.

Welcome Visitors.

The fellow in the Star office was agreeably and happily surprised Saturday night by a visit at the Star's editorial office by a group of splendid young people from our neighboring city of Hereford.

The group consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Mr. George Connell, members of the working force of the Hereford Brand. They had driven over to enjoy the dance at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill King, south of town, but owing to the failure of the orchestra to make its appearance they returned to Friona enroute to a farm home west of town where another social dance was in progress.

We were truly pleased to have these people visit us and hope they will come oftener.

Enlarged Elevator.

The Farmers National Grain Corporation has been doing some extensive improving on its old elevator here during the past two weeks. The tipples has been doubled in height, making it now about 60 feet high. This was done in order to get a greater force in loading grain in cars, and cause the shoot to throw the grain to ends of cars.

In a Potato Country.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Lillard departed last week for points in New Mexico where Mr. Lillard will spend his annual hunting vacation.

The report came this week that they had arrived too early for the deer hunting season, and were stopping in the midst of an Irish potato producing country, and were whiling away their time helping the farmers pick up potatoes, while waiting for the hunting season to open. Mr. Lillard has never yet failed to bring down the game and his friends are confidently expecting him to bag the limit before returning home.

THE PARMER COUNTY HEALTH CLUB

The Parmer County Health Club met Tuesday, October 20, at Friona. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Crawford, in the absence of Mrs. Nelson Smith.

Miss Nellie Ayre had charge of the meeting. Bovina reported 35 children immunized, 118 examined and 124 defects found.

Lazubidde reported their pre-school children had been examined. The nurse was to be with them Thursday evening.

Jesko reported that between ten and twelve had been vaccinated and had taken the antitoxin.

Farwell reported the nurse had examined all the school children from the first to fifth grades inclusive.

Friona pre-school children had been examined. They had several health adult classes. Sixteen tonsils had been removed and 50 had taken antitoxin. Rrea reported ten pre-school children had been examined.

County federation meets at Bahoma Saturday. Nurse met with P.T. A at Farwell Wednesday night and will examine children at Friona Thursday morning. Baby clinic held at Friona October 20. Health club will meet next time at Lazubidde, November 17.

Mr. Curtis, county sanitary engineer, talked on a health-care they put on at Lubbock. They put on displays at the fair and received lots of notice. He meets Deaf Smith county workers soon and invites those who can to visit their displays.

MRS. O. B. PIPKIN.

Off to Gulf Coast.

Lewis Harry, who arrived here last week from Canon City, Colorado, for a few days visit with relatives and friends, departed on Monday morning on his journey to the Gulf Coast.

Mr. Harry plans to spend the winter in that warm climate, journeying eastward at intervals until reaching the Atlantic coast, thence northward to Washington, D. C. and on to Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes region during the spring and summer, and returning to his high mountain region for the hot summer months.

Big Nyal Sale Now On.

This week's issue of the Star carries the announcement of the big Nyal two for one sale, being conducted by the Friona Drug Co. Persons in need of these excellent preparations will do well to read this ad carefully and note the great savings in money that can be effected by making advantage of this extraordinary offer.

The Star always likes to have its advertisers patronized, and especially so when such patronage brings to its reader a saving of their hard earned cash when buying the necessities and luxuries of life. Read these ads.

Chicken Dinner Next Thursday.

Ladies of the Congregational church will serve a chicken dinner at the church basement on Thursday of next week, November 5, to which the public is cordially invited.

The ladies will also hold their annual church bazaar and will have on sale at that time and place many handsome and useful articles of apparel and household necessities any of which will make appropriate Christmas presents. They ask you to look over this stock of pretty and useful things and use it to fill in your list of Christmas present or for immediate use. You are most cordially invited to attend this bazaar and dinner whether you invest or not.

Attends Funeral at Hale Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Williams departed for Hale Center Wednesday where they will attend the funeral of one of their friends, Mr. Meater, who passed away on Tuesday night. They returned the same day.

PUBLIC HEALTH WORK IN COUNTY ATTRACTS MUCH FAVORABLE COMMENT

Preparing for Grain Business.

Friona's new business concern, the Maurer - Gischler Grain Company, is preparing to get into the grain buying business in real earnest.

This company is composed of Carl C. Maurer and Reuben T. Gischler, two of Friona's most popular and enterprising young men, and real Friona products, they each having spent the greater part of their lives thus far in and near Friona.

These young men engaged in the grain business here during the harvest season, with a small equipment, doing track buying. They are now preparing to erect an elevator of comparatively small capacity to start with, storing only a few cars at a time which will enable them to handle two or more grades of wheat at one time.

They now have the unloading pit dug and forms built for the concrete walls thereof and for the foundation of the superstructure will soon be erected and equipment installed.

The many Friona friends of these two young men wish them success in their enterprise.

Women's Clubs Meet at Lubbock.

The next meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs has been called for Lubbock on November 9 to 13, and 300 or more delegates are expected to be present.

The Friona Woman's club is known as one of the most active of its kind in the state and has always made a good showing at these conventions, and it is expected there will be a good representation from our local club at the Lubbock convention, and that those attending will not fail to let the other delegates know that Friona is there.

The people of Lubbock are making extensive preparations to entertain the visiting delegates in a royal style.

On Monday, the opening day of the convention, a luncheon will be served honoring the board and all delegates who have arrived at the noon hour, and at this time the official welcome address will be given.

Tuesday a business luncheon at noon and the annual pioneer dinner in the evening will be held. Wednesday another business luncheon will be held at noon and in the evening the Lubbock chamber of commerce will entertain with an old time chuck-wagon feed.

Thursday includes another business luncheon and climaxing the entire convention will be the Texas dinner with "Texas Under Six Flags" featured in song and story in a pageant.

It is expected that a goodly representation from Friona and Parmer county will be present to enjoy all this delightful and inspiring program and to add their part towards the success of the convention by giving a splendid report of the doing of the Federation here.

Had Pleasant Vacation.

Dr. R. R. Wills and Ralph Roden returned Thursday evening of last week from their week of vacation among the mountains and valleys of New Mexico.

The doctor reports a very pleasant time during his trip, which after a few days stay at Albuquerque, they traveled down the Rio Grande valley as far as El Paso, thence returning via the great Carlsbad cavern, which they visited, spending the greater part of one day there.

From Carlsbad they returned to Friona, visiting a number of towns and points of interesting scenery along the way.

Cotton Coming Steadily.

The cotton farmers of this locality are making good use of this splendid weather we have been having lately in getting their cotton out of the fields and to the Friona gin. There is always a string of trucks or wagons waiting turns at the gin and the gin is kept running steadily from early morning until late at night, some nights running practically all night.

Most of the cotton is hand picked and is so pretty and white that it looks like one might imagine great loads of freshly fallen snow might look.

The Public Health Work in this district is made possible by Federal aid administered by the Texas State Department of Health, with Miss Nell Ayres as health nurse for the district of which Parmer county is a part.

Miss Ayres' work in Friona includes an adult health club, baby clinic and supervision of the physical examination of school children in the lower grades. Miss Ayres will also address the high school girls in November.

The adult health classes are very instructive and interesting. All women of the town and communities surrounding Friona are invited to attend these classes. Miss Ayres gives very practical instruction and advice on home care of the sick and questions pertaining to health in the home, which all mothers and guardians of the home should know. Even if you think you know all that is necessary about such things you will likely have something brought to your attention which will be worth your effort in coming. These health classes meet on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 3:30 p. m. They will be held from now on in the school auditorium, and the date for the next class is November 4.

The next baby clinic will be held Tuesday morning, November 17, from 10 o'clock until noon, and will also be in the grade school building, in the first room to the right down stairs. Miss Ayres is especially anxious that mothers bring their babies under one year of age that she can check up on their progress from month to month. She will also inspect the other children up to school age at these clinics, so do not hesitate to bring the babies and small children to the child health clinics. Nurse Ayres will be at your services.

A One-Cent Sale.

J. R. Roden, proprietor of the City Drug Store, is making arrangements to put on his annual one-cent sale, which begins Wednesday of the coming week and continues four days. He carries his ad in another column of this issue.

This one-cent sale covers all the famous Rexall products, which are carried in stock by all Rexall stores, and means a material saving to the buying public when purchasing any of these products.

Friona Weather.

No rain has fallen here during the past week and we have enjoyed an abundance of fine sunshine with temperatures not too low.

Wednesday morning, however, it felt like we were not more than a very few days removed from the frost line, but no frost has yet been reported, at least we have had no killing frost. Nevertheless quite a number of our citizens have installed heaters and ordered the gas turned on. Another good rain will be appreciated.

Which Was It?

One Friona man puts this out: "I was assisting Milady in transplanting some tomato plants and was grunting more or less as I hunched along the rows on my hunkers, making holes for the plants. 'You are about played out, aren't you?' she remarked. 'No,' I replied. 'I am good for several years yet.' 'Shut up,' she retorted. 'I don't like to hear you talk like that.' Now he wants to know whether this was a 'pat' or a 'slap'."

Mother of Mrs. Reeve Passes.

Word has been received here to the effect that the mother of Mrs. F. W. Reeve passed away at her home in Plainfield, Indiana, last Saturday night, and that the funeral was held on Monday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeve departed from here for Indiana two weeks ago and arrived several days before the mother passed away. Mrs. Reeve has the sincere sympathy of her Friona friends in her time of sorrow.

Congregational Church Notes.

An average attendance was present Sunday morning for worship and Sunday school service at 11 o'clock and all apparently enjoyed the service and felt benefitted thereby.

Logan Simpson served as leader at the worship service, and the program as outlined in the Star last week was rendered in full, with Miss Margaret Goodwine giving the lesson of the day and a special musical number was rendered by a male quartet.

A fine attendance was present at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society at 7:45 in the evening and a very interesting program was given by the members present.

The program committee appointed for the worship service for the month of November, headed by Mrs. D. W. Hanson, met at her home Sunday afternoon and took charge of the program work for the month. The committee hopes to have an out-of-town speaker for at least one Sunday during the month, whose name and the date of appearance will be given later.

The committee has arranged the following program for the coming Sunday, November 1:

- C. V. Goodwine, leader.
- Doxology.
- Devotional, Psalms 121.
- Gloria.
- Responsive reading.
- Song.
- Scripture reading.
- Prayer.
- Hymn.
- Announcements.
- Offertory.
- Special music, violin solo: Miss Dorothy Crawford.
- Lesson of the day: Mrs. J. A. Blackwell.
- Closing hymn.
- Benediction.

The ladies wish you to eat with them Thursday, November 5. Good chicken dinner, also other foods. Eat plenty. Congregation church. 1c

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE REFORM

Galatians 5:13-26

Gal. 5:13. For brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14. For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

15. But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.

16. This I say then, walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.

17. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other; so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.

18. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

19. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these, Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness.

20. Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies,

21. Envy, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

22. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith,

23. Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.

24. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.

25. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

26. Let us not be desirous of vainglory, provoking one another, envying one another.

Golden Text: Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the Spirit.—Ephesians 5:18. (Revised Version.)

Introduction.

Of first rank in interest and importance among our public questions is Prohibition. It ought to be kept above the lines of political parties and partisan expediency. Let men face this question on its own merits as a social movement and the issue will soon be determined. To that end, let Christians face it in the light of the moral and social teachings of the New Testament, an example of which we study this week in Paul's epistle to the Galatians.

Liberty and Love.

Among the fundamentals of Paul's faith was the belief that Christians were "called for liberty." But like every great principle, liberty is capable of abuse and needs careful interpretation. He who called us for liberty also called us for love. He put his stamp of approval upon the command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." And liberty must be found inside, not outside, the principle of love. Christian liberty is not unprincipled liberty, but liberty regulated by love. "Personal liberty" that is Christian is also conscious of social responsibility, and is ready to yield rights to obligations.

Spirit and Flesh.

All of us have to be on guard constantly against the temptation to use our freedom selfishly and sinfully. There is within us a force that makes for sin, that would lead to our moral and spiritual undoing with social and physical disaster also. Paul calls it "the flesh," and whether or not we know what it is, all of us know that it is, and what are we going to do about it? "Walk in the Spirit and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh." God has given us his Spirit to dwell within us, to contend with the force of evil, and set us free. The flesh enslaves; the Spirit sets free, by producing those traits within us that are in fullest accord with the will of God.

The Works of the Flesh.

In order to re-enforce his exhortation that men should walk by the Spirit, Paul describes the works of the flesh and the fruit of the Spirit. Let us notice some of the things that appear in lives surrendered to the flesh. After numbering fifteen, Paul says there are others like them. These fifteen are but examples of the manifoldness of sin as it invades the life. Two of them are connected with religious worship (idolatry, sorcery), eight of them have to do with our social relations (enmities, strifes, jealousies, wrath, factions, divisions, parties, envyings), an evil brood, destroying unity and peace; and the last two (drunkenness, carousing), belong to base appetite which opens the door wide for every other form of sin.

In every case they bear the marks of selfishness and destructiveness. They are in every respect the antithesis of Christian love and reverence and righteousness. "They who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." Whatever our Christian freedom may mean, surely it is incompatible with these things that in themselves are of such a nature as to wreck life here and close the gates of heaven upon us.

The Fruit of the Spirit.

In verses 22-24 Paul gives a positive argument for walking in the Spirit. Nine attributes are set forth, "all the fruit of the eternal spirit, all capable of being exercised in every day life by all classes of society and in every nation under heaven." Read them over and compare them with the works of the flesh. They are unselfish and constructive. The very first one—love—is the negation of the entire catalogue of sins mentioned above. And following love come the others in beautiful pairs: joy and peace, filling the soul with God's sunshine, freeing the soul from the dark shadow of fear and strife; longsuffering and kindness, equipping the soul with patience and sympathy which uplift and heal; goodness and faithfulness, keeping the heart pure and steadfast in its loyalties and its tasks; meekness and self-control, fortifying the soul against the suffering and temptations incident to the struggle against the flesh.

Against Such Things There Is No Law.

These, said Paul, are not only answers to the soul's needs, but "against such there is no law." They meet the approval of God and man. And they are within our reach. They are the fruit of the Spirit, all growing at once in the heart of those who belong to Christ.

Having made his argument, Paul again exhorts us to walk by the Spirit. Thinking of our place in the world, of our responsibility for others, surely we shall not try to use God's gifts in self-indulgence, but rather pray for those graces which sanctify life, and energize it for the task of making humanity better.

Prohibition and "Personal Liberty."

The wets are constantly and loudly asserting that prohibition interferes with their "personal liberty." "Whose liberty is of most importance—a man's right to drink what he pleases or his family's right to a fair share in his income? The consequence of drink cannot be confined to the drinker, or even to the drinker's home; they spill over into the community where the rights to peace, safety and quiet are of greater importance than a man's right to drink poison. Those who claim the most personal liberty would be in hot water all the time were it not that others give up much personal liberty even for their sake.

"There is no such thing as personal liberty to do wrong or to violate law. All individual rights give way to social obligations. One-way streets, traffic rules, speed limits, ordinances that cover the distribution of ice, milk, meat and other food stuffs are all in point.

"Prohibition is the same general idea extended to include all of us in its prohibitory provisions. Even the much advertised plan of the wets to have liquor sold under government control interferes with the personal liberty to buy what one likes, where one wishes, and when one wills. Their proposal would fix the alcoholic content, also. Hours of sale, quantities to be sold or bought, are dictated. Even the place where the stuff may be bought is fixed by law!

The Future Progress of Temperance Reform.

Even though we have Prohibition written into our national constitution and upon our statute books, temperance reform is not completed. What kind of reform is now needed? Is it not first, a Christian interpretation of "personal liberty" in the light of social responsibility? Is it not also to revive and teach the truth about the personal and social effects of drunkenness? Is it not, again, to enlist Christian patriotism in the support of law enforcement? And still further, to make clear that Prohibition is not an effort to legislate morals into people, but a movement to remove a serious and blighting business obstacle from the pathway of the political, economic and moral progress of our nation?

Helpful Hints In Starting Beef Cattle On Feed

By J. M. JONES
Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

In order to obtain the best results in finishing beef cattle for market the feeder or attendant must observe and study the individual animals carefully each day so as to be able to intelligently increase or decrease the ration at the proper time.

When cattle are placed on a fattening ration they should be fed only a small amount of concentrates at the outset. The concentrate feed should then be gradually increased during the first two or three weeks until the cattle are on full feed. During the early part of the fattening period, they should be supplied with all the roughage they will consume. Then as the feeding period advances the roughage portion of the ration should be gradually decreased while at the same time the concentrate feed should be increased in accordance with the appetites of the cattle. It is difficult to formulate a definite rule with reference to increasing the concentrate portion of the ration, since this is dependent upon several important factors such as the palatability of a well-balanced ration, the age, quality and general fleshing condition of the cattle, and general feedlot conditions, including the availability of plenty of fresh water and salt, atmospheric temperature and whether or not the cattle have access to a dry or muddy feed lot.

After the cattle are on full feed and are making satisfactory gains the concentrate portion of the rations should be increased at least twice during each seven to ten day period so as to correspond with the estimated gain in weight made during that period. For example, suppose a stockman is fattening 30 head of 600 pound calves. Such calves under favorable conditions make an average gain of at least two pounds daily per head. There then would be an increase of 60 pounds in live weight of the lot daily, or 600 pounds of gain in 10 days, or approximately the weight of an additional calf. The ration for the 30 head then should be increased about 1.30 in the ten days or approximately the amount that one calf could consume daily. Some beginners have the idea that when an animal is on full feed no further increases in the ration are necessary, however, this is a mistake, and some times a very costly one. The method about outlined is suggested merely as a guide to the inexperienced feeder, but it should be helpful in deciding on the increases necessary in the amount of the ration as the feeding period progresses.

Suggested Rations.

The rations listed below are suggested as a guide to the inexperienced cattle feeder who is finishing cattle for market. No hard and fast rules covering cattle feeding can be made to adequately cover all phases of the finishing process. The quality and amount of feed supplied are factors which have an important bearing on the ultimate outcome of the enterprise. The feeder must be ever on the alert in order that increases or even decreases in the concentrate portion of the ration may be made at the proper time should occasion demand it.

Summerfield

BY MISS L. JOHNSON

There has been several Halloween entertainments the past week. One of the most enjoyable was given in the house recently vacated by the Meharg family, sponsored by Mrs. Alton Lookingbill, for her Sunday school class. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Joe Kendall and others. There were grave yards, ghosts, hobgoblins and weird noises everywhere. Miss Chapman in representing the witch was very good and deserves special mention. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Ruth Marie Mounts of Hereford spent the week end with Hazel Oglesby.

Shade Rateliff of Ward community spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Adam Flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Meharg and daughters, Mildred and Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rateliff all of Amarillo, visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

The teachers gave a program at the school house Friday night, which was enjoyed by the patrons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McMinn and daughter, Edna, of Abilene are visiting friends and relatives here and at Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roberson and Mrs. B. C. Roberson were in Amarillo last Monday.

Mrs. Obe Roberson and Ky Lawrence were in Portales, New Mexico, one day last week.

Ray Johnson is doing grand jury service at Dimmitt this week.

About one inch of rain was reported for our community last week, which is fine on the growing wheat.

Mrs. Clayburn Carr is spending several days in the George Wylie home near Black.

Mr. Hudson, a college friend of Chas. Noland, of Lubbock spent the week end here.

Gerald Morgan of Adrian spent several days transacting business here.

Bill Eddleman returned to his home in Plainview after having sowed his land to wheat for another year.

It will please us to have you eat chicken dinner with us Thursday, November 5. Congregational Ladies.

Clyde Seamons, one of Frona's leading cattlemen and extensive farmer, departed Thursday morning with several car loads of cattle which he is taking to Eastern markets.

Mr. Seamons stated before leaving that he expected to be away for ten or fifteen days.

Christian Endeavor.

The Congregational Christian Endeavor society held its regular meeting Sunday evening, October 25, with Lex Alexander as leader. The subject for discussion was "Relations of foreign countries to the United States." Talks were made by Orma White, Margaret Goodwin and Orville Whitefield, followed by open discussion by the group. Plans were formulated for a Halloween social to be given Saturday night. The leader for next Sunday night will be Dorothy Crawford.

Reduced Rates Mean Much to Farm Products

By MARVIN JONES

I am very much pleased with the recent freight rate reductions on cotton from Texas points to the Gulf ports.

For several years I have been making a fight to secure a lowering of these freight rates in order to place these commodities on the same basis with industry.

For many years industry has had freight rate reductions ranging from 25 to 40 per cent on commodities moving into export in order to assist the manufacturers in the disposal of their surplus products.

Steel and steel products moving into export are allowed a 35 per cent average reduction. Cement is given a 40 per cent reduction. Practically all manufactured products enjoy similar reductions. Even farm implements are favored with a 35 per cent reduction below domestic rates.

About two years ago I made the following statement on the floor of the House of Representatives:
"For many years iron and steel products, cement, farm implements and manufactured commodities have been given export freight reductions ranging from 25 to 40 per cent below domestic freight rates. The U. S. Steel Co. gets the benefit of these reductions, notwithstanding it has not missed a dividend in 30 years. During this period the major farm commodities, wheat and cotton, have not had reduced freight rates; in other words, they have been discriminated against."

"What particular harm is there about iron and steel? One of two courses should be adopted. Either those export rate reductions should be allowed on wheat and cotton, or they should be taken away from industry so that the whole rate structure might be lowered."

I am glad that this principle of fairness is at last beginning to be recognized.

The recent changes mean from $1.00 to $1.50 per bale increase in price for West Texas farmers.

If the same reduction can now be extended to wheat it will be of great value. The wheat freight reductions made in August were of some value, but they were entirely inadequate. Agriculture should be placed on a parity with industry in these and all other matters.

To restore the purchasing power of the farming section is one of our great national needs.

The railroads are to be congratulated upon this concession. Heretofore their philosophy has seemed to be to solve all their difficulties by increasing freight rates. They have no monopoly on transportation. There is such a thing as freight rates becoming prohibitive, and tending to destroy the traffic.

Halloween Carnival.

The P. T. A. of Friona school is sponsoring a Halloween carnival at the school building Friday evening. There will be booths and all kinds of stunts in both buildings. A program consisting of the coronation of the king and queen will be given in the grade building. The king and queen are to be selected from the high school, each class having a candidate.

The candidates for queen are Noble McLean, Juanita Crow, Dorothy Loflin, Nadean Benzer; for king, Dennis White, Conway Frost, Clyde Crow and Douglas Frost.

Science Club.

The physics class met Thursday afternoon, October 22, and organized a science club, with the following officers: Weldon Whitefield, president; Merle Harry, vice president; Minnie Reed, secretary-treasurer; Noble McLean, reporter.

This club was organized in order that members might be brought closer together in their knowledge of modern inventions and physical happenings. The club is in active service now, with members busy planning stunts and preparing booths for the Halloween carnival Friday night. They are also going to solve the great problems of the Friona water supply in the laboratory, so you must not miss it.

The club will have booths stationed in all corners of room 10. You will be surprised at what the members of the science club are planning for you.

Home Economics Initiation.

New members of the Home Economics club were initiated at the high school building Wednesday, October 21, at 8 o'clock.

The program was not like most initiations in that it was rather solemn. Only one member was admitted at a time. After all the members had entered the room the Spirit of Home Economics, impersonated by Janet Hanson, entered and made a short talk, while the treasurer, Reba Hill, gave the significance of the club colors, pink and green. The room was dimly lighted by candles.

After the program was finished the lights were turned on and a short social followed. Refreshments of green lemonade and pink cookies were served. These, as well as the program, were enjoyed by all. Miss Ola Lee Calloway was hostess. Miss Frances Anis was present for the program. The club was glad to have her present and invited others interested in home economics work to join them.

An Appreciation.

Our new building reminds us of: "Little things make perfection, and perfection is no little thing." The good floors, doors, steps, desks, lockers, laboratories and numerous other things are among the things that are small, but they tend to make the building.

Sometimes we do not appreciate things as we should. Some of the small things are always overlooked and yet the building would be incomplete without them. An instance of this would be the window blinds. When we step into a room we do not notice how much good they do until they are let up so the sun will shine in.

When we go to other schools we can compare our schools with them. An example of comparison would be the lockers. Some schools are crowded and have one locker above the other. Others have wood lockers instead of our metal ones; and others do not have them at all.

The building is equipped with the best physics and home economics departments, study hall and library of any school its size. In all class rooms students can be comfortably cared for. This makes it easier to study.

In the line of athletics we have a gym that ranks among the first in the district. It is believed that the balconies of the gym will seat more than 400 people. It is well ventilated and has a good roomy floor to play on.

We give our thanks for such a building to the people of the district, the school board, our former superintendent, Mr. Conway, and our teachers.

A Bird Lecture.

H. George Payne, naturalist and lecturer on bird life, will be here Friday night, November 6, under sponsorship of the Friona Parent-Teacher association.

Mr. Payne's lecture covers the entire field of bird life and he uses a valuable collection of mounted birds in connection with his lecture. Every lover of nature should hear this lecture, because of its entertaining and educational qualities.

B. E. Clubs.

The B. E. Clubs met in their regular periods, Friday, October 23. The purpose of the meeting of each club was to discuss the lives of great men. Those taking part in the program of Patrol 1 were Robert Chiles, Clifford Crow, Faye Hartsfield, Mary Edna Davis, Conway Frost and Sarah Schlenker. Those taking part in the program of Patrol 2 were Erna McIner, Eva Dilger and Rosella Dixon.

Those taking part in program of Patrol 3 were Ross Lacy, Dorothy Crawford, Benna Barton, Clyde Crow, Dorothy Loflin, Paul Parr, Mary Ellen Turner and Mary Lou Chiles.

Honor Roll.

Those students making an average of B or above are Lora Perry, Roberta Hill, Noble McLean, Lloyd Brewer, Rosella Dixon, Gwendolyn Cowgill, Dorothy Crawford, Hazel Marie Crow, Olen Ware, Ruby Newman, Vaden Coventry and Albert Conway.

A Pleasing Personality.

There is one thing that all persons are striving to attain. It is not possible to find the man, woman or child who does not want a friend, and we gain our friends by showing them what a lovely person we can really be. There are numbers and numbers of people who seem to have the characteristics of a person that we would be happy to call a friend, but when a better acquaintance is made that person is found to be lacking in a pleasing personality. That person is either naggy or gloomy. Perhaps that person is hard to please, perhaps he or she pouts or perhaps the art of smiling has been lost or never was found. This person may be selfish in thoughts, actions and possessions, or perhaps merely inconsiderate of others, forgetting to be kind and courteous at all times and to all people whether to the washwoman or the president.

To possess a pleasing personality one must always consider self last. Talk about the other person's pains, operations, illness, their pleasures and sorrows; and let ones own die within him. One must never be caught "down and out"; the feeling that nothing good and great can happen. One must remember to speak friendly and all but joyfully to everyone. Flatter people by remembering them, a task quite easy for some and as hard for others. But above all, one must be his own self, the kind of self that will put companions at ease, that will make them have a better opinion of themselves, that will help them to forget they are the most miserable persons on earth and to help them see the good in themselves and to live for that good. In fact, to make the companions happy and content to live, but striving each day for something better than they have had so far.

CONTRIBUTED.

Agricultural Club Report.

The agricultural class met October 22. There was a committee appointed by the president to decide on stunts to be sponsored by the club at the Halloween carnival, composed of Donald Livings, Ervin Welch, Conway Frost, Chas. Reeve and Raymond Euler.

A program committee was also appointed to prepare the program for Thursday, October 29. This program is composed of Ervin Welch, Ross Lacy and Floyd Brookfield. They have been working hard during the past few days getting up this program, for they know what the penalty is if they fail to do so.

Senior Class.

The senior class met Friday and decided upon a stunt for Halloween. After much discussion it was decided that the class would have "For Men Only" and "For Women Only" in the physics room, with a "Solution of Friona's Water Problem" presented by the physics chef. The class will also have "The Chamber of Horrors" in the basement of the new building, and probably a booth in the old building.

After the president had appointed a decorating and several minor committees the class adjourned.

Seventh Grade Report.

The seventh grade finished the monthly tests Friday. The only one to make 100 in spelling was Raymond Jasper.

Osage Literary Society.

The Osage Literary society met October 4, and elected the following officers: President, Ola Lee Calloway; vice president, Weldon W. Whitefield; secretary and treasurer, Reba Hill; reporter, Charles Reeve; sergeant-at-arms, Harold Hanson.

The program committee is Weldon Whitefield, Frances Lacy and Albert Conway.

The society decided that "Osage" should be the name of our group; also resolved to put on the first program.

Spanish Club.

The Spanish club appeared in Chapel 4 as a troupe of Spaniards last Thursday morning. One Spanish girl gave a reading in that language and the president of El Circo Espanol gave a very interesting Spanish lecture about Cervantes, the author of "Don Quixote". The Spanish songs were just as successful.

El Circo Espanol feels that the program was enjoyed by everyone.

Freshman Class Report.

The freshman class met Friday evening, October 23. The purpose of the meeting was to plan their part of the Halloween carnival. The freshmen intend to have a booth at the carnival.

Seventh B Report.

Seventh A entertained Seventh B last Thursday. They were supposed to entertain us a week ago last Friday but the high school used the auditorium.

The two classes met in the grade school gym three weeks ago and chose sides, one side red the other green. Melvin Baker is chief of the Green Feathers, Edgar Wyatt of the Red Feathers.

The Green Feathers won and the Reds had to entertain them. Mr. Smith is advisor for the Green and Mr. Applewhite for the Reds.

Broken Arm Mending.

Paul Spring, who had his arm broken in a fall on Wednesday of last week, is getting along nicely.

His arm is steadily healing and is carried in a sling so that he has lost little if any time from his school work. The football boys were taking a physical drill, when Paul slipped or tripped and fell on his arm in such manner as to break the bones of the wrist.
